

Bernice Bunkelman, Robert Scannell Wed

Miss Bernice Bunkelman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bunkelman, Kewaskum, and Robert Scannell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Scannell, R. 1, Eden, were married by the Rev. Thomas P. Trahey in Our Lady of Angels parsonage, Armstrong, Saturday afternoon, June 11, at 2:30 p. m.

The ceremony was followed by a reception and 5:30 o'clock dinner at the Kewaskum Republican Hotel and an evening reception at Wilson's Round Lake resort.

The bride wore a mouseline de soie gown over a bridal satin slip and hoop. Her sheer portrait yoke was edged with chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was joined with a full skirt, trimmed with combinations of de sole and chantilly lace ruffles softly tapering into a huge train trimmed the same way.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore daffodil yellow, orchid and pale green respectively. The dresses were de sole organza over taffeta slips. Their sheer portrait necklines were outlined with a ruffle. The fitted bodices met full skirts ending with four rows of ruffles in the front, softly tapering into two rows of ruffles around the back of the skirts.

Mr. Scannell attended Fond du Lac High school. His bride, who had been cashier at the J. C. Penney company, West Bend, was graduated from Kewaskum High school.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Jeanette M. Strobel, daughter of Ray J. Strobel, R. 3, Campbellsport, became the bride of Thomas Eisenhut Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eisenhut of Lomira in a ceremony performed by the Rev. John Reichel in St. Kilian's church, St. Kilian, at 9 a. m. Wednesday, June 15.

The bride was attired in a gown of white slipper satin and nylon sheer, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline outlined with beads in a scroll design, long sleeves, a fitted bodice and a full skirt having a sheer front and gullion folds falling from the sides and ending in a long train. Her long lace trimmed illusion veil was held by a tiarra of seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses, baby's breath and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ray Martin, sister of the groom, wore a gown of aqua nylon marquisette over taffeta styled with a fitted bodice and flowing skirt, shirred lace finishing the yoke and forming the skirt back. She wore matching mitts, a spray of flowers in her hair, and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Alice Straub, Lorraine Zuehke, and Mrs. Werner Hug, wore gowns of pink, maize and green like that of the matron of honor. They carried arm bouquets of carnations to match, and wore sprays of flowers in their hair.

Ray Martin was best man and the groomsmen were Barney and Lester Strobel and Walter Sauer. Tod Koehnig and Joseph Schmidt, cousins of the bride and groom, ushered.

Dinner was served at Goring's resort, and an afternoon reception and evening dance held there.

After a trip to northern Wisconsin, the young couple will reside in Lomira.

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of Mrs. Harvy Melton, who passed away June 16, 1947.

Memories are treasures no one can steal, Death is a heartache nothing can heal.

Some may forget you now that you're gone, But we will remember no matter how long.

Deeply missed by her surviving family.

3 Local Youths to Attend Badger Boys, Girls State

Three youths from the Kewaskum area, two boys and a girl, will be among the young people who will attend the Badger Boys' State at Ripon college from June 18-25 and the Badger Girls' State at Madison, June 21-28.

The youths, all students of Kewaskum High school, were chosen by the school faculty as representatives at the boys' and girls' states. They are sponsored by the Kewaskum Kiwanis club and American Legion Auxiliary.

Boys who will attend the boys state at Ripon are Frank Krueger Jr., village, and Fred Koepke, Beechwood. The girl is Diane Schaefer, village.

Advance reports indicate that some 700 boys will become citizens of the American Legion sponsored Badger Boys' State at Ripon. Although the college facilities are geared to handle a maximum of 650 boys, the unprecedented number of registrations forced the board of directors of Boys' State to make arrangements for 50 additional boys.

RIVERS NIGHT GAME AT WEST BEND RAINED OUT

The northern Rivers game between the Honeck Chevrolets and West Bend scheduled to be played at West Bend under the lights Tuesday evening was rained out. The contest will be made up next Wednesday night, June 22, when Kewaskum will take on the Benders under the big lights.

Utensils Beaten by League Leaders, 8-2

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division)

Scores last Sunday—Lannon 8, Kewaskum 2; Mequon 3, Germantown 0; Menomonee Falls 12, Granville 5.

Games this Sunday—Grafton at Kewaskum (second game of doubleheader, starting immediately following the Kewaskum-Jackson Rivers game); Lannon at Germantown, Granville at Mequon, Menomonee Falls bye.

Lannon is still in first place and still undefeated after Sunday's play in the northern Lakes. Lannon met Kewaskum and the Utensils absorbed an 8-2 beating at the hands of the Lannon steamroller.

Lannon's powerful hitting club belted young Johnny Tessar for a total of 17 safe base knocks, including two triples and a double. Johnny worked the full nine innings, walking five and striking out three. M. Reimer was the opposing twirler and was a pretty tough cookie. He fanned only three but walked none and gave up but six hits. However, some crack fielding by his mates saved him from further trouble, especially the defensive play of Lannon's sensational shortstop, S. Dubnicka.

Not a man on the Kewaskum team got more than one safety, with Johnny Tessar garnering the only extra base hit, a double. Bremerberg, L. Reimer and Wagner each sliced out three bingles for the winners, while three others collected two. R. Reimer got two hits and both were triples.

Two base hits—Kerhansky, J. Tessar. Three base hits—R. Reimer 2. Double play—Prost to Kanies to W. Tessar. Passed ball—Kral, Wild pitch—J. Tessar.

PUDDLES NINE WINS FIRST GAME AT CAMPBELLSPORT

Kewaskum's third team in the Land o' Lakes organization, the Land o' Puddles nine, composed of boys 15 years and younger, played their opening game at Campbellsport Wednesday afternoon and defeated the Belles 8 to 4. Further than this, no information about the contest was received from those in charge of the team.

DRUM, BUGLE CORPS AT BARTON

The Legion drum and bugle corps will be active again this Sunday when they will be a feature in the parade at the joint VFW-Firemen's picnic at Barton. The parade will begin at 12:30 p. m. Last Sunday the corps was one of six fine drum and bugle corps and one band which participated in a very excellent parade at Waubesa. The observance was a flag day celebration at Waubesa, birthplace of flag day.

Recommendations From State Dept. to Local School

Mr. Paul Landmann, Clerk, Board of Education Kewaskum, Wisconsin Dear Mr. Landmann:

This letter will inform your board of a supervisory visit which was made to the Kewaskum High School by State School Library Supervisor Anna May Vold and State School Supervisor J. F. Waddell on Wednesday, May 18, 1948. A summary of the report of this visit is herewith submitted to you. The report is generally favorable in indicating that your principal, Mr. Clifford M. Rose, is giving very capable leadership to your faculty and to the student body.

While the supervisors were at your school they visited the teachers at work in their classrooms, checked up on your building and its facilities, evaluated our library situation, and held conferences with individual teachers and also with Mr. Rose. You have a good teaching staff with some that are very good. Mr. Rose has an excellent idea of the ability and limitations of each teacher and his recommendations on them can be safely followed. It is reported that all of your teachers but two are returning for the coming year. This is a good record and you are to be congratulated upon being able to hold your teachers. The supervisors were especially interested in visiting and conferring with your beginning teachers. The supervisors believe you have two fine beginners and that they will develop into strong and able teachers. Mr. Rose did a fine job in selecting them and recommending them to your board. I trust that you will be as fortunate in the replacements that are to be made for the coming year.

The check-up on your building and its facilities shows that your building capacity has been badly outgrown by your enrollment. It is noted that the building was built to accommodate 65 pupils and that you now have an enrollment of 173 in the high school. Just which is the right way to move at the present time is difficult to say as there are several things that are badly needed. You need a new gymnasium and auditorium, and you also need space to house the grades. If you could take the grades out of the present building, it would give you room for high school use. The first suggestion would be to build a grade unit to house the present grade enrollment and a kindergarten. This would call for at least five grade rooms. This unit should be built at some distance from the high school. There seems to be land available back of the pumping station and to the left of the new street that is to be opened up.

Later you could add to the present building giving added classroom space and the gymnasium and auditorium. The order of meeting your needs must be decided by your board and first things first should determine what to do. You can't afford to wait for any consolidation or reorganization to be effected as your needs are so very great. The space given over to Industrial Arts is inadequate and more space should be provided. Mr. L. Rose can give the information as to what is required. Again the space given over to the home economics department is too limited, and finally you do not have the room to care for agriculture classes and it would seem as though these courses would be most desirable in your case.

Another factor which must be considered is the result of the new compulsory school attendance law which requires that all boys and girls up to 16 years of age must be in school. Mr. Rose can give you some idea of what to expect by way of increased enrollment. It is believed that all children should have the opportunity to attend school and acquire all the education they can take. We then should supply the education that every child can take and that means a school course for the book minded, others for the hand minded; a school, in short that meets the needs of my child anywhere. We do not always do that. In far too many places the only available school is the book learning school, rigid in matter and method. We have outgrown that school. It no longer serves. This brings us to the matter of school attendance. Some pupils are habitual absentees. They stay away from school because it is little more than a jail to them. There is nothing there for them. They have no ability that allows them either an interest in book knowledge nor a mastery of it.

These young people are precious to the nation. They have hidden powers and latent abilities. They could, if opportunity were offered them, learn some sort of skill in one field or another. They are not all dull boys and girls. A goodly number of them have had experience with life that matured them early and accordingly they find a school geared to children while they are maturing young people. Many of the boys and girls that will return to

Three More Traffic Accidents Past Week

Milton Rohde, 25, Chicago, sustained cuts and bruises on Monday when he was unable to stop for an intersection at the juncture of Highways 45-55 and 25. Rohde's car rolled over several times and was badly damaged.

Five persons were injured at 8:30 p. m. Saturday when cars driven by Arthur Roeser, 54, Germantown, and Clarence Burgert, 29, Cedarburg, collided on County Trunk V, about six miles north of Kewaskum. In the Roeser auto were Mrs. Roeser, 45; Bergetta Hansen, 39, and Isadore Hansen, 42, all of whom were cut, bruised, and shaken. Burgert was alone and was slightly hurt. All were treated by a Campbellsport physician. Fond du Lac county traffic police said the accident took place when the cars slid.

A calf owned by Fred Wesenberg, town of Auburn, was struck and killed by a semi-trailer truck driven by William Behl, Chicago, at 12:30 a. m. last Thursday. It was reported Behl was driving south on Hwy. 45-55 when the calf roamed onto the highway from a nearby field. Behl could not swerve the tractor-trailer in time to avoid striking the animal.

Additional favorable comments are made regarding the following: 1. A well thought through program of audio-visual education is under way. This is all fine but should be expanded if possible. Suggestions were left for doing this.

2. Your music program is making good progress under the direction of Mr. Schaba. As soon as possible the vocal part of the program should be expanded. Your music director is anxious to do this.

3. You have a splendid group of boys and girls in your school and they should receive the best that you can give them.

4. The appearance of your building has been greatly improved by the redecoration of interior walls and ceilings.

5. Your janitor is doing a fine job and he is to be congratulated upon his interest and the energy he puts forth in keeping your building in fine shape.

6. Much new equipment has been added and is much appreciated.

7. Mr. Rose is doing his best to have instruction adapted to meet the needs and interests of pupils.

The following additional suggestions are made for improvement:

1. Look forward to the time when full courses in health and physical education can be provided for both boys and girls. This may have to wait until you can build a new gymnasium but keep it in your planning.

2. Provide full time office help for Mr. Rose. He is carrying a heavy load and at present has to take time out to care for matters that cheaper help can do. As you move into a building program and the district reorganization becomes a reality in your county, he will have to give much time to this work. He is too valuable a man to spend his time as he is doing now on matters that can be delegated. It was suggested to him how room could be provided to take care of the added help.

3. Buy up available land to be used for school purposes. You will need it as your school plans develop and the time may come when you would have to pay too much to own it. It was a wise move to buy the parcel of land which you own.

The results of the evaluation of your library situation and the recommendations made for improvements by the Library Supervisor are given in the following paragraphs.

The school library is an essential element of the school program. Its distinctive purpose is that of helping young people to develop abilities and habits of purposefully using books and libraries in attaining their goals of living. The library should share in the whole school program, and encourage the use of books and libraries by providing individual service to each child through reading guidance, ample reading materials, and library experience.

Three factors without which a school library does not exist are: (1) the librarian, (2) the book collection, and (3) the library quarters. In your school you are fortunate to have a young woman who is interested in the library, and who soon will complete her training as a certified teacher-librarian. Such a person is hard to find, but since you have her, it will be well to make it possible for her to give a maximum of library service. At least two hours of her day should

Miss Brauchle Receives Wesley Nursing Diploma

Rachel Esther Brauchle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leo C. Brauchle of Kewaskum, was one of 81 student nurses at Wesley Memorial hospital (Chicago) School of Nursing who received diplomas at Northwestern university commencement exercises, June 13.

Miss Brauchle has completed the three year nursing course at Wesley, which includes three months' training in pediatric nursing at Children's Memorial hospital and three months' neuropsychiatric work at Illinois Neuropsychiatric Institute.

The hospital is affiliated with Northwestern University Medical school. Diplomas were given by university president, Dr. Franklin Bliss Snyder. The group is comprised of students who completed their training in March of this year and of those who will finish next September.

KC'S RECEIVE DEGREES; TOM GREEN NAMED GRAND KNIGHT

About 75 members of the West Bend council of the Knights of Columbus were at Fond du Lac Sunday to attend the initiation of members into first, second and third degrees of the organization. Among those receiving the three degrees were the following from Kewaskum: K. William Hasbzig, Norman Jaeger, Arnold Zeimet and Frank J. Keller. Second and third degrees only were received by Arnold Hawig, Francis Volm, Cyrus Campbell, Miles Campbell, Theodore Rohlinger and Jac. Thull.

At a meeting of the West Bend council last Thursday evening officers for the ensuing year were elected. Tom Green, Kewaskum, was elected grand knight.

Wm. Bremser, Math. Staehler Pass Away

William W. Bremser, 68, well known retired farmer of R. 1, Eden, formerly of St. Michaels, where he resided most of his life, passed away suddenly on Sunday morning, June 12, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Narges at Eden.

Mr. Bremser was born Dec. 20, 1880, in the town of Kewaskum, and resided on a farm near St. Michaels many years. For the past few years he made his home with his children, most of the time with Mr. and Mrs. Narges at Eden. He was married to Martha Laubach on Oct. 18, 1910, at St. Michaels and she preceded him in death in October, 1937.

Seven children were born to the couple, one daughter having predeceased her parents. Surviving are Alice (Mrs. Aloisius J. Volm) of R. 2, Kewaskum, Lloyd of West Bend, Ambrose of R. 3, Hartford, Martha (Mrs. Casper Lutz) of Milwaukee, Jeanette (Mrs. Harold Narges) of R. 1, Eden, and Caroline (Mrs. Jerome Schellinger) of R. 3, Hartford.

The deceased is further survived by 12 grandchildren, one daughter-in-law, four sons-in-law, two sisters, Mrs. Jacob Schaeffer, town of Farmington, and Mrs. John Herriges, town of Kewaskum, and one brother, John Bremser, of the town of Kewaskum. One sister, Mrs. Joseph Bohn, preceded him in death.

Mr. Bremser was a member of the St. Michael's Aid and Holy Name societies of St. Michael's church at St. Michaels.

Funeral services were held at 8:45 a. m. Wednesday from Miller's Funeral home, Kewaskum, and at 9:30 a. m. in St. Michael's church. The Rev. Francis Eschweiller officiated and burial took place in the parish cemetery. The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends.

Six nephews acted as pallbearers, namely Earl Bremser, Carl Herriges, William Starck, Roland Naumann, Henry Fellenz and Jerome Bohn.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness and sympathy of our neighbors and friends in our late sorrow, the death of our beloved father, William Bremser, will always remain with us a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude are extended for all those comforting acts and especially to all who assisted in any way. Rev. Eschweiller, organist, choir, pallbearers, drivers, members of St. Michael's Aid society, traffic officers, Miller's Funeral home and for the floral and spiritual bouquets.

MATHIAS STAEHLER

Mathias Staehler, 55, retired farmer of St. Michaels, who also ran a threshing crew and did carpenter work, died at 5:50 a. m. Wednesday, June 15, at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, of the complications of old age.

Born Aug. 25, 1863, in the town of Scott, Sibley-county, Mr. Staehler lived near St. Michaels for the past 17 years. He was married to Katherine Mueller, who predeceased him in 1917.

Eleven children were born to the couple, one of whom, a son, died in infancy. Surviving are Anthony Staehler of St. Michaels, Mary (Mrs. Nk. Schill) of Kewaskum, Ann (Mrs. Anthony Herriges) of St. Michaels, Frances (Mrs. George Backhaus) of St. Michaels, Mrs. Lorraine Fellenz of St. Michaels, Gertrude (Mrs. John Schott) of West Allis, Helen (Mrs. Fred Langy) of the town of Farmington, Joseph of St. Michaels, Sylvester of West Bend, and Katherine (Mrs. Joe Hahn) of Milwaukee. The deceased also leaves 11 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, and a brother, Jacob Staehler of Town Scott.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 9:15 a. m. in St. Michael's church, St. Michaels, with the Rev. Francis Eschweiller officiating. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

ATTENTION ALL BOWLERS

Lighthouse Lanes bowling alleys will be open for bowling about the middle of August. Ten Brunswick alleys, with air conditioning, are now being installed. All wishing to enter teams on the alleys for league bowling next season are requested to make entries now at Lighthouse Lanes, formerly the Lighthouse ballroom.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Administration Asks Vast Powers In New Agriculture Support Plan; Labor Legislation Gets Priority

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

NICE TRY! . . . Like a round peg in a square hole, Officer George McPherson of the San Francisco humane society became stuck in a narrow light well into which he crawled to rescue a cat. It took fellow officers several minutes to dislodge him. The cat was removed through a window opening onto the bottom of the light well and is being held by Officer George Warren, at right.

FARM PLAN:

More Curbs Asked

Critics and supporters alike of Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan's 1949 farm support program were surprised when Brannan asked sweeping new powers to control the nation's agricultural production.

THE latest Brannan proposals were contained in the full draft of the administration's farm program which was laid before congress. In that program, the powers requested would mark the first time in the history of the nation—not excepting wartime—when farmers and their activities would be so completely under federal control.

For example, Brannan asked that rigid marketing quotas, now usable on only six major crops, be applied on the great bulk of farm products, including meat animals, milk, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables.

It was a bold stroke on the part of the administration and one that was gambling with farmer good will over the nation.

For it was quickly discernible that, if enacted, this program would put the American farmer under federal control from the moment he arose to feed the chickens and other stock in the morning, until he tended his vegetables and worked his crops, milked the cows and fed the stock again in the evening.

The big question was: Would the farmers stand for that, even if congress did enact the law? Farmers would be given a choice because under the Brannan proposal, they would have to vote adoption of the program by a two-thirds vote of all producers.

Brannan envisions a condition where prices would be allowed to move freely in the market with farmers getting a payment covering the difference if and when market prices fell below a predetermined "fair" return.

LABOR LAW:

Gets Priority

With domestic issues having been given the green light over foreign affairs, the U. S. senate was committed to wrestle out a new labor law—or repeal Taft-Hartley—before adjournment.

The importance of the labor question to the administration was indicated in the senate's shelving discussion of the North Atlantic security pact until the troublesome labor issue has been disposed of.

THE reason was rather obvious. Organized labor, worried by an apparent disinclination of congress to go along with the President in repealing Taft-Hartley and fearing further delay, was pushing the administration to get going. There was constant reminder behind the scenes of the President's campaign pledges to scrap the present overall labor law and labor wanted action.

The 1950 congressional races weren't too far off and the administration evidently felt it had better deliver or face labor's antagonism at the polls next year.

It was estimated some three weeks of debate would be necessary before the administration's bill came to a showdown vote.

MAJORITY LEADER Scott Lucas declared that if all major legislation were not disposed of by July 31, "we shall extend the length of the session until we have dealt with the most urgent proposals."

Baldness "Cure"

Buried on inside pages of most newspapers was a story which, if true, would have rated banner headlines in the eyes of those it concerned.

FOR, from Een, Holland, there came a claim that Meinheer J. Van Rooyen, a bewildered little barber, could cure baldness—no fooling.

The news leaked out, and the little barber shop was thronged with visitors. Letters poured in by the thousands.

The meinheer started it all himself by trying to stop his own thinning hair from growing thinner, experimenting with various lotions and use of infra-red rays.

ACCORDING to reports, he finally hit upon a combination that made his hair grow. Tried on others, it succeeded. Now he is treating 160 people, working 13 hours a day.

U. S. JOBS: Could Be Cut

A contention that the government cut its civilian employe rolls by 10 per cent and "accomplish exactly the same purposes" was made in Washington by former President Herbert Hoover. Declaring that this could be done if the government were organized properly, Mr. Hoover said the savings to the taxpayers might reach four to five billion dollars a year.

MR. HOOVER'S statement must have carried some weight, but there were only an optimistic few who believed anything might be done along the lines he pointed out.

The former President was speaking with authority because a commission of which he had been named the head—a fact-finding body to uncover just such things as he had uncovered—had exhaustively studied government functions and processes and had reported its findings.

A 200,000 cut in federal personnel would require no wholesale firing, he said. He added it could be accomplished through normal turnover, which now runs about 500,000 a year.

BERLIN:

New Issues

The meeting of the big four council of foreign ministers had developed one fact—discussion of German unity under current conditions was futile. So, it appeared attention would be turned to Berlin where some major problems yet remained unsolved.

Berlin presented concrete issues which many hoped could be resolved or, at least, discussed more profitably. The western powers there understood as readily as insist upon written agreements concerning rights in Berlin to replace oral understandings that alone have given them any rights in the immediate past.

LIDICE:

Nothing at All

It was hard to tell where possible Communist machinations began and truth left off, but if the charges of a Czech official that not one dollar of five million raised in the U. S. to rebuild Lidice was used, then the American people and humanitarianism generally had taken the worst rocking in years.

JAN VODICKA, secretary-general of the union of fighters for freedom in Czechoslovakia, said the collection to rebuild the city razed by the Nazis had been made "among our compatriots in the United States and the rest of the American public, and the union has information that of the five million dollars collected, 30 per cent was taken by the collectors and nearly 70 per cent by the administration."

There was a quick denial. In New York, Dr. Jan Papanek, resigned Czech U. N. delegate, said the Lidice memorial committee collected "$5,000 at the maximum" from Americans and never got a chance to apply any money to Lidice.

LIDICE, as too few probably will remember, was the village near Prague which was completely destroyed by the Nazis in retribution for the assassination of the German "hangman" Reinhardt Heydrich. All the men of the village were killed and its women and children dispersed.

CHILD LABOR:

Law Is Strict

Summer vacations were coming up and there would be hordes of youngsters seeking work during the long holiday. But if the wage and hour and public contracts division of the U. S. department of labor had its way, all child labor would be done strictly according to law.

FROM Cleveland, the director, William S. Singley, issued a reminder to all employees of school boys and girls under 18 that age and employment certificates for such workers must be on file.

He pointed out that these certificates "are considered as proof of age and serve to protect employers from unwitting violations of federal laws regulating the employment of children."

Under the fair labor standards act, the minimum age for most jobs is 16, but in occupations declared to be especially hazardous for young workers, the minimum age is 18.

MINE SAFETY:

Lewis Wants Law

Attacking state regulation of mine safety codes, John L. Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers, demanded a federal safety law to "prevent coal miners from being maimed, mangled and killed."

CHARGING that the "nation's coal is stained with blood," Lewis produced figures to show 1.25 million miners have been injured or killed in the past 19 years.

Lewis' charges were hurled before a senate labor subcommittee in support of a bill which would give federal mine inspectors right to close mines they think dangerous. Under present conditions, while the federal bureau of mines makes safety inspections and recommends safety measures, all control is exercised by the states and there is no way to implement federal suggestions and recommendations. Lewis contended that states are falling down badly.

LEWIS' testimony chiefly carried the theme that the states have failed to enforce safety regulations and that the mine operators are not going to pay any heed to safety unless forced to do so.

TOBACCO:

Less for Farmer

For farmers who grow tobacco, the take was just about half as much as Uncle Sam collects in taxes from the product. This admission came from the U. S. department of agriculture itself.

IN a review of the tobacco situation, the department estimated that combined U. S. and state tax receipts from tobacco would approximate 1.75 billion dollars during the fiscal year, which would be a record.

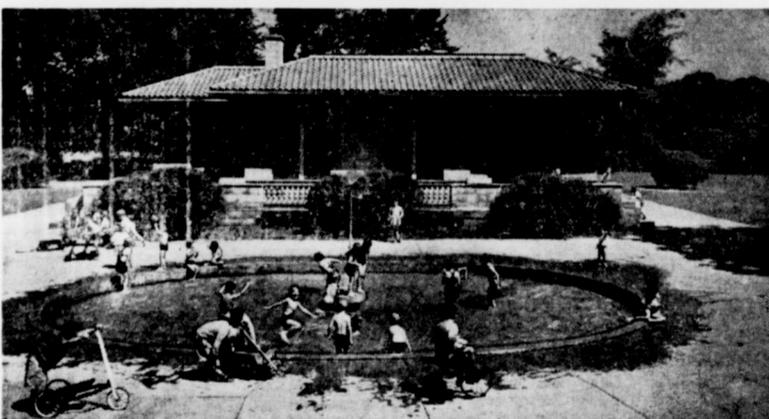

On the other hand, the department said the total received by growers for tobacco during that same period would be about 955 million dollars, or more than in any previous year since 1947.

OF THE TOTAL estimated tax "take," the states will get about 23 per cent, the department said, compared with a prewar average of 8 per cent.

Federal taxes on cigarettes and cigars were increased in 1942 and in recent years some states have taxed tobacco for the first time.

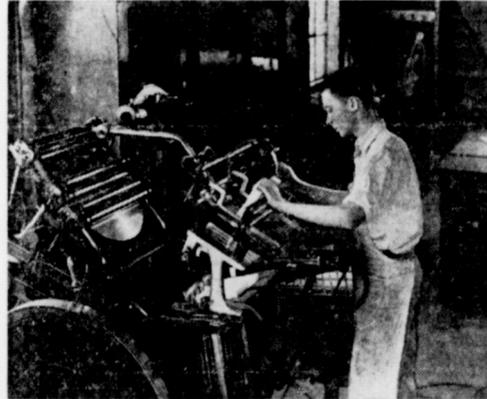

● Mooseheart, Ill., a "child city" for sons and daughters of departed members of the Loyal Order of Moose, "is run by people who do not like institutions." Malcolm R. Giles, executive director of the organization, says: "We do everything that devotion and ingenuity can suggest to make Mooseheart as little like an institution and as much like a home as possible." As a city, Mooseheart is largely self-sufficient. Its 800-acre farm (above) supplies 60 per cent of the food. The student bank (left) welcomes checks for as little as one cent. And for those of the younger set who have not yet reached a state of financial solvency, there are plenty of playthings, as evidenced by view of the toy and game-filled nursery (below).

Youngsters at Mooseheart, located about 40 miles west of Chicago, frolic in a wading pool maintained especially for their summertime enjoyment. All children are given a high school education and taught a vocational trade.

● A student in Mooseheart's well equipped printing shop readies a job press for service. The course in printing is one of several vocational guidance projects the school offers. To date, some 5,000 boys and girls have been graduated from Mooseheart. There are no bleak dormitories or mess halls. Instead, there are many small dwellings, each of which has a pleasant living room, a dining room in which boys and girls of the same relative ages eat as do normal families, and bedrooms which have space for personal belongings.

Mooseheart girls select new attire to be "purchased" with requisition slips at their own department store (left). In an effort to function as good parents should, Mooseheart is eager to develop each child's every faculty. There are religious services and instructions for all denominations, and a boy or girl can learn to play any musical instrument he desires. There are several bands and orchestras, as well as theatrical activities throughout the year.

A community without voters, taxes, morticians, jails or strikes, Mooseheart is the only large town created for children only. It is spectacularly successful as a social experiment and world-famed as a source of important child research.

Most of Nation's Farms Now Boast Electric Power

Rural America moved further and faster into the electric power age during 1948 than in any previous year, according to the 1949 Britannica Book of the Year.

"Nearly three-fourths of the farms of the U. S. had been electrified, and in an increasing number of instances the power was used as a means of agricultural production as well as for better rural living," the book declares.

Soil conservation measures also proceeded apace during fiscal 1948. Soil conservation measures and land-use adjustments were completed under official auspices on more than 21,500,000 acres of farm and range land in soil conservation districts, an increase of 7 per cent as compared with the previous year.

JUST HINTS

Mr. Peck's wife had just purchased a grandfather's clock in an antique shop and he was forced to carry it for several blocks.

As he labored along under his burden a man stopped him and asked, "Wouldn't a watch be more convenient?"

Matt—"What are those marks on your nose?"

Henry—"Oh, they are made by glasses."

Matt—"You should learn to tilt your head back, then it would pour out easier."

Mr. Smith was a stubborn individual. He would never wear rubbers when it rained nor put on an extra sweater if the nights were chilly.

Mrs. Smith was peevish at his obstinacy.

"You never take any good advice," she complained in a nagging fashion.

"Darn good thing for you I don't," he retorted, "or you would still be an old maid."

A man who had just bought a dog phoned his neighbor one evening.

"I think my dog has distemper," he said. "I understand your dog has the same ailment the other week. What did you give it?"

"I gave it turpentine."

"I see. Well, I'll try it."

The following day the first man again called his neighbor.

"Say, my dog died after I gave it some turpentine."

"Uh-huh. So did mine."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To avoid stirring up dust when sweeping a rug, sprinkle rug with bits of dampened newspapers; papers will absorb the dust preventing it from flying around the room.

Dip a cloth in household ammonia and place over the rusted spot in the broiler of your range; close the range door for a few minutes and chances are you will be able to wash spot off easily.

If woolen socks get sopping while on a camping trip, fill the toes with small pebbles before hanging them up to dry; this helps keep them from shrinking.

Save your orange peels in the spring and fall, and when they have dried toss them into the fireplace on coolish nights; they kindle quickly and burn with a pleasant aroma.

Fasten that left-over piece of linoleum to the floor of the trunk of your car; wax it liberally, and see how easily grips and trunks slide in and out.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Argument Won't Alter Beliefs

By Lawrence Gould

Can you change another person's beliefs?

Answer: Not by argument or "moral pressure." All that you can do is give him a chance to change them himself by bringing new facts or evidence to his attention, and even then he won't really change unless he wants to.

Threats or promises may drive certain people, especially children, to repress their real convictions and persuade themselves they think as they are told, but their true beliefs will ultimately be shown by their actions.

You can't make a man, who is convinced that he's unworthy to be loved, believe you love him.

Will it hurt twins to be separated?

Answer: That depends on their age and on how much attached they are to each other, but in any case it need do them no lasting damage. It has fairly often happened, for example, that one twin has died and the other has grown up a normal man or woman, while the idea that there is some "supernatural bond between twins— even though they are "identicals"—has no basis in fact. The one separation that may ruin a child's life is to lose his mother and find no one to take her place; he can endure losing anyone else if he has to.

Did living in tree houses help man develop speech?

Answer: Yes, think a group of psychologists, after attempting vainly to "condition" rats to squeak when in a dangerous situation. A rat, they say, will make no sound unless he is actually hurt because inherited "instinct" tells him that noise will reveal his presence to enemies. It may not have been until men found an environment in which they were comparatively safe—perhaps by living in tree houses—that they dared learn to communicate with one another through the vocal sounds out of which language developed.

Alcoholics Need Medical Treatment

By Dr. James W. Barton

FOR A NUMBER of years what is known as a summer school to study alcohol and alcoholism has been conducted at Yale university.

Leaders in welfare work, ministers, physicians and those philanthropists who have at heart the good of their fellow men meet for several weeks to learn more about the effects of alcohol and how to prevent and cure alcoholism.

The thought behind the lectures given by outstanding physicians and welfare workers is to get alcoholics re-established in home and business life.

While alcoholism is not strictly a disease in the sense that it is caused by an organism, alcoholism is a sickness caused in most cases by emotional disturbances or conflicts which the alcoholic has not been able to fight or to which he cannot adjust himself.

Naturally, the alcoholic is now considered a sick man and these students of alcohol and alcoholism believe that, because he is sick, he should be treated by a physician in a hospital or his home, not by a police officer in a jail or in a reformatory.

In a hospital the alcoholic, realizing that his symptoms are due to illness, is more willing to cooperate with physicians and nurses than with police officers.

When alcoholic addicts are admitted to hospitals they either are intoxicated or show the effects of intoxication—involving emotional, nervous and nutritional disorders. Patients may show a clouding of the mind up to the point of delirium with delusions (believing something that he knows is false), hallucinations (thinking he sees objects which are not really present), nervousness, irregular movements of the muscles such as staggering, restlessness and disturbances of nutrition due to faulty eating and sleeping habits.

Treatment of an alcoholic showing these mental or emotional symptoms is rest, sleep, and proper feeding.

HEALTH NOTES

Despite all the theories as to the causes of rheumatism, physicians are agreed that the commonest cause is infection—teeth, tonsils, gums, gall bladder and large intestine. Other contributing factors are cold, damp weather, too much starch food and poor circulation of the blood. Rheumatism is one of the most crippling diseases known to man.

The severe type of infantile paralysis is likely to occur where the youngster recently has had infected teeth and tonsils removed. A large number of children's specialists advise that tonsils not be removed if within six weeks of the usual time for polio epidemics.

A blood culture should be taken of every patient with an unexplained rise in temperature. The longer infection is allowed to run on, the greater the damage to the heart.

Angina pectoris (breast pang) may be caused by hardened blood vessels—a dangerous condition—and by emotional disturbances which partly close or tighten the blood vessels and so do not allow enough blood carrying oxygen to reach the muscular walls of the heart thus allowing them to atrophy and become inelastic.

Just as surgeons now can operate on defects in the construction of the heart, which defects have caused deaths (in time) of practically all cases, so today physicians are using the newly-discovered drug, penicillin, to save lives.

If early treatment with streptomycin can cure tuberculous meningitis, and if penicillin can cure inflammation of the lining of the heart, who should not despair of finding the cause and cure of cancer.

GRASSROOTS

by WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

Simplified Government

IT WAS A SIMPLE government "of, for, and by the people" which our forefathers bequeathed to their progeny.

Its three branches—legislative, administrative, and judicial—carried through all units from the town, through the county and state to the federal. It was a government that answered all the purposes of their time, but succeeding generations have so added to it that what was simple is now a complex, scarcely-understandable governmental machine, in all of its various units.

Conditions change from generation to generation, almost from year to year. Government changes in an effort to keep pace with changing conditions. Government adds to, but never subtracts. New departments, new bureaus are added, but when conditions no longer require these additions they are never dropped. In many cases, the conditions of half a century ago, more or less, which at the time seemed to warrant a new department or a new bureau for some unit of government—city, township, county, state or national—do not now exist.

The department or bureau that was added goes on and on, though the need for it has long since passed, and other expense items, added when it was established, continue.

It is easy to add to our governmental structure, but our political system makes it difficult to dispense with those added costs when the usefulness of the department or bureau is over, if it ever existed. Each job means political patronage, and that is something few, if any, political party leaders are willing to reduce. That applies to all units of government, from that of the town through to the national government at Washington.

Two years ago congress made a gesture looking toward the simplification of the federal government, and the reduction of the expense. The Hoover commission has reported its recommendations. It is now up to congress to enact those recommendations into law, but to do so means reducing congressional patronage, and that congress will not do unless it is forced by a vigorous demand on the part of the voters.

The California state chamber of commerce now is promoting the idea of a commission to do for California what the Hoover commission did for the federal government. It wants recommendations for the organization of the state's administrative branch; it wants to remove the needless departments and bureaus, and the needless employees on the state's payroll. It wants, also, to so simplify the state government; to remove overlapping jurisdiction and authority, that it will be easier for its citizens to do business with the state government, and with each other.

It is a worthy idea, and one that will be promoted in practically every state, and in every unit of government in all states. There would be a minimum number of branches in every state, county or city government. There would be few cases in which more than one branch could not be found, or in which considerable expense items could not be eliminated. They would not be the Hoover commission findings of three billion dollars annually, but they could be proportionately large.

Just as the management of a business does not see savings and improvements because of a too-close familiarity with present processes, so the executive branch of a government will not see the needed, or desirable, changes in the executive branch of a government which they are directing. As in the case of the Hoover commission, it needs well-qualified outsiders working with a select group of insiders to see possible changes, and make the necessary recommendations.

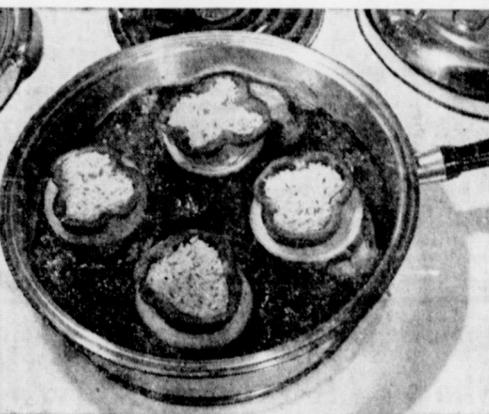

The commission is the first step. The recommendations, after careful study, is the second step. The third, and probably the hardest, step is the enactment into law of the recommendations. No matter whether the legislative body be a state legislature, a county board of supervisors, or a city council, all will need a constant and persistent demand on the part of the voters, for the enactment into law of these recommendations.

Scarcely a day, never a week, passes, when congress is in session, that some member of the house or senate does not propose something new for which to spend the taxpayers' money. If they were as interested in saving as in spending, the recommendations of the Hoover commission would have attracted their attention more quickly. That report shows how to save billions in the administration of the government, and, at the same time, provide more efficiency.

A woman acquaintance is making her first extended trip away from home. She has gone to Europe. She could have seen much more of interest in this continent, and at much less cost. I venture a bet that Paris will be more disappointing than Yellowstone park would have been.

It is a hard job to sell communism or socialism to a nation, the majority of whose citizens are capitalists, big or little. Such is the United States.

Cook a Savory Main Dish in a Skillet (See Recipes Below)

SKILLET DINNERS

WHEN YOU WANT to cook a really appetizing dinner for your family, do it in a skillet. Veal chops, pork chops, curries and chicken, all can be cooked to mouth-watering tenderness in a skillet after browning, by covering the skillet and turning down the heat.

Mushrooms, green peppers, onions and all sorts of other seasoning can be added to make the food savory. Pork chops are a real favorite, especially if they are prepared in this manner with tomatoes, green pepper, celery and rice.

Pork Chop Skillet Meal (Serves 4)

- 4 tablespoons fat
4 pork chops, 1" thick
4 slices Bermuda onion, 1/4" thick
3 cups canned tomatoes
4 rings green pepper, 1/4" thick
4 tablespoons uncooked rice
1 cup celery diced

Heat four tablespoons of fat in skillet on high heat. Turn switch to medium and brown pork chops until well browned on both sides, approximately 15 minutes. Place a slice of onion and one pepper ring on each chop. Place one tablespoon of rice in each ring. Pour tomatoes around meat and add celery. Place cover on skillet. When steaming (about eight minutes), switch to simmer and allow to cook for one hour.

*Skillet Chicken (Serves 3-4)

- 2 cups cooked chicken
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3 cups chicken stock or water
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 bay leaves
1 sprig thyme
2 small sprigs parsley
8 small onions
1/2 pound mushrooms

Melt butter in a saucepan. Stir in flour. Add stock slowly, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened. Then add bay leaves, thyme and sprigs of parsley which have been tied together. Add salt, pepper, onions and mushrooms which have been cleaned and sliced. Simmer on low heat for 45 minutes. Add the chicken which may be in large pieces, if desired. Heat chicken, but do not allow mixture to boil. Remove bay leaves, thyme and parsley which were tied together. Serve very hot, over biscuits or cooked rice, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Skillet Veal Chops (Serves 4)

- 6 loin veal chops
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon pepper
5 tablespoons fat
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup canned tomatoes
1/2 cup hot water
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup cold water

Grated Parmesan cheese sprinkled over broccolis just before serving adds unusual interest to this vegetable.

Ever combined celery with beef? Add cooked, chopped celery to beefs after slicing when they are being reheated with butter, salt and pepper.

Cabbage tastes richer and more delicious if it is cooked in top milk rather than water.

Add sliced Vienna sausages to lima beans during the last 10 minutes of cooking time for a real flavor treat.

LYNN SAYS: Try These Seasonings For Vegetables

Bake carrots if you want to try something new and different. Sprinkle small scraped carrots with 1/2 cup of butter which is creamed with 1/2 cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/2 cup boiling water.

Garden-fresh green beans, sliced and buttered, will be even more tasty if you add some chopped mint leaves to them just before finishing the cooking.

Good Clean Pasture Helps Poultry Men

Home Crown Feeds Cut Operating Cost

Good clean pasture and plenty of home grown feeds for your pullet crop pays dividends in more eggs, lower production costs and bigger poultry profits. The use of range shelters, range feeders and barrel waterers makes such a program easily possible.

Missouri university tests show that pullets on well-fertilized alfalfa pasture consumed 17 per cent less feed than birds on bare range. The pasture-fed pullets needed less feed for each pound of gain. Birds on clean pasture were healthier and more energetic. Mortality rate was lower and there were fewer culls. Out of 100 pullets at four weeks of age, 94 of the alfalfa-ranged birds later went into the laying house, compared to 70 of those raised on bare ground. Purdue university tests showed that ladino clover with corn and small grains provided a complete ration for laying flocks.

Getting good pasture and a cheap and plentiful supply of grain is a matter of putting farm soil in shape to produce bigger yields per acre. For this you need a rotation in which deep-rooted legumes and grasses are keystone. You need to build up the organic matter supply via plowed-under legumes, crop residues and manure. You need to feed the soil a good ration of plant nutrients, so it, in turn, can feed the crops. In such a program, fertilizer is an important member of the soil-building team.

At current prices, eggs will buy nearly twice as much fertilizer as 10 years ago. It takes only 90 dozen eggs to buy a ton of 8-12-12 fertilizer today, whereas it took 170 dozen back in 1939.

Check Work Stock

Owners of the 55,000 horses and mules on Maryland farms have been urged to "check intake valves, remove carbon from the cylinders, and adjust the carburetor."

These terms aren't as mixed as one might think. Joseph M. Vial, extension animal husbandman, explained that a horse's mouth and teeth may be compared to intake valves on a tractor. The teeth need to be floated (just as the intake valve needs to be properly seated) if they are to meet evenly and let the horse chew his feed properly.

Just as tractors are troubled with carbon in the cylinders, horses may have trouble with internal parasites. These may be removed by any competent veterinarian and the horse will be a better worker during the coming summer.

The carburetor on the tractor adjusts fuel supply to the work load. For horses, this is accomplished by getting them in proper condition before the heavy work load comes. Vial recommends this be done by "feeding the horse a handful of oil meal with his grain at this time of year to keep him in good condition and by giving him as many jobs to do as possible; such as spreading manure or hauling logs."

Other recommendations include: "Keep water in his cooling system, keep his tires in good condition by having him properly shod and see that his harness fits."

Farm Record Keepers Told of "Short Cut"

"It's easier to keep up than to catch up," advises Clara Leopold, extension home management specialist at the University of Nebraska, to the home and farm account recordkeeper. Another hint, she says, is to keep a pencil attached to the account records.

According to Mrs. Leopold, a certain time each day should be set aside to jot down the daily transactions.

High-Moisture Corn Should Be Fed Now

Dick Carlisle, University of Illinois livestock specialist, advises farmers who have any soft, high-moisture corn to feed it out right away to livestock before warm weather sets in. If this isn't done, he says, too much mold will develop and the corn will be spoiled.

Carlisle said soft corn can be fed to fattening cattle and hogs, but he advises against feeding it to pregnant animals.

How It Started . . .

Ground on which water drips from the roof or eaves of a house is called the eavesdrop, hence, an eavesdropper is one who stands about the same distance from other persons as an eavesdrop is from a house and listens to conversation that is not meant for him.

The state of Connecticut first gave us the phrase "blue laws." Its strict laws were found in blue covers.

The garment we know as a Mackintosh received its name from Charles Mackintosh, who designed the first one.

RED STAR Special Active DRY YEAST IS FASTER DISSOLVING

QUICK METHOD BREAD

3 packages Red Star Dry Yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup sugar

5 teaspoons salt
2 1/2 cups lukewarm water
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
5 tablespoons shortening

Divide 3 packages Red Star Dry Yeast in 1/2 cup warm water. Let stand 2 to 3 minutes. Place 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 cup water in a large bowl. Stir yeast solution thoroughly and add to this mixture. Add half the flour and beat well. Add melted and cooled shortening, stirring vigorously. Add remainder of flour, stirring until well mixed. Place dough on lightly floured board and knead 5 to 7 minutes. Shape into smooth ball and place in greased bowl. Brush top lightly with shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place for 45 minutes. Punch dough down, shape into loaves and place in greased pans. Brush tops of loaves lightly with shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place for 45 minutes. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 4 loaves.

DECISION AGAINST FREE SPEECH CURBS . . .

Twitchell Takes Supreme Court to Task

. . . GIVES ELMER REASON TO GRIPE

By H. I. PHILLIPS

TWITCHELL VS. DOUGLAS

"About the only fellow who can get into trouble easily today in America is the one who believes in law and order, pauses for second wind now and then and believes there are limits to breach of the peace," declared Elmer Twitchell. He had been going over the recent supreme court decision by a 5 to 4 vote against curbs on hatred, violence and rabble rousing tactics even when they bring on riots.

"It's the voice-throver yelling for mob rule who gets an Oscar, a pat on the back, the green light and the embossed permit," added Elmer.

"It was another one of those photo finishes due to a strong stretch run by Justice Douglas," declares Elmer. "Bill, speaking for the majority opinion, said the authorities have no right to curb speeches no matter how violent or full of hatred. He says that if America is to be vital it has got to have the rabble rousers shoot the works. In other words, we have got to preserve our vitality even if we use our last ounce of strength.

"We are leaning over backwards so far for free speech that those who stop at nothing to scuttle our freedoms are getting the right of way at all times. The demagogue, the carsplitter, the gasbag and the microphone bellyacher are getting a pat on the back, a license to operate with the throttle wide open and a kiss from the high courts. You would think they are the backbone of the country and that the enemy was the quiet, thoughtful, tolerant little guy who always kept his voice down, respected the police and wanted no tear bombs tossed at anybody.

"The five justices held that no speeches should be curbed until it was clearly shown that they might cause trouble far above the public inconvenience, annoyance or unrest."

And since the case in question was one which involved street riots, rock hurling, personal assaults and stench bombs, it would seem that these jurists classified such violence as merely an inconvenience and an annoyance.

"The other four justices took the view that it is more than an inconvenience and a nuisance to find yourself flat on your puss with the mob tramping over your prostrate body. Justice Jackson pulled the rug from under the five justices by saying that if the highest court doesn't temper its doctrinaire baloney with a little horse sense it will convert the bill of rights into a national suicide pact. He added that the majority opinion kicked the police in the teeth and fulfilled the most extravagant hopes of those groups which want to paralyze and discredit authority. He spoke my language. I don't like the idea of rabble rousing being played deuces wild, with all rules of fair play suspended and hatredfulness the biggest pipe in the organ," Elmer concluded.

The lawyer for Judith Copley, after hearing an FBI man tell of seeing Judith and her Russian friend meet at Third avenue and 15th street, New York, asked, "Wasn't this a quiet place lovers might select to whisper sweet nothings?"

Next to the middle of the street at Broadway and 42nd, it's one of the most romantic spots in New York, counsellor.

The $20,000 bail put up for Gerhart Eisler has been forfeited. It was put up by friends of the alleged No. 1 Communist agent in America in good faith for his appearance, but to Mr. Eisler it is unimportant, as all money is capitalistic and all bail systems decadent.

These Brave Ones

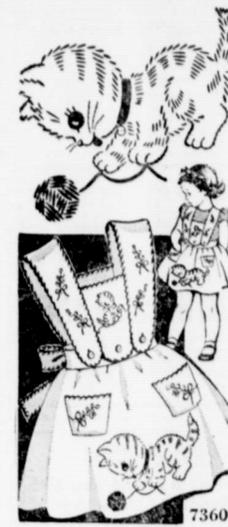

MARK the men and women every day
Who pass my door, or whom I hourly meet,
And there are few who, journeying on the way,
Fail to do their best. Although their feet
May falter with the burdens that they bear,
There are so few who break beneath despair.

They face their days with confidence and cheer,
Grateful for work, if there be work to do,
And if that work be lost they fight their fear
With courage, and with hope which they renew
At the clear source from which all comfort springs:
God's promises, and the old rememberings

That hitherto the Lord has blessed, and now
Surely there will be found a way again
To usefulness and service, that somehow
The paths will clear among the ways of men,
And the crooked places once more will be straight.
God, keep these brave ones as they hope and wait.

When Your Back Hurts -
And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

DAN SEYMOUR has shared a microphone with such headliners as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Andre Kostelanetz and Lily Pons. After 14 years on the air as a master of ceremonies he says "The bigger they are, the nicer they are. Maybe it's because they are so well established they don't have to 'pound' every line and grab every minute of their air time." As emcee of the Tuesday night "We, the People" and the Saturday night "Sing It Again," he has established a reputation for expert handling of a variety of ad-lib-demanding situations. That ability to think and talk fast requires real talent, and he has it.

MacDonald Carey is in the market for a good comedy. Currently playing a villain for the third time in succession in "Copper Canyon," after doing the same in "Streets of Laredo" and "Bride of Vengeance," he'd like a change.

Gloria Swanson, starring in Paramount's "Sunset Boulevard" after a long absence from the screen, turned down a contract for $18,000 a week in 1926 to organize her own company; hence, that long absence from pictures. She'll never make a bigger mistake. But she has not lost her looks or her figure—even looked wonderful on television!

Robert Sterling feels better now that the feud between him and Sunbeam is over. It began with the start of "Roughshod"; the horse realized that this was Sterling's first riding assignment—nipped Sterling whenever he turned his back, tried to throw him at unexpected moments. Sterling figured even a horse had his price, won Sunbeam with plenty of sugar.

For the first time in nine years Ralph Edwards will skip his annual summer stock session during his vacation. The "Time of Your Life" and "This Is Your Life" man will spend his eight-week hiatus from radio quietly, he says!

In "The Fountainhead" you'll see Gary Cooper in a suit he wore 25 years ago, one of those slick creations with very tight pants. He got it out of the attic as a favor to the studio tailor when his role called for it.

The Fiction Corner
A PRINCE CAN LAUGH

By Richard H. Wilkinson

A WEEK after I established residence in Seabrook, Ray Quimper, my next door neighbor took time off to drive me around the town and show me the points of interest. Toward evening he stopped his car before a driveway that led up to a huge brick house on top of Drybridge Hill. It was the only brick building in town and could be seen for miles around. I had wondered about it since the day of my arrival.

"The home of Prince Alexander Moisevich Deborin," he explained.

I looked at him curiously, sensing that this was a proud moment for Ray. He had saved the brick house until last, like a child relishing the last morsel.

"Of course," Ray explained further "he has a city home too. But the fact is he spends the greater part of his time out here. He craves solitude."

"Are you sure? I mean, wouldn't it be fitting to let the man know you're glad to have him as a citizen?"

"We've tended to that," Ray said importantly. "Three days after his arrival a committee made up of leading citizens waited on the prince and extended him a formal welcome." He regarded me sagely. "We're smart enough not to antagonize the man by pestering him to death."

On the day of which I write I was removing the storm windows from my house, for spring was near and the day was bright and warm. The prince came strolling along my street and stopped, oddly enough, at the end of my drive to watch. I perceived him from the corner of my eye, though gave no indication that I had seen. After a moment or two, much to my satisfaction, he turned in at the drive and came slowly toward me. At this precise moment the step ladder on which I was standing tilted precariously and the window I was removing threatened to tumble to the ground.

I uttered a cry of alarm, turned, perceived the prince as if for the first time, and shouted to him for aid. Involuntarily, he leaped forward and steadied the ladder until I had descended.

"Phew!" I grinned. "That was a close call."

"It was indeed," he replied. "Would you mind holding the ladder for me on this window over here?" He seemed a little surprised, but agreed to lend his assistance. He proved as good a helper as I could have asked for. Three windows I removed while he steadied the ladder and helped me lower them to the ground. We chatted amiably about the weather.

Deaf Mute Lays Claim To $12,208 Found in N.Y.

NEW YORK.—A deaf mute from Los Angeles has claimed he was the person who lost $12,208 which two patrolmen found wrapped in a rag in a gutter.

Herbert G. Laird, 37, answering questions with pad and pencil, claimed he lost the money when he came here from Florida. He said it was all that was left of $13,148 which he and his wife, also a deaf mute, had saved to buy a house.

PRESENTLY the task was done and I turned to him, grinning. "Thanks a lot. I don't know how I would have managed without you."

"Really?" He seemed to appreciate my compliment. "Frankly, I've enjoyed it, not only the work, but your little visit." He hesitated. "You are new in town, aren't you?"

"Comparatively," I said. "It's a mighty nice town. Folks are all like yourself. Ready and willing to lend a hand when help is needed."

I smiled happily. "The fact that I know your name, Prince Alexander, proves a little theory of my own."

He stared in astonishment. "You know who I am? You knew when you asked me to help remove the windows?"

I nodded. "Your philosophy and mine have a good deal in common, Prince. And that is, that you're no different from the rest of us. I'd even venture to say that you are quite unhappy living up there in your castle so far removed from everybody. To prove that I am right, I'm going to ask you a question. Tomorrow I'm going fishing. How would you like to come along?"

"I'd like to very much," he said. "But we must keep it a secret from the rest of the people. It would be a pity to destroy their illusion."

I agreed, winking at him knowingly, and the prince and I then and there shared a hearty laugh.

Firestone CHAMPION LOW PRESSURE GROUND GRIP TRACTOR TIRES

POSITIVE "take-hold" on the take-off, positive traction through the rough spots, positive pulling power any time, anywhere—that's what you get with Firestone Champions.

How? It's plain to see. Notice how those extra high, long power bars are curved to take a strong, sharp bite in hard ground and a firm, traction hold in soft ground. Designed to run on only twelve pounds pressure, the Firestone Champion Ground Grip is right down on the ground where it can take a powerful full traction bite clear across the tread.

The next time you buy tires or a new tractor, get Firestone Champions, the tires that always "keep pulling for you".

RECOMMENDATIONS FROM STATE DEPARTMENT TO LOCAL SCHOOL

The librarian's most important duty is that of individual book selection and reading guidance. Each child must be encouraged to begin to read widely at his own level. As he gains facility through the work of his teachers and through the practice such wide reading brings, the librarian can lead him gradually to higher reading levels. It is possible by intelligent guidance for a child to gain several grade levels in a year. Whether he gains or not, it is important that he learn to read with facility at some level. Books must be provided to meet all needs and the varying interests of high school people. At least $500 will be needed to buy the minimum of books and periodicals needed before school opens this fall. The sum seems large, but it is so because of the neglect and supposed economy practiced for the past few years. Books are available, and your children need them. In succeeding years after a library collection has been started, $1.50 per child per year for materials other than encyclopedias should keep the library in good condition. Specific directions on book ordering were given to your librarian and Mr.

Rose. They should be urged to help you to build a good school library. Other recommendations follow:
1. Revise the card catalog to conform to standard library practice.
2. Cull out and destroy the useless, worn-out, and obsolete books. These discourage readers, while they waste valuable library space and time.
3. Purchase a four-drawer legal-size vertical file for the housing of pamphlets, pictures, and clippings; such materials are a necessity in modern teaching.
4. Rebind each year any book that is worn but worth rebinding. Mr. Rose has received instructions on binding and understands what is necessary.
5. Buy one set of easy encyclopedias. The present sets are out of date.
6. Encourage formation of a larger group of library helpers. The boys and girls who do such library work receive valuable vocational training and experience. Credits or awards should be given for such work.
7. Increase your collection of periodicals. Magazines and newspapers are an important source of adult information. Young people can be taught to use them intelligently.

for the improvement of your library. Young people must not lose out because provision is not made for one of the most essential parts of any school. A good library can be provided without great expense or additional building, and it will repay your efforts many fold.
I am glad to get the generally favorable report on conditions in your school and to know about what has been done to improve your situation. We are sure you will work your way out of what appears to be rather difficult problems. If the department can help you at any time, do not hesitate to call upon us.

Very truly yours,
John Callahan,
State Superintendent
