Miss Eileen Schommer of Kewaskum, a 1951 high school graduate, was elected as Badger Fire Queen at the Badger Firemen's association tournament held in Fredonia over the weekend. She was selected by the judges in a field of 13 contestants representing an equal number of fire departments in the area. Miss Nancy Kirst of Grafton was selected as runner-up.

Candidates for queen are judged one-third on appeal and personality, one-third on appearance in the parade, and one-third on applause of the audience. The contest, held Sunday afternoon, was very close and after much debating the judges finally named Miss Schommer (not Schober) as queen. She received a noisy ovation from the huge crowd, many of whom were from Kewaskum. The queen was awarded a loving cup and other valuable prizes for the honor won. A great many pictures were taken of the queen and other contestants and they appeared in the Milwaukee dailies and many surrounding weeklies this week. Miss Schommer has been invited to appear at the Belgium firemen's picnic this Sunday.

Besides the queen, Kewaskum had a large delegation in the half-hour long parade Sunday. Miss Schommer rode in a Cadillac convertible driven by Atty. L. W. Bartlett. The local unit in march also included the Legion drum and bugle corps, baton twirlers, majorettes, fire department color guard and 16 members of the local department, spread out nearly a block in length. A total of 19 fire departments and many other units were represented.

Other girls who competed in the fire queen contest were: Mary Wickert, Barton; Joan Tesker, Fredonia; Carol Sperber, Mequon; Lorraine Isselman, Newburg; Betty Heide, Thiensville; Mary Ann Glander, Saukville; Joann Woland, Belgium; Janet Garbisch, Boltonville; Valerie Krzenski, Random Lake; Bonnie Severson, Jackson, and Donna Mae Wimmer, Cedarburg. A pre-tournament program took place Saturday evening and included water fights. The tournament and picnic took place Sunday. The day's program opened with the contests at 9 a. m. The Barton fire department won most of the events. Kewaskum did not compete in the contests this year. Features of the event were the huge parade at 1 p. m. and selection of the Badger Fire Queen. Entertainment was provided at the picnic and a dance in the evening concluded the event. A crowd estimated at better than 4,000 attended the tournament.

Prize winners in the contests and parade were as follows:

Individual ladder climbing—Ray Drickken, Barton; Jerry Vorpegel, Germantown, and M. Dickmann, Grafton, tied 8.5, 8.5; Leroy Bohn, West Bend; Lyle Butzke, Jackson, tied 8.5, 8.5; Carl Bohn, West Bend; Glen Brooker, Boltonville, tied 8.4, 8.4.

County Legion Elects Miss Bruhn Chaplain; Installation Here

At the Washington County Council meeting of the American Legion held at Allenton last Wednesday, Kurt Westenberg of the Edgar Zimmerman Post No. 321 of Germantown was elected county commander for 1952.

Other officers elected on the county council are:

Norbert Schellinger, Hartford, vice commander.

Mich. Goring, Allenton, finance officer.

Henry Illecha, West Bend, sergeant at arms.

Robert Dymale, Allenton, assistant sergeant at arms.

Elsie Bruhn, Kewaskum, chaplain.

Henry Renard, West Bend, judge advocate.

George Kolb, county council service officer.

The office of county adjutant will be by appointment by the newly elected county commander. These officers will assume their new duties after the installation ceremonies of all post and county officers which will be held at Kewaskum in September.

Among the guests at the meeting were Harry Ormsby of Cedarburg, active in rehabilitation work for the blind in his program of providing seeing-eye dogs; Don Miller, Thiensville, second district vice commander, and the newly elected second district commander, Elmer Reichwald of Thiensville, who was the main speaker for the evening and who awarded the Washington County Council American Legion traveling bowling trophy to Norbert Schellinger, post commander of the John E. Courtney Post No. 19 of Hartford, winners for the second consecutive year in the county Legion bowling tournament.

The Kewaskum Post No. 384 was awarded the attendance trophy for having the largest number of entrants in the Legion bowling tournament held at Hartford.

A resolution amending SECTION 2, ARTICLE X of the Washington County Council constitution and by-laws as submitted by Lee Goring, post commander of the Lt. Ray E. Dickson Post No. 36 of West Bend at the county council meeting at Germantown in April was voted and adopted at the county meeting last Wednesday at Allenton.

County Commander Edgar Van Beek announced at the meeting that the Washington County Council is losing Robert Furman, past post commander of the S/Sgt. Henry F. Gumm Post No. 485 of Jackson, and active Legionnaire. He is a past county commander of the county council and present chairman of the membership committee for the Department of Wisconsin. Upon motion adopted the Legionnaires of Washington county wish both Bob and Mrs. Furman best of success and health in their new permanent location to be New York.

After the meeting a fine lunch was served by the Fohl-Martin Auxiliary Unit No. 483 of Allenton.

Four Young Persons Hurt in Accident Near Village

Four young people were injured in an accident on the River road, 1 mile north of Kewaskum at about 7 p. m. Sunday. All were removed to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend. The injured included: Mary L. Gehl, 16, R. 2, West Bend, bruises and shock; Donald Kinney, 20, Racine, 15, Barton, shock and possible head injury.

The auto was traveling south when it went off the road on the left side. It traveled 255 feet with the left wheels in the ditch, crossed the road and continued 85 feet with the right wheels in the ditch, crossed the road again and rolled over in a field. A fence was ripped in the process, according to the sheriff's department.

Occupants of the car claimed that their vehicle was crowded off the road by a late model gray Nash.

Philip G. Roos, Sr., 55, R. 3, Kewaskum, luckily escaped injury Saturday evening in an accident on County Trunk D, just west of the Sky Ranch. Roos was traveling east when his car went off the road on the left side and rolled over. The vehicle broke off a telephone pole and tore down a fence.

John M. Klein, 29, Kewaskum, was involved in an accident Sunday night on Hwy. 55 and County Trunk C. His car allegedly crossed the center line and sideswiped a car driven by Melvin J. Kachelmeier, 32, Milwaukee.

Fireworks Display in Village July 3

Residents of Kewaskum and surrounding area will again be able to enjoy a grand fireworks display in the village park this year. The fireworks, sponsored jointly by the local fire department and village board, will be displayed in the village park on the night of Tuesday, July 3. A variety of beautiful displays and giant fire crackers will be touched off as soon as it is dark.

Hamburgers, soda, beer and other refreshments will be sold in the park and music will be provided. People are invited to come early, find themselves a picnic table, and remain for the fireworks. Refreshments will continue to be sold after the display.

The big crackers and artistic display will be shot off across the river from the park. This will provide those attending with a perfect view from the top and side of the hill in the park and also insure their safety. People are requested to witness the fireworks from the east side of the river and park their cars there.

Matt Pesch Dies at His Home Wednesday

Matthew Pesch, 68, retired farmer residing on Route 1, Kewaskum, passed away at his home on Wednesday, June 20, following an illness of a year.

Mr. Pesch was born Nov. 26, 1882 in Fond du Lac county and farmed in the town of Auburn about two miles north of Kewaskum most of his life. He is survived by two sisters, Miss Kathryn Pesch, who resided with him, and Anna (Mrs. Joseph Theusch) of this village. A brother, Michael Pesch, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday, June 23, at Holy Trinity church. The Rev. F. C. La Bawi will preside and interment will take place in the old parish cemetery.

MRS. ALBERT BUTZKE

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Butzke, 56, widow of Albert Butzke, who died at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday, June 20, at the home of her brother-in-law, Louis Butzke, town of Auburn, after several months of illness, will be held Saturday.

Mrs. Butzke died less than a year after her husband. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the Twohig Funeral home, Campbellsport. The body will then be taken to St. John's Lutheran church at New Fane for services at 2 p. m. The Rev. E. J. Zanow will officiate and burial be in the New Fane cemetery.

Mrs. Butzke was born Aug. 25, 1894 in the town of Auburn and was married Feb. 22, 1912, in Campbellsport reformed church. Mr. Butzke died on Dec. 11, 1950.

Surviving are a son, Lester, Eagle; two grandchildren; three brothers, William Wunder, town of Auburn, Charles, Milwaukee, Joseph, Cascade, and two sisters, Mrs. Elmer Sook, town of Auburn, and Mrs. Laona Wunder, West Bend.

SNAPPED ELECTRIC WIRES IN STORM HERE CREATE DAMAGE

Monday afternoon's electrical storm, accompanied by wind and rain, caused three electric power line wires to snap in front of the N. W. Rosenheimer property on Fond du Lac ave. Two of the "hot" wires fell into trees while the third struck the ground, burning a path in the concrete sidewalk and a hole in the earth. Fortunately no one was passing directly underneath the lines when they fell.

The live wires caused one of the trees to catch fire and several members of the local fire department stood by with the fire engine in case their services were needed. Traffic was rerouted around the block by Chief of Police Ed. Haack and Traffic Officer Forest Brown until the wires were repaired by an electric company crew. Most of the village was without light and power for a time.

BARTLET REALTY FORMS LAZY LANE FOREST LAKE ADDITION

In an arrangement consummated this spring with Leonard Raubunas, proprietor of Forest Lake resort, the Bartlett Realty Co. took over a portion of land on the south end of this resort property to form the Lazy Lane addition. Two cottages and one lot have been sold within the last month to three different Milwaukee families, Harvey Garbisch of 2230 N. 18th st., Frank Krahl of 3924 N. 47th st., and Wilbur Stork of 2325 A. North Star farm at Five more lots are presently available that are surveyed. Back lots may also be contemplated in the near future. We are informed that if present demand continues for lake lots, it is contemplated that part of the August Bartlett farm immediately adjacent may be laid out and offered for sale. We wish the Bartlett Realty Co. and any others luck who are improving business conditions by bringing more people into our community.

Sportsmen's Club to Sponsor Donkey Ball Game on Wednesday

Something out of the ordinary in the way of sport will be presented to folks of this community on the lighted Kewaskum High school athletic field next Wednesday night, June 27, when the Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's club of Kewaskum will play the Ashford Sportsmen's club in a donkey softball game. The game, sponsored by the local club, will begin at 8:00 p. m.

The contest will feature the usual thrills, spills, laughs and action by the barrel full. The game is played partially on donkeys, partially while lying flat on the ground, and partially in the conventional manner. Players assume regular positions but when the ball is hit base runners and fielders must mount their trusty (7) steeds to do the running and fielding. All in all it adds up to a lot of laughs and spills.

The equipment, which includes the donkeys, is provided by a traveling concern but from that point on the players are on their own. A man of unflinching integrity will umpire so that all thoughts of "crooked work" can be dismissed. Most of the players here will be Republicans and the donkeys are sure to have it in for them in this jacksass jamboree.

Come out and see the local Pillow Packers show off their horsemanship, or should we say jacksassmanship, against Ashford's billygoat Cushion Carriers. Advance reports are that one of the little donkeys will make even the best rider float through the air with the greatest of ease. And the one that usually goes on sidwown strikes will also be present. But that's enough—you'll have to be on hand to learn more. Bring the kids, they'll love it.

Admission for this big "serious" game will be only 25c for the youngsters and 50c for the overgrown youngsters.

Shirley Hoffman Bride of Harry Atkins June 16

In an 8 o'clock candlelight service read by the chaplain, R. Beard, in the bridegroom's home in Portland, Oregon, Saturday evening, June 16, Miss Shirley Ann Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman of Kewaskum, became the bride of Harry Jay Atkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Atkins of Portland.

The maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Patricia Atkins of Portland. The bridegroom's best man was Loran Allen, a friend, also of that city.

The bride wore a white suit and carried a bouquet of red roses and a white bible.

There was a reception immediately following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Kewaskum High school. The young couple will reside in Portland where the bridegroom is employed.

STRACHOTA-ROETTIGERS

Miss Dolores Roettigers became the bride of Warren John Strachota in a ceremony performed by the Rev. P. K. Fusch in St. Catherine's church, Milwaukee, Saturday, June 16. The bridegroom is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Val. Peters of this village, who were guests at the wedding and breakfast and reception later at the Surf, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roettigers, N. 54th Blvd., and Mr. and Mrs. John G. Strachota, N. Divorsey Blvd., are parents of the couple. Following a wedding trip to Canada, the newlyweds will reside at 1646 N. Prospect Ave.

GOTTLIEB WALZ FLIES TO GERMANY FOR VISIT

Gottlieb Walz of this village left on Tuesday morning for Germany to spend about six weeks visiting his brother and sister residing in that country. Walz flew from Billy Mitchell field, Milwaukee, to New York. From that city he flew across the ocean to Germany. He was scheduled to arrive in Germany on Friday, just three days after he left Kewaskum.

Scores last Sunday—Mequon 8, Kewaskum 6; West Bend 16, Saukville 3; Slinger 5, Cedarburg 1; Grafton 8, Barton 2.

Games this Sunday—Kewaskum at Saukville, Grafton at Mequon, Germantown at Cedarburg, West Bend at Newburg, Slinger at Barton.

The Kewaskum Chevrolets slipped to fifth place in the northern Lakes on Sunday when they suffered another setback, 5-6. Second place Mequon did the damage.

Kewaskum took a 4-1 lead in the second inning but couldn't hang onto it. A 4-run rally in the 3rd gave the visitors the advantage and later resulted in victory. The Chevrolets outhit Mequon, 12-7, but the power was lacking with men on the bases.

John Tessar went the route for the losers and struck out 9 batters but put 7 men on base via walks. This and 5 errors behind Tessar accounted for Mequon's 4 runs on only 7 hits. D. Rennieke and W. Rennieke shared the pitching duties for the visitors and fanned 7 between them. But they didn't walk a man. Mequon got 12 men on base without hits.

N. Burezyk was the big sticker for the winners with 3 for 5. Don Lutz connected safely 4 times for the home nine and Tessar garnered 2 for 3, including a double. John's brother, Wayland, first baseman, is no longer with the team.

Rosenheimer to Race in Outboard Marathon

Henry J. Rosenheimer of Kewaskum will be one of the 208 outboard drivers from 13 different states who have registered for the Sentinel-Winnepesaukee Outboard Marathon this Sunday at Neenah.

This third annual marathon will not only be 1951's largest outboard race in the country but will have one of the richest prize lists of any outboard race being staged this year. Trophies and five thousand dollars in merchandise prizes are to be awarded to the winning drivers in the six classes of the race. Headquarters will be at Riverside park in Neenah.

"Hank" Rosenheimer is not new in the race, having participated in last year's event, when he was forced out. This year Rosenheimer will use a larger boat which he hopes will stand the roughness of the water.

The race is a round trip deal, starting and finishing at Neenah. The course runs to Oshkosh on Lake Winnebago, up the Wolf River, past Winnebago to Fremont, the turn-around point. The marathon is a grueling 92 mile test. Drivers from all sections of the country, who have raced in all the big ones and know their stuff, agree that this 92 mile course is one of the toughest outboard tests imaginable.

The crowd of spectators is expected to hit 100,000 or more.

June Quota of Nine County Men Inducted

Only nine young men were sent for induction into the armed forces from the Hartford selective service office on Tuesday morning as the county quota for June. These men left for Fort Sheridan, Ill., via Milwaukee.

Inducted were: Earl Graff, R. 4, West Bend; Donald Klumb, R. 3, West Bend; Robert Kahl, R. 1, Germantown; Raymond Pumperin, R. 1, Allenton; Rubin Pfeifer, R. 3, Hartford; Robert Stephens, R. 1, Hubertus; Chester Becker, now of Milwaukee; ALLEN SCHOOPS, R. 2, KEWASKUM; James Weston, West Bend.

There will be no calls for pre-induction physicals this month.

Sixteen Fond du Lac selectees left Thursday to be inducted. The group included three from Campbellsport: Gerald A. Serwe of the village and Leo B. Thielen, Jr. and Peter C. Senn, both of Route 1.

MAYVILLE 5; KEWASKUM 2

Last Thursday night the Chevrolets played an exhibition game under the lights at Mayville of the Rock River league and were defeated, 5-2. Honeck pitched the first inning for Kewaskum and allowed 1 hit, walking none and striking out 1. Tessar hurried the rest of the game, giving up 5 hits, whiffing 7 and walking 8. Krueger pitched the whole game for the winners. He was nicked for only 5 safeties, walked but 1 and fanned 8.

Kewaskum scored both of its runs in the 7th frame. Mayville tallied 2 in the 4th, 1 in the 7th, and 2 in the 8th. Krueger and Bilgo each collected 2 of the Chev's 5 singles. Zangi and Krueger got 2 apiece for Mayville. Pitcher Krueger's blows were a triple and home run.

Organic Matter Vital To Soil Building Plan

Legumes and Grasses Are Recommended for Plan

Feed the soil so it can feed the growing crops, if you want to get high yields per acre, advises Dr. J. B. Peterson, Purdue University agronomist.

Dr. Peterson says the best way to tell what your soil needs is to study the land, its management history, its past cropping program and then have the soil tested. The soil tests will tell what fertilizer is needed and how much is required to keep the soil stocked with a well-balanced nutrient supply.

But Dr. Peterson points out that till and soil structure must be good if the plant food is to do its crop-nourishing job. Crops can starve in the midst of plenty and fertilizer can be wasted if the soil's structure is poor.

Poor soil structure shuts off drainage and ventilation. It keeps air and water out. Crop roots can't penetrate the tightly-compacted soil to reach needed nutrients.

Dr. Peterson says the best way to correct soil compaction and repair damaged structure is to add organic matter. This can be done by including well-fertilized legumes and grasses regularly in the rotation and by returning manure and crop residues to the soil. Legumes and grasses do a two-way soil building job. The deep-rooting taproots of alfalfa and sweet clover do their soil-mellowing work in the heavy subsoils. Fibrous-rooted grasses such as brome or timothy open up tough surface soils and make them granular and porous.

Good Pasture Cuts Milk, Beef Production Costs

Since the time when man first began cultivation of the earth, growing grass for pasture and hay has been one of his major projects.

Only in recent years, however, have farmers learned the importance of pasture as a way of cutting milk and beef production costs. It is becoming one of the farmers main money crops.

According to department of agriculture reports, about two-thirds of the nation's land is now in grass. And some farm experts believe a 25 per cent increase in the acreage is justified for a more efficient type of agriculture even though greater crop production has been demanded of the nation's farms.

With the nation demanding a greater production of beef, the farmer who has a good grass program will make more profit per acre in the coming year than was anticipated in 1950.

Soil Testing

An accurate and inexpensive soil testing kit, which may be obtained from local garden supply or hardware stores is now on the market. The kit contains all the solutions needed to make tests for nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. The kits come with complete easy-to-understand instructions and may prove of great value to home gardeners.

Spring Is Time to Check All First-Aid Supplies

"Be ready with gauze and first-aid remedies, Mother, lest you're caught napping in an emergency," is the advice of Miss Marguerite Briggs, family life specialist, at the University of Illinois.

Miss Briggs suggests that now is the time to check first-aid supplies, replace antiseptics and salves that have lost their strength and replenish tape and bandages to take care of the summer accidents.

Approaches for Building Rural Citizenship Told

Two approaches for the building of citizenship in rural areas were suggested recently by Knox T. Hutchinson, assistant secretary of agriculture. (1) To make it possible, through improvement in rural living, for farmers to keep fully conversant with and to help meet community problems--local, state, national and international; (2) to make rural areas attractive to young people.

Penmanship Isn't Such a Lost Art, Survey of Teachers Shows

Apparently the quality of American school children's handwriting has not fallen victim to the "rush of our times" and outside interests and distractions, after all.

A survey among 5,000 grade and high school principals across the nation turned up a vote of nearly two to one that today's youngsters write as well as or better than those of a generation ago. The Sheaffer pen company, that made the survey, said the actual balloting was 64.4 per cent to 35.6. Most of the principals credited improved teaching methods and more widespread use of good writing equipment for the fact that penmanship has "survived" as well as it has despite crowded curriculums and less time for instruction.

The widely held notion that basic arts like reading, writing and spelling have been shamefully neglected in this mechanized age is well refuted—so far as penmanship is concerned—by results of the poll. However, the minority of principals who feel handwriting has declined is so sizable and in many cases so emphatic as to leave no doubt that there's still lots of room for improvement.

BEARING OUT this observation was the high school principals verdict that only about two-thirds of their students have a "satisfactory" handwriting by the time they graduate.

Grade school principals voted about two to one that children "learn to write more easily" nowadays. Use of the "manuscript" form of writing—taught in about 95 per cent of the schools in the first two or three grades—was given much of the credit for this, along with more general use of good equipment.

The survey showed that quality of handwriting has an influence upon the marks children get in school. Among grade school principals, 89.9 per cent said "good handwriting helps produce good marks," and among high school heads the count was almost the same, 89.6 per cent.

The most commonly indicated reasons among those who think today's handwriting is better were: improvement of teaching methods, more widespread use of good writing equipment, and the respondents' own disinclination to glorify "the good old days."

However, there is a sizeable minority of principals—35.6 per cent—who feel that the handwriting of their present pupils is worse than that of their forebears.

The manuscript form of writing (like lower-case printing) is now taught almost universally in the early grades. A change is usually made to cursive (conventional writing) at the third or fourth grade.

Chocolate Now Goes To War For Taste and Tonic

Washington, D.C. — Chocolate is once again at the forefront as a diet super-charger for the American soldier fighting in winter-bound North Korea.

The popular energy food is considered so important to the G.I. that it is now included in every operational ration issued by the Department of Defense.

Food Packet Survival Arctic, for example, provides no less than four chocolate bars—two with almonds—per man per day. Soldiers going to the front lines for eight to ten hours are issued two one-ounce bars in their Food Packet Individual Assault Ration C—the basic canned operational ration—offers both chocolate and cocoa disks.

Three-fourths of the candy component in the 5-in-1 Ration, designed for group use, contains chocolate, while the Ration Supplement Sundries Pack, for 100 men, includes 200 two-ounce chocolate and 48 two-ounce chocolate-covered bars.

The fighting man in Korea is not only getting a dose of energy with his chocolate but something tasty as well. This was not entirely true during World War II, despite the fact that millions of chocolate bars were consumed across the globe in the form of Emergency Ration D. This ration—containing four ounces of chocolate and some 600 calories—was designed especially to taste "no better than an unsalted baked potato" in order to keep the G.I. from eating it as candy.

Today, the army's new chocolate policy is to give the men the nourishing food in the form of sweets they have eaten and enjoyed since they were kids. In encouraging the use of chocolate the military may well be remembering the words of the Spanish explorer, Cortez, who wrote in the 16th century, "A single cup of this rich drink gives a man sufficient strength to march all day."

A room that is inclined to be dark and rather gloomy can be given a sunny aspect by painting the walls a pale tint of yellow. A ceiling painted white will reflect the maximum light that falls upon it. In one such room, the wood-trim was coated in a gray-lavender tone and draperies were a silvery gray. The upholstery combined blue-green and gray and tangerine-toned accessories added gayety and life to the room's decoration.

"Hush-A-Bye, Baby" is the theme song in the home of an Oriental silk farmer when his silkworms begin to spin their cocoons. The family talks in whispers and walks on tiptoe, for silkworms will cease the spinning process when frightened. Many silk raisers share their homes with the productive little moth larvae.

Star Dust
STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

BEN GRAUER, in nearly 21 years of radio, has built up a terrific list of famous friends who have always wanted to do something for him. They got their chance when Ben started his new daytime show, "Ben Grauer's Footlights and Klieglights"—practically every star in show business clamored for a chance to appear for nothing.

BEN GRAUER

Among the first were Ed Wynn, Oscar winner Jose Ferrer, Ralph Bellamy, Edward Everett Horton, Victor Moore, Robert Sterling, Susan Douglas, Arthur Treacher, Barbara Bel Geddes and William Eythe. Thousands of dollars would have been paid out for guest shows if they'd worked for money.

Jackie Keik, squeak-voiced Homer of "The Aldrich Family," is in a dither these days getting his Poundridge, New York, farm in readiness for a Paramount camera crew. Scenes will be made there for "Burning Orchard."

Jack Benny will return to the screen after seven years absence in "Somebody Loves Me." He will play himself, as he was in the days when he was a vaudeville star, often sharing star billing with Blossom Seeley, whose life story this is.

Robert Young, who has won innumerable awards for his "Father Knows Best" radio program, took his youngest daughter Kathleen to Warner Brothers as a fifth birthday celebration to watch him working with Joan Crawford in "Goodbye My Fancy." She had a lovely day, just loved playing with Miss Crawford's poodle. She paid very little attention to her father, or Miss Crawford, though the dog was almost as nice as her pets at home.

THE FICTION CORNER

MY MISTAKE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

MRS. LUTHER was very smug. "Of course, darling, I know how happy and thrilled you are at being married. Phil is a nice boy. Dear me, I remember when Alvin and I were first married. I was just the same." Mrs. Luther sighed. "The illusions of youth. Dear me."

3-Minute Fiction

Beth Franklin tried hard to maintain a role of gracious hostess. "Were your illusions shattered, Mrs. Luther?"

"Shattered?" Mrs. Luther laughed and suddenly looked wise. "Well, yes, I suppose they were. For I did have illusions about my husband, darling, just as you have about your Phil. And then—" Mrs. Luther's lips tightened—"he strayed."

"How dreadful!"
 "Not dreadful, darling—fortunate. Oh, my yes. You see, Dave, my husband, is not naturally a woman chaser. He was frightfully upset and shamed. He promised to do anything if I'd only not leave him. To this day Dave is repentant. He'll do anything I ask. He is humble and grateful, and I declare I think I have the best husband in the world."

"I suppose it was fortunate, wasn't it?"

Mrs. Luther leaned toward her young hostess. "So fortunate, my dear, that I wish others could benefit by the same experience. Your Phil is very handsome, and Gretchen Carter is very beautiful." She smiled. "Well, darling, I simply must be going."
 Beth sat down at a window, cupped her chin in her hand and stared out at the rain. "Gretchen Carter is very beautiful." What had Mrs. Luther meant? Mrs. Luther was bitter and disillusioned. . . . Poor Dave Luther. How dreadful it must be to be constantly under suspicion.

The orchestra swung into a foxtrot. Beside her, Tom Craig said: "My dance, Beth?"

TWO weeks later the Hempton Country Club held its annual spring opening ball. Phil and Beth went with the Craigs. En route, Dorothy Craig said mischievously; "Keep your eye on that handsome husband of yours tonight, Beth. They tell me Gretchen Carter has bought the most seductive gown. . . ."

Beth laughed. She strove for and maintained an attitude of indifference. Even later when she saw Gretchen Carter, blonde and gorgeous in a white, filmy gown that was truly seductive, she would not admit that what Mrs. Luther or Dorothy had said was affecting her peace of mind.

She danced the first dance with Phil and then, conscious of Mrs. Luther watching her from across the room, conscious of Dorothy Craig's mischievous glance, she deliberately ignored her husband.

It was quite by accident that toward the middle of the evening she saw Phil slip through the French doors out on to the terrace. Or was it accident? Certainly it wasn't accident that sent her eyes sweeping around the room till they found Gretchen Carter.

And then her heart stood still. Gretchen was moving toward the same French doors.

The orchestra swung into a foxtrot. Beside her, Tom Craig said: "My dance, Beth?"

"No," she said. "No, Tom, I've got a headache. . . . Excuse me, please." And she moved away, swiftly, blindly. Without consciously establishing a destination, she made her way out on to the terrace, stood there in the dim light.

Abruptly she saw them—two figures silhouetted against the sky at the far end of the terrace standing close together.

Reason left her. Logic fled. Seized by an uncontrollable fury, conscious only of one desire—the desire to wreak vengeance on this woman who had robbed her of her faith, she sped along the terrace, cried out in sudden anguish and flung herself toward the filmy white dress and startled face of Gretchen.

As from a great distance she heard a masculine exclamation, saw a face in the dim light—and suddenly it was as if an icy cloak had engulfed her and was holding her close. For the face of the man who had been standing with his arm about Gretchen Carter was that of Dave Luther.

MacArthur Testimony Advises Stalin of Our Fear

By Wright A. Patterson

EVERY ONE—of both officers and enlisted personnel of the armed services of the United States—owe to the nation first allegiance over anything they may owe to any other superior or to themselves.

That is a part of the rigid training they undergo and it continues throughout their career in the armed services. In the final analysis, the United States is congress. It is not the President.

That was the basic argument of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a general of the army, in his insistence in placing his views in opposition to those in higher authority.

He was exercising his training he had received as an officer in the army. He recognized, not the President, but only congress as the top authority. That was as he had been taught.

It was that final decision, as to what was best for the interests of the United States in the far east, that Gen. MacArthur forced his convictions to the point where they would receive the attention of congress, and congress only should make the decision.

The investigation by a senate committee was for the purpose of providing the facts that congress, including the senate, might have the information needed in making such a decision. Gen. Bradley, in refusing to answer any question the committee might ask him, violated his allegiance to the nation, and placed himself in contempt of congress, a situation from which he was relieved by a ruling of the chairman and later by a vote of the members of the committee.

Had the question been asked of the President, the only legal reason he could have given for not answering would be that to do so truthfully might incriminate himself.

The committee was attempting to ascertain the reasons for, and the methods used, in firing MacArthur. There are innumerable rumors in Washington of the existence of a feud in the high command that dates back to when MacArthur was chief of staff of the army, and stopped, for a time, the advancement of Marshall, with some like incident in the case of Bradley.

The committee was trying to find out if these incidents had any connection with the firing of MacArthur and opposition to the MacArthur views of the far eastern situation. As to his reason for the firing of MacArthur, the President in a statement, not under oath, said the letter written to Representative Martin had nothing whatever to do with it. Marshall had testified earlier that it had. Which is right?

MacArthur's action was for the purpose of best serving the national interests, but what was started in that spirit has degenerated into a partisan political quarrel, both parties attempting to make political capital out of the investigation.

The only purpose it has served is to advise Stalin of our fears, and our disunity. There was no possibility of good, but there was a possibility of additional harm, and it is time the investigation stopped.

MacArthur is out. Continuing the investigation would not put him back in Japan. He will remain a five star general of the army. Congress named him that, and congress, not the President is supreme. Congress, not the President, is the United States. Next to congress, the people will decide. They are the real commander-in-chief.

When you make an estimate on the results of the November, 1942 elections, do not forget that there are considerably more than two million voters on the federal payrolls. These two million, plus another two million relatives and friends, will vote the way personal, rather than national, interests dictate. It is natural to consider one's bread and butter as of first importance. That is the "why" of the army of bureaucrats. They represent four million votes. Count them for the "ins."

At the meat markets in my town there has been no reductions in prices at the retail level. How about it in your town? Was that meat price reduction all talk with no action?

The reduction the farmer took on his meat animals has not reached the demanding consumer. So far he has only a promise.

Remembered His Hair Cut; Is Trimmed for $1,500 Sum

LAYTONVILLE, Cal.—Bud Harwood didn't forget to get a haircut recently, but he wishes he had. He got clipped for $1,500. Harwood told the sheriff's office that he entered the shop and left that sum of money, intended for the employees of his store, on a nearby chair while getting his locks trimmed. When he remembered it a half hour after leaving the shop, he dashed back. But the cash was gone.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

A Need Must Be Realized by Everyone Before the Work Is Begun to Meet It

In a certain small American town there was neither a library nor a recreation program. While this, of itself, is not exactly an unusual state of affairs, it was deeply deplored by one wealthy citizen who felt that a great need existed for those services.

Taking action on his own, he donated to the town an attractive building designed to serve as a community center and a library. He had seen a need and had acted to the best of his ability to correct it. Most laudable. But what, really, did he succeed in doing?

FEATURE

His project went unhonored, unsung — and unused. Ten years later the building still stood idle except for an occasional club meeting. As a library, it contained no books save a few dusty donations from attics, which no one read. A piano was there, but nobody played it.

The various social factions in the community continued to go their own ways, and no "community program" had developed. The community center was but a husk of an ideal. It had no meaning within itself and conveyed none to the local people who had been expected to use it.

Knowledge, as the old maxim would have it, may be power, but it is an aimless power that may be readily dispersed to nothingness unless it is buttressed by feeling and understanding. So with developing community projects.

In this particular community the need for a recreation program might have indeed been there, but the people of the town didn't realize it. A few persons, perhaps, but not the big majority.

"You must let people know (about their community's needs) in such a way as to make them care. Knowledge of needs does not necessarily bring action. There must be enough feeling in the situation to make people want to do something before even the most careful study can bring results." That quote is from the University of Virginia extension division bulletin "So You're Planning a Project," which continues with a contrasting tale of how a public library was established in the small city of Harrisonburg, Va.

"It came into being after the citizens had felt and continuously reiterated the need. 'We need a public library' was expressed in conversations, in club meetings, in essay contests, in letters to the editor. The expression was followed by a mass meeting and the forming of a library association.

"These people began with a desire for books rather than with a building. Twenty years later they have a fine regional library. One citizen out of every ten in Harrisonburg and the two surrounding counties is an active borrower.

"The process of studying needs, analyzing resources, and letting people know may take more time than you think you have. Yet it will save time in the long run because it sets in motion a continuing process that gains momentum through its own progress.

"Widespread participation in planning is extremely important to community improvement. Belief in the democratic way of life commits us to this. But from a purely selfish point of view, the initiator of a program needs to seek such participation. Participation in planning is the best insurance of cooperation in carrying out the plans."

In other words, if everybody wants to get in on the act, let him. That way there will be a better chance that the act will be a hit.

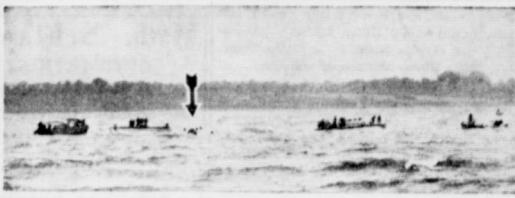

"Wise planning also provides for careful consideration of the total community. What at first glance seemed a desirable project, might look quite different when considered in relation to the whole of which it is to be a part.

"The best interests of the total community must never be sacrificed to an immediate selfish objective, such as winning for your group a prize offered for community improvement. The welfare of the community must take precedence over the aggrandizement of any one agency, institution, organization, or individual. The person, club, or agency that honestly believes this stands ready to sacrifice the desire for immediate credit, strong in the faith that it will find a much more abundant life in the better community it has helped to create."

Whatever you do, you need courage. Whatever course you decide upon, there is always someone to tell you you are wrong. There are always difficulties arising which tempt you to believe that your critics are right. To map out a course of action and follow it to an end, requires some of the same courage which a soldier needs. Peace has its victories, but it takes brave men to win them.

—Emerson

RESCUE . . . Newport, R. I., harbor is scene of life saving operation.

EMBARRASSED . . . Rocco Fischetti of Chicago, Ill., pal of the late Al Capone, attempts to shield his face from the camera shortly before testifying at a closed door senate crime committee hearing on Chicago rackets and gambling.

ADONIS OFF TO BIG HOUSE . . . Joe Adonis (left), racket king, who was sentenced to from two to three years for violating New Jersey's gambling laws, enters a deputy's car for the trip to the state prison to begin serving his sentence. The hatless man in rear is James "Piggy" Lynch, who was sentenced with Adonis. In addition to the prison term, Adonis was fined $15,000. This is the first time in jail for the racket boss.

EAST MEETS WEST . . . Red dominated East Germany and anti-Red West Germany are represented by Kurt Edel (left) and Karl Von All (right) of West, as they get together to sign an agreement to send one delegation to represent all of Germany in the Olympic games at Helsinki in 1952. President of the United States Olympic committee is signing the agreement made by the two representatives of areas that can't seem to agree on anything else.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR IKE . . . The first member of the first contingent of the U.S. fourth division is about to step off the gangplank at Bremerhaven, Germany, as the first reinforcements for the western European defense army of General Dwight Eisenhower arrives from the United States. The G. I. looks as if he is about to run into tough opposition all at once. Actually, he and his fellows were given a cordial welcome by French General Juin, commander of land forces.

FIGHTS FOR CHILDREN . . . The former Peggy Boyce Thompson Schultz, who recently married tenor Morton Downey (left), enters New York supreme court to fight suit by her "ex," Polish Prince Alexander Hohenlohe, for partial custody of their two children. She charged that the prince is unfit to have custody of the two children who were born of her 10 years of marriage with Prince Alexander, Attorney for Mrs. Downey, Arthur Stryker, is at right with briefcase.

SCIENCE FOR ROMANCE . . . Mrs. Clark Gable plans cruise to Hawaii with Mrs. George Vanderbilt and Mrs. Charles Howard. It will be a scientific fishing expedition. Mrs. Gable recently filed suit for divorce from her husband and Mr. Gable filed countersuit.

SECRET WEAPON . . . Could be that bats of Cal Abrams, hitting around .463, are keeping the Dodgers going in their pace-setting in the National League this year. His average topped big leagues when this picture was snapped recently.

JET ACE TELLS STORY . . . Capt. James Jabara, Wichita, first jet ace by virtue of his fifth and sixth "kills" in Korea recently, addresses newsmen at a press conference in the Pentagon. He said the MIG-15 is as good as the F-86 as a combat airplane.

JUNE BRIDE . . . Myrna Loy became the bride of Howland Sargeant, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs, at the army chapel at Ft. Meyer, Va., recently. They will make their home in Georgetown, Va.

Johnston Urges Strong Price Laws; Price War Confined to Large Cities

BUSINESS AS USUAL—For some time the home town has been uneasy over the nation's economic outlook...

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston's charge that the nation is sitting on an "economic time bomb" that may explode into runaway inflation...

Noted for speaking his mind, Johnston said that "business as usual" has an ominous ring to me at a time when men are dying in battle in Korea for a free way of life...

Shortly before making these statements Johnston proposed a new wage formula pegging pay ceiling to living costs and permitting for millions of workers an immediate boost ranging up to 12 1/2 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

The belief is becoming more universal that the government must take a firmer stand and congress must enact stricter laws governing prices and wages...

SWEET MUSIC—And while home towners tried to understand statements from Washington on the economic situation, the average small town resident read of reports from New York, Oklahoma City, and Atlanta of red-hot price cutting wars following the supreme court fair trade decision...

Tens of thousands of gleeful shoppers—men and women—rushed wildly through New York bargain basements in search for nationally advertised goods that had been marked down...

Trade sources, also, pointed out that the price-war was not likely to spread because most home town merchants signed fair trade contracts...

HOW CLOSE TO WAR?—The man on Main Street, who never knows all the facts, received a shock that sent a shiver of fear down his back as the MacArthur hearing continued in Washington...

KETTLE MORAINÉ 4-H CLUB NEWS

The meeting of the Kettle Moraine 4-H club was called to order by Ronald Bales, the president. The sergeant at arms led the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. The opening song was "Song of the Open Country." The roll call was musical instruments. The treasurer's report was read by Ronald Petermann.

There have been different committees appointed. On the club tour are Norman Heberer, Carl Haack and Ronald Petermann. On the picnic committee are Joanne Ferber, Alice Odekirk, Otto Bartelt and Maynard Bartelt. On the initiation committee are Rachel Petermann and Janice Bartelt. The picnic is planned for July 22, and will be held at Odekirk's cottage, after which the club will go on a tour to see the different projects.

Rachel Petermann gave a demonstration on how to shorten or lengthen a pattern. Ronald gave a demonstration on the different kinds of nails and their purposes. The meeting was then adjourned until next month.

There are about six from our club who are giving demonstrations on July 13 at the contest at Fond du Lac.

Alice Odekirk and Rachel and Ronald Petermann are delegates to attend the 4-H camp at Pine Lake.

There have been group meetings for those taking different projects. A meeting for those taking sewing was held at the home of Marleen Reysen. Mrs. Buslaff gave pointers on what to look for in selecting our clothes. There was a meeting for those taking food preservation and foods and nutrition. It was held at the home of Janice Butzke. Reporter, Eleanor Odekirk

Farm land prices in the United States have advanced to an all-time high. They are now 14 per cent above prices of 12 months ago.

Approximately 1500 Wisconsin boys and girls are competing in a statewide hybrid corn growing contest for the first time this year.
