

Kewaskum Teams in Lakes, Rivers Loops; 31 Teams Open Nov. 25

Thirty-one teams were represented at the final reorganization meeting of the Land o' Lakes and Rivers basketball league last week. There will be northern and southern divisions in both leagues. Kewaskum will again have teams in the northern divisions of the Lakes and Rivers. Opening tilts will be played on Sunday, Nov. 25.

Each division in the Lakes will have nine teams, an odd number. Opening games are Rosendale at West Bend, Campbellsport at Waupun, Cedarburg at Horicon, and Hartford at Grafton. Kewaskum is the bye team on opening night and will play Pewaukee, bye team of the southern division, in the local gym.

Opening tilts in the southern division are Waukesha Badgers at Hartland, Mukwonago at Sussex, Lannon at Lake Geneva, Waukesha Zillmers at North Lake.

The ninth teams in each division will play each other in order that all teams will play at least one game each week end. The schedule calls for 16 games and with a home and away game with the bye team in the other division a total of 13 contests will be listed.

Many of the teams will play Land o' Rivers preliminary games as the northern loop has Slinger, West Bend, Horicon, Kewaskum, Cedarburg, Grafton, and Mequon listed. In the southern area Merton, Pewaukee, Hartland, Sussex, North Lake, and Dousman.

The Hartland Lions are the defending grand champions in the Lakes loop and West Bend Boosters and Cedarburg Legion divisional champs. Sussex won the Rivers grand championship and will move up into the Lakes this year. Kewaskum Honecks and Hartland Merchants, the division pennant winners, will be back to defend titles.

Managers in the northern Lakes are West Bend, Ralph Klein, temporarily; Waupun, Bill Kresbach; Rosendale, Oliver Nohring; Horicon, Arthur Backus; Hartford, Irv La Bue; Kewaskum, Kilian Honeck; Grafton, Norman Papp; Cedarburg, Dick Peterson; Campbellsport, Dick Koenigs.

All Lakes referees attended a clinic conducted by Joe Conway, Big Ten official, at Oconomowoc on Nov. 13. Coach Bud Foster and Wisconsin players gave demonstrations of rules interpretations.

Break Into Home, Find Woman With Broken Hip

Mrs. Ida Demarest, elderly woman who resides alone in her home on So. Fond du Lac ave., was found on the floor of her house Wednesday after she suffered a fractured hip in a fall and was unable to help herself. The doors of her home were locked and police had to force open a door to gain entrance.

Mrs. Demarest had a visitor Tuesday night and she was all right when the party left. It is reported that a neighbor woman noticed that her light was turned on all night. She became worried the next day and went to the Demarest home. She found the doors locked and called Chief of Police Ed. Haack. He broke in the door and found Mrs. Demarest on the floor. It is believed she had been lying there all night and throughout the morning.

The fire department ambulance was summoned and Mrs. Demarest was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, where she is now confined.

LOCAL HOME SOLD, TWO FAMILIES, COUPLES MOVE

Frederick Howe has purchased the Ray Maefke home on North Fond du Lac ave., which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kraft and family. The Kraft family moved to Fond du Lac. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hafemann and daughter moved from the Charles Jandre home on East Water st. into the upper apartment of the Mrs. John P. Schaefer home on West Water st.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Veens on Saturday moved from the Louis Schaefer home on North ave. into the former Walter Schmitz home on Elm st., which the Van Veens purchased recently. Mr. and Mrs. Alois Staehler, Jr. moved Sunday from the Paul Belger home in the Stark addition into the Schaefer house vacated by the Van Veens.

HOLIDAY POST OFFICE HOURS

There will be no window service at the post office on Thursday, Thanksgiving day. Only one mail will be received and that is on train 217 due here at 5:10 a. m. No mail will be dispatched, no rural delivery. The lobby will remain open until 6 p. m. for the benefit of lock box patrons.

Miss Irene Kutz Wed to Sgt. Wahnschaffe

In a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Gerhard Kaniess in the St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran church at 2:00 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 10, Miss Irene M. Kutz, daughter of Mrs. Lorena Dettman of this village, became the bride of Sgt. John H. Wahnschaffe, son of Mrs. Herman Wahnschaffe, R. 1, Loomira. The bride was presented in marriage by her uncle, Herbert Holder.

The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and mums for the ceremony. During the service the choir of the church sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with long tapered sleeves and a fitted bodice. Shirred lace edged the sheer yoke and full skirt of the gown had a full skirt which cascaded into a fan train. Her matching illusion veil fell softly from a hand beaded tiara. She carried red roses, white pompons and asters with streamers. The bride was presented with a matching rhinestone necklace and matching bracelet and earrings.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Harold Bath of Kewaskum. She was attired in a gown of shirred satin styled with a net yoke trimmed with lace, Peter Pan collar, and gathered lace at the neckline. She wore a satin and net headpiece and her flowers were orchid chrysanthemums and mums tied with a shirred satin ribbon. The bridesmaids, Misses Shirley Otto and Shirley Kohler, wore sky blue satin gowns identical to that worn by the honor attendant. They also wore satin and net headpieces and carried yellow pompons and chrysanthemums tied with blue satin ribbons. Miss Joan Heider, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a white frock, identical to those of the bridesmaids. Her flowers were like those of the bride. All of the attendants received rhinestone necklaces as gifts from the bride.

The bridegroom's brother, Allen Wahnschaffe, was his best man. Other attendants were Frank Kutz, brother of the bride, and Richard Stern, cousin of the bride. Wilbert Kutz, brother of the bride, and Norman Riess, friend of the bridegroom, ushered.

A reception and dance were held at Forest Lake resort following the ceremony.

The bride had been employed at the Badger Meter Mfg. Co. at Brown Deer prior to her marriage. Her husband was stationed in Alaska and will now report at Fort Knox, Ky. The bride will reside at the home of her mother for a few weeks and later will leave for Fort Knox to join Sgt. Wahnschaffe.

DEER HUNTERS HEAD FOR THE NORTH; OPENING SATURDAY

The advance guard of the army of deer hunters began leaving Thursday for the north woods for the opening of the deer season on Saturday. A number of Kewaskum hunters took off on Thursday and we noted that traffic on Hwy. 45-55 was heavier than usual with most of the cars bearing red capped and red coated men. But the main force of hunters moved through here on Friday when traffic was heavy on all highways leading north.

The usual large number of local hunters left for deer country. Three to six inches of snow fell over most of the north on Wednesday, making some back woods roads impassable, but benefiting the hunting.

CONGRESSMAN VAN PELT TO CONDUCT COUNTY MEETING

Congressman Wm. K. Van Pelt of Fond du Lac has arranged a series of "Meet Your Congressman" meetings in the sixth district. One of these meetings will be held in the court house, West Bend, on Wednesday, Nov. 28, from 10:00 a. m. to noon and from 2:00 p. m. until 4:00 p. m. Mr. Van Pelt is anxious to meet the people of Washington county to discuss with them their problems as it affects Congress. His purpose in these meetings is to "bring the office closer to the people" and it is hoped that many Washington county people will take advantage of this opportunity to "Meet Your Congressman." 11-16-51

Mrs. Koch Christmas Seal Sale Chairman

Mrs. Harry E. Koch was named chairman of Kewaskum's 1951 Christmas seal sale, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association announced this week.

Official dates for this 45th annual Yuletide campaign are from Nov. 15 until Christmas.

This once-a-year sale finances the year-round tuberculosis education and prevention program of the WATA.

One of the seal's biggest jobs is education according to Dr. A. A. Pleyte, director of the WATA's medical department. "It is not enough for physicians and public health nurses to know the means of fighting tuberculosis he said. 'The general public must learn that TB is communicable, preventable and curable, at the disease is to be controlled.'

Besides its educational work, the WATA carries on X-ray clinics to find the early and undiscovered cases of TB which expose others to infection. The WATA also helps patients to obtain sanatorium care and aids them to prepare for a self-supporting life when they are discharged.

"Wisconsin people have backed us for more than 40 years in carrying on these services," stated Miss Loraine Noll, state seal sale chairman. She urged everyone to contribute to the fight against TB. "Buy Christmas seals," she said, "and support your seal manager in her voluntary work toward better health in your community."

Magazine Publishes Story Written by Local Pupils

This office has been mailed a copy of the November issue of Badger History, a magazine published monthly by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, which contains a feature story about Chief Kewaskum written by Carole M. Harbeck and Ariene Backhaus. The article was written by Carole and Ariene two years ago, when the former was a sixth grade pupil and Ariene an eighth grade pupil in Holy Trinity school here. Both were members of the Badger club of the school. The magazine also shows a sketch of Chief Kewaskum, with accompanying Indian arrows.

The story written by Carole and Ariene was published as follows:

"Although we know very little about Chief Kewaskum, we have found a few facts about this great Indian.

Settlers of West Bend in 1835 left records telling of an Indian camp of considerable size near Silver Lake. Fred Hecker, an early settler of Hartford, was on terms of close friendship with the chief. In 1844 the chief's camp was located on the east shore of Pike Lake, near Hartford, in Washington county.

Records left by the Potawatomi tell of a place called Indian Hill near Kewaskum. Their chiefs' wigwam lay on the summit of this hill protected from rough winds by a rocky hollow.

The grave of Chief Kewaskum was believed to be in the vicinity of Indian Hill, although it was never actually found as far as inhabitants can remember. He was supposedly buried in what is now the South Side park along the Milwaukee River in Kewaskum. But where it is to be found is a mystery since after his death his braves were said to have come during the night and buried him in a spot away from the eyes of the white man.

"Although Chief Kewaskum has long since gone to the happy hunting grounds his memory lives on in the town named after him—Kewaskum, platted in 1849."

Mary Tuohy Ryan, editor of Badger History, added the following comment to the girls' story:

"The well known historian, W. A. Titus, wrote on page 251 in the Wisconsin Magazine of History, volume 10, 'Kewaskum died about 1857 in his cabin on Mud Lake in southern Dodge county, and was buried on an island in Rock River four miles north of Hustisford. A thriving village in Washington county perpetuates his name, Badgers, would you like to do some more investigating please?'"

"Carole and Ariene are Badgers of Holy Trinity school, Kewaskum. This junior chapter writes 'Everyone finds the Badger History very interesting. We are trying to find information on our little village which could be published. In our quest we find Kewaskum particularly rich in the remains of Indians. We hope by our accomplishments to express the gratitude we feel to the State Historical Society for our Badger History magazines.'"

LINDA MAE BAPTIZED

Linda Mae was the name given to the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Giese, R. 2, Campbellsport, on Sunday, Nov. 11, in the Evangelical Reformed church, Campbellsport, when she was baptized by the Rev. Leonard Stockmeier, Arthur Boyke, Fond du Lac, and Miss Dorothy Hoffman, Kewaskum, were sponsors.

60th Anniversary is Observed by St. Lucas Ladies' Aid Society

Nov. 4, 1951, marked a festive occasion for the St. Lucas Ladies' Aid society. It was on that day in the year 1891 that a group of women banded themselves together and formed what is known as "The St. Lucas Ladies' Aid society."

To commemorate the occasion, the society, as a group, assembled for the morning divine service on the 11th of November and together with the congregation sang hymns of thanks and praise. The service throughout was a jubilee service. At noon members and their families, numbering 141, partook of a delicious duck dinner in the church parlors. This dinner was prepared by the ladies and served by their sons and daughters. Donald Harbeck sang two solos, "Where 'Er You Walk" and "The Hills of Home." Community singing was led by Pastor Kaniess, who also served as toastmaster. The following history, compiled from the records of the society, was read by the secretary, Mrs. G. Kaniess:

While reading through the records of the old minutes of the St. Lucas Ladies' Aid society, many interesting items came to light. Nevertheless the purpose of the society through all of the 60 years remained the same, namely, "To help in the furtherance of the Kingdom of God and the spreading of joy and happiness among the poor and needy."

Thus on the 4th of November, 1891, a group of 13 women banded themselves together and formed what is known as the St. Lucas Aid society. These women met every other month in the parsonage, namely the months of February, April, June, August, October, and December. They paid bi-monthly dues of 25 cents. The first president was a Mrs. F. Jacobitz, and the first treasurer a Mrs. C. Miritz. The first recording of a donation was in 1892 and that for a carpet on the pulpit for which they paid 65 cents.

The other donation was for the sewing building and amounted to $5.00. According to the records it seems that at every December meeting for the next few years, they gave all they owned to some charitable cause.

In 1895, $5.00 went to a congregation in Sawyer, Door county; $12.90 went to our seminary.

In 1894, our college in Watertown got $5.00; the poor in Phillips got $3.25; the Indian Mission $10.00.

In 1895, the congregation in Caladonia, Minnesota, got $5.00; the Children's Home in Wittenberg, Wis. got $5.15; Indian Mission $10.00; Synods Colleges $10.75.

In 1896, Children's Home in Wittenberg $5.00; Synods Colleges $24.00.

In 1897, our College in Watertown Wis. $29.75.

In 1898, they had other plans for their donations. They took the $24.50 and presented this amount to Rev. Greve and his wife, so that they could furnish the parsonage. It would be very interesting to know just how far that amount of money went for furnishings, but there is no record of it.

In 1900, the church was in need of carpeting. (This was the old church.) So the ladies got busy, and this is the way they got the necessary $45.25 to gether quite interesting:

$11.25 came from the treasury; $15.05 were donations from the various ladies of the congregation, not connected with the Ladies' Aid; $19.95 came from the Sunday collection fund; $7.25 came from individual church members.

This total of $45.25 bought not only the carpeting around the altar, but also the aisle runners, plus the altar coverings with fringes.

The treasurer had a notation at the bottom of this expense account—August 1st, (everything paid).

Up until the year 1904 the treasury money regularly and yearly with the one exception went for benevolent purposes, but in November, 1904, they decided to bank their money. They had $219.00 in the bank. They had a reason for this. They were saving so that they could purchase the altar, pulpit and the statue for the new church that was being built. When this project was completed, they paid $368.00 for it. This is the altar, pulpit and statue which we have in our church today.

Another big project undertaken by the Ladies Aid was the wiring of the parsonage. This they did in February, 1920. It was wired at an expense of $125.00—just for comparison—$70.00 for wiring, $55.00 for light fixtures and $6.00 for light bulbs. Some of the wiring is still in use, some had to be replaced. The fixtures in two upstairs bedrooms and the hallway are still the original ones.

In December of 1932 we again drained our treasury. Our congregation purchased the new pipe organ. We as an aid gave all we had, namely $742.72 to the congregation. They in turn used it with the Sunday collection fund to pay for the organ.

DP's From Roumania Arrive in Kewaskum

The newest arrivals in Washington county under the United States Displaced Persons act are the families of Michael Steger of Roumania and Jackie Tomyk of Poland. They arrived in West Bend last week.

Michael Steger, his wife, Rosine, and their son Michael, Jr. were sponsored by Arthur C. Doms, R. 2, Kewaskum, a farmer. Mr. Tomyk, his wife, Maria, and their son Josef were sponsored by Ernest Pfister, owner of the Barton bakery. Tomyk is a baker and will work in the bakery. The family was born in a DP camp.

These displaced persons left Europe on a ship with 1,200 other DP's. They arrived in New Orleans last week Tuesday and from there traveled by train.

House Moved to Make Room for New Honeck Addition

The former Mrs. Anna Becker home on Fond du Lac ave., which was purchased by K. A. Honeck, Jr., was moved on Thursday of this week from its location adjoining the Honeck Chevrolet garage to the Roseland Heights addition one-half block west. There the house will be set up on Honeck's lot next to the Ray St. Mary home.

The moving was done by George Ehlbecker, Oshkosh contractor, and his crew of men, who have been working on the house for some time, making it ready to move. Honeck will build an addition to his garage building on the lot he vacated.

The house was mounted on rubber-tired wheels for the moving. A workman assisting with the job was injured Thursday morning when he was accidentally struck by a cable. The cable caught on the bumper of a passing truck, snapped tight and caught the workman in the neck, lifting him off his feet and throwing him aside to the ground. The man was treated by a local physician.

The kitchen in our newly remodeled church was entirely furnished by the Aid in 1948. The cupboards, sinks, stoves, kettles, coffee urns, kitchen utensils, silverware, and Chinaware cost us more than $1750.00.

The altar covers used during the different festivals of the church year are also gifts to the church from the Ladies' Aid. It might be mentioned here that they are hand-made. Work of some of our ladies who are especially gifted with the use of the needle.

The Aid did not forget the parsonage, for when it was remodeled in 1950, they bought the new shades for all the downstairs windows.

Every year some gifts went to charity. We donated towards our Lutheran Children's Home, Bethesda Home, our day school in Detroit, Indian Mission, Lutheran Home, towards Synods building program and to mission stations in the northern part of Wisconsin. During the rehabilitation years of the German refugees we regularly sent a $10.00 CARE package every month. We also sent Northwestern Lutheran subscriptions to all our boys in the service of World War II.

We not only helped our needy in faith, but helped others in distress too. When the cancer drive was in need of donations, we gave. We sewed 86 pieces of clothing for the Red Cross, donated towards a T. V. set for the county home, and sent clothes (old) to CARE families. We also helped our country by buying 4 $100 defense bonds.

In 1946 the Aid celebrated their 25th anniversary with an evening service. In 1947 the Aid again celebrated their anniversary, this time the 50th. This they did with an evening service and a social gathering in the church basement with the entire congregation invited as their guests.

Since August, 1928, the Aid didn't meet in the parsonage anymore. At this meeting it was decided to meet every month, and to do so in the school house. This was the first meeting in which coffee and Kuchen was served. The dues were 15 cents per month.

Of the 13 members that started this society, none are among the living any more. Out of their number we grew to a society of 53 members strong. We now meet in the church parlors, our dues are 25 cents per month. We still have our coffee and lunch.

We see to it that our altar in church is adorned with flowers every Sunday and church holiday.

It seems that Mrs. Carl Mellahn, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Ford Raether and Mrs. Fred Klein were members of the Aid between the years of 1911-1913. Mrs. John P. Klein from 1906-1908, but then discontinued their membership. At the present writing Mrs. Albert Hamthun is the member who was with the Aid the longest time, having joined in June, 1922. Mrs. Fred Heiger has been with the Aid since August, 1926, and Mrs. John P. Klein

Fire Damages House Trailer; Dog Burned

A house trailer occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Deal at the Johnson trailer camp on South Fond du Lac ave., was seriously damaged by fire Tuesday night. The fire department was called to the scene at about 11 p. m. Loss was estimated at between $1,200 and $1,500 by Chief Harry J. Schaefer.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Deal, both of whom work nights, were not at home when the fire broke out and it had a good start before being discovered, being fanned by a high wind. It is believed that the fire started around an oil heater in the trailer. The interior of the trailer was ablaze and flames were eating through the doors, windows and roof when firemen arrived. Firemen had to break out the windows and screens to get at the fire but got it under control in a short time.

The inside of the trailer was almost completely burned or charred and most of the furniture, household items and other belongings of the O'Deals were destroyed or damaged. The couple's pet dog also burned to death in the fire and was found lying on a couch at one end of the trailer.

One fireman, Armin Opperman, sustained a deep cut on his hand in fighting the blaze and was taken to the local physician's office for medical care. Two other firemen suffered cuts.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Four pupils of Holy Trinity school all submitted to appendectomies at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, on the same day, Wednesday, Nov. 14. They are Regina Ketter, grade eight, daughter of the Lawrence Kettters; Judith Weddig, grade eight, daughter of the Ed. Weddigs; Robert Voim, grade five, son of the Wm. Voims, and Allen Welbert, grade one, son of Mrs. Theodore Schoofs.

Oscar Seefeldt, R. 1, Kewaskum, returned Friday after spending several weeks at the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Emil Klumb is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend.

Mrs. Herman Wilke, Kewaskum, who submitted to a major operation at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, is reported to be seriously ill.

rejoined the Aid in April, 1926; Mrs. G. Kaniess in August, 1928; Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Wm. Bunkelmann in 1929; Mrs. Carl Mellahn, Sr., Mrs. Otto Backhaus, Mrs. Fred Klein, Mrs. Paul Backhaus, and Mrs. Wm. Hamthun since 1929. It may be mentioned here that Mrs. Fred Mellahn, now deceased, was a member of very long standing. She belonged to the Aid from December, 1893 until her death in April, 1949, a total of 56 years.

Other members include Mrs. Ella Backhaus, Mrs. Reuben Backhaus, Mrs. Wm. C. Backhaus, Mrs. Wayland Becker, Mrs. Wm. Becker, Mrs. Walter Heiger, Mrs. Arnold Bier, Mrs. Edward Roche, Mrs. Wm. Bresemann, Mrs. Arthur Bunkelmann, Sr., Mrs. Harvey Bunkelmann, Mrs. John Dobke, Mrs. Fred Dorn, Mrs. George Buettner, Mrs. Earl Dreher, Mrs. R. G. Edwards, Mrs. John Etta, Mrs. Otto Giese, Mrs. Chas. Hafemann, Mrs. Meta Helmermann, Mrs. Erich Jeske, Mrs. Louise Jeske, Mrs. Byron Klein, Mrs. Art Klumb, Mrs. Wm. Koch, Mrs. Roman Krai, Mrs. Erna Mains, Mrs. Marvin Martin, Mrs. Paul Moldenhauer, Mrs. Louis Pals, Mrs. Ford Raether, Mrs. Melvin Schaub, Mrs. Ray Schaefer, Mrs. Henry Schultz, Mrs. Reuben Schultz, Mrs. Ella Smith, Mrs. Albert Stange, Mrs. Wm. Techtmann, and Mrs. Elmer Zaehle, Mrs. Louis Haack is our president, Mrs. Wm. Guenther, vice-president, Mrs. Carl Johnson, treasurer, and Mrs. G. Kaniess, secretary.

Spiritually we also grew. We studied our Catechism just as if we were going to instructions again. We studied a booklet called "Our Church," "Our Home," "Heaven," "Jehovah's Witnesses," "Famous Women of the Bible," "Kate Luther," "Lutheran Customs," "The Acts of the Apostles," "Book of Esther," "Joshua," "Book of Job," "Gospel according to St. John" and others. This besides questions and discussions makes any meeting very interesting.

All meetings were originally conducted in the German language. The singing of the opening hymn, the scripture reading and the story hour, because the German language is not much in demand anymore, and our members benefit more in the language they understood, we changed over to the English language, as the demand came up. Now everything is conducted in the English language.

Socially we've also enjoyed many hours of companionship. Sometimes among ourselves, sometimes with our families. At times we were hosts to the neighboring Aid societies, enjoying fellowship among people of our own faith.

Thus on this our 66th anniversary we look back to years well spent, working together in love and harmony, building the kingdom of God.

Kewaskum Places One on Second Tri-County All-Conference Team

The Kewaskum Indians failed to have a player named on this year's Tri-County all-conference football team selected last week by coaches. However, Elie Ramthun was given the quarterback spot on the second team and five others received honorable mention.

Campbellsport placed three on the first squad, while the championship North Fond du Lac team placed two and Oakfield one. Honored on the first team were Richard Sabel, Campbellsport, and Anthony Thelen, Campbellsport, ends; Forest Kleinhaus, Campbellsport, center; Arnold Meier, North Fondy, quarterback; and Glenn Gogorek, North Fondy, and Billy Collien, Oakfield, halfbacks. All are seniors except Kleinhaus, a sophomore, and Collien, a junior.

Named to the second team were Arlyn Rose, Lomira, and David Haack, North Fondy, ends; Ronald Bliefnick, Brandon, center; Elie Ramthun, Kewaskum, quarterback; and Dave Wondra, Campbellsport, and Elmer Hintz, North Fondy, halfbacks. All are seniors except Haack, a sophomore.

Honorable mention was given to the following:

Ends—Ralph Hinn, North Fondy; Ken Klug, Kewaskum; Gordon Wierman, Kewaskum; Howard Haack, Kewaskum; John Kaatz, Green Lake; Dick Phillipsky, Oakfield; Norman Schoeten, Brandon.

Centers—Lefroy Bier, Kewaskum; Donald Martin, Lomira.

Halfbacks—Ronnie Vorpahl, Kewaskum; Darrel Ebert, Green Lake.

Gogorek was the only unanimous choice of the coaches, being named on all seven first team ballots. He thus was honored as acting captain of the all-conference squad. Dave Wondra, the circuit's leading scorer, was edged out of a first team berth by Collien by two points. Collien is the only hold-over first team choice. Kleinhaus is the only sophomore to be honored and also the biggest player at 6 feet, 1 inch, and 210 pounds.

Voting was closest at end where 11 players got at least one point each. For the halfbacks was the most clearly-cut with only seven ball carriers receiving consideration. Two points were given for a first team choice and one point for second team.

Many Livestock Yards Are Remodeling Ramps

Livestock markets across the nation are continuing in their program of modernization and the installation of step-ramp chutes to replace old wooden chutes that cause great damage to animals.

Cattle prefer steps to the old-style cleats. Many animals are injured and much meat lost from bruising due to the constant prodding necessary to get the animals up and down the old ramps, cattlemen have reported.

The Chicago stock yards recently opened 12 of the modern step-ramp chutes. Of concrete and steel construction, the new chutes are designed to ease the task of unloading stock, and insure safe and

Cracked Corn Found Best Feed for Suckling Lambs

Tests made at the University of Kentucky experiment station indicate cracked yellow shelled corn is the cheapest and best ration for the creep-feeding of suckling lambs.

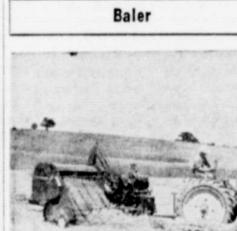

Experiments carried on over a period of nine years compared cracked yellow corn with mixtures of feeds. These included cracked corn, crushed oats and pea-sized linseed oilmeal; cracked corn and commercial milk substitute, and a third ration composed of "sweet feed" made of corn, oats, bran, linseed oilmeal, molasses and salt.

The experiment was conducted under the most controlled conditions possible. Kentucky educators reported.

The conclusion of the experimenters: "None of the three more costly mixtures showed any consistent or significant superiority to corn alone in rate of gain, efficiency of gain or market finish of the lambs."

The experiments were not designed to answer the question of whether creep-feeding pays, but rather to determine what rations are best for creep-feeding under Kentucky conditions.

Baler

This automatic baler is a good example of how machinery is saving manhours on the farm. The baler can package a ton of hay in less than half the time needed by hand methods. With only the tractor driver in the field, this machine automatically picks up hay, slices it, presses it into compact packages and then ties the bale with two strands of twine. Further information is available at local machinery dealers or in the local hardware stores.

Rice Is Most Important Food in the World Today

Although most Americans believe the statement exaggerated, rice is the most important food crop in the world today. It is the basic food of more than half of the world's population. In recent years the cultivation of rice has increased in this country, but in Asia it is the important crop because it is virtually the only food millions of people have—their means of sustaining life.

Broiling Chickens Will Be in Excellent Supply

Plenty of chickens for broiling and frying will be on the midwest market during the remainder of September and early October. The department of agriculture reports that numbers of chickens sold from farm flocks during the month are expected to be at or near the peak level of sales for the year. This will be approximately a third more than were marketed during the same period a year ago.

COMIC BOOKS

Educators Believe Comic Books May Have Future in School Work

Comic books may soon be required reading for children. Psychologists and educators have been contending for some time that comic books of the proper kind could be used to further the emotional, mental and educational development of children. The only trouble, they have added, is that such magazines would have to be especially designed to meet psychological theories and still be entertaining.

One of the country's leading comic book publishers, after a year of intensive research, has begun issuing a comic magazine based on the recommendations of psychologists and educators as to the "ideal" comics magazine for children in the three-to-eight age bracket. He is convinced that if his new publication is a success, other comic book publishers will recognize the need for really constructive comic magazines and follow his lead.

The publisher, Leverett Gleason, expects the test to prove the theories of authorities that the powerful influence of comics magazines on children can be utilized in a constructive way.

Gleason estimates that 80,000,000 comic magazines are purchased each month and that each of these has three readers.

Prominent educators and psychologists have agreed that comic magazines can be used to emphasize the moral and ethical teachings of parents. They have advocated comic magazines as a means of draining normal aggressions of children that might otherwise erupt into outright aggressive acts. These authorities see comics as a means of teaching a child how to read, and the use of good grammar and a sense of artistic discrimination. And they have at the same time complained that the widely distributed comic magazines are not accomplishing all these objectives.

"There is no reason why all of these objectives cannot be achieved in a comic magazine that is still exciting enough to hold the young reader's interest," Gleason said.

He quoted Josette Frank, educational associate of the Child Study Association: "One must regret that comic magazines have, in some respects, missed their opportunities for giving children more than they do."

"The comic magazine has a high potential value not only because its form is so acceptable to children but because it can be timely and contemporary in a way books cannot. Here, perhaps, more effectively than elsewhere, we can find an opportunity to give children forward looking attitudes, ideas and ideals about the world they live in."

OBVIOUSLY, no desirable comic book could portray sex, cruelty or primitive violence, Gleason said. But the findings showed that many other factors were of equal or greater importance.

Perfect grammar should be used by the characters so that children can learn through the example of the heroes and heroines. Particular attention should be devoted to the art work which would be of a quality comparable to that of the best in children's hard-cover books. As with all comic books, these pictures, used as a guide to the meaning of the words, should help the young child learn to read.

Six thousand schools already are using comic books in connection with the school curriculum, Gleason reported. The issuance of comic magazines of superior quality might easily make them an instrument all schools would want to use to further the teaching of young children, particularly as a means of teaching them to learn to read and to like to read.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

THE very British James Mason seems to have developed a strong liking for anti-British screen roles. His two latest for 20th Century-Fox certainly indicate it. In "The Desert Fox" he gives a magnificent performance as the late Field Marshal Rommel, one of England's most unrelenting enemies during World War II. And he has just finished work in "3 Fingers", in which, as the highest paid spy in history, he does his prying at the British Embassy in Istanbul, for the Nazis. But his next film will probably find him playing a Frenchman; he's pretty well set as Inspector Javert in "Les Miserables."

Mason has the support of an outstanding cast in "The Desert Fox", which was produced by Nunnally Johnson and directed by Henry Hathaway. Jessica Tandy, Cedric Hardwicke, Luther Adler and Leo Carroll are all excellent.

Marilyn Monroe will be starred by Darryl Zanuck in "Night Without Sleep", playing a baby sitter—which will be pretty easy, for she was acting as a baby sitter when she was discovered by William Mawberry. She went to school on the lot, did "Asphalt Jungle" at MGM, whereupon her own studio realized that she was really stellar material.

NBC's Ed Herlihy has been vacationing in Bermuda with his wife and children year after year. So he's finally bought a cottage there. Maybe he was egged on after a recent storm flooded the basement of his home in a suburb of New York. The basement is used as a party and play room, and the household formed a bucket brigade to bail it out.

"Tembo," a feature-length film dealing with Archer Howard Hill's big game African bow-and-arrow hunting safari, will be distributed by RKO.

Nation Is Not Preparing For War That It Dreads

By Wright A. Patterson

DOES THE PRESIDENT really believe that we are destined in the near future to be engaged in a full scale shooting war with Russia, or are his numerous war scares merely for the purpose of encouraging more and larger appropriations and the levying of more and greater taxes?

His actions in connection with our preparations for war would not indicate that he fears an immediate conflict. We are certainly not preparing for such an eventuality.

He announced a year ago that Russia had perfected an atom bomb. On the basis of that statement congress authorized an air fleet of 75 fighting groups including a larger number of bomber groups. The President did not then think such an air force was needed, and arbitrarily reduced the number to 62 groups, despite the verdict of the congress and the air commission which he had appointed.

Since then he has raised the figures to 85 groups, but has not ordered the planes or recruited the personnel for such a force. We are told that Russia has now an air force of 50,000 fighting planes, and the President said that Russia has the atom bomb with which to destroy our ground forces and to devastate the towns and cities of our European allies as well as those of this country.

To meet that force we have, including those of our European allies, some 5,000 effective planes, which include some 50 or 60 capable of attacking Russia. We are talking of or planning for a fleet of from 50,000 to 75,000 war planes. But so far it is only talk, none of them have been ordered.

We have adequate facilities for building such a force, but the job should have been done overnight. Should Russia have the force she is credited with having, and if she has atomic bombs, as the President tells us she has, without our having adequate air protection for our airplane plants, Russia could destroy those plane plants, and there would be no possibility of our meeting the Russian bombers.

We are told we are building tanks, guns, and other equipment for the ground forces. We are recruiting, by draft methods, an army of 3,500,000 men, but such an army cannot hope to alone meet the some 7,000,000 men of the Russian Red army. No ground army we can muster, whatever its size, can defeat Russia, without an adequate air force to support and protect it. Such an air force is the first thing needed should war come, and it is seemingly the last thing being provided.

Possibly those who are directing the preparedness program are listening only to the top brass of the army. They would think in terms of ground troops and their equipment. To win a war ground troops are necessary but Eisenhower knows that air power is equally needed. Congress authorized and ap-

LAST WEEK'S ANSWER

THE FICTION CORNER

JANE

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

JANE was a member of a large family. There were four boys and three girls besides Jane. The mother was dead. The eight children lived with their father on a farm in the edge of Gransberry. Jane was the eldest of all the children. When their mother died Jane assumed the responsibilities of the household. She was a large girl, very plain and rather dull looking.

I met her and the rest of the family last summer when vacationing in Gransberry. She fascinated me because she was so sturdy and strong and uncomplaining. The longer I knew the family the more I came to realize how easy it was for the others to lean on Jane. She did two-thirds of the work.

It was interesting (and a little annoying) to watch. I soon came to understand that Jane was the goat. When one of them wanted a holiday he or she would pretend to be sick. Jane kept things going.

It seemed unfair to me. They thought Jane was dull. They took advantage of her.

The more I talked to Jane the more I began to wonder if she were really dull. Yet sometimes I became discouraged. She seemed absolutely stupid.

"Last year," I said to her one day, "I met a family named Burdon, down south. There were six children in the family, and poor Mrs. Burdon had her hands full. She assumed all the responsibility and did all the work. Her children had never been used to anything else, so it never occurred to them to pitch in and help. The more she gave, the more they asked. It really wasn't the children's fault. They never knew anything different. Eventually the inevitable happened. Mrs. Burdon wore herself out. One day she was taken sick and died. She was only 51 years old." I shook my head. "It was certainly a pity. After she had gone the children discovered that they could get along very nicely by themselves. They found out that they could do the things they had heretofore always believed themselves incapable of doing."

I stopped talking and I looked steadily at Jane. But she only returned my look dully. "Wasn't it a shame!" she said.

I didn't see Jane again that summer. Three days after my talk with her I went home.

This summer I came to Gransberry again. One day I drove past the Whitefield farm and, acting on impulse, drew up at the front gate. Amelia, Jane's oldest sister, was sitting on the front porch.

"Is Jane in?" I asked. Amelia looked at me with wide eyes. "Yes, but she's not feeling well. She's lying down this afternoon."

"Lying down? Jane? May I see her?" Amelia went into the house. A moment later she came to the door and beckoned to me. I went into the front room. The shades were drawn. It was quiet and cool. Jane was lying on a couch. She smiled up at me. She looked much prettier than the last time I saw her.

"She's been having attacks," Amelia explained. "She can't go on for very long without lying down. We've been doing everything to make her well. We don't let her do much of the work."

"I'm sure I'll be all right very soon," Jane said. Amelia's eyes lighted. "Oh, I hope so!"

I didn't say much. I merely listened. Presently I understood that Jane was spending a good deal of time on the couch these days. Occasionally she was able to go out driving in the evening with a young man from town who had developed an interest in her.

After a while I rose to go. "Take care of yourself," I told Jane. "Don't try to rush things. If you started in too soon you might have a setback."

"I know," she said. "How are the Burdon children?" "Who?—Oh! They're fine! Getting along nicely."

She sighed. "I'm glad. My sisters and brothers won't let me work much. When I get strong again they want to be sure I'll stay strong." And Jane's right eyelid fluttered downward as she looked at me.

World's Biggest Tree

While California's Big Trees (Sequoia gigantea) have no peer as a species either in bulk or age, there is a single tree that outranks even the biggest sequoia in diameter and may surpass it in age.

The botanical colossus is the Tule cypress of Santa Maria del Tule, six miles from Oaxaca in southern Mexico. It is a Taxodium mucronatum, the same cypress as those in Chapultepec Park in Mexico City. Thousands of years old, yet still green and vigorous, the Tule tree's plump, rounded shape suggests an old oak rather than the usual slim cypress. "El Tule," as it is called, is so massive that 28 people, touching fingertips of outstretched arms, barely can encircle it.

The first place winner in the Wisconsin contest will be eligible to compete with winners from other states in the national contest for cash prizes totalling $2,000. But there will be prizes for the state winners also, according to Beier's announcement.

Four prizes totalling $250 in U. S. savings bonds will be awarded for the best Wisconsin entries. These prizes are donated by the Wisconsin Association of the Disabled and by the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, Beier said.

In addition these four state prize winners will receive certificates signed by the President of the United States, and merit awards signed by Governor Kohler and by the committee chairman, Harry Lippert. Lippert is also director of the Wisconsin State Employment Service of the Industrial Commission.

This latest contest, which opened Nov. 15, and closes Feb. 15, 1952, is the fourth annual contest, sponsored in Wisconsin by the governor's committee. Our attention was called to this by A. H. Ludwig, manager of the Waukesha office of the Wisconsin State Employment Service. He recounted the remarkable success in the previous three contests by student entrants from his area, which includes Washington and Ozaukee as well as Waukesha counties.

The first prize winner in Wisconsin's 1951 contest was Miss Lois Erdman of Delafield, who was graduated from Waukesha High school in June, 1951. Miss Erdman was honored last October by an invitation to read her prize-winning essay before the 1951 Milwaukee area meeting promoting National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

In the second annual contest, results of which were announced early in 1950, honorable mention was awarded to Misses Audrey Clemens and Betty Mayer, both students that year at Hartford High school.

And in the 1949 contest, the first held in Wisconsin, students in the area of Ludwig's office earned two of the first four prizes. Second place went to Miss Phyllis Indermuhle of Jackson, then a senior at West Bend High school. And in the same contest, 4th place was won by Miss Shirley J. Smith of Delafield, a member of the 1949 class at Waukesha High school. Naturally Ludwig is proud of this record. He expressed a hope that this area will continue the unbroken record by furnishing a winner in the 1952 contest. "And we would like to have some young men among this year's winners," he added.

Principals of all high schools have been sent notices by Superintendent Watson of the State Department of Public Instruction, who has approved this contest. They will also receive letters from the governor's committee, stating the purpose of the contest and announcements of contest rules.

Manager Ludwig said that the Waukesha office of the Wisconsin State Employment Service will have additional announcements for distribution. He also asked all interested school administrators and eligible students to request from him background material—facts, figures and ideas—concerning the employment of handicapped workers.

Price Increase on Beer, Cigarettes Limited to Tax, OPS Office Warns

Violations of ceiling prices, particularly on cigarettes and beer, have increased in the Milwaukee OPS district since the new federal excise taxes became effective on Nov. 1, according to Clem Kalvelage, director of the district.

"Most of the violations are apparently due to misunderstanding," Kalvelage said, "but if the picture does not correct itself soon through voluntary compliance on the part of retailers, enforcement action will become necessary." Violators can be sued for treble damages, or can be restricted by injunctions.

Under the terms of Amendment 33 to GCPI, only the exact amount of the increase in the excise tax on cigarettes and beer may be passed on to the customers, Kalvelage said.

Every seller has a definite ceiling price on cigarettes. And since the excise tax on cigarettes was increased 10 cents a carton, or one cent a pack, the price increase that may be passed on to a customer is limited to 10 cents a carton or 1 cent a pack.

Retail sale of beer follows a similar pattern. Excise taxes on beer were increased one dollar a barrel which amounts to three-tenths of a cent per 12-ounce bottle. Retailers may not increase the retail price of a single bottle of beer because the excise tax increase was less than half a cent. The sale price for two bottles may be increased one cent because the fractional increase in the excise tax for two bottles is more than a half-cent. The excise tax increase on a case of 24 bottles was 7.2 cents. As a result, the sale price of a one-case sale may be increased a flat seven cents.

The sale of draft beer comes under the OPS restaurant regulation, Kalvelage said. Sellers of draft beer may pass on the federal excise tax increase by adjusting the size of the glass and the price.

EXTENSION TO AUTO DEALERS FOR PRICE POSTING

Not until Dec. 10 of this year will automobile dealers be required to post ceiling prices for new cars, it was announced by the Office of Price Stabilization this week. The original mandatory date for such posting was Nov. 5.

OPS also gave dealers that much additional time before they are required by law to give buyers of cars detailed invoices showing prices of cars and equipment, taxes, and other added costs. However, upon specific request of the buyer a dealer must provide itemized invoices even before the Dec. 10 date.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES EXEMPTED FROM PRICE CONTROL

In an amendment issued this week the OPS exempted from price control admission charges for specified public and private school athletic and entertainment activities.

The exemption is limited to admissions to such activities as athletic events and school fairs when held in facilities owned or controlled by the schools, OPS emphasized.

OPS officials said athletic events and entertainment activities are, in general, a necessary adjunct to the educational services supplied by the schools and institutions, and have little effect on the cost of living.

YOUNG ADULTS CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY, NOV. 20

Due to circumstances beyond control, the Young Adults' club is unable to have Burton Olson for Nov. 21.

However, Dec. 8 is now set for having Miss Eldora Keske put on a similar program, which all 4-H members, parents and leaders are heartily invited to attend. It will be at the West Park ballroom, West Bend, starting at 8 p. m.

Please try to attend this party, as a very interesting program is being planned for young and old alike.

The next meeting of the Young Adults' club will be Nov. 20 at the Otto Krebs home, starting at 8:15. All are welcome to attend.

Bond Sales in County Now Stand at $99,040

An appeal to Wisconsin citizens to purchase an extra defense bond in tribute to combat veterans representing countries of the United Nations who visited the state this week was made by William Taylor, Milwaukee, chairman of the Wisconsin Defense Bond committee.

The veterans included Milwaukee in a nation-wide tour to weld UN unity, and to stimulate defense bond purchases, blood donations, production and the general defense effort.

Bond sales from banks in rural areas reporting on a monthly basis, to the Federal Reserve system, swelled the previously reported total of defense bond sales in Wisconsin for the campaign which began Sept. 3, and was concluded Oct. 27. It was disclosed by Harold F. Dickens, Milwaukee, director of the Wisconsin Defense Bond office. The total for the campaign now stands at $14,603,051, an increase of $1,616,329 over the previous campaign total. In Washington county, the total for the drive is now $96,040, it was reported by Thomas O'Meara, bond chairman.

OPS Consultants to Visit County Again on Nov. 19

An advisory service for businessmen of Washington and Ozaukee counties will be brought to West Bend on Nov. 19, when two professional staff members of the Milwaukee district office of price stabilization will be at the city hall council room from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to consult personally with retailers and consumers on questions dealing with OPS regulations and specializing in food and restaurant regulations.

This is the second visit of a consultant team to this area.

The team of consultants assigned to West Bend consists of Henry A. Eillon, whose title is chief of food and restaurant section and James F. Honak, an attorney from the legal branch. Both men are members of the Milwaukee district OPS office staff. OPS emphasizes that these advisory discussions are not "meetings" in any sense of the word. They will be conducted as individual consultations with businessmen who come to the city hall.

A complete circuit of the district includes establishment of day-long headquarters by the two-man team at West Bend, Racine, Janesville, Jefferson, Madison, Darlington, Prairie du Chien, Richland Center, and Portage, each headquarters to serve businessmen from counties in the immediate area.

Present OPS plans for visits to this community of other consultation teams on a similar personal-interview basis approximately once a month. Dates when the teams will be in West Bend will be announced.

This pickup pinches pennies!

There are two simple reasons why you save money when you buy an International pickup truck. First, you get lower operating and maintenance costs. You get a pickup truck that is engineered throughout to do more work for less money. Second, you get longer truck life. Even the smallest International pickup truck has the traditional stamina that has kept Internationals first in heavy-duty truck sales for 19 straight years. You get these all-truck savings right along with features that no other pickup truck gives you. For example—the COMFO-VISION CAB is "the roomiest, most comfortable cab on the road." The Silver Diamond engine is an outstanding development of the world's largest exclusive truck engine plant. Super-steering gives you maneuverability and ease of handling that make driving a pleasure. But get all the facts for yourself. Come in and learn why International pickup trucks are the best truck value in pickups today.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

Determination, Cooperation Were Tools Used by Community in Getting a Library

Martinsburg, Pennsylvania, a town of 1,560 population located in the central part of the state, was (and is) clean, prosperous, and progressive. It was, reports Mary Ellen Jackson in an article in the October issue of "The Rotarian," a fortunate community in every respect—except one. There was no library in town; and at the time this story begins, there seemed to be small hope of getting one.

There was in Martinsburg, however, at least one indefatigable supporter of the library idea. As it turned out, that was enough to keep the project alive in the minds of the people and to stimulate its development until it became a satisfactory reality. Authoress Mary Ellen Jackson tells the story like this:

A MAIN STREET FEATURE

"Blair M. Bice, young editor of the weekly Herald, had long cherished the dream of a community library. Through spirited editorials, this Martinsburg newspaperman had tried to rouse interest, and there had been several attempts to launch a free library. Nothing, however, had come of them.

"But when petite Jane Hoyt came to town, the dream began to take shape. Jane was college-bred and a full-fledged librarian. Besides, she was young and beautiful, and bubbling with enthusiasm for Blair Bice's idea. So, in no time at all, the two of them mapped out a library organization and assembled a board of directors consisting of a minister, a dentist, a doctor's wife, a teacher, a salesman, a housewife—and a poetess!

"At once the various clubs of the town sat up and took notice. One donated an upper room in the Municipal Building. The Community Chest came through with a check for much-needed supplies. A table went in and stacks went up. Meanwhile, donations of books began pouring in. Beloved books, dog-eared from much handling, but still good to read. Old books, ranging from the classical to the comic. New ones in their vivid jackets.

"And now came the best part of it all! Women all over town began offering their help free. Girls of every age, bright-eyed young matrons, busy homemakers—most of them entirely unschooled in the mechanics of preparing books for circulation but eager to learn. With her gift of drawing people together, Jane Hoyt started giving evening classes in library science, introducing the novices to the details of the Dewey decimal system, and the card catalog.

"Then came opening day. People swarmed in happy droves, and while chatting, munching cookies, and sipping the punch, they browsed among the long shelves crowded with food for the mind and spirit and heart.

"For several years now Martinsburg's free community library has been going full tilt. Climb the stairs just any day and the healthy buzz of children's voices greets you at the entrance to the bright and busy room. Every Saturday afternoon there's a story hour—conducted by two of our women who have a special way with children: Mrs. Jane Daugherty and Miss Lula Brumbaugh, a retired school teacher.

"All the scores of women who help do so without thought of pay—serving under lovely, brainy Luella Keller, who has succeeded Jane Hoyt, now one of Martinsburg's young matrons interested in using the facilities of the library for her own children."

Probably one of the finest aspects of this genuine community achievement is that everyone in town is deeply aware that the library might still be nothing but a dream, had it not been for the drive and vision of one determined man who was fortunate enough to have the excellent and unstinting cooperation of all the individuals and groups that make Martinsburg the enviable place that it is.

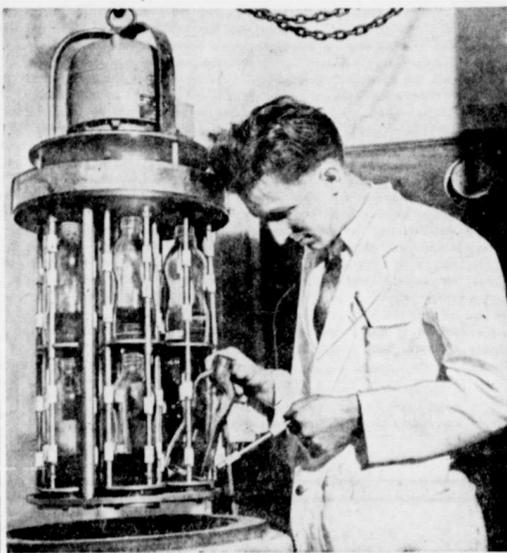

Give credit to the Martinsburg Herald, too. Blair Bice, the "determined man," thinks of his editorial pen as one of the best instruments ever devised to serve his fellow men.

There are two kinds of discontent in this world: The discontent that works, and the discontent that wrings its hands. The first gets what it wants, and the second loses what it has. There's no cure for the first but success; and there's no cure at all for the second

FLEE TO FREEDOM . . . Czech miners fled Prokop slave camp.

BRITISH SCIENTIST MISSING . . . Dennis O'Connor (shown at work at the national institute for medical research) and I. G. Campbell were said by English security officers to have vanished abroad with their families. No security secrets are involved, however, in their disappearance. O'Connor was described by the Daily Mail as an avowed Communist. Their disappearance brings to mind the disappearance of the two British diplomats, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess.

MOSSADEGH AND LIBERTY BELL . . . Iran's Premier Mohammed Mossadegh visits Philadelphia on the first leg of a trip to Washington which scheduled him to have lunch at the White House with President Truman. Mossadegh pauses a few moments to feel the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall. The subject of liberty is especially close to the Iranian premier right now as he fights to rid his country of British influence created by the interest of the British in Iranian oil.

FIRST KOREAN WAR BRIDE ARRIVES . . . Sgt. John Morgan, 23, is greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Morgan, Bremerton, Wash., as he brings his Korean war bride on the transport U.S.N.S. Patrick. The young wife, Yong Soon Morgan, also 23, and Morgan were married last February after they met in May, 1950, at headquarters Korean military army group at Pohang.

BROTHERS MEET IN KOREA . . . Three brothers meet in Korea for the first time in 17 months. All three are in the army and had a reunion near the battle zone. Left to right are Sgt. Robert A. Lambert, 25; Sgt. Richard E. Lambert, 20, of a heavy tank battalion with 15 months in Korea; and Fred A. Lambert, 23, from an infantry division. All are from Ironton, Ohio. The site of their meeting was not disclosed by military authorities for security reasons.

The Way it Happened . .

IN CLEVELAND . . . Her husband often came home at 3 or 4 in the morning, but the woman said she didn't mind that. What would get her down, she stated, was his insistence on waking her up—to see if she was mad at him. She finally got so mad she sued for divorce.

IN SEATTLE . . . A woman filed for divorce because she said she had to deodorize the house every time her husband came home. He is a halibut fisherman.

IN ALBANY . . . A woman pawned her husband for $45, then came back to the pawnshop later and redeemed him.

FARMERS BEING TOLD ABOUT THE NEW BRUCCELLSIS LAW AT SERIES OF COUNTY MEETINGS

All owners of dairy or beef cattle should know the provisions of the new Wisconsin Brucellosis Control law. To bring this information to farmers a series of area meetings within the county are being planned. This week such meetings were scheduled for Hess' hall, Allenton, Wednesday evening, Nov. 14 and at Jackson village hall, Thursday evening, Nov. 15. Both meetings began at 8:00 o'clock. An explanation of the Wisconsin Brucellosis law was given by E. E. Skalsky, county agricultural agent. A motion picture was shown to indicate how this disease spreads.

one of these meetings. Meetings for other areas of the county will be announced at a later date.

The new Wisconsin Brucellosis law gives farmers a chance to get started on a program of developing a Bang's free herd. The Chicago milk market has set Jan. 1, 1936, as the date after which it will accept milk only from herds pronounced Bang's free by ring and blood tests.

Farmers that fail to start on this program early may suffer a big loss by losing their fluid milk market. It is important that you know what to do if the ring test shows that you have Bang's reactors in your herd. Therefore every cattle owner should attend

U.S. Needs Civil Defense

JOINING CIVIL DEFENSE CAN MEAN YOUR SURVIVAL

(This is the eighth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

By HILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

The most important reason for anyone to volunteer for Civil Defense work now is that his or her life may depend on it. From that point you can add more names to the list which may be dependent on you in some hour of crisis: your own family, your relatives, your neighbors, and other friends in your community.

The protection of your own home, industrial property and war plants, public buildings, the place where you earn a living, your municipal facilities, your transportation system, farm lands, cattle, forests, harbors—everything which has to do with your life today, multiply the reasons why you should volunteer for civil defense work NOW.

Every good American will want to volunteer for civil defense. He knows it is his duty to do so, for there is no other way to recruit the millions of workers who will be needed to defeat an enemy on the home front. If we are attacked—and remember that we can be attacked—the hard, terrible task of getting our cities and industries back on their feet will fall mainly on civil defense volunteers. It is not a job for those who can't face facts or aren't willing to work. It is a job for real Americans with courage.

No one can do the civil defense job but the American people themselves. The Armed Forces have their own job to do. There are not enough people in Federal, State, or local government agencies to do the job for you. It is one of those things you will have to do yourself. And you will have to be prepared for any emergency. There will be no time to take a civil defense training course, or read booklets, when the bombs fall. All that must be done before if you want to better your chance for survival.

One local civil defense organization has adopted the slogan "Service Means Survival." It is a good slogan to remember. It sums up the meaning of civil defense. An efficient, tough, determined civil defense program can mean survival for the American people.

It's easy to find out where to volunteer for civil defense work, and the services you are qualified to perform. Visit or telephone your local civil defense headquarters, or watch for announcements from your local civil defense director. Your newspapers, radio or television stations will give you information.

Your Red Cross chapter is ready to train you in first aid right now. This training is required of all civil defense volunteers. If you are not able to volunteer, you should take the latest Red Cross first aid course anyway. It is wise for you to know first aid no matter what may happen.

Red Cross Courses

The Red Cross gives courses in home nursing and nurses' aid also. It is wise to have some knowledge of these courses too. Then you might be able to save a life in your family some day, war or no war.

You can help by being a Red Cross blood donor. Thousands of pints of blood would be needed after an enemy attack.

There are ten major volunteer services in your civil defense. All are vital and will be discussed in the next three articles. Read them and decide where you fit in.
