

Law Changed So That Minors Cannot Enter or Be in Taverns

District Attorney Arthur C. Snyder of Washington county this week requested the press to inform tavernkeepers of changes made in Chapter 215 of the Laws of 1951 pertaining to persons entering or remaining on the premises of what we call "beer taverns" and "liquor taverns." Most of our taverns in this county are "liquor taverns."

Several years ago any person under the age of 21 for liquor taverns and 18 for beer taverns was prohibited from "lingering and loitering" in such places. Then about four years ago the law was changed to read "remain on said premises." Now it has been changed so that the tavernkeeper shall not permit persons under the age of 21 or 18 in liquor or beer taverns "to enter or be" on such premises for any purpose excepting the transaction of bona fide business which does not include amusement, the purchase, receiving of or consumption of edibles or beverages.

Under the law as it existed until a week or so ago, law enforcement officials in Washington county had advised tavernkeepers that persons under the ages as specified could enter for buying an ice cream cone, bottle of pop, etc. providing they would not stay there to consume the same. According to the law as it is now amended, they may not even enter for that purpose. If, however, under-age persons are accompanied by a parent or a guardian appointed by the court, they may be permitted to enter or remain on tavern premises.

The amendments that District Attorney Snyder speaks of have not been published to any extent and he states that it is only fair that there be some "ink spread" in this matter so as to give the tavernkeepers an opportunity to learn of the law, which reads as follows:

CHAPTER 215, LAWS OF 1951 AN ACT

To amend 66.054 (19) and 176.32 (1) of the statutes, relating to minors in places of business selling intoxicants, and providing a penalty. The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. 66.054 (19) of the statutes is amended to read:

66.054 (19) Every keeper of any place, of any nature or character whatsoever, for the sale of any fermented malt beverage under a Class "B" retailer's license, who shall either directly or indirectly suffer or permit any person of either sex under the age of 18 years, unaccompanied by his or her parent or guardian, who is not a resident, employee, or a bona fide lodger or boarder on the premises controlled by the proprietor or licensee of such place, and of which such place consists or is a part, to ENTER OR BE on such LICENSED premises for any purpose, excepting the transaction of bona fide business other than amusement, THE PURCHASE, RECEIVING, or consumption of edibles or beverages, shall, for every such offense, be liable to a penalty not exceeding $250, besides costs, or imprisonment in the county jail or house of correction not exceeding 60 days; and any such person so remaining as aforesaid, who is not a resident, employee, or a bona fide lodger or boarder on such premises, or who is not accompanied by his or her parent or guardian, shall also be liable to a penalty of not more than $20, besides costs. This section shall not apply to hotels, drug stores, grocery stores, bowling alleys, premises in the state fair park, and parks owned or operated by agricultural societies receiving state aid, cars operated on any railroad, nor to premises operated under both a "Class B" license and a restaurant permit where the principal business conducted therein is that of a restaurant. It shall be presumed, however, where such premises are so operated under both a "Class B" license and a restaurant permit, that the principal business conducted therein is that of the sale of fermented malt beverage, until such presumption is rebutted by competent evidence. The provisions of subsection (15) providing for punishment of violators of this section by fine and imprisonment shall not apply to this subsection.

SECTION 2. 176.32 (1) of the statutes is amended to read:

176.32 (1) Every keeper of any place, of any nature or character, whatsoever, for the sale of any intoxicating liquors, who shall either directly or indirectly suffer or permit any person of either sex under the age of 21 years, unaccompanied by his or her parent or guardian, or suffer or permit any person to whom the sale of any such liquors has been forbidden in the manner provided by law, who is not a resident, employee, or a bona fide lodger or boarder on the premises of such licensed person, to ENTER OR BE on such LICENSED premises for any purpose, excepting the transaction of bona fide business other than amusement OR THE PURCHASE, RE-

Youth Admits Holdup of Beechwood Tavern

Dale Born, 26, Route 1, Waldo, who surrendered to police Wednesday night admitted the armed holdup of Sauter's tavern at Beechwood Sunday night. The young bandit escaped with $166 in the robbery. The tavern is located on Route 1, Kewaskum, at the intersection of county trunks A and S.

Born waived preliminary hearing in municipal court at Sheboygan and was bound over to circuit court under $2,000 bonds on eight counts of assault with a dangerous weapon and seven counts of larceny, according to Sheriff Harold B. Kroll of Sheboygan county.

Eight patrons in the tavern were happy when the young stranger walked in and set up drinks for the house. They were dismayed a short time later when the visitor drew a pistol, took $100 from the tavernkeeper and grabbed $66 from the patrons. The robber was recognized by one of the patrons who gave the sheriff a "good lead" on the youth.

After holding up the proprietor of the tavern and general store and patrons, Born fled to northern Wisconsin.

Grafton Game Rained Out; Slinger Here

The Kewaskum Chevrolets ball game at Grafton last Sunday was postponed because of rain. The tilt was scheduled to be made up on Memorial day but Grafton was unable to play on that day, so the game will be made up at a later date. All other games in the northern division of the Land of Lakes league were also postponed Sunday.

Kewaskum plays an important game and faces a stiff test this Sunday when undefeated Slinger comes to town. Slinger is tied with Mequon for first place, both teams having won three straight. The Chevrolets, tied for second place with two victories and one defeat, will be gunning to upset Slinger and gain a tie with that team. Time of the game is 2 p. m. The home team will be all decked out in brand new uniforms for Sunday's contest.

Other games Sunday are as follows: Barton at West Bend, Grafton at Cedarburg, Newburg at Saukville and Germantown at Mequon. The Kewaskum-Slinger will be the feature game in the loop. Johnny Tessar is expected to hurl for the locals and Ray Held probably will be on the hill for Slinger.

The Chevrolets have scheduled a night exhibition game to be played at Mayville on Thursday, June 14, in which they take on Mayville's Rock River league champions, John Tessar will oppose Rubie Schuster, former Wisconsin State league speed pitcher.

5th County Traffic Death Memorial Day; Other Mishaps Occur

Washington county's fifth traffic death of 1951 was registered at 9 a. m. Wednesday when a 1949 model convertible with its top down went out of control on Highway 144 north of Sandy Beach resort near Big Cedar lake.

Frank Hodik, 22, Milwaukee, was driving south at what authorities said was a high rate of speed. He was returning to Milwaukee at the time. He was unable to negotiate a curve, the car plunging off the road and into a tree and utility pole.

All of the occupants were thrown out of the machine. Charles R. Rufka, 21, was killed outright. Hodik sustained a chest injury. His other passengers were Dorothy Bubitz, 21, Milwaukee, injuries to her right arm and right hip, cut lips and body bruises; Gordon Lewandowski, 23, injuries to his right arm, leg and back; Delores Mikulski, 21, Milwaukee, possible fractured spine and injuries to her left collarbone, right elbow and head.

The injured were removed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, where they were reported to be recovering satisfactorily Thursday.

Clarence Kollmansberger, Jr., 17, R. 2, Campbellsport, received scratches and bruises in an auto accident on Fond du Lac ave. (Hwy. 55) near the edge of the village at 1:40 a. m. Sunday. Driving a 1949 Plymouth, Kollmansberger was traveling north when he lost control of his car, ran into the ditch on the left side, and struck a tree. Estimated damage to the vehicle was placed at $800, according to Chief of Police Ed. Haack.

At 3:20 p. m. Monday Leo E. Long, R. 2, Campbellsport, lost control of his 1944 Ford and ran down a steep embankment at the intersection of Highways 55 and V a short distance north of the village. Alone in the car, Long claimed he attempted to brake but they failed to hold. The auto clipped off four guard rail posts before rolling down the embankment. The driver was lucky to escape injury. Damage to the car was estimated at between $350 and $400.

When an auto driven by Richard Lienemann, 17, Chicago, got out of control on a Hwy. 55 curve in the town of Auburn near the Fond du Lac-Washington county line at 11:20 p. m. Saturday, three youths were hurt. They included the driver, bruised shoulder; Vincent O'Malley, 17, bruised face, and Charles Cook, 17, scratches and bruises on one arm. They were treated at the scene. The car, which plunged into a ditch and rolled over, was demolished. Lienemann told Fond du Lac county police that the steering gear locked, causing the mishap.

Cars driven by Lester Griepentrog, 23, R. 2, Kewaskum, and Joe Rossman, Sr., 59, R. 3, West Bend, collided on County Trunk D, 1 1/2 miles west of Lighthouse Lanes Friday afternoon. Griepentrog was driving east when he came over the top of the hill on the wrong side of the roadway, according to the sheriff's department. His car showed skid marks of 20 feet before striking the Rossman car coming from the opposite direction. After the impact Griepentrog's car hit the guard rail on the right side of the highway.

Random Lake and Appleton drivers were involved in a crash in which three persons were injured at the intersection of Hwy. 144 and County Trunk H Friday night and two Campbellsport youths were hurt when their car rolled over the Barton hill embankment Sunday night but no local people were involved in the mishaps.

Electrification Pays Off for Average Farm Production Increased 51 Per Cent in Seven Years

Within seven years electricity on an average farm can increase by more than 51 per cent the money earned per hour of productive labor—that's the lesson learned from a practical electrification experiment on the Joseph Motz farm near West Farmington, Ohio.

Joseph Motz (above), used electrification to increase profits on his farm 51 per cent during the past seven years.

accurate records have been kept of the farm's production and progress. It's all part of a test program initiated by Westinghouse in cooperation with the Ohio Public Service Company.

No "dude ranch" affair, the experiment was carried out under conditions identical to those faced by the average farmer. Mr. Motz has purchased new electrical equipment at retail prices, using only the profits from the farm's operation to do it.

Here are the facts: In 1944, the Motz farm returned to the farmer 66 cents for each hour of work he put into the various productive enterprises. By 1950, this return had increased to $1.17 for each hour of work. Even eliminating the effect of the increase in farm prices from 1944 to 1950, the return per hour was up more 51 per cent.

New Potato Products Are Helping to Hold Markets

New potato products and improved distribution methods are helping to hold markets against competition from other foods. Potato chips, frozen French fries, pre-peeled potatoes, as well as an aggressive advertising campaign offer hope to potato growers.

Grading and labeling have been effective in publicizing Maine and Iowa potatoes, and it is hoped that the campaign will eventually help to reverse the downward trend in potato consumption which has taken place in the past three decades. Potato chips now account for about 9 per cent of all potatoes consumed, taking about 22 million bushels in 1950. This represents over 80 per cent of the potatoes processed for food, and constitutes a $200 million business.

Pre-peeled potatoes, treated to prevent darkening, and used chiefly by restaurants and institutions, are meeting wide acceptance.

World Price Record

Not since the cow jumped over the moon has beef ever been so high as it was when 13-year-old Andrew Tatch (right) sold his champion steer to B. B. McGlimsey (left) for the world's record price of $21,000. The steer weighed 1,900 pounds. The sale was made at the San Antonio livestock show where the steer, "Shorty," won the great championship. Young Tatch plans to buy a ranch with his money. He hails from the Crabapple community, near Fredericksburg, Texas.

Cancer in Large Animals Is Difficult to Detect

Difficulty of detecting and treating cancer of the stomach in horses is pointed up by the death of Cacique, a notable stallion of pure Arab bloodlines. Reporting on the case, the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association said that early diagnosis of cancer of the stomach in large animals is "practically an impossibility at present." Symptoms are not clear-cut and death may occur quickly.

JET INJECTIONS

Future Draftees May Get Shots By High-Pressure Jet Apparatus

The plight of auto mechanics and others who work near hydraulic oil lines may have led to an invention that will be hailed by a great many United States army soldiers who face enemy gunfire unflinchingly, but who quail at the sight of a hypodermic needle.

This new device, now in the advanced experimental stages in the U.S. army medical service graduate school in Washington, D.C., is a multiple dose high-pressure injection apparatus which is shaped much like a pistol, and may be used in the future for rapidly inoculating groups of people with shots of vaccines, antibiotics, insulin and others.

Research has not yet revealed who first thought of using a high pressure jet to force medicaments through the skin, but Dr. Joel Warren, of Washington, D.C., chief of virus research at the army school, believes that automotive lubricants accidentally forced by pressure into mechanics' subcutaneous tissues probably first prompted the inspiration.

It was noted that fine jets of oil at high velocity, as from a leaking hydraulic line, could penetrate human skin and leave little or no mark. If this phenomena could be applied to inoculations, it was reasoned that besides doing away with the pain and psychological hazard of the unpopular hypodermic needle, jet injection would have several other important advantages:

1. With a multiple dose apparatus, large numbers of people could be given protective vaccines or medication in a short time. This consideration is particularly applicable to civilian defense efforts in the event of atomic bombings or other disasters affecting entire communities.

This is how future army men may receive their shots. Above an army doctor is testing the experiment multiple dose jet injection apparatus that the army may adopt.

2. In using hypodermic needles to inoculate large cross-sections of any community, there would be some danger of transmitting infections. Because the jet nozzle does not penetrate the tissues as the needle does, this danger is eliminated.

3. No special training is required for giving inoculations by the jet method.

4. When produced in quantity, jet injection apparatus will be relatively inexpensive.

It was some of these considerations, Doctor Warren believes, that prompted a diesel engineer named Lockhart to patent in 1946 the first instrument especially designed for parenteral jet injection.

The R. B. Scherer Corporation of Detroit, Michigan, developed Lockhart's device and arranged for anatomical and other studies with his "gun," the Hypo-Spray, a hand-cocking, single-shot instrument.

This first excursion into the field of jet inoculations was field tested for the United States army by Dr. Herbert Batson and Captain Robert Wall.

They found that the principle of jet injection was feasible for administering bacterial vaccines. The Hypo-Spray, they found, would do all that the hypodermic needle could do in this line, and do it without the possibility of cross-infection and virtually without pain.

While the automatic-loading jet "gun" is not yet ready for general Army use because of several minor engineering details which still remain to be worked out, it is already clear, according to Doctor Warren, that administration of vaccines, such as those for typhoid, typhus, tetanus, and diphtheria, antibiotics, such as penicillin and insulin, and other biologicals, is both feasible and highly desirable.

Those who volunteered for demonstration shots were dubious at first, but as the tests proceeded, eagerly began to ask:

"When can we get all our shots this way?"

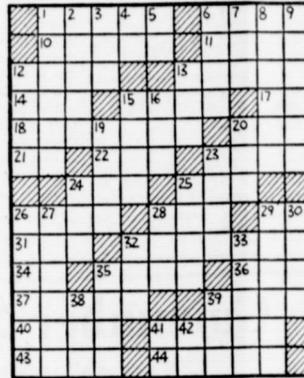

There are some disadvantages to the jet method. One of these is the occasional failure of the jet to penetrate the skin when it is particularly thick, or is subsaturated with layers of intradermal fat. A control that will enable the operator to vary the pressure within limits according to the individual being inoculated is being worked out.

The jet injection method applies only to subcutaneous and intradermal medication; intravenous injections cannot be given in this way. Now is the "gun" designed to handle highly viscous material such as oil suspensions.

Some Viruses May Help Fight Disease

Not all viruses are hostile to man, and some may prove powerful allies in his war against disease. Professor Max A. Lauffer of the University of Pittsburgh claims.

Viruses are generally looked upon as enemies because they are known to produce some of the worst infectious diseases, such as polio, influenza, measles, mumps, small pox, sleeping sickness, and one type of pneumonia, and may even cause the common cold according to Professor Lauffer, who is director of the Virus Research Program at the University of Pittsburgh.

The fact is, however, that some of man's greatest enemies in the form of bacteria, also suffer from virus diseases—and this, Professor Lauffer explained, is the basis for the hope that some viruses may aid in protecting human health.

Noting that viruses which afflict bacteria have a special name, bacteriophage, he said:

"There is a very real possibility that, when the mechanism of infection of bacteria by viruses is adequately understood, bacteriophages may prove to be powerful antibiotic agents."

PREPARING TO LAY ASPHALT TILES

Question: Does a basement cement floor need any special treatment before laying asphalt tile?

Answer: The concrete floor must be dry, clean, and free of paint or other finish. Spread a special mastic cement over the concrete with a paste spreader and then press the tile down into place. You will need a linoleum knife and a blowtorch to soften tile for cutting and trimming. Be careful not to put down too much cement, for it will ooze up between the tiles. Such work is usually done by a floor contractor.

It's Wonderful the Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE -NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. You, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different! Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out. But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowels where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic and FEEN-A-MINT No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

How Will the Future Decide MacArthur Question?

By Wright A. Patterson

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE have thoroughly demonstrated their appreciation of and belief in the abilities of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. By their tremendous demonstrations they have expressed their love and gratitude for the services he has rendered their nation. Unofficially, that includes the senators and representatives in congress. They, too, rendered their unqualified homage to a great man and their belief in his announced policies, when the general addressed their joint session.

Now there remains the official congressional verdict. Will that verdict, if and when it is rendered, support the President and his unpopular secretaries of state and defense, or will it support the judgement of the man in whom the people have so enthusiastically expressed their confidence and appreciation? At the time this is written, I need only one guess as to what the result will be.

There will be no definite verdict. Congress will constitute a hung jury, regardless of the wishes of the people. Congress, as such, is a partisan political organization. A bare majority in both houses, senate and house, represents the party of the President, and the decidedly unpopular secretaries of state and defense whom the President appointed, and whom he refused to fire.

That bare majority of the President's party, controlling both senate and house, cannot afford to repudiate the leader of their party, nor will they censure or vote a lack of confidence in the members of his cabinet whom the people have so definitely denounced.

When it is all over, and Congress has had its official say, we will be right where it all started. Except Douglas MacArthur will know as definitely as wild enthusiasm across the nation can express the attitude of the people of the nation, just where he stands in the hearts of the American people. No action, or lack of action, on the part of congress can take that away from him. The President may, if he wishes, accept such a stalemate as a victory for his policies and those of his secretaries of state, and defense, rather than as a vote of partisan political expediency.

Such is the way of partisan politics in our United States. Such is the way of our republic of the people who are in control of the government at all times. The only way we can express our displeasure with a President, once he is elected, is to impeach him if he does something that goes beyond his constitutional authority.

The people did not question the authority of the President to fire Gen. MacArthur, but they questioned his method of doing it. The extent of such disapproval was evidenced in a radio poll, conducted by Fulton Lewis, Jr., in which he QUENTIN, north woods guide, told me this story. "It happened shortly after gold was discovered up near Hayden," he began. "It wasn't much of a strike.

A settlement, however, sprung up and they named it Leland.

"A year later the first log buildings were erected. The settlers decided they ought to have a school teacher, and they sent down to Ottawa for one. Miss Agnes Sheldon volunteered and I was delegated to meet her at the station in Twin Forks. It was a six-day canoe trip, the only practical means of summer transportation.

"One look at Miss Agnes Sheldon when she stepped from that train and I smelled trouble. She wasn't old, but her features bore a mature look.

She wore a severe black suit, bone-rimmed glasses, cotton stockings, laced boots.

"When I introduced myself she looked at me as though I were some new kind of insect. That made me mad at the start. I scouted around the town and borrowed some apparel for her to wear that was suitable for the trip.

"I offered them to her and she glared at me as though I'd called her a bad name. In no uncertain terms she assured me she was capable of choosing her own costumes. Well, I was sort of glad. My conscience was clear and I felt that the trip would teach her a much needed lesson. I did, however, endeavor to prevail upon her to rub some mosquito lotion on her skin before we started. She wasn't, she said, going to smear herself up like a savage. "The mosquitoes were pretty bad that year. Before noon of the first day Miss Sheldon was bitten so badly it hurt me to look at her. I offered her the lotion again and she refused it. I could see then that she was stubborn.

"The morning after the first night I crawled out of my tent at dawn and found that Miss Sheldon was up ahead of me. She was down at the river, bathing her face. By the looks of her clothes, she'd slept in them.

"The remainder of that trip was something to write home about. With each passing mile Miss Sheldon got more uncomfortable and more obstinate. And I, though I pitied her, got pretty stubborn myself. I decided not to offer her the lotion again until she asked for it. I was sure that sooner or later she'd break down and admit defeat. But she didn't.

"We had a pretty tough time in the Little Falls rapids because the river was high that year. We shipped a lot of water and Miss Sheldon got drenched through to the skin. That night it rained and she slept in wet clothes. The next day she broke her glasses, and because of near sightedness was always tripping over things.

"We reached Leland shortly after noon of the sixth day and there was quite a delegation down to meet us. Jim was there, bearing a welcome and ready to make a speech. But at sight of Miss Sheldon the beam died on his lips.

"Gentlemen," I says, 'this here's Miss Agnes Sheldon, our new school teacher. She aims to bring a bit of civilization into our settlement, and I reckon she's done it.'

"Well, sir, if Miss Sheldon hated me before, she despised me after that speech. But I'm danged if I could help it. This was my first experience with a female and I tell you I was mad. Any dumbhead who'd let mosquitoes bite the tar out of her like that, deserved to be told what was thought of her.

"Jim Leland's wife fetched her up to their cabin and put her in bed. She stayed there for almost two weeks. Mosquitoes, sunburn and wet clothes had danged near ruined her.

"Me, after I'd cooled off some, I felt kind of apologetic and decided the best thing I could do was to get out of town for a spell. But I didn't. No, sir, I stuck there and faced my medicine. There's nothing like being married to a wife who's got a mind of her own—they say.

HELP KEEP IT TIED INFLATION ...or you'll go for a ride!

Just what is inflation? The danger of inflation is already here!

It's money that seems more valuable than it really is. When there's a greater supply of money than of goods... when it takes more and more money to buy fewer and fewer things—that's inflation. It happens when goods get scarce, and you and your neighbors compete unfairly for these few goods. That boosts prices—up and up, until the prices of more and more things are higher than you can afford to pay.

Here's what all of us must do to halt INFLATION*

Business, Government and Everybody must:

1. Strive for still more efficient production.
2. Halt the upward spiral of prices and wages.
3. Buy only for current needs. Hold business inventories down.
4. Curtail all non-essential government spending and support moves toward this end.
5. Save in every way! Buy U. S. Defense Bonds.

7. Support higher taxes to help balance the budget.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

One Formula for a Community's Success; Make It a Good Place to 'Come Home To'

A few years ago a businessman in Holdrege, Nebraska, had occasion to remark that, "In these days, just what constitutes the 'home town' or 'being at home' to most of the rural population is a question."

Now that's a nice point. We who have our homes within the town's limits have no hesitation in the matter, of course. We are part of the town itself, and so we take it for granted that we are "at home" in it.

But what about our friends who live in the rural areas outside of the immediate confines of this community? Does our town mean "home" to them, or does some other neighboring small city take the honors?

A MAIN STREET FEATURE

In the first place, the fact that there is any room for doubt that the people living in the adjacent rural areas might regard us as their home town arises from the phenomenon of transportation. Automobiles, buses, and trains can get the rural shopper as readily to one town as to another, within reasonable limits.

The point is that the mere proximity of a town no longer necessarily makes it the "home town" for the rural dwellers. They can as easily get to another town ten, twenty or thirty miles farther away—if they want to go there.

And here we are at the nub of the whole question. Is ours a town that people want to come to—for their shopping, for their entertainment, or even for just a visit?

For a practical slant on the subject, let's look in at Holdrege, Nebraska, one of whose businessmen we quoted in the opening paragraph.

Holdrege has a population of something over 4,300. Situated in south-central Nebraska, it serves an active trading area that extends roughly 60 miles south, 100 miles west, 40 miles north, and 40 miles east. That's a mighty powerful market area for a town of 4,300, even considering the open spaces that prevail in the Great Plains area.

Other strong towns are competing for business in parts of the same district, and Holdrege, naturally enough, doesn't get 100 per cent of the trade. But it gets a big enough proportion to prompt one to inquire into its methods of drawing rural shoppers into town to do their buying.

For one thing, the Holdrege merchants fully realize the trade potential they command, and they run their businesses accordingly—offering the best possible stocks of merchandise and the best possible services. Those are two big items in any shopper's mind: the availability of goods and value proportionate to the money he spends. Holdrege tries to offer both.

It's an axiom that a majority of people who come to town to shop will stay to be entertained. Holdrege isn't missing many bets here, either. This small town has good motion picture theaters, a city auditorium with a capacity of 1,750 persons, two city parks, and a swimming pool.

Moreover, the local chamber of commerce maintains an active entertainment committee that books a more or less constant round of such diversions as big name dance bands, choirs, circuses, and so on. The success of these events is attested to by the proudly quoted statistic in Holdrege that the city auditorium is used by as many as 75,000 persons in a year. This in a town of 4,300. A regular advertising program in the local newspapers and in papers of surrounding towns is maintained to keep people in the area apprised of forthcoming entertainment events.

The town also stages its own trade promotion campaigns, in which the local businessmen cooperate to put over whatever shopping theme they decide on. Holdrege capitalizes on such basic interests as county fairs, 4-H Club events, baseball during the summer, and events like Rooster Days, Corn Shoes and so on as they come up throughout the year.

To quote our businessman friend again: "Our theory is that people trade where they enjoy going, and the reason for their enjoying one town more than another may be any one of a number of things."

And so Holdrege tries to offer them all the possible reasons it can think of in order that they may enjoy the town. That's not only sound business; it is sound Christianity, too.

The nations of the world look to the people of this country for leadership. They have seen our youth in action. They have seen their courage and their strength. Off the battlefield they have seen and admired the human kindness and the tolerance of the men who went overseas for us and for them. May we stand firm in our conviction that America has achieved a way of life that we can all cherish—and cherishing, strive ever to guard and improve.

EARTHQUAKE AFTERMATH . . . Through a lane strewn with rubble, a group of inhabitants of Jucaupa, Salvador, carry whatever they can salvage as they flee to safety following violent earthquake that rocked the country recently. More damage was inflicted on the inhabitants when landslides followed the quake. The death toll was officially placed at 1,200. The Salvadoran Red Cross mobilized all its facilities to care for the injured and homeless.

COURTROOM DRAMA . . . Boy identifies dope peddler. Phillip Petress, 15, points to Homer Stieger in Chicago courtroom as the man who sold him two capsules of heroin. Phillip's mother and State Attorney Boyle (right) look on as new state narcotics law with heavy penalties is invoked for first time. A growing problem across the nation is dope addiction among teen-agers, aggravated by unscrupulous dope peddlers who prey upon young people.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Committee's Proposed Tax Increase Hits Lower Income Groups Hardest

TAXES ON THE LOCAL LEVEL—By July 1, or shortly thereafter, the man on Main Street is going to find himself subject to increased individual income taxes if the house ways and means committee's proposals are carried out.

In The News

Defense Secretary Marshall (top picture) continued to be of top interest in the nation's press as he told senators the home-owners don't want to expand the war in Korea...

The committee voted to increase income taxes $2,950,000,000 a year. Taxes in every bracket by 3 percentage points. For instance, a single man with net income of $2,000 a year would pay $322 in taxes instead of $280.

In the second bracket ($2,000 to $4,000), the tax would go up from 22 to 25 per cent, and in the third bracket ($4,000 to $6,000), from 26 to 29 per cent.

WHAT DOES AMERICA THINK?—From the time this nation was founded politicians have tried to keep in close contact with the home towns in an effort to know and understand what the average man is thinking.

TEAM WORK—The first thing the American youngster learns, whether he is a city boy or a small town one, is that he has to be a member of the team.

It was with some relief, therefore, that home-owners heard the news that those free nations who have been trading with Communist China had finally agreed it was time to start playing with the home team and to cut off that trade completely.

FOR HUNGRY BEEF EATERS—In an action entirely independent of the recent projected general rollback on beef prices scheduled by October 1, the government unexpectedly slashed approximately 12 cents a pound off ceiling prices of some chuck steaks and pot roasts.

In The News

Dr. Mary T. Martin Sloop (top picture), 77-year-old of Crossmore, N.C., became big news when she was named American Mother of 1951.

A SECOND ATTEMPT—While General Marshall and the joint chiefs of staff testified before congressional committees in rebuttal to earlier testimony of Gen. Douglas MacArthur on the conduct of the Korean war, North Korean and Chinese Communists were ready for a second attempt in their spring offensive.

The first attempt launched April 22, bogged down in little over a week with an estimated 75,000 casualties.

United Nations forces were ready and waiting for the new offensive, firmly entrenched and, for the first time in the war, ready with an air raid warning system.

THE PRICE IS STEEP—The weeks of futile talks in Paris by deputies of the big four foreign ministers has reaffirmed in the minds of the average home-towner the fact you can't reason with the Communists.

It is apparent that the end of the rope has been reached. The price demanded by the Reds is too high for a God fearing and freedom loving nation.

THE TALKING CONGRESS—At the moment it appears that the 82nd congress will go down in history as the talking congress, with a record of fewer laws enacted than the 80th congress which was termed the "do-nothing congress" by President Truman.

A new cow-to-can process that produces milk that tastes like bottled milk, but which can be shipped long distances without spoiling is being used by a dairy in East Standwood, Wash., and being sent to Alaska, Japan and the armed forces.

Winter Wheat Prospects Drop 44 Million Bushels

Winter wheat crop prospects were reduced another 44 million bushels during April by dry weather and insects. This decrease came on top of a cutback of 173 million bushels in the official estimate a month ago.

Debate Arms Boycott

MOST IMPORTANT diplomatic debate of the Korean war has been going on backstage at the United Nations—namely, an arms boycott of Red China.

But Stimson never could get the British, who had more at stake than we, to cooperate. When U.S. Ambassador Cameron Forbes would deliver a note of protest, the British ambassador did likewise—then dropped round to the Japanese foreign office an hour or two later to explain that Britain's note was merely to please the Americans and not to be taken seriously.

Pussyfoot No. 2 was when President Roosevelt tried to organize an economic blockade of Japan in 1936 in order to stop further aggression against China.

Pussyfoot No. 3 came when Mussolini invaded helpless Ethiopia. This was one of the crudest cases of aggression the modern world has seen, and the tottering League of Nations conscientiously tried to act.

One was the exclusion of oil. The big American and British oil companies pulled backstage wires, managed to scare British and American diplomats into permitting the continued shipments of oil to Mussolini.

Pussyfoot No. 4 is taking place right now in regard to Red China, an obvious, wanton aggressor in Korea. While the British are the worst pussyfooters, we in the U.S.A., including General MacArthur himself, have pulled our punches.

However, the flow of British goods entering China through Hong Kong is the most shocking scandal of the entire Korean war. While American lives are being snuffed out, British millionaires are being made overnight.

Yet the state department has taken no tough steps, such as a threat to cut off U.S. economic aid to Britain, as a means of stopping this trade.

Merry-Go-Round

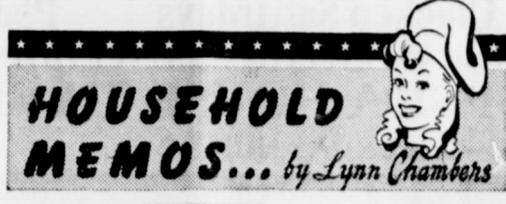

Robert Mack, a senate elevator operator, literally stepped into Senator Kefauver's shoes the other day. The Tennessee crimebuster worked so late that he had to dress for dinner in his office, bolted out the door wearing dinner dress, but brown shoes.

Chinese Give Up

It didn't get into the press communique, but a small naval task force turned back a Chinese thrust down the Korean east coast recently. The Chinese Communists sent two units to prod for a weak spot in the South Korean line that is defending the east coast.

Use Easy-Mix Recipe for Perfect Pastry (See Recipes Below)

PERFECT PASTRIES YOU MAY HAVE to be a magician to pull rabbits out of a hat, but amateurs and experienced cooks can make perfect pastry if they have the right directions!

There was a time when you had to have that certain touch to make light, fluffy, tender, melt-in-your-mouth pie crust, but all the guesswork has been taken out of pie making with recent developments.

New type pastry is made with liquid shortening and an ordinary kitchen fork. The pastry is rolled between two pieces of waxed paper, thus eliminating the need for extra flour which in the past has often toughened perfectly good pastry.

Easy-Mix Pastry (Makes 2 8 or 9-inch crusts)

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup salad oil
1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon ice water

Sift together flour and salt. Combine in a measuring cup, the salad oil and ice water. Beat with a fork until thick and creamy.

PIE FOR LUNCHEON can be an easy matter with this new type crust because it's so simple to make, so successful always.

Divide dough in half. Before rolling, shape each half with the hands into a flat round, making top and edges smooth.

Provençal Potato Pie (Serves 6) 1 1/2 medium potatoes, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 large onion, chopped, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1 recipe easy-mix pastry, 2 tablespoons butter, Few grains pepper, 1 cup light cream or top milk

LYNN SAYS: Pep Wilted Appetites With These Tempting Foods Consomme is fine served hot or cold and even more tempting when you mix together equal parts of strained clean broth and clear chicken broth.

Real flavor treat is a slice of eggplant marinated in French dressing then sprinkled with thyme and dusted with bread crumbs before broiling on both sides.

Green beans right out of the garden should be cooked until just tender. Dress them with melted butter, salt, pepper and a bit of cream.

Chicken is plentiful and you can always make curry out of the leftovers. Serve the chicken curry with fluffy rice, and pack the chutney and shredded coconut.

LYNN SAYS: Baked Bean Rarebit? Yes, it's a hearty supper dish made by melting sharp American cheese, grated, and then mixing in canned baked beans and pork.

Cattle in India India has nearly 200 million cattle (cows, bullocks and buffaloes) which are generally kept in the villages. Window Drapes An appearance of height may be given a low window by the use of vertically striped material or by extending the draperies to the floor.

Lamp Shades Wide flaring lamp shades give off more light than narrow ones with straight sides.

Farm Ownership Individuals own about 87 per cent of all farm land in the United States. This leaves only 13 per cent owned by corporations, partnerships and public agencies.

Ironing Hint Starching will cut the ironing time in half. It means that dresses, skirts, shirts, and blouses stay cleaner longer, shed dirt and dust more easily and keep that crisp look two days instead of one.

Turkeys Court Death Turkey raisers report the birds would rather stand outside and drown during a rainstorm than take shelter in sheds provided for them.

Important Discovery A new layer in the upper atmosphere has been discovered by Dr. Joseph Kaplan, physicist on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

The Magnitude of a Star The magnitude of a star is a measure of a star's brightness. The method originated in 150 B.C. with the Greek astronomer Hipparchus.
