Village, County Join in Giving Republicans Sweeping Victory; Record Vote of 656 Cast Here

All GOP Candidates Win; Record 17,526 Votes Cast in County; Republican Margin More Than 4 to 1 Locally

Voters of Kewaskum followed the trend of those throughout the county, state and nation in a sweeping, landslide victory for the Republicans in Tuesday's general election. Voters thronged to the polls in unprecedented numbers in the greatest vote in history.

After 20 years under the Democratic banner, the GOP party was voted back into power in the United States with the decisive Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon victory over the Democratic candidate, Adlai E. Stevenson, and his running mate, John J. Sparkman. Along with the new president and vice-president, Republican candidates were elected to all offices in the state and Washington county.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Up to Thursday, Eisenhower had piled up nearly 32,000,000 votes throughout the country. The previous high was 27,751,597, polled by Franklin D. Roosevelt against Alf M. Landon in 1936. With returns from 134,454 of the nation's 146,361 precincts, Eisenhower had received a popular vote of 31,862,042, a margin of better than six million votes over Stevenson, who polled 25,651,348.

Wisconsin's all-time voting record of 1,495,000 set in 1940 was also shattered in Tuesday's election when, with precincts still not all reported, the vote soared close to 1,600,000. State voters gave Gen. Eisenhower a majority of over 350,000 votes. All GOP candidates in the state were swept into office by one-sided margins.

A total of 17,526 votes were cast in the county, which total surpasses the previous 1940 record presidential election vote of 13,225 by more than 4,000 votes. All Republican candidates in the county were elected or re-elected by wide margins. Of the two candidates for office from Kewaskum, one was successful in being re-elected and the other, a newcomer, was defeated in the GOP sweep. Assemblyman K. Wm. Haebig was re-elected easily over his Democratic opponent, Robert Loeb. Donald Koerbie, Democratic candidate for county clerk, was decisively beaten by incumbent Anton Starni. Haebig was given a splendid endorsement by local voters. He polled 846 to only 85 for

GOV. WALTER KOHLER

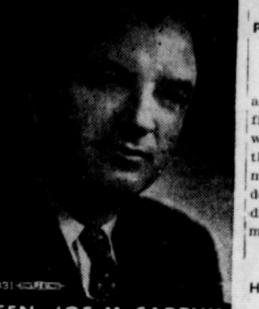

A total of 656 votes was cast in the village of Kewaskum and this number exceeds the previous record vote of five hundred and some forty cast in 1940, as far as can be remembered, by more than 110 votes. Surprising in the village was the large women's vote. The ladies came out in unexpected numbers and although no check was made, it is believed that the female vote outnumbered that of the male citizens. Beautiful election day weather helped swell the vote.

The village of Kewaskum election board consisting of Val Peters, chief of election; Harry Schaefer and P. J. Haug, inspectors of election, and Harry Koch and William Harbeck, clerks of election, had the honor and distinction of again being the first precinct in the state to report in their presidential election returns. About 15 minutes after the polls closed the results were already in to the Milwaukee Journal and Associated Press, and a couple of minutes later they were the first in the state to be announced over radio station WTMJ.

GOP candidates ran ahead by a margin of better than 4 to 1 in the village. Eisenhower polled 487 votes locally as compared to 151 for Stevenson. Eighteen ballots were either left blank or thrown out for being voted erroneously. Some voters were generous and gave all six presidential candidates a vote.

A record vote was also polled in the town of Kewaskum where 367 ballots were marked. This figure surpasses the previous high of 345 cast in 1940 by 22 votes. The township also gave GOP candidates a large majority.

Gov. Kohler was re-elected by the largest margin ever recorded for a Wisconsin chief executive.

SEN. JOE MCCARTHY

The state re-elected Senator Joe McCarthy by a substantial majority over his opponent, Thomas E. Fairchild. The vote in 3,137 of the state's 3,225 precincts Thursday was McCarthy 841,304 and Fairchild 702,962. In Kewaskum Fairchild polled the best vote of any Democratic candidate. McCarthy defeated him here by a margin of only 2 to 1. The count was 436 for McCarthy and 212 for Fairchild. Many voters split their ticket, voting for all GOP candidates except McCarthy. Republican voters of the Sixth Congressional district easily re-elected William K. Van Peit, Fond du Lac. He polled 846 to only 85 for

Heart Disease Is Not Always Fatal

Heart disease, or coronary thrombosis, is not always fatal. A bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical association states that the underlying cause of this blocking off of the blood supply to the large artery leading to the heart is not known, but certain things are known which are valuable in treatment.

Coronary thrombosis is mainly a disease of middle life, relatively uncommon in people under 40. It is more common in men than women; it is more frequent among professional people than among manual workers. Heredity is an important factor.

Coronary thrombosis is rarely fatal when it first strikes. In most cases the victim may be seized by pain while sitting or lying still. Pain spreads rapidly over the chest and sometimes the abdomen. Coronary thrombosis usually strikes people suffering from a previous heart condition.

In thrombosis, the area of the heart deprived of its vital blood supply degenerates. If this goes too far, one of two things may happen—the weakened area may rupture, causing instant death, or the heart may be permanently crippled. But if things go well, an intriguing process of repairing goes on, and the area originally supplied by the occluded artery is supplied by the neighboring arteries.

The aim of treatment is to rest the heart as much as possible until this wonderful healing process has occurred. The patient must rest in bed for at least six weeks because the reparative process takes that long to become well established. Subsequent increase in activity must be slow. Excessive exertion must always be avoided, but ordinary exercise, like a round of golf, can be taken in stride.

The patient with any heart condition should try to lead a more leisurely life. With careful health procedures, he can live a useful and full life in spite of heart disease.

PLANS FOR REBUILDING A COAL BIN

When coal is used for heating the home, a good air tight coal bin helps a lot in keeping the home clean. The time to do this repair job is during the summer or fall when the bin is empty. Use wall board or plywood for the ceiling of the bin. It should be nailed to the floor joists as illustrated.

Line the inside walls of the bin with plywood as illustrated. It should be moisture proof plywood, and at least 3/8-inch in thickness.

This will last longer than covering the outside of the walls with heavier lumber.

The studs should be 2x4, and nailed 16 inches center to center. The size of the bin should be according to your needs. One ton of bituminous coal requires about 48 cubic feet of storage space. Multiply this by the number of tons you use in a season, and you will have the total amount of space required.

The sloping bottoms, as illustrated, give you a self-feeding feature. For bituminous coal the slope should be about 45 degrees. For anthracite coal, it can be less.

There is always the question as to whether the sloping bottoms are worth the space they waste. The apron marked "A" is quite essential if fuel is to be taken from the outside of the bin.

Apron "B" keeps the last bit of coal within reach of the shovel. Without apron "B," it would be necessary to enter the bin when the supply of coal is low.

Masonry or cement block walls can be used instead of studs and wood lining as illustrated.

Ship lap, or tongue and grooved lumber may be used as lining instead of plywood. It may be cheaper, but will not seal in the coal dust as well as plywood.

Fatten Cockerels For Marketing

Fatten and market the undesirable cockerels and pullets. That pointer should be followed by every poultry-raiser, because it can bring in profits that otherwise might not be realized from a poultry flock.

Young surplus cockerels and cull pullets can be fattened very profitably in 12 to 14 days before being marketed. And since the process of fattening poultry is simple, and requires very little equipment and feed, there is really little excuse for a poultry-raiser not doing so.

Warning Important

When fattening birds for market, it is best to precede the fattening period with a worming treatment. This is important because birds infested with poultry worms will not fatten readily. This is true of any birds that may be sick or of low vitality.

Place birds in a crate or a pen when ready to begin the fattening period. Birds usually gain faster and more economically when crate-fattened.

If a crate is not available, you can easily make one from scrap lumber. Construct the fattening battery 10 feet long, 18 inches wide, and 24 inches high—dividing it into four compartments. Cover the bottom of the crate with 1-inch hardware cloth, so that droppings will fall through the bottom, thus keeping the inside of the crate clean.

Fattening Pointers

To bring your cockerels and cull pullets to a good market weight, observe these pointers. They'll help you crate-fatten your chickens successfully.

1. Select good, vigorous stock.
2. Starve birds 12 hours before beginning the feeding period.
3. Feed sparingly the first few days.
4. Feed at regular intervals.
5. Remove surplus feed after each feeding.

In fattening poultry, always use a good fattening ration. These are easily obtained and comparatively inexpensive when you consider the extra profits to be gained from fattened birds.

Drivers—Beware That Evening Sun

When that evening sun goes down, it creates a problem for many drivers as we enter the season of year when the "going home" hour falls at dusk.

When driving in a westerly direction in the late afternoon, the motorist may at times be almost blinded by the strong sun's rays, the motor vehicle department points out.

Praying for a cloud to cross the sun's path is one way to deal with this hazard. But if no clouds are in sight, other valuable aids are sun shields, sun glasses and a really clean windshield. If the sun is at your back, remember it's shining right into the eyes of the driver coming toward you, so give him plenty of room, the department observes.

Smorgasbord Snacks For Parties

Simple and easily prepared party refreshments can be adapted from the popular Swedish Smorgasbord. An assortment of zesty snacks tastefully arranged for help-yourself serving with tall glasses of sparkling beer make an attractive though informal set-up.

A simplified version of the highly seasoned meat, fish, egg and cheese smorgasbord specialties can be whisked together quickly from supplies at hand. Such tasty tidbits as deviled eggs, spiced ham and pretzel stick kabobs—made simply by pressing slim pretzel sticks into cubes of spiced ham—chilled shrimp with cocktail "dunking" sauce and rarebit spread with crackers take on festive airs when arranged artistically for party serving.

Make up an extra supply of the rarebit spread to keep on hand in the refrigerator for unexpected guests. Serve hot or cold to spread on crisp crackers, this cheese mixture is easy, inexpensive and has the tangy flavor of genuine Welsh rarebit.

Creamy Welsh Rarebit Spread

- 1/2 lb. sharp processed cheese
  - 1/2 cup beer
  - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
  - dash tabasco sauce
  - few grains paprika
- Put whole piece of cheese and the beer in top of double boiler over boiling water. Cover and let cheese melt, stirring occasionally, until thickened and smooth—about 10 to 15 minutes. Add seasonings. Serve hot or pour into jar, cover with foil and store in refrigerator for serving cold. Will keep two to three weeks in refrigerator. Makes 1 1/2 cups of spread.

Here are a number of easily prepared meat loaves. We believe you will find them both delicious and satisfying.

Meat Loaf

- 3 cups cooked meat
- 1 small slice suet
- 1/2 cup mushrooms
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 3 cloves—cayenne
- 2 egg yolks

Strips of bacon Mix with the meat the suet, mushrooms, salt, pepper, allspice, cloves and cayenne. Add the well beaten egg yolks and moisten with a little milk or gravy. Line the bottom of baking dish with strips of bacon and fill with meat mixture. Dot with bits of butter. Bake 45 minutes in an oven 375 degrees.

Individual Lamb Loaves

- 1 1/2 lbs. lamb breast, neck or shoulder, boned and ground
  - 4 tablespoons minced onion
  - 1 1/3 cups soft bread crumbs
  - 2 teaspoons salt
  - 1 egg
  - 2 1/2 tablespoons bottled horseradish
  - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
  - 3 tablespoons minced green pepper
  - 3 tablespoons catchup
  - 1/2 cup milk
- Combine all ingredients. Form into 6 individual meat loaves. Arrange side by side in baking pan. Bake 30 minutes in an oven 400 degrees.

Crusty Meat Loaves

- 2 1/4 lbs. ground beef
  - 1 1/2 cups cracker crumbs
  - 1 1/4 cups milk
  - 2 1/2 teaspoons salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
  - 1 beaten egg
  - 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- Cornflakes Combine all ingredients except the cornflakes. Mix well. Shape into 6 oblong meat loaves. Roll in crushed cornflakes. Place in a greased shallow pan. Bake 45 minutes in an oven 325 degrees. Garnish with parsley or watercress and serve hot with

Onion Sauce

- 1/2 cup minced onion
  - 3 tablespoons fat
  - 3 tablespoons flour
  - 1 1/2 cups beef stock
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley Cook the onion with the fat until slightly browned. Stir in the flour, then add the stock and parsley, stirring constantly.

Company Meat Loaf

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 1/2 lb. ground veal
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup diced celery and tops
- 2 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

4 slices soft bread cubed
1 cup warm milk
Mix meats thoroughly. Add onions, celery, seasonings, mustard, eggs and Worcestershire sauce. Mix well. Soak bread cubes in warm milk. Add to meat mixture and mix well. Pack into a loaf pan and bake 20 minutes in an oven 350 degrees. Then turn out on a greased shallow baking pan. This way the meat loaf keeps its form and is crusty. Pour 1/2 cup boiling water around loaf. Bake uncovered for 1 hour in an oven 350 degrees. Baste with the liquid every 15 minutes. Serve hot on a platter with hot tomato sauce; or serve cold with pepper relish or chili sauce.

Brown Mushroom Sauce

- 3 tablespoons butter
  - Few drops onion juice
  - 3 tablespoons flour
  - 1 cup cream or top milk
  - 1/2 lb. mushrooms sliced
  - Salt and paprika
- Brown butter slightly. Add onion juice and flour. Stir and cook until brown. Pour on cream gradually while stirring constantly. Add cooked mushrooms. Season with beef extract, salt and paprika. Serve with veal loaf.

Two concrete pours will complete placement of all concrete used in the dam. Seen beyond the dam is the 139-foot-high concrete mixing plant. It turned out more than three million yards of cement for the dam, its power plant and other buildings used in construction of the dam, which was built under direction of the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior. President Truman turned on the power Oct. 1 and dedicated the project which was completed 14 months ahead of schedule by the General Shea-Morrison Co. at a cost of $103,000,000.

Amazing

An English lad and an Indian girl were on a camping trip in the States when they came to a trout stream. "You like fish, huh?" asked the Indian. "Yes," replied the Englishman briefly.

A year later the English lad again met the Indian. "How!" said the Indian, raising his hand gravely in welcoming. "Fried," replied the Englishman.

GOOD HEALTH

1. WHAT IS FLUORIDATION OF WATER?
It has been found that children can lessen their tendency to tooth decay if drinking water contains one-millionth part of fluoride. Since tooth decay is the most prevalent childhood illness next to the common cold, many cities are adding fluorides to municipal water supplies when these salts are not already present. The cost is very small. Parents, however, should consult their family dentist about their children's teeth.

2. WHAT ARE HORMONES?
Hormones are substances given off by certain glands of the body. When these glands do not function properly, the human body develops deficiencies which your doctor can treat with drugs produced from similar glands of animals. Some hormones are being produced synthetically (artificially).

3. CAN MILK BE HARMFUL?
Unless properly pasteurized (heated enough to kill the germs) and kept clean, milk may be a dangerous spreader of tuberculosis and brucellosis (undulant fever) and other diseases. Such diseases can be transmitted from cows to humans. It is important that citizens see to it that the milk in their communities is pasteurized.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Pfc. Allen Mertes, who was killed in action in Korea Nov. 4, 1950.

Oh! what it meant to us
Your kindly face
And ready smile,
But we'll never see you any more
Since you died on that distant shore.
So young and brave
Your precious life you gave,
But loved one you're not forgotten
And never will be,
For down in our hearts
Your memory will ever last.
Our hearts are torn,
We miss you more and more.
Sadly missed by his mother, Mrs. Clarence Mertes, his brother, his sister and brother-in-law.

Badger Firemen Meet; Tournery to Germantown

The 1953 diamond jubilee annual tournament of the Badger Firemen's association was awarded to Germantown, at a meeting of chiefs and delegates held Sunday at Grafton. It will be held July 18 and 19.

Fifty-seven delegates from nineteen fire departments attended the meeting. The annual meeting in 1952 was voted to Campbellsport and the annual mid-winter meeting and banquet to Random Lake.

Officers of the association re-elected were: John Feutz, Slinger, president; Ernst E. Schneider, Cedarburg, vice-president, and George J. Armbruster, Cedarburg, secretary-treasurer.

The morning sessions Sunday at Grafton were devoted to committee work. Dinner was served at the Grafton Hotel. Speaker was Assemblyman Nic J. Biehler of Belgium who talked on problems confronting the volunteer firemen. The afternoon session dealt mostly with problems and topics of value to the volunteer organizations, and election of officers.

A legislative committee will be appointed to represent the association in legislative matters at the next session of the legislature.

One problem that confronted the meeting was the matter of introducing a bill for the return of "bingo" for charitable and civic organizations and also a request for more state aid for volunteer fire departments.

Dates of the annual meeting and mid-winter meeting-banquet will be announced by the executive board.

Historical Society to Meet at Slinger School

On Nov. 18, an historic date for Washington county, the Historical society will meet at the high school at Slinger. It will be exactly 112 years that Washington county has been operating as a unit of government.

Wisconsin has one of the best State Historical societies in the nation, and its historical library is one of the best and largest.

Counties throughout the state are realizing that they are important factors in "History in the Making" as well as informing the people—especially our youth—of the interesting and glorious past.

The meeting on Nov. 18 is not a dinner meeting; it is educational and business only, and no one is to be asked for any money.

Remember the date—Nov. 18, 2 o'clock p. m., Slinger High school.

By Betty Ann

EDITOR
THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

Gloves make wonderful accessories—especially if you think of them in terms of both style and practicality, says Betty Ann.

Try to choose these "added attractions" in colors that will allow matching and mixing with your costume changes. Insist upon washability so that it will be easy for you to keep them fresh and ready to wear.

Full gloves show wonderful variety because of the introduction of such new materials as orlon fleece, corduroy gloves with knit nylon palms, and pepper and salt jersey gloves. Knitted wool gloves and mittens can be found in colorfast yarns that are definitely washable.

Since you certainly won't want these accessories to emerge from the wash basin in a shapeless mess, here are several rules that will prove helpful.

Use lukewarm soapsuds for fabric or knitted gloves. A soft, well soaped brush or washcloth can do wonders in removing soil from fabric glove fingertips. Rinse well in water of the same temperature and blot out extra moisture in a towel.

Nylon and cotton fabric gloves can be hung from clip type clothespins. Wool jerseys and other knits are best laid flat on a towel and smoothed back into size. Corduroy gloves should be brushed when completely dry to raise the nap again. Clothespins may leave marks on the corduroy so let them dry flat, too.

Rayon gloves should be put back on the hand while wet. Then stroke and blot the moisture out with a dry bath towel. Remove the gloves gently from the hands and let them dry flat in the shape of your hands. All gloves should be dried away from heat.

New fashions in hand knits reflect the trend toward informal living although dressup items for town still are very much in the style picture.

The 1952 hand knitted fashions feature lightness and softness, plus texture. Soft and suedy effects are achieved by the use of nylon ribbon with wool yarns. The trend toward informality is seen in items such as a middy dress—a blouse belted with matching skirt for town or worn beltless with separate shorts for country.

Quick knits, made on larger needles with heavier yarn, continue to be featured for those who have limited hours to pursue their favored hobby. Stoles remain high in popularity and the jerkin dress, turtle neck slipovers and collared cardigans indicate that hand knits have much appeal for casual wear, as well as dressing for important events in town and country.

If high living costs leave you with a strict economy budget when it comes to replenishing your linen supply, it's high time you tried some salvage tricks to preserve partly worn items. With as little as two yards of contrasting gaily printed or smartly striped cotton you can replace worn hemlines of four sheets and at the same time provide decorative interest.

Use the same idea to replace pillowcase borders. An applied floral or geometric design or two will often cover a torn place in table, bedroom and bathroom linens that can still lead a useful life.

Large tablecloths with frayed edges can be cut down to place setting size. For children, trick out place mats with individual names or a cowboy motif with machine stitching. You can also convert partly worn Turkish towels into baby bibs, wash cloths and make-up capes.

When the football fans are clamoring for after the game snacks, try bologna roll-arounds with toasted buns and hot cider. These roll-arounds are simple to make. Just place eight strands of cooked macaroni diagonally across each of 10 slices of bologna or ham. Combine one cup grated American cheese, one tablespoon horseradish, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and sprinkle on macaroni. Fasten the edges of the meat together with toothpicks. Place the roll-arounds in a shallow pan, cover with one-half cup condensed tomato soup and bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 15 minutes. This recipe makes 10 roll-arounds.

Something Different in Chicken, Beef and Chocolate

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

OF course, most people like chicken. But most people like to be pleasantly surprised every now and then. So why not give the family and guests a party special a chicken dish the likes of which they never tasted before.

This Fruited Chicken Curry recipe is just the thing for that.

Fruited Chicken Curry (4 servings)

Two tablespoons fat, 1 cup finely diced onions, 1½ cups coarsely chopped, unpeeled apples ¼ cup seedless raisins, ¼ cup shredded coconut, 1 teaspoon curry powder ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1½ cups seasoned chicken broth ½ teaspoon kitchen bouquet 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 1 firm banana sliced diagonally.

Melt fat in saucepan over moderate heat. Add onions and cook about 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add apple raisins and coconut. Sprinkle with curry powder, salt and pepper, stirring to mix well. Continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add chicken broth, kitchen bouquet and chicken, stirring to blend well. Cover tightly and cook over very low heat about 30 minutes. Correct seasonings if necessary. Add banana and continue cooking for about 3 minutes. Serve immediately with hot cooked rice. Suitable accompaniments are chutney, chopped green pepper or chopped salted peanuts.

There are times when you want a quick but substantial and good tasting main dish—something to stick to the ribs but won't take a lot of time in the fixing. Here's a pretty good answer to that problem—

Quick Beef Casserole (4 to 6 servings)

One quarter cup fat, ½ cup sliced onion, 1 small clove garlic, minced, ¾ pound chopped beef, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet or other sauce builder ½ cup rice, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 cup sliced green pepper, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon chili powder, ¼ cup grated American cheese.

Melt fat in frying pan over moderate heat. Add onion and garlic. Cook, stirring frequently, about 3 minutes. Add chopped beef pulled into small bits. Sprinkle with kitchen bouquet or other sauce builder. Cook until meat is lightly browned. Add rice, tomatoes, green pepper and seasonings. Bring to boil. Lower heat and cook, tightly covered, until rice is barely tender, about 35 minutes. Pour into shallow heat-proof casserole. Sprinkle cheese evenly over top and brown lightly under pre-heated broiler. Serve immediately.

Now, just to add a sweet closing, let's make a few chocolate meringues. They are different and good, too.

Chocolate Meringues (1½ doz.)

One egg white, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup chocolate nuggets, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat egg white stiff; beat in sugar slowly. Fold in salt, chocolate, vanilla. Drop by teaspoon on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate (325 degree F.) oven, 15 minutes.

"Swollen Glands" Fight Off Disease

As part of the protective and defense mechanisms of our body, lymph nodes do their part in screening out and showing up the enemies of the body, states a bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical association.

Lymph nodes are small, bean-shaped organs, ranging from pinpoint size to an inch long, which act as barriers against disease. They capture and hold many of the harmful cells that invade the body, from bacteria to cancer. Although they are scattered through the body, they are chiefly located in the neck, armpit, shoulder and groin. They play an important part in the protective function of the lymphatic system which covers the entire body in a manner similar to the network of veins and arteries.

Enlarged, tender lymph nodes are one indication of disease. They appear as swollen glands. The lymphatic vessels, which contain the nodes, are made up of two kinds of cells: those which eventually enter the blood stream as white protective blood cells to carry off disease bacteria, and large cells capable of engulfing and destroying foreign particles. Your physician often examines them to learn the point or spread of infection.

Lymph nodes are important in spread as well as control of cancer. When cancerous tissue is removed, often many adjoining lymph nodes are removed, for they may be filled with cancer cells. A single cell floating loose in the blood stream can start the growth again.

Lymph nodes can be helpful in diagnosis. In early examination for tuberculosis, swollen glands may mean disease presence, and then proper treatment and rest can be instituted to bring quick recovery.

Nodes are numerous where they are most needed. Regions near the nasal passages and throat are well supplied, for these areas are popular portals of entry for foreign substances.

Startling Changes In John's Character Caused by Gospels

ONE of the best examples of the gospels' great transforming power is seen in the character change so apparent in John. He was the disciple who seemed to be filled with ambition and who wanted to have the foremost place with his brother James in what he believed was an earthly kingdom about to be established on earth by Jesus.

He also had a vengeful personality. It was John who wanted Jesus to call down fire from heaven as Elijah did and burn up several villagers who treated them discourteously.

Yet this man became one of the strongest proponents of Love as the only acceptable way of life. He even came to regard Love as the supreme being, the very nature of God himself.

To John, Love was the true test of a Christian life.

Love and light became John's theme. He asserted that a man who said he loved God, yet hated his neighbor, was a liar.

To John, a loveless life was a life existing in darkness. It is this ramification of his conception of Love and light as one, that John has penetrated to the present and explained the basis of many of our problems.

We know that many of the earth's people are not living in the light of love. They are groping in the misty darkness of hate, prejudice and mutual distrust. John called the man hating his brother "a murderer." Murder on a highly organized scale is the thing we see most in our modern, loveless world. Certainly man would do well to heed the words of John, take up the ways of Love—and find the light.

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

No sedentary worker is fit for a strenuous two or three-week hunting trip without training for it. Each year sportsmen die because they failed to keep fit. Although free from disease, death claimed them because they lived so close to the limit of their endurance that a sudden overload broke them.

The advice outlined here by Dr. A. M. Libasci is slanted for the man who wishes to toughen up for a hunting or fishing trip, but it can be used to good advantage by anyone who wishes to attain a better than average degree of fitness.

The first step is to undergo a comprehensive physical examination. Make sure it includes X-rays of your chest, testing of blood and urine, and an electro-cardiogram of your heart, especially if you are over 40. If this exam reveals conditions that need correction by surgery, by all means get it over with before your trip. Don't risk two or three weeks in the wilds if you have a hernia, or recurrent appendicitis, or large hemorrhoids, or any chronic condition that may suddenly flare up.

After you have a clean bill of health from your doctor, your next problem is to start hardening up. How much you will have to do depends on your present condition. In any program of exercises for older men (i.e., after college years), the key word should be moderation. Don't try to correct a condition due to years of neglect by a few days of frenzied exercises. You are risking serious injury if you do.

There can be no adequate fitness if you are greatly overweight. If you are much too heavy, you may need a six-month to a year reducing program before you are ready to undertake a tough hunting trip.

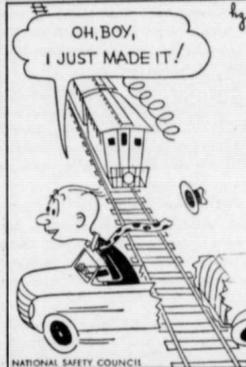

Assuming now that you are trimmed down to a normal weight your next problem is to start a series of graded and progressive exercises to harden you. If you live in a big city and have the time, your best bet is to enroll in a conditioning class at the YMCA. Otherwise, follow a systematic set of exercises at home, done preferably just before bedtime. Dr. Libasci recommends the freehand setting-up type for the first half of your conditioning program and progressive weight lifting for the second half.

Such an exercise schedule, supplemented by many long walks and weight control will be all the average man needs to prepare himself for a hunting trip. Walking will be one of his greatest conditioners. Increase daily walks until you are doing at least three or four miles daily in one hour. Remember, start easily and proceed gradually.

Partisans are responsible for much of the progress of the world and for most of its headaches.

A CLEAN, SWEET REFRIGERATOR WITH BAKING SODA

Keeping the refrigerator gleaming white and free from odors is a two part job. First, wipe up each spot or stain as it occurs—soak on a damp cloth will do the job. Then each time you defrost (or every week or two, if you're the proud owner of a self-defrosting box) clean the refrigerator thoroughly. Empty ice cube trays; soak them, and the shelves, in soda water solution, 2 tablespoons baking soda per quart. Wash walls and freezing unit with that same solution. Rinse and dry. Baking soda can't scratch finest porcelain enamel. It removes the greasy film which harbors odors—therefore sweetens as it cleans!

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Sturdy All-Purpose Barn

THE construction year for the average all-purpose barn was 1910. That means the average barn is a pretty old model, rickety in appearance and inefficient. Many farmers are replacing their old barns with a modern structure.

The soundly-planned building shown is 48 feet long, 34 feet wide and 35 feet high. It has modern lines and permits greater labor efficiency. Its construction cost and maintenance are low. Barns constructed of materials suggested in this plan have weathered through the years.

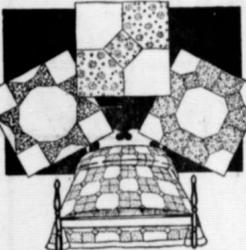

An outstanding feature is the use of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presdwood for both exterior and interior. Use of the 4 by 12-foot panels means an absolute minimum of joints and a big saving in construction labor. This material will not split or crack. Tempered Presdwood resists silage acids. It is structurally strong and both weather and wear-resistant.

On the second floor is a spacious haymow. The entire lower portion is insulated to protect stock from winter's cold and summer's heat. Six cow stalls are located on either side of a driveway. There are mangers, feed alleys and gutters for each group. Adjacent to the milking stalls are single pens for a cow and calf.

A flexible plan for the all-purpose barn may be obtained free by writing Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and asking for No. AFB-162.

Accurate cutting guides and directions for 3 patchwork quilts come on one pattern.

The Bow Tie, at left, finishes to about 85 x 102" in size. True Lover's Knot, at right and on bed, is about 88 x 100" when finished. The old familiar Necktie, in the center, makes a most effective quilt though it is slightly smaller—73 x 96". Scraps of print and white make these quilts most effective and practical. C3241, 20c.

SPOTTED SKUNK

© 1951 National Wildlife Federation
Spotted Skunk

Spotted Skunks, like their striped cousins, have an unpleasant way of defending themselves against attackers. But so long as they are not aroused, the spotted fellows probably do more good than harm. The National Wildlife Federation reports that they perform a valuable service by eating such destructive pests as grasshoppers, crickets, beetles, mice and rats.

To catch his prey, the Spotted Skunk prowls only at night. A sure-footed hunter, he is quick to pounce on his victims, and he can go after them either on the ground or in trees.

After a night of roaming, he curls up and rests during the daylight hours. His home may be in almost any sheltered nook. Spotted Skunks have been found living in the clefts of rocky ledges, in hollow stumps or logs, in holes which they have dug in banks, in old dens abandoned by other animals, and in natural caves.

In the out-of-the-way places which they have chosen for their homes, they raise their families. Each spring there is a litter of from two to ten young, which are cared for by the mother.

When the young grow up, they are from eighteen to twenty-two inches long, and their bushy tails are seven or eight inches in length. Their heads are small, their ears tiny, and their legs short. Altogether they are smaller than their striped cousins.

The real identification mark of the Spotted Skunk, of course, is the way in which his glossy black coat is decorated with white. He has a white spot on his forehead and oblong white marks, or broken stripes, on his back and upper sides. His tail, too, may be mostly white. All of his hair—white and black—is long.

Besides insects, rats, and mice, he eats small ground squirrels, small birds and their eggs, lizards, salamanders, crawfish, mushrooms, and small fruits. There is no proof that he takes enough birds or fruit to be a serious menace.

The only crime of which he is accused is carrying hydrophobia, and in some parts of the country he is known and feared as the Hydrophobia Skunk. But the truth is that experts disagree on whether he really deserves this name and reputation. While he may carry rabies, it is likely that the chances of being bitten by a mad Spotted Skunk are less than the chances of being attacked by a mad dog.

Whether you want to see or avoid Spotted Skunks, you may find it useful to know that there are about thirteen varieties of them. According to the National Wildlife Federation, they live in nearly all parts of the country, but are more plentiful in the west than the east.

Improper Vision Cited As Cause For Juvenile Delinquency

Statistics show us that juvenile delinquency is often due to a chain of circumstances of which inadequate eyesight is an important link, Dr. Harold L. Carlson, Mankato, president of the Minnesota Optometric Association, declared recently, as parents and teachers were still witnessing the record fall school enrollment in the state.

"There is no question about the fact that most juvenile delinquents have failed in school," said Dr. Carlson, "and when we trace the events back to the causes we often find the following:

"1. The child turns to anti-social behavior and is recognized as an actual or potential juvenile delinquent.

"2. The child has turned to anti-social behavior because he failed in school and was unable to find normal expression for his energy and emotions.

"3. He failed in school because he could not read properly.

"4. He could not read properly because he had an uncorrected eyesight problem."

Dr. Carlson said that two out of three children who are retarded readers early in their school careers have vision problems which are causes or important contributing factors. On an average, two out of five children are handicapped in school performance because they have uncorrected shortcomings in vision, according to Dr. Carlson.

"With the aid of modern science almost every child can be helped to see adequately for his school tasks," he said. "What we need to prevent poor eyesight from being a cause for juvenile delinquency, is more thorough and frequent examinations of the vision of all school children. The present standards and methods of testing which prevail in most schools are utterly inadequate and dangerously misleading."

Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

by Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—Many major government controls are due to go the way of Regulations W and X—the ones that put restrictions on home and retail purchase loans but which have been lifted.

Rent controls won't end all at once because there still are some critical housing areas. But in more and more communities supply is catching up with demand, and rent regulations are being discarded by local option.

Pressure is building up against clothing and food price restrictions. Some have been lifted already. Among the reasons are: government regulation of consumer goods is a touchy subject during an election year; not many commodities are in such short supply that prices are pushing hard against ceilings.

Decentralization of some major metals is also a possibility for next year. Aluminum and copper supplies are adequate. Steel, still rolling along above rated capacity, is fast creating shortages due to the strike.

Many items won't be decontrolled, however, and paring the number of items to be supervised could mean better handling of those that remain. Ever since controls were reimposed they have been difficult to enforce because shortages weren't drastic and there wasn't a clear-cut, uniform policy on the relation between prices and wages.

MARITIME MINING—A $2,000,000 mining plant built on a steel barge the length of an average city block was moved recently from Freeport Sulphur Company's Grande Ecaille, La., mine, where it was assembled, to Bay Ste. Elaine, where it will soon begin to extract some 100,000 long tons of sulphur yearly from an underground salt-dome deposit.

Freeport designed the waterborne plant because to build a permanent plant would be too costly.

The "amphibious" mine, only one of its kind, will supply nearly 2,000,000 gallons of superheated water daily with which to melt the mineral deep underground. While still in a molten state, the sulphur will be transported in specially constructed insulated barges to storage at Port Sulphur on the Mississippi river.

Bay Ste. Elaine is one of two salt domes being developed in Louisiana by Freeport as part of a $20,000,000 program to increase the nation's supply of sulphur. The other is at Garden Island Bay near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

THINGS TO COME—Plastic-coated paper plates which do not soak up juices, won't give a "papery" taste to food and which resist knife and fork cuts will be on the market shortly. . . . This atomic age: tungsten glass goggles for protection against radiation—said to be 50 per cent more effective than X-ray shielding glass. . . . Latest metal zipper looks like standard zipper but eliminates snagging and tearing. . . . Newest addition to the many vacuum cleaner attachments removes loose dandruff from the scalp.

YOUNG FARMERS IN BIG CITY—Some 500 top-notch farm youngsters from 46 states will spend four days in New York City this December as a result of industry-agriculture cooperation to improve America's food standards.

The teen-age boys and girls are to be delegates to the 18th annual convention of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association. For the most part they will be winners of the NJVGA's production-marketing contest, for which A & P Food Stores annually provides a $6,000 scholarship fund.

Winning contestants in the 1952 competition will be chosen soon by agricultural experts who judge each entrant on his use of modern vegetable production and marketing methods and his general citizenship.

Adult leaders claim many of the young growers out-perform their parents in vegetable production and marketing, thanks to NJVGA training and experience. Because it points the way to a prosperous adult farm career, they say, NJVGA is an important factor in the drive to halt the migration of potential food producers to city jobs.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Industrial production in September equaled the previous postwar high set in 1951 by climbing to 223 per cent of the 1935-39 average. . . . Publishers' delight: Department of Commerce investigations indicate satisfactory newspaper can be produced from bagasse (sugar cane waste material) at the same or lower cost than wood pulp newspaper. . . . The third round of aluminum expansion recently announced will add 200,000 tons capacity to the present 1,746,000 tons annually. . . . Wholesale prices of farm products decreased two per cent during the month ending Sept. 15.

$440 Top Price Paid for Holstein Sire at Annual County Sale

The 8th annual Washington County Holstein Breeders' sponsored sire sale got off to a rather low bidding start last Friday with choice young bulls selling around the $250 mark, but the urgent pleas of auctioneer Art. Quade explaining the top quality of the young bulls offered in the sale soon brought results. The 4th animal led into the sales ring was bid up to $410 in record time. This was the price paid by Emil Klumb, West Bend, R. 3, for the sire raised by his son, Harvey. The top price of the sale was $440 and was paid by Louis W. Frey, Hartford, R. 2, for the bull consigned by W. H. Grubbe & Son, and raised by Raymond Dobberphul of Rockfield. The Van Schroeder sire was purchased by H. E. Altenburg of East Troy. This bull was raised by Ronald Conter, Kewaskum, R. 3.

Most of the animals in the project will remain on Washington county farms where they will contribute to the good bloodlines of the dairy cattle already on these farms. In several instances the young bulls were purchased by the father of the project member, which is one of the main objectives of the project.

The average of the sale was $291. Below are the average prices received at the three previous sales which were: 1949, $228.33; 1950, $335.45; 1951, $278.00; 1952, $291.00.

Preceding the sale a "Fitness for Show" contest was held. The purpose of this contest is to have all animals fitted in the best possible way for their appearance in the show ring. This includes a well clipped and a well groomed animal trained to lead.

The project boys who were winners in this contest include: 1st—Harvey Klumb, West Bend, R. 3; 2nd—Donald Peters, West Bend, R. 3; 3rd—Roger Schoedel, West Bend, R. 2; 4th—Arthur Ziemer, Cedarburg, R. 1; 5th—Ronald Coulter, R. 3, Kewaskum; 6th—William Seefeldt, Kewaskum, R. 1; 7th—Raymond Dobberphul, Rockfield, R. 1; 8th—Raymond Rasplinger, Kewaskum, R. 3.

Prizes were awarded these winners which included two leather show ring halters donated by the Enger-Kress Co. of West Bend.

This project gives 4-H and FFA members an excellent opportunity to carry on a practical agricultural project where the project members can actually measure the results accomplished.

The quality of the young bulls offered in this year's sale was of a high order. Most of them were well fitted for public exhibition, were well grown out for their age and all of them were from dams with high production records. The boys raised the animals as well as the breeders consigning them are to be complimented on the success of the sale.

Most people are surprised when they're told that over 30% of their TELEPHONE BILL goes right out in taxes.

Actually 31% of the average monthly TELEPHONE BILL is paid in a variety of taxes to federal, state and local governments. This includes the federal excise tax which we collect from you.

We agree taxes are necessary . . . but, they do mount up!

When you pay your next TELEPHONE BILL remember the large part of your payment that will go for taxes.
