

Edward Basil Killed by Car Early Thursday

Edward P. "Tippy" Basil, 57, of this village was killed when he was struck by a car driven by Thomas F. Fay, 27, also of the village, at about 1 a. m. Thursday, Aug. 7, in front of the H. J. Lay Lumber company office building on Main st. Some of the street lights on the block were out at the time.

Fay was traveling west when his car hit Basil, who apparently was crossing the street at the scene, Fay reported to officers that Basil walked directly into the path of his auto and that he swerved out but could not avoid striking him. Evidence showed that Basil was thrown up onto the hood of the car before being tossed aside to the concrete pavement. He landed up against the curb. Fay's wife was a passenger in his vehicle.

Basil died shortly after the accident. He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, in the firemen's ambulance but was pronounced dead on arrival. The body was returned to Miller's funeral home. Basil died of a skull fracture, internal injuries, leg fractures and facial injuries.

Basil, a former custodian at the Kewaskum Public schools many years, was presently employed by the L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain company. He was born March 10, 1895 in Kewaskum and was a resident of the village all his life except for a short time a few years ago when he lived in West Bend. He was married to Rudolphine Blum on Sept. 4, 1919 in the St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran church by Rev. Greve. The Basils had a new home erected on North avenue and just moved into it this spring.

Surviving together with the widow are two sisters, Mrs. Ella Gudex of Campbellsport and Linda (Mrs. Ben Schmidt) of Kewaskum, and four brothers, William and Ernest Basil of Milwaukee, Ervin and Oscar of Fond du Lac. No children were born to the couple.

The deceased, a son of the late Martin and Mary Basil, was a veteran of World War I and a member of Robert G. Romaine Post 354, American Legion, of Kewaskum.

Kewaskum Juniors Lose to Barton, 6-4

The Kewaskum Rock River Junior leaguers outfit Barton, 11 to 6, there Sunday but came out on the short end of a 6-4 score. The hits didn't come at the right time and Barton's did. A good game afield by Barton with the help of six errors by the locals helped lag the victory.

Melsenheimer struck out 7 and walked 3. He tied up the score early in the game with a triple. P. Frings, winning twirler, fanned but 3 and passed 2. In holding Barton to 6 hits while his mates were collecting 11, "Meisy" easily outpitched his opponent.

Catcher Dreher was the top batter with three bingles. Loomis and Felix each garnered two. Hensler was the only Barton batter with 2. This Sunday Kewaskum's final game of the season is scheduled at Allenton although the team still has a rain-out tilt to make up with Juneau.

Granville Beats Chevys; Hits Even

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division)

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Rows include Granville, Grafton, Kewaskum, Mequon, West Bend, Newburg, Slinger, Germantown, Saukville, Cedarburg.

Scores last Sunday—Granville 11, Kewaskum 3; Mequon 6, West Bend 5; Newburg 12, Cedarburg 1; Grafton 4, Slinger 1; Germantown 8, Saukville 5.

Games this Sunday—Cedarburg at Kewaskum, Germantown at Slinger, Granville at Newburg, Grafton at West Bend, Mequon at Saukville.

Although the hits were even on both sides, each team getting 14, Kewaskum was trounced by league leading Granville here Sunday, 11-3. The defeat dropped the team back to third place as the result of Grafton's victory.

Kewaskum hit Sweitzig, Granville's new young pitcher, plenty but they couldn't drive the base runners around when they counted. That was the difference between the teams. With men on the bases Granville's heavy hitters repeatedly came through with timely hits to drive them in. Usually when the Chevys got runners on the bases they died there. This is proven by the statistics which show that Kewaskum had 14 men left on the bases and Granville had only four.

The locals tallied two runs in the second inning when after three walks Jerry Stautz came through with a single. The other marker in the seventh resulted from hits by C. Stautz, Joe Miller and Roger Schleit.

K. Honeck went the route for the losers and along with Granville's 13 safeties he walked four and struck out four. Sweitzig also was nipped for 13 hits, passed five and whiffed seven.

Heaviest hitter of the day was C. Stautz with three in five trips, one of them a double. J. Stautz, Prost and Miller each collected two. Dekker drove out a long triple and a long fly ball that almost fell for another. Petzold, Glesner, Getzlaff and Sweitzig each drove out two bingles for the winners.

This Sunday Kewaskum entertains last place Cedarburg. They should be able to pull out a win and improve their position in the standings.

Behind The Scenes In American Business
By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — Although not pessimistic, executives of 228 companies are not as cheerful about the 1952 business outlook as they were six months ago, a survey by the National Industrial Conference Board indicates.

The high rate of production, along with its indications of intensified competition; the easing of materials shortages; the trend toward greater labor unrest, and the defense stretchout seemed to have caused the business leaders to revise their estimates. Only 40 per cent expected higher sales this year; 50 per cent thought so at the beginning of the year. Two-thirds expect lower profits and more than half expect a reduction in unfilled orders.

The outlook is still good, however. The best indicator of this is that only one company in every twenty is cutting back on its capital expansion program.

OPERATION CONVERSION—The arrival of natural gas in thousands of communities this year poses a problem to hundreds of thousands of homeowners: How can they take advantage of this low-cost natural fuel when their homes are heated by coal or oil systems?

One solution is suggested by housing contractors, who report that thousands of homes are being expanded to take care of the space needs of growing families. In the process, heating systems are being modernized with the simple installation of compact gas conversion burners in existing furnaces or boilers.

Substantiating the contractors' report is a statistical survey made by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association which shows that shipments of gas conversion burners this year have soared over last year. In one recent month shipments jumped 85 per cent over the corresponding month of last year, 38 per cent in another month and 29 per cent in still another. GAMA's survey also discloses that 68,600 conversion burners were shipped during the first five months of the year as compared with the prewar average for a similar period of only 6,750.

THINGS TO COME—A new deodorizer that doesn't contain chlorophyll has hit the market at last. It is a combination ultraviolet ray odor eliminator and decorative indirect light. . . Duffer's delight: a light-weight practice golf ball looks just like the real thing but is one-third as heavy. Biggest advantage—it accentuates hooks and slices, helping the golfer get a more perfect stroke. . . If you are a commercial photographer and bothered by rust and corrosion in the darkroom, try a recently announced quick-drying liquid stainless steel to protect surfaces. . . Water will get rid of water in basements, trenches or practically any other place. An inexpensive brass gadget is connected to two lengths of hose and dipped in the water. One end of hose goes to the tap and the other to the drain. Turn on the water and you'll find your unwanted pool disappearing at the rate of 300 gallons an hour.

COLOR CONSCIOUS—Conservatism is the byword in sales of clay tile for floors and walls. The Tile Council of America reports that gray and pastels are leading all other colors selected by home owners for kitchens and bathrooms.

E. C. Carlyle, chairman of the council, attributes the predominance of the more "livable" shades to the fact that the home-construction dollar is being spent cautiously. Because some fixtures and surfacing are expected to last at least the lifetime of the house, purchasers are careful to pick colors which will not become tiresome.

Deep and brilliant colors still have their advocates but the Tile Council's files show that in the East the favorites are yellow, cream and gray; in the South pale green and blue; in the Southwest, blue and peach; and in the West, yellow and cream. Rose is the favorite of many in Tennessee; maroon is finding ready buyers in Alabama; ivory and peach rate high in sunny Texas, and pink in Colorado.

STOCK OWNERSHIP LAGS—Stock brokers and other interested parties got a rude shock from the first comprehensive study of stock ownership in this country. Those who have loudly proclaimed the breadth of John Q. Public's stake in capitalism through stock ownership were surprised to find recently that only 4.2 per cent of the population, or 6,490,000, actually own stock.

This is a somewhat smaller number than some financial observers had estimated. One bright note was that there has been a decided rise in the number of stockholders in recent years. About one-fifth of the total became share owners in the past three years and six per cent acquired their stock in 1951.

MOOSE STOPS TRAFFIC

Berlin, N. H.—While driving along a narrow country road, Richard Pinette, schoolteacher, was stopped by a bull moose that loomed in front of his automobile. Pinette, knowing that a bull moose when irked can do a lot of damage, just sat there, staring at the animal. Finally, along came another car. This was too much for the moose. He shook his head and walked away. Traffic was then resumed.

JUMPS TO OLYMPICS—Chicagoan Mabel Landry soars through the air to set a new U. S. women's broad jump record of 18 feet, three inches at Harrisburg, Pa. Nineteen-year-old Mabel won a berth on our Olympic team and a chance to compete in summer games at Helsinki, Finland.

Hereditary Factor In Breast Cancer; Cold Vapor Now Used For Laryngitis

Inheritance may be a factor in breast cancer, according to studies conducted by the Columbia University Medical School. There seems to be some evidence that the daughter of a woman who has had cancer is three times as likely to get it herself. A cold vapor is now used in some hospitals for croup and severe laryngitis instead of the usual hot steam inhalations, according to Dr. Edward T. Wilkes, who reports on these and other advances in medicine, in Redbook Magazine for July.

"Based on a review of studies by six research teams, Dr. Moos of Columbia University Medical School concludes that there is some evidence of an inheritance factor in breast cancer. The chances of developing it are three times greater in the daughter of a woman who has had it than in other women. It has been suggested that the breast milk of a mother with breast cancer might contain a factor which later produces breast cancer in the grown-up offspring. Although such a factor can be demonstrated in mice, conclusive evidence for it was not found in the human studies.

"With early diagnosis, breast cancer can be cured, so women should go to a physician as soon as there is any abnormality in the breast, such as a lump, sore or dimpling of the skin. These may not mean cancer, of course, but prompt observation will be reassuring and much needless suffering may be avoided.

"Parents who fear to give a child eggs because of a skin reaction will be interested in the studies of Drs. B. Ratner and S. Untraet at the New York Medical College. They skin-tested over 500 children with eczema or asthma and learned that such tests were not conclusive. Each child must be studied individually. A positive skin test may persist long after the child has overcome the actual reaction to egg and can eat it without any skin eruption or asthmatic attack. The tests showed that in most instances children gradually overcome this sensitivity.

"A new technique using cold vapor for severe laryngitis or croup is being tried in some hospitals. This method avoids both excessive perspiration and the danger of scalding from hot steam. Antibiotics are used in addition to the cold-vapor therapy.

"A chemical which makes water wetter is vaporized into a transport box tent. Oxygen is passed through the solution under pressure. A humidity of 70 per cent is quickly produced.

"A West Virginia physician has had success with a very simple trick in removing foreign bodies in the nose. Place the child on his back, a clean handkerchief over his mouth, and hold the nostril opposite the one in which the foreign body is lodged. Then have the child blow gently into the handkerchief. The blast of air will blow the object out of the nose. Another home remedy is to throw some pepper into the nostrils. The resulting sneeze sometimes forces the object out. If these measures are not successful, call your doctor."

Gardening Needs Safe Methods

A peaceful garden may seem an unlikely spot for accidents, but it has a variety of dangers which can cause serious mishaps if the gardener does not know how to avoid them. A bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical association states that safety should be of major concern to every gardener.

Ordinary harmless rakes and hoes, when wrongly used, can be hazardous. A slippery walk, a misplaced pair of shears or a badly placed ladder can cause a serious accident.

Here are a few do's and don'ts for the careful gardener:

1. Do not leave unused tools lying around the garden. If you must use them again soon, leave them out of the way and with the sharp or pointed side down so that no one can stumble over them.
2. Know the difference between harmless and noxious plants; wear gloves when you aren't certain, and to protect against thorn and nettle scratches. Gloves will protect you from poison ivy, but short sleeves won't. Wash or discard contaminated gloves.
3. Be careful of protruding or falling twigs, angry bees, chemical sprays. When pruning branches, don't stand directly underneath. Falling twigs may cause painful eye injury.
4. In supporting wobbly plants, make sure the stakes are easily seen by using a color which contrasts to the foliage. Stakes should be at least a foot higher than the plant.
5. Don't make a trap of protective wire or cord—attach bits of white paper or rag to warn visitors.
6. Make sure your ladder is firmly braced; when climbing down, get a good grasp and look where you step. If the ladder is too far away, don't risk reaching and tipping over; get down and move the ladder close enough so that you can reach easily.

TOO LATE THEN

Geneva, N. Y.—A bulky envelope arrived at the State Agricultural Experiment Station, Miss Jessie Sperry, a secretary, sifted through the plant leaves that tumbled out until she found an unsigned note, which read: "Is this poison ivy or poison oak?" It was poison ivy.

He that goeth to bed with dogs ariseth with fleas.—John Sanford.

Bible Comment:

Purity of Heart Is More Than Just Resisting Evil

TO the wise men among the ancients the center of man's physical being, but it symbolized also the center and source of his moral and spiritual life. He thought not only with his mind, but with his heart. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." "Search the heart, for out of it are the issues of life."

Purity of heart, therefore, became the supreme condition of a good and wholesome life, as much as pure blood is the condition of a healthy body. One can live with a diseased body, for a time at least, just as one can live with a diseased soul, but the seeds of destruction are there. And the conditions and demands of good moral health are as imperative as are the conditions and demands of good health for the body.

What does it mean to be pure in heart? The common tendency is to think of "purity" chiefly, if not altogether, in terms of sex; but purity of heart means a great deal more than avoidance of what Saint Peter has called the "Fleshly lusts that war against the soul." There are other lusts that are as damaging to the soul, and that are perhaps even more destructive to man's fellowmen. There is the lust of power and wealth; and there is even the lust of ease, and the lust of pleasure, which unregulated and uncontrolled can destroy in man the sense of duty.

Purity, too, must be considered on its positive side. It is not enough to resist the temptations of evil; it is necessary to be moved by the impulses of good, and power of love. Purity means strength as well as freedom from taint.

Purity relates to much more than sexual conduct, but that does not mean that purity in that area is any less vital. The Bible is very plain and outspoken concerning right relations between man and woman. It commends the virtuous woman, who will do her husband "good and not evil all the days of her life," and it warns against the "strange women" in whose lures are the ways of destruction. Ancient counsel still holds good.

HAMBURGERS RISE to deluxe rating when they have a rich tomato sauce. To prepare them, shape 4 patties from a mixture of 1 pound ground beef, 1 small onion chopped, 1 egg, 1/2 cup soft bread cubes, and salt and pepper. Cook till done in shortening in a skillet. Put hamburgers on a platter. Then pour 1 can (1 1/2 cups) of condensed tomato soup into the skillet, stir to loosen browned bits of meat. When sauce is hot, pour over patties.

"A TISKET, A-TASKET," go pack the picnic basket and get ready to celebrate the month of July. A dish you'll be glad to have in the basket is pork and beans mixed with browned chunks of frankfurters. You can prepare the beans over the campfire. First brown 2 or 3 sliced frankfurters and some chopped onion in shortening in a skillet. Then stir in a can of beans (1-pound size) plus 1/2 cup tomato ketchup and 1 1/2 teaspoons mustard. Simmer about 15 minutes to blend the flavors. One can of beans makes enough for 3 people. Count on extra active appetites.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER is the way you'll feel when you keep meals completely simple in the summertime. And they'll be big-hit meals with your family if you star such favorites as soups and salads. Give them brimming bowls of chicken noodle soup; and for salad have a luscious combination of tuna, chopped celery and stuffed olives on lettuce. A satisfying dessert to go with this menu is luscious red raspberries poured over plain cake squares (made with a mix), top with vanilla ice cream.

Sports Afield
By Ted Kesting

There are few Americans who know the story of George Catlin. Yet Catlin did for the American Indians exactly what Audubon did for our native birds. He painted their pictures on the spot and also left us written records of the Indian way of life.

He was born in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, on July 26, 1796. He was a child of the wilderness and until the day he died the wilderness kept its hold on him. By the time he was nine he was an expert with the single-barreled shotgun. His family wanted him to be a lawyer and he did pass his bar examinations but might as well have spared himself the effort, according to biographer Moran Tudury.

From 1819 to 1823 he was supposed to be practicing law. Actually, most of his time was spent drawing pictures of courtroom characters. Finally he gave up law and enrolled in the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts. One day he visited Rembrandt Peale's Museum and discovered several portraits of Indians that were part of the exhibition. From then on until his death in 1872 his life was to be devoted to one purpose alone. It was to live among the Indians and to make a pictorial record of their way of life before they vanished from the American scene.

Everywhere he traveled he found the strange details of a form of life unique on this earth. He was revolted by the Indian practice of scalping—but this revulsion didn't prevent him from investigating it. So far as the Indian was concerned, he was told, it was never wanted. A scalp was evidence that you had killed an enemy—proof, like a buck's antlers for the hunter, that you had conquered. To be genuine, a scalp had to show the crown of the head. This prevented a deceitful warrior from taking two scalps from the same head.

The Indian horses and Comanche horsemanship thrilled Catlin. By gifts of plug tobacco he persuaded one young warrior to demonstrate. Although armed with bow and arrow, this Comanche was able to hang securely on the side of his horse while going at breakneck speed. Completely screened from the enemy, he fired arrow after arrow under the horse's neck. The secret of this eye-filling feat was due to two things. A short halter went around the horse's neck, both ends of which were braided into the animal's mane near the withers. This formed a loop which hung down under the horse's neck. It was a kind of sling into which the rider's elbow rested, half-supporting his body. Then the Indian threw one leg over the horse's back and clung to it with his heel.

These and many more were the things that George Catlin saw—and that he set down in words and paint. He left us a living picture of the American Indian and the thunderous western scene.

A smart investor usually puts his money into an enterprise about which he knows something.

QUESTION: Will you tell me the best type of paint to use on asbestos fireproof shingles? Would you recommend oil base paint or water paint?
—T.W., Chesterton, Indiana

ANSWER: If the shingles cannot be cleaned to original whiteness by washing, be sure they are dry, apply a primer coat of shellac or outside paint underneath, then a coat of oil base house paint.

QUESTION: We're putting rock veneer on our home. Would like to know this: can one do all the work he is capable of in a day, or does the weight and moisture of the mortar determine how high one can build at a time? Does it have to set a fixed length of time after a certain amount of weight is added, or can the work continue right along?
—W.H.B., Reno, Nevada

ANSWER: Mortar sets rapidly insofar as its weight bearing ability is concerned. It can hold a man's weight in less than an hour. May take several days to cure but work on masonry may continue as fast as one, or even two, men may work. Don't hesitate to keep right on working as long as weather allows.

QUESTION: I am insulating my attic, and intended using batts. You have advocated the use of metallic paper insulation. Have heard that this type is not effective if it touches sheathing of finished wall, or if it becomes covered with dust. Is this true?
—D.J., Jersey City, N. J.

ANSWER: Don't know where the rumor started on metal foil insulation. Actually, it reflects radiant heat. Painted on a radiator, for instance, metallic paint reflects a percentage of heat back into the coils. The same applies to the foil. Heat from inside, or outside, is reflected—so long as it is radiant heat. In house walls, radiant heat from the sun is reflected outward, radiant heat from artificial heating plants deflected back to the inside of the house—both regardless of how installed.

Summer Care Is One Secret To Husky Calves

Calves don't need a lot of attention during summer months. But a little extra attention can help you raise healthier, thriftier heifers.

Jim Crowley, dairy husbandman, says tempt baby calves to eat hay as soon as possible—but don't turn them out on pasture until they are past the milk-drinking stage. That is usually when they are between two and three months old.

Although calves never start eating much hay until they are two months old, Crowley says you can help the calf's stomach develop by letting it nibble on hay. Give a calf some hay cows and heifers have been chewing when it is a week old. He thinks it best to limit grain to four pounds a day after the calves start eating hay well.

Crowley cautions against feeding calves any silage until they are four months old, and then no more than a pound a day.

Calves need exercise. A special pasture lot for them is okay if they are getting plenty of good hay and grain—but Crowley says calves get pot bellies if they are allowed to eat all the green grass they want and don't get enough hay and grain.

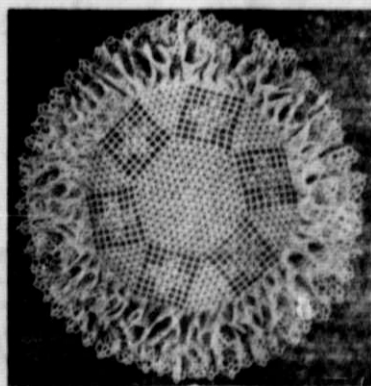

Of course, calves like other animals need plenty of water in the hot months. And be sure the calves in the lot have access to a salt block and bone meal in a covered box.

Whenever a calf is born in the pasture, bring it in as soon as possible. Crowley says it's all right to let it nurse for a few days—if the calf and cow are confined in a dry lot.

Florists Can Use Chemical Spray To Delay Lilies

Florists can now use a chemical to delay flowering of Croft Easter lilies. And, that way, they will be able to time their plants right on the dot for holiday bloom.

Horticulturists at the University of Wisconsin have found that very small amounts of a chemical called maleic hydrazide will delay blooms on the lilies. But the chemical must be used with care.

Too high a concentration of the chemical, while delaying blossoming, causes abnormal flower development or may even prevent blossoming. If the chemical is used on younger plants, even the very weak concentrations can cause trouble.

It's hard to make recommendations about using maleic hydrazide on Easter lilies, says horticulturist B. E. Struckmeyer. Florists sometimes find it necessary to delay blossoming slightly, so the flowers will be at their peak during the holiday season. The chemical's effect on blossoming depends on the age of the plants and the concentration of spray used.

It's safest to wait until plants are about 12 inches high and have visible blossom buds, Struckmeyer says. In last year's tests, plants sprayed with 0.025 per cent and 0.1 per cent solutions of maleic hydrazide at this stage of development, developed very few abnormal flowers (2 1/2%). At these concentrations, blossoming was delayed for two or three days.

Concentrations of the chemical as high as 0.2 per cent caused 62 per cent of the flowers to develop abnormally and delayed blossoming about eight days. No florist would want to risk 62 per cent of his plants, Struckmeyer says.

Even five per cent abnormal blossoms would probably be too much. The lowest concentrations brought this much blossom injury when sprayed on young plants.

An exciting bit of fashion news is the indoor-outdoor petticoat, to be worn either as a skirt or under your summer frocks. For a good, versatile, take you anywhere petticoat wardrobe, the first thing to consider is the washability of all the fabrics—especially the stiff ones.

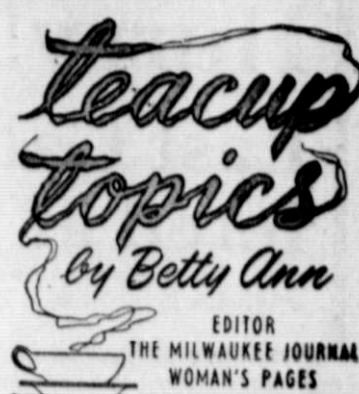

Always make sure that the hemlines of your petticoats are spanking clean, too. Use a small, stiff brush dipped in soapsuds and go over the edgings carefully before laundering the entire garment.

Here are some hot weather suggestions from a well known beauty authority: Don't wear clothes that are binding. Choose light weight, easily laundered fabrics for your summer wardrobe. Light colors are cooler, because dark shades absorb heat.

Keep a box of deodorant powder at the office if hands or feet have a tendency to perspire. A plastic packaged spray deodorant is ideal for your beach bag, for it will not break or leak, and is handy for use in the bathroom when you take your shower. When applying a cream deodorant, coat the entire surface of the underarm, rubbing the cream gently into the skin. Wait a few moments, then carefully blot off excess cream, leaving a thin protective coat.

Don't look now—but your petticoat is showing. It's all right, though, for this season fashion is pointing to tiny waistlines and billowing skirts puffed out with pretty underpinnings, says Betty Ann.

A variety of colors and materials allow you much more leeway than great-grandmother ever had, plus the wonderful advantage of completely washable fabrics.

Nylon nets and tricot are petticoat favorites permanently finished to retain their stiffness after countless soapy dunkings. You can eliminate all ironing if you finger press close gathers or tucks. Simply draw the material through your fingers slowly and firmly.

Batiste, organdy, plisse, or dotted swiss make ideal underskirts and, with their delicate rows of lace and ribbon, look delightfully gay peeking out from under a glazed chintz or taffeta overskirt.

(File is the aromatic powder of dried sassafras leaves and an essential ingredient of gumbo.)

Cut chicken into about 10 pieces. Wash well; dry. Sauté in salt pork fat in Dutch oven. Pour off excess fat. Add onions, pepper, parsley, celery and okra. Sauté for 30 minutes slowly. Open Class Livestock Winners at County Fair

The county fair show of open class livestock was not overly large due to the fact that exhibitors were limited in the number of animals they were permitted to enter. However, the quality of the animals shown was of the very best. It could well be said that every open class animal shown would make a creditable showing at any state fair. In the dairy bull classes championship ribbons were won by the following breeders:
 Holstein—Christ Mayer, R. 1, Slinger; Guernsey—Carl F. Schoeni, R. 1, Hubertus; Brown Swiss—Lawrence Hansen, R. 1, Hubertus.
 Other exhibitors who placed high in the dairy bull classes include:
 Roland Bast, R. 1, Rockfield; Herbert Lepien, R. 3, Hartford; Frederick Schroeder, R. 4, West Bend; Christ Hennes, R. 1, Hubertus; Hilbert Farm, Germantown.
 In the dairy females, heifers, young dairy cows, and older dairy cows, the competition was keen especially in the purebred dairy heifer class.
 Winners in the purebred heifer classes under two years were:
 Robert Mayer, R. 1, Richfield; Bill Mayer, R. 1, Slinger; Guido Schroeder, R. 5, West Bend; Ray Bast, R. 1, Rockfield; Frederick Schroeder, R. 4, West Bend; Roland Bast, R. 1, Rockfield.
 In the Guernsey class, Roy Schoeni, R. 1, Slinger, was awarded a blue ribbon on his beautiful Guernsey heifer. In Brown Swiss competition, Lawrence Hansen won over the Hilbert Farm entry.
 In the young dairy cow class, 2 years old and under 4, competition was a bit lighter and the judge made his awards as follows:
 Holsteins—1st, Christ Mayer; 2nd, Herbert Lepien; 3rd, Bill Mayer; 4th, Ray Bast.
 Carl Schoeni won a blue ribbon on his Guernsey entry and the Lawrence Hansen entry was awarded the blue ribbon in the Brown Swiss breed. The Hilbert Farm received a red ribbon on their entry.
 Real keen competition again manifested itself when the older dairy cow class was led into the ring. The five top awards were as follows:
 1st, Christ Mayer; 2nd, Ray Bast; 3rd, Robert Mayer; 4th, Guido Schroeder; 5th, Frederick Schroeder.
 Carl Schoeni won out in the Guernsey division and Hilbert Farms in the Brown Swiss breeds. Competition in these two entries was not as keen as in the Holstein division.
 Championship females by breeds were awarded as indicated below:
 Holstein—Christ Mayer; Guernsey—Carl Schoeni; Brown Swiss—Hilbert Farms.
 In the open class swine show, Erwin Raub, R. 1, Slinger, won first and championship ribbon on his Berkshire junior boar.
 In the mare and colt entries, Ray Bast of Rockfield won over his brother Arthur Bast of Hartford, R. 1. Ray also won the championship ribbon.

Below is a list of the winners of the Kewaskum vicinity at the recent Washington county fair. Only blue ribbon winners and those receiving placings 1-10 in classes using the sliding scale are listed. Where classes are not listed there are no blue ribbon winners. Kewaskum area winners were:

Built along entirely new principles, the "Flying Disk" is powered by a six-cylinder engine with three double-body carburetors, and can develop about 200 horse power with a maximum speed of 120 mph.

"PENNY" JOINS PARIS SOCIETY—Mrs. Matthew Ridgway, otherwise known as "Penny," attends the annual "Journée des Dées" in Paris wearing a simple dress and a wide straw hat. Litchfield—This city turned out en masse to see a vivacious 15-year-old school girl reap the generous reward of American candor. Blythe Anne Johnson's essay on "Why America Is Great" won for her a plane trip to shrines of our nation's history, plus a $4,000 college scholarship. "America is great," Blythe Anne believes, "because we drag our faults out into the open for all to see and criticize and help correct—we do not hush-hush and pretend all is well, to look beautiful outwardly while rotting from the inside. This makes America noisy and our faults public, but it is clean and healthy." Blythe's 12-year-old brother won a plane trip in the same nationwide contest.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT LAKE TRAFFIC

Duluth—What do the big shipping companies of the Great Lakes do during the winter freeze-up? Boats and equipment need, and get, attention. Perhaps less known is the fact that the shipping personnel gets special attention, too, during the immobile winter months. From January 2 to February 28 in Marine City and in Cleveland "lakes men" go to school. This year 123 earned original licenses in navigation and in engineering, and 131 license holders earned certificates of higher grade; these 254 men represented twelve separate fleets plying the lake waters with ore, grain, oil, passengers, and all manner of cargo.

HAND FIRING A COAL FURNACE

There may be a number of reasons why a furnace backfires smoke through the doors. I suggest you check the following conditions with your own, and we may be able to locate the trouble.

Good Draft Vital
The top of your chimney should be at least two feet higher than the tallest part of your roof. Anything less is apt to cause a down draft. Trees or taller buildings close by also may cause a down draft.

Is your furnace the only heating device using the chimney flue? I saw a new house recently which had a furnace, a hot water heater and an incinerator, all connected to the same flue. That condition is apt to cause trouble.

Damper Operation
The ashpit damper should be closed when firing the furnace, or when opening the feeder door. The turn damper in the stack should be turned with the handle parallel with the pipe. This permits smoke and gas which may be collected in the firepot to escape.

After the fire is burning well, both dampers may be closed. The turn damper should not be closed all the way.

The ashpit damper may be closed to shut off the supply of oxygen through the fire. This slows down the fire and makes it last longer.

The overdraft damper in the feeder door provides oxygen on top of the fire and helps burn off smoke and gas which may collect in the top of the firepot. This damper should be opened partly most of the time.

Firing Methods
Before adding fuel to the fire, rake the live coals to one side of the firepot, or to a cone in the center. Some experts recommend raking the coals to the front, and others to the back.

The important idea is to rake them up high enough that the fresh fuel will not cover all of the live coals.

The instructions usually say to leave a "red spot" or a "bright spot."

When adding the fresh fuel, do not cover the bright spot. Oxygen entering the firepot through the feeder door, or through the damper in the feeder door, and the bright spot, will ignite the gas which forms when fuel is added.

If this gas is kept burned off, you will get very little smoke from your chimney.

Sudden Igniting
If you provide enough oxygen and a bright spot in the firepot, this gas should burn normally and not cause small explosions. Always keep the overdraft partly open.

Never smother a fire with fresh fuel. In firing at night, to last until the next morning, wait until the fire is burning well.

Then close the ashpit damper and partly close the turn damper. Leave the overdraft partly open. You will have to do some experimenting until you have found out how much draft to use in your furnace.

As for smoke coming out of the registers, this never should happen. The firepot should be sealed completely airtight, from the heat chamber above and around the firepot.

Test Joints
If you have a cast iron furnace, there is probably some spot in the joints which is not cemented properly, allowing smoke to get through.

If you have a steel furnace, some of the welded joints may have opened.

If the condition is so bad you cannot wait until spring, it will be necessary to let the fire go out. Then the joints should be recemented.

CIGARET CAUSES WRECK

Hagerstown, Md. — When C. R. Stull accidentally dropped his cigarette on the floor of the truck he was driving, it didn't start a fire but it caused $1,200 damages to the truck. Stull took his eyes off the road for a moment to retrieve the cigarette. The vehicle plowed into a ditch, damaging the truck and smashing some of the beer cargo.

How To Prevent Disfiguring Defects From Varicose Veins

The chances are eight to two that if you are a woman, you will have varicose veins after forty. But if you know the causes for unsightly dilated veins, you can help prevent them, says Andre Fontaine, or if you have them, you can keep them from becoming ulcerous and disfiguring. In McCall's for July, he describes three types of varicosity and tells you things that might help in some cases:

"Varicose veins are ugly, unpleasant and widely prevalent. Although millions of women suffer from them, most have either no information or a hatful of misinformation about them. And since statistics make you a likely candidate for this defect of your body there are things you ought to know about it.

"There are at least three kinds of dilated veins. The commonest type occurs when the valves in your veins are damaged. These valves, which operate a little like one-way doors, normally open to let the blood through on its way up to your heart, then slam shut again to keep it from falling back. When one valve fails to work, the valve below it carries a double load and the vein involved distends under the pressure — in other words, becomes varicose.

"Mild cases of varicose veins can sometimes be handled by injecting the vein with a solution which causes the walls to thicken until the vein is filled solid. The blood then detours around the blocked section. An auxiliary section will take up the load without too much difficulty.

"The other two types of dilated veins are much rarer than simple varicose veins. Thrombosis occurs when a vein is blocked by a blood clot. Once it's blocked the blood backs up, like water behind a dam, and the pressure of it causes the vein to distend.

"The third kind of dilated vein, called 'arterial varicos,' occurs when blood is pumped directly into a vein from an artery. In some people the blocks that close the connections between arteries and veins shortly after birth aren't too substantial, and under strain they give way. Blood from the arteries is pumped into the relatively thin-walled veins which can't take the pressure and blow up like a balloon.

"These are a few of the ways to prevent or help varicose veins: "Don't wear elastic garters or anything else tight around your legs.

"Don't stand still a lot. Move around as much as your work permits or sit down.

"If you have defective arches get them tended to promptly. They twist your legs around, and prevent the blood from flowing freely.

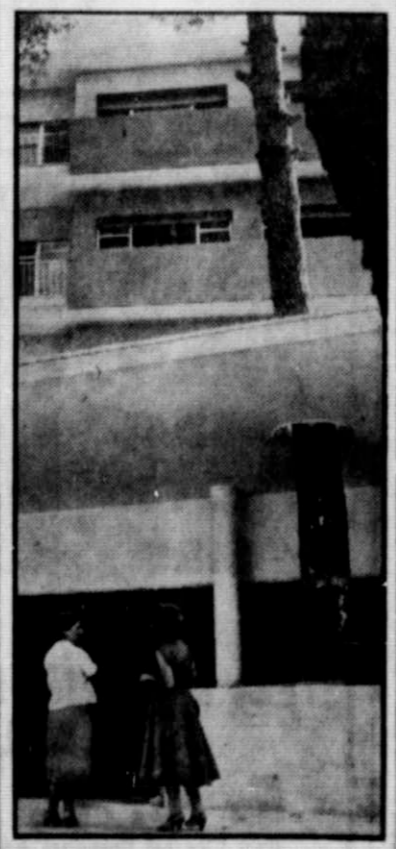

"When you have to lift something heavy see if you can't train yourself to take a deep breath first and hold it while you're lifting. This helps pull the blood up from your legs. Otherwise, you put a strain on your leg veins.

"Stop smoking. Tobacco causes spasms in blood vessels.

"And, of course, see a doctor promptly."

EXPORTS TO SOVIET

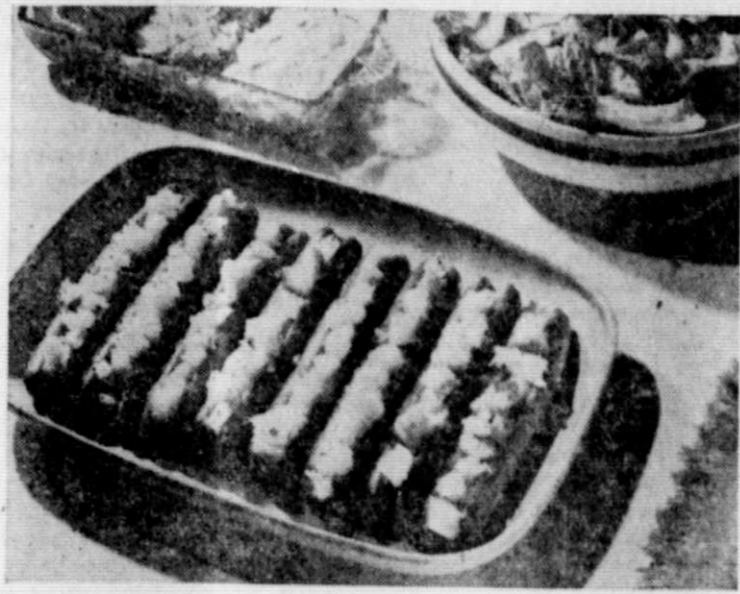

Secretary Sawyer, of the Commerce Department, reports that only $55,000 worth of U. S. goods was exported to the Soviet in 1951 and that shipments to Communist China consisted of only "a few books" which cost $181. All exports of military or strategic significance to the Soviet bloc have been stopped.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

DRESS UP FRANKFURTERS

Stuff franks with a tasty dressing and note the reception they get. Three cups enriched yeast-raised bread crumbs make enough dressing to stuff a pound of franks — or 8 to 10 large ones. Bake the dressed-up franks about 10 minutes in a hot oven and serve immediately with a hot mustard or tomato sauce.

STUFFED FRANKFURTERS

- 1 lb. frankfurters
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 2 tablespoons minced celery
- 2 teaspoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil (optional)
- 3 cups soft enriched yeast-raised bread crumbs
- Salt and Pepper.

Split franks down the middle but do not cut all the way through. Arrange in greased baking dish.

Melt margarine or butter in a frying pan. Add onion, celery, parsley, and basil and cook until onion and celery are tender. Stir in bread crumbs until all margarine or butter is soaked up. Season to taste with salt and pepper. If desired, moisten with a little hot water. With fingers stuff crumbs into split franks. Add a little water to baking dish to keep franks from burning. Bake at 400° F. (moderately hot oven) 10 minutes. Serve with hot mustard or tomato sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Hasty Chili

- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 small onions, chopped
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes
- 1 No. 2 can kidney beans
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Brown the beef slowly in lard or drippings. Add onions, tomatoes, beans and seasonings. Cook slowly for 1 hour. Water may be added if desired and the seasonings can be adjusted to taste. 4 to 6 servings.

Meat Luncheon Special

- 6 slices ready-to-serve meat
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- Lard for frying

Have slices of ready-to-serve meat cut one-fourth inch thick. Cut each slice into fourths. Dip in batter made by combining prepared mustard, flour, egg and vinegar. Fry in hot lard until brown. 6 servings.

Lamb Terrapin

- 2 cups cold diced lamb
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 cup stock or water
- 1/2 cup cream
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 4 to 6 slices toast

Melt butter and add flour and mustard. Add stock or water, cream and Worcestershire sauce. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly, and cook 5 minutes. Separate the cooked egg yolks and whites. Put yolks through a sieve and finely chop the whites. Add the diced lamb and sieved egg yolks to the cream sauce. Heat and add chopped egg whites to the mixture. Serve hot on toast. 4 to 6 servings.

Rocks

- 3/4 cup lard
- 1 1/2 cups light brown sugar
- 3 eggs
- 2 3/4 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups raisins
- 1 cup chopped walnuts

Cream the lard and sugar and add the well-beaten eggs. Reserve one cup of the flour to mix with the raisins and nuts. Sift together the remaining flour, cinnamon, soda and salt. Combine ingredients and mix well. Place by spoonfuls on a cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.), until lightly browned. Yield: 8 dozen medium cookies.

Barbecued Cubed Beef Steaks

- 4 cubed beef steaks
- 1/4 cup enriched flour
- Salt
- Pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup catchup
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Dredge the steaks with flour. Season. Brown the steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Add chopped onion and brown lightly. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over steaks. Cover and cook slowly until meat is tender, about 35 minutes. 4 servings.

PEACH MARLOW

- 1-4 pound marshmallows
- 1 cup milk
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can peaches or fresh peaches
- 3-4 cup cream
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Salt

Melt marshmallows in milk over low heat. Cool. Mash peaches. Whip cream until slightly thickened. Combine cream, marshmallow mixture, peach pulp, salt and lemon juice. Freeze in refrigerator tray. Stir once when partially frozen.

Preacher Jenkins' sermon was full of fire and brimstone. Mandy punctuated his sermon frequently with "Amen," and "That's sure tellin' 'em." She enthusiastically echoed the preacher's denunciations of lying, gambling and drinking.

When the preacher switched his disapproval to petty gossip, Mandy eased back into the pew and muttered: "Now he's done quit preachin' and gone to meddlin'."

U.N. Spurs Drive Against Desert Locust

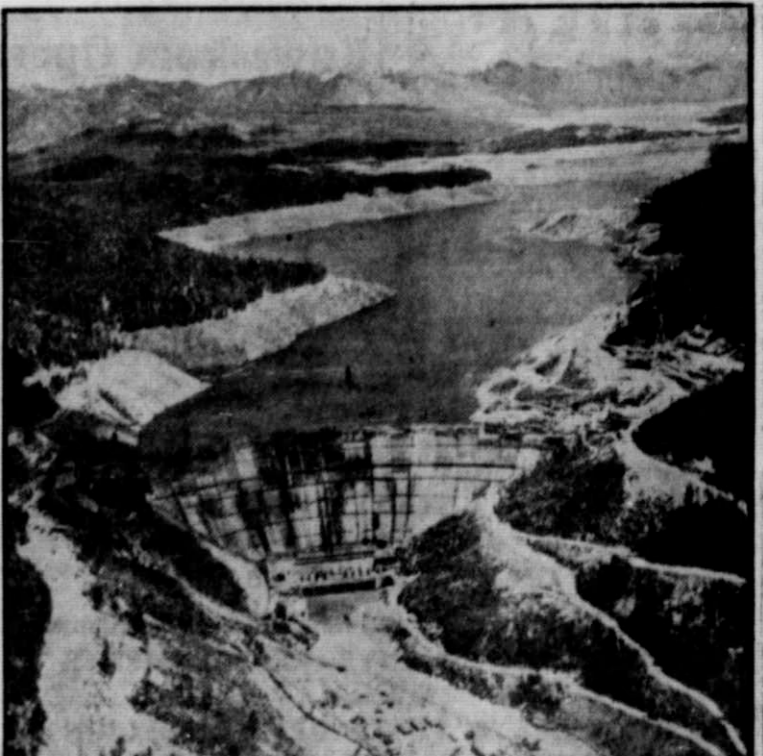

Since Biblical times, the farmers of the Middle East have considered the desert locust a sort of "Public Enemy No. 1." This situation has not changed much, but now, for the first time in history a number of nations are joining forces with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), to combat the plague. Above, entomologists of the USA and Pakistan examine dead locusts on a desert of Pakistan. Through its expanded program of technical assistance FAO is offering material aid in combating the plague.

IT'S A HIT—America's newest tank, the Patton 48, goes through its paces near Newark, Del., and knocks down a house with a new high velocity 90-millimeter gun whose barrel can be changed, in the field, in a matter of minutes. Two machine guns, a 50- and 30-caliber swing with the turret, and another 50-caliber, mounted over the turret, can be fired from inside the tank.

"SHE'S A HONEY"—Designed to guard our shores against enemy bombers, this new Lockheed F-94-C Starfire, jet-fighter interceptor climbs to 45,000 feet in a twinkling and zooms along in all weathers "in the 600-mph class." Its "bubble nose" houses instruments that electronically track down enemy aircraft. The "almost automatic" Starfire is the first fighter plane to have all-rocket armament, carrying 24 rockets, 2.75 in. size. Said test pilot Tony Levier after landing at Palmdale, Calif., "She's a honey."

HUNGRY HORSE READY TO FEED—In the shadows of white-capped mountains, construction crews work at top speed to complete construction of Hungry Horse Dam on Montana's Flathead River by autumn. The Bureau of Reclamation project will rise to a height of 564 feet, store 3,500,000 acre feet of water, and add 800,000 kilowatts of power to the northwest power pool.

Bender Day Calcutta Line-Up is Announced

A star-studded line-up of outstanding pro and amateur golfers who will compete in the West Bend Country Club's 8th Annual Bender Day Calcutta tournament Thursday, August 14, was announced by Bob Rolfs, Jr., Calcutta committee chairman.

Trying something new this year, the teams will be composed of six 2-man best ball teams instead of the usual eight 2-man teams. According to Rolfs, this arrangement gives maximum strength to each team, making for heated competition and extremely close scores. Country club members are predicting that new course records may be established before the day is over.

Here's the line-up for the six teams:

- Team No. 1
Francis Gallett...Blue Mound pro
Jim Lohr...Pine Hills

Gallett, the colorful Scotman

from Blue Mound, has copped the state open championship five times. One of his teammates is Jim Lohr from the Pine Hills club in Sheboygan. He was runner-up in the state amateur tournament two years ago, and has been a consistent winner of the northeastern crown.

Blackie Nelthorpe, the hard-driving pro from Westmoor, is an outstanding golfer in the Milwaukee area. Paul Gillis has been the Milwaukee county match winner several times in the last few years.

Norm Cameron, local pro, Bill Schaller, Blue Mound, and Jim Murphy are being touted as the dark-horse team. Schaller is the former state amateur champ, while Cameron and Murphy have both been having an exceptionally good year.

Billy Sixty, Jr. was the runner-up in last year's state amateur tournament. He has filed application to turn pro this year. Bob Johnson's record also shows that he advanced to the finals of the state amateur tournament a few years ago.

Don Elliott, Ozaukee, is renowned in the state for the terrific long ball he hits from the tee. And Earl Pierce is one of the better up and coming threats to the state crown.

All the local players are well known. Club champions and strong contenders are all represented to round out this well-matched field.

Reservations are coming in at a rapid rate. Norm Cameron urges all golfers to make their starting time reservations as quickly as possible.

Preliminary Contest for County Barley Growers On Aug. 11

Each of the 92 Washington county barley growers who have enrolled in the "County Better Barley Growing" contest will have an opportunity to enter his bushel-sample in a preliminary county contest at which five (5) samples will be selected for state fair competition.

This preliminary contest will be held in the extension office, post office building, West Bend. To enter your sample all the grower needs to do is to bring the sample there on or before 5:00 o'clock on Monday, August 11.

From the samples brought in the judges will select the 5 state fair samples. The samples will be paid for by the county barley committee.

The five (5) samples selected as indicated above will be used merely for state fair competition. These bushel samples will not be returned. The 5 growers will be notified to bring another sample to the county barley show.

All judging for county prizes will be done at the regular county contest to be held at the county fairgrounds at Slinger. All samples submitted in the preliminary contest will be taken to Slinger by the extension office.

1. All samples must be of the 1952 crop.
2. Each bushel sample should be well cleaned, graded, and weigh 50 lbs.
3. Only one sample per farm is eligible for competition.
4. Bring samples in clean white muslin bags.
5. Label sample with your name and address, and variety of barley.

The regular county contest will be held at the fairgrounds at Slinger on Thursday, August 28. Growers enrolled will be notified of the date and time of the county contest.
