

Utensils Split; John Tassar in 3 Hitter

The Kewaskum Utensils fared even in two week end games, both at home, and retained a .500 rating in the standings. Sunday the team belted out an 8-5 victory over Menomonie Falls but was hauled over the coals Memorial day by Mequon, 8-3.

Winning pitcher Sunday was young Johnny Tassar, fresh out of high school. Johnny was called on to start the game his first time in uniform and responded brilliantly with a 3-hit performance. Only he was shaky and a bit wild at times, walking 9 men. This, with poor support giving him from the infield, where 7 errors were committed, brought the Falls score up. Tassar whiffed 7 batters.

Johnny also came through in the hit department with a double and single in 3 journeys to the plate, walking the other time up. Only older brother Wayland outdid him with the stick. He laced out 3 singles, Paul Kral got the biggest blow for the victors, a triple, and also collected a single and walk. The team got 10 hits. Bartels double and single and Knoebel's three bagger completed Falls' hitting. Evers and Nencke pitched for the losers. Evers fanned 6 and walked 3. Nencke struck out 1 and walked none.

Memo Falls 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 3-5 Kewaskum 2 0 0 2 0 2 2 8-5 Monday things didn't work out so good as the strong Mequon nine pushed home an 8-3 win. Marx pitched and struck out 12 hitters but when Mequon wasn't whiffing they smacked the ball for 12 safeties. Again 7 errors in the infield made it pretty difficult to try and come out on top. Marx walked 3. Kewaskum could get but 8 hits off Rueli, who set down 6 on strikeouts and walked 2.

The Utensils' loudest noise with the stick was Cy Wietor, who garnered 3 singles. Barney Frost was the only other local stickler to gather more than one. He collected 2 for 4. W. Tassar's triple was the only extra base. B. Gengler, one of Mequon's 3 heavy hitting brothers, powdered the pill for 2 singles. Radke poked a triple and a homer for the winners and Recht got 3 three bagger.

Mequon 0 2 2 1 1 0 0 10-8 Kewaskum 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 11-3

Rivers Team Cops Two Over Week End

The Honeck Chevrolets enjoyed a prosperous week end in Rivers play, playing away Sunday and Monday and bagging victories both days. Sunday they snatched a 5-3 win over Allenton and the next day they shelled Barton, 5-4. Kewaskum now is tied for first place and last place all at once. Each team in the loop has won 2 and lost 2 games.

"Betty" Backhaus pitched a 6-hitter in downing Allenton. He struck out 6 and walked only 2. Allenton was hitting the ball pretty regular but could not place them where the Kewaskum fielders weren't. With 3 errors going on behind him, he pitched a ball game in allowing but 3 runs. A young "Irishman" by name of Schlagenhart worked for Allenton and at times he had the locals swinging the ozone lustily.

He struck out 11 Kewaskum batters but when they weren't missing they were meeting and schlagged Schlagenhart for 10 safeties. But he didn't walk a man and his mates were guilty of but 1 error.

Honeck showed his boys the fine art of hitting. He poked out a double and triple and scored 2 runs. Augie Bilgo and Merrill Krueger also lined out 2 bingles, one of Bilgo's being a two bagger. Noegel was the only batter to get 2 hits off Backhaus, one a triple.

Kewaskum 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 3-5 Allenton 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 0-3

Honeck and A. Duengel hooked in a sizzling pitching duel at Barton Monday as the Chevrolets topped that club, 5-4. Honeck gave up only 6 hits to Barton's sluggers, and had them swinging at air most of the afternoon. He whiffed 16 batters and walked 4. Duengel made it tough for him by hurling almost equally as well. Duengel fanned 14, walked 2, and allowed 8 hits. Each team was charged with 4 errors.

Bobby Dreber, a newcomer just out of high school, was the only Kewaskum hitter with 2 bingles. Honeck and Korth laid out doubles. J. Drieken and pitcher Duengel got 2 apiece for the losers. R. Drieken smashed out a long home run.

Kewaskum 0 0 0 2 0 0 3 0-5 Barton 0 1 0 2 1 0 0 0-6

Letters Out for Children's Service Society Campaign

An appeal for support of the Children's Service Society program in Washington county has been mailed by the local sponsoring committee.

The society operates no institution but cares for its youngsters in carefully chosen boarding homes. In these family surroundings children can develop like other boys and girls. Under the supervision of social workers especially trained in child welfare the boarding mother can help a disturbed child too by giving him acceptance, understanding and at the same time following through with a firmness that makes the child feel secure.

Last year 294 boarding homes all through the state cared for agency children. In addition there were 297 free and adoption homes and 12 wage homes.

A good foster home is the best substitute for the child's own home. It should provide security, family life, sufficient nutritious food, adequate shelter and comfortable clothing. It should instill health habits, provide educational essentials, recreation, community life and moral and religious training. Substitute parents should see that the child receives all this plus love, affection and understanding.

Members of the sponsoring committee sending out the letters supporting the state-wide, non-sectarian child welfare agency are: Honorable F. W. Bucklin, secretary, and Mrs. H. W. Kuester of West Bend; Mrs. F. W. Saclise of Hartford; Joseph Weininger, treasurer, of Allenton; Mrs. O'Dool Waerlin of Germantown; Mrs. E. L. Rosenheimer of Jackson; Dr. Richard G. Edwards and Mrs. Charles Miller of Kewaskum; Mrs. Ada Thompson of Richfield and Mrs. Louis Reisch of Slinger.

Contributors are urged to send their money to Joseph Weininger, treasurer, Children's Service Society committee, Allenton State Bank, Allenton. All contributions are used in Wisconsin.

WEEKLY COMIC SECTION

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER
IN WASHINGTON
WALTER SHEAD, WNU Correspondent

People Lead Congress
AS A USUAL THING folks out in the home towns and rural communities of our country are ahead of congress and the politicians here in Washington in their thinking on what is good for, or what is best for our country in the matter of national legislation.

As a rule the measures before congress are merely translations of the thought and action of the people themselves. And Washington is simply the mirror which reflects the will of a majority of the people.

There is a definite trend here in Washington however, which your Home Town Reporter is not attempting to interpret. I am going to ask for an interpretation from the grassroots on this trend which leads to the question—"Are we moving toward a socialistic national government in this country?" So if you will, please write me a letter giving me your thoughts on the question.

Perhaps I am too close to the forest to see the trees, but my mail is flooded every day with publicity, brochures, pamphlets and just plain propaganda seeking to brand every liberal piece of legislation before congress as "socialistic."

All Are Branded

The housing and slum clearance bill, federal aid to education bill, the bill for compulsory health insurance, expansion of social security laws, the various proposals to create river valley authorities, any bill which would provide for a federal grant-in-aid to the states, the Reaman agricultural program and numerous other measures—all have been branded as definitely socialistic in nature by one or more of the large organizations which maintain lobbies here to influence legislation.

Even our farm cooperatives have been branded with the socialistic label. It has come to the point that every so-called liberal piece of legislation which comes before congress is being measured by the socialist yardstick. Of course there are as many definitions for the word "liberal" as there are writers, but as this reporter views it, liberal legislation is any measure which has for its objective the elimination of any inequalities or tribulations of any great mass of the people through federal help in money or regulatory control.

Socialism Defined

The dictionary says socialism is a reconstruction of society on the basis of cooperation of labor and community of property; or government control of economic activities so that competition will give way to cooperation and the rewards of labor be equally apportioned. That is the orthodox Marx brand of socialism, but the modern or garden variety of socialism appears to be content with a more adequate distribution of wealth through social reforms by political agencies. They want nationalization of such resources as railroads, mines and other properties, but do not advocate abolition of the profit system nor the right to own private property.

Although anyway you view it socialism does not fit into the American system of free competition and individual freedoms, the question arises—does any reform advocated by the Socialist party become socialistic in fact? For instance as far back as 1908 the Socialist party platform advocated conservation and development of natural resources; scientific reforestation; storage of flood waters and utilization of water power; establishment of minimum wage scales; five and one-half day week; old age pensions and survivors insurance; a graduated income tax; equal suffrage; direct primary; vocational education; a separate labor department and conservation of public health and establishment of an independent health bureau. These reforms are in the law today. Are they socialistic?

Address Given

This reporter believes, however, that a measuring stick should be whether or not, you as a citizen have lost or may lose your individual freedoms guaranteed you by the constitution and the bill of rights; whether controls by the government to keep employment on the farms and factories up and prices down are socialistic; whether taxation plays such a role in your economy as to become unbearably oppressive.

So let's hear what the folks in the home towns think of this subject: Is the government moving towards socialism? Write me, if you will—address, Walter A. Shead, care Western Newspaper Union, 1657 National Press Bldg., Washington 4, D. C.

As late as 1936 the Socialist party platform advocated a public health program for adequate medical aid financed by taxation; a 30-hour week; creation of a federal marketing agency for purchase and marketing of agricultural goods.

And viewed from the standpoint of the National Association of Manufacturers, all present laws and proposed laws providing for grants-in-aid to the states are socialistic. From this measuring stick, such laws as the federal deposit insurance act, reconstruction finance corporation, public roads administration, national hospital law, national airport law, social security laws, various agricultural acts, grants for cancer and heart research, and atomic energy and many others are socialistic.

You Build It Seafaring Sandbox Delights Tots

HERE'S an easy to build sandbox that gladdens the hearts of tiny tots and small fry. It's a barge boat that can be used as a sandbox or as a wading pool. Its simple construction eliminates need for anything more than a hammer and a saw. Complete, step by step directions and full size patterns insure building in a minimum of time. Painting guides are also printed full size on the pattern. These can be traced directly on the finished boat and painted with colors suggested by pattern. All lumber needed is stock size and can be obtained at lumber yards everywhere.

Household Hints

For best results, do not put a solid block of frozen vegetables in your pressure cooker; the outer portion may overcook before the inner part even gets warm. Separate peas or beans by knocking against a hard surface several times, cut solid vegetables into cubes with heavy knife or kitchen saw.

Pour that extra breakfast coffee into a thermos bottle while it is still fresh and hot; your mid-morning coffee snack will be more delicious than if left in the pot to grow strong and rancid.

One pound of coffee will make approximately 40 cups of the beverage.

Blossoms from the pumpkin vine are not only edible, they have a delicious mushroomlike flavor when dipped in batter and fried; and make delicious soup when added to seasoned stock.

Basement windows have been "frosted" by applying a mixture of epsom salt and varnish to the inside of the window.

A thick magazine or catalog heated in the oven makes an excellent substitute for a hot water bottle.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Roosevelt Political Dynasty Seen in FDR, Jr.'s Vote Triumph; Clay Urges Accord With Germany

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

ROOSEVELT: Old Tradition

The old tradition was running true to form: you can't beat a Roosevelt. Young Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., most like his father in looks, charm and smile, won the New York congressional seat left vacant by the death of Sol Bloom. And he won it with the national administration and Tammany allied against him.

FDR worshippers were jubilant. Those who had fought the "champ" throughout his years in the White House professed to see in the election result the creation of a new Rooseveltian political dynasty.

Already the cry of the exultant victors was "on to Albany." New York capital which Franklin D. Roosevelt, four-time President of the United States, used as a springboard to the White House.

Denied the Democratic nomination, young Roosevelt ran on the Liberal and Four Freedoms parties' tickets in a contest which kept Manhattan's west side in an uproar for months. A surprise to many Americans, who did not know such procedure was permissible, Roosevelt does not reside in the district he will represent in congress. It seems that all the while there has been no bar in the law to prevent a candidate from living in one district and representing another.

DESPITE his victory as a standard bearer for two other parties, Roosevelt declared he is still a 100 per cent Democrat.

Campaigning, he visited thousands of voters, turned on the old Roosevelt charm, mingled with the masses in their homes, attended house parties as honor guest, made street corner speeches.

One defeated candidate sounded a familiar note heard so frequently during other Rooseveltian campaigns: "The formula in this election was a glamorous name and a quarter of a million dollars, and neither of these did we have."

BARKLEY: No Guards

"I'm a big boy now. And besides, who would want to harm a young man like me anyway?"

Thus did Kentucky's Alben W. Barkley, Vice-President of the United States, dismiss the idea of personal guards.

BARKLEY, who will be 72 in November, goes where he wants, when he wants and flatly refuses protection of any sort.

He told newsmen that President Truman had "tried to get me to accept a few secret service men," but was turned down.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and top G-man J. Edgar Hoover also offered to provide bodyguards. But Barkley wanted his freedom. "I like it better that way," he said.

Barkley claims he's just a "common man, nothing fancy." In fact, he gets a kick out of people trying to figure out how to address him. "I STILL call myself senator," he says, "a habit after 22 years in congress, but the kids call me 'veep.' I like that."

He could also be called Mr. President, since that's how he's referred to in the senate over which he now presides.

RADIO: Godfrey Tops

Carrot-thatched, gravel-throated Arthur Godfrey, radio's chief exponent of the "be yourself" type of entertainer-announcer, led the CBS network in earnings during 1948. He was paid $440,514.16 last year by the broadcasting system for which he labors.

Newscasters didn't fare so badly, however. Lowell Thomas was a close second with $420,300. Oddly enough, the network boss, Frank Stanton garnered only a measly $103,708.80. All these figures covered income before Uncle Sam took his cut, so there was some difficulty in trying to ascertain just how much "take home" pay these gentlemen received.

For the ABC network, Don McNeill, emcee of the Breakfast Club, was tops with earnings of $180,229.40.

Paul Whiteman, ABC's musical director and vice-president, received $145,316.56. Again the network president ranked lower. ABC's president Mark Woods got only $75,000.

TROOPERS CATCH TARTAR

Wild West Showman Defies Georgia Law

Many a man has had a hankering to do just what Col. Zach Miller did when he ran afoul of state police on a speeding and driving without a license charge. It happened in Georgia where the colonel and his driver, James Colbert, were riding the range at 75 miles per hour. The limit is 55. Colbert, it seems had no license.

JAPANESE: No Bullying

A new deal was ordered for the Japanese. American soldiers stationed in Japan were urged to stop bullying the Japanese and, instead, to "treat them with respect."

"Even in conquered Japan, the hero's role does not fit," said an instruction booklet. "We are trying to teach an authority-ridden people the meaning of the word democracy."

The GI's would comply.

Last Man Over

Lt. Joe Russo, U.S. army air force, is shown holding a bouquet of flowers presented to him after he landed his airplane at Tempelhof airfield to complete the last airlift flight before the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

GERMANY: Clay Speaks Up

If Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retiring United States military governor in Germany, had his way, America's ex-foes would be permitted back into the company of democratic nations as soon as possible.

BACK in Washington where he was feted and decorated by President Truman, Clay warned that unless Germany is restored to the community of western nations, an alliance with Russia by our former enemies is inevitable.

Speaking to the house of representatives, the general declared that the German people, in spite of their recent history of aggressive war and "extreme cruelty," now had shown their preference for a government standing for the "dignity of man as an individual."

In the spirit of the residents of Berlin who survived through the airlift, Clay declared, there is a spark for German freedom that may grow with the years. He told the senate how the people of western Germany had adopted through their parliamentary council a constitution which guarantees free elections and is "devoted to reestablishing in Germany the dignity of man."

WITHOUT referring to the Soviets by name, he charged, nevertheless, that the Russians have two objectives that were irreconcilable with the efforts made by the United States, England and France to create a four-power government in Germany based on international cooperation.

He defined these objectives of what he termed "the fourth power" as intent to exact the maximum in reparations from Germany and to set up a government that could be controlled or exploited by a police state.

COMMUNISTS: Losing Ground

Whatever was responsible—the American airlift, a conviction that American democracy had more to offer or a general revulsion to all police states—the Communists weren't doing so well in the eastern Berlin elections.

THIS was in contrast with the confident predictions of Communist politicians in the Soviet zone of occupation of an overwhelming majority.

The vote was being taken on a "people's congress" of 2,000 members, all hand-picked by Communist-controlled organizations and put on a single ticket. However, the Communists were picking up only about a third of the votes expected.

Some voters wrote on their ballots "we won't vote for a police state and we reject Communism." Early returns from Berlin showed a majority of "no" votes—the only way the congress could be rejected since only one list of candidates was submitted.

THE "PEOPLES' congress," if it were to be set up, would be the Soviet answer to the western state being set up in the western zone.

Objective observers couldn't fail to see in the initial trend of the voting an indication that in any case where American system and ideologies may be contrasted with that of the Soviets, the latter cannot command support.

ACCIDENTS: Three Reasons

Plain stupidity, bad manners, and liquor are the top three causes of automobile accidents, accounting for three-fourths of all fatalities, or over 24,000 deaths per year, according to a case analysis by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

By far the top killers are the "stupid" group of driver offenses—excessive speed, ignoring traffic signs or traffic officers, passing on hills or curves, and other miscellaneous "dimwit" violations; the study finds that one or more of these offenses is involved in 40 per cent of all fatal accidents, and is the principal cause of 32 per cent.

FOOLISH ACTIONS by adult pedestrians—crossing against traffic signals, crossing intersections diagonally, crossing between intersections, coming from behind parked cars, and walking in the roadway in the same direction as traffic cause another 12 per cent of fatalities, based on experience records of 1946, 1947 and 1948, the study finds. Thus 44 per cent of our annual traffic death toll results from failures by drivers or pedestrians to use common sense.

Bad manners, such as road hogging—driving over the center line or actually on the wrong side of the road, and "barging through" when the other fellow has the right-of-way cause another 15 per cent of traffic fatalities, the records reveal.

TRAFFIC DEATHS due to alcohol are estimated by the insurance statisticians at a minimum of 15 per cent—12 per cent due to drinking by drivers and 3 per cent due to drinking by pedestrians. This is the most difficult group of cases to measure accurately, the study points out, because: Many drinking drivers try to conceal such facts in case of an accident, and an unknown number succeed; second, a considerable proportion of other violations such as reckless driving, which are directly blamed for certain accidents, would not be committed if the driver were fully sober and his judgment clear.

SUMMARY: Of our annual traffic toll of 32,000 to 33,000 deaths, 44 per cent result from acts of folly by motorists or pedestrians, 15 per cent result from bad driving manners, and at least 15 per cent result from liquor. Total: 74 per cent.

SNEEZER: 150,000 Times

Michael Hippisley had sneezed 150,000 times and was still sneezing. London doctors sought frantically to bring some relief to the 14-year old schoolboy who had sneezed once every three seconds for nine days.

THE only time the boy hadn't sneezed in the nine days was when he was knocked out by drugs or sleeping.

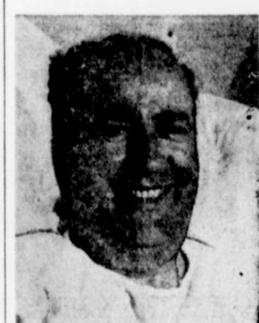

"I've had kerosene up my nose, drops down my ears and hundreds of tablets," Michael told reporters. "Then they cauterized me. I couldn't feel anything any more, but I kept on sneezing."

When news of Michael's plight got about, some 50 callers offered sympathy and advice. One suggested hypnosis. Another said sneeze in a paper sack. Unfortunately, all remedies had tried.

SCIENCE, making great strides with allergy controls and remedies seemed stymied on this case.

The Hippisley family doctor said that what he thought it was—the constant "aa-choing" was due to Michael's "abnormal sensitivity to pollen dust."

Cheats Death

Flashing a smile of victory over death, Reid C. Lewis, is shown in hospital at Santa Monica, Calif. His heart stopped after a minor operation and remained stopped, as did his breathing and pulsebeat, for 12 minutes. His doctor, remembering an old Boy Scout trick which sometimes revives drowned persons by breaking a bone, snapped one of Lewis' ribs and the shock restored him to life.

Objective observers couldn't fail to see in the initial trend of the voting an indication that in any case where American system and ideologies may be contrasted with that of the Soviets, the latter cannot command support.

PARKING: No, Thanks

In a nation where parking space is at a premium, parkers were shunning a Great Bend, Kas., parking lot in great numbers.

Joseph Nolan, a short-time parking lot operator is authority for the reaction. Nolan opened his lot in the heart of the downtown district. In eight days his gross income was only and exactly $1.20. He tried every device he knew, even "free parking." Still they stayed away.

VOODOO: Divorce Cause

Voodoo is a strange cause for divorce, but a London lawyer made it stick. He obtained a divorce on the grounds that his wife was addicted to voodoo practices which, he said, "are a form of witchcraft and consists of charms tied to a person's body."

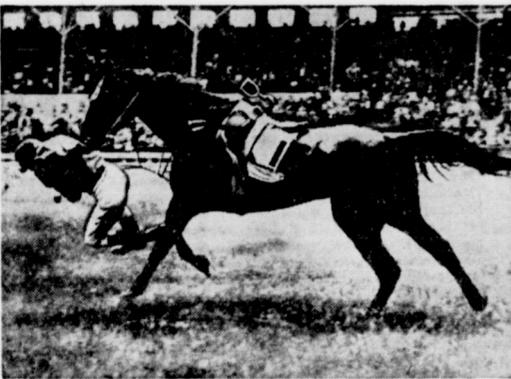

The lawyer, a native of British Guiana claimed he found voodoo equipment in his wife's trunk in her room.

ROUGH GOING FOR JOCKEY... This is the end of the line for jockey J. Murphy and his mount, Pilgrim's Way. After taking the final jump in a steeplechase event at Pimlico, Murphy was tossed from the hurdler — and just in the right spot for newsphotographer Jimmy Klemartin to record the jockey's distress.

SMOKE SIGNALS SIGNIFY BLOCKADE LIFTING... For the first time in 10 months the chimney stacks of a great electric power house belch smoke into the sky over Berlin at midday — an indication that the plant no longer has to miserably about its coal. This plant is in the American sector. It had begun to dip into its reserve coal supply when the agreement to lift the blockade was announced. High above the stack an airlift plane is shown on the return trip to an allied zone from Berlin.

FOUR ARMS FULL OF HAPPINESS... One never could mistake what is on the face of 10-year old Andy Tompos for anything but sublime happiness. He is shown swapping bugs with the mother he had not seen in many years. Last Easter Andy wrote to the editor of a Pittsburgh paper asking help in finding the mother who left him with his grandparents when he was a baby. The mother, living in a distant city, read the story and flew to Pittsburgh. Andy will live with her.

SPOT SHOTS

GARDENIA TIME... It's 'gardenia time' in Dickey and Helen Hatfield poses with and amidst some of the flowers at Cypress Gardens, Fla. As a gardenia girl, this Hatfield is the real 'McCooy' as she seems to urge that you 'wear a little white gardenia.'

BARES SPY RING... General Izidor Modelski, former Polish military attache who resigned his post and refused to return home, declared Communist agents are trying to foment revolution and disorder in the United States in preparation for war.

LADY BULLFIGHTER... Conchita Cintron, celebrated woman bullfighter from Peru, is shown as she prepared to enter the arena in Paris in a bloodless exhibition of her art. Parisians enjoyed the show, which ended with the bull alive and kicking.

MAHATMA'S SON... Manilal Gandhi, son of the late Mahatma Gandhi, who is a South African newspaper editor, is visiting the United States to see the country and to observe sessions at the United Nations in his capacity as a journalist.

NAVY BOSS... Francis Patrick Matthews has been appointed by President Truman as secretary of the navy. Matthews, 62, is a lawyer and banker in Omaha and has been active in civic life there.

Mighty Casey Hasn't Struck Out

By GRANTLAND RICE

WHEN Casey Stengel came back to New York from St. Petersburg just a month ago, he was almost in a complete daze. He was listening to funny noises in his block.

He knew Joe DiMaggio was out indefinitely. He knew that Frank Shea's arm was out of kilter again. And then, in quick succession, Charlie Keller ripped a new muscle loose in his back, Johnny Lindell sprained an ankle, Snuffy Stirrweiss was ailing, Bob Porter field snapped a ligament in his pitching arm.

By this point, Casey had reached the spot where nothing else could happen. Some experts were beginning to look for some place lower than eighth where the team could finish. The lowly Browns had a new rival.

But the Casey of early April and the Casey of today are two entirely different men. The staggering Casey of early April is the mighty Casey of late May.

"There is ease in Casey's manner and a sneer on Casey's lips.

There is scorn in Casey's bearing as he moves his swinging hips.

And when he looks around the field to call his rival's bluff, not a rooster in the place could doubt that Casey knows his stuff."

In any event young Jerry Coleman, at second, suddenly turned into a star. So did young Dick Kryhoski at first. His pitching staff became the best in either league, and his batsmen started ripping the cover off the ball. Above all, when something was needed, Tommy Henrich would hit a home run or a triple or make a killing play in the outfield. Bobby Brown and Billy Johnson began driving in runs.

Who would have said on the 17th of April that the Yankees would be something like six games ahead of the Red Sox on May 10?

As one Yankee veteran explained it, "When our batters fall down our pitchers step in. When our pitchers blow, our batters come to life. But most of the time, both our pitchers and our batters are on the job, delivering together."

This latter seems to be most of the answer. The Yankees always had good pitching. But it is even better than it looked to be. A staff that carries Vic Roschi, Bob Porterfield, Tommy Byrne, Allie Reynolds, Joe Page, etc., is a stand-out.

This doesn't mean the Yankees are due to break up the American league. But it does mean they are a far stronger ball club than any one thought they would be. They can hit and field and they have able pitching. And they have, in manager Stengel, a leader who no longer fears to look fate in the face.

Casey would have received his share of razzing if the team had blown up. Why not slip him the loud huzzas for his place in the standings today?

Early Checkup

May is still too early in the campaign to start any checking.

The big surprise in the National league has been Giant pitching, especially Hartung's pitching. Duracher's staff has more than held its own. The team has also been hitting.

So far, no club has settled down to any consistent play. The pitching has been spotty. The Dodgers have held their own more through speed and youth than through expected good pitching. The team is also hitting better than it figured to hit.

The Giants have been up around the front even with Larry Jansen, their star pitcher, off to a ragged start. He is due to be much better from now on.

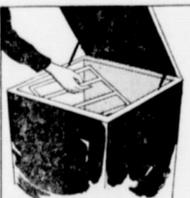

The National league race has proved to be as even as it figured from the start. At the end of the third week of the season, a gap of only four games separates the eight clubs. The Pirates and Cardinals are due to move up with long home visits ahead. Especially the Pirates.

The slump of Johnny Sain has cut heavily into the Braves' shot at a good early lead. Like Jansen, he got away badly, but you can't rate him that far down.

Washington, after a ragged start, has bounced back in the American League with a spectacular rush. Chicago's White Sox have been a big improvement over expected doom. You will see the Red Sox and Athletics start moving soon.

HOW TO FIX IT

By TOM GREGORY

IF YOUR ICEBOX LEAKS, IT CAN USUALLY BE REPAIRED BY COATING THE INSIDE OF THE ICE COMPARTMENT WITH PARAFFIN. TAKE OUT THE METAL STAND THAT SUPPORTS THE CAKE OF ICE, PLUG THE DRAIN WITH A CORK, AND THEN POUR MELTED PARAFFIN OVER THE LEAKY PART. AFTER THE WAX HAS HARDENED, CAREFULLY REMOVE THE CORK FROM THE DRAIN AND REPLACE THE STAND.

With the advent of another in our eternal series of Springs, the accompanying mellow weather is, as it always does, causing the younger generation to develop a high degree of mobility through the use of roller skates. This year, to keep this healthful sport safe, Winchester, a roller skate manufacturer, has provided youngsters with a set of commandments of roller skating safety. The first and all-embracing rule is this: Skate carefully where it's safe. Another good roller skating law to observe is to stop when pedestrians are approaching (left) or you might spill into them, possibly doing damage to all involved. Photo at lower left shows two roller skating devotees examining list of the commandments they would do well to follow.

WINCHESTER 10 COMMANDMENTS OF ROLLER SKATING SAFETY

1. Skate only where it is safe.
2. Be careful and courteous to others when skating.
3. Keep skates clean and in good repair.
4. Keep straps and clasps tight.
5. Don't take chances when skating.
6. Keep skates stored in a safe place.
7. Don't climb stairs while wearing skates.
8. Don't hang on to the back of moving vehicles.
9. Keep out of traffic.
10. Never skate when carrying pointed or breakable objects.

Only the most thoughtless youngsters would attempt to negotiate stairs on roller skates. Always carry roller skates when climbing stairs, or you're practically a cinch to have a dangerous fall (right, above). It's always a good idea, of course, to make sure your skates are securely strapped and clamped. Photo (bottom right) shows how a well-run pair of roller skates should look on the feet. Never forget to take it easy, because a set of rollers under each foot is mighty deceptive. Sometimes they seem to repeal the law of gravity, and the back of your head is no match for a concrete pavement. Also, speaking of pavement, you'll be much safer if you take off your skates whenever you have to cross a street. You can't compete with a ton and a half of automobile anyway.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Mother Can't Replace Father

By Lawrence Gould

Can mother take father's place?

Answer: No, however hard she may try, and however relieved father may be by the thought of dumping his responsibilities onto her shoulders, says Dr. Edward A. Strecker, author of "Their Mothers' Sons." For the fact remains that mother is a female, and a child must learn to grow up in a world that's male AND female. "Your son needs a man around whom he can imitate. You want him to glory in physical strength, learn to be aggressively fearless, resourceful, protective—in short, masculine. He will not learn that from his mother."

their birth certificates, and I cannot see it has made any difference to them. But to give a child a nickname that seems "cute" while he's a baby but will sound ridiculous as he grows older may make his developing a normal self-esteem needlessly hard.

Do longer hours mean getting more work done?

Answer: No, say statisticians of the U.S. Bureau of Labor, reporting a survey of 2445 male and 1060 female workers in 34 different industrial plants in this country. "Generally speaking, the study indicates that, everything else being equal, the 8-hour day and 40-hour week are best in terms of efficiency and absenteeism, and that higher levels of hours are less satisfactory." Longer hours not only mean more time lost through absence from the job, but bring about a marked rise in both the number and frequency of accidental injuries.

Are nicknames bad for children?

Answer: There is no essential difference between a nickname and a "real" one if it is the name which the child comes to recognize as meaning himself. I know two or three men who would scarcely know whom you were speaking to if you addressed them by the names that are recorded on

KEEPING HEALTHY

Causes and Treatment of Hives

By Dr. James W. Barton

WHEN HIVES (urticaria) occurs, the first thought naturally is to relieve the itching and burning but there are so many substances that can cause hives that we must try to find the cause as soon as possible.

Thus, as certain foods are often to blame, the first method of treatment is to give an emetic to induce vomiting, such as a teaspoon of mustard in half a glass of water. If the food has been in the body for some time, then a dose of castor oil or Epsom salts should be taken. The drug most commonly used to relieve symptoms is the injection of 10 to 15 minims (drops) of adrenalin under the skin.

While cleansing out the stomach and intestine and the injection of adrenalin (epinephrine) give almost immediate relief from the itching and burning, it should be remembered that the system has received a shock and needs rest in bed, with liquid food for a day or two.

When hives are over the entire body, baking soda, which is always soothing to the inflamed skin, is effective—a cupful in the regular bath or half a cup in the wash tub. After drying, touching the hives with baking soda talcum or flour prolongs the relief.

In addition to these causes, it is now known that just as emotional disturbances can increase the heart rate, raise the blood pressure, cause stomach upsets and diarrhoea, so they can cause hives and other eruptions of the skin.

One of the substances manufactured by the body tissues is histamine, a factor associated with allergic symptoms including hives. For this reason what are known as antihistamine drugs, such as benadryl, are used to treat hives.

HEALTH NOTES

Because tuberculous glands in children appear to be a forerunner of tuberculous meningitis, some physicians prescribe streptomycin in such tuberculous cases.

Insulin has kept many diabetics alive for years, enabling the great majority to attain the age they would have lived even if they had not been afflicted with diabetes.

So important to health and happiness are healthy, normal feet, that universities now give courses in care of the feet—chiro-pody—and grant a degree as in medicine and dentistry.

Physicians are finding that, in addition to controlling and preventing attacks of epilepsy, barbital is of great help in quieting the patient about to undergo surgery, so that the amount of anesthetic needed is much less and there is less nausea after the operation.

Early symptoms of cancer of the stomach are (1) uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, increased by eating but disappearing at night, (2) belching of gas and gas pressure, (3) lost appetite for certain foods such as meat, (4) a feeling of tiredness and weakness, with loss of weight and thinning of the blood becoming evident.

Just as pernicious anemia patients have to eat liver or use liver extract, and those with diabetes must diet and use insulin if they wish to live, so must overweight cut down on their starch foods.

As the most important human asset is good health—whether in peace or war—we would all be able to fight life's battles best if we knew how we stood physically, mentally and emotionally. A visit to your physician and dentist, once or twice a year, is our health insurance.
