

Joan Koepke Bride of Vernon Buslaff

Miss Joan Mary Koepke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koepke of R. 3, Kewaskum, near Wayne, became the bride of Vernon A. Buslaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Buslaff, Campbellsport, at 2 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 6, in Salem Ev. and Ref. church, Wayne. The Rev. Donald Koehn performed the rite.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lloyd Koepke. Her lace and net gown was styled with a long sleeved, fitted bodice with a lace stand up collar and sequin embroidery trimming. Sequin trim enhanced the very full skirt which had a flounce of accordion pleated net extending around the hem line and into the fan shaped train. Her veil was shoulder length and was gathered to a lace pill box with pleated nylon and pearl trimming. She carried white mums and pom poms.

The bride's maid of honor was her sister, Miss Lillian Koepke. She wore a floor length gown of deep purple with a velvet bodice and velvet jacket with a rolled collar. Three tiers of net over satin fashioned the bouffant skirt. A velvet headpiece with a short veil completed her attire and she carried lavender mums and pom poms. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Edsworth Prost, sister of the bride, Mrs. Gerald Koepke, sister-in-law and Miss Gloria Jean Koepke, another sister, wore identical ensembles in gold, coral and peacock blue. Their flowers were bronze, pale pink and pale blue mums, Rhinestone chokers and bracelets completed their attire. Little Miss Dawn Jean Koepke was her aunt's flower girl.

Kenneth Buslaff was best man for his brother, Lloyd Koepke, brother of the bride, Gerald Koepke, another brother, and Donald Backus, the bridegroom's cousin, served as groomsmen. Warren Lehr and Lawrence Roehl were ushers and Master Gary Prost, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

A reception, dinner and dance were held at Forest Lake resort. Later the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to an unannounced destination.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Buslaff are graduates of Campbellsport High school and will reside near that village. He is employed as a tree expert with the Electric company. His bride had been assisting at home before her marriage.

Three Deer Killed on Highways; Other Crashes

According to Game Warden, Bob Lake of Washington county, three more deer were reported killed during the past week when they darted onto highways in front of autos.

A buck was reported killed on Hwy. 57 in Ozaukee county when it ran onto the road at Ehlers park. The car involved was badly damaged. The accident happened Monday night. A doe fawn was struck by a car owned by Fred Dorn on County Trunk B southwest of Kewaskum recently, while a buck deer was struck and injured to such an extent that it was later killed when hit by a car driven by Robert Hetebrueg on Hwy. 144 near Wallace lake Sunday night.

Traffic Officer, Alan Becker of Washington county reported that two does and a large buck were in the road on new Hwy. 41 at County Trunk D west of Kohlsville early Wednesday and that he had difficulty in chasing them off the highway. William Becker, who resides on a farm a short distance southwest of Kewaskum reported to this office Thursday that he saw a herd of more than a half dozen deer in one of his fields last week. Two local men, while driving west of the Kewaskum swamp Tuesday night, reported seeing two deer in a field there. It seems the deer are becoming more numerous by the week in this area. If it keeps up the northern hunters will turn the trick and come down here to hunt when the season is open. It has come to a danger point where motorists have been issued warnings to look out for deer when driving at night.

This deer business is starting to get people's "goats." Last Thursday morning a Port Washington driver, Walter Meyer, notified the county sheriff's department that he struck a "deer" on Hwy. V in Washington county. Investigation by traffic officers revealed that the mishap happened north of Kewaskum and north of the county line, in Fond du Lac county. And the "deer" in reality turned out to be a goat.

In a traffic mishap the past week Emma Menger, 75, R. 3, Kewaskum, suffered a bump on the head and a cut knee when ears driven by Philip Menger, 75, R. 3, Kewaskum, and Aaron T. Kluever, 34, R. 3, Kewaskum collided at 1:57 p. m. Friday at the Kohlsville intersection of County Trunk W and D.

Autos driven by a Piper Bros. Inc. artificial breeding service man and Anton Backhaus, Kewaskum, collided on Main st. in front of the Miller Electric store Monday morning. Backhaus made a U turn on the street in front of the other vehicle, the name of the driver of which was not obtained. Both cars were dented.

Mrs. Koch Chairman of Christmas Seal Sale Here

Mrs. Harry E. Koch will be manager of the 1954 Christmas Seal sale in Kewaskum, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association announced this week.

The Christmas Seal sale, which is conducted by mail, will open Nov. 22 and continue through December. Ninety-four per cent of the monies collected remain in Wisconsin to support the voluntary tuberculosis control program in the state. Six per cent of the funds are sent to the National Tuberculosis association to finance nationwide projects including medical and social research.

Monies collected are used for case-finding clinics, social service assistance to TB patients and their families, rehabilitation consultations to help recovered patients become self-supporting, health education projects, and other TB control activities.

This year a double seal is being offered for the first time in the history of the Christmas Seal sale. The dual seals have attractive red and green backgrounds and feature five young, healthy children dancing about a Christmas tree.

NATIONAL RADIO AND TV OBSERVANCE WEEK NOV. 13

In the brief span of half a lifetime, the broadcast word has become a powerful force for American and Canadian democracy. When radio and later television said goodbye to the "gadget" stage they took up—almost automatically—the duties and responsibilities of "freedom of speech." They joined the newspapers and periodicals in bringing truthful, impartial, information to the public.

They joined the older members of the Fourth Estate in performing vital public services too—ready, willing, and able assistants to groups with worthwhile community betterment projects.

Without the free speech which radio and television stations help maintain, without the publicity assistance which they, in company with the press, so unselfishly provide, KIWANIS would be unable to perform its vital service functions. Freedom of speech means a free America. Honest broadcasting means an informed America. The local Kiwanis club, speaking for the citizens of Kewaskum, salutes the radio and television stations of this community—conscious of their achievement—grateful for their continuous public service.

Often children with serious behavior problems are referred to the society for help when facilities for intensive case work treatment and adequate psychiatric consultation are not available locally.

County Doctors Plan to Observe Diabetes Week

The observance of Diabetes Week Nov. 14 to 20 in Washington county will be under the chairmanship of Dr. A. T. Grundahl, West Bend. Dr. Richard Dressel, president of St. Joseph's hospital staff at West Bend, announced his appointment this week for the educational and case finding campaign. The hospital group is cooperating in a program sponsored nationally by the American Diabetes association.

Diabetes Week marks the renewal of an annual country-wide diabetes detection drive devoted to finding the estimated million Americans who have diabetes but do not know they have it, and therefore are not getting the medical care they need. Because early diagnosis of diabetes is so important to the well-being of the person who has it, facilities are being provided for screening tests to enable anyone to find out whether he shows any signs of the ailment.

Dr. Grundahl explained that diabetes is a chronic ailment in which the body cannot make full use of some of the food one eats, such as sugars and starches (carbohydrates). Instead of being stored or turned into energy, these food elements, in the form of sugar, increase in the blood until there is more than it can hold. Then the sugar is passed into the urine. Too much sugar in the blood and urine is a sign of diabetes.

Dr. Grundahl said, "Everyone should have himself tested for diabetes. We know from experience that many people have it, unrecognized."

Dr. R. G. Edwards, Kewaskum, and doctors throughout Washington county are urging local residents to submit a morning urine sample to any of their offices during Diabetes Week. The specimen should be well-capped and well-labeled. A urinalysis will be performed on the sample, free of charge, at the doctor's office, and persons with a diabetic condition will be so informed.

She was born Emma Staego, she was born July 8, 1871, in the town of Scott, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Staego, pioneer residents of Sheboygan county. She was married to William Lueke in Immanuel Lutheran church in Town Scott on Oct. 26, 1891. The couple was engaged in farming in that township until 21 years ago, when they moved to Random Lake.

Her husband preceded her in death in 1951. A Child Guidance Center for Washington County?

The question of whether a Child Guidance Center will be established for Washington and Ozaukee counties will be decided by the county boards at their meetings this coming week. An appropriation of $5,000 from each county together with federal government grants administered through the Wisconsin State Board of Health will provide the services of a team composed of a clinical psychologist and a psychiatric social worker on a full time basis, and a clinical psychiatrist one day per week.

By polling the clergy, physicians and school men in both counties, a Steering committee has established that there is a definite need for such a center. The Washington-Ozaukee County Medical society has gone on record as wholeheartedly favoring the Guidance Center. Eighteen such centers are now operating effectively throughout the state.

Members of the Steering committee, have conducted an extensive educational campaign in both counties, showing the film, "Face of Youth," which portrays the workings of a guidance center, to Parent-Teachers' associations, Homemakers Groups, Women's Clubs, etc., in order to create an informed public opinion. A definite interest in the center has been evidenced at these meetings.

Widespread public interest in the subject of mental health throughout the nation generally, seems to indicate that an investment of $5,000 at this time would pay rich dividends not only to the growing boys and girls, but to the adult population as well.

TEACUP TOPICS

By BETTY ANN
Editor The Milwaukee Journal Women's Page

The "Roaring Twenties" look of glitter and length is featured in ropes and necklaces, says Betty Ann. Creations in golden and silvery metals are combined with rhinestones, simulated pearls and a variety of simulated stones. Ensembles of necklaces, bracelets, earrings, clips and pins with ropes are prominent fall features.

Both day and evening fashions are shown with the more dressy rhinestone and pearl necklaces in the 20 inch length popularized by Chanel.

Outsize simulated baroque pearls and rhinestone balls on silver metal links in 60 inch ropes are looped twice around the throat and worn long. Bracelets match and earrings can be a single ball drop style as well as a shoulder length "string bean" drop—another 1920 revival.

Metallic beads are important and simulated hematite, generally in combination with rhinestones is one of the most interesting new materials.

High points are necklaces in the new lengths, 18 to 20 inches for both daytime and evening wear. With the principal fall collections featuring low décolletage and dramatically simple lines for a slim, "twenties" effect, these longer necklaces provide a graceful and softening accent. Collections range from delicate pendants to huge, depth perspective pieces in golden metals with an important bulky feeling. Materials include simulated crystals, expected by many to become again, as they were several fashion generations ago, a versatile jewelry staple much as pearls are in the accessory wardrobe. Jet is used often, as well as many colored simulated stones, rhinestones and simulated pearls. Seed pearls are of new importance.

In many fall wool suits, the jacket holds the spotlight, while skirts are kept narrow. Shoulders are rounded, and in some width is added by draping or stitched detail, finished with a tassel or a flat loop.

In the fitted jackets peplum and collar interest is achieved with expertly placed jeweled tabs or notes that follow the line of a subtle cutaway. In a brown and black mixed tweed, the peplum is made of overlapping, rounded sections, the rounded feeling carried out by a beautifully cut deep collar.

Boxy jackets are cut longer, rounded at the shoulders and tapering into a belted back.

Cinnamon Apples

1 cup sugar; 2 cups water; 14 cup red cinnamon candies or 1 stick cinnamon and red vegetable coloring; 4 medium size apples.

Combine sugar, water and candies (or cinnamon and red coloring) in a one and one-half quart saucepan. Stir until sugar is dissolved and boil three minutes. Select apples which will hold their shape when cooked. Pare and core apples. Place in boiling sirup. Simmer until bottom of apples are soft but firm, about 7 to 10 minutes. Turn apples over and cook until soft, another 7 to 10 minutes. Remove from sirup, drain and arrange between chops on chop plate. Garnish and serve directly from chop plate. Yield: Four servings.

Quick-vegetable meat pie is equally good at home served at lunch or dinner. Made like a dessert it is served with a soup sauce using mushroom, tomato, chicken or celery soup.

Honey Pumpkin Pie Bran Pastry Shell

2 tablespoons bran; 3/4 cup sifted flour; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 cup shortening; 2 tablespoons cold water.

Crush bran into fine crumbs; mix with sifted flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing until dough is just moist enough to hold together. Roll out lightly on floured board to about one-eighth inch thickness. Fit into pie pan; trim edges.

Filling: 2 eggs; 1 1/2 cups milk; 1 1/2 cups pumpkin; 1/2 cup honey; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; 1/2 teaspoon ginger.

Beat eggs slightly; add milk, pumpkin, honey, salt, cinnamon and ginger and mix thoroughly. Pour into shell. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees) about 45 minutes. Yield: One nine inch pie.

Top the pie with a leaf silhouette rolled from leftover pastry. Draw outline of a leaf on white paper, place on pastry and cut out three pastry leaves with sharp pointed knife. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 10 minutes. Place on top of baked pie.

Sugar Essential To Life On Earth

Sugar, one of man's basic foods, made big news twice within the last year. Scientists learned how to duplicate it, and the world agreed on how to trade it.

Yet so commonplace is sugar that even such headlines are largely lost. A natural bounty known and sought for thousands of years, it has been grown and produced in present form only in comparatively recent times. Now sugar ranks as the most abundant pure chemical compound that man takes from nature, the National Geographic Society says.

Sugar is essential to life on earth. Every green leaf touched by sunlight performs the miracle of turning water from the ground and carbon dioxide from the air into sugar and oxygen. Any animal without sugar in its blood would shortly drop dead.

"Honey-bearing Reed" Honey, fruits, and succulent grasses satisfied the ancients' sweet tooth. The origin of sugar cane is lost in the past, somewhere in the Orient. Probably it was first grown by man in India, where ancient legends and then the army of Alexander the Great in 327 B. C. spoke of the "honey-bearing reed."

A thousand years were to pass, however, before the knowledge and cultivation of cane sugar were spread by conquering Arabs across the Near East and North Africa to Spain and Portugal.

Sugar was a delicacy only for the wealthy, even when Columbus took the sweet grass to Hispaniola on his second voyage in 1493. He brought back cacao beans. Thus, in exchange for chocolate, the Old World gave sugar to the New.

Not until 1751 was sugar cane successfully introduced into Louisiana. During the Napoleonic wars a Frenchman named Benjamin Delessert first made crystallized sugar from the silvery, wedge-shaped vegetable called the sugar beet.

Today the world produces nearly 40,000,000 tons of sugar in a year, 65 percent from cane and 35 percent from sugar beets. Americans alone consume over 8,000,000 tons. For 30-odd years, per capita consumption in this country has remained nearly constant, averaging a hundred-pound bag per person per year.

Sugar: Wonder Chemical Sugar not only is eaten—as crystal, powder, liquid, or sweetening in endless recipes—but today ranks also as a vital industrial raw material. From it are made explosives and plastics, shoe polishes and vitamins, synthetic rubber and waterproofing for high silk hats.

In FASHION now

This fall and winter will bring many new colors and combinations into use. On every side you can read that color is the big fashion news of the coming season.

This new craze for color in clothes has brought on new and brighter make-up colors. It seems the natural look is a thing of the past. Don't think you need to look like a painted doll, however, use a brighter lipstick and a pinkish powder. Blue eye-shadow is the most flattering for most of us.

There is a new charcoal eyebrow pencil from France that is making a big hit here in America. It gives emphasis to the eyes without imparting a stark theatrical look. It can be used for evening and daylight makeup equally well.

It seems American women like their hair short and that is the way it will be worn by most of them this fall and winter.

The duck-tail cut is more popular than ever. Although it requires frequent cutting. A good brushing in the morning will give it the necessary shape.

Keep the hair around your face soft and swept upward if you are over thirty.

WAS SHE SURPRISED?

Omaha, Neb. — Mrs. Joseph O. Hebenstreit opened what she thought was a package of sliced boiled ham which she had bought from her grocery store. Instead of sliced ham, however, she found the store's bank deposit. Instead of enjoying a boiled ham sandwich, though, Mrs. Hebenstreit ate steak—her reward for returning the deposit to the store.

Only in late in 1953, however, after centuries of trying, did science succeed in making sugar in the laboratory from simpler compounds. There was ample proof—on paper—that it couldn't be done. Two Canadian chemists, Dr. Raymond Lemieux and Dr. George Huber, threw away the proof and performed the feat, which has been likened to the climbing of Mount Everest.

Another sugar milestone came this year as 40 countries put into effect an international agreement stabilizing sugar production and world prices. For strangely enough, except in time of war, the world suffers from an oversupply of the clean, white, inexpensive crystals that are pure food energy.

The Gentle Sex

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Here's a picture to be kept for sure. Not only is it good photographically, but the subject matter would make it a prize in any family album.

Some to Keep, Some to Throw Away

The other day, a friend and I were calling on a mutual friend—and we looked at his picture album. We exclaimed over how good his snapshots were, every one of them.

Now, we know that snapshotting is easy and that most of the time we get excellent results, but every so often we slip a little somewhere. Yet, this album looked as though our friend must do everything absolutely right 100 percent of the time.

When we made a remark to that effect he laughingly replied, "Oh, I think there are pictures to be kept, and pictures to be thrown away." He went on to say that he always takes more than one shot in any special situation—varying the point of view, the distance, or the composition. When he's using an adjustable camera, he sometimes tries different exposures. Anyway, then he puts the best pictures from each set in the album. That way he achieves the effect of always being right.

Being sentimental about picture subject material, I asked him about the times when he has only one picture of a subject that is dear to him and the snapshot just isn't quite up to snuff photographically speaking. "Do you throw those away?" I asked. His reply was in the negative—indeed not. Those he keeps for his personal enjoyment, or for sharing with some one who is equally interested in the subject. "I just don't wish them off on people who have only a general interest in my pictures."

I think he's got a pretty good point there—one that can apply just as well—or even better—to the color slides and home movies we project for our friends.

Serving Luncheon Before the Game?

QUICK DELICIOUS SOUPS

1. Pea and Tomato Bisque: Combine 1 can each of condensed green pea soup and tomato soup with 1 cup water. Heat slowly, stirring constantly. Add slowly 1 cup cream and 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce. Continue to heat. Do not boil. Just before serving, if desired, stir in 1 cup canned shrimp, broken up. Makes 5-6 servings.

2. Cream of Chicken Soup: Combine 2 cans condensed cream of chicken soup with 2 cans (using soup can as a measure) of rich milk or light cream. Heat slowly. Turn into tureen and garnish top with coarsely chopped hard cooked egg or very thin slices of avocado. Makes 5-6 servings.

CHEESE TEA RING

400° oven 25 minutes
3 cups biscuit mix
3/4 cup milk or light cream
1 1/2 cups shredded American Cheddar Cheese softened butter

Add milk to the biscuit mix, stirring lightly, until it can be shaped up into a ball. Turn out on floured cloth. Knead slightly until smooth.

A good sturdy cream soup, a hot and hearty cheese bread, a plate of crisp relishes, tall tumblers of cold milk—there's a good stick-to-the-ribs meal. Top it off with spicy hot gingerbread a la mode—it's the season for that too!

Roll into a 1/4 inch thick rectangle. Spread with softened butter. Sprinkle liberally with the shredded cheese. Carefully roll up like a jelly roll. Bring the two ends together, sealing with a bit of milk, to form a ring.

Place on a buttered cookie sheet. Using sharp scissors, make slanting cuts through the ring almost to the center, making slices 2 inches thick. Turn each section cut side down on the sheet, so that the cut sides lie almost flat. Brush lightly with melted butter.

Bake in 400° oven about 25 minutes. Brush top again with melted butter before serving.

Health and Beauty

No undergarment in the world can create a lovely figure from a too heavy body. Not only is it important to stay slim for appearance's sake but also for the sake of your health.

Doctors have gone on record as saying that a person is far better off being a little under-weight than over-weight. Unless there is a real physical reason for excess weight, there is no excuse for allowing oneself to become fat.

Some individuals have a mental complex which causes them to over-eat. This complex can be controlled once it is understood. A sensible diet, coupled with the right amount of exercise, can well be called the basis of good health and good looks.

Unfortunately, there are endless fad diets in circulation. Don't try any of these.

When you have made up your mind that it is time for you to lose some weight, go to your family doctor. He will give you an examination and prescribe the kind of diet you need and one that will be good for you.

Follow your doctor's advice as to the amount of weight to lose. It is safe for young children to be put on a diet under a doctor's direction. However, a child should never be put on a diet unless a doctor has examined him and prescribed the diet list.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

If you live in a section of the country where the humidity is high you are, no doubt, troubled with mold. This can be a very serious problem. However, there are a number of tricks whereby you can beat this.

The first and easiest, also the most expensive, is to air-condition your home. This adds to personal comfort, and if there is a hay fever sufferer in the family, it adds to health. The cost is prohibitive for most of us.

There are several anti-mold chemicals on the market. Some are spray-type, some you apply with a brush or cloth, and others you open and leave sitting about your home.

A thorough sunning several times during the summer will benefit your shoes, bags, luggage and clothes. It is trouble to do this, but is very effective. Sun-will cut down on molding and on the musty odor that accompanies it.

Louvered doors on closets are a big help. The louvers allow ventilation at all times. This will also help to keep down the formation of mold.

NEEDLE IN FOOT

Proper care, including spraying and feeding of trees is insurance of the continuance of the many benefits in comfort, beauty and better living that trees bring, says the arborist's group.

Bible Comment:

Jesus Taught Essence of True Humility

WHAT did Jesus mean by humility? There is no doubt that Jesus did teach humility and that He found it so hard to instill the lesson of it into His disciples that He stooped to menial tasks such as washing their feet to make the lesson plain.

It might be said that a person who is truly humble never grovels or makes a parade or profession of his humility. He may be none the less humble because he stands erect, has a keen sense of his integrity of life and purpose and puts a proper value upon himself as a person and individual.

Jesus stressed this value of the individual as much as He stressed the need of humility. True humility is not in any sense self-deprecation.

It might be said that when people are proud they are usually proud of the wrong things. They are proud of their birth or wealth, for example. It is a fortunate thing for them to have been born into a great or good family, but, after all, it is a fortunate circumstance with which they have nothing to do. And they may have had no part in creating the wealth of which they boast.

On the other hand, there is surely just and reasonable pride in seeking to live worthily of a great heritage of birth or wealth.

The essence of true humility is teachableness. And this finds its manifestations as much in secular life as in religious experience.

The humility of an open, expectant mind underlies all progress, even where strong conviction guides the way.

So, in the life of the soul the humble open mind and heart are the gateways to the knowledge of God and the discovery of His will.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Centuries ago in England a certain Lord Churchward and friends were riding behind his hounds when the dogs started a hare. The hare eluded the yelping pack until, worn to a frazzle, he shot across the field into a commoner's yard and fell in exhaustion at the feet of a worker.

The man grabbed the hare alive to hold for Lord Churchward. But the commoner claimed the hare as his own. So the hunter sued. And the judge ruled that since Lord Churchward had started the hare, and his hounds had chased it until it was practically dead, the hunter had really gained possession and therefore acquired ownership.

That decision is still upheld by our courts today. The accepted legal rule now is that you get no title by pursuit alone, even though the animal has been wounded, unless you follow the beast and reduce it to occupation—that is, to actual possession.

Bodily seizure is not a must. Mortal wounding, if you don't abandon your pursuit, may be considered possession on your part, since you show a definite intention of getting the animal for your individual use.

A part of this law of the chase is this accompanying rule: If you start and wound a game animal, so that its death is practically sure to result, but another hunting gives it the finishing shot or blow, it still belongs to you.

Sports Afield magazine, in an article by lawyer Renzo Dee Bowers, advises hunters who are lucky enough to start a game animal and to shoot or wound him, to hang on the trail. Don't abandon it for a moment. It's when you've practically got him to the point where the wounding has practically deprived him of his liberty and rendered his capture by you certain, or almost certain, that the law declares him yours.

Don't let some unprincipled rogue who is fortunate enough to be on hand at the proper moment cheat you out of your prize by running out, or stepping out from cover, and delivering the final shot.

You may have a lawsuit on your hands if he's unreasonable or stubborn. But the law of the chase was established by the courts for your benefit. Don't let yourself be bluffed when game is legally yours.

Hurricane Hunters Regularly Fly Into Wildest Storms

Because a few brave men regularly go looking for trouble, hurricanes that strike this country no longer are mass killers.

These men fly over empty ocean into the wildest storms on earth to send back advance warning. Thus whole States and regions can batten down for the big blow, as New England did for "Carol" and "Edna" in 1954.

In storm season from June through November, United States Navy and Air Force hurricane hunters may make more than 100 hair-raising flights into a tempest's "eye," the National Geographic Society says.

It's been described as "riding a roller coaster on a rough track through a wind tunnel with cold water pouring down the neck."

Few peacetime assignments match this job in hazard—or in usefulness. Death tolls show why it's more than worth the risk.

Okeechobee Disaster
In 1928, for example, before the Joint Hurricane Warning System existed, an unexpected storm pushed a 12-foot wall of water over Lake Okeechobee's edge in southern Florida. Deaths totaled 1,836. But in 1949, when another hurricane followed virtually the same path across Florida with equal winds, only two persons were killed. Chief difference was enough warning for evacuation.

Grandpappy of all modern hurricanes, in terms of physical destruction, was the 1938 storm that hit New England like a colossal electric shaver, felling forests in swaths, chewing through cities, coating Vermont farmhouses with sea spray. Its toll of about 600 lives ranks far from the highest, however.

As late as 1935, the Red Cross reported that major hurricanes were killing an average of 500 people each. In 1930, some 2,000 were killed in Santo Domingo. Thirty years before, Galveston, Texas, was totally wrecked with 6,000 people killed in one storm. More than 100,000 died as the result of a hurricane in India in 1876.

Spinning Platter
A mature hurricane is a huge whirling platter of destruction and deluge, only a few miles high but hundreds of miles across—as big, say, as the State of Missouri.

Its winds can surpass 150 miles per hour near the center. It can lift two billion tons of water vapor from the sea in 24 hours and dump it all back as rain. Its energy expends itself at an estimated 500 trillion horsepower—the equivalent of several thousand atomic bombs exploding each second.

Scientists are still unsure just how and why a hurricane begins. Somewhere in the hot, still doldrums, between the northeast and southeast trade winds, such tropical whirlpools of air usually are born.

And into such maelstroms fly wind-battered planes to learn each storm's force and direction, take meteorological readings in the "eye" itself, radio back the priceless data to Miami's Hurricane Warning Center, and fight their way home again.

Some day, weathermen hope, such instruments as earthquake-reading seismographs and long-range radar will be adequate to take over the Hurricane Hunters' job. Within 300 miles of the coast, radar already is being used to track the great storms.

But for greater distances and longer warnings, the task of first meeting the hurricanes still falls to the lonely few who stand guard for the many.

The quest of riches darkens the sense of right and wrong.—Antiphanes.

Advice To Future Miss Americas

For the first time in many years, the television cameras covered the Miss America contest and the results were most pleasing to the eyes, of course. The winner was Miss California, and she becomes the Miss America for 1955, and will reign until late in the summer of next year.

The telecast of the Miss America finals this year included the talent contest of the ten semi-finalists, and the final selection among the five finalists. Each of the ten semi-finalists had to exhibit some form of talent, in the way of voice, dancing or dramatic acting or in some other form.

All contestants naturally exhibited some natural talents of their own. But to make the thing a talent-and-beauty-contest, the talent is necessary—although the most talented girl cannot always win, nor can the most attractive girl win. The choice is supposed to center upon the best combination of the two.

The only comment on this year's contest, which always constitutes a great show, is expressed here as a bit of advice to young girls who may be future Miss America contestants. That advice can be summed up in just about one sentence: There is no need to go off the deep end on super-serious dramatic art. The great sufferers of our day—like Bette Davis and other actresses—have been great in their field. However, it is enough if one is even more lightly talented in the suffering field, and is a beautiful, healthy, American girl. A nice song, a nice dance or a talent for playing a musical instrument, we all like. But there is enough suffering in life, as it is, without having to strain and groan and pistol over some super-dramatic spiel from our Miss America candidate. Less of it, please, girls!

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A SHOE SHINE BOX
Dad and son should work together in making the shoe shine box. In addition to easing one household problem by providing the boy with his own handy polishing outfit, it gives dad a chance to teach a lot of basic carpentry.

From the drawings below, the box dimensions and assembly are easily understood. As a training project, the job can utilize saws, screwdriver, hammer, nail set, chisel, brace and bit, plane, sand paper, and paint brush. The lumber used is all 1-inch material. All joints should be glued as well as nailed, using 6-penny finishing nails. The box should be finished by sanding and rounding all sharp edges, then stained or varnished to make it an attractive, as well as a useful, piece of furniture for the boy's bedroom.

Bigger Color TV Tubes Now In Production Will End Bottleneck

A development which might break the bottleneck in the production and sale of color television sets was announced recently by the Columbia Broadcasting System. That organization announced that mass production of large color television picture tubes is now getting underway.

The tubes are reportedly nineteen-inch tubes, with a viewing area of 205 square inches, and they are said to be a major improvement over the twelve-inch standard color tubes being used by color sets now on the market.

Small tubes and high prices have been the principal bottlenecks in the development of color television in this country. It has long been recognized that the development of a satisfactory large-screen color set, and a reduction in price, were the only obstacles to mass sales.

The new development is expected to produce both results, and it is now being estimated that the color television industry might be able to sell 60,000 color receivers by the end of the year. As more and more sets come off the production lines, the price is expected to drop in production.

The latest development is a significant milestone in the color television industry, and may mean that Americans will be enjoying color television on large screens sooner than some of the

Marine M/Sgt. Frank O. Freeman

Lowly Sling Shot Holds its Own on .45 Pistol Range

Many a Marine has heard the cry, "Get a sling shot!" The remark usually refers to one's inability to hit a target. However, one Marine took it seriously, got a sling shot and actually qualified on the regular .45 pistol course at the San Diego Recruit Training Center.

He is M/Sgt. Frank O. Freeman of Pensacola, Fla., now serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Korea. He really doesn't need a sling shot since he is a distinguished rifle and pistol shooter, and has been firing in Marine Corps and civilian matches since 1947.

Last year he missed the Washington State High-Power Rifle Championship by three points. Despite many medals for rifle and pistol shooting Freeman claims his favorite weapon is a sling shot—and he is never without one. The one he uses in Korea today is made of ashwood with a 12 inch rubber sling. He has used it since 1949.

Freeman began using a sling when he was five years old. By the time he was of high school age he was shooting in local playground tournaments. The real thrill, says Freeman, is hunting—and getting that first rabbit. He made money while in high school by hunting small game.

"We used to hunt bull frogs with a sling shot," he says. "Then we would sell the legs to local restaurants and use the money to buy more lead."

He has found that dogwood is the best sling shot material, because it has a steel-like hardness when seasoned.

Freeman's greatest sling shot thrill came last year near Del Mar, Calif., when he flushed a covey of quail. One broke away and circled alone. Freeman pulled the rubber, let go a slug, and killed the quail on the fly. That was his first flying target, though he had killed running blue grouse and pheasant.

"Most people don't realize it," Freeman explains, "but a properly used sling shot can be a deadly weapon. With a 200 grain slug and a 35 pound pull a rabbit can be killed at 30 yards. I've reached 250 yards without difficulty."

Freeman's experience at the San Diego range began when he noticed a young recruit having trouble firing a .45 caliber pistol. Freeman said he thought he could qualify with a sling shot, and did. He used expended .45 caliber slugs and during the rapid fire held four slugs in his right hand. He qualified with a score of 260—not bad shooting with or without a sling shot.

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—Income statistics seem to show that the South, Southwest and West, which led the country in the great postwar boom, are slowing down to the same expansion rate as the older sections of the United States.

Things aren't always what they seem, even in statistics. Perhaps the boom is still going on, with non-booming activities merely subtracting from the apparent advances.

There's no question, for example, that the airplane industry in California is still booming, with payrolls up 18 percent from 1952 to 1953. However, the Pacific Coast's great agricultural income fell off a little in 1953. That makes it look as if the boom were faltering. Actually, the rise and the fall affect different groups.

Similarly, the Southwest's great petro-chemical industry has more operating jobs and higher payrolls. Construction dollars are fewer, however, and the price fall of cattle and farm crops makes total state figures look not-so-good.

In the South, with some spot exceptions, Florida, Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama, benefiting from paper, iron and chemical developments, continue to outdo the national average. Other Southern states, dependent on coal mining, textiles and cotton, lag behind.

The whole country keeps increasing its income from year to year, so that the once-favored areas aren't really crying the blues.

PUBLIC DECIDES—Every year someone writes the obituary of the building boom, and every year the people make the prophecy ridiculous. This year, once more, promises to surpass all previous years, with a probably new record for total construction of $36 billion.

Mainstay of construction has been housing, which continues to attain new highs as buyers' desires move more and more toward quality rather than mere shelter.

In addition, the 79 percent of American families who live in homes built before 1945 are engaged in extensive home modernization.

Home owners, for example, are demanding top grade materials such as clay tile in bathrooms and kitchens; streamlined plumbing, seasoned lumber and safety-fast wiring. Homes are more spacious. Three bedrooms replace two; there are one-and-one-half or two clay-tiled bathrooms instead of one; kitchens are larger and of more workable design.

The ordinary people have more faith than the experts—and they have been right.

THINGS TO COME—Three sizes of steel garages have entered the do-it-yourself market. All you need is a wrench, a screw-driver, a hammer, and $400 to $600 . . . Sheets of gold leaf, which can be written onto any flat surface to personalize it as a gift, will be available for Christmas . . . A kit of two dozen hardwood blocks and lengths of threaded steel shafting make a table lamp in any of a score of designs . . . An industrial ladder maker has branched into a folding platform home ladder, suitable for washing ceilings.

COTTON UPTURN—Graveyard of many a bright forecaster is the cotton crop. This year will mark another reverse for the prophets. It looks so easy: There are five or six well-defined areas in which the fiber grows. Feasible planting dates, soil moisture conditions, prices in the futures market of crops which might take acreage away from cotton—all these are known. All one need do is sit down and figure it out.

The only unpredictable is the cotton farmer himself. Years like this one, when the Crop Estimate Board's September estimate was 11,832,000 bales, he dashes into the fields and give the crop that extra lick that makes all the difference. The September estimate, made after ginning began, is 12,752,000 bales—920,000 more in a month.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Coal production for the last reported week of September was 8 million tons, a million below last year's mark . . . Paper production for the week ended September 25 stood at 96 per cent, up from the week before but 2 percent down from 1953 . . . Wholesale prices stood still in September on the average, but actually farm products eased and industrial and mineral supplies were a little higher.

Scientists View Sea Monsters

The long-debated question whether sea monsters roam the depths of the Atlantic and Pacific, and all oceans, may be resolved in the next few years. This is indicated by major discoveries being made by scientists now making their way all the way to the bottom of the seas in experimental dives.

The divers are using recently built submersible craft of the type in which two Frenchmen recently set a new diving record. Professor Theodore Monod, director of the French Institute of Dakar, recently submerged to a depth of 4,500 feet in the Atlantic, reaching the bottom off Dakar.

Professor Monod reports that he found a new and larger species of crab, hitherto unknown to the world. The new crab has a shell which measures some twenty inches in diameter.

As scientists continue to delve deeper into the depths of the oceans no doubt they will discover new creatures of the sea, and perhaps they may discover the answers to strange reports from sailors over the years, telling of mysterious creatures observed at sea. The world has waited many years for the answers.

Pierre-Henri Willm and Georges Houot, French explorers of the deep, recently descended more than 2½ miles beneath the surface of the Atlantic Ocean. It was a new record for underwater exploration, which development was of considerable interest to scientists.

Of more interest to the average laymen, however, was the report from Willm that he saw a mysterious sea monster during the descent. Willm said he caught sight of the creature when he looked through the thick glass porthole with the aid of a powerful searchlight.

He described the latest sea monster as being about ten feet in length and resembling a shark. The monster, Willm said, came to the porthole to view him just as he sought to view the monster. In other words, the two were "nose to nose" except for the glass porthole during the meeting.

Now Willm and Houot are preparing to attempt another plunge in their specially-built diving craft, this time to a depth of seven miles. This is the lowest spot beneath the surface of a body of water anywhere in the world.

The explorers might actually solve that age-old issue of sea monsters—whether they be or do not be.

"ALL dressed up and no place to go" is the way to describe one robber's girl friend. Salesman from Wauwatosa, Wis., reports $6000 worth of assorted women's clothes stolen from his car—all size 14.

Fellow in Pueblo, Colo., was fined $25 for swatting his wife with a slab of liver. She's probably one of those cooks who prepare the stuff without bacon or onions.

Slightly tipsy lady in Barnwell, S. C., sideswiped a highway patrol car, the mayor's car and bounced off a light pole, but thought she missed the jail. She was so wrong.

Man in Hamilton, Ontario, pleaded guilty to stealing a $1.50 pair of reading glasses "so I could see my way out of the store." We know how he feels. With all those giant displays, a fellow needs radar to navigate to the door.

Man in Boston, Mass., first pulled in his estranged wife's hair, then two days later shaved her bald. Those new hairdos affect us that way, too, but we haven't enough gumption to do something about them.

Parents Urged To Sit Back Awhile Before 'Speaking to' Teacher

With junior, or sissy, having recently started school, this is the perfect time of the year to appeal to all parents for restraint and good judgment in dealing with school teachers and administrators. No doubt junior and sissy will encounter some difficulties during their new school year, if indeed they do not encounter them at the beginning of the current term.

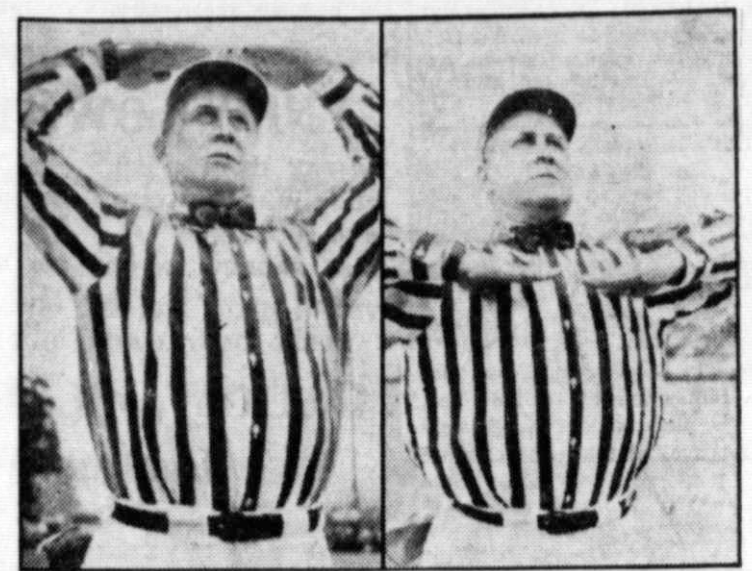

However, the teachers and administrators who are attempting to drill a bit of information into your sweet things' heads have troubles of their own and unless there is an obvious need for a protest, parents would do well to remain in the background and see—at least, for a while—how things work out before they ask for special treatment, special care or special attention for junior.

It will also be well to remember that the nation's schools must be based upon generally accepted average standards and that special operations cannot be undertaken for you, or any small group, no matter how good the idea may be. It should also be remembered, by parents, that their support of the school, its teachers and administrators, is vitally important to the happiness and satisfaction of their children.

In a surprisingly large percentage of cases, where students fail to do satisfactory work, the reasons can be traced to parental neglect, attitudes or incapacity. A helping hand for junior, a consistent policy of aiding him and requiring him to do his lessons, will pay large dividends for him in future years, even though it requires some of your time today. It is well worth the effort.

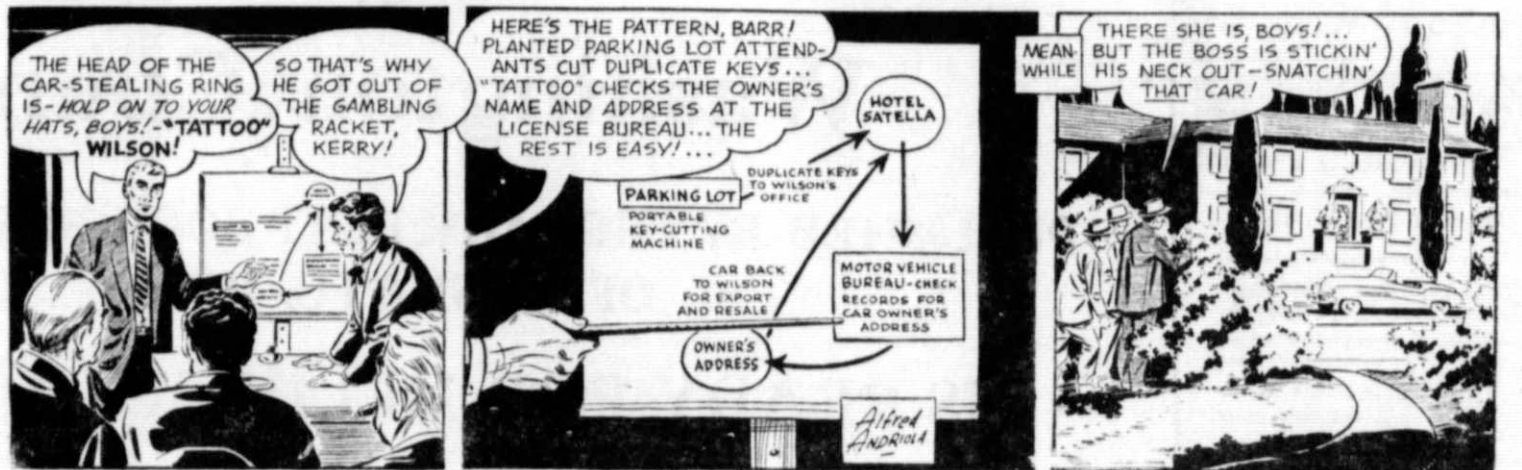

Always lift direct and with a slight bending of the knees in removing equipment from the floor or any other low area.

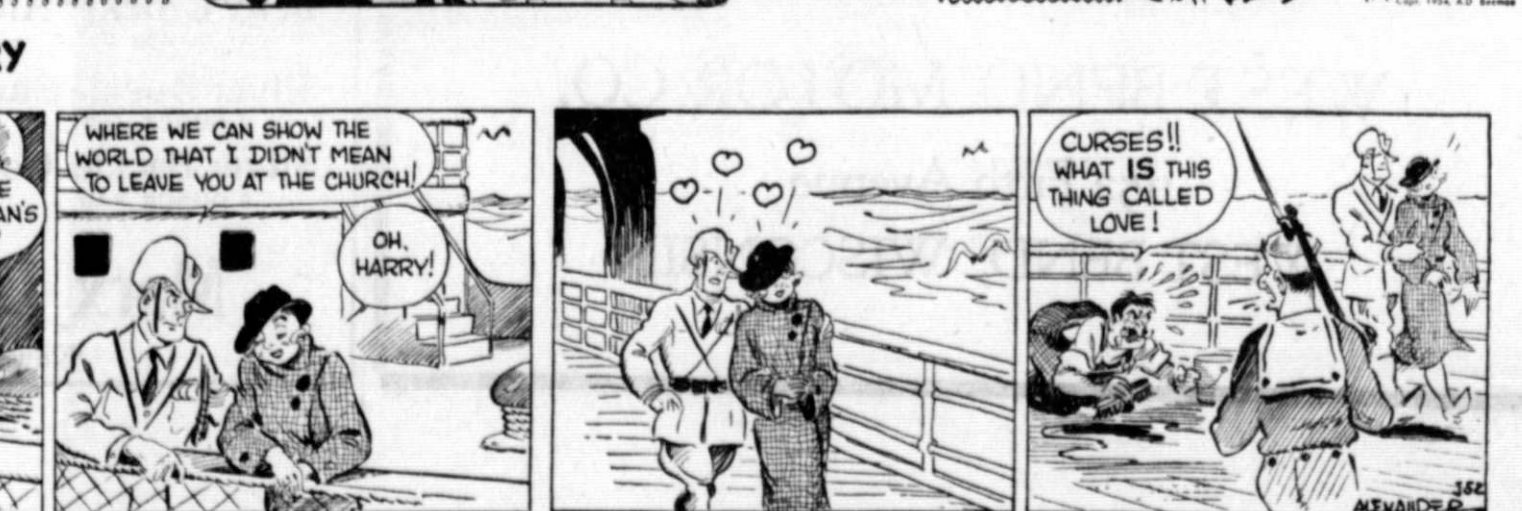

"HANDIES"—Irwin W. Weiss, eastern intercollegiate football official, demonstrates two new hand signals football fans will be seeing this fall. At left, he shows the new signal for an illegal substitution, and at right, the sign for an illegal shift.

Stop Floor Squeaks Before Installing Recreation Room Ceiling

If you plan to install a ceiling in your basement recreation room, it is a good idea to spend a little extra time and get the squeaks out of the upstairs floor. Removing floor squeaks is quite simple while the sub flooring and joists are exposed.

There are several methods of stopping floor squeaks. One is to drive a shingle between the floor joist and the sub flooring. Avoid this if possible. It may be effective for a time, but will probably cause more squeaks next year because of expansion of the shingle during damp weather.

Another method is to pour liquid soap or melted paraffin into the cracks between floor boards. This may be effective for a time, if the cracks are large enough. But it is difficult to get enough material between the two layers of flooring.

A recommended method is to use cleats made of square pieces of hardwood. Drill these as illustrated, so that enough screw extends through the cleat to hold it securely.

Fasten the cleat securely to the floor joist. Then draw the floor down to the cleat as tightly as possible.

It is important that you use the proper length screw in drawing the flooring. If it is too long, it will go through the floor and spoil the finish.

To avoid this trouble, not more than 1 1/4 inches of screw should extend through the cleat. In some cases 3/4 inch is enough.

Another method is to draw the two layers of flooring together with wood screws. Use screws 7/8 to 1 inch long.

Care should be used to drill the screw holes the proper size. The hole in the subflooring should be large enough that the screw can be inserted by hand.

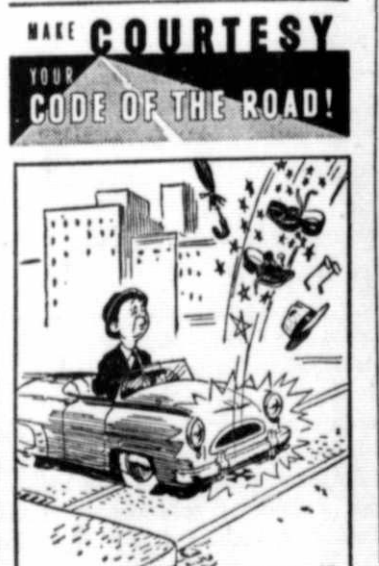

But the hole in the finish flooring should be small enough that a screwdriver is necessary to drive the screw.

Use a piece of broomstick on the drill as a depth gauge. By using this, you can avoid getting the large hole too deep. By making another gauge for the small drill, you can avoid drilling through the finish flooring.

A third recommended method is to use a flat cleat as illustrated. This works best when used across several of the sub floor boards.

Fight Over Bingo Takes New Twist

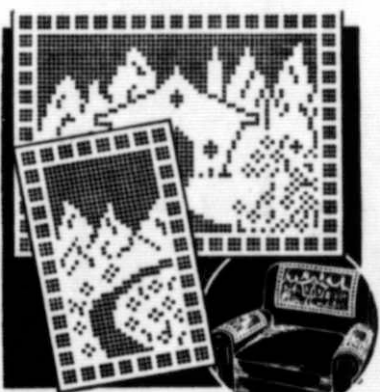

A major dispute recently arose in the city of New York because of a police detective's efforts to enforce the law. This is an unusual twist, in modern days, since it is usually a failure to enforce the law which gets police officers in trouble.

In this case, however, it was the other way around, and a police detective, with a fine record and some thirty years of experience, was recently demoted for his efforts to enforce a New York law against bingo games. The police detective stopped bingo games in churches of several denominations and got the pledges from other groups, where games had already begun, not to hold them again.

Because the New York Police Commissioner had officially winked at bingo parties in the past and because that was a generally known policy of many of the higher-ups in the Police Department, the police detective was considered to be out of line, from above. He was ordered demoted and this caused a furor among his supporters and those who believe in enforcing the law against bingo.

The police detective resigned rather than face demotion without protesting, and the issue became a political one quickly. Democrats in New York are said to be ready to make bingo one of their campaign points, whereas some Republicans are ready to take such a position.

The question of legalized bingo thus becomes a hot political issue in New York election, as it has in elections in other towns in former years. There is nothing much to say on the question of legalized bingo, although it is obviously a form of gambling. However, when there is a law on the books, most folks believe it should be enforced, and the way to get around a bad law is to repeal it and get it off the books, rather than have laws on the books which police departments enforce at their discretion.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Chicken Broccoli Casserole

For perfect mealtime appeal, an individual Chicken and Broccoli Casserole, served piping hot from the broiler, is the answer.

And for perfect white sauce every time, the easy way, there is no equal to using a mix made with Nonfat Dry Milk Solids. White sauces have so many uses in gravies, creamed dishes, scalloped dishes, and souffles.

Having a mix on hand, ready to use, can be a real time saver. Nonfat Dry Milk lends itself to the preparation of a white sauce mix that can be easily stored until needed.

WHITE SAUCE MIX
2 cups Nonfat Dry Milk Solids
1 cup all-purpose flour
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup firm butter

Sift dry ingredients in a bowl. Add butter with a pastry blender until the mixture is about the consistency of corn meal. Store in a covered jar in the refrigerator. Makes 4 cups.

WHITE SAUCE
Thin—1/4 cup mix—1 cup water
Medium—1/2 cup mix—1 cup water
Thick—3/4 cup mix—1 cup water

Place 1 cup warm water in the top of a double boiler. Add mix, stirring all the while. Cook until smooth and thickened.

Serves 4
1 cup firmly packed white sauce mix
2 cups warm water
1 cup finely cubed cheese
4 chicken breasts, cooked
1 package frozen broccoli, cooked until just tender
Parmesan cheese

Place water in the top of a double boiler or heavy sauce pan. Add white sauce mix and stir until smooth and thickened. Add cheese and cook until cheese has all melted, stirring occasionally. Cook broccoli until just tender. Place broccoli in a flat casserole or individual dishes, place chicken breast on top of broccoli, and pour cheese sauce over this. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and place under broiler until nicely browned.

Green Pepper and Rice
4 green peppers
1 cup cooked rice
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 lb. grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt

Cut peppers into halves, lengthwise, remove the seeds and membrane. Drop into a small amount of boiling salted water. Cook about 7 minutes or until the peppers are partially cooked. To the cooked rice, which is still hot, add the cheese and cover until the cheese melts. Then add the condensed tomato soup and the Worcestershire sauce. Mix lightly to blend. Place the peppers in a greased shallow baking dish and cover with the rice mixture. Bake in an oven 350 degrees, for about 45 minutes.

Sauteed Peppers
Butter
Peppers
Leave peppers whole or cut in thin strips. Saute in butter 5 minutes. Use as a garnish or vegetable.

French Fried Pepper Rings
Peppers
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
Fine crumbs
Slice peppers in thin rings, parboil. Dip in egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon water, then in crumbs. Fry a few at a time, in deep fat heated to 370 degrees. Drain on paper towel.

SQUIRREL PIE
Squirrels that flash into hiding the instant you shoot come out much quicker if you use the prepared biscuits available at the refrigerator section of your grocery.

Simmer the squirrel in water to cover until meat falls from the bone (about 1 hour) along with 1 stalk celery, 1 carrot and 1 onion which have been run through a food chopper. Remove squirrel and pick meat from bone, place in casserole with two 4-oz. cans mushrooms, and cover with a gravy made by thickening two cups of the stock with three tablespoons flour seasoned with one teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1/4 teaspoon paprika. Cover with biscuits and bake as per directions on container.

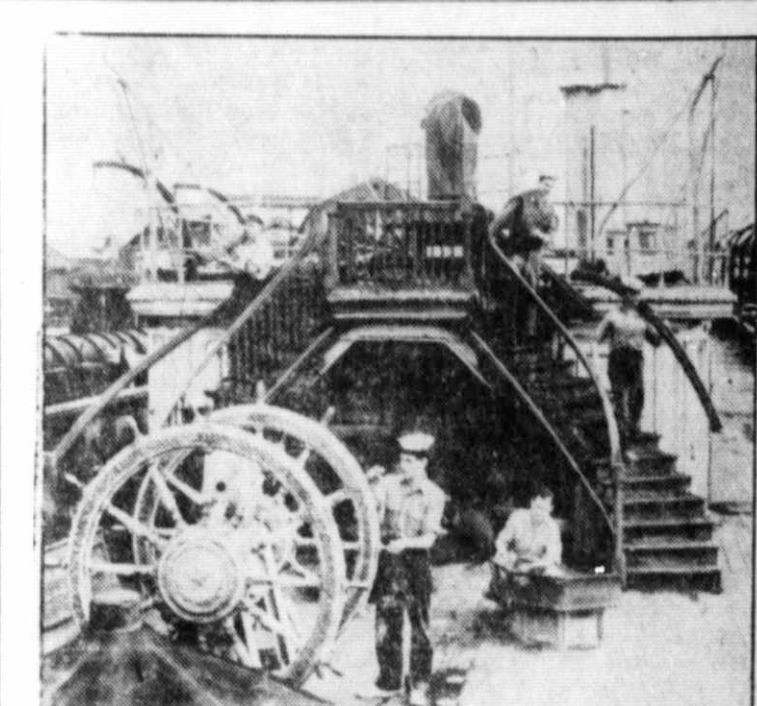

Creamed Ham and Peppers
1/3 cup fat
1/2 cup enriched flour
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 cups cooked ham cut in 1 inch cubes
3/4 cup broiled mushrooms
1 tablespoon minced onion
4 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Melt fat over low heat; add flour, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth. Add milk gradually and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add ham, mushrooms, onion and green pepper. Heat thoroughly. Serve in corn meal shells.

Goulash
1 1/2 lbs. beef cubed
1/2 lb. pork cubed

It's got a "V" in its bonnet— or your choice of two new sixes!

The motoramic Chevrolet for '55

Great new

It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!

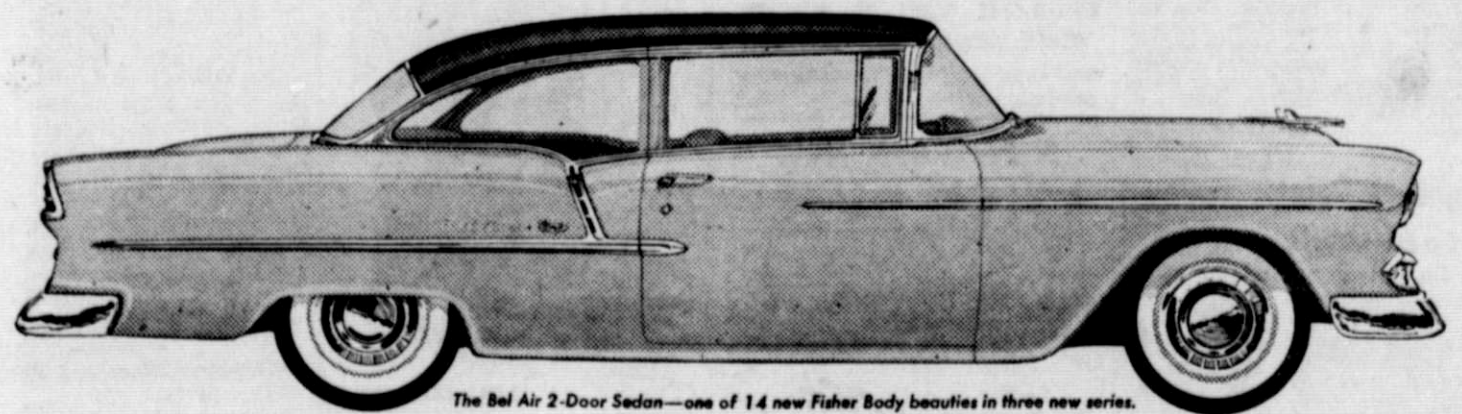

You'd expect Chevrolet to out-V8 the field—and it has! Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio that squeezes more pure fun out of a gallon of gas than you ever dreamed possible! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here. Come in and drive the new "Turbo-Fire V8!"

Two new 6's

With enough new advances to fill a book!

Chevrolet offers two new highstepping sixes for 1955! There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, higher-rated power—the zippy, thrifty high-compression kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems... new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system for finer performance and faster cold-weather starting. They're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car!

The Bel Air 2-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series.

More than a new car... a new CONCEPT of low-cost motoring (and much too good to miss driving!)
