The ex-servicemen donated towards this cause in honor and in memory of their two comrades who brought the supreme sacrifice on the field of battle.

The services Sunday morning begin at 9:30. All are welcome. A special collection for chimes and plaque is to be taken during the service.

Utensils Romp Over Grafton Team, 9-2

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division) WON LOST Lannon 6 0 Mequon 5 1 Kewaskum 4 3 Menomonee Falls 2 3 Granville 2 4 Germantown 1 5 Grafton 1 5

The third place Kewaskum Utensils walloped last place Grafton, 9-2, in the second game of the Rivers-Lakes doubleheader on the home field Sunday. The still unbettered loop leaders, Lannon, had a narrow squeak in losing out to Germantown, 1-0.

Johnny Tessar was on the hill for the Utensils and was complete master over the Grafton team. He checked them with 7 hits, sent 11 batters back to the bench on strikeouts, and walked 3. On the other hand Kewaskum slammed Out 11 bingles off Bernisse, the visiting twirler, who walked none and fanned 6. He was relieved by J. Schwenner in the eighth, who threw for one inning, gave up no hits, whiffed 1 and walked 1. Seven errors committed behind the Grafton pitchers helped Kewaskum's score.

One Grafton man who found Tessar's slants to his liking was shortstop Beverdorf, who lined out 3 hits in 4 trips, one of them a triple. Pitcher Bernisse got 2 safeties, Norm Held, that 2 doubles in 4 times at bat, and Stautz and Marx, each with 2 for 5, paced the Utensils' attack.

County Reaches 41.1% of Quota in Bond Drive

County's Bond Chairman, Thomas O'Meara, stated that Washington county has now subscribed $121,219.00 of Series E bonds which constitutes 41.1% of the quota fixed for Washington county.

We are still behind the state average of 50.3%, which has been subscribed throughout the state as a whole.

Chairman O'Meara stated that the opportunity bond drive is your opportunity to get on a regular savings bond purchase schedule, whether or not the payroll deduction plan is available to you.

He stated, "All self employed business and professional people to whom the payroll savings bond purchase plan is not available may now sign an authorization with their local bank in order that monthly bond purchases can be made with the least trouble."

"Your local bank has authorization slips which, when filled out, authorize the bank to make periodic bond deductions from the purchaser's checking account. The bond will then be mailed to the owner as issued. The banks have all agreed to perform this service at no extra charge. All merchants, professional men, farmers and other self employed persons are urged to utilize this service."

"Let us all get behind the Washington county bond drive so that Washington county will go over the top."

PSYCHOLOGY THAT BLAMES BAD DRIVING . . .

Twitchell Scores 'Accident-Prone' Theory

. . . ON CHILDHOOD BEHAVIOR IS DEBUNKED

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ON ROAD MENACES

A speaker at a convention of psychiatrists declares that accident-prone auto drivers are people who, at the wheel of a car, behave just as they have behaved from childhood. It is the folks who have been inconsiderate, intolerant of authority and generally anti-social from infancy who drive carelessly, he says. "If a man's personal life is marked by caution and consideration, his driving will be marked by it. If his life is marked by contrary characteristics his driving will be so marked," the speaker insisted.

Elmer Twitchell, the eminent student of human behavior, disagrees. And hotly. "The delicatessen dealers have a name for it," he said today. "Any theory that autoists behave the way they do because they threw their rattle at the nurse in infancy, resented the schoolteacher's authority and robbed birds' nests is bunk. The plain inescapable fact is that the minute a human being finds himself at the wheel of an auto he becomes a different personality.

"A fellow who takes off his hat in elevators, helps old ladies across streets and writes books on politeness will chase his fellow man up an alley, yell at school children and cuss out pedestrians for getting in his way, once he is in a flivver. The kindest gentleman in the community, known for his warm smile, takes on the instincts of a gorilla the minute he finds himself tooling the sedan down Main street.

"I will lay you 50 to 1 that the psychiatrist who made that speech at the convention is a refined, well-bred gent whose heart bleeds for his fellowmen when afoot, but who lurches at red lights, balks at fellow creatures and snaps at policemen when hurrying through town in the old boiler.

"It's one of the mysteries of life and it has nothing to do with childhood, generally speaking. I can stand on any street in America and point out college professors, lawyers, school principals, gardenia growers, lecturers on good manners and men of Chesterfieldian backgrounds roaring by and snarling at slow-gaited pedestrians with the ferocity displayed by gangsters, fugitives from chain gangs and all around heels.

"I'm no exception, more's the pity. On my feet I am sweet as they come. I am a model of good behavior in any company. I open doors for ladies, show the aged every consideration and try to be gracious on a broad scale. But it's a quick switch from Dr. Jekyll to Mr. Hyde when I take the wheel of the old jalopy. And so do you, and you and you! There's something about an automobile that changes human character. "Early childhood tendencies may eye!"

Here are some interesting case histories on "accident-prone" drivers, offered as subjects for psychiatric study:

CASE 1.—Jephtha Finchbutt, 32, truck driver. Mr. Finchbutt habitually drives a 15-ton trailer recklessly, ignoring all speed signs, takes turns at 60 per hour and has never been known to heed a stop light. Report: As a baby Jephtha was allowed to pound on highchair with bottle; mother had nine children and was too busy to restrain his early instinct to spear live goldfish with fork; early schooling was under teachers who failed to send all other pupils home and just concentrate on Jephtha.

CASE 2.—Geoffrey Tuffit, 46, oil truck operator and chronic weaver through dense traffic. Geoffrey has a batting average of one bad accident per month, but always seems to get out of it through indifference of authorities. He particularly loves coasting downhill through school zones. Report: His inclinations are all due to a selfish mother who used to wheel Geoffrey around in a baby carriage unequipped with brakes and horn. The father never read Emily Post.

CASE 3.—Twiggsby Cropper, 19, college freshman. Twiggsby feels unnecessarily curbed if asked to do less than 55 per hour in city centers and 70 in suburbs, loves to drive "no-hands" across city playgrounds. Report: From age of six months to year and a half he was allowed to scream at nurse; from age of 2 to 3 he was allowed to pour hot porridge on the cat uncurbed. Father bought him a velocipede too early and failed to read him the laws on rules of road each night before putting him to bed.

CASE 4.—Mrs. Arabella Priggstone, 29. This woman backs up without signals, makes U-turns on impulses, never bothers to have brakes tightened and frequently forgets to put on lights at night.

PROMISES

THE year will keep its promises to me:
Unfailingly the days will come and go;
Rivers will take their sure course to the sea;
Seedtime and harvest, these will come, I know.
The stars will go their quiet silver way;
There will be sun and rain and wind and dew;
There will be breathless beauty in each day;
There will be old loved tasks for me to do.

And I have made my promise to the year
(God help me keep it through the hours ahead):
I shall be braver, I shall banish fear;
I shall not leave a kindly word unsaid;
I shall have faith that this, my ancient grief,
Will yield at last to laughter and to song;
I shall have hope that there will be relief
For the old hurts the world has borne so long.

The year will keep its promise. O my heart,
We must not, dare not fail to do our part.

Star Dust
STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

SHIRLEY TEMPLE'S ability as a mimic did a lot toward making her a child star, and she is still using it as a help in learning the various dialects she's had to master. She has a southern drawl and a Scandinavian accent down pat, but had a bit of trouble with the Irish brogue needed for Warners' "Always Sweethearts."

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

More than once she has confused her mother-in-law by using one of the three when answering the phone; even her own mother can't tell sometimes whether a new southern maid, a Scandinavian one or an Irish colleen is on the other end of the wire when she calls her daughter.

John Dall and the King Brothers are discussing rights to Jonathan Latimer's novels featuring detective Bill Crane. They would allow Dall to continue his screen life of crime, but on the side of law and order.

The picnic staged recently by the American Federation of Radio Artists was quite a shindig; raised $3,000 for its relief fund. Lum and Abner ran the bingo tables and organized square dances. Frank Nelson, of "Blondie," auctioned off supporting roles on such shows as "Sam Spade" and "Philip Marlowe" to ambitious newcomers who bid high for them.

Jane Wyman reports from London that she had her first comfortable voyage; usually gets seasick even when canoeing on a smooth lake. This time, on her way to star in "Stage Fright" for Alfred Hitchcock, she had some new anti-seasickness pills, developed by Canada's medical corps—evidently they were effective in her case at least.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Dorothy Lamour has temporarily retired from the screen to await the arrival of the stork. . . Bette Davis' daughter Bede (short for Barbara) recently had her second birthday. . . Ginger Rogers has reported for work in "Perfect Strangers," in which she will co-star with Dennis Morgan for the first time since they made "Kitty Foyle." . . It now turns out that Rita Hayworth's trousseau was not all made in Europe; she ordered six pairs of stockings from Hollywood.

The Fiction Corner
TERRY, THE FOX

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"YOU CAN'T FOOL an old fox like Terry Oakes," Anse Atell was saying. "Not even if you're the smartest bank robber and gangster in the country." He chuckled, reflecting on the story he was about to tell.

"Glenville was pretty well wrought up that summer. In June government agents came through, warning all the small town banks in the countryside to be on the lookout, and advising what to do. Duke Insabato and a couple of his henchmen, driven from their haunts in the large cities by a concentrated effort of local and federal agents who were dead set on bringing an end to the current wave of crime, were hiding out in the sticks and whiling the time away by staging spectacular daylight hold-ups of small town banks.

"The trouble was that no one knew where the varmints would strike next. Duke Insabato was smart. He understood small towns because he was brought up in one and, he chose as the object of his pilfering banks that were pretty well isolated and unprotected.

"June passed and part of July. Gradually the fear of Glenville citizens began to subside. Only one other small town bank had been held up, and that more than 150 miles away. The depositors who had withdrawn their accounts re-established them.

"Terry Oakes, the trust company president, didn't gloat. He was an old-timer at the game and he understood human nature. Early in June he'd had some signs printed and hung around the lobby of the bank. Such things as 'Save for Your Old Age,' 'Deposit with Us and Your Money Will Be Safe.' The citizens smiled a little. Terry was trying to reassure them. One other sign was printed and inserted behind the glass in the front door. This too, amused them, but it didn't annoy them any.

"On July 15 the quietude of Glenville's main street was abruptly and harshly interrupted. A high-powered black sedan suddenly appeared at the town's south entrance, roared down on the bank and came to an abrupt halt. Loungers in front of the General Store jerked erect. Three men had leaped from the car. Two of them, one carrying a machine gun, ran toward the bank. The third stayed on the curb, a second machine gun nestling in his arm.

"The loungers, pop-eyed and frightened, watched in stupid fascination. To their utter astonishment they saw the two bandits turn at the bank door without entering, rush back to the car, pile into it and drive away.

"IT ALL happened within seconds. For a moment or two the loungers sat transfixed. Then of an accord they leaped up, raced across the street and entered the bank. Terry Oakes was talking on the telephone. He hung up and smiled at them.

"Two to one," he said calmly. "Sheriff Irons picks up Duke and his gang at Jepson Corners. I just phoned him." He looked from one pop-eyed citizen to another. "No harm done, boys. They didn't even get in."

"But why didn't they? What happened?"

"Terry grinned broadly. "Duke Insabato knows small towns. He was a small-town boy himself. That's why he picked this hour to do his hold-upping. Right after lunch."

"That's where I fooled him," Terry paused to chuckle and glance toward the front door. "It's lucky Duke knows small towns. Otherwise he might not have taken any stock in my sign."

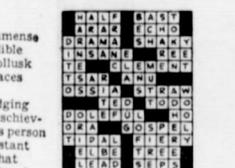

"The bewildered citizens turned toward it and read. They were a little dazed, and not quick to understand.

"The sign read: 'Bank Closed. Out to Lunch. Return in One Hour.'"

Insure Success With This Vegetable Canning Guide

(See Directions Below)

Vegetable Canning

GETTING VEGETABLES into the diet during the summer when the garden is literally bursting with them is no problem at all. It's much more difficult during the winter to meet the quota of two vegetables a day, unless you've made proper provision for them. That's the best reason for canning at least a good store of them when they're available in your own garden or purchased inexpensively.

Canning vegetables is one of the best ways of feeding the family economically as well as satisfying them with valuable nutrients. Chart your course now, and then sail through the season, full speed ahead.

Clear the Kitchen For Canning Time

WOMEN who do their canning expertly organize their work on an efficiency basis such as is used in a factory. They actually prepare for the job before they start working on it.

Getting ready for vegetable canning means re-organizing the kitchen. Clear out table and shelf space that you need for jars and equipment. Make certain you have all equipment clean and in working order before you get the vegetables into the house.

What equipment? You'll probably need sharpened paring knives for preparing the produce. Kitchen scissors that are not rusted will help in preparing some types of vegetables like green beans. Have your canning spoons, ladles or dippers all ready in place where they're going to be used, next to the range.

Select Quality For Canning

Have you ever wondered why the corn you canned is dry instead of juicy, or peas are pulpy instead of moist and sweet? The fault may lie in the kind you chose for canning. Only the highest quality produce should find its way to the can since canning cannot improve quality. It merely preserves it. Vegetables selected for canning are usually best when just slightly under-ripe or immature. Peas, for example should be sweet and tender; corn should spurt juice when pressed with a fingernail. Garbled, bruised, wrinkled or otherwise imperfect vegetables are not fit to be canned. You cannot expect them to have good flavor and color.

LYNN SAYS: Follow Vegetable Canning Pointers

On jars on which you have used a self-sealing lid, do not turn the jars upside down, or bump or treat them roughly as this may cause the seal to be broken. You'll need two to two and one-half pounds of the following for one quart of canned vegetables: whole beets, carrots, string beans and tomatoes.

Eight ears of corn will generally fill one quart when canned. Remove jars from the sterilizing vessel with tongs or gloves to avoid burning the fingers.

Two pounds of peas shelled, are usually needed to make one quart. Eight pounds of pumpkin are necessary for one quart canned.

Four pounds of the following vegetables yield one quart of canned material: asparagus and unshelled lima beans.

Wipe the edges of the jar with a clean cloth before adjusting the cap. This helps achieve a perfect seal for the food.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

the garden to the can in a minimum amount of time will give the most satisfactory results.

Clean Vegetables Before Preparation

CLEANING the vegetables is the step after bringing them into the kitchen. This should be done before the skin is broken, or some of the valuable juices may escape. Dirt is not only objectionable in itself, but it may frequently contain certain organisms which hold spoilage.

Wash the vegetables under running water, or place them in a large vessel of water and lift them out gently onto a colander. Do not pour dirty water off the vegetables, as dirt may remain in the pan and then mix with the vegetable.

IN THE CHART given above, pre-cleaning is recommended for the green vegetables such as peas, green beans and similar vegetables. This means immersing in boiling water for the designated amount of time to shrink or wilt them in order to pack them easily and compactly.

Pressure Cooker Is Recommended

TO PROCESS VEGETABLES properly, a pressure cooker is an invaluable aid. For vegetables, have the gauge read 10 pounds before you start counting processing time. The pressure should not be allowed to fluctuate since this may drain liquid from the jar and give a poor looking jar. It will also overcook the vegetables, or undercook them, as the case may be.

Vegetables are a non-acid food, and this means they require a high temperature to kill the bacteria which lurk in them. This is why pressure cooker processing is recommended for them. Fruits, which are acid, need much less processing time, and much lower temperature in which to have the bacteria killed.

Always follow the directions for your particular type of pressure cooker. One thing is generally true of all types, and that is to leave the petcock open for at least seven minutes during which time steam escapes from the cooker. Unless this is followed closely, the pressure may not be accurate, for all air must be exhausted before allowing the cooker to come to pressure. Another safe rule to follow is to allow the vegetables to boil 10 minutes in an open vessel before tasting or eating after they are taken from the can.

Jars which have been sealed with a self-sealing lid, should not be tested for sound until 24 hours after processing. It will take this length of time to cool the contents of the jar. Six pounds of greens, such as spinach, are required to make one quart of the canned product. The petcock on the pressure cooker should never be opened after processing until the pressure gauge registers zero.

Holes for safety valve and petcock may be cleaned by running a coarse, soapy string through them. Rinse well after this cleaning.

If you wash the jars the day before using them, set upside down on a clean folded cloth. If liquid has boiled out of jar during processing, do not open jar to replace liquid.

New Selling System Aids Hog Producers

Price Agreed Upon Right in the Pen
Under a new system of selling hogs, buyers and salesmen at the markets agree on the price right in the pen before the hogs are weighed. Thus the old weight-schedule is being replaced by a pen-to-pen system of marketing. The buyer is given a chance to recognize quality and pay a premium for good hogs.

The quality of this Chester White sow and litter is apparent even to the casual observer; but under the old weight-schedule of selling hogs, breeders who produce such quality stock would receive nothing extra for the added time and care they had expended to bring their hogs to such a degree of excellence.

The reason advanced for increased interest in marketing is that the weight-schedule system fails to recognize the difference between hogs. It also fails to pay for true quality.

Under the old schedule-selling, salesmen and buyers at a market would agree in the morning how many hogs each buyer would get. A schedule of process was set up according to weight. "Hogs was hogs" and the scales determined the price.

But that system is gradually being abandoned. Under the old method, farmers judged probable market prices by estimating the weight of their hogs. A premium of 50 cents per hundredweight was considered unusual at the market although the real value of hogs of the same weight varies as much as $5 or $6 per animal. Such premiums offered poor pay to the expert producer who raises top-quality hogs worth more money.

Another reason for the new system is the fear that if a better job of selling isn't done, hogs may be sold on a dressed-carcass basis. This method of marketing (which is used in Canada) is being explored by many farmers, cooperatives, agricultural experiment stations and studies under the federal research and marketing act. Many public market operators also are worried about the decline in volume of hogs arriving for sale at terminal markets.

Wheat Champions

The wheat, which Victor Rasmussen is holding, is a sample of the crop from the 2,000 acres of wheat land, which is owned jointly by these two men and their brother Reuben, who was too busy farming that day to get in the picture.

The Rasmussens' wheat, which was hard red winter of the Cache variety with a test weight of 64 pounds per bushel, took first place in the 8th annual Philip W. Pillsbury judging for best United States wheat raised in 1948. The grain competed with 37 samples from 20 other states when the judging was held in Minneapolis.

The Rasmussens rotate their wheat crop on 4,000 acres of unirrigated land. They are the sons of Philip H. Rasmussen, who won the state and national Pillsbury award in 1946.

Soil Check May Answer Slow Tile Drain Puzzle

If tile-drained land is slow in drying, check the organic matter content of your soils before blaming the tile system. Many tile lines that worked well when originally laid are now hampered because the water can't get through the soil to the tile. You open your soil and improve drainage when you grow well-fertilized deep-rooted legumes in the rotation and put back straw, cornstalks and manure.

Guess Work Ill-Advised In Soil Lining Planning

"Test, don't guess" when you plan to lime your soil, advises the Middle West Soil Improvement committee. Lime sweetens acid soils and increases the efficiency of fertilizers. But some soils have all the lime they need and over-liming would be harmful. The safest course is to have your soil tested. County agents and agronomists at state colleges are glad to cooperate in making such tests.

How It Started...

Full name of the leather "chaps" worn by Texas cowboys is the Mexican chaparrera, so called because they serve as protection against the thick brush (chaparral) of thorny catclaw and cacti which overgrows great stretches of the state's semi-arid plains.

The Schuylkill river in Pennsylvania gets its name from a Dutch word meaning literally "the skulking creek."

U.S. Agriculture Makes Fabulous Record in 1948

For United States agriculture, 1948 will go down in history as a fabulous year, according to the 1949 Britannica Book of the Year. "It was a year without a crop scare, with numerous record and near record yields achieved; the corn crop was more than 10 per cent above the previous record and fully 50 per cent above the previous year; the wheat crop was the second largest on record and the fifth consecutive crop of more than a billion bushels, one of the five largest wheat crops the country had ever produced; the cotton crop was one-fourth larger than in the previous year."

Prices, too, reached a record level in January, 1948, though they then broke sharply and continued to decline as 1948 crops were harvested, the new Britannica year-book records.

"In spite of the break in prices, the volume of agricultural marketings was such as to provide a gross income to farmers of almost $5 billion dollars slightly exceeding the 1947 record," the publication continues. "However, because of higher costs of production the realized net income had been declining since 1947."

Pay this bill for me, will you?

Suppose a stranger asked you to pay his electric light bill every month . . .

Farfetched idea? Not so — because you do help pay a lot of other people's electric bills every month!

Every time you buy cigarettes, matches, gasoline, a lipstick or a watch, or hundreds of other things, part of what you pay is a federal tax. And that same federal tax money helps pay those strangers' electric bills.

Here's why: the federal government is in the electric business in some parts of the country. It sells electric service to some people and to certain industries — below the real cost.

Who makes up the difference? You do — the government uses some of your taxes for that purpose.

We are against government-in-the-electric-business in America. Because it threatens all self-supporting electric companies. And because it is Socialization of one business, a long first step toward Socialization of all business.

Most Americans don't want that. . . . Do you?

So long as the spine has to bend to every angle of the compass to meet all the requirements of the body, it will be subjected at times to undue jolts, strains, jars, etc., which will cause one or more vertebrae to slip slightly out of alignment, producing pressure on a nerve trunk. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Issue Is Joined on Labor Measure; Senate Group Okays Atlantic Pact; Unemployment Increasing in Nation

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

LABOR BILL: Issue Is Joined

The long-awaited fight on repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law has begun. Debate has started in the senate with Chairman Elbert D. Thomas (D., Utah) of the labor committee opening for the administration. Government forces were committed to an attempt for outright repeal of the measure, but all indications pointed to a compromise or nothing.

Meanwhile, John L. Lewis declared that the AFL and CIO had betrayed organized labor's cause by reportedly agreeing to a compromise.

Urging adoption of the administration bill, Thomas said the voters last November "decided the Taft-Hartley law was a mistake." The administration seeks to replace it with a modified version of the New Deal Wagner act. Thomas called for quick repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

In telegrams to all 96 senators, Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers union, said he had heard AFL and CIO leaders had agreed to accept four "oppressive amendments" to the administration bill.

An AFL official pooh-poohed Lewis' charges of a secret deal. As a matter of fact, he said, the AFL convention in Cleveland recently agreed to accept the four amendments that "horrified" Lewis. These four amendments called for:

- 1. Power for the federal government to seize plants involved in national-emergency strikes.
2. The filing of financial returns by unions.
3. The filing of non-Communist and non-Fascist affidavits by workers and employers alike.
4. A guarantee of free speech in labor relations.

ARTICLE 5: What Import?

The senate foreign relations committee, in reporting favorably the North Atlantic pact, had almost bogged down on Article 5. That is the proviso in the pact which binds signatories to the rule that an attack on one pact member would be an attack upon all, and binds each to take such action as is deemed necessary, "including the use of armed forces" to restore and maintain the security of the area.

THE WORDING of Article 5 created in some minds a fear that its effect would nullify the right of congress to declare war and might put this power arbitrarily into the hands of the President.

Senator George (D., Ga.) who had expressed concern about the interpretation of Article 5, finally said that he was satisfied that under it the President could not declare war nor "employ troops to enforce any particular action aimed at certain European countries without congressional approval."

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) took the same tack. He said the provision neither adds to nor subtracts from the war powers of the President as commander-in-chief.

EVEN SO, it was a difficult point. The extent to which a President might go toward involvement in war was dramatically disclosed in the Roosevelt administration when the commander-in-chief admittedly committed the nation to "everything short of war" in what was purported to be an attempt to avoid war. Under such a policy actions may go so far as the chief executive level that there would be nothing left for the congress to do but "declare war in a situation in which it had no authority and no voice."

NEW WEAPON: Top Secret

What is being produced at the plutonium plant at Hanford, Washington? NO one would say, but Carleton Shugg, deputy general manager of the atomic energy commission, said the plant was handling a "product that needs a better name than 'deadly poison.'"

Was it the weird "atomic fog" about which there had been so much speculation? Shugg wouldn't say. He said, instead, that he was merely discussing certain phases in the production of plutonium—one of two fissionable materials used in making atom bombs. The other is uranium-235.

SHUGG's statement was made during his testimony before a senate appropriations subcommittee during the congressional investigation of the atomic program.

AMA GAGS FISHBEIN

Famed Doctor-Editor's Authority Clipped

The red-hot issue between the American Medical Association and the administration over the President's proposed compulsory health plan was coming to a boil. The AMA, obviously wishing to retain its own identity in matters of policy statements, clapped a gag on Dr. Morris Fishbein, one of medicine's most famous figures. The board ordered him to stop writing or speaking on anything except medicine.

Barred

Steve Trumbull, Miami Herald reporter, was barred from the Florida state senate chamber after he questioned the manner in which a bill was brought before the senate. It was reported his cheekbone was fractured when he was struck by a senator.

UNEMPLOYMENT: Sudden Increase

Whatever its significance, many economists were expressing concern over a sudden upswing in the number of unemployed in the nation.

BETWEEN April and May, the number of U.S. jobless had increased by 273,000 to bring the totally unemployed to a probable peak high of more than 3.25 million. These figures were released by the federal bureau of the census.

The rise in the unemployment figure at a time when it usually drops might be attributed, the bureau said, to the sudden rush of students for summer or permanent jobs.

The bureau did say that two-thirds of the increase in unemployment could be traced to "young persons of high school and college age."

AT the same time, the bureau reported, total unemployment was rising, principally as a result of seasonal activity on farms.

Despite the conflicting reports, there were some among the country's industrial and economic leaders who feared the unemployment situation might grow worse before getting any better.

SOVIETS: Appraise Guests

In Moscow the Literary Gazette sought to evaluate for its readers the Russian appraisal of foreign diplomats and newspapermen who live in the Soviet Union.

THE Gazette printed a poem written by Sergei Mikhalkov, children's poet, playwright and co-author of the Soviet national anthem.

Translated freely, Sergei's poem went this way: "We met them, you and I. 'These friends who aren't friends. The jackal, wolf and swine, 'And journalistic snake. 'In other words, those who are being sent here."

"We know them all and can recognize them. 'Even if we aren't doctors." NATURALLY, there will be no comment from the pillaried—not while they're still in Russia.

HEART STUDY: Artificially Used

Emphasis in heart study now rests in the development of artificial hearts. Dr. Alfred Blalock of Baltimore, widely-known blue-baby specialist, was the authority for the statement.

SPEAKING at a general scientific session of the American Medical Association, Blalock said: "The most interesting thing in surgery, but still in the experimental stage, is the development of mechanical devices as substitutes for the heart."

He reported that he considered as most promising a pump developed by Dr. John Gibbon at the Jefferson school of Philadelphia.

"Dr. Gibbon's pump will pump blood as the heart does," Dr. Blalock explained. "He is working on an artificial lung to aerate the blood."

BLALOCK said Dr. Gibbon's pump replaced the heart of a dog for 48 minutes and the dog recovered.

"If one can substitute for the heart for 30 to 45 minutes, one can open it and see what one is working on," he said. "With a heart substitute we can do more things inside the heart."

ARMY BOSS: Was Buck Private

The cinderella story would take on new interest for the GIs in Uncle Sam's army. And there was a particular reason. Gordon Gray, a one-time buck private in the army, was nominated by President Truman to be secretary of the army.

GRAY, now undersecretary, is 40 years old, a North Carolina publisher and lawyer. He has been acting secretary since the resignation of Kenneth C. Royall on April 27.

Gray, born in Baltimore, is not an army career man. But he served three years in the army, enlisting as a buck private in 1942. But he had something on the ball then, and rose to captain with the 12th army group in Europe.

THE new secretary would be the government's youngest head of an executive department. For the past 16 months Gray has been the army official responsible for the industrial mobilization and procurement official of his department.

JOHN L. LEWIS: A Severe Blow

A federal district court of appeals dealt a heavy blow at John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers. Lewis and his union, found guilty of contempt of court for failing to call off the 1948 coal strike, had been fined $1,420,000.

They appealed. The higher court upheld the finding and indications were that Lewis and his attorneys would lose no time appealing to the United States supreme court for a final decision.

THE CASE grew out of Lewis' defiance of the Taft-Hartley law last year for ignoring a court order issued under the law that directed the miners to call off a month-old strike in the soft coal fields.

The district appeals court ruling made it clear that the decision was based on the fact that Lewis and the miners waited until the demands were met before finally calling off the strike when they had been previously directed by the court to do so.

Justice E. Barrett Prettyman said on behalf of the court: "THE SUPREME COURT (has) held . . . involving these same appellants, that he who fails to obey a court order . . . is punishable for criminal contempt. That decision governs us here."

The supreme court already had upheld the conviction of Lewis and his miners for defying a similar court order in the 1946 coal strike. It was that ruling to which Judge Prettyman referred.

NAZI "WITCH": Not Through Yet

Ise Koch, called the "witch" of Buchenwald, infamous German prison camp of World War II, definitely was to face a German court on charges of mistreating Germans at the concentration camp.

ONCE sentenced to life imprisonment by American occupation force verdict on charges of unspeakable cruelties to prisoners, Ise had her term commuted to only four years by U.S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Among other charges she faced was one of having made lampshades out of human skin.

The announcement that Ise would have to stand trial again was made in Munich by an official of the Bavarian ministry of justice.

THE U.S. authorities have turned over to German officials the records of the case in order that they might determine whether she could be tried by the Germans for mistreating their own citizens at Buchenwald, where she was the wife of the Nazi commandant.

Top Man

Jet Fighter: Tests Complete

The United States air force was proud of its newest jet fighter—the Lockheed F-90, which had successfully completed its flight tests at the Muroc flight test base in California.

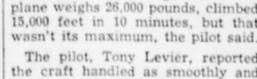

There was an air of secrecy about the plane's performance. Some facts which did emerge were: The plane weighs 26,000 pounds, climbed 15,000 feet in 10 minutes, but that wasn't its maximum, the pilot said.

The pilot, Tony Levier, reported the craft handled as smoothly and easily as the F-80 Shooting Star now in operation. The F-90 is one of the largest fighters ever built and its maneuverability should have delighted its designers and the air force.

Most of the tests, Levier said, were devoted to stalling maneuvers and in this respect the plane was found comparable to the smaller F-80. Pilots from the air materiel command at Wright Field planned to take over the plane after 25 hours of test flying was completed.

Another Gandhi Arrives in U.S.

Devadas Gandhi, youngest son of the late Mohandas Gandhi, India's beloved spiritual leader who was assassinated last year, is met by J. J. Singh (left), president of the India league, as he steps off the plane which brought him to New York's La Guardia field. Although the younger Gandhi does not purport to be a major religious force, as was his father, he is following the Mahatma's footsteps in working for his people's good.

HONOR GENERALS . . . Ike, Bradley and Clay receive LL.D degrees.

END OF THE 500 MILES . . . Weary, happy and oozing oil at every pore, racecar driver Bill Holland sits back in the bucket seat of his Blue Crown special to accept congratulations after winning the Indianapolis 500-mile speedway classic on Memorial Day. Beaming at Holland on the far side of the car are movie actress Linda Darnell and Harvey Firestone, the tire man. Holding the microphone is Wilbur Shaw, Speedway president (left). Lou Moore stands behind him.

"AMBASSADOR OF FAIR PLAY" . . . Well qualified to do the job, John B. Kelly, Jr., America's top solo oarsman, left the U. S. on June 24 to spread the gospel of American fair play up and down the sports lanes of Europe. He plans to take part in every national regatta abroad before returning in the fall to start his final year at the University of Pennsylvania.

END OF THAT LONG CHASE . . . Everybody exhale. Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan have reached the end of their courtship and are now blissfully wedded and pursuing a modest honeymoon on the continent. This photo (just one of thousands) was made as they strolled under an archway at Aly's Chateau de l'Horizon after their civil marriage ceremony. They were wed by the Communist mayor of Vallauris, a little village about two miles from the Mediterranean coast.

ANOTHER GANDHI ARRIVES IN U. S. . . . Devadas Gandhi, youngest son of the late Mohandas Gandhi, India's beloved spiritual leader who was assassinated last year, is met by J. J. Singh (left), president of the India league, as he steps off the plane which brought him to New York's La Guardia field. Although the younger Gandhi does not purport to be a major religious force, as was his father, he is following the Mahatma's footsteps in working for his people's good.

ROYAL 82 . . . Dowager Queen Mary, arbitress of British nobility for two generations, passed her 82nd year recently and presented this picture of well-preserved royalty as she went to luncheon with her family.

JAP "OSCAR" . . . Producer Samuel Goldwyn poses with female demon mask called "Hannya," Japan's highest film award. It was presented by the minister of education and governor of Tokyo to honor the movie "The Best Years of Our Lives."

SWITCH TO CALVET . . . Possibly feeling her Gallic oats, Corine Calvet, French screen star, is said to have aspirations toward being a "replacement" for Rita Hayworth in American moviedom's competition for the privileges of glamour.

PONDERABLE . . . David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission, was called as the first witness by the joint congressional atomic energy committee in its probe of alleged "incredible mismanagement" of the AEC.

WANTS OUT . . . Looking like a man who has just bid on a new lease on life, Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York poses at city hall following his announcement that he would not seek re-election this year.

Forrestal's Death

MR. WESTBROOK PEGLER has issued an array of charges aimed to make his readers believe that my criticism of the late James Forrestal largely contributed to his death. Mr. Pegler has now been answered by me in the only language he understands—a libel suit.

But for more intelligent people who may have read the Pegler columns, I should like to set forth the following facts:

1. AFTER I reported on Mr. Forrestal's mental illness, there was little other reference to him by me either in the press or on the radio. I did compliment him on his cooperation with secretary of defense Johnson and I also suggested that he be given a long vacation at government expense.

2. AT THE TIME of my radio references to Mr. Forrestal's illness, he was under sedatives; was not permitted to listen to any radio programs or read the newspapers.

3. THE NAVY immediately issued a statement which had the effect of denying Mr. Forrestal's illness. If the navy, on the other hand, had taken proper precautions instead of minimizing the facts, Jim Forrestal would be alive today. Navy doctors knew, as they now admit, that he had made earlier suicide attempts in Florida.

They also knew that every other medical institution in the country puts patients with suicidal tendencies on the ground floor. Unfortunately, navy doctors minimize psychiatric treatment, which may have been why they called Mr. Forrestal's illness "nervous exhaustion" and put him on the 16th floor of the hospital tower.

4. CAPT. George Raines, the navy doctor in charge, has since made the following amazing statement: "I recognized the well-known psychiatric fact that the next 30 days would constitute the most dangerous period of the illness as far as suicide was concerned . . . I felt that the assumption of responsibility must rest on my shoulders and not be shared with the family or other naval authorities."

And after admitting that this was the most dangerous period, the man who assumed responsibility departed for Canada.

Forrestal's Friends

5. IN THE END it may be found that Mr. Forrestal's friends had more to do with his death than his critics. For those close to him now admit privately that he had been sick for some time, suffered embarrassing lapses too painful to be mentioned here.

Illness such as Jim Forrestal experienced does not come all of a sudden, like a fall from a horse. It begins months in advance. And such an illness cannot be pushed aside or overlooked. It must be treated. Yet during most of last winter, when Jim Forrestal was under heavy responsibilities and definitely not a well man, the little coterie of newspapermen who now insinuate Jim was killed by his critics encouraged him to stay on. This got to be almost an obsession, both on their part and his, until Mr. Truman's final request for his resignation undoubtedly worsened the illness.

6. THE REAL FACT is that Jim Forrestal had a relatively good press. All one need do is examine the newspaper files to see that his press was far better than that of some of his old associates.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, for instance, was one of the most criticized cabinet members of the last decade. She took it with a smile and is still working for her country. Winston Churchill had bitter criticism heaped upon his head and suffered one of the most crushing political blows in recent history. However, he still remains an active force in British politics. Herbert Hoover retired from office one of the most criticized and beaten-up political figures of recent years. Yet he has come back as a definite force for good government.

FBI Probe

7. IT IS TRUE that when Jim Forrestal retired, the justice department was in the process of investigating the Arabian oil purchases made by the navy during his administration. I feel sure this did not involve him personally though he was known to be dreadfully upset by it.

8. IF WE ARE to withhold criticism of a man because of possible illness or danger to his life, then congressional investigations, a free press, and our entire system of government by checks and balances becomes difficult.

For instance, when the FBI cross-examined the late Lawrence Duggan of the state department during last summer's un-American activities committee probe, they had no idea he would thereafter plunge to his death from a New York office building.

This may have had no connection with his death, but rightly or wrongly the un-American activities committee and the FBI investigation got the blame.

The un-American activities committee was also embarrassed by the fact that Harry White, former assistant secretary of the treasury, died a few days after he was cross-examined—his death reportedly having resulted from an overdose of digitals.

There may have been other instances where similar happenings have occurred.

Child Victims
Of Jealousy
By Lawrence Gould

Can a boy be jealous of his mother?

Answer: Certainly. No one can help being jealous of a person who appears to come between him and someone else he loves, and a boy who gives all his devotion to his father may be very jealous of his mother's "claims" upon him. But many boys begin by being jealous of their fathers' relationship with their mothers (the "Oedipus complex") and the average small boy would be likely to develop an intense attachment to his father either to conceal repressed hostility toward him or because he felt "rejected" by his mother.

old Stone and Mr. Irving Simos report that a "follow-up" of cases in which they had given advice on job seeking and self-confidence showed personal interviews to have been more effective.

Are continuous high winds fatiguing?

Answer: I suppose this is an individual matter, depending on the "association" high winds happen to have for each person, but I think that living where strong gales blow most of the time would be "wearing" to most men and women. Moving about outdoors in a strong wind takes more muscular exertion, and the noise might be hard to shut out of your mind when you're indoors. However, a normal human being can adjust—or as we say, "get used"—to many things which at first seem intolerable, and wind may be no exception.

Is "advice by mail" effective?

Answer: Doubtless it is, but since most people find it so much easier to give their actual problems or give only one side of a story when writing a letter than when talking to a trained observer that I, for one, don't try to give advice that way. In the Journal of Applied Psychology, Dr. C. Har-

Stand Rock is the trademark of the Dells. It is a 50-foot pillar separated from the main cliff by a space of six feet. The top is a slab of sandstone 20 feet in diameter. One of H. H. Bennett's first action photos shows his son leaping from cliff to stone. Now, Bennett's granddaughter supervises as her dog "Watch" does the same trick. There's a safety net in the event of accident. The town of Wisconsin Dells lives on the tourist trade, and the Dells have a special lure for artists, cameramen and geologists.

Among the often frenetic and sometimes startling efforts in the development of regional tourist areas to satisfy the U.S. vacationist's yen to see new and strange places, the Midwest's Wisconsin Dells is refreshing as a spot where natural beauty has not yet been sacrificed to garish display. Located in the south-central section of the state, the Dells are formed as the Wisconsin river cuts deep into sandstone to form a seven-mile canyon between steep rock walls. A Civil war veteran, H. H. Bennett, started publicizing the region in 1870 with his "wet plate" camera studies. Now, when tourists swarm each summer, the Dells abound with somber, richly costumed Winnebago Indians who will pose for a man with a camera at the drop of a feather. Chief Yellow Thunder (left) is a case in point.

KEEPING HEALTHY

The Challenge of Heart Disease

By Dr. James W. Barton

IT IS A NATURAL feeling of sympathy that we have for the blind, for the victims of infantile paralysis and for those who are crippled—particularly crippled children. What many of us fail to realize, however, is that there is a dread foe of humanity that takes away the young and old, yet we do nothing about it, thinking of it perhaps as just an act of Nature. I have in mind that deadly human enemy, heart disease.

In a pamphlet, "The Challenge of Heart Disease," the American Heart Association presents some startling facts that should make us all do our part in preventing the death of loved and valuable citizens.

"Heart disease has been increasing rapidly. Today it is the leading cause of death. One of every three deaths is due to diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Heart disease takes a greater toll than the next five leading causes of death combined."

The death rate from diseases of the heart and blood vessels is three times as high as tuberculosis. The unfortunate fact about heart disease is that it takes the greatest number of lives between ages of 40 and 60, the age of most productivity and the age of greatest opportunity for helpfulness to fellow men.

"The economic cost of heart disease is staggering in terms of loss of life, absenteeism, disability, loss of gainful employment, and care and treatment programs."

What can you and I do to help fight this terrible enemy of mankind?

We can join our local branch of the American Heart Association and help research physicians who are doing advanced work and investigation of the causes and treatment of heart disease. We can help employ or place men and women with heart disease so that they can do gainful work and retain their morale.

HEALTH NOTES

It's a standing joke among medical students that some men become skin specialists because skin patients never die, never get well, the disease comes on from time to time and they never call the physicians during the night. As a matter of fact, very few physicians become skin specialists as they prefer general medicine and surgery.

Youngsters who have had their tonsils and adenoids removed find it difficult to keep a cold in the nose and head; instead, it is more apt to develop into bronchitis, bronco-pneumonia or even pneumonia. This is due to loss of the "protective ring"—tonsils and adenoids.

Mixing with others, accepting our responsibilities takes us out of ourselves, and develops the self-confidence we all need to preserve our mental and emotional balance.

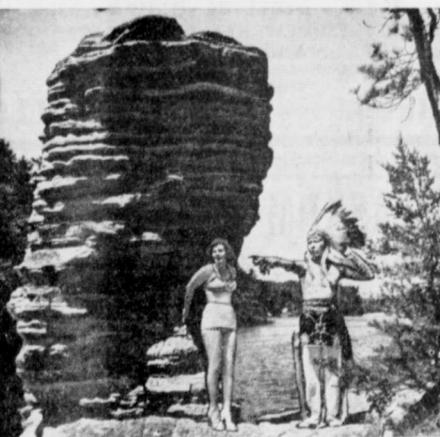

When angina pectoris (breast pang) occurs, the patient should remember just what he is doing at the time, as this helps the physician determine whether or not true or organic heart disease is present. The fact that emotional upsets can bring on such pain helps to reassure the patient.

If those with any of the early symptoms of stomach cancer—belching, loss of appetite, tiredness and weakness, etc.—would consult their physicians, their fears would be removed if no cancer is present, and their lives saved if cancer actually is present.

Intramuscular injections of a drug known as acth has been found to be effective in curing rheumatoid arthritis. However, much more clinical information is needed before the drug can be widely used.

Smile Awhile

$1,530,942.52 was the figure that Mr. DeKwickrich estimated as his fortune. He had come by it through many years of industrious labor and now was enjoying the fruits of his uphill struggle. He and his wife traveled all over the world and stayed at the finest hotels. There was always one thing he insisted upon at those hotels and that was a swimming pool. His wife was an excellent swimmer and enjoyed her morning dip.

One morning a lackey rushed up to Mr. DeKwickrich to inform him that his wife had had an accident in the pool and had nearly drowned.

"They are applying artificial respiration now," the attendant assured him, "and the doctor thinks she will come around all right."

Mr. DeKwickrich seemed somewhat put out.

"You run back there," he said, "and tell them I can afford the real thing. Artificial respiration, indeed!"

years. Where is he?"
Another—"He doesn't bother to come around here any more. He's rich now, you know."
Old Crony—"Ye don't say. Got rich awfully quick, didn't he?"
Another—"Quick? I'll say. He doesn't swing at golf club without first splitting on his hands."

Build Own Fireplace For Picnics at Home

YOU CAN BUILD this outdoor fireplace in a very professional manner by following the step-by-step directions outlined in the pattern now available. However, before building or even buying the materials the pattern specifies, inquire whether local fire laws permit using outdoor fireplaces.

If you are permitted to build, be sure to locate the fireplace at a point on your property where the smoke or sparks will not annoy or destroy your neighbors. Care should be taken in placing the fireplace away from trees and shrubs that might be damaged by the heat. The fireplace should face prevailing winds to keep smoke out of your eyes.

The pattern explains exactly how to prepare the foundation and lay out the starting course of bricks. It also specifies the quantity of bricks and materials needed. Send 25c for Pattern No. 92. Send 25c additional for Picnic Table Pattern No. 93 to East-Bird Pattern Company, Dept. W, Pleasantville, N. Y.

Took Nurse's Advice No More Harsh Laxatives

"I was irregular for a long time. A nurse suggested eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. It helped where nothing else had!" J. M. Redwell, Fort Clark, N. D. This is one of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users. You too may expect wonderful results, if constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet. Just eat an ounce of ALL-BRAN daily, and drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!
