Scores Sunday—Kewaskum 88, Mayville 77; West Bend 132, Port 84; Fond du Lac 69, Horicon 63.
Scores Wednesday—Fond du Lac 48, Kewaskum 40.
Games Sunday—West Bend at Kewaskum, Brandon at Port Wash., Merton, Mayville at Horicon, Fond du Lac at Rosendale.

The Kewaskum Chevrolets broke even in two games this week, Sunday night at Mayville they won by an 88-77 score and Wednesday night at Fond du Lac they ended up on the short end, 49-40.

Going into the Fond du Lac tilt, Kewaskum was the only unbeaten team in the circuit in this half. But their setback really knotted up the standings. Now there are five teams tied for first place. A win at Fond du Lac would have given the Chevs the undisputed lead and inside track for the title this half. Horicon and Port were both beaten Sunday and this put Kewaskum in the driver's seat—until Wednesday that is.

John Tessar flipped in 37 points at Mayville to pace the win, 13 of them on free throws. Wayland Tessar was good for 21 and Augie Bilgo 14. Dick Guse was the mainstay for the losers with 19 buttons. Johnny shaved only two points off Doug Ritchie's lead in the individual scoring race, Ritchie now has 338 in ten games while Tessar has 291 in nine contests.

The Chevs outscored Mayville in every period but the last and were ahead of the opposition all through the night.

In a low scoring game in the monstrous Elizabeth Waters school gym at Fond du Lac Wednesday, Fondy came from behind to pass up the Chevs and win the tussle. Kewaskum took a 19-2 advantage at the start but by the quarter Fond du Lac had almost closed the gap, 15-11. The Chevrolets tallied only 6 points in the second quarter and trailed at halftime 23-21. Fondy outscored the losers in both final periods to win by 9 points.

John Tessar was held to 19 points, his lowest total of the campaign. He made 11 of them in the first quarter and scored only 8 the rest of the way. The Fond du Lac scoring was divided with Lautenschlager's 10 being tops. Other prominent names in the Fondy lineup were Gongorek and Rashid. They sank 9 and 6 points respectively. In some tilts this year Tessar scored more points than the entire team did at Fond du Lac.

This Sunday Kewaskum will be out for blood. It is the season's main event when the West Bend Benders come to town. The Benders, first half champs, nosed out the Chevs by 2 points in their first meeting there. At present the two are tied for the lead. The game will start right after the West Bend-Kewaskum Rivers contest at 7:30.

Rose Calls Meeting to Plan Brotherhood Week

Washington county leaders of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, an organization devoted to the furtherance of the brotherhood of mankind, met at the Washington county courthouse last week to formulate and discuss plans to promulgate the feeling of brotherhood between all races and creeds.

The meeting, called by Clifford M. Rose, supervising principal of Kewaskum public schools who is county chairman of the conference, was held to lay plans for the furtherance of the ideals of the organization in connection with the national observance of Brotherhood Week from Feb. 21 to 28.

Present at last Wednesday's meeting were Rose; Harry Shekel, county superintendent of schools; Harold Fuchs, West Bend; Ned Senzepl, chairman of the village of Kewaskum; the speaker, Dr. Maurice Terry of Milwaukee; Chet Nielsen, Walter A. Buss and Paul L. Mueller, all of West Bend.

The meeting was devoted to a discussion of racial and religious problems, an interesting talk on Brotherhood by Dr. Terry and an open forum. Dr. Terry cited the necessity for developing a philosophy of treating all men as brothers to promote the best interests of the country and to foster world peace. Dr. Terry pointed out that Brotherhood Weeks have been observed for the last 21 years. He said the idea behind the movement is to encourage the "brotherhood of mankind and the fatherhood of God."

Heart Fund Drive On; Dr. Edwards Chairman

Fifty years ago, pneumonia, influenza, diarrhea and tuberculosis were the four leading causes of death in this country. Also high on the list were diphtheria and typhoid fever.

The 1952 figures, recently published by the State Board of Health demonstrate how far medical knowledge has come since the turn of the century. Pneumonia had dropped to fourth place, tuberculosis to sixth, diarrhea of the newborn claimed only eleven of the nearly 34,000 deaths in the state, diphtheria took two and typhoid fever only one.

In the place of these conquered killers, heart and blood vessel diseases now stand. The importance of heart disease is shown in the fact that 18,679 people, more than half of all those who died in Wisconsin last year were victims of heart disease.

Cancer, accidents, pneumonia, tuberculosis and diabetes, the next five leading causes together took only about a half as many lives as heart disease.

A few types of heart disease can now be cured, but the most important are yet unconquered. Research, like that which found the cures for typhoid fever and diphtheria, uses over one fourth of the funds collected by the Wisconsin Heart Association. Most of this money is spent at Marquette and Wisconsin university medical schools.

You can help to support this research which may some day save the life of a loved one—which someone may save your life. Give generously to the 1954 Heart Fund drive. In Kewaskum, donations should be mailed to Heart Fund Drive Chairman, Dr. R. G. Edwards.

RECEPTION, DINNER ARE HELD BY NEWLY ORGANIZED GROUP

Over 20 years of happy association in business was the occasion for a celebration held recently in honor of Al G. Hron of Regal Ware, Inc.

Members of the newly organized "400 Club," composed of 17 men who had worked under Mr. Hron's supervision for an aggregate of more than 421 years, presented him with a gold wrist watch inscribed with a tribute to their "boss" of so many years.

A reception and testimonial dinner attended by members of the 400 Club, their wives, and executives of Regal Ware, Inc., provided an interesting evening replete with memories of people and events of bygone years.

Mr. Hron recalled the origin in the fall of 1919 of what was then the Kewaskum Aluminum company. At that time the entire production department consisted of a few machines and the staff which he headed was composed of Arthur Ramthun, Al Kunte and Anthony Fellenz, all of whom remained under his supervision for the next 32 years.

One of Mr. Hron's hobbies has been color movie photography, and he showed films he had taken depicting highlights in the company's history. These included the production of 75, 81, 57 and T25 steel shell cases during World War II; the manufacture of stainless steel utensils as early as 1941; operations involving the firm's present production of 105mm. steel cartridge cases; pictures of the NATO group consisting of representatives from 11 different countries who visited Regal Ware to study the techniques involved in the manufacture of steel cartridge cases; and many other interesting scenes.

Members of the 400 Club include the following individuals whose service under Mr. Hron ranged from over 16 years to over 32 years:

Arthur Ramthun, Al Kunte, Anthony Fellenz, Charles Raether, Arnold Zeimet, LeRoy Keller, William Guenther, Elroy Hron, Lloyd Hron, Clayton Kohn, Harold Meisenheimer, George Koerble, Marvin Martin, Albert Hron, Alfred Kral, Roman Kral and Milton Maedke.

LET'S TAKE THE SLOGAN 'THE LIFE YOU SAVE, MAY BE YOUR OWN'

One of the increasing ills of driving is the misjudgment of speeds of approaching cars when making a left turn, especially on our high speed highways.

How can we expect the young folks to respect others when the older folks don't?

Let's take the slogan 'THE LIFE YOU SAVE, MAY BE YOUR OWN' very serious and make this country a better place to live in.

LOCAL BOY DISCOVERS THAT HONESTY PAYS OFF

Mrs. Edgar Suemnicht of Cascade lost her purse, containing a large sum of money, at about 5 p. m. Saturday in Kewaskum. She was quite concerned about her loss and reported to Chief of Police Gerry Guttman that she lost the purse somewhere in the vicinity of the intersection of Main st. and Fond du Lac ave.

Later a local boy, Richard Roedel, turned in the purse, stating that he found it near the river bridge on the other end of town. How it got there is not known unless some other child found the purse, carried it away, then became frightened and got rid of it.

Mrs. Suemnicht was very happy to get back her purse, which contained almost $70. She rewarded Roedel with $5 and praised him very highly for his honesty. Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Walvoord, relatives of Mrs. Suemnicht here, also expressed their gratitude to the boy.

What Do You Think of Your Kewaskum?

Last week this column mentioned that no respect is shown to others. Men, such as highway, telephone and electric company employees, where compelled to work on highways, place warning signs 250 to 400 ft. on either approach to point of work so that motorists have ample time to bring their car to a safe speed at point of work. But according to reports only a very small percentage of motorists heed these warnings, while the majority continue at their 50 to 60 and even greater speeds, having no RESPECT for the workers. If these workers were not so mindful of this DISRESPECT on the part of many motorists many more casualties and fatalities would result.

Thanks to the alertness of these highway workmen, the caution that must be exercised by these men is costly in that their work is slowed down considerably. This cost must be born by the customers and taxpayers.

Another thing for us motorists to take note of is our failure to stop at stop signs and before entering highways other than at regular intersections. These signs are put there for our safety. A rolling stop is no stop and confuses other approaching drivers. These rolling stops are a hazard and have caused many accidents. Many of us so-called safe and sane drivers are very guilty of this violation.

Another serious practice of motorists which causes thousands upon thousands of dollars in damages yearly is following the leading car too closely and at excessive speeds. And talking about causing property damage, what about the loss of life caused by motorists ignoring the yellow line on their side of the center of the road and passing when the yellow line says "do not pass" on hills and curves?

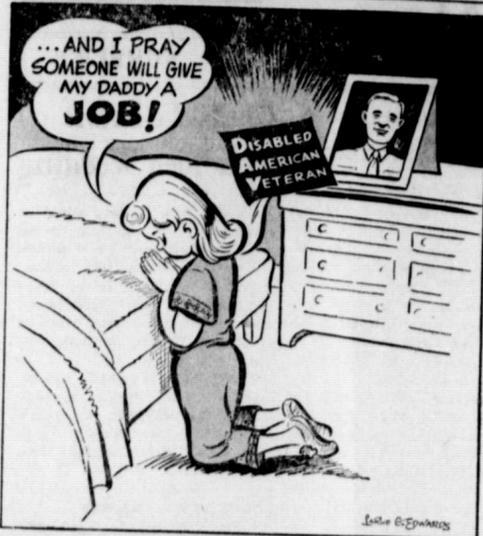

One of the increasing ills of driving is the misjudgment of speeds of approaching cars when making a left turn, especially on our high speed highways.

How can we expect the young folks to respect others when the older folks don't?

Let's take the slogan 'THE LIFE YOU SAVE, MAY BE YOUR OWN' very serious and make this country a better place to live in.

Bible Rhyme Time

The battle was won without a fight. The troops just marched around. Amid blasting horns and shouting throngs, The walls came tumbling down.

Of whom does the rhyme speak? The rhyme speaks of the conquest of Jericho whose mighty walls crumbled and fell before the blast of trumpets. After the death of Moses, God spoke to Joshua telling him to take command of the Israelites and lead them into the Land of Promise. And God gave this pledge to Joshua: That if he be brave and strong, no man could stand against him. Under his banner the Israelites could conquer a vast country and make it their home.

At this time the Israelites were encamped on the banks of the river Jordan across from Jericho, a walled city that stood between them and the Land of Promise. And so Jericho must be their first conquest. Joshua sent two spies into the city. They were recognized and would have been captured except for a woman named Rahab, who hid them on the roof of her home, a house built on the wall of Jericho. The spies slipped away and reported back to camp.

Joshua now commanded the Israelites to prepare for the perilous crossing of the river Jordan, swollen by floods and overflowing its banks. First went the priests carrying the Ark of the Covenant. The waters parted before them and they halted in the middle of the river bed. Then a vast procession of the twelve tribes of Israel marched across as the waters of the river held back letting them pass in safety. At Joshua's orders a pile of stones were placed at the exact spot where the priests stood with the Ark. Other stones taken to erect a memorial at their encampment. And now all the Israelites withdrew from the river Jordan and its waters rolled on as before.

That night they found a camping site on the bank of the river and placed the stones in a circle as a memorial. Once again God came to Joshua, and told him how to besiege Jericho. The Israelites rejoiced because they knew God was with them and they could not fail. To learn the plan that was revealed to Joshua and how it brought the walls of Jericho tumbling down, you have only to read chapter 6 of the Book of Joshua.

"Mister Fixum's Handy Hints"

BY ERNIE GARDNER

A SHOE SHINE BOX

One of the best ideas I have seen was built in the form of a drawer in a window or wall seat. This could be in a basement recreation room, kitchen, or breakfast room. It also works well when built into a movable stool or cabinet seat.

The front of the drawer should be about 12" square. It should be as deep as the width of the seat permits.

The top 7" should be hinged so that it drops down and forms a support for the front end of the drawer.

Note that the sides of the drawer are not as high as the front. This is to permit the free use of the hands while polishing.

The foot rest is built into the drawer, and forms a partition. It is attached to the bottom and ends.

Cut a slot through the top half of the drawer front, to be used instead of drawer pulls.

The foot rest should not be higher than the front of the drawer when raised.

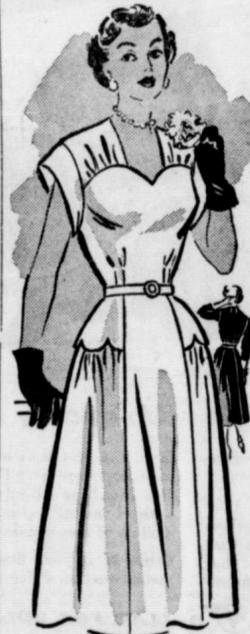

This drawer not only provides a place for shining shoes, but a storage place for shining materials as well.

If you show the small fry what a beautiful job of shining can be done with an electric buffer and a sheep's wool pad, I think the results will be worth the cost of the buffer.

Jealousy of the New Baby II

A whole chapter could be written on the different forms that jealousy of a new baby can take. It may be direct attack, as in the case of young Kenneth, who was stopped with a toy hammer in his hand, stealthily approaching Hilda's crib. When such tactics fail, the child turns to indirect methods. Mrs. Gram's Janet denied to her playmates that she had any baby brother at all; Susan waxed scornful about how tiny and how "dumb" her little sister was. "Look at that little bit of a thing," she exclaimed, "not as big as our Spotty, and not nearly as smart." When Timothy's brother arrived, Tim turned into a veritable "show off." In like circumstances, Sally took to whining: Helen became demanding (something she had never been before); Tommy complained about anything and everything; the ball rolled out of his reach; he couldn't hit the nail on the head, the head was too small—nothing was right, nothing seemed to suit him. Judy Dalton went into temper tantrums when the Dalton twins arrived; and Dick awoke yelling from nightmares, night after night after night, when he found himself no longer the only child.

Mrs. Thors couldn't understand it when her Jimmy, of whose toilet training she had been inordinately proud, began to wet and soil again after his baby sister came home from the hospital. Mrs. Dill was aghast when she saw her Harold snatching the bottle out of his baby brother's mouth, and then heard him ask if he couldn't have one like it for himself. Very often children do turn to babyish behavior of this type, and it is not always easy for parents to understand it. Yet there is a perfectly good explanation: the child sees how much the baby is loved and made a fuss of, so he wants to be a baby, too, so that he can be loved and have a fuss made over him.

Perhaps most disturbing was the behavior of Jerry after little Jonathan was born. Jerry had been a mighty easy baby to handle; no trouble at all. Now he seemed to be the strangest mixture: one day as "good" as could be, amenable, helpful, eager to please, almost ingratiating, especially to his mother—a regular "copybook" child; next day, a positive "pest" and "nuisance"—disobedient, obstinate, defiant, willful—really terrible conduct that his mother just simply could not make head or tail of. Yet such swings of behavior are all too obvious. They are outward signs of Jerry's inner feelings of not being sure, of not being secure, of loneliness, of unhappiness. He is so afraid of losing his parents' love, that he doesn't know how to behave. So he tries all sorts of different kinds of behavior.

"Monthly Pains" stopped or amazingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in doctors' tests!

• Chances are you're putting up — unnecessarily — with the functionally caused pains, cramps and weak "no good" feelings of menstruation!

For, in actual tests by doctors, Lydia Pinkham's Compound brought complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases!

Or — you suffer from functional "hot flashes" of "change of life," find out how wonderful Pinkham's is for that, too!

So get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — or new, improved Tablets with added iron. See it — taken through the month — it doesn't give relief from those backaches, jitters — help you feel better before and during your period!

Or — you suffer from functional "hot flashes" of "change of life," find out how wonderful Pinkham's is for that, too!

It has a quieting effect on uterine contractions that often cause "period" pain!

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

A Breakfast of Old-Fashioned Goodness

If you've forgotten how good breakfast can be, sit down to an old-fashioned breakfast of steaming hot oatmeal and milk, homemade Oat Bread to be toasted or not, and smothered with strawberry preserves. Take time for peeling the orange to eat it, segment by segment, as you did in your little girl days. Here is a meal that's as good for you as it is good, and there's no age limit on enjoying a breakfast like this.

Old-Fashioned Oat Bread

- 1 cake compressed yeast
- ¼ cup lukewarm water
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar
- 4 tablespoons fat
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ¼ cup molasses
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 2 cups rolled oats, uncooked
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 5 cups sifted all-purpose flour (approximately)

Crumble yeast into small bowl. Add lukewarm water and granulated sugar. Set in a warm place until mixture is light and bubbly (about 15 minutes). Combine fat, salt, molasses, brown sugar, rolled oats in large bowl. Stir in 1 cup boiling water. When lukewarm, add yeast mixture, then flour and cold water alternately. Mix until soft dough is formed.

Turn out on floured cloth or board. Knead until smooth and satiny to the touch, sprinkling more flour on cloth if necessary. Place in greased bowl. Brush top of dough with melted fat. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour.

Turn dough onto lightly floured cloth or board. Divide into 2 portions for molding. Let rest, covered with kettle or bowl, for about 10 minutes. Then shape into 2 loaves. Place in greased loaf pans 8½ x 4½ x 2½ inches. Brush tops with melted fat. Cover with waxed paper and a damp cloth. Let rise until double in bulk, about 1 hour. When loaves are about half risen, brush top with milk and sprinkle over the surface rolled oats, about ½ cup for each loaf, moistened with milk.

Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) 15 minutes, then reduce temperature to moderately hot oven (375°F.) and bake about 30 minutes longer. Remove from pans. Cool on rack. Yield: 2 loaves.

Pecan Nut Waffles

 - 1 cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter or shortening

Ginger Waffles

- ½ cup butter
 - ½ cup sour milk
 - 1 tablespoon ginger
 - 2½ cups sifted flour
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- Juice and grated rind of one orange
- Cream butter and sugar. Add well-beaten eggs. Sift flour, cinnamon and ginger and add alternately with the sour milk to which the soda has been added. Add orange juice and rind. Bake.

Peanut Waffles

- 2 cups pastry flour

 - 2/3 cup corn syrup
 - 4 tablespoons butter
 - ¼ cup heavy cream
- Put above ingredients in saucepan, bring to the boiling point and boil 20 minutes.

Happy is the homemaker who knows how much waffles can do for her menus. Not only are waffles a main course treat but they do for dessert as well. As a main course, serve waffles with creamed ham and peas or creamed dried beef. Chocolate waffles are treats anytime—Try serving them a la mode. Or sweeten the waffle batter and serve as a short-cake with berries.

Waffles

- 1½ cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- 6 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1½ cups milk

Sift dry ingredients, separate white from yolks of eggs. Beat yolks in mixing bowl, add the milk, continue to beat with egg beater. Add the sifted dry ingredients. Beat with egg beater until smooth. Add melted shortening. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in waffle iron.

Buttermilk Waffles

- 2 cups flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 eggs
 - 2 cups thick buttermilk
 - 4 tablespoons melted shortening
- Mix as other waffles, only stir the soda into the buttermilk, in a bowl before adding to mixture.

Rice Waffles

- 1¼ cups flour
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 4 tablespoons melted shortening
 - ¾ cup cooked rice
 - 1½ cups milk
- Mix and sift dry ingredients, put in the rice, add beaten egg yolks and milk, then add shortening. Mix thoroughly. Fold in beaten egg whites.

Bran Waffles

- 1 cup flour
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup bran
 - 1½ cups milk
 - 2 eggs
 - 6 tablespoons melted shortening
- Sift dry ingredients and mix as usual and bake.

By Betty Ann

EDITOR
THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

Wherever you are, indoors or out, and especially on the streets of a busy city, you are subject to a soft relentless rain of dirt. And when this ugly film settles on your face, it clouds the skin, may irritate it or even cause an infection.

That's why good skin cleansing is so important, says Betty Ann. A hasty wash or casual creaming isn't enough. An habitually well cleaned skin is much more likely to be lastingly pretty.

To cleanse skin, choose a method after testing various cleansers on the best possible subject, yourself. Cream gives you a good start because it loosens and picks up dirt so that it can be wiped off easily. Soap is a prime favorite because it leaves the skin looking and feeling so clean. But nothing works better than cream plus a soap and water wash.

If you have dry skin, coat it nightly with a rich cream designed to keep dry skin soft and moist. To guard your delicate epidermis from wind, sun and cold wear a cream powder base. Be sure your diet is well balanced for no beauty treatment compensates for poor eating.

Keep your face soap and water clean.

Crease resistant finishes for fabrics have done so much to keep clothes looking fresh and also to save pressing that they deserve care in laundering. Helen Noyes, Washington State extension specialist, in giving advice on washing clothes the modern way, says that it is best to wash clothes or fabrics with a crease resistant finish in warm rather than hot water. The reason is that very hot water will remove some of these crease resistant finishes after a number of washings. Another point which she makes is that chlorine bleaches may cause yellowing of some crease resistant finishes. She urges reading and following the laundering directions that come with the garment.

To thaw frozen cake place the cake on a cake rack in its freezer wrapping and at room temperature. An eight inch two layer, frosted cake will thaw in three and one-half to four hours at average room temperature.

Dutch Apple Cake

1 1/2 cups flour; 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 3 tablespoons sugar; 1/4 cup shortening; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1/2 cup milk.

Sift flour; measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar; sift again. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add vanilla and enough milk to flour-fat mixture to make a soft dough, stirring it in with a fork. Roll out dough, line a nine inch cake or pie pan.

If your pie shells have the perverse and mysterious habit of shrinking make them behave with these simple cooking tricks.

Prepare dough according to your favorite recipe, then roll out in a circle about two inches larger than the pie plate. Be careful for stretched or unevenly rolled pie dough which results in uneven browning and shrunken pie shells. Ease the dough into the pie plate but don't stretch it.

If you've done this properly you should have one inch of dough extending beyond rim of pie plate.

Prick the dough shell on the sides and bottom with a fork, making sure that the tines go completely through the dough. This is especially important at the junction of the sides and bottom to prevent the pie shell from shrinking and falling into the pie plate as it bakes.

For a standing pastry rim, trim the dough until it is only one inch larger than the pie plate. Fold the overhanging dough back on itself until the cut edge meets the rim of the pie plate to form an even standing wall of dough. Flute this raised rim with the fingers to increase its decorative effect. Bake in 450 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes, then spoon in cooled pie filling.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Color is playing a more important role in home decoration these days. Bold reds and greens, brilliant yellows and blues are being used with unprecedented abandon by the most noted interior decorators in the country.

It's true that most of us must see these new colors used in a different way before we begin to like them. Also, it requires know-how and skill to use the new colors pleasingly and effectively.

However, if you have been studying any of the latest home-decoration books, you have probably already visualized your dining-room dramatized by color—rich walls or toile or scenic wallpaper.

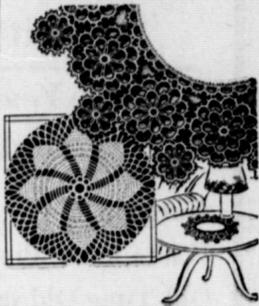

If your dining-room is separate from your living-room, you may well use a bold color or a stunning pattern. Remember, though, to carry one of the colors from the adjoining room into your dining-room in order to get that carefully put-together look.

If your dining-room is part of your living-room the two should blend together. It is very smart to paint or paper one wall in the dining room in a different harmonizing color. This will set the dining end apart.

This daring new use of warm colors has even come into the kitchen. Being made in new colors are steel cabinets, work-counter tops and kitchen floor coverings.

With the new pink, green, yellow and persimmon-red baked enamel on steel units and the washable wallpaper now used in many kitchens, you have to look twice to be sure you are really in the kitchen.

Nonchalance

The golf stepped up to the tee and drove off. The ball sailed straight down the fairway, leaped on to the green and rolled into the hole. The golfer threw his club into the air with excitement.

"What have you suddenly gone crazy about?" asked his wife who was trying to learn something about the game.

"Why I just did a hole in one," yelled the golfer, a wild gleam of delight in his eyes.

"Did you?" asked his wife placidly. "Do it again, dear, I didn't see you."

Children's New Lingerie and Sleepwear Now Duplicate the Grownups' Styles

By EDNA MILES

FASHIONS in children's lingerie and sleepwear are as up-to-the-minute as those for mother.

Can-can ruffles. Nylon taffeta petticoats. The elasticized bodice for super fit. Cotton print pajamas with matching slippers, both in gay colors that appeal to children.

Although dress-up lingerie and pajama and nightgown fashions for children may seem frivolous and unnecessary at first thought, they make sense. Most of them are budget priced.

The prettiest nylon slip, lavish with lace, takes minutes only to wash out, an hour to dry. Cotton flannel pajamas in bright prints wear well, can be worn without pressing if need be.

Even the sissy rompers for very small children, the ones with many ruffles and much lace, are practical when they come in nylon plisse.

Ruffled panties in the same fabric come with water-repellent plastic linings and have pretty lace or rick-rack trim.

Nylon dress-up slip for little sister has ribbed bodice and full, stand-out skirt finished with wide ruffle. Straps and bodice have lace trim. Ski-jama, right, is in cotton flannel with red background and white print. There's ribbing at neck, sleeves, waist and ankles.

Face Up To Problems Is Doctors Advice For 1954

The best advice for a healthy and happy New Year is to set your mental and spiritual house in order, according to a New Years' bulletin.

There is no miracle medicine, the doctors say, that will insure day-by-day health and vigor. You still have to eat properly, rest properly, and, above all, achieve mental peace and good will toward your fellow men, for the kind of health and stability everybody needs for the years ahead.

This new year does find medicine in possession of many weapons against disease and disability never dreamed of even ten years ago. Thanks to the new hormonal medicines, the new chemicals and the antibiotics, the outlook is much better than ever before for arthritics, for example, and for the tuberculous and for those who would surely have died a few short years ago from such infectious diseases as pneumonia.

On the other hand, many more illnesses still stubbornly defy every new development in medicine and surgery because they are rooted, not in the stomach or the nerves, but in the mind and personality of the sufferer.

For that reason, the doctors urge everybody to start out their New Years' resolutions by facing up squarely to their obligations and the difficulties, their disappointments and their inadequacies.

Do whatever is necessary now to make things straight between yourself and others, they urge. Repair the gaps in your life. Do the worrisome little tasks that have been left undone, provided they must be done anyway. And if you can't do what is expected of you, acknowledge the fact. Change your sights and go on from there.

Shedding burdens and worries by facing up to them is fundamental, not only to peace of mind but to health as well, the bulletin declares. It will do more than all the palliatives and pain killers in the books to insure health for the New Year.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Q. Although I seem to be perpetually emptying ashtrays my house often contains a stale cigarette odor. Do you know any way I can alleviate this unpleasant smell?

A. Yes, here's a trick you'll find most helpful. Sprinkle a little dry baking soda in the bottom of each ashtray. Soda not only helps reduce stale cigarette odors and makes ashtray cleaning easier, but it quickly squelches those half lit cigarette stubs—prevents the danger of fires.

Keep Healthy In 1954 By Common Sense Measures

Since good health is one of our most precious possessions, it would be well worth considering the following suggestions.

Resolve to have a routine medical check-up sometime in 1954—it's one of your best safeguards against illness. If the medical examination reveals some physical liability in its early stages of development, the condition will be much more responsive to treatment measures. Some diseases, unfortunately, give no pain warnings during the period of onset and remain undetected unless physical examination is made regularly.

Resolve to include the essential foods in your daily meal through all of '54. Such a diet, including servings of milk, eggs, fruits, meat and fish, vegetables, cereal, and bread is a necessary foundation for helping yourself to health.

Resolve to maintain good posture in sitting, standing, and moving about. "Stand up" to 1954 and the chances are the year will bring you your rightful share of its offerings.

If your work is confining, resolve to help yourself to health by taking suitable exercise regularly. Avoid unnecessary risks and excesses which lower body resistance. Common-sense measures will do their part in helping you to keep well. Dress according to the weather and keep as dry as possible. Avoid being chilled when wet or overheated.

Resolve to help yourself to sleep—most of us need eight hours a night. Rest, recreation, and for those who work indoors, fresh air and sunshine, are all free health measures. The hours so spent will bring adequate returns in improved vitality and health.

And finally, let's all resolve in '54 to follow the "old timer's" recipe for long life. When asked to what he attributed his longevity, he replied, "When I work, I work hard; when I rest, I rest loose; and when I begin to worry, I drop off to sleep."

1 Word Can Change Your Life—VEGETATE

Stay as far away from life as you can and you're not likely to get hurt.

When a football referee was asked what he thought about a certain player, he replied: "I have never had to pull him out from the bottom of a scrimmage. He was never the first to make a tackle."

Yes, you can play it safe—as they say. Your chances of not getting hurt are pretty good. At the same time your opportunities for not getting any honor, or joy, or fun or love or laughter are pretty good too! What have you got when it's all over? Few hurts, few pains, little trouble, but nothing else either.

You can't make a touchdown for yourself running the wrong way. You can't score unless you are willing to risk a tackle or two. Take your chances with the obstacles in order to get the blessings. Better to have something than nothing. Better activate, rather than vegetate, the word that can change your life.

Bible Comment:

Laws of Moses Were Enriched By Jesus Christ

A COMPETENT Biblical scholar (in Hasting's Bible Dictionary) has set down as the ideal elements of Jewish Law (1) social justice, (2) purity and (3) honor.

He credits Moses as propounding the laws.

The Ten Commandments are, of course, the most familiar of the laws. They have been widely accepted as a moral code and variously established in the legal codes of many lands.

Despite all the moral laxity of much of modern life, it is still true that the strength and welfare of a people depends upon the reality with which the essence of the Ten Commandments is ingrained in the life and practice of the community.

Integrity to family life, honor of parents, devotion to children, regard for the liberties and rights of others—these are the elements upon which social strength and welfare depend.

The extent to which these elements are denied and disregarded indicates the depths of weakness to which many communities have fallen, and the acuteness of the problems confronting society as a whole.

Yet there is something more, and higher, than the Commandments.

John 1:17 states, "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

This does not mean that Jesus originated grace and truth, but that He, as He Himself said, fulfilled what was inherent in the law.

For the New Testament everywhere represents the fulfillment of the law in the commandment of love—"Thou shalt," instead of only "Thou shalt not."

The Ten Commandments would establish correctness of life. The law of love would give that life fullness in the growth of grace and knowledge.

COUNTRY PLATTERS

LES CARROLL

WITH so many pop artists digging into back files of old hillbilly numbers and recording popular versions, the country artists have evidently decided turnabout is fair play.

Dot's Mac Wiseman has recorded hillbilly versions of "Love Letters in the Sand," backed by "The Waltz You Saved for Me." And Floyd Cramer has a nice rendition of the oldie, "Five Foot Two, Eyes of Blue," on the Abbott label.

Remember when all the artists were singing "Goodnight, Irene"? They evidently sang her to sleep, as Hank Thompson's latest on Capitol is "Wake Up, Irene."

Mitchell Torok, the new song-writing sensation whose numbers are being recorded in both the popular and country field, is proving he can sing as well as compose. His recording of his own song, "Hootchy Kootchy Henry," on Abbott, should make a hit with country-music fans.

OTHER GOOD RELEASES are "I Love You" (Ginny Wright, Faber); "Let Me Be the One" (Hank Locklin, 4 Star); "You All Come" (by the composer, Arlie Duff, Starday); "Hi There, Sweet Thing" (George McCormick, MGM); "I Gave My Wedding Dress Away" (Kitty Wells, Decca); "Why Did You Leave Me Broken Hearted?" (Rocky Ranch Boys, Melody Guy); "Yo Yo Heart" (Bill Taylor, 4 Star); "God Was So Good" (Jimmy Walker, MGM); "The Red Deck of Cards" (Pee Wee King, RCA-Victor).

SACRED RELEASES: "I Have a Desire" (Swanee River Boys, King); "Supper-Time" (Jimmie Davis, Decca); "In the Sunshine of His Love" (Buckeye Pals, King); "Kneel and Let the Lord Take Your Load" (Marty Robbins, Columbia); "I'll Be No Stranger There" (Maddox Brothers & Rose, Decca); "Stairway to Heaven" (Slim Whitman, Imperial).

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A home developing and printing kit and a kitchen in which to use it will bring added pleasure to your snapshotting.

Snapshots and the Kitchen Sink

WE'VE heard of people who tried to include "everything but the kitchen sink" in their pictures. We don't approve of this, but do heartily approve of something you can do with your pictures in which the kitchen sink can play a very important role.

We're talking about your trying your hand at developing and printing your own pictures at home—and we're putting all the emphasis on the kitchen sink so you'll know right away that you don't need a darkroom in order to do it.

Start with a visit to your photo dealer for a look at the various kits that he has to show you. You'll be able to find that compactly fitted into a quite small box is everything you need for the operation. Of course, there are detailed instructions for doing it, too.

With one of the kits and your kitchen as a work place, you're all set to embark on an activity that is fun for the entire family. In fact, it is so simple and fascinating that the youngsters are likely to want to take over the entire operation.

Only one step in the procedure calls for complete darkness, and it is one that can be done in a hurry and any light-tight closet is a good place for doing it.

You can do the whole printing operation in subdued roomlight because there is a special kind of photographic paper, called Velite, which can be used under such conditions. This adds to the fun of home printing because everyone can gather 'round to enjoy the thrill of seeing the picture appear as you put the photographic paper into the developing solution.

One minute you have what appears to be a blank piece of paper—and then, almost as if by magic, there's a picture on it. That's what I think is the biggest thrill of the whole thing.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

We've just come across a fine new club called the Drop on the End of the Nose Association. We were introduced to this group by Gordon MacQuarrie, journalist and author of many outdoor articles.

Members are dedicated to espousing the cause of the sportsman's taken-for-granted friend—the common or wool-bearing sheep.

For years science reporters have been hinting that researchers are about to come up with something "better than wool," well, maybe. But they haven't yet and the DENA doesn't think they will. The sheep family is still royalty and there's just no substitute for wool—especially on those late duck season days when there's a fast north wind.

There are sportsmen who "can't wear wool next to my skin—makes me itchy." In most cases this is just a phobia, and if they really do itch, what's wrong with scratching? You may be crude, but you'll be warm and comfortable.

Basic garments for cold-weather sports start with underwear which is all wool, spring needle knit, with full length sleeves and legs, and a high neckline. Suit yourself whether it shall be the two-piece outfit or the union suit.

Now and then a store will come up with the old-fashioned two-piece red flannels, but don't be fooled by the light-weight kind used by many skiers. It's a good idea to wear a pair about four sizes bigger than your true size.

The well-socked man of rod and gun wears wool on his feet, often during both summer and winter.

If your enthusiasm for wool includes jackets, pants, mitts, caps, et al, the question arises: "How do you keep the moths out?"

The answer: Assign one closet in the house as the wool closet. Clean, sun and air all woolens thoroughly, hang or stack them away in this closet. Now, hang up as many perforated cans of—hang-on—paradichlorobenzene as space affords.

It comes under various trade names, but somewhere on the container you'll find the real name. The crystals will in time evaporate and fill the closet with a gas fatal to moths. Comes cold weather, your flannels will still be "all" wool.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A PLANT FORCING BOX

Make the sur, work for you. Your plants will be ready for transplanting just as soon as the frost leaves the ground. A small plant forcing box, without a bottom, sits directly on the ground or over potted plants. Slanted glass provides a maximum of sunlight. Made of 1-inch lumber, the box is heavy enough to rest solidly. The lid may be hinged, or made slightly oversize and just placed on top. If a frame is not available, one may be made of 1/2-inch material, using moulding strips or putty to hold the glass. Dimensions may be increased, but even a small box will hold many plants through their early development.

MAKE A PLANT FORCING BOX

To have your plants ready for spring, you must make the winter sun work for you. This little trick is accomplished by trapping the sunlight in a plant forcing box that shields the young seedlings or cuttings from the frosty air. Weeks of growth can often be gained by giving plants an early, protected start in life.

A forcing box is simply of 1-inch lumber, and may be of any dimensions, depending upon the number of plants to be started. The small box shown here will hold many plants through their early development.

The 1-inch lumber provides a box of sufficient weight to sit solidly on the ground. It is also suitable for potted plants. The slanted glass top allows for a maximum of sunlight.

The box may be made with just hammer, saw and screw driver, hinges and a glass frame. However, if a hinged top is not desired, the glass frame may just be placed on top and small blocks placed on the front edge to keep it from sliding.

If a glass frame is not available the workman may construct one simply from 1/2-inch material, using triangular moulding or putty to hold the glass in place.

The forcing box is often made without a back—a rail being placed across the back to hold the glass frame. A box of this type is then set against the house with the open back against an open basement window. Heat from the basement provides additional warmth for the box.

For longer boxes, it is well to have several glass frames. A wide expanse of glass, all one piece, is harder to replace when broken. Besides a series of smaller panes make it possible for the gardener to work with a small section of the plantings without uncovering the rest of them.

Wildlife Stamps Now Being Distributed

The 17th annual Wildlife Conservation Stamps published by the National Wildlife Federation are now being distributed from Federation headquarters in Washington.

The 36 stamps in the 1954 edition include full-color illustrations of 14 species of North American birds, five mammals, five fishes, seven wild flowers and two trees; the red admiral butterfly, a timber rattlesnake and the Anderson tree frog.

They were painted by four noted nature artists. Roger Tory Peterson, the Federation's art director and best known for his illustrated "Field Guide to the Birds," contributed nine of the birds, ranging from the lordly Canada goose and the popular scarlet tanager. He also painted the butterfly and some of the wild flowers.

The five mammals—black bear, walrus, gray fox, wood rat and coat—were painted by Francis Lee Jacques, for many years staff artist of the American Museum of Natural History. Jacques also contributed the fishes, five of the birds and the trees.

Some of the wild flowers were done by Leslie Ragan, one of America's foremost travel-poster artists. Michael Bevans, youthful New Jersey illustrator and a newcomer among the Wildlife Stamp artists, contributed the rattlesnake and the tree frog.

Over 600 species of American wildlife have been portrayed in the National Wildlife Federation stamps since the series started in 1938. Reproduced by six-color lithography, the stamps are distributed by mail to individuals throughout the country. They are the means by which the non-profit Federation finances not only its own activities, but lends assistance for conservation projects sponsored by affiliated state organizations.

During 1953 stamp receipts helped support more than a score of conservation workshops for school teachers and several youth camps, and provided graduate fellowships in six colleges and universities. The Federation also prepares and distributes conservation teaching aids and reference materials without charge to schools throughout the nation.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—Those of us whose memories go back beyond the outbreak of World War II will recognize the rise in unemployment which some commentators are trying to smoke up into an imminent depression, as an old acquaintance. It is the once-familiar seasonal pattern of manufacture and trade.

Layoffs are concentrated in such spots as Detroit, center of the automobile industry; Milwaukee, where much farm machinery is made, and New England, where many small metal-working plants, subcontractors for machinery makers, employ much of the working force. Along with this there is naturally a cutback in the smelting of steel, basic material for many of the articles for which seasonal demand is low.

When spring opens the roads and softens the field workers will be recalled. At least, they nearly always have been. An exception may be the oldest steel-making installations, which will certainly be shut down in favor of the new ones built since the war, in anything but an all-out boom.

The Guaranty Trust Survey, an influential bank letter, this month stresses the danger of losing sight of the probable temporary character of the recession—if indeed we are in a recession—and urges that business correction be allowed to run its course.

WAR ON PRICE CUTS—Most solid citizens feel that a store which uses a low price on an outstanding article of merchandise as customer bait is a parasite on the legitimate outlets which respect the price schedule under which the article's reputation has been built. A leading pen manufacturer is banking on this fair-play feeling in declaring war on price cutting.

R. H. Whidden, vice president of W. A. Sheaffer Pen Company, told a sales meeting in New York: "Our company is determined it will not do business with price cutters. The sound retailer cannot continue to perform his services to the public and to the manufacturer if the latter permits him to be undersold by irresponsible outlets."

While only 1 per cent of Sheaffer merchandise reached the public through discount houses in 1953, Mr. Whidden said, management considers that it is still too much. "We intend to cut this to zero in 1954," he promised. Retailer meetings will be held in various cities to enlist dealers' cooperation, he disclosed.

THINGS TO COME—A new high-speed coffee-maker boasts of brewing two cups in two and a half minutes, with a larger model turning out eight cups in seven minutes. . . You can now buy a refrigerator with a door that opens to either side, depending on how you turn the handle in the middle. . . Shallow well water systems come packaged in a new line, priced as low as $98.75 for pump, tank and motor. . . A mechanical darning, newly introduced by a Midwestern gadget maker, is actually a tiny loom. Darns, mends and reinforces. . . Styrene filaments make up the bristles of a new push broom for street and warehouse sweeping.

GOOD CUSTOMERS—The rise of the airplane industry to second place among all employers of manufacturing labor provides the nation directly with 750,000 "king-size customers, solvent citizens and good neighbors."

Making this claim for his industry is Mundy L. Peale, president of Republic Aviation Corporation at Farmingdale, Long Island. Aircraft manufacturers paid out $3.2 billion in wages in 1953, he pointed out. Based on Labor Department findings, the Thunderstreak fighter-bomber builder calculated that this went into the stream of trade as $1.2 billion in wages in 1953, he pointed out, based on Labor Department findings, the Thunderstreak fighter-bomber builder calculated that this went into the stream of trade as $1.2 billion in food purchases, $1.2 billion for other goods and services, $624 million for housing, $128 million for insurance, union dues and occupational expenses, and $224 million for federal and state income taxes.

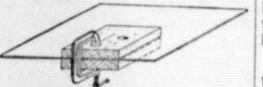

Peale emphasized that this applied only to the airplane makers' direct employees, and that a full nose-counting of suppliers' employees might run the total closer to three million persons dependent on the industry for their incomes.

BITS O'BUSINESS—Coffee and cocoa continue to set new high prices in futures markets. . . Soft coal output in the week ended January 2 was 6,950,000 tons, off 775,000 tons from the like week a year earlier. . . Scrap steel in Chicago has gone below $30 a ton, down from the $44 high of last August.
