Voice of Our Readers...

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK
This week is National Education Week. Such a designation should be very meaningful to all citizens of our nation. Yet, I presume, that many of us will be too busy with other seemingly more important affairs which prevent us to make a visit to our educational institutions.

Several county schools are holding an open house for the community. This is an excellent idea.

Much as this writer opposes compulsory action in situations of this kind, he feels that there ought to be a day set aside, purposed to cause school boards, as well as all citizens, to make a full day visit to the school of the community. Why must parents and citizens wait until they are called in, either because of a fracas in their son or daughter might be entangled, or because some action on the part of a teacher or administrator creates public sentiment to the point of inquisitiveness. They should meet voluntarily. In some instances the school authorities have used a radical means of attracting public attention and interest. However, such activity might sanction contrary forces to form which could cancel out any progress intended or already made in the educational project.

For some reason, or other, education as a school service seems to have failed in its endeavor to awaken public support. We know that education is not and cannot be purely a school function for it entwines the community, the home and the church. Maybe these individual units must get together to plan coherently, and inform each other as to what each intends to do or is doing in the process of developing an educated citizenry. Possibly, the taking for granted that such training and facts are being given by each in turn is the "why" of the so-called lack of educational effect, and the having of (if we really have) a citizenry of low moral standards and principles.

The proclamation of education week, as such, is hollow in meaning but it can become meaningful, if those agencies, such as the churches, the newspapers, the school teachers and administrators, and industrial leaders take up the plea of this office and do whatever is feasible to stir up the people of Washington county, so that, within the span of a few years we can have an educational program in progress which will satisfactorily perform the job of building for the America of today and tomorrow, and not for that of yesterday.

Miss Browne Honored for 20 Years of Teaching Here

Miss Margaret Browne of Harvard, Ill., who has been a teacher in the commercial department of the Kewaskum High school for the past 20 years, was honored by the senior class of the high school at a surprise dinner at the Republican Hotel on Tuesday evening.

A special guest at the dinner was Miss Viola Daley of Columbus, Wis., now teaching at Hartford, who was a member of the Kewaskum Public school teaching staff for 17 years, during which time she roomed with Miss Browne.

Bill Edwards served as toastmaster for the event and the guest of honor was presented with a corsage. Besides members of the senior class, guests included members of the faculty, wives and husbands.

Second CROP Drive to Open in County Churches Sunday

This coming Sunday will open the second Christian Rural Overseas Program in the churches of Washington county. One main change in the program this year is that cash is being requested rather than the commodity which was last year. The reason for this change is the fact that the variety of contribution isn't conducive to carload grouping for shipment to national centers. The freight charges would prohibit such action. In requesting cash and then making carload purchases of certain needed commodities permits a greater purchase and a more economical means of assembly for overseas shipment.

Each church will receive credit for contributions of its individual members for the contribution envelopes which will be sent out specify a check-off for this purpose.

Let us all co-operate with the clergy, the township officials, and the village and city officers who will make solicitation for this CROP relief program so that our county will be on a par with the neighboring counties in this charitable venture.

Rat Extermination Campaign in County

Many farmers have indicated that common field rats are doing much damage on their farms and are asking for help in obtaining poison for destroying them. The government is making available to farmers newly prepared red squill bait put up in 1 lb. packages. Each package is ready for immediate use. The bait is sold at cost, which is 60¢ per package.

All bait must be ordered and paid for in advance before Tuesday, Nov. 15, from any of the following distribution centers:

- Alton—Farmers' Incorporated Store; West Bend—Extension office, P. O. bldg.; Jackson—Hoge & Gunn Store; Hartford—Iron Ridge Co-op; Rockfield—Klein's Store; Newburg—Geo. Brendel Buy-Low Store; Germantown—Feed Supplies, Inc.; Fillmore—Weinreich's Store; Wayne—Petri's Store; Kewaskum—A. G. Koch Store; Myra—Buetner's Tavern; Hubertus—Schickel's Store; Slinger—Thiel's Mill; Richfield—Hen Dickel's Tavern.

One package of bait is sufficient for the average farm. Two or more packages should be used where there are more than the average number of buildings or on those farms where rats are known to be plentiful. All bait must be called for on Tuesday or Wednesday, Nov. 22 or 23, at the place where you placed your order. It is suggested that you distribute the bait on the evening of Nov. 23.

Place bait where you think rats will feed upon it, such as runways, feed troughs, burrows, behind boxes and boards, and under buildings you know to be inhabited by rats.

Red squill poison is considered non-harmful to animals other than rats and mice. However, as an extreme precaution all unopened bait should be collected early on the morning of Nov. 24. This is your only chance to get this bait. Order your bait immediately. If possible, keep bait in ice box until used.

It is sponsored by the more than 3,000 Kiwanis clubs comprising Kiwanis International, and the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc.

One of the most important problems that our nation faces today in building for a future America is a continual rise in the number of crimes affecting children. At the same time, the lot of the underprivileged child has not been improved to the fullest extent. The purpose of National Kids' Day is to provide a focal point and promotional device so that the potent forces in the community can use this day to emphasize the need for combatting these problems. For many years, Kiwanis has been interested in and working with the problems of underprivileged children. Intensive efforts are being made by both the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc. and Kiwanis International to prevent any attempts to capitalize on this program to help children. National Kids' Day has not been created as a gift-giving occasion for children. It has been proclaimed to bring further attention to the problems of children and to stimulate action in regard to these problems.

A nation-wide broadcast will be heard over one or more of the major networks on Friday evening, Nov. 18, and will be dedicated to National Kids' Day. Prominent personalities from all walks of life will be featured.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Truman Renews Pledge of Support Of 'Safe Plan' for Atomic Curbs; Attlee Charts British Saving Plan

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

MAKES BID FOR STEEL PEACE . . . Cyrus Ching (facing camera) director of the U. S. mediation service, is surrounded by newsmen as he arrived from Washington to make another effort for settlement of the paralyzing steel strike. These conferences were described as "exploratory," although Ching later reported that the situation was "not hopeless."

TRUMAN: Supports A-Curbs
"To assure that atomic energy will be devoted to man's welfare and not to his destruction is a continuing challenge to all nations and all peoples."
In those words, President Truman pledged his support to any safe and effective plans that would outlaw the atomic bomb.
THE PRESIDENT spoke at a ceremony in which the United Nations laid the cornerstone for its permanent headquarters in New York city.
Mr. Truman called the cornerstone rites "an act of faith — our unshakable faith that the United Nations will succeed."
The President declared that control of weapons is essential to a peaceful world and said that "Ever since the first atomic bomb was developed, a major objective of U. S. policy has been a system of international control of atomic energy that would assure effective prohibition of atomic weapons . . . and at the same time would promote the peaceful use of atomic energy by all nations."
HE EMPHATICALLY renewed the Bernard Baruch control plan which was rejected by Russia.
The chief point of disagreement between western powers and Russia on atomic energy control has been insistence by the West on an effective means of inspection to see that nations would keep their pledges to outlaw the bombs. Russia wouldn't hold still for that proposal.

Norway Reports Progress In Atomic-Energy Study
Norway was getting along rather well with atomic research, according to a report by the council for scientific research.
The report said drilling for uranium in Setaedal valley had been successful, and underground operations had started with a crew of 30.
The country's first atomic pile is being built near Oslo, and three universities have received equipment for atomic research.

ENGLAND: More Austerity
In a drastic effort to rescue Great Britain from its financial morass, Prime Minister Clement Attlee charted an economic course designed to save 784 million dollars annually. He also ordered a cut of 400 million dollars in dollar imports.
THUS did the prime minister plot a course of more austerity for the British people.
The savings effected, or hoped to be effected, would result from lopping off spending for national defense, capital investments, public relations and food subsidies.
Attlee presented a quick, graphic interpretation of what was proposed. "We must reduce expenditure and increase production," he told the house of commons. But it wasn't as simple as the formula would seem to make it.
To the already austerity-weary Britons it meant that many of the goods for which they now have to stand in line for hours would be even more scarce. Gasoline and some food items would cost more. They would have to pay a 14-cent fee for medicines they were getting free under the national health program.
leave the British alone at Hong Kong and promise to respect their rights there. The difference on opinion between the U.S. and Britain on the subject of recognition was not considered as a particularly serious one. It was regarded here as an inevitable reflection of their differing national interests. While the U.S. has been withdrawing from China, the British are still "in," and hope to remain so for obvious economic and financial reasons.

DARIEN — Harassment by Chinese Communists had forced closing of the U.S. consulate there. The American consul and vice-consul from this Russian-controlled city moved to Seoul. The U.S. attaches who had spent 15 months here said Communist policies prevented their relief at the end of a scheduled eight-month tour of duty. At a news conference, the reported Communist obstacles had limited their movements severely. Vice-consul Cuyler Gleystein said he was once held four hours by Chinese Communist police and Soviet soldiers who accused him of "signaling out to sea" with the lights of his jeep.
HAWAII — The prolonged strike of dock workers at five of Hawaii's six ports was over at last. The CIO international longshoremen's and warehousemen's union ordered its 2,000 striking stevedores to go back to their jobs. The men struck May 1, demanding a raise of 32 cents in their $1.40 hourly wage. The strike technically ended October 6, but continued, pending settlement of side issues involving working conditions, pay and other issues in outer-island ports.

The world picture was spotty as international developments became increasingly confused. Washington development intensified the tension between the U. S. and Russia in the cold war, British and U. S. leaders were beginning to split on the issue of recognizing the Chinese Red conquering government, France was hard-pressed to organize its government, a Greco-Tito pact appeared possible and the U. S. closed its consulate at Darien. A look at the overall situation showed that in.

WASHINGTON — The United States in a new crackdown on Russia had obtained an indictment against Amtorg, Russian purchasing agency in the U. S., and six of its officers on charges of failing to cooperate as agents of a foreign power. The maximum penalty for violation of that law would be $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment. The firm itself was liable to a $10,000 fine. Shortly after U. S. attorney general McGrath announced return of the indictment, five of the Russians were arrested by FBI agents in New York. As was expected, Soviet officials vigorously protested the arrests. There had been repeated allegations in congress that Amtorg acts as an espionage agent. Said assistant U. S. attorney Edward R. Rigney: "Diplomatic passports do not constitute a defense for the crime charged here." The indictments did not charge Amtorg with serving as an espionage agency for the Soviets.

LONDON — There was a developing split between Great Britain and the United States on the issue of recognition of the Communist regime in China. Indications were that London would establish full diplomatic relations soon. However, this appeared contingent on whether the Communists would

PEACE: Red Version
Something of the Russian attitude toward peace efforts was provided by Mikhail Kostilev, Soviet ambassador to Italy, who declared that:
"The Russian people love peace — but they do not beg for peace. . . . It is sufficient to fight for it," he told the first Italo-Russian cultural relations congress in Turin.
Kostilev, it seemed, was clarifying the Russian attitude.

LEOPOLD: No Poll, Please!
Former Belgian premier Paul-Henri Spaak wanted none of a proposed poll to determine if King Leopold should return to the throne.
"SUCH AN ACTION might 'destroy Belgium,'" Spaak declared in a radio address in Brussels.
Premier Gaston Eyskens, a pro-Leopold Social Christian, has proposed a country-wide poll on whether Belgians want Leopold back from his exile in Switzerland.
"I approve the prime minister's desire to solve the royal question," Spaak said, "but I do blame him, condemn him for trying to solve the royal question this way."

Gets Navy Post
Edward E. Wilcox, former Philadelphia newspaperman, has been named special assistant to the undersecretary of the navy. He succeeds Cedric Worth, self-styled author of the "anonymous" document which touched off the B-36 probe.

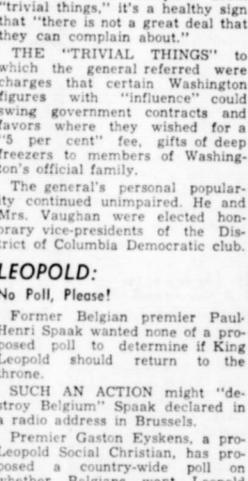

GOLD RUSH
Pea-Size Nuggets Cast New Yukon Spell
The spell of the Yukon was reaching out again to heat the blood of men who seek quick fortunes in gold. Reports of nuggets "the size of peas" being found near Fishwheel in Alaska had been flashed throughout the territory and a new gold rush was on. Grizzled sourdoughs, untried tenderfeet vied with each other to stake claims for the precious metal.
Planes loaded with excited men, and mining equipment and husky dog teams were pushing into the area in a race with the arctic winter which would paralyze all mining efforts. The village of Fishwheel was mushrooming overnight like the famed cities of the fabulous Yukon of the earlier gold rush days. The lure was like a magnet, reaching out with impelling force.
So far, according to reports, there was none of the colorful violence and conflict which marked the history of the former gold stampedes. "Rambling Sam" Gambelin, veteran prospector who experienced the Sushana strike of 1913, said "there has been no jumping of claims or of another man's diggings reminiscent of the Klondike rush."
Gambelin, whose judgment is respected throughout Alaska, expressed definite interest in the commercial possibilities of the strike because of the easy accessibility of the river gravel.
His remarks drew a denial from Senator Malone (R., Nev.).

FARM FAIR: World's Biggest
Something of interest to every agriculturist, from the man who wants to grow bigger potatoes to the high-booted cowboy with the prize-winning Hereford, is on the agenda of the Canadian Royal Winter Fair slated for Toronto's Coliseum November 15 to November 23, omitting Sunday.
IN ADDITION there will be a complete display of the latest wrinkles in farm machinery and aids to more profitable operation.
The Royal Winter Fair has long been recognized as the world's largest agricultural exhibition staged under one roof. Sponsored by Canadian federal, grain and agricultural associations, the competitions carry with them many world championship awards.
FOR THE FIRST TIME in 20 years, competition in the seed and grain divisions will be thrown open to any grower in the world and thus will award the winner world championship honors. Some 10,000 prize ribbons together with thousands of dollars in monetary awards will be handed out.
Farm home displays, washing machines and a host of things interesting to women are always features of Canada's top winter fair.

GEN. VAUGHAN: 'Shock Absorber'
It was interesting to note the multiple interpretations Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, White House aide, was applying to his position of entertainer, aide and personal confidant of President Harry Truman.
AT A DINNER given by fellow Democrats in Washington, Gen. Vaughan, linked with the capital's "5 per centers" and mysterious John Maragon, one-time White House hanger-on, portrayed himself in a new light.
He is, he said, a "shock absorber," as it were, as well as a "part of the scenery" at the White House.
"IT IS NOT pleasant furnishing the throat," he went on, "but I might as well earn my pay by being a shock absorber . . . at the White House."
"I am an authority on investigations," he said. "We've had so many investigations in the last year or so that have laid an egg."
He pointed out that when administration critics complain about "trivial things," it's a healthy sign that "there is not a great deal that they can complain about."
THE "TRIVIAL THINGS" to which the general referred were charges that certain Washington figures with "influence" could swing government contracts and favors where they wished for a "5 per cent" fee, gifts of deep freezers to members of Washington's official family.
The general's personal popularity continued unimpaired. He and Mrs. Vaughan were elected honorary vice-presidents of the District of Columbia Democratic club.

IT ISN'T ANY WONDER that most medical students graduating these days are equipping themselves, or would like to equip themselves, as specialists. Their desire to get away from general practice with its long hours, and night calls, is only natural now that government regulations would put physicians on the same basis as members of labor and other unions.
Everybody realizes that laboring men and women would be in a sorry mess today if it were not for unions, so that it is a natural sequence to find the various specialists forming their own unions, demanding, of course, that before a member is admitted he must have received the education and acquired the experience necessary.
What about the general physician, if, as it is reported, only 12 per cent expressed a preference for general practice?
In the "Canadian Medical Association Journal," Dr. W. V. Johnston, Lucknow, states that he has come to look upon specialists as having three functions to perform. First, they are consultants and as such they help to keep me out of

MIRROR Of Your MIND Nervous Giggles Has Psychic Cause
By Lawrence Gould

Can a person overcome a "nervous giggle"?
Answer: It may not be easy, both because the habit usually is more or less unconscious and because it grows out of deep-rooted attitudes and feelings. What the giggler is really saying when he behaves as if everything were funny is: "Please do not take me seriously"—which in turn means: "Do not blame me for being the sort of person I am." Far from being merely meaningless or silly, the habit reflects a chronic sense of personal inadequacy if not of downright "guilt," and getting the better of such feelings is the way to cure it.
Do a couple's parents determine which will be "boss"?
Answer: They may, if both partners grew up in homes of the same type, reports Hazel L. Ingersoll of the University of Tennessee. If both the wife and the husband grew up in homes in which father was the dominant authority, they will be apt to take it for granted that the husband should be "boss," while if both were reared in families where mother "wore the trousers," their marriage will usually follow the same pattern. Different backgrounds will mean either discord, or a compromise solution on an "equal," "democratic" basis.

weekly Picture story

It's a "tie for the pie"—that was the judge's opinion at this pie-eating contest. The bitterly-fought chewing match was part of an outing conducted for boys and girls by a Washington, D.C. men's club. The meringue—covered faces of the lads attest the effort expended.

Boys and girls together help with dishwashing chores at this children's camp. All physically able kids share the chore, but the job's popularity is questionable.

National Kids' Day, sponsored by more than 3,000 Kiwanis clubs, will be celebrated for the first time this year on Saturday, November 19. In succeeding years, the third Saturday in November will be designated as the date for observance. This series of photos shows something of what is hoped to be accomplished by inauguration of a National Kids' Day. Its purpose is to spur work with underprivileged children at the community level so as to make them better citizens, combat juvenile delinquency and, at the same time, insure the children all the pleasures and delights of normal childhood. Because the problems of underprivileged children cannot be solved without providing additional money, Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada will conduct dignified fund-raising drives in connection with National Kids' Day. Money raised in a community, however, will be spent in that community in assisting underprivileged youth.

Hearing aides are a big help to hundreds of school-age children whose studies often suffer when they are unable to hear their teachers. Provision for this sort of aid is a part of the National Kids' Day plan.

Boys and girls in Barberton, Ohio (above) are really safety conscious. A recent bike clinic, conducted by a men's club and the police department, brought out 200 bikes for safety inspection. Physically handicapped children (right) are aided through the Kids' Day fund. Here a great deal of effort is put into a basket-weaving course.

This boy (at left) who models clay figures, rapidly is becoming an expert. Physically handicapped, he was a guest at a Kiwanis summer camp. His activities were comfortably counterbalanced by rest periods and recreational hours.

An Anglo-American Easter egg hunt in Alice, Texas (right) where a dozen different nationalities were represented—and everything from a bunny rabbit to bubble gum. Baseball is another Kiwanis-sponsored activity. More than 40,000 boys organized and sponsored by Kiwanis clubs in New York alone last year.

Fragrant Quick Breads Are Easily Made (See Recipes Below)

Bake Them Often
QUICKLY BAKED BREADS provide inspiration for any meal and snack, so they're easily worth the few minutes it takes to mix and bake them.

Give your breakfast a lift with some delightful fruit and nut bread by baking it while the stragglers are getting down to breakfast. Or, why not plan to make an inspired lunch box with some delightful variations of a quickly baked bread?

Snacks are something special if you have some beautifully textured prune bread with a spread of cream cheese and jelly. Dinners, too, can be budget-wise if you'll take less than half an hour to mix and bake honey butter roll-ups or orange-date muffins.

Hot breads give cool weather meals that essential stick-to-the-ribs quality. More than that, their aroma and appeal gets the family to the dining table without coaxing!

FIRST on our parade of quick bread recipes is this for a bran nut bread which may be varied in four different ways:

- Bran Nut Bread
(Makes 1 loaf, 4 1/2 x 9 1/2 inch pan)
1 egg
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
3/4 cup bran
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup chopped nuts

Beat egg and sugar until light. Add milk, shortening and bran. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; combine with nutmeats; add to first mixture, stirring only until flour disappears. Spread in greased loaf pan, which has been fitted with waxed paper at the bottom. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 1 hour and 10 minutes.

A DELICIOUS pineapple coffee cake which bakes in less than an hour will be welcome at breakfast on chilly mornings.

- Pineapple-Currant Coffee Cake
(Makes 9-inch cake)
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup currants
1/2 cup drained, crushed pineapple

Orange crumb topping
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt with sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add egg and milk, stirring until flour is moistened. Drop batter into greased nine-inch cake pan spreading evenly. Spread currants and pineapple over top of batter and sprinkle with orange crumb topping:

- 2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons grated orange rind
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
Mix all ingredients together and

Make Simple Supper
Dishes Something Special

Fruit fritters for dessert may sound anything but spectacular, but just serve them with some melted raspberry jelly as a sauce and see what a solid hit they can make.

Shreds from the roast chicken can be extended into a nice supper main dish if set on a bed of cooked rice in a buttered casserole, then topped with cream sauce. Bake until bubbly and brown.

Tired of just plain macaroni and cheese? Layer the cheese and macaroni in the casserole with some oysters and see if it doesn't add interest.

Scalloped corn can be made into the main hot dish if you add a few cooked sausages, patties or links to the corn and bread crumb mixture before baking.

Fry cold, diced potatoes in pork sausage or bacon drippings until crisp and brown. Then break eggs on the potatoes and cook gently until set. This makes a delicious country style supper!

use as a topping.

THIS PRUNE BREAD has some of the endearing qualities of cake, without being as sweet and rich. You'll like its texture.

- Prune Bread
(Makes 1 loaf)
2 cups white wheat flour
1 cup white flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked, drained, chopped prunes
1 egg
1 cup prune juice
1/4 cup milk

Sift together dry ingredients. Add prunes and mix well. Combine beaten egg, prune juice and milk, and add with melted butter to the first mixture. Pour into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 1 1/4 hours.

- *Honey Butter Roll-Ups
(Makes about 16)
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
3/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
2 tablespoons honey
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add enough milk to form a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 1/2 minute. Divide into two equal portions. Roll each portion into a circle and spread with melted butter and honey; sprinkle with cinnamon. Cut into pie shaped pieces. Roll up beginning at wide end. Bake in a hot (450°) oven for 10-12 minutes.

- Orange-Date Muffins
(Makes 12 muffins)
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup dates, chopped fine
Grated rind of 1 large orange
1/4 cup molasses
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
1/4 cup melted shortening

Sift together white flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add dates and orange rind; mix well. Add whole wheat flour. Combine molasses, egg, milk and melted shortening. Add to dry ingredients and mix only until ingredients are moistened. Do not beat until smooth. Spoon batter into well greased muffin pans, 2/3 full. Bake in a hot (400°) oven about 20 minutes.

Leftover meat and chicken can be made into really generous hot sandwiches if they're dipped in egg-milk mixture, then fried. Serve with spiced fruit for a completely satisfying supper.

Hard-cooked eggs, cut in quarters, swimming in rich cream sauce with pink shrimp, are hard to resist when served on small, split, toasted and halved biscuits.

Popovers split and filled with creamed chicken or chipped beef will satisfy the hungriest crowd for Sunday evening suppers.

Place ham slices in skillet, add a tablespoon of water, then break eggs on top of the ham. Cover and cook a few minutes. Serve on toast and top with melted cheese sauce for a quickie supper.

Split hard rolls and fill with tuna fish or crabmeat mixed with some chili sauce and cream. Broil until bubbly and serve for hot supper sandwiches.

Little thin pancakes, filled with sausages, then rolled and sealed with gentle frying make a perfect supper combination served with applesauce.

Smile Awhile

Circumstances
An immigrant arrived in the United States, secured lodgings, and promptly set out to earn a living. He soon made friends with some of his neighbors who tried to help him down to the owner of a small office building to see if he could get a job as janitor. Unfortunately he could neither read nor write. Since the job entailed keeping of records they were forced to reject his application.

He didn't let that get him down, however, and went about looking for another job. He landed in a real estate office and in a few years had worked himself into a sizable fortune.

An occasion arose when he needed a large amount of cash to swing what promised to be a profitable deal. He went to a large bank for a loan. The banker knew him and agreed to lend the money if the man would sit down and make out a note for the amount.

The caller smiled apologetically. He explained that he could neither read nor write and asked the banker to make it out for him. The banker was astonished.

"I am surprised," he declared admiringly, "handicapped as you've been, you have still managed to become a millionaire. I wonder what you would have been in this country by now if only you had been able to read and write?"
"A janitor," replied the man.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET How Church Chimes Rang For the Benefit of Brooklyn

This week I'd like to spin a little story—a very, very little story. It's of no great importance, and I won't get mad if the editor decides to file it in the wastebasket.

One day last summer while driving past a church on St. Felix street in Brooklyn, I heard a set of chimes that did nice things to my ears. They were unusually good chimes, and figured to have cost a lot of money.

WHEN REV. John Emerson Zeiter, pastor of the church, heard about a new type of electrically-controlled chimes called Carillon bells, he told his congregation about them and said it would be a nice thing for the neighborhood if people going to work in the morning and coming home at night could hear those beautiful chimes.

The Fiction * FORTUNE SMILES * Corner

CALEB WARE was a young man who quarreled with his father, and was turned away from his boyhood home. Caleb always said later that he went away of his own accord.

It was then that Caleb decided to go home. As the train began to climb into the fresh, clean air of the mountain country, the tired look about his eyes vanished.

He swung from the train at the tiny depot. Everything was the same; the cracker-box station, the general store, the postoffice and the few small dwelling houses.

The man stepped through the door. "Caleb Ware! Know yuh anywhere! How be yuh, Caleb?"

"Not bad," Caleb agreed. And he knew that feeling of triumph and victory at his success. He thought

"Caleb Ware! Know yuh anywhere! How be yuh, Caleb?" of his father's surprise and disappointment. It would be a bitter pill for old man Ware to swallow.

are going to be kinder and more tolerant? Again, of course not.

Why, then, am I writing this piece? Well, I guess it's because I'm fool enough to think that even one drop of clean water falling on a dusty street is important.

One of these days—and I don't expect to be around to see it—a lot of drops of clean water may fall and a lot of dust may be washed away.

at the farm. The place is plumb run down, and your dad ain't well."

Thus Caleb came home. Sight of the farm gave him a pang. The house and grounds were run down and in need of repair.

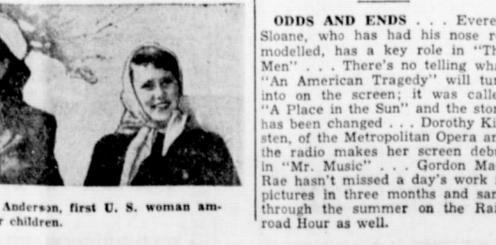

"Hello, Father," he said. "It's Caleb. I've come home to ask your forgiveness and to be taken in."

"I knew you'd come back, Caleb. I knew you'd come to your old father for help sooner or later. And—and I'm glad."

"WOULD THAT BE FOR A CAN OF PEACHES OR A LEFT TURN?"

HOW DO YOU LIKE YOUR EGGS?

Magistrate J. Roland Sala, New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:
A few days ago a man who would be a hero in my book got the bum's rush from your court. Aroused by his inability to get eggs cooked the way he asked for them in a public restaurant, he went a little berserk, landed in the peckery and was found guilty of disorderly conduct and given quite a blitzing by you. In exhorting the guy for demanding six-minute eggs and blowing his top when the chef thought four minutes better, you declared it unreasonable to ask for six-minute eggs, held that no customer should let the condition of an egg bother him unduly and delivered an opinion, as a member of the D'Escoffier Society of Gourmets, that the thickness of the shell is the determining factor in how long an egg should be boiled, anyhow.

If you got around much and went in for eggs to any extent you would know that the thickness of the shell, the waiter and the proprietor is the determining factor, and nothing else. Any man who can get an egg the way he wants it in the average restaurant is passing a miracle. There is a set rule against it. It is even harder than getting any attention paid in a New York restaurant to a request that the toast be well done or medium.

There must be a Section One, Paragraph One in the chef and restaurant owners' code which says: "No attention whatever shall be paid to customers' ideas concerning eggs. Any cook caught preparing them as ordered shall have his license taken up."

I ask you, Judge, what is wrong about a man asking for a five or six minute egg? Why can't he get a seven or eight-minute one if he likes it that way? And why is he out of bounds, whereas the gent who wants the two-minute egg is well within his rights? I will lay you twenty to one that you can't find a run-of-the-mill restaurant where you can get even a three-minute egg cooked three minutes. (That's when the chef will serve you the six-minute egg.—Ed.)

And have you had much experience with fried eggs? Ask the waiter not to burn them and see the order of incriminated hen fruit you get. Plead with him to turn them over lightly and see what you get. Ask for them well done and note their delivery from shell to customer without once touching a fire.

You are lacking in experience, Judge. You had a great chance to become New York's choice for mayor and maybe the country's dark horse for president by taking a firm stand for eggs cooked the right way, by complimenting the prisoner for starting a third world war behind the slogan, "Give me my eggs as ordered or else give me the riot squad!" My hat is off to the accused, one Arthur Hall of 35 Pierpont Street, Brooklyn. He is my man of 1949. And I hope he wrecked the joint.

Yours,
ELMER.

P. S.—The D'Escoffier Society my eye! To get an egg the way a guy likes it he has to belong to the Foreign Legion, the Notre Dame backfield, the National Federation for the Development of Flying Wedges and the American Society for Indoor Fight Promotion.

BACK HOME STUFF

Dear Hi—
I got a kick out of your yarn on the old days of the theater back in your home town, New Haven. Did you see "Under the Gaslight," "Megg's Landing" and Thomas E. Shea in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"? I, too, knew the old Hyperion, Bunnell's Grand Opera House and the Poli Theater.

I recall the Rogers Brothers in London and Washington, etc., Andrew Mack in "Tom Moore," Richard Mansfield in "Old Heidelberg" which preceded its opera form, "Student Prince"; Francis Wilson in "The Toreador," Weber & Fields in "Hurly Burly."

The Way It Happened . . .

30 MINUTE ROLLS

|--|---|
| 2 packages Red Star Special Active Dry Yeast | 1 egg |
| 1 1/2 cups warm water (105° to 110° F.) | 3 cups sifted all purpose flour |
| 1/4 cup sugar | 2 tablespoons shortening, melted and cooled to lukewarm |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt | |

Step 1: Dissolve yeast in warm water (105° to 110° F.) in large mixing bowl. Step 2: Add sugar, salt, and unbrowned fat. Add flour gradually. Beat well with electric mixer on low or medium speed, or by hand with large wooden spoon. Add shortening, beating until thoroughly mixed. Step 3: Spoon dough into well greased muffin pans (9" about one-third full). Step 4: Let rise in warm place (90° to 95° F.) until dough has risen level with top of muffin pans (about 25 to 30 minutes). Step 5: Bake in moderately hot oven (375° to 400° F.) 30 min. Step 6: Remove from pans and serve warm.
