Shots Stop Car of Thief After Chase

Heading for Fond du Lac in a 1951 pickup truck he allegedly stole in Milwaukee, a youth, 15, was apprehended by Washington county authorities on Friday night following a wild pursuit which ended when an officer shot and punctured a tire on the vehicle.

Radio Dispatcher Robert Lemke of the Washington county sheriff's department said that his office was alerted at 8:09 p. m. by a deputy sheriff who had pursued the youth as far as Germantown.

Traffic Officer Forrest Brown of Kewaskum, with Police Chief Carl Mayer of Barton, formerly of this village, as a passenger, started out on Highway 55 in hopes of intercepting the truck. Near Barton the truck was spotted and Officer Brown tailed it at a high rate of speed, siren sounding and warning red lights flashing.

The chase led for five miles north toward Kewaskum when Chief Mayer finally was able to aim his revolver at the front truck tire, hitting it. The truck did not get out of control when the tire was deflated and the youth was able to stop it on the highway.

Questioned by the officers, the youth reportedly stated he had taken the new vehicle from a used car lot in Milwaukee. He said he was en route to Fond du Lac to visit a cousin. Authorities said that the youth apparently became frightened when police began their chase and attempted to outdistance them.

The youth said that he was alone when he stole the vehicle. The boy's mother is employed nights at a Milwaukee hotel, Milwaukee police took the young driver into custody at 12:30 a. m. Saturday. Juvenile court action was to be taken.

Woodlot Meeting, Contests Held on Oscar Thull Farm

A generation ago standing timber was only a source of firewood for most farms. Today a well cared for and protected woods can be one of the farm's greatest assets. This was pointed out by R. W. Abbot, extension forester, at a woodlot management meeting held on the Oscar Thull farm, R. 2, Kewaskum, Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 4.

The meeting was under the supervision of E. E. Skilinsky, county agricultural agent, and William R. Jordan, district forester.

Mr. Jordan suggested that good woods management should have the objectives listed below: 1. To provide adequate amounts of lumber and other products for home use.

2. To maintain a reserve of timber on hand for emergencies. 3. To increase income by providing a surplus of products for sale.

4. To keep the woodlot at a maximum rate of growth. 5. To provide shelter for wild life. A check of the Thull woodlot which consists largely of red oak, white oak, elm and ash with smaller quantities of basswood and maple, shows that 20% more growth is made per year than the amount which has been harvested per year recently. A number of varying types of trees selected by the forester were marked. Those present were asked to determine if these trees should be harvested or left standing.

Information had been given the group that trees with dead or otherwise poor tops with large spreading tops that shadow younger trees, bent trees, or trees with heart rot should be harvested before they reach an age known as the ripe or mature age of the tree. Those scoring highest were given prizes donated by Koch's store, Inc., as a reward. The two persons making a near perfect score were Herman Volmer, Route 2, Kewaskum, and Egbert Matti, Route 5, West Bend.

In the wood sawing contest using a cross cut saw Earl Essentant, Route 2, Random Lake, and Leo Thull, Route 2, Kewaskum, won over Richard Sterges and Lloyd Roden, both of Route 2, Kewaskum. They were awarded a prize donated by the Cooley Sons Co. of West Bend.

An interesting demonstration of the use of a power chain saw for felling and working up trees was given by representatives of the Klockhafer Corp. of Cedarburg. The treatment of fence posts with a preserving chemical was discussed by a representative of the Alco company. Fence posts chemically treated before being set in the ground usually give twice as many years of service as untreated posts.

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division)

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Kewaskum 2 0, Hartford 1 0, Cedarburg 1 0, Mayville 2 1, West Bend 1 1, Waupun 1 1, Horicon 1 1, Rosendale 0 4, Grafton 0 2, Campbellsport 0 2.

The Kewaskum Chevrolets won their second straight Land o' Lakes game at Grafton Sunday night, sneaking in a 57-56 victory, to take over the first place spot in the young season. The team beat Waupun in the opener.

The tilt at Grafton was a see-saw affair from start to finish with the outcome remaining in doubt until the final second. The game was typical of those usually played when these two teams meet on the wet Grafton floor.

At the end of a tight first quarter the Chevs led a slight 15-14 advantage over the opponents. The lead was reversed in the second period and at the half Grafton possessed a one-point 29-28 edge. The winners scored 17 points in the third stanza to 11 for the home team and this gave Kewaskum a 45-40 advantage going into the final period.

Grafton netted 16 tallies to Kewaskum's 12 but it wasn't quite enough to do the trick.

Lloyd "Cockey" Keller, a newcomer up from last year's Rivers squad, was the top scorer in the tilt, dropping in 6 field goals and 4 free shots for a total of 16 points. Wayland Tessar guarded 13 and Augie Bilgo added 9. A. Eernisse paced the losers with 14 and Mueller had 12.

The Chevrolets return to the home floor this Sunday night with Horicon coming in to try and push them out of the loop lead.

TRI-COUNTY STANDINGS

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. North Fond du Lac 3 0, Campbellsport 2 1, Brandon 2 1, Kewaskum 1 1, Oakfield 1 1, Rosendale 0 2, Lomira 0 3.

Scores last Friday—North Fondy 44, Lomira 25; Oakfield 40, Rosendale 41; Campbellsport 56, Brandon 49.

Scores last Saturday—Kewaskum 56, Sheboygan Falls 52 (non-conference). Scores Tuesday night—North Fondy 59, Kewaskum 45; Campbellsport 73, Rosendale 55; Brandon 59, Lomira 53.

Games Friday night—Kewaskum at Campbellsport, North Fondy at Oakfield, Brandon at Rosendale.

The Kewaskum High school team broke even in two games the past week. Saturday night here they gained revenge on Sheboygan Falls by trimming them in a non-league tilt, 56-53.

The Indians lost at Falls in the season's opener. But Tuesday night at N. Fond du Lac in conference action the team was nipped out by the undefeated Orioles, 50-44.

Paced by forward Wierman with 20 points, Kewaskum was ahead of Falls all the way. They picked up a big 17-3 lead in the first period but Falls almost closed the gap in the second quarter, bringing the halftime count to 19-15. Then the Indians ran wild in the second half to pull away. The tally stood at 34-22 at the third quarter and the locals swished in 22 points in the last stanza to 11 for Falls. Gehrke led the visitors in scoring with 9 points.

North Fondy maintained its perfect record on the Oriole floor Tuesday but in a close game and after a hard battle, Kewaskum surprised the Orioles in the first half, leading 19-18 at intermission time. But the Orangemen were able to rally just enough in the second half for their third straight loop win. Glen Gongorek and Elmer Hintz led the Fondy offense with 13 and 12 points respectively while Ken Klug and Edie Ramthun each netted nine for the losers.

The Indians' next game and last one before the holidays will be played on the home court next Friday, Dec. 21, with Brandon coming here.

Red Cross Sends Christmas Gifts for Men on High Seas

Christmas on the high seas will be a little more cheerful for 25 foreign-service-bound Americans thanks to a project carried out locally by the West Bend chapter of the American Red Cross with the assistance of the ladies of the Christian Science church.

As has become the annual custom, every American serviceman aboard ship on Christmas day will receive a Christmas gift package from the Red Cross. This year the West Bend Red Cross supplied 25 of these packages.

Shopping for the items to be included, gifts wrapped and packing was done by the ladies of the Christian Science church. Each of the 25 beautifully wrapped gift boxes contained a bill fold, pound of candy, adjustable pencil, deck of cards, a pocket book, and stationery and envelopes.

The packages were rushed to the Seattle port of embarkation where they will be loaded aboard ships due to spend Christmas day at sea.

A letter from the Red Cross field director of the Seattle port has acknowledged safe arrival of the gift boxes. He reported that the gifts may very well go to service men enroute by air to the Far East on Christmas day.

Robert Ross, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ross, Jr., Milwaukee, was rushed to a hospital three Sunday afternoon after sustaining a skull fracture when a car driven by his father left Hwy. 67 in the town of Auburn and crashed into a culvert of trees. Ross was told Chief of Police Ed. Haack of Kewaskum that his car struck an icy stretch and ran off the road. Mrs. Ross, Robert's mother, received a leg injury and severe cuts and bruises. A Kewaskum physician treated the family, then rushed the boy to the hospital for further treatment.

A truck operated by Clyde K. Merrill, Oakfield, and a car driven by Edwin W. Paskey, Kewaskum, collided near the corner of Ninth at and Military road in Fond du Lac at 9:10 a. m. Saturday.

WAYNE TAVERN SOLD Mr. and Mrs. Barney Strobel, who operate Barney's Bar in the Forestor building in Wayne, have purchased the Al. Schneider tavern and dance hall in the same village. They will take possession on Feb. 1.

OMITTED ON HONOR ROLL Adeline Herriger's name was unintentionally omitted from the list of high school honor roll students which was published last week. The school wishes to make this correction.

Let your Kitchen Say, "Merry Christmas!" (See Recipes Below)

Kitchen Gifts
WHEN YOU SIMPLY can't face the ordeal of shopping among the crowds anymore, why not do your Christmas shopping right in your own kitchen?

Thoughtful gifts to fit almost anyone on your list can be made right in the warm and cozy kitchen. Children will adore confections that are tasty and colorful. Neighbors and relatives will love your jellies; and any bachelor will appreciate a box of cookies to nibble over his favorite book on a long winter evening.

Containers for all these can be cheerful and full of Christmas spirit. Cover a cereal box of the cylindrical shape with gay wrapping paper and line with foil or waxed paper. This is excellent for cookies if you don't want to put them in tins.

Jelly glasses can be tucked in small baskets, or even muffin tins and the whole wrapped in colorful cellophane, then tied with gay ribbons. Confections can be wrapped individually and then placed in clear plastic containers which can be used for freezer or refrigerator use later.

Here are several jellies which can be made from canned juices if your own canning shelves do not provide enough for gifts.

Pink Apple Jelly
(Makes 5 6-ounce glasses)
3 1/2 cups sugar
2 cups canned apple juice
Red coloring
1/2 bottle liquid fruit pectin
Add sugar to juice in saucepan and mix well. For a pink color, add a few drops of red coloring. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in fruit pectin. Bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with 1/8 inch hot paraffin.

Grape-Grapefruit Jelly
(Makes 7 6-ounce glasses)
1 1/2 cups grapefruit juice
1 1/2 cups bottled grape juice
3 1/2 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
Squeeze and strain juice from 2 medium-sized grapefruit. Measure 1 1/2 cups juice into a large saucepan. Add grape juice and mix well. Heat juice over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Stir in sugar. Bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim and pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Pinecot Jam
(Makes 10 6-ounce glasses)
1 pound dried apricots
2 No. 2 1/2 cans broken pineapple slices
Sugar
Wash apricots and cut in pieces; soak overnight in syrup drained

LYNN SAYS:
Use these Short-Cuts During Busy Holidays
Cut square biscuits from baking powder dough using the ice cube divider from a refrigerator tray. It's quicker than using a round cutter.

When you don't have time to make white or cheese sauce for vegetables like broccoli, cauliflower or brussels sprouts, simply melt some processed cheese in the top of the double boiler and pour over the vegetable.

When removing dishes from the table, have a pan ready for the silverware filled with water, as hot as possible. Place silverware in the pan and sprinkle with detergent. Swish with a dishcloth and rinse with boiling water. Treated this way, silverware needs little polishing.

When you're baking anything in the oven which might drip, place a sheet of aluminum foil over the bottom of the oven to catch drippings. After baking just roll it up and toss it out. Your oven needs no cleaning.

2 tablespoons corn syrup
Sugar decorations

Cut the peel from oranges, then cut the peel with small cutters into star, tree or bell shapes. If you have no small cutters make a pasteboard pattern and cut around it. Place these designs as well as any leftover strips into saucepan and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes. Drain and repeat this 3 times to prevent bitterness. Drain water and then add brown sugar, 1 cup water and corn syrup. Boil gently, stirring constantly, until syrup is thick and almost absorbed by the peel. Drain and roll peel in sugar or decorations.

Ping Popcorn Balls
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon vinegar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon red food coloring
6 cups popped corn
Combine sugar, water, vinegar, corn syrup and salt. Cook to a very hard ball stage (265°F.). Add butter and coloring. Pour over popped corn. Shape balls.

When muffins bake before the rest of the meal is ready, loosen them from the pans and tip them in the pans slightly and keep in a warm oven until the meal is ready.

A small jar of softened butter or substitute kept on a kitchen table is a big time-saver for such things as buttering bread or toast and mixing with cooked vegetables.

As soon as you remove food from cooking utensils, put water in them. They will soak while you eat, and will be easy to wash quickly.

Grease the measuring cup in which you're going to measure molasses or corn syrup. This prevents the syrup from clinging to it. Save measuring cups by measuring shortening in the cup first.

If you're going to be away for the whole afternoon, wrap potatoes in aluminum foil and place them in a very slow oven. They will be baked fluffy in three hours.

Serve those dry doughnuts for breakfast by splitting them and toasting under the broiler. Spread with soft butter and brown sugar, if desired.

Mistake Made With Asphalt Paint!
QUESTION: I had my cement block foundation damp-proofed with asphalt roofing and paint applied to the underground parts. Before refilling the trench with earth, the workmen accidentally painted a large part of the foundations above the ground level with this asphalt paint. We were going to paint this part white. How can I paint over this asphalt coating? I'm told that neither paint or cement paint will adhere to it. What is your suggestion before I pull my hair out?

ANSWER: Before you pull all of it out, I suggest that you try to engage a representative of a sandblasting company to come and clean off the walls. There are companies who specialize in cleaning the outside of buildings, and I believe this would be your best bet.

The asphalt paint cannot be painted over with any degree of success. It would have to be cleaned off before the walls could be repainted. If the sandblasting idea does not work out for any reason, you might try softening the asphalt paint with turpentine and then go through the tedious job of rubbing it off with steel wool. As cement block is somewhat porous, some of the paint may have penetrated below the surface of the masonry and the job will not be easy.

FREAK SQUEAKS

Driving Dog Tops 1951's List Of Unusual, Wacky Accidents

Do you ever have the feeling that things in this good old U.S.A. may just possibly be a little wacky?

Well, take it from the National Safety Council—you're right! The Council has just completed its annual roundup of odd accidents, and dazdly reports some mighty queer goings-on in the field of freak squeaks.

A dog who's a hot rod driver... a fish that caught a fisherman... an airplane that crashed a red traffic light... a horse and wagon that collided with a sailboat... a garden rake that shot the raker—these and many other dizzy doings indicate that things have been slightly screwy in 1951.

The pooch who pined to drive a hot rod was riding in a truck with his master, William C. Hollis of Denver. As Mr. Hollis drove through Topeka, Kan., at a prudent pace the dog stirred impatiently, reached over and planted a heavy paw on the accelerator. The truck leaped forward, went out of control, collided with a passenger car. Four persons were injured. The dog hasn't driven since.

Police in Miami, Fla., are used to seeing all kinds of traffic on busy U.S. Highway 1 during the tourist season. But even they were startled when Robert Simmons, of Dayton, Ohio, landed his airplane on the highway one August afternoon, rolled through a red traffic light and nudged a truck before he stopped. Simmons had been forced down by carburetor trouble. Nobody was hurt. No traffic ticket.

In Chicago a sailboat got on the wrong track and collided with a horse and wagon driven by Randolph Johnson, a non-nautical pilot who found himself a little at sea when confronted by a boat traveling along a busy street on a trailer. Damage to the boat was $500. The land forces suffered no casualties.

Many a tired and perspiring gardener has moaned "I'm shot!" as he finished his raking. But Lincoln Stewart, of Columbus, Ohio, really meant it. He was raking trash in a dump when the rake struck and discharged a bullet in the trash. Stewart was shot in the ankle.

And all of us who have greeted a new day by groaning, "I feel like I've been run over by a steam roller," can get a first-hand report on the feeling from eight-year-old Stanley Willoughby, of Portland, Ore., who actually underwent the experience. Fascinated by a three-ton roller, Stanley grabbed on to a pipe at its back and walked along as it rolled. Suddenly the roller backed up. It knocked Stanley down, passed over his legs and hip, and imbedded him neatly into the hot, soft asphalt. He was injured only slightly.

TO SKEPTICS who believe chivalry is dead, here is a note of comfort: Cab Driver James Deeds, of Des Moines, Ia., gave up his seat for a lady—and did it the hard way. Helping a fair passenger unload a big sack of groceries from his cab, Deeds backed into a passing car, felt a draft, looked up in time to see the seat of his pants disappearing down the street on the door handle of the offending auto.

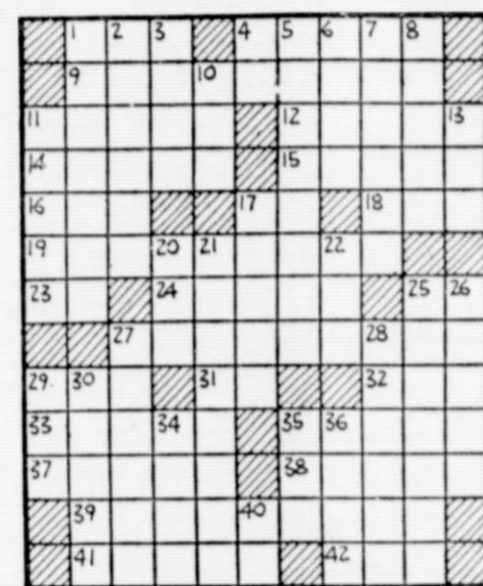

And in Boston, Mrs. Catherine Meenan was injured in an automobile accident as she sat in her second floor apartment. In the street below, a car had struck a pedestrian, knocked off his shoe, hurled it 25 feet through the open window of Mrs. Meenan's living room. It hit her on the head, inflicting scalp wounds.

Yes, it looks like good old 1951 was a little goofy in spots. But, as the saying goes, aren't we all!

THE FICTION CORNER

AVALANCHE

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE landslide occurred on March 7. It was the evening before that Lorelei and Stan quarreled. The real cause of the quarrel was Inez Thayer, Deke Whitman's stepdaughter. Deke, who was a mine superintendent, and Inez had come to spend a couple of weeks with him.

Inez was disappointed in the place. She had always thought of Arizona as a land of desert. Warm. Romantic. Nobody had told her that there were mountains in Arizona and that in those mountains the temperature in March got well down below the freezing point.

She probably wouldn't have remained a week if it hadn't been for Stan Seymour. Stan was a young engineer. Inez took one look at him and decided to stay.

A woman in love sees many things that others let pass by unnoticed. Lorelei, who was the daughter of Jim Tristram, the mine foreman, had been in love with Stan since the day he arrived six months before, and he with her. Their love was unspoken, but it lay between them like a tangible thing.

Lorelei was glad now that neither had put into words the thing that both had felt, for now there need be no explaining or embarrassing. Some day, she knew, the hurt that grew inside of her as she watched Stan yield to the polished charm of Inez Thayer would fade and vanish.

So on the evening of March 7 Lorelei and Stan quarreled. And each knew that Inez was the cause of the quarrel, though both pretended it was over the matter of holding the annual spring dance in Redstone this year instead of at the mine.

"Help me!" she cried. And turned desperate eyes toward Inez.

It was warm that night of March 7. Unnaturally warm. The heavy snows atop the mountain range against the base of which the mine buildings nestled began to melt, and on the morning of March 8 they began to move, slipping down the mountain, loosening tons of earth and ice and rock.

Lorelei was coming up from the rural delivery postoffice box with the mail. She heard the ominous roar and stopped. A moment before she had seen Stan and Inez enter the tiny engineer's field office, and without thinking she started running toward it, shouting at the top of her lungs.

Men appeared from other buildings and took up the cry, and before a great crowd was racing down the valley road out of the path of the onrushing avalanche.

But Stan and Inez didn't appear in the doorway of the engineer's office and Lorelei kept on running, screaming. Above the office was a sharp outcropping of rock. When the avalanche hit this it divided, and stones and earth were catapulted into space over the building.

Lorelei had pushed open the door when this happened. She glimpsed Inez in Stan's arms. Then a falling timber crashed toward them and she screamed. Stan pushed Inez away from him, and almost got clear himself, but it grazed his shoulder and knocked him flat.

For a moment Lorelei stood transfixed. Then she leaped forward and began prying at the timber. "Help me!" she cried. And she turned desperate eyes toward Inez.

At the door, Inez turned. Her face was white. "Don't be a fool!" she shrieked. "Save yourself!" Then the roar and crash became louder, drowning out her words. The first avalanche had started a second.

Inez flung open the door and rushed outside. Stan pulled Lorelei down beside him and yelled into her ear: "Go! Go! You're still got a chance. You can't save me!" But she only stared at him in horror. Then she began picking up timbers and propping them in a sort of lean-to against the one undamaged wall, sheltering them.

Rescue crews came in and were amazed to find the two alive. They pried Stan loose and carried him away on a stretcher. One of his legs was broken.

When he came out of the ether, Lorelei was beside his bed. She smiled and said, "She's safe. She got clear and escaped without a bruise."

He looked at her and said nothing. Then he took her hand and drew her down close to him. "It's more important that you're safe—"

KATHLEEN NORRIS Puzzled Child

THE ABSURDITY of sending an eight-year-old child to a psychiatrist struck me forcefully when I first heard of it some years ago. Nowadays it has become quite common for children to be sent to these specialists. Poor children! One wonders what they think about it.

"You heard Mother and Daddy quarrelling?" says the sympathetic voice of the strange man. The little girl, bewildered, but willing to help, leans against his knee. She nods solemnly. "And then you cried and tore your dolly into pieces?"

And then the psychiatrist works out the interpretation. It seems that the child's mother spoke of someone having a new baby and the child was afraid it was coming to their house and that, as she, the child, was secretly in love with her father she anticipated that her mother would perhaps love—

Into Mazes

And so on and on into the mazes that the twisted mind of a disgruntled old Austrian put into our healthy American way of thinking. According to Freud most girls are jealous of their brothers, and most boys want to take their father's place in Mother's room. And the tears and tantrums of the nursery, the vapors and discontents of the teens, the vague dissatisfactions of married life are all traceable to that.

Strange Doctors

And instead of married folk lifting their lives to the level of respect and dignity, and giving their children a background of security, peace and affection, to ship these puzzled little folk off to strange doctors may well be to permanently upset their sense of values.

Nothing is ever going to take the place of a good home, good talk, good nature, good ideals in that home. This is our children's only safety from the terrible troubled waters of today's thinking. Any woman who wants to give her children a priceless heritage needs only to love them and their father, keep peace and home fires burning, and solve the problems of the whole group with common sense, affection, and that worldly wisdom that all good fathers and mothers attain.

A ridiculous and yet tragic situation arose in my neighborhood. The family consists of a father and mother, both rich, both rather steady drinkers, her son by an earlier marriage, aged 17, his daughter by an early marriage, aged 8, his grandmother, in whose magnificent home they all live—and a young psychologist, aged 28.

Yes, they have a resident psychologist, as grand old country families used to have a resident champlain. What the qualifications of this boy are I don't know; the father liked him, asked him to come look over the family, and pays him $300 a month to stay and keep them all in order. The younger mother likes to take long rambles with the psychologist, the 17-year-old hates him, the old mother has a congenial companion for canasta, and it would seem to me that Daddy had rather let himself in for trouble. Just one of those crazy situations.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

TONY MARTIN's singing career really began when, at the age of 18, he was caught by a faculty member at Saint Mary's College, Moraga, Calif., playing jazz on the chapel organ. The teacher suggested that he concentrate on music. He did, and met with nothing but disappointment until 1936 changed his luck. That year he made several musicals for 20th Century-Fox and landed the singing spot on CBS Radio's "Burns and Allen Show." He is currently starred with Jo Stafford on CBS's "Carnation Contented Hour," his latest picture is RKO's "Two Tickets to Broadway." And he's had two terrific engagements at London's famous Palladium.

Denise Darcel will find herself in lively company in her new assignment; Universal-International has signed her for the feminine lead opposite Abbott and Costello, as an Alaskan dance hall entertainer in "The Sourdoughs."

People die in unusual and amazing ways in "Across the Wide Missouri"; trappers, hunters and Indians crowd the screen, there's never a dull moment. Clark Gable heads a fine cast; Adolphe Menjou gives a superb performance—but then, so does everyone else, from John Hodiak to Frankie Darro. This is a fine Western, with no cute blondes to clutter up the story.

Is DuPont Really a Monopoly or Just Too Large?

By Wright A. Patterson

FOR SEVERAL YEARS an effort has been made to secure legislation that would provide for a national science foundation through which the top notch scientists could work at fundamental scientific discoveries. Last year the long desired legislation was passed.

As the bill was introduced, it provided an appropriation of 14 million dollars from which to provide compensation for the scientists, laboratories in which they could work, and materials with which to work. But in one of those rare economy spurts, the house appropriations committee, Clarence Cannon, Dem., Missouri, chairman, cut that 14 million down to $300,000, a sum entirely too meagre with which to start such a foundation, and nothing has happened because of that legislation.

In the DuPont hotel in Wilmington, Del. there is a display window in which are shown hundreds of those things which the scientific research of the DuPont laboratories, and the top notch scientists whose time and ability are at its disposal, have made possible. That company spends something like 20 million dollars a year on scientific research.

From their unhampered research, there has come the commodities that are shown in that display window in Wilmington, a window before which I have stood many times to wonder at the accomplishments of this one company in providing hundreds of different things for the convenience and pleasure of the people of the world.

Florida Man Discovers Noise Cause under House

WINTER PARK, Fla. — When H. B. Scott heard a thumping noise beneath his house and crawled under to investigate, he expected to find only a stray dog or cat.

But he didn't. And he retreated in a hurry when he discovered a seven-foot alligator fanning the floorboards with his tail.

Scott called police, who lassoed the alligator and turned it over to a zoo.

They make use of wastes that have been deemed valueless; they provide new industries that give employment to millions of workers; they increase American sales to the extent of millions, even billions, of dollars each year. And because of that increased business, the government collects a considerable portion of the nation's taxes. When the government wanted an A-bomb, it perfected its own organization, and spent billions of dollars on the project. Now the government wants an H-bomb, it turns to the DuPont company and its corps of scientists, working in DuPont laboratories with DuPont equipment and materials, to produce that more terrible, more destructive implement of warfare through which to insure our success against the Red hordes of communism. Whether or not those DuPont scientists will be able to construct such a bomb and the methods of exploding it, only time will tell, but if it can be done they will do it.

Now the attorney general says the DuPont Company is too big for the good of the nation, and has brought suit to break it up into small pieces so it would not be able to do for the government the things a congress refused to do for us. DuPont is a concern that has provided the munitions needed in practically every war in which we have engaged; a company that through its scientific research has provided millions of jobs for American workers; that has turned the wastes of mine, field and forests into commodities of value; a company that has added billions to America's sales, from which the government collects a large portion of the nation's taxes; a company that can do, what the government is not prepared to do for itself. It might be well for the attorney general to study, as I have, that display in the window of the DuPont hotel in Wilmington. From it he would probably get a new idea of the value of this too-big company, and what it, and others like it, mean to America.

Creeping socialism in America has become running socialism.

A New Fashioned Christmas Fruit Pudding with a Most Delectable Taste

The climax of Christmas dinner is that moment when lights are lowered and all eyes expectantly watch the Christmas pudding brought with proud ceremony to the table. It's a tradition that warms our hearts.

This year, as the Christmas pudding is placed on the table, only Mother will know it is different, for it will look just as tradition tells us it should look—dark, and rich, and fruity.

But at the very first taste every face will light up. For here is a pudding that tastes rich yet is light, delicate. Then Mother will jubilantly tell the family that this is the new fashioned Christmas Fruit Pudding—that it has apple sauce in it. It's the apple sauce that gives it lightness, that provides the tantalizing something that enhances the flavor of the currants, raisins, dates and other ingredients.

To make the pudding a sure-for-certain triumph, use ready-prepared apple sauce, obtained at any grocer in cans or jars. It has the special flavor, the just right consistency needed. This smooth, luscious consistency and careful flavor are achieved by manufacturers through careful selection of apples picked at the peak of ripeness, and by controlled cooking and canning.

So for this Merry Christmas, serve the traditional Christmas Fruit Pudding made from a recipe designed to please young moderns—and grandma and grandpa, too.

Hot Steamed Christmas Fruit Pudding

1 egg
3/4 cup molasses
1 cup canned apple sauce
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups seedless raisins
1 cup currants
1 cup chopped dates
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Beat egg; add molasses and apple sauce. Sift together flour, salt and baking soda; add to first mixture. Mix smooth. Add raisins, currants and dates; mix thoroughly. Add shortening. Pour into 1 1/2 quart greased pudding mold; cover tightly. Steam 3 hours. Unmold; serve with your favorite pudding sauce. Yields 10-12 servings.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

'Ridiculous Day' Promotes Local Business, Pays Off for Community's Alert Merchants

The "Dollar Day" idea is a common and annual institution in hundreds of cities and towns across the country. It is a solid and acceptable local merchandising stunt, universally popular because it benefits both the buyer and the seller. The consumer gets the bargains he is seeking, and the merchant moves a bigger-than-normal volume of stock from his shelves.

By the very nature of their stability and acceptability, however, Dollar Days as such can bog down in the public mind by becoming too commonplace an institution over the years. Any alert group of merchants can counteract such a trend by adapting the basic "bargain day" concept to fit in with fresh and imaginative promotion procedures and giving the old stand-by a new name and a new approach.

A popular and effective variation on the theme is a community-wide merchandising program carried out successfully in Washington, Iowa, under the appealing title of "Ridiculous Day."

"Ridiculous Day" has come to be an annual event in Washington. The entire business district cooperates in putting it over. Staid and respectable businessmen resort temporarily to buffoonery, dressing, acting, and selling in ridiculous manners.

A "Ridiculous Parade" is staged during the morning of the eventful day which keynotes the activity and, in theory at least, puts the prospective local buyers in a happy and receptive frame of mind. And, according to the Washington merchants, the trick works.

Pre-date enthusiasm among the townspeople is stimulated by advertising in the local paper. The ads, as a general rule, try to set in advance the slightly zany note which characterizes "Ridiculous Day." As a good example of this unorthodox advertising slant, let's take a look at an ad sponsored by T. R. Phillips, a Washington drug store proprietor.

He uses three columns by 10 inches of space for the ad, which is designed in the form of a mock newspaper page, complete with headlines and stories.

The banner heading gets the whole thing off to a properly ignominious start by announcing that "We've Been Brung To This—" Immediately below the banner line there is an explanatory paragraph:

"You'd think a guy like me with 40 years experience in the drug business would have more sense than to buy these cats and dogs, so come on and take advantage of me—I'm not perfect. (either)." Then Mr. Phillips goes on to say "... I've sure caught Hail Columbia from my clerks for buying this junk and now I've just gotta have some help from you."

The rest of the ad Mr. Phillips devotes to exposing specific instances of his sorry ineptitude and how the shoppers can "take advantage" of him.

One story is headed "Here's One Example of My Dumbness" and reads like this: "Quite a lot of Box Stationery (the clerks say I bought these to sell for $1.00) but you can sure get 'em quick for 29 cents each and they'll be just fine for writing to your blind friends."

Another bears the headline: "If You Get a Burning Sensation in Your Home—" and the sales talk under it goes like this: "We've sure got a quick remedy for it. We've bought a lot of Fire Extinguishers (good ones, too) that didn't sell "like hot cakes for $1.00" that's what the salesman said (liar). But we couldn't find many folks who were plannin' to have a fire—so we still have the extinguishers and they're yours without a struggle for 29 cents each. Is that a bargain? (29 cents might save you $2,000 (and 29 cents)."

Mr. Phillips administers the coup de grace to the story of his utter failure as a businessman with this closing paragraph: "Now—we have a lot of other foolish foul balls that we have muffed in our bungling buying—not mentioned here; but we are going to put them out on a table in the center of the store where you can grab them quick if we're not looking, but take a look at the price first. Maybe you can buy 'em cheaper than you can afford to steal them."

The everyday cares and duties, which men call drudgery, are the weights and counterpoises of the clock of time, giving its pendulum a true vibration, and its hands a regular motion; and when they cease to hang upon the wheels, the pendulum no longer swings, the hands no longer move, and the clock stands still.

YULETIDE TRADITION . . . Again this Christmas season, as it has annually since 1929 with the exception of the years of World War II, the Missouri Pacific railroad will light the world's largest Christmas tree. The front of the 22-story general office building in St. Louis, which fronts on Civic Plaza, gives the unique effect of a huge Christmas tree through the turning on of certain lights in certain offices in the large building.

The rescue crew saved him from the ocean off Cape Hatteras when his fighter plane made a forced landing during maneuvers. Lieutenant Hammer, a member of a land-based squadron, said his engine exploded.

In Buenos Aires, a very small fry dissenter in background injects a loud and sour note into the festivities as Peron admirers cheer the Argentine president after his election. The infant obviously isn't one bit impressed with the fact that Juan Peron has been returned to office for another six-year term. The Radical party in Argentina said that many of the vote totals announced in the recent election were incorrect and filed protests.

Corporals Henry and Richard Needham salute the casket of their brother, Sergeant John Needham, before starting their trip from Oakland, Calif., to Lansing, Mich., as escort for their brother who was killed in action in Korea last January. Both Henry and Richard also fought in Korea, receiving seven purple hearts between them. Henry is an amputee. They met in San Francisco where they were assigned to take John's body home.

Korean Peace by Christmas Possible; U. S. Casualties Now Total 100,176

KOREA—Peace in Korea by Christmas is the one gift the people of America's home towns desire more than any other.

The hope that the world will have peace by Christmas was bolstered by reports from Korea that the Communists and Allies were nearing agreement on a cease-fire line across that war-torn country.

Agreement on the cease-fire line, however, does not mean peace by Christmas. After ratification of the line, it becomes the final buffer zone across Korea.

MARCH OF DIMES

FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

JANUARY 2-31

THE DEAD—Meanwhile, this limited Asian conflict, called a police action by many, has turned into the fourth costliest war in this nation's history.

The actual battle figure is higher than the latest released figures, because official announcements of this kind are generally two or three weeks behind combat action.

In comparison, the total battle losses for the entire war in the southwest Pacific was 113,991. Of this total, 84,200 were killed or wounded.

DISARMAMENT—The most important question discussed at the U. N. meeting in Paris thus far has been disarmament on a world-wide scale.

General disarmament would give the people in the home towns of this country and elsewhere in the world a new sense of security.

The Russians insist that prohibition of atomic bombs ought to precede any disarmament move, followed by a big five disarmament conference, and an immediate one-third cut of all conventional armed forces and weapons.

The western idea is for an orderly, stage-by-stage process, starting with a census of existing armaments, including atomic and armed forces; real inspection and verification of any arms cuts; and ultimate prohibition of atomic weapons.

The possibility of a compromise between the two views is unlikely. As a result, the world can expect the general assembly to become mired in debate and world tension to continue at the present level.

THE COLD WAR—On the Cold War front there was one important development during the past week. President Truman ordered withdrawal of all American tariff concessions to the Soviet Union and Poland.

Some weeks ago Russia halted all shipments of manganese to the U. S. and since that time the fur trade has been an important source of dollar revenue for the Communist bloc.

The President's action does not completely halt imports from the Soviet Union and Poland, but it does mean the two countries will have to pay higher tariff rates.

EUROPE—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, told North Atlantic Treaty nations last week that "baby" A-bombs and other new weapons eventually may cut Europe's military requirements, but in the meantime everything possible must be done to build western defenses.

The general said he wanted as many divisions as fast as they could be supplied—between 30 and 40 in 1952 and between 60 and 70 by 1954.

He warned the Atlantic Treaty nations "there is no possibility, if war comes, of any of us, our children, or our children's children, living a life of decency again."

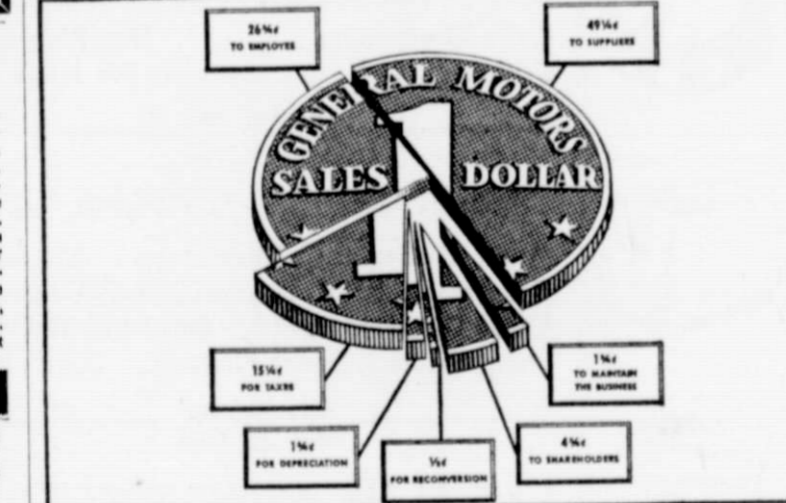

FARM TREND—The latest Bureau of the Census report reveals there has been a decided trend toward fewer but bigger and better equipped farms between 1940 and 1950.

During the decade, however, the average size farm unit grew from 174 acres to 219.5 acres. Despite the decrease in the number of farms the total acreage remained approximately the same in 1950 as in 1945.

Other statistics in the report included: (1) About 870,000 fewer persons were working on U. S. farms in 1950 than in 1940; (2) Less than one-third as many horses and mules were on farms in 1950 as in 1920; (3) In 1950 there were 59,764,000 cattle and calves more than three months old on farms as compared to 60,674,736 in April, 1940; (4) The number of chickens on farms was 2,500,000, or 0.7 per cent more than in 1940.

GAMBLING—The new federal tax on gambling may reach into hundreds of home towns as a result of a new ruling by Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap. The commissioner has ruled that the $50 license fee on gambling applies to thousands of stores which have punch boards on their premises.

Each clerk in such establishments as tobacco shops, gas stations and other retail stores where the owners accept money from a customer for a punch board chance must purchase a license, he ruled.

What happens to the millions big corporations take in each year has often baffled the man on Main Street. Here is how General Motors, one of the biggest in the nation, spent its sales dollar: 26 3/4 cents to employees, 49 1/4 cents to suppliers, 15 1/4 cents for taxes, 1 3/4 cents for depreciation, 1/2 cent for reconversion, 4 3/4 cents to shareholders, and 1 3/4 to maintain the business.

NATIONAL DEBT

U. S. Debt Nearing $275 Billion Limit

Barring unexpected changes in the present economic trend, the United States debt is expected to push past the present legal limit of $275,000,000,000 during the next year.

As a result, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder is expected to ask congress to raise the national debt ceiling.

At the end of November the national debt was estimated at $259,000,000,000, an increase of $4 billion since April and the highest in 4 1/2 years.

By June, 1952, the debt is expected to amount to $262,500,000,000. If present spending and tax receipt forecasts are correct the debt will pass the $65 billion mark during the following six months. This would necessitate lifting the legal debt ceiling.

And when Snyder asks for an increase, he may suggest $300,000,000,000, the limit during the unprecedented borrowing days of World War II. The ceiling was lowered after the war and the debt dipped as low as $251,246,000,000 in June, 1949.

During the fiscal year ended last June 30, the government took in $3,510,000,000 more than it spent, the second biggest surplus in history. The treasury reduced the debt $2,135,000,000 during the year and kept the rest in cash to meet booming defense expenses.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round BY DREW PEARSON

Peace and Prestige

ONE REASON President Truman ducked out for the Key West sunshine was to work undisturbed on two major issues that have been keeping him awake nights—world peace and the administration's sagging prestige.

While House assistants were warmed about the Key West trip by Mr. Truman at a staff conference, "This won't be any picnic. We've got plenty of hard work to do."

On the first headache, peace, Mr. Truman assembled all the plans and ideas dumped on the White House doorstep to study at Key West. He hopes to come up with a tangible, imaginative program to stop the spread of communism and prevent war.

The President, for all his other faults, has an almost mystic, though sometimes naive sense of his role of a peacemaker and constantly repeats to close associates: "The only thing that counts is to find a way to world peace."

Mr. Truman has in mind a type of point 4 program which would teach other nations how to build their industry and agriculture as an alternative to the huge armaments race. He is also deeply concerned about a related problem which this columnist has frequently reported—namely, the hundreds of thousands of iron curtain escapees who have fled to the west but are treated no better than under Communist regimes, simply because the Atlantic Pact nations have no plan of action.

Before he left for Florida, Mr. Truman suggested to several senate friends who planned European junkets: "Look around while you are abroad, and tell me really what is happening, what people over there are thinking, and what we should do."

On the second major problem—sagging prestige here at home—Truman remarked to new Democratic chairman Frank McKinney that the corruption issue had sunk deeper than he realized and there had to be a house cleaning. He indicated to McKinney that he would try to work out something drastic along this line.

One top presidential adviser has recommended that Howard McGrath, the do-nothing attorney general, be dropped, and a hard-driving independent reformer be appointed to crack down on crooks and grafters. Two names were suggested: Sen. Wayne Morse, the Oregon republican, and Sen. Estes Kefauver, the crime-busting Democrat.

Truce Talks

Here is the inside story on the Korean truce talks.

General Ridgway has cabled a strong recommendation to the Pentagon that we keep the military pressure on the Communists until all the terms of the armistice are settled. Otherwise, he warns that the Chinese will stall over such matters as inspection teams and exchanging prisoners.

Ridgway also claimed that his forces can hurry the final armistice—provided they remain free to twist the Communists' arm. On the other hand, he argues that after a truce his men won't feel like fighting for ground that they know is going to be given back anyway.

However, there is no question but that Ridgway's proposal represents a definite and important change of policy.

When we went into the truce talks, the biggest obstacle seemed to be drawing a truce line. We agreed—in fact, urged—that the truce line be settled first. This has been the whole question of the past several weeks.

When we drew our proposed truce line on a map so the Communists could have no doubts about it. After months of haggling, the Communists finally came around to our terms. Their last proposal was so close to our demands that there was nothing left to haggle over.

At first Washington couldn't understand why Ridgway didn't snap it up, but sent his negotiators back instead with a flat rejection and a warning that the truce line couldn't be drawn until the other terms of the armistice were settled.

Backstage

The ABN underground in southern Russia claims three Soviet republics, Kazakh, Uzbek and Turkmen, are boiling with revolt and vast purges. (ABN is an underground of Moslem and Mongolian groups in south and east Russia.)

A peasant revolt in all the European satellites has brought a shake-up in Communist agriculture ministries plus short rations. . . . Argentina's dictator Peron has just fired eight of his top generals.

The Iranian Shah has secretly conferred with a former premier noted for his Russian sympathies who may replace Premier Mossadegh. The pro-Russian is Qavam Al-Saltaneh, whose cabinet fell in 1947 when parliament rejected his agreements giving the Soviet big oil and border concessions. . . . Two lieutenants of the wily Mufti of Jerusalem who worked for Hitler and now for Stalin are actively organizing terrorist gangs and an "army of liberation" for Egypt. They are not being deterred by the Egyptian government.

IN CONTRAST . . . The irony in this picture is brought to mind when one remembers the disclosure of the slaughter of some 6,000 American prisoners of war by Chinese and North Korean captors. Shown are N. Korean "guests" of 1st Marine Division, about to indulge in cake at celebration of Marine anniversary.

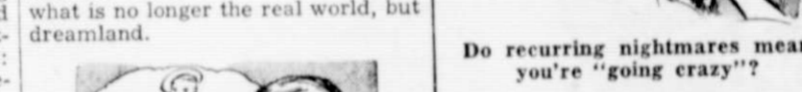

MIRROR Of Your MIND Recalling Past Not Neurotic By Lawrence Gould

Is keeping anniversaries neurotic?

Answer: Not in itself, of course. It is both natural and pleasant to enjoy recalling the bright spots in your past and to be grateful for them. But don't let your happy memories tempt you to forget that the past cannot really be recaptured and that it is in the present and the future that any real satisfaction must lie.

You and your mate never can be happy again in exactly the same way as on the day that you became engaged because you are different people from the ones you were then. Trying to deny this is neurotic because it means living in what is no longer the real world, but dreamland.

Do recurring nightmares mean you're "going crazy"?

Answer: No. They merely show that you are suffering from a severe emotional conflict—quite probably based on fear or anger which you manage to repress successfully when awake. Many people have such conflicts with no more serious result than lessened efficiency due to waste of nervous energy, and the nightmares actually tend to ease the tension rather than increase it.

For unpleasant as they are, they do provide a partial outlet for your repressed feelings. Still, if you have nightmares regularly, it will be to your advantage to have a psychiatrist help you get rid of the emotions that inspire them.

KEEPING HEALTHY Try To Save Baby Teeth if Possible By Dr. James W. Barton

AS YOUNGSTERS, the loss of a tooth (a first tooth) did not seem a serious matter. If one of the front teeth was lost it was an event in the schoolyard, as we could then spit between our teeth. It was not unusual, if one of these baby teeth got loose, to tie a string or piece of thread around it, tie the end of string to door knob and close the door.

When we think of the importance to proper chewing of food and the appearance of the face of these first teeth, we wonder that we came through as well as we did.

Dentists today tell us that first teeth should not be removed until they fall out, as they keep a place in the jaw. If removed too soon, the space will shrink to some extent and not leave enough room for the permanent teeth.

In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. John A. Bigler, Professor of Pediatrics, North western University Medical School, after outlining the cause of decay of the teeth, states that the only sure way of treating a cavity that has already formed is by restoring the damaged structure or decayed part. Restoration is the first step in controlling caries (decay).

Parents, physicians and dentists should be made to realize that deciduous (baby) teeth require the same attention as the permanent teeth," writes Dr. Bigler.

We may never think about it, but every tooth has its own place and a special job to do in the mouth, baby teeth as well as permanent teeth. Each baby tooth holds a place in the jawbone until the permanent tooth comes through to take that place.

Further, Dr. Bigler points out that Nature has provided a right or proper pattern for the permanent tooth to erupt or come through the gum. Each erupting tooth is dependent on its neighbor for its position. This proper position is also influenced by the muscular pressure of the lips, cheek and tongue.

HEALTH NOTES Protein is not stored in the body. Proteins are the building stones of the body. The migrains headache is one-sided with nausea and vomiting. Protective foods prevent many ailments. The protective foods are milk and leafy vegetables. Focal infection is an important cause of arthritis and other diseases. Lean men live longer. Heart disease stands first as a cause of death. A child who cannot hear the teacher is losing more than one who cannot see the blackboard. Eating more food makes little difference in some cases of underweight, as infection, overactivity, not enough sleep, overactive glands and other factors may cause underweight.

Wisconsin has the third highest ratio of sanatorium beds to deaths among the 48 states, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association reports. But sanatorium beds remain filled in spite of the decline in the tuberculosis death rate. There's still a big job for the Christmas Seal.

Christmas Seals helped Wisconsin keep the lowest tuberculosis death rate last year of any state east of the Mississippi River. The state also had the lowest death rate of any state of 3,000,000 population or over.
