Cancer Drive Short of Quota; Returns Lagging

With nearly two weeks having passed since letters were mailed to every resident of the county asking support of the 1952 Cancer Fund drive, returns are lagging and the drive is still short of its goal. This is the report of Drive Chairman William J. Marth, who expressed hope that Washington county residents who have not yet returned their contribution in the envelope sent out for that purpose will do so as soon as possible.

"The fight against cancer must go on day in and day out until science solves the mysteries of this dread disease," the chairman said, pointing out that unless "we, the people, contribute generously in support of research activities, there can be no continuous, active program of study and analysis."

"Our finest researchers are hard at work trying to uncover the answers to the world's questions about cancer, but unless we back them up with funds, their work may eventually come to a halt," Marth added.

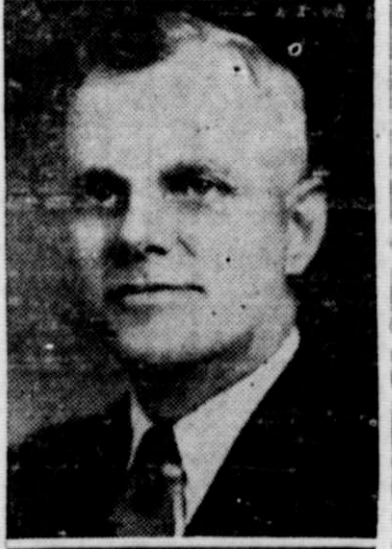

More than 9,000 letters were sent out two weeks ago to all known residents of the county, each containing a pre-stamped envelope for mailing contributions to the 1952 Cancer Fund drive. Persons who have mislabeled their envelope or did not receive one can send their contributions addressed simply—"Cancer Fund Drive, West Bend, Wisconsin."

Honeck to Rebuild Garage, Erecting Large Addition

Work is in progress on a large 46x70 foot addition to the Honeck Chevrolet garage on Fond du Lac avenue. The front part of the present building will also be torn down and a new front erected. When completed it will be a modern, up-to-date service station and garage with the gasoline pumps removed from the street.

The new addition is being built on the south side of the building, on the former site of the Mrs. Jacob Becker home, which K. A. Honeck, Jr., the owner, purchased. The home was moved to the Roseland Heights addition some time ago and recently resold by Honeck. The new addition will house the service department of Honeck Chevrolet.

The front part of the present garage will be razed and in its place a new 30x50 foot structure will be constructed. This part of the garage will be utilized as a show room and office.

The concrete block building erected a few years ago at the rear of the garage will remain standing. This wing is now used as a service department and after the new addition is finished it will be transferred into a parts room.

Building and remodeling work is expected to be completed about the 15th of October.

Allenton Scores 6 Runs in 9th, Tips Juniors in 10th

In the final Rock River Junior league game of the season at Allenton Sunday, Kewaskum played ball like a good ball club should until the 9th inning. Kewaskum was leading all the way, being ahead 8-2 going into the last of the 9th. In the 9th, with two out, the bottom dropped out. Before the players knew what happened Allenton pushed over 6 runs to tie the score.

The game went into extra innings and in the top half of the 10th Kewaskum went out swinging. In the last of the inning Allenton scored a run unearned to win 9-8. How tough can a defeat be? Errors, bases on balls and wild pitches accounted for all of Allenton's runs in the 9th.

Meisenheimer, Kewaskum pitcher, gave up only 5 hits, struck out 10 and walked 2 but still lost. Gundrum and Wolf, Allenton twirlers, were touched for 8 bingles, fanned 7 and walked none. Each team committed 4 errors. Top hitters for the losers were Wieman, Luedtke and Dreher, each with 2. Darlinger got 2 for Allenton.

Although Kewaskum has one postponed contest to make up there will be no more games according to Rube Schuster, league president. The boys enjoyed playing in the Rock River Junior circuit and hope there will be another league next season. The locals won 4 and lost 5 games throughout the season.

The Juniors still would like to play the Lakes team on Labor day. Manager Wally Cudnhoske of the Juniors says, "Come on, Honeck, give in and let's have a game Labor day."

CADET RICHARD EDWARDS COMPLETES ROTC TRAINING

Cadet Richard L. Edwards, an ROTC student at Ripon college, Ripon, recently completed the 1952 Infantry ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Benning, Georgia, the home of the United States Army Infantry Center and returned to his home in Kewaskum.

The ROTC Camp consisted of six weeks of intensive training in courses ranging from bayonet training to radiological defense; however, most of the training was concerned with learning the basic infantry techniques to include the firing of individual and crew-served weapons and tactics. 24 hours of instruction were presented to the ROTC cadets by instructors from the famed Infantry school at Fort Benning.

In addition, recreational, social and religious activities were a part of the camp program.

The ROTC Summer Camp is an important part of the ROTC program, and it is designed to supplement the instruction which is given to ROTC students at educational institutions by additional applicatory training in the field and to prepare the cadets to become Second Lieutenants in the Organized Reserve Corps upon completion of their ROTC training.

Cedarburg Upsets Chevs in 2-0 Tilt

In a big upset tilt end Cedarburg upset the Kewaskum Chevrolets here Sunday in a 2-0 shutout. The locals had opportunities to score in almost every inning but played blundering baseball to donate the victory to the cellar team. The setback dropped the Chevs to fourth place.

Kewaskum had one, two or three men on the bases in every inning except one. They had runners as far as third base five times and as far as second on four occasions and yet couldn't score a run. One reason was sleepy, careless base running and the other was the lack of hitting power in the clutches when the runners were in scoring position. It seemed in almost every inning that the team would break out with a barrage of runs and run up a score but frame after frame passed so that when the final out was made still no runs had crossed the plate.

It was a tough defeat for pitcher Honeck as both Cedarburg runs were unearned. Honeck gave up only four hits, all by two batters, and still lost. He struck out eight men and walked only two for a fine performance but he had no help from his teammates. J. Regnitz pitched the shut out for Cedarburg but he was nicked for seven hits, fanned four and passed four.

The number of runners left on the bases shows why Kewaskum lost. They had 12 men stranded on the bags while the visitors left only four. Cedarburg's four safeties were garnered by Behling and H. Regnitz, each with two. All were singles. Not a Chevrolet batter had more than one hit. Honeck and J. Stautz connected for doubles. After the winners tallied runs in each of the first and third innings, Honeck buried shutout ball.

This Sunday Kewaskum plays its last home game of the season and it is a natural. The team takes on the neighboring West Bend Boosters in the usual slam, bang battle. West Bend beat Kewaskum, 7-3, first time out and the Chevs want revenge. It should be an exciting match. See this finale.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—Business, which only shuffled along at the beginning of the year, perked up recently and there is a good chance that it might end 1952 with a rush.

Industry after industry has reported improvement. The home furnishings business is gaining rapidly—sparked by air conditioning's rapid growth and revived interest in television sets. Furniture, although not showing huge gains, seems to be out of the woods. Construction may reach a peak of $32 billion. Shirts are also doing better with store orders running 25 per cent ahead of last year.

The suspension of credit controls has been more effective in bringing about higher sales than was generally predicted and probably was one of the more important factors in the recent improvement in business. But the biggest boost may be in the making at this moment—the effects of the steel strike.

While the dangers of a short steel supply are enormous and while many workers and companies are suffering because of it, the fact remains: there is nothing like a good impending shortage to get the public out buying.

DEATH ON CHUCKHOLES—Recent studies of municipal governments indicate that American city dwellers pay more than $80 million a year simply to patch up the holes made by repair crews working on under-pavement utility lines. This kind of expenditure could often be avoided with a little planning such as that at the new Levittown, Pa.—a completely planned community now being built in lower Bucks county near U. S. Steel's giant Fairless Works.

The new town was planned down to the last shrub by the community building firm of Levitt & Sons, Inc. It includes the thoughtful provision to lay water lines under the lawns in front of homes and sewer lines along the backyard property lines—instead of under the streets.

This means Levittown's 177 miles of streets will stay put once they're down and property owners—70,000 strong when the community is finished in three years—will save an estimated $42,000 a year.

THINGS TO COME—Garages and service stations will be interested in a new metal degreaser, said to be particularly effective for cleaning electrical accessories. The fluid is practically odorless, dries quickly and leaves no sticky residue. A "re-usable" non-melting ice has been developed on the West coast for dairy plants and shippers of perishable products. The "ice" is a mixture of water and a processed powder. It can be frozen and thawed over and over again without turning to liquid and can be molded into any shape. A flat "water" electric motor is available in ratings from 1/20th to 5 h.p. The latest automatic labeling machine labels and heat-seals the tops of bags. To protect fabrics on display from fading, try a new substance that can be sprayed on a store window from a pressurized can. The coating is clear but filters out harmful rays of bright light.

EXTRA! EXTRA! Everyone knows it's essential for any businessman, no matter what his field, to keep up with the news. Yet the obvious is often forgotten.

G. J. Madge, comptroller of American Can Company, recently provided a timely reminder when he told sales managers from the firm's 33 district offices that newspaper reading is a must for the young businessman who desires to get ahead as well as for the older man who wants to keep his company in step with progressive ideas and developments.

The newspaper, of all forms of communication, is the businessman's best means of keeping up with the changing business scene and is a valuable adjunct in acquiring a liberal education. "In reading your newspaper," Madge points out, "you get background, historical facts as well as the day-to-day coverage of events. If you don't have the background, you have a mighty poor chance of running your business properly."

MILK FED—Although milk production has dropped further and further behind the growth of America's population in the last decade, people manage to consume more milk and milk products. Yearly milk production today is only about 730 pounds per capita compared with the 1935-39 average of 820 pounds, yet consumption of fluid milk, ice cream, canned milk and cheese is greater than ever.

The main reason for the apparent contradiction is that the pigs and chickens are losing out and waste is being eliminated. Large quantities of skim milk formerly used to fatten farm animals are now being used in non-fat dry milk, skimmed milk drinks and cottage cheese.

OYSTER BOYS—Unaware of the watching camera, three youngsters in Brindisi, Italy, lose themselves in an orgy of eating their favorite dish—oysters. The harbor of the southern Italian seaport is an ideal growing place for briny delicacies and oysters are practically free for the picking.

Harmless Disease Looks Just Like Polio—And Is Much More Common

Your child may have all the symptoms of polio, but the chances are twenty to one that he doesn't have it. He may have coxsackie instead, says Kate Holliday in McCall's for August. She points out that although this comparatively harmless disease imitates polio and is prevalent in the polio months, it is short-lived and has no crippling effects.

"Coxsackie (named for a small New York town, where it first attracted attention) is especially prevalent in the polio months, August being the high point, with July and September just behind. Various types of flies, including the common housefly, carry the virus, and it is found in sewage, as well as in human blood, nasal and mouth washings, saliva, sputum and feces—all the classic breeding places of the poliomyelitis organisms. And its chief victims are children under ten years old.

"Unlike polio, however, coxsackie is an abrupt, short-lived disease. The symptoms are usually fever, vomiting and muscular pains. Chances are that two to four days after the first signs of illness, or even sooner, the temperature will have dropped to normal and the headache and muscular pains will have disappeared. And the disease itself will have brought about immunity in his body.

"As in many of the other virus diseases, the antibiotics are of no use in the treatment of coxsackie.

But, since the illness alone is of brief duration and seldom serious, it is actually better to let nature take its course in overcoming it. "The coxsackie virus that imitates polio is called the Group A type virus. There is another coxsackie virus—Group B—which imitates everything from 'summer flu' and 'devil's gripe' to aseptic meningitis. In the Group B cases a common symptom is a cracking of blisters in the back of the mouth."

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT

The overnight millionaire wanted the best of everything. He went into a music shop and asked to see their most expensive violin for his son. The assistant brought out a beautiful Stradivarius, saying: "This is a 1730 Strad, priced at $100,000."

The millionaire hesitated a moment, then remarked: "You say it was made in 1730 and that it costs $100,000?"

"That's right."

"But tell me, is the company that made this fiddle still in business?"

"Of course not," exclaimed the assistant in shocked tones.

"Then it's no good," said the millionaire, definitely. "What would I do for spare parts?"

Drying hay in wagons may prove just the thing for farmers, according to Gordon Barrington, farm engineer. Good quality hay can be made in a wagon drier.

Dairy Farmers Economic Problems

Dairy farms are the first line of the nation's defense. With government authorities asking for greater production as costs keep rising, dairy farms face a serious economic "squeeze." In the interest of national welfare the spotlight of public attention should be turned on the economic problems of the milk producer.

"Dairy farmers operate on a small margin always," says Owen Richards, general manager of the American Dairy Association, "and milk production involves great risk and large investment. It involves greater hazards than most other businesses. Dairying faces the ordinary economic risks and uncertainties of the market and it is also subject to the natural calamities of drought, hail, floods, or disastrous snows. Come drought or high-water cows must be milked daily and the milk marketed: The milk factory can't be switched off like an industrial plant or the fresh milk put in storage warehouses. "Costs of milk production have increased but the price of milk to the consumer is less than the 'all foods' averages. The price of labor has gone up. Expensive new machinery must be purchased if the milk supply is to be increased. The milk farmer is stretching the ends of his rope to make them meet. "As costs of milk production have kept going up many farmers have sold cows or turned to beef raising which requires less care. Farmers are paying up to $325 for average milk cows, and more for mixed dairy feed. If milk prices had increased as much as wages in most sections milk would cost a lot more per quart.

"Milk is vital to the national defense, health, wealth and security. If the dairy farmer is to be kept in business, his increased costs must be balanced by increased returns. Just as in any other business. And if the nation needs an increased milk supply serious attention must be given to the economic situation of the dairy farmer."

Pacific Manta

Islanders of the Pacific are brave people, but they shudder at the sight of a Manta. The strange ocean giant has broad, flat fins which stretch out from the sides of its body like the wings of a bat. The natives believe that if a man should get near a Manta in the water, the creature would cover him with its wings and devour him.

This really wouldn't happen, says the National Wildlife Federation, for the Pacific Manta is harmless to man. But it is enormous, and sometimes its actions are enough to cause alarm.

The most terrifying thing it does is to leap into the air and come down on the water with a tremendous crash. When its wide open wings strike the surface, it is like a great hand slapping the waves. On a quiet day, the noise can be heard for several miles.

The Pacific Manta also puts on a big show when it is harpooned. The moment it feels a stab, it dives to the bottom and uses all of its weight to keep from being captured. Usually it is hauled in only after a long and exciting battle.

If a deep-sea fisherman does manage to conquer a Pacific Manta, he finds that he has a big trophy on his hands. The creature may measure more than 25 feet wide and weigh more than 3,000 pounds. Even a Baby Manta is likely to be five or six feet wide.

Between its two wing-like fins, the Manta has a thick body. At one end is a long, slender tail. At the other is its head and mouth. In front of its mouth are two small fins which look like horns. The Manta uses these to scoop all sorts of small fish into its mouth.

It looks for its victims near the surface of the ocean. There, on a sunny day, Pacific Mantas roam alone or in small groups. They move along gracefully, turning their bodies from one side to the other and holding their mouths wide open to catch their prey.

If they are feeling lazy, they bask in the sunshine. But when they are in a hurry, they almost fly through the water, leaping and crashing as they skim over the waves. As they leave the water, a careful observer can see that they are brown on top and lighter underneath. They get darker as they grow older.

Though they are called Pacific Mantas, these members of the ray family are found in many parts of the world. They usually stay in the warm waters of the tropics. They are also known as Devil Rays, Vampire Rays, Sea Bats, and Devilfish.

Bible Comment:

It's Time for Us To Face the Liquor Problem Honestly

THERE is, of course, a distinction between total abstinence and temperance or moderation, and it is foolish not to recognize it. But the line between temperance and intemperance in drinking is very thin.

Intemperance is such a curse, so accompanied with evil and tragedy, that there is an advantage in being completely free from it, if not actually against, a commodity and a traffic that unquestionably has serious aspects for many individuals and homes, and for society.

Whatever we think of these things today, there isn't much question where the Bible stands. Its denunciations and warnings in the matter of strong drink are many and explicit. The Scripture passages make this plain. "Wine is a mocker; strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Modern, as well as ancient, experience bears that out. Strong drink has made fools out of some otherwise very able and wise men.

The Bible warns by example as well as precept. Back in 1919, at Grand Rapids, Mich., during a meeting of the Congressional National Council, Dr. Charles E. J. Ferguson, famous minister of Broadway Tabernacle in New York, preached a powerful sermon on Noah. He described a world washed clean by the flood, with a chance to build anew, but in that day of opportunity Noah got drunk.

It was a parable for that world emerging from World War I. It is a parable for the world of today. The problems of our planet are not all associated with strong drink, but it is not a sober world that is facing them.

We have been hearing a lot about our inadequately supported schools and our ill-paid teachers, but we are spending more nationally for strong drink than we are for education. As long as that is true, can we be said to be adequately prepared for world leadership?

It is time that we faced the liquor question, with calmness and moderation if you will, but with common sense and courage. Too many are saying in this matter, "Evil, be thou my good."

New Aids For Better Living Reported

A new cold-setting rubber cement will stick rubber tile to concrete without buckling. It works as well in damp rooms as in dry ones. An insecticide that is odorless and safe for humans is the vapor from mortrane crystals let off from tiny electrical vaporizers. These are some of the aids to better living reported in McCall's National Newsletter for August:

"Rubber will stick to concrete without buckling when you use a new cold-setting rubber cement which works as well in rooms with high moisture content (like laundry basements) as in dry ones.

"Flies drop dead, and so do mosquitoes and roaches, from whiffs of mortrane off from a tiny electrical vaporizer that can be plugged in almost anywhere. Mortrane crystals cost more than some insecticides, but the vapor from them is heralded as odorless and safe for humans.

"You can buy shredded foam rubber in pound bags now. It's good for stuffing pillows, cushions, toys and the like. The shreds distribute themselves well, do not bunch up.

"Simplest way yet to turn raw drinking water into distilled is said to be with a new polyethylene bottle with a filter of deionizing materials inserted like a stopper."

Here's the Answer

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

It's high time anglers know just what their rights are concerning waters that are posted "no fishing."

According to Renzo Dee Bowers, a lawyer with an interest in sportsmen's problems, the overall rules prescribing or limiting your rights are these: The exclusive privilege of fishing in nonnavigable, or private streams and lakes, belongs to the owners of the land on both sides, and others cannot fish there without the consent of these owners; but anybody is entitled to fish navigable, or public waters if he can get to them without going upon or across lands of others who do not permit his doing so. In other words, the right to fish by those who own lands on navigable or public waters or lakes or streams is not exclusive.

So when a landowner tries to chase a fisherman away from a promising fishing spot the major question is whether the waters are public (navigable) or private (nonnavigable) in nature.

Courts have been ruling on this question for years. They have affirmed that a stream is navigable from a fisherman's standpoint if it is "floatable." Any river or lake is floatable if used, or if it can be used, for driving logs or rafts, or padding boats and canoes, running motorboats, and the like.

In recent years there has been an enlargement on the meaning of "navigable." Judges have said that any body of water is navigable and therefore available to any member of the public for fishing notwithstanding objections from bordering landowners, if it is boatable for hunting, fishing or pleasure.

There's a thread of warning for fishermen that runs all thru the entire scope of these rights to fish navigable or public waters, even in states where the broadest application is given. It is this: In getting into or upon the waters you fish, you have not the slightest privilege or authority to step, stand or walk upon or across any part of the land bordering upon the stream or lake without permission of its owner. If you do, you risk prosecution or damage suit for trespassing.

The question logically arises as to how one wanting to fish public waters can step gingerly enough to avoid committing an act of trespass. It can be done. It is being done—times without number. You may have to enter or leave the stream only where it touches a highway or other public property. In many locations you can find an agreeable landowner at some point along the river or lake shore who will permit you to enter the water from there. Once in, either afloat or wading, you are entitled to fish anywhere in the river or lake.

HARD OF HEARING

The rector was visiting one of his parishioners, an elderly lady afflicted with deafness. She expressed her regret at not being able to hear his sermons.

Desiring to be sympathetic and to say something consoling, he replied, "You don't miss much." "So they tell me," was the disconcerting reply.

QUESTION: I am planning to make a few rooms in a walk-in basement. Would like to know the best and cheapest way to insulate the floor and walls. I plan to put down a rough wood floor, and plaster board on the walls. Have been advised to use tar and tar-paper. Do you think this is a good idea? I think it would give off an odor.

ANSWER: If you plan a wood floor, it would probably be better to have no insulation beneath it. Air circulation below would take care of any slight moisture, normal with concrete floors. Furring strips on walls also provide air space behind plaster board, which would take care of moisture at this point. You can lay tar paper if you wish without worry about the odor.

QUESTION: Will you please advise me on how to finish a white oak chest which I have just finished? Wish to obtain a satin-like finish with the natural grain showing.

ANSWER: Build up several coats of shellac and rub down with FFF grade pumice. Use a heavy cloth pad for rubbing. Sprinkle the surface with pumice, wet and wring out the cloth, make all strokes in the same direction. If you want to mark the grain in white, rub a white filler across the grain before the shellac is applied, then continue as above. Use a coat of wax to finish off either method.

QUESTION: Do you know of any cure for ants? We have a camp in the country and are bothered with them.

ANSWER: Best control developed so far is the use of chlordane, dusted in powder form on visible ant hills, and spread in thin unbroken lines around door and window sills and other points of entry to the house.

NOT PRACTICAL
"Arithmetic is a science of truth," said the professor earnestly. "Figures can't lie. For instance, if one man can build a house in 12 days, 12 men can build it in one."

"Yes," interrupted a quick-brained student. "Then 288 will build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,936,800 in one second. And I don't believe they could lay one brick in that time."

While the professor was still gasping, the smart "ready reckoner" went on: "Again, if one ship can cross the Atlantic in six days, six ships can cross it in one day. I don't believe that either; so where's the truth in arithmetic?"

Two New Kitchen Aids Expedite Summer Meal Preparations

BY EDNA MILES

In the heat of summer, any gadget that will make getting a meal more pleasant and efficient is welcome. Among the newest are a portable, hand-operated mixer that's really inexpensive and a wall-type coffee mill.

The mixer handles various jobs around the kitchen in record time, thus cutting down the hours spent over a hot stove. It will beat four egg whites stiff in 45 seconds fast enough for anyone! Further, all of the liquids are drawn into its counter rotating blades so there's no splashing as you work.

There are extra attachments for this mixer, including a fast cream whipper and a beater. All of them are easy to clean.

Lots of men like the taste of freshly-ground coffee but get it all too rarely. They can have it every morning now via a new coffee-mill that, once attached to the wall, grinds beans coarse or fine and shells out enough for 12 cups at one time.

To release the cup, the housewife just presses a button on one side of the mill, then snaps it back on ready for the next round. And at breakfast, the whole family sits down to the kind of coffee grandmother once served.

Coffee mill turns out freshly-ground makings for 12 cups of coffee. It hangs on a wall and comes with a convenient transparent, graduated cup.

Non-splashing mixer beats four egg whites stiff in 45 seconds. It's easy to clean and extra beater and whipper are available.

Modern Gadgets Are Necessary Equipment For Efficient Kitchen

You will find real satisfaction in doing your daily kitchen chores if you make use of some of the wonderful gadgets on the market. They are not extravaganzas, says Charlotte Montgomery, but commonsense necessities which will save you steps and annoyance. Writing in Redbook Magazine for August, she describes, among other kitchen aids, a pull-out spice shelf, a special alarm for your home freezer to prevent spoilage, and a pressure whipper that will keep you in whipped cream toppings from the top of the bottle.

"If a pull-out chromium spice shelf on the back of a closet door saves you ten steps a day, it's worth the cost. Or, if you try to keep house without the short-handled pancake turner or the food chopper you need, you're adding a daily annoyance instead of enjoying the satisfaction of using the proper equipment. Maybe you would enjoy a lettuce-washing basket from France, that can be swung around to dry the greens.

"A good chopping block is an indispensable item you'll wonder how you ever did without. On it you'll slice onions, meat, bread; you'll chop nuts, raisins, cabbage; you'll pound meat; you'll make bread crumbs. Put near the stove, it provides a spot on which hot pots can go to save your counter tops. But the greatest use will be to put together the endless sandwiches for school lunches and snacks. Near it keep a wallhanger set of good sharp knives.

"If you have a home freezer, it's worth investing in a special alarm to warn you if the temperature goes above 15 degrees, flash comes up a red flag and buzz goes a buzzer—and keeps on buzzing for three days or until you get a service man, load your freezer with dry ice, or otherwise take care of the emergency. The alarm uses flashlight batteries (so if the house current is off it keeps on working), has a testing switch and is relatively inexpensive.

"With a pressure whipper and top-of-the-bottle you can turn out whipped cream that goes a long way and isn't expensive. You fix the cream as you serve the dessert in the kitchen or right at the table. You make just what you need at the time—then the whipper with the rest of the top milk goes back in the refrigerator to be on tap for more dessert dressings.

"A brand-new wall can opener solves special problems: it clings by vacuum so you can use it in all-metal kitchens; it's portable, and goes up each time you use it, which makes it perfect when there isn't a spot for a permanent opener."

10 FIRES IN 3 DAYS
Danville, Ky. — The family of John Gibson had ten minor mysterious fires in their home in three days. The first was in a baby bed and, after that, flames began popping up in such places as on tables and chairs. A pair of curtains blazed up and another fire was found in a back shed. The Fire Department was called only once, however.

Time To Be Wary Of Heat Exhaustion

CARL N. REUPERT, M.D.

As the mercury climbs skyward and thermometers almost gasp for a breath of cool air, folks can make up their minds that it's time to be wary of heat exhaustion and sunstroke. Older folks and overweight people are the most likely to feel the strongest effects of the heat.

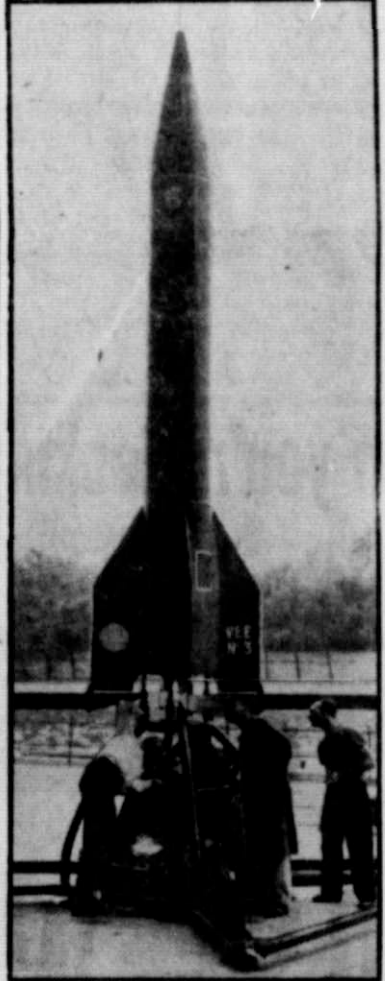

Heat exhaustion is usually the result of a heat wave that lasts several days. Unlike sunstroke, it causes little change in the body's temperature but blood pressure drops and the pulse rate and breathing rate quicken. Other signs are paleness, dizziness, and general weakness.

Since these feelings are uncomfortable to say the least, it is wiser to prevent them beforehand by cutting down your activities during hot weather. Frequent resting during the day would benefit us all, but it is a particularly good precaution against heat exhaustion for older people. Since your body loses water and salt more rapidly during hot weather, you'll feel stronger if you take extra salt and drink plenty of water to replace what you're losing.

Most sunstrokes occur when people are working or exercising out in the hot sun. The human body can almost be compared with a pressure cooker in this respect. The safety valve which regulates body temperature stops functioning and the heat builds up beyond a safe point. Body temperature climbs and the skin feels hot and dry. The face may become flushed; nausea, headache, and dizziness often result. Some times a person loses consciousness.

Avoiding strenuous exercise, particularly around noon, and eating the most easily digestible foods during hot weather are safety measures. Ice cold drinks may be a shock to your body, but frequent drinks of cool water will help you keep comfortable and healthy.

Ticklers

By George

"No more iron beds for me. I got rheumatism last night."

Take a tip from the flowers in summer. Surround yourself with fragrance during the warm days and you'll be surprised how it will help you create a cool, dainty effect, says Betty Ann, editor of The Milwaukee Journal Women's pages. One of the handiest ways to apply fragrance and to renew it during the day is with a stick cologne.

High in perfume content are the solid cologne sticks currently being introduced by one manufacturer. Wrapped in green foil, they are as cool looking as a lime-ade and they are nestled in a green foil and black striped carton.

Toilet water and cologne have become summertime essentials like iced tea, crisp salads and breezy sheer dresses. The illusion of beauty created by a scintillating fragrance is a morale booster. Cologne is actually cooling to the skin because of its alcohol content.

It is meant to be used lavishly—sprayed on after the bath, patted on the temples to relieve fatigue, smoothed on arms and face as a quick freshener during the day, poured into the final rinsing after a shampoo and sprayed in rooms and closets.

Another suggestion for your fragrance wardrobe is sachet powder. This powdered form of perfume is so highly concentrated that it holds its fragrance for long periods of time, and because it is powder, it can be used on fabrics. You can sprinkle it in garment bags, curtain linings and pillow cases.

For a truly feminine touch a pinch of sachet can be dropped in gloves and shoes and should always be sprinkled in bureau drawers and linen closet shelves. To give summer dresses a lovely and lasting scent, fill a little satin bag with sachet and attach it to clothes hangers with ribbons.

Colognes, like perfumes, should create pleasant moods as well as compliment your good grooming and flatter your personality. You should be able to use them so lavishly that you enjoy the feeling of luxury as you lavish your favorite cologne over your body after bathing.

Touch the plumed stopper to your ear lobes, your eyebrows, the nape of your neck so that you surround yourself with an aura of fragrance. Cool off with the solid cologne, so icy to the touch that it is called "frozen fragrance." Carry the spillproof "petite frozen fragrance" with you in your purse to keep you cool and fragrant during a hot, sticky day.

You can tone up dry skin and tone down expenses at the same time with a simple home beauty treatment. Upon retiring, spread a thin film of petroleum jelly on your face. Then, with your fingertips, add a lather of soap, using a rotary motion to blend into a creamy froth. Rinse well with warm water and gently pat dry with a soft cleansing tissue.

Lightweight plastic bamboo handbags are fashion's cleanest summer accessories. Hot weather trademarks—sticky fingers, grass stains and others—all vanish when you apply a soapy cloth to these easy to clean surfaces. Keep them glamorous and long wearing with sufs.

Meat Ball Kabobs

To make the meat ball kabobs assemble these ingredients for the meat balls: One and one-half pounds ground beef, three-fourths cup quick or old-fashioned oatmeal, uncooked; two eggs, beaten; one-fourth cup finely chopped onion, two teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, and one-half cup tomato juice. To complete the kabobs you'll need 12 medium cooked carrots, cut in one inch pieces and 18 tiny cooked potatoes.

Combine all ingredients for meat balls. Shape into 36 meat balls, approximately one inch in diameter. Place in a shallow baking pan; pour melted shortening or bacon drippings over meat balls to a depth of one-fourth inch in the pan. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Pour off fat and save for later use. Let meat balls cool.

When meat balls are cool, string two meat balls, two pieces of cooked carrot and a cooked potato on each metal skewer, alternating the three. Brush with melted shortening on all sides. Bake in a moderate oven in a flat baking pan, 350 degrees, 15 to 20 minutes turning once during baking, or broil on each side five minutes or until brown. Makes 18 kabobs.

County Has Most Entries in Century Farm Program

Residents of twenty-two counties have filed nearly 100 applications for the Century Family Farm or Home Ownership certificates to be awarded at the Wisconsin State Fair, August 16-24.
Applications are still coming in daily, according to Einar O. Hammer of the State Department of Agriculture, who is in charge of the project.
Certificates will be presented at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon, August 19, at special ceremonies to be held before the grandstand. The presentation will be a part of the State Fair Pioneer Day program.
Washington county is leading in the number of applications filed, with a total of 20. Rock county has 9 and Columbia and Fond du Lac counties both have 8. Other counties from which applications have been received are Brown, Calumet, Dane, Dodge, Green, Jefferson, Kenosha, La Crosse, Lafayette, Marquette, Milwaukee, Racine, Richland, Sauk, Sheboygan, Waupaca, Waukesha and Winnebago.

Eligible farm or home owners who have not as yet filed their application should do so at once, Hammer said. Blanks can be obtained from the county chairman, from the register of deeds office or from the Department of Agriculture, State Capitol, Madison.

ORDERS FOR FARM HELP IN AREA REACH TWO YEAR LOW

The Waukesha, Washington and Ozaukee county areas are experiencing an unusual change in their farm labor supply. Albert H. Ludwig, manager of the Wisconsin State Employment Service in Waukesha, stated that orders for farm couples and single farm hands has reached a two year low. While no waiting list of farm workers who are looking for work is on hand, Ludwig said that the average order for a farm hand could be filled in a reasonably short time.

TRUE BLUE OR SOMETHING—Recently arrived at the San Francisco Academy of Sciences is this chameleon from the African Congo. The turn-color creature, a chameleon "dilemma," is the only true chameleon. Those found in the U. S. are a type of lizard called "anolis," explained a scientist.

ALL OUT OF TOOT—This badly battered North Korean locomotive hasn't enough steam left to go out on a toot nor the track to run on since being clobbered by U. S. Navy fighter-bombers of Carrier Task Force 77. As is apparent, the pilots flying interdiction missions against Red transportation facilities, were very methodic in reducing the rail line to rubble.

But Actions Count

Buy Lamb Leg With Leftover Plans in Mind

It's the smart homemaker who buys a large roast with leftovers in mind. For instance, the leg of lamb purchased for dinner may be wisely used for two additional meals.

Curry of lamb is one leftover suggestion made by Reba Staggs, home economist. This, of course, is usually made with fresh lamb cubes; however, it may be prepared with the leftover lamb for an equally interesting dish. On the basis of 2 cups leftover cubed lamb, cook 1/2 cup diced onion and 1 1/2 cups of sliced tart apple in a little water until tender. Then add them to 1 1/2 cups of medium white sauce along with the cubed lamb and seasonings of 1 1/2 tablespoons curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon, ground cloves, nutmeg and allspice. Thoroughly heat and serve over hot rice in the traditional manner.

Lamb joined with mushrooms is still another way for using the leftover meat. Cube lamb, then heat in a white sauce along with canned and fresh mushrooms, sliced and heated in butter.

Chilled slices of lamb roast are grand for a buffet supper or for snack time sandwiches. Leftover lamb, also, may be cubed and tossed with vegetables or fruits in salad combinations.

The Schemer
Junior was invited to his friend's house for supper, but refused. When his mother asked him why, he sneered:
"He just wants me to help him eat up his cereal so he can have the box tops."

STRICTLY FRESH

IT'S tough on presidential candidates. They have to have a farm program to cover every acre, including the "wise" ones.

The vacation season soon draws to a close and so do the bank accounts.

The marriage rate for 1951 was the lowest since 1933 and the divorce rate has dropped. Sounds like TV at work, keeping both husbands and prospective suitors home.

COME ON CHARLIE!

Now that both parties have nominated the "next president" we'll have to build another White House.

HOW TO FIGURE THE AMOUNT OF PAINT NEEDED

Do you plan on painting the house this summer? If so, here is a plan for you to use in figuring the amount of paint needed for the job.

Under normal conditions, one gallon of ordinary house paint (ready mixed) will cover about 700 square feet of wood siding.

This is assuming that the present surface is in reasonably good condition.

If the surface is weathered badly, and has been a number of years without paint, one gallon may not cover 700 square feet.

Also, a gallon of paint thinned for a priming coat will cover more than 700 square feet of new wood surface.

In the illustration, I have shown the important dimensions to be used in figuring the number of square feet of surface.

Front and Back
The front of the house is 9' x 30'.

Multiply 9' times 30', and you will have 270 square feet of surface. Do not deduct anything for doors and windows.

The extra amount needed for the trim will just about make up for the glass surface which does not need to be painted.

Since the front and back of the house are the same, we multiply by 2, and have 540 square feet to be painted.

The Ends
The dimensions of the near end are 9' x 16', up to the plate. This figure 144 square feet to be painted.

The dimensions of the far side of the garage are 9' x 22'. This figure 198 square feet to be painted.

The near side of the garage under the porch can be figured at 9' x 6'. This figure 54 square feet of surface.

The End Gables

The triangular area above the plate is 16' long and 4' high.

To find the area of a triangle, multiply the base times the altitude and divide by 2.

So we multiply 4' times 16', and we have 64 square feet. Divide by 2, and we have 32 square feet of surface above the plate to be painted.

But since the end of the garage is the same width as the house, we can add another triangle the same size, and have 64 square feet of surface to be painted on both gables.

Total Area
Add 540 for the front and back, 144, plus 198, plus 54, for the ends, plus 64 for the gables, and we have a total of 930 square feet of surface to be painted.

Allowances
Add 10 per cent for cornices and waste, and you have a new total of 1,023 square feet. For two coats, the area would be 2,046 square feet.

Three gallons of paint should cover 2,100 square feet of surface. So if you buy three gallons for a job of this size, you will not have enough paint left over worth mentioning.

There is a difference in the way paint is applied. Some painters believe the more paint they can get to stick, the better the paint job.

The boss painter who taught me, insisted that the paint be brushed out well, and the surface covered evenly.

If three coats were necessary to do a good job, we used three coats.

You probably could use five gallons on this job if you spread it thick. But to me, this is not the way it should be done. This is one of the causes of checking and alligating.

Dainty Bridal Shower Refreshments Straight From Canned Meats

Feting the bride-elect? This special occasion calls for attractive and ever so dainty refreshments. And what could be more appropriate than a tray of colorful canapes—flavorful tidbits smartly garnished and served with chilled fruit juices.

Many canape trays look far too complicated for the average homemaker to duplicate. However, you can prepare a tray of appetizers (guaranteed to be the talk of your guests) quite simply with the aid of canned meats on your kitchen shelf, according to Reba Staggs, food authority. Here's a list of canned meats you need for an outstanding platter arrangement — smoked tongue, chipped beef, Vienna sausages and deviled ham. Cream cheese is handy to have for decorating the canapes along with tiny pearl onions, olives and parsley.

You'll find day old bread easier to work with than fresh bread. Use your small cookie cutters for cutting it into various shapes and designs—crescents, rounds, triangles, rectangles and etc. Then let your imagination rule. For instance, spread some designs with deviled ham. Top with minute pearl onions, then outline the design with finely minced parsley. Top other bread designs with cream cheese, then arrange paper-thin slices of Vienna sausage over the top.

Here's a tip—it's wise to spread bread with softened butter to prevent soaking. Or for a grand flavor combination you might spread bread with mustard butter, then top with a matching slice of smoked tongue. Horseradish butter is another choice. Cream butter and add a bit of drained horseradish, then top with smoked tongue. Chipped beef rolls are another appetizer for your tray. On thin strips of chipped beef place a little cream cheese slightly thinned with cream. Roll up the chipped beef and stick with a colored pick.

If you make the canapes earlier in the day wrap them in waxed paper or aluminum foil and immediately place in your refrigerator. Plan, however, on making these appetizers as late as possible before serving so they will be at their best.

Don't turn cattle directly on lush legume pasture during hot and humid weather. Fill cattle in the shed or barn before you turn them out and avoid bloat, says Gus Bohstedt, animal husbandman at the University of Wisconsin.

Big shots are usually small shots who kept on shooting.

FIT-FOR-A-KING IS MEAT LOAF when you fix it with a lip-smacking sauce. And that sauce is right at your finger tips on the soup shelf. Take a can of condensed cream of mushroom or tomato soup. Heat it in the pan after you remove meat loaf, stirring the browned bits of meat and some drippings into the soup. (The amount of drippings depends on thickness of sauce you like. Tomato soup is a good medium-thick sauce just as it comes from the can. Mushroom soup plus about 1/2 cup liquid makes a medium-thick sauce.)

PICNIC POINTER: Something cold to drink is a must for summer outings. Carry along a thermos or jug of ice cubes. Also take cans of tomato juice or mixed vegetable juices—and the can opener. Then ice the juice just before you're ready to drink it. Tastes mighty fine with hot dogs and potato salad.

CAKES MAKE A PARTY. And for summer festivities — whether a birthday dinner or a picnic—you want an easy cake that's a real beauty. Try a play-easy variation of a gingerbread mix for the next time you need a cake. Use condensed tomato soup as liquid in the cake. It gives a delicate special flavor and a rosy color to the gingerbread.

Tomato Soup Gingerbread
1 package gingerbread mix
1 can (1 1/4 cups) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup water

Blend ingredients thoroughly and stir until batter is smooth. Pour into a greased and floured 9-inch layer pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 35 minutes, or until cake springs back when touched lightly. Remove from pan and cool. Serve with a cream cheese frosting. 8 servings.

TRUE SALAD DAYS are these. A bright tossed mixture of greens belongs at most every meal. Add a sparkling touch to each salad — cubes of cheese or ham, chunks of stuffed olive, crunchy toasted croutons. Each perks up the appetite.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Canned Citrus Good Travelers

Mapping out a pleasant trip entails thought for snacks and refreshment that won't cost too much and are good travelers. Long refreshing drips of nutritious fruit juice that can be enjoyed en route help Mother and Dad and the children too, to avoid getting overly tired and irritable. Best buys in this direction are the various canned Florida citrus juices—plenty of choice to suit every taste—sweet orange juice or tangerine juice, the tart grapefruit juice or blended orange and grapefruit juice. Prices of all these nutritious, delicious juices are news these days—they're 20 per cent lower than they were a year ago!

An easy way to be sure of chilled beverages en route is to tote a thermos filled with cracked ice or ice cubes. When someone is thirsty, simply drain off whatever water may have accumulated from the cubes, puncture the top of your convenient can of citrus juice, pour the juice into the cold thermos and in a twinkling it will be properly chilled for the best relief yet from the heat.

VARY LIVER SERVING WITH SMALL LOAVES
Nutritionists advise serving your family liver at least once a week. And here's an interesting serving variation—Individual Liver Loaves. Using muffin cups for molding the meat mixture, roasting time will be greatly cut, points out meat cookery expert Reba Staggs.

Individual Liver Loaves—Bacon Curls
1 1/2 pounds sliced liver
1 tablespoon lard or drippings

1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

1 1/2 cups liquid
Cook liver in lard or drippings until lightly browned on each side, about 5 minutes. Grind liver with 2 slices of bacon and onion. Add all other ingredients except cracker crumbs and remaining bacon. Tomato juice, milk or bouillon may be used for the liquid. Mix thoroughly. Grease 6 large or 8 medium molds or muffin cups. Add 1 tablespoon catchup to each mold and pack meat mixture over catchup. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Serve with bacon curls made by cooking the bacon on both sides until lightly browned but not crisp. Wind the bacon with the tines of a fork and continue cooking until crisp. 6 servings.

On arriving in New York from Hamburg, Germany, "old salt" Bernd announced that some day he'll be a sea captain like the one who sailed their ship on the 4,400 mile trip. Their father, a carburetor engineer, who built the boat in three years, plans to settle in the U. S.

Our meeting was held August 4 at Gage school. We answered roll call by giving our fair projects.

We are going to purchase an American flag with the money we get from our paper drive.

After our business was taken care of, the reports were given. Harriet Odekirk and Ronald Petermann gave reports on their trip to Pine Lake camp. Reports were given on the paper drive. We are doing pretty well with gathering our paper. Carl Haack and Ronald Balas gave a talk on how to judge cattle.
