

Miss Mildred Serwe, Hilary Justman Wed

Miss Mildred Serwe, daughter of Mrs. Mary Serwe, Campbellsport, and Hilary Justman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herlert Justman, Kewaskum, were married in the parsonage of St. Matthew's church, Campbellsport, Saturday, May 28. The Rev. A. C. Biver officiated at the rite.

Dressed in a white marquisette gown with floral design train, the bride complimented this with a white veil held in place with a seeded pearl tiara, and wore white fingerless gloves. The gown had a round neckline, draped off the shoulder.

The bride's sister, Shirley, was the maid of honor, and was dressed in a gown of green marquisette with veil and gloves to match. Another sister, Gertrude, acting as bridesmaid, was dressed in orchid marquisette with veil and matching gloves.

Harold Justman, the groom's brother, was best man and Robert Stron acted as groomsmen. The groom's younger sister, dressed like the bride, acted as flower girl, while the bride's brother, Jimmy, suited in white, was the ring bearer.

The bride and flower girl's bouquets were made up colonial style of white roses and bachelor buttons. Both the maid of honor and bridesmaid carried identical bouquets of yellow roses, each tied with ribbons to match the gowns.

Dinner and supper were served at the home of the bride's mother for the wedding party and several guests. In the evening a wedding dance was held at the Kewaskum Opera House. For the present the newlyweds will live with the bride's mother. The groom is an employee of the Kewaskum Creamery Co.

People Near Ball Park Asked to Be on Lookout

All people in the vicinity of the ball park are asked to be on the lookout Monday evening, because a large group of Kiwanians is expected to be slapping paint right and left at the grandstand. They mean well and hope to accomplish a first class painting job, but you know these amateurs.

It is rumored that Louis Bath is buying a lot of green paint to finish the job on his garage after the Kiwanians get through splattering the north side of it, and that Harry Schaefer expects to have green tomatoes in his garden all summer.

Despite what you hear to the contrary, the club does not intend to charge admission to the spectacle.

Last Monday evening, an educational motion picture, "Invitation to the Nation," was shown to the Kiwanian club. The Kiwanians were provided with a "quick trip" to the nation's capital, Washington, D. C., and from there they were swished across the country to California in a film which followed about that western state.

Long then lost control of his vehicle, hitting and snapping off a light post on the right side of the road. According to the sheriff's report, the Long truck showed skid marks of 42 feet before the impact and 22 feet after. Long suffered a brain concussion and was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend. Property damages were estimated at $1,500.

He also twirled a 6 hitter, striking out 4 and walking but 1. Tassar allowed 2 runs in the opening inning and 1 in the ninth, pitching 7 scoreless frames in between.

Norm Held with 2 singles in 3 trips and Barney Prost with a double and single in 4 trips at bat collected 4 of the winners' 6 safeties. R. Hoelz hit 2 singles in 3 trips, was the only visitor with more than 1 bludge.

Ray Held took care of the pitching duties for Slinger and gave up hits to the Chevrolet's. Backhaus hurled 7 and one-third innings and Honeck the other two-thirds for Kewaskum and the two gave up only 5 hits to Slinger but the winners turned those 5 bingles into 13 runs while the losers could manufacture only 6 out of their 8. Seven of the safeties were off Backhaus and 1 off Honeck. Backhaus whiffed 10 and walked 5; Honeck fanned 1. Held struck out 10 and walked 2.

Capacity Audience at Rural Commencement

The rural school commencement was held in Goring's pavilion last Sunday afternoon, June 5. The usual interest in the program was manifested by a very large audience filling the pavilion to its capacity. A total of 152 rural school graduates received their diplomas.

The program was opened and closed by well rendered solos by Richard Klumb, a student in the West Bend High school.

County Judge F. W. Bucklin, who spoke at the first commencement of Mr. Buckley's, was the speaker of the day.

In his address to the young people he indicated that they had completed the first part of their education—that would continue during their life time. He called the attention of the class to the fact, that to date, they had received more formal education than Andrew Jackson or Abraham Lincoln. "In the days of our forefathers a common school was sufficient," the judge continued, "but today the problems of our complex business life demand at least a high school education."

He indicated that the social problems of the young people of today are inherited from their elders, and that world conflict between communism and democracy—the youth of our land must receive a thorough training in democracy. Only by such training will they be able to pass that democracy on to coming generations vitalized by their lives. Lincoln said, "This nation cannot long endure half slave and half free" and Judge Bucklin continued that today the nation cannot endure half communism and half democracy.

God said, "Let there be light" and there was light. For thousands of years the Hand of God prepared the world for man.

Man must do his part. He is regarded as a great inventor. "What a piece of work is man," Shakespeare said, "Yes, how noble, how infinite in facts, like an angel in apprehension, how like a God!"

Man's mind can penetrate the finite word by the mind the infinite has given him. He measures the distance to stars millions of miles from the earth, he can figure their density and the elements that compose them. He penetrates the mysteries of the universe and perfects complex machines to his bidding. He can travel on the earth beneath and above. With Shakespeare we can say "what a piece of work is man."

Judge Bucklin concluded his address by an appeal to the young to be masters of problems assigned them, that they were not preparing for life but that they were now living a life.

Judge Bucklin lived up to his reputation as a public speaker who always measures up to the demands of the occasion. In presenting the diplomas to the graduating class, Jerold C. Buckley, supervising teacher of Washington county, stated that the graduating class reflected the vision and determination of their parents, whose interest in their children provide well equipped schools and well qualified teachers. The parents can feel assured that their children are well prepared to enter high school.

In closing, he stated that the graduates of the rural schools need not fear competition with the product of other school systems, in spite of the fact that in recent years an effort has been by educators to undermine their efficiency. M. T. Buckley, who will retire this year as county superintendent of schools, was chairman of the program.

Schwaiber, former Red Cross chapter chairman, will act as moderator.

Full particulars of the evening's program will be published in next week's issue.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russians Urge West German State Be Wiped Out; Ask 4-Power Rule; Congress Curtails 'Must' Legislation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

GERMANY:

A Sour Note

The Big Four conference in Paris was underway. For the first time in the cold war between East and West there was real hope that harmony would be forthcoming.

In fact, Secretary of State Dean Acheson had been warned by Senator Vandenberg, senate foreign affairs committee chairman, not to be too aggressive with the Russians, but rather to keep open, if possible, the door to lasting peace.

With the Russian blockade of Berlin lifted and the Soviets apparently ready to sing a new tune in world cooperation, the theme of the conference was to be harmony.

But the delegates hardly had time to warm the seats of their chairs before the Russians were at it again. Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky blandly proposed that the council of foreign ministers wipe out the new west German state and return German affairs, including direction of the Ruhr, to four-power control machinery.

MANY had expected this course by the Soviets. They had predicted that lifting of the Berlin blockade was done to soften up the ministers for this very proposal. But it didn't work. All three western powers immediately rejected the proposition.

The Soviet foreign minister showed little tact. He led up to his proposal with a long tirade denouncing the U.S., Britain and France for what he termed "violations" of the Potsdam agreements.

SOVIET ideology could not tolerate a separate German state with autonomous powers and there was little question that the Kremlin would stand firm in this position. On the other hand there was no possibility that the western powers would recede from their intention to return government of Germany to the German people. Thus it would seem the impasse was clearly established.

For the U. S., Dean Acheson delivered himself of what might well be the decade's masterpiece of understatement when he called the Russian suggestions "disappointing."

But then he summed up the world's reaction when he added: "My hopes are distinctly chilled."

CONGRESS:

Let's Wait

A lot of "trouble for nothing" might be an apt phrase to describe all the national agitation against President Truman's health insurance and civil rights proposals—for his own leaders in congress erased the issues by taking both hotly-contested items of legislation off the "must" list.

ALSO slated for further delay was the administration's four-billion-dollar tax increase plan, the equally controversial Brannan farm program and the foreign-arms proposal.

This left only three measure bills for top priority action. They were:

1. Extension of the reciprocal trade program which has passed the house but is stalled in the senate.
2. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act.
3. Ratification of the North Atlantic security treaty which requires only a two-thirds majority vote in the senate.

SENATE MAJORITY LEADER Scott Lucas indicated action might be sought before adjournment on minimum-wage boosts, the international wheat agreement, and a pay raise for top government executives and military personnel.

Speculation was that decision to abandon for the time the compulsory health insurance program stemmed from mounting congressional clamor for sharp cuts in government spending, with the civil rights legislation delay believed motivated by fear of a southern filibuster. Congress wants to adjourn by August, and consideration of any of the "powder keg" legislation might make that impossible.

LUCAS said he thought President Truman was "definitely satisfied" with the progress being made.

That surprised some legislators, for unless congress repeals the Taft-Hartley law, the President will be unable to point to accomplishment of any of his campaign pledges when congress adjourns.

CRAVATS:

Only the Best

In Pittsburg, Paul J. Bergman, who sells the more expensive type of neckwear, observed these more expensive numbers will not be on display any more in his store. He had a reason:

Thieves smashed the window. They took 10 hand-painted ties valued at $50 each, and one $75 cravat. One tie was still on display when Bergman discovered the theft. It was a $7 item.

Potent Vote

POTENT VOTE . . . This lone woman voter, to whom a pair of shoes would be a Godsend, is shown as she cast her ballot in the elections held in the Russian zone of Germany. The Russians had hoped to make a big propaganda gun of the election.

FORRESTAL:

"Better to Die . . ."

"Comfortless, nameless, hopeless, save in the dark prospect of the yawning grave . . . better to die, and sleep the never-waking sleep than linger on . . ."

With the import of these lines from Sophocles' "Chorus From Ajax" so obviously goading his consciousness, James V. Forrestal, former U. S. defense secretary, plunged to his death from the 16th floor of national naval medical center in Washington.

FORRESTAL had been under treatment for "operational fatigue" since April 2. Attending physicians said he had been considering suicide, that the nature of his malady indicated this mental condition as an inescapable adjunct to it. But they felt he was getting better; in fact they had hoped to release him from the hospital in 30 days.

As secretary of defense, Forrestal labored under a burden such as few national servants have carried. His was the job of directing the gigantic naval program during the war, as well as the almost hopeless task of attempting unification of the armed forces. The strain was great and a sympathetic people could understand why it might have broken a strong man.

President Truman took full cognizance of Forrestal's worth when he declared the former defense secretary was "as much a casualty of war as if he had died on the firing line."

BUT there was an added burden weighing on Forrestal. That was a burden of attack and vilification from two of the nation's top radio newscaster-columnists. After his shocking death, the press of the nation began to revalue the impact of its effect and that of the radio.

Some nationally-syndicated observers charged that the attacks upon Forrestal via radio and in print had added to his load of desperation. They advanced the premise that unless some check was put upon this type of journalism, it might discourage many able men from entering government service.

There is possibly no agony of mankind comparable to that which must go on in the mind of the man about to take his own life. It is wholly foreign to the concept of the normal, every-day mind. Certainly it flies in the face of the very first natural law—self preservation.

Weighing all this, it is difficult to understand how there could be anything but sympathy for Forrestal, and an honest effort to understand something of the tortuous mental suffering which drove him to leap to his death.

JOB OUTLOOK:

Better for Grads

With starting salaries holding firm at last year's record high levels, signs of a last-minute pick-up in jobs for the mammoth 1949 class of college graduates were showing up, according to an annual employment survey by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

Although two-thirds of the 133 colleges and universities covered to date find their total employment calls all the way from slightly to "disappointingly" below 1948, schools reporting in the final week of the survey have shown a much better ratio, the summary says. Approximately half of the late responses report their record of job offers to date as equal to or slightly above 1948 experience.

DARTMOUTH college's school of business administration observes, for example, "We were disturbed by the February-March slump, but the later pick-up has 'wiped out our losses.'" St. Louis university also reports that demand faded in February and March, but "as of the past six weeks it has begun to develop beautifully." University of Nebraska's college of business administration notes a stronger employment demand in the last ten days. But Duquesne university at Pittsburgh reports, "Calls in general are less than in 1948 except those for sales personnel which have increased."

Boston university says job offers are 7 per cent fewer than last year; Ohio State finds about the same number of employers represented on the campus this spring, but each firm taking fewer men. Yale university has recorded more employment calls than as of a year ago.

FIVE out of every six schools listed in the survey report starting salaries to be as high or higher than last year. Prevailing range of offers is from $200 to $275 per month for business administration and liberal arts seniors, and from $225 to $325 for engineering grads, with exceptional men getting still higher offers. Illinois Institute of Technology reports: "The class of 375 engineers graduating January 29, 1949, averaged $280 per month for a basic 40-hour week; this is the highest average salary of any class in our history."

TOURISTS:

More Cultured

The American tourist these days was coming in for a new type of treatment from his overseas hosts. For instance, in Capetown, South Africa, according to merchants, the new tourist is not the "vulgar type which used to invade Europe in hordes, wearing horn-rimmed glasses and loud clothes."

"THIS new American is well bred, quiet, wealthy, but has the familiar souvenir mania," said one curio dealer. "One bought everything I showed him. 'Is it genuine Zulu?' he kept asking."

Then, the dealer added, "he took all my jewelry, assegais and beadwork. I had to call a ricksha to get the stuff down to the ship. And when he saw the ricksha, he wanted to buy that."

AMERICANS no doubt will palpitate with pride at this new evaluation of their cultural level by those abroad who profit most from tourist business—but most will console themselves with the fact that so long as he has any money, the American tourist will manage to get along quite well wherever he may be in Europe or elsewhere.

Victims

Mrs. Ralph J. Fugatt holds Mark Richard, 7 weeks, at their Springfield home. Her husband has never seen his son because he is in Rutland, Vermont jail under an early 1890 law which demands payment of court judgment or paupers oath.

CRIME:

Penalty Apropos

A Midland, Mich., judge sagely fitted the punishment to the crime in a case in municipal court. Two youths, 21 and 18, were brought in on a charge of crashing a wedding party and running away with the wedding cake. They said they did it on a dare.

After pondering a moment, the judge ordered the culprits to buy a wedding present and give it to the newlyweds.

TEARDROPS:

Rout Burglar

Emphasizing the adage: "never underestimate the power of a woman," a Chicago incident merited reporting. An armed robber burst into a woman's home, demanded all the money she had in the house.

She burst into tears. "You want money from me," she sobbed, "and I haven't money with which to buy bread." The gunman deliberated and gave the woman a dollar.

PALS . . . But "Squeaky" nibbles his buddy, "Buttons," now and then.

SCENES LIKE THIS MARKED BERLIN BLOCKADE LIFT . . . With the lifting of the Russian blockade in Berlin, the living standards of the people there have begun to look up with the arrival of many objects and foods which had not been seen in those parts for a long time. The first carload of oranges for the German people was an occasion of festivity as shown here. This was especially true for the kids, many of whom were too small ever to have seen an orange before as there had been none since the beginning of the war.

FDR, JR., AND MOTHER SHARE VICTORY JOY . . . First son of his illustrious father to make an elective bow in Washington, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., is shown with his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, after his election to the house of representatives from the 20th New York district. In his first try for public office, young Roosevelt defeated the Democratic candidate backed by Tammany, as well as a Republican opponent. He takes the seat left vacant by the death of Sol Bloom.

GETTING HIS APPLE SLICED THE HARD WAY . . . Even in Melbourne, Australia, they say an apple a day keeps the doctor away—but will it keep the undertaker away if one makes a habit of having it sliced like this? Pictured here is the assistant of a traveling knife-thrower. One of his chores is to hold the apple on a stick in his mouth while the marksman, Smoky Dawson, heaves the shiv and chops the fruit. This photo was made a split second after the apple was split and one half on the way to the floor.

LEAVES HOSPITAL AFTER FOUR YEARS . . . Raymond Edward Alderton, in the arms of his father, Raymond C. Alderton, leaves Kansas City's general hospital where he has been a patient for four years, four months and 15 days of his lifetime of five years. The boy was near death from a throat infection when he entered the hospital in January, 1945. He was unable to utter a sound until a few weeks ago when surgery was performed on his windpipe and now is learning to talk.

U. N. Shuns Spain

INSIDE REASON why the American delegation to the United Nations abstained from voting on Spain was because Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt threatened to denounce the state department publicly if it voted for Franco.

Warren Austin, the U.S. delegate, was all set to vote for sending ambassadors back to Spain when Mrs. Roosevelt found out about it.

Immediately she telephoned secretary of state Acheson and gave him her very blunt views on getting cozy with a dictator who had played ball with Hitler and Mussolini during the war. Any move to embrace him, Mrs. R. told Acheson, would only embarrass the truly democratic nations of western Europe and play into the hands of the Communist propaganda machine at a critical time in world affairs.

Acheson seemed impressed with Mrs. Roosevelt's argument and suggested as a compromise that the American delegation abstain when the vote came up. He further promised to issue a statement blasting Franco as a dictator created with the help of Hitler and Mussolini, which he later did. This satisfied Mrs. Roosevelt and she has said nothing more about the matter.

Senatorial Triangle

The two women who are fighting over Sen. Harry Cain, Republican of Washington actually came face to face the other day.

Mrs. Cain, who was put on notice by her husband in a public press conference that he was divorcing her, nevertheless turned the other cheek and went to the hospital to visit the sick senator.

While there, Miss Mary Hall, a senate secretary who may marry Senator Cain after the divorce, also arrived for a visit.

The sudden meeting was too much for Mrs. Cain and she lashed out at Miss Hall for stealing the senator's affections. "You may have the game," she sizzled, "but you'll never get the name."

Later both women cooled off and walked out of the hospital together.

The Cain divorce is supposed to become final on June 14. The lawyer who is handling the matter for Senator Cain in Tacoma, Wash., is Ed Eisenhower, Ike's brother.

Rent Control Battle

The legislatures of Alabama, Texas, Nebraska and Florida now are considering bills introduced by real estate interests to abandon rent control.

One of the public-opinion gimmicks put out by some of the real estate boys is that a state can temporarily get rid of rent control, then later restore it—under the rent act recently passed by Congress.

However, this is not the case. The rent-control act passed by congress categorically and definitely bars any reinstatement of federal rent control if a state or city once votes to decontrol. In other words, if a state or city once breaks away from the rent-control program it can never come back again.

Atomic Contracts

Fairstaking, persevering Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming has been applying the scourge to big monopolies for years. Now he has come up with revealing information on the way big corporations handle big contracts with the government.

In 1946 the atomic energy commission signed a contract with General Electric for atomic energy work at Hanford, Wash., and Schenectady, N. Y., under which G. E. was paid all its costs plus a fixed fee of $1. The total amount obligated under this contract was 370 million dollars, of which seven million was paid to General Electric for salaries, training of personnel, etc.

Meanwhile, Senator O'Mahoney points out that it has become a common practice of the atomic energy commission to get around congressional appropriations by authorizing blanket contracts in such a way that Congress cannot judge their validity.

In the current year, for instance, the commission has contract appropriations of 600 million dollars and congress has no way of knowing what it's all about.

British Compromise

American Ambassador Leighton Stuart in China is mad as a hornet at the British for trying to make a deal with the Chinese Communists behind his back.

Without telling Stuart a word, British representatives talked with the Chinese Communists twice. By accident Stuart has discovered that what the British have proposed is this: If the Chinese Communists let the British keep Hong Kong, the British government then will be willing to recognize the Reds.

News Capsules

Spineless Chiang Kai-Shek—Diplomatic cables have just revealed the inside reason why Chiang Kai-shek flew to Hangchow to confer with acting President Li of China. Believe it or not but Chiang urged President Li not to make a stand against the Chinese Reds at the Yangtze river line. Li had informed the U.S. embassy that he would make such a stand, but when Chiang heard about it he flew to Hangchow and urged President Li to continue his retreat.

'THE WHISTLER' . . . Eleven-month-old Jeannine Elaine Arlaud of Des Moines has been whistling since she was nine months old after her parents took her to a band concert. She now puckers up and whistles when she is hungry, wants to pet the dog or listen to the radio.

MUNCHABLE MILLINERY . . . If you wore this hat, you wouldn't be reckless if you promised to eat it on a wager. Recently appearing in Paris, the hat is trimmed with pastry, and there's nothing to stop the wearer from eating that.

Start Making Your Stocks Of Jams, Jelly Goodies Early as Supply Fades

MOST JAM and jelly cupboards are a sad sight to behold about this time of year because long months of use have depleted them pretty thoroughly. Most homemakers will find it a joy to start stocking them now with bright, jewel-like glasses of delectable jellies.

Even for those of us who like a good store of jam and jelly, the job need not seem an unmountable task. Make small batches and you'll have better results in both flavor and color retention. Neither will you get tired that you never want to see another jelly glass again.

Organize your work properly by getting out jars or replacing them. Wash them in sudsy water; rinse carefully and they will be all ready to place in cold water and started to sterilizing before you get ready for the fruit and berries. Many women like to get the glass washing chore out of the way the day before, and this is an excellent idea.

Utensils for working as well as the paraffin and sugar may also be laid out the evening before jelly making day. Plan to make your batch first thing in the morning before the sun warms things up too much and makes you weepy.

HERE'S AN EASY guide for a favorite rhubarb and strawberry jam:

Rhubarb-Strawberry Jam
(Makes 10 6-ounce glasses)
4 cups prepared fruit
7 cups sugar
1/2 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit: slice thin or chop, but do not peel, about one pound of rhubarb. Crush thoroughly about one quart fully ripe strawberries. Combine fruits and measure four cups into a large saucepan.

To make the jam: add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for five minutes to cool slightly, and to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Currents are rich in their own pectin and may be combined with other fruits not as rich in the substance to make fine jelly.

Cherries in Currant Jelly
2 quarts currant jelly
8 pounds sugar
2 quarts pitted cherries

Wash, mash and cook slowly enough currants, with stems, to make two quarts of strained juice. Let currant juice come to a boil, then add sugar. Skim. Add cherries

Cherry Preserves
5 pounds cherries
5 pounds sugar

Wash, pick and stone cherries. Place in a preserving kettle, alternating layers of fruit and sugar. Let stand overnight. Bring slowly to a boil and then boil rapidly until thick and clear. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal at once with paraffin.

Gooseberry Conservé
3 pounds gooseberries
3 pounds sugar
1 pound seeded raisins
3 large oranges

Grate the rind of the oranges and extract the juice. Mix together the orange rind and juice, gooseberries, raisins and sugar. Cook slowly until thick. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once.

Pineapple-Pear Preserves
1 pound pears
1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple
1 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 cup boiling water

Dissolve sugar in water and let come to a boil. Cut pears in halves lengthwise, removing skin and cores. Cut pineapple into pieces and add both fruits to hot syrup. Cook until tender and clear. Seal in sterilized jars.

To prevent excessive "weeping" on jellies and jams, leave a half inch of space at the top when filling the glass. Paraffin, cover tightly and store in a cool, dry place.

Fruits and berries used for jams, jellies, preserves and conserves should not be allowed to stand in water as they become water-logged and will have to be cooked longer, to get rid of water. This results in flavor and color loss.

Use a lipped saucepan for pouring paraffin to make this job easier.

Full, rolling boil in jelly and jam directions means a full, high tumbling boil which cannot be stirred down.

The jelly bag may be squeezed, if desired, and the quantity and flavor of the jelly increased.

Do not plan to keep jams and jellies for longer than a year as they lose flavor as well as color during storage.

Jelly and jam glasses should be covered with a coating of paraffin 1/4 inch thick. For the average sized jelly glass, this will be about one tablespoon of melted paraffin on it.

Raspberries, either by themselves or in combination with other fruits make delightful jams or jellies. Prepare the jelly glasses by sterilization before starting the jam or jelly so they will be ready when the juice or fruit is to be prepared.

Black Raspberry-Currant Jelly
2 quarts black raspberries
2 cups water
1 quart currants
Sugar

Cook raspberries, currants and water for 20 minutes. Strain the juice and measure. Add an equal amount of sugar. Cook until a small amount of the juice dropped on a saucer jells. Ladle into jelly glasses and cover with paraffin at once.

Raspberries do not have much pectin and for this reason they need pectin added to make them into acceptable jam. Use them alone or combined with strawberries.

Raspberry Jam
(Makes 8 6-ounce glasses)
4 1/2 cups prepared fruit
6 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit: crush thoroughly about two quarts fully ripe, red raspberries. If desired, sieve half of pulp to remove some of the seeds. Measure 4 1/2 cups into a large saucepan.

To make jam: measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding the fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture reaches a hard boil. Bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim, ladle quick into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Cherry Preserves

PEACE IN WAR

These photographs, serene and many times removed from any aura of violence, were taken in immediate neighborhood of battlegrounds during World War II by Harvey Belgin, combat photographer. His one-man showing in the Smithsonian Institution recently was adjudged one of the finest documentary series produced by an individual photographer during the war. Picture at top was taken on Okinawa while fighting was heaviest on the island. In Cebu, Philippines, the appalling feature of the picture below was the friendly smile of the peasant girl. The old fisherman (right) was a character on Motobu peninsula, Okinawa.

weekly Picture story

Here in the extreme northern part of Okinawa, the primeval forest hills are sparsely inhabited and accessible only by narrow roads and trails. Here was poetry, music, proverbs—and the danger of snipers' bullets, when this was taken during mopping up operations.

The water buffalos of Cebu, Philippines, (left) get excellent care by their masters. These huge creatures are very necessary to cultivate the rice fields. However, this picture shows another use for the powerful pull of the animal. Note the crude cart. The ring in the nose serves as a bridle. To develop his pictures, Belgin used his pup tent and waited for moonless nights to fashion a darkroom in which his helmet became the developing tank and canvas water bags from his jeep the means for fixing and washing the film.

Belgin's primary rendezvous in Okinawa was to record the war, but he kept another rendezvous to prove his own belief that the horror in which he was engulfed was not humanity's inevitable lot. He found scenes like this (right) in the middle of a gigantic war—curious portraits suggesting that death was a million miles away. It is the calm peace of low tide on a coral coast of Okinawa.

Harvey Belgin, 36, was born in Canada of Latvian parents. He joined the U. S. army in 1942, covered the invasion of Okinawa and after a rest in the Philippines he got in on the occupation of Japan, traveling from the extreme southern part to the far northern tip of the island of Hokkaido.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 27:37-61; Mark 15:15-47; Luke 23:26-47; 24:1-6; John 19:23-37.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Mark 15:16-23.

Why Jesus Died

Lesson for June 12, 1949

THE FACTS of Jesus' death were simple. They are told in the four Gospels without dramatics and without tears. Yet the drama is there, stark and terrible; and only the hard of heart can read it without tears.

There is a deeper question than what happened. Why did it happen? The first Christians were forced to think about the crucifixion. They all knew it was no legend. It was so. But they were hunted, as we are, with the question, "Why? Here was a person whose teaching was truth, whose touch was health, whose life was love. You would have thought the world would welcome such a man, and give him the highest honors in its power. But instead, all it had for him were nails and thorns and a cross. Why? If God, who sees all things, knew that even his Son would come to no better end than a death of shame, why did God allow Jesus to be born, much less send him into the world, the world where the cross was waiting?"

Dr. Foreman

No Other End

THERE WAS, of course, "historical reasons" why Jesus was killed. If we used the words "murdered" or "lynched" it would be nearer the truth. Jesus' death, from one point of view, was both a tragedy and a crime, and the Gospel stories show this. Jesus died because Pilate was a spineless man.

Jesus died because the priests of Jerusalem saw that if this man won, they would lose, and they would commit murder rather than be defeated. Jesus died because the Pharisees had closed minds and would not listen to truth if they did not think of it first.

He died because Judas was a traitor, because his friends were cowards and even the best of them dared to show their faces only after he was dead. He died because the Jewish people had their minds set on one sort of Messiah, and when Jesus turned out to be quite another sort, they would have none of him. Being altogether the sort of person he was, in that kind of world, at that particular time and place, you could say, as Jesus himself did, that the Son of Man "had to" die. (Luke 24:26.) No other end was possible. There was no help for it . . . except to turn coward and hide; and if he had been capable of that, he would not have been the Christ we know at all.

The Plan of God

THEN WAS Jesus simply a victim of circumstances? Was he no better than a fly caught in fate's dark web? Far from it. The Christian church has always believed, even before these stories of the crucifixion were ever written, that the death of Christ was in the plan of God. In fact, it is at the heart of God's plan for mankind.

It is by the death of Christ that God reconciles man and brings men back to himself. The Christian church believes and teaches that Christ died for us, that is, for you and for me. We believe that this was not simply Jesus' own idea, something God had not thought of till Jesus suggested it.

We believe that this was the intention of God "from before the foundation of the world." The God who is ever all, works through all things, even very evil things, to make his love known.

"That The World . . . Might Be Saved"

MEN had long thought of God as living in far-off heaven, seated on a throne, high and lifted up. A just and mighty God, one who cannot be touched with any human weakness, a holy and infinite Lord of the universe,—such a God men knew. But on earth there walks and suffers a race of men who are slaves of sin, slaves to evil. How can such a God help such men? Not by staying on his throne and hurling down more curses. Only by doing what men would never have guessed God would dare to do—come into this world, himself as a man, translating himself into the life of man; putting his shoulder under the human load, even bearing "our sins in his own body on the tree" (1 Peter 2:24).

AS BABY-SITTERS, FOOTBALL PLAYERS . . .

Gridders, Says Lou Little, Make Good Sitters

. . . WOULD MAKE JUNIOR STAY IN LINE

By H. I. PHILLIPS

GRIDDERS ARE SITTERS

Lou Little, famous Columbia football coach, has appealed for jobs for football players as baby sitters.

So there, Junior! Behave yourself while mummy and pappy are at the theater tonight or else develop some fast off-tackle plays.

Reactions to football players as baby sitters have varied. At first thought, many parents had difficulty associating "Rock-a-bye Baby" and "Sleep, Pretty One, Sleep" with "Block that kick!" and "Hit that line hard!" They found it hard to think of a husky fullback as the best person to handle kids who made up their own rules as the evening went along.

It did not seem to mother that when she asked, "Do you think the baby is all right?" she would find comfort in father's answer, "Yes, my dear. Remember that our baby sitter for tonight booted the longest punt in the 1948 season."

But on more sober reflection most people decided that, children being the problems they are when mom and pop are out, it might be reassuring to know that they are in the hands of a baby sitter coached in a rugged school and with a good record for victory, on fields wet or dry.

Kids are quick to recognize authority. They know when they are up against heavy odds. In the manner and actions of a university grid star, they sense power, speed, determination and the old "do or die" spirit.

Few children will try to sit up until midnight listening to the radio if the baby sitter is all-American material.

Baby is not going to whip out the airgun around 9:30 and take some pot shots at the old woman across the courtyard, knowing that a great broken field runner is on watch.

No kid is going to howl for a cookie if it can see in the eyes of the baby sitter the never-yield-an-inch spirit of a football man around whose end no opponent made any progress in two seasons.

All in all, parents should feel easy with a football star as a baby sitter. Even in a home where the kiddies are sure to get rambunctious a crack gridiron man can detect the signals, sense the trick plays and stop the formations. Unless, of course, he is in one of those homes where there are so many children they use the double play-on system.

Why Fans Go Mad

These days in the video belts where baseball games and horse races are broadcast the same afternoon are proving pretty hectic to sports fans. Trying to follow both is doing the American nervous system no good.

It is all quite confusing. To see both sports, a video addict has to be pretty fast on the switches. In a tricking ball game it is quite a trick to catch the horses all set in the starting gate. And in an especially important horse race split-second judgment is necessary in deciding when to tune out of the horse oval and into the ball park.

He liked a horse on which Arcaro was announced as the jockey. "Arcaro!" he exclaimed. "That's poor judgment. They pitched him yesterday."

Then while the race track announcer was chatting on generalities, Elmer dove back into the baseball channel. The home team had a man on second, one out and a big hitter up. It added to his pulse beat and general confusion, "Come on!" he yelled, "Don't go wide on the turns. Ya can't lose at the weights!"

Back to the ponies he switched, just in time. The horses broke as one. Elmer liked something called Mike's Pride. "Atta baby," he cried, "You got your stuff today!"

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Guilt Causes Renunciation

By Lawrence Gould

Will a man "renounce" a girl he really loves?

Answer: Yes, if he has an exaggerated sense of guilt which drives him to deprive himself of happiness. Under such conditions, the stronger his love, the surer he will be to find some plausible excuse for giving her up, since what he fears most of all is what he thinks will make him happy.

instincts into useful and effective patterns of behavior. "The development of an ethical code that will be strong enough to govern the individual's future actions is dependent on the existence of family life," and nothing else can replace it.

Could children grow up without homes? Answer: No, writes Kate Friedlander, British welfare worker, in the Journal of Mental Science. For a child's conscience develops out of his relations with his mother, and he must have constant contact with her during the first six years of his life if he is to learn to transform his primitive

Does seeking "perfection" prove high standards? Answer: No. It shows that you are morbidly afraid of being criticized, either by others or by yourself. What makes your standards high—and so rigid—is that you don't dare to leave the finest loophole in your defense against largely imaginary accusations. The woman who cannot bear to see a speck of dust in her house does not really love cleanliness; she's afraid of being called a "bad housekeeper."

And the man who cannot finish a job because he "can never get it done to satisfy him" is the victim of a similar fear.

SHUT-IN

Grace Noll Crowell

I WAKED to a day of darkness and cold rain, I said, "Would that the hours were past and the day gone."

The wet boughs in the wild wind lashed the pane. The flowers were sodden splotches upon the lawn. "Would that the night were here and the hours through!"

Restless, my heart cried out, and then there came A sudden shaft of sun and a stain of blue, Catching the curtained darkness like a flame.

And there was firelight dancing upon the hearth; There was a small book weighted with golden lore; A song rode in on the wind-waves of the earth; A neighbor breathed the storm to reach my door.

A beloved voice came to me over the wire, And there was a letter from many a mile away. Shut-in? My heart was ashamed of its desire; It would have missed so much had it missed today

With M-G-M shooting sequences for "Adam's Rib" all around New York pretty girls wearing dark glasses learned to avoid crowds; the interested spectators suspected them of being movie actresses. Judy Holliday, one of the principals, kept right on in her play, "Born Yesterday," during the shooting. Tom Ewell, just through with a play, is now back in Hollywood.

Another Metro picture, the musical "On the Town," has been shooting in New York. All six principals—Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Jules Munshin, Ann Miller, Vera-Ellen and Betty Garrett, worked two days at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Cast in a minor role in "Riding High," Dorothy Barrett sang a song for members of the cast during a break; Director Frank Capra heard her and chose her to sing with Bing. She has appeared in several Broadway productions and was vocalist for Vaughn Monroe's band for six months before entering films. Her next step up is a featured role in "Copper Canyon," Technicolor western.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Betty Hutton and Fred Astaire rehearsed their first song and dance number for "Let's Dance" for two weeks, then got to work on their second one. . . . SMILING LOSER

By Richard H. Wilkinson

KIRBY FOUND the girl seated on an upturned box behind the stables crying. He hesitated, feeling awkward, then said:

"Hello. Anything wrong?" She looked up quickly, appraisingly. "No, please go away."

Instead, Kirby squatted on his heels. "You must have lost some money on that last race. Black Fox fooled every one by not coming in. I lost too."

"I suppose I'm a baby to cry, but I couldn't help it. I—my father and I staked everything on Black Fox. Then that terrible I'm-a-Runnin', who nobody thought had a chance, had to win."

She hesitated, dabbing at her eyes. He seemed like a nice young man. And she did so want company and to talk . . .

He discovered her name was Polly Hayden. The next day he called at her house and met her father, a jolly faced old gentleman with white walrus moustaches. "We really shouldn't feel so badly," Polly told her father after the introductions were over. "Kirby lost a lot more than we and he isn't complaining at all."

That night Polly and Kirby had dinner at a little inn out on the Tamiami trail. He knew she was wondering when and how he was going to pay his racing debts, and where he was going to get the money to establish himself in the law business. You just can't hang out a shingle in Miami and expect business at once.

But he didn't offer the information. The next day he hired an office on Flagler street, then called up Col. Stratton and asked that racing enthusiast to meet him at Hialeah. "Colonel," he said over a sandwich and coffee an hour later, "I'm going to take you up on the offer you made me for I'm-a-Runnin'. He's yours for $50,000."

The colonel stared. "Now wait a minute, Kirby. Has the horse died or broken a leg or something?" "Nothing of the sort," Kirby laughed. "I'm quitting racing for good. It's no business for an energetic young lawyer to be wasting his time at. I hired an office this morning."

at sight of Polly Hayden talking with his stable boy. HER EYES blazed at him. "So! The good loser. The man who can lose everything, who will have to spend the rest of his life paying his racing debts and still smile! Oh, what a fool I've been!" "Wait a minute! Listen!" He caught at her arm but she jerked away. He followed her out to her car. "You've got to listen," he said desperately, getting in beside her. "I only did it because I thought it would make you feel better. And it worked. I meant it when I said I was through with racing. I've sold I'm-a-Runnin' to Colonel Stratton. Look!" He held out the bill of sale and the check.

She stared at him round-eyed, frightened. "Oh, you shouldn't! Kirby, you shouldn't! You'll never be able—I mean, you love horses. Any one can see that. You loved I'm-a-Runnin'."

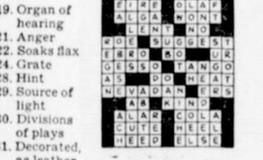

"Not half as much as I love you," he told her soberly. He put his arm around her. "You believe that, don't you? You must believe it." "Darling, of course I do. And—I am glad that you're going to be a respectable lawyer, only—only—"

"Only what?" "Well, sometime, after we've been respectable for a good long while, we'll buy another horse, won't we? A horse as great as I'm-a-Runnin'? Because—we both love horses, don't we?" "We do," Kirby agreed joyfully Making Curved Rafter Question: Where can I obtain information on how to make curved rafters? How is this work done?

Answer: The National Lumber Manufacturers association, Washington, D.C., has several publications on the subject; some are free and others are available at a price.

Protecting Silver from Tarnish Question: Is there any way to prevent silverware from tarnishing? Isn't there a preparation to apply on the silverware as a thin coating to prevent tarnish?

Answer: Dealers in jewelers supplies usually sell a lacquer for this purpose, but firms of this kind are only found in large cities. If you cannot get it, a clear lacquer, sold at a well-stocked paint store, can be used instead. After polishing the silver, wipe it with benzine and then apply the lacquer.

KEEPING HEALTHY Today's Most Amazing Medicine

By Dr. James W. Barton

AS YOUR PHYSICIAN thinks over the past 10 years, you would naturally believe he would have in mind the wonderful work of saving lives now being done by penicillin and the sulfa drugs. Diseases that were practically all fatal and others in which but a small percentage recovered, are now successfully battled by these antibiotics as they are called, because they kill the organisms which formerly caused death. Two other antibiotics, streptomycin and aureomycin, have been recently added to man's defenses. It may come as a surprise to many to learn that your physician is thinking more about the blood coursing through your blood vessels as he realizes—as he did not realize just 10 years ago—that blood is today's most amazing medicine. "It has become more of a miracle worker than penicillin."

HEALTH NOTES

From April to November of 1947 a total of 72 patients with tuberculous meningitis were treated at the University of Athens. All nine patients who didn't receive streptomycin died, whereas of the 63 who received injections of the drug, 29 survived. The earlier the treatment the greater were the chances of recovery. "Early," in this case, means within the first 10 days following the onset of the attack.

Cancer of the stomach presents such mild symptoms at first that, by the time it is suspected, half the cases are too late for treatment and another quarter has only an even chance of being cured.

While home treatment of corns given by usual remedies may be safe if care is taken, the complete removal of the corn by a chiropodist or by an orthopedic surgeon is the safest and surest method of removal.

Pig Brooders Used To Protect Litter

Are Found Valuable At Farrowing Time

"This little pig went to market" is a great first line for a nursery rhyme. But it doesn't go far enough as far as farmers are concerned. They'd rather wait until the pig grows up before sending it to market. And the growing-up process is no snap, especially during the first few weeks when the old sow may crush her precious offspring as they crowd around her in an effort to keep warm.

The problem of getting hogs to market starts at farrowing time. In the spring some form of supplementary heat is needed to prevent a high mortality rate. Pig brooders have been developed for this purpose. Their use will save an average of one and a half pigs per litter, according to Purdue university.

Here is shown a pig brooder in operation. Ofttimes some form of supplementary heat is necessary to prevent a high mortality rate among pigs. Pig brooders such as this have been developed for this purpose.

Brooders are easy to build and economical to operate. Generally, they are constructed by boarding off a corner of the farrowing pen to a height of about 18 inches. A roof is placed over this rectangular enclosure and a board nailed across the front opening about 8 inches above the floor. Heat is provided by a 150 to 300-watt lamp, the size depending on weather conditions. A hole is cut in the top, and the lamp placed in a suitable reflector which is bolted securely over the opening. Pig brooders consume an average of 36 kilowatt hours of power per litter.

Meat Income High

Almost one-third of the American farmer's total cash income last year came from the sale of meat animals, according to the chart above prepared by the American Meat Institute from U.S. department of agriculture figures.

The value of meat animals was more than nine and one-half billion dollars. Total cash receipts from all crops, including government payments, approached 31 and one-third billion dollars.

From their cash income, farmers and ranchers paid out large amounts for stock, feed, labor and other operating costs.

Milk By-Products Hold Infant Food Source

An infant food made from edible by-products of milk may soon open a new market for dairymen in tests now going on in Mexico continue to show favorable results. This is the conclusion drawn by Dr. Harold Macy of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Macy and Irvine McQuarrie, pediatrics head at the university, have visited Mexico where they conferred with leading pediatricians on the tests.

The new baby food will offer opportunities for use in many countries if future experiments prove satisfactory.

Calf Which 'Sits Down' Interests Veterinarians

Cattle don't sit down ordinarily, so it was news when the American Veterinary association expressed professional interest in the strange case of a Hereford calf on a farm in Tennessee. The AMV journal said the Tennessee calf often sits on the ground with her hind legs sprawled forward.

The calf usually lies down again before trying to rise to all four feet, the journal reported.

Dwarf Vegetables Grown To Aid Prairie Gardens

Development of dwarf vegetables to satisfy the needs of prairie gardens has been announced.

Dwarf bush tomatoes, such as Morden crossbreds and Farthest North will set and mature fruit earlier and longer than the ordinary tomato.

Their compactness provides resistance to winds and the restricted foliage cover economizes on soil moisture and fights drought.

HOW TO EAT WELL ON A SMALL BUDGET

Get a NORGE vertical freezer

It's true... a Norge Vertical Freezer can do wonders for your food budget!

You can "stock up" during harvest seasons, when prices are lowest.

You can take better advantage of shopping bargains. In addition, you can save through quantity buying; a freezer makes it practical to buy by the bushel, instead of by the pound.

Yes, you save with a Norge Vertical Freezer, but not at the expense of your palate.

Meat, fish, fowl, fruits, vegetables... even pastries... reach your table as flavor-fresh and nutritious as the day they went into the freezer.

You enjoy better food... greater variety in your meals... better balanced menus. And you can have "seasonal" delicacies any time of the year... pheasant in June, cantaloupe in January, choice bits from the Christmas turkey in March.

Let us show you how the Norge Vertical Freezer can bring better and less expensive meals to your household!
