New cotton fabrics are being introduced for cool fall weather, says Betty Ann. Some are blended with silk or rabbit's hair, some with suede and flannel. Cotton dresses have earned a place in the budget and fashion wise woman's fall wardrobe because of their washability, fine styling and easy ironing.

The patterns of these dresses are exciting and varied. There are embroidered motifs, flowers, hearts, paper dolls and doves.

Striped cottons are more interesting, too, featuring thin lines of iridescent colors. Plaid cottons are sparkled with embroidered dots.

Now the homemaker is being offered cotton yardage that's wrinkle resistant, permanently pleated and embossed or crinkled to make ironing completely unnecessary.

Of course, it's always a good idea to double check the tag of the no iron cotton dress. Sometimes the no-iron feature of a dress may depend entirely on the length of time it's been in the drier.

Colored cottons, of course, should always be washed in warm, rather than hot soapsuds and should be dried out of doors.

If you want to avoid ironing any cotton garment, remember to hand press it while it's damp, or better yet, while it's dripping wet. Smooth collars and cuffs, hem and seams and all ruffles.

How long has it been since you've instructed your hair stylist with the term "dips?"

Never? Then you're the younger generation. But for those who remember, this autumn's hair designs are reminiscent of the Chanel and jazz era. Waves, and dips, too, are creeping in where once lay a thatch; little spit curls and sideswept flapper bangs replace the sawtooth wisps of Audrey Hepburn's nail scissors trim, the jagged street urchin look.

The return of the big deep hats, part of the famous Chanel influence, requires that hair be bobbed to complete the picture. But it will be a svelte bob, closely coiffed. It may have but a suggestion of waves, or it may have the water wave look of the twenties.

Look for the greater stress on bangs, particularly Buster Brown and sideswept fringes. There are many shingle backs, too; those who don't have a good shingle neckline, may be wearing their hair slightly fuller at the nape.

Women, predict the experts, will look like women, at least from the neck up, no matter what they are the rest of the way down. A touch of Cleopatra is already seen in keeping with the strong Egyptian influence that has inspired everything from fabrics to millinery this year.

Many busy mothers don't have time to sterilize baby's bottle as soon as he's finished with it. Yet they know that allowing it to stand for a time results in formation of sticky solids that are hard to remove. To avoid this work making alternative, put a teaspoon of baking soda in the bottle and fill it warm water. Then when you're ready to sterilize it, there will be no problem with sticky solids.

Stuffed Pork Chops

Four thick pork chops, 1 1/2 pounds; 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs; 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion; 1/2 cup whole kernel corn; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/8 teaspoon pepper; 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Have pocket cut in each chop. Toss together lightly the bread crumbs, onion, corn, salt and pepper. Stir in melted butter. Fill pockets in chops with this stuffing mixture. Arrange chops on a heat resistant chop plate. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees for one and one-fourth to one and one-half hours or until chops are well done.

If your rag rugs are drab and sun faded, don't put up with them for one minute. Solid colored rag rugs should be rejuvenated with all-purpose dye right in your washing machine and multicolored ones can be brightened by applying dye dissolved in a cup of water with a small paint brush.

As a rule cookie pans should be placed on the rack in the center of the oven. However, if you find your cookie tops aren't browning well, move the pan to a higher rack for the last few minutes baking time.

A new plastic that snaps back into shape when dented will bring about, scientists say, a really "dent-proof" automobile.

DIABETIC TODAY LIVES NORMALLY

Over a million U. S. residents have diabetes and are presently receiving the benefits of medical supervision as patients. There are another million who do not have that protection. They do not know they have diabetes.

Diabetes occurs when the body is unable to use or store all the sugar in the food consumed. Thus, sugar piles up in the blood and causes excessive thirst. Drinking large quantities of water to quench the thirst results in frequent urination. Excessive amounts of sugar then appear in the urine for this is the way the body gets rid of sugar it cannot use.

In this way, diabetes leaves clues which every person must learn to recognize if this dangerous disease is to be checked. If one is too often tired, has excessive thirst, excessive urination or a prodigious appetite accompanied by a loss of weight, he should go to his physician to be examined for diabetes.

Once diabetes is found it is relatively easy to control. Certain mild cases that are discovered early may be controlled by giving careful attention to the diet. For other diabetics the use of insulin may be required in addition to a regulated diet and adequate exercise.

The sooner a diabetic is found and his condition placed under control, the better is his chance for a normal life. Many thousands of diabetics today are normal, happy, and productive members of society. However, if allowed to go uncontrolled, coma and other serious complications may result.

Diabetes tends to find its victims in the following groups: persons past forty; the overweight; women, especially married women; persons with a family history of the disease; and those in relatively sedentary occupations. Actually, however, this unpredictable disease also strikes children, teen-agers, the underweight, men and women with no known family history of diabetes.

Thus, to be on the safe side, at least those over 40 should be tested periodically for diabetes.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Here's an example of an easy way to convey a Christmas greeting in one simple snapshot. It pictures the youngsters of the family and sends the holiday message in an interesting, eye-catching fashion.

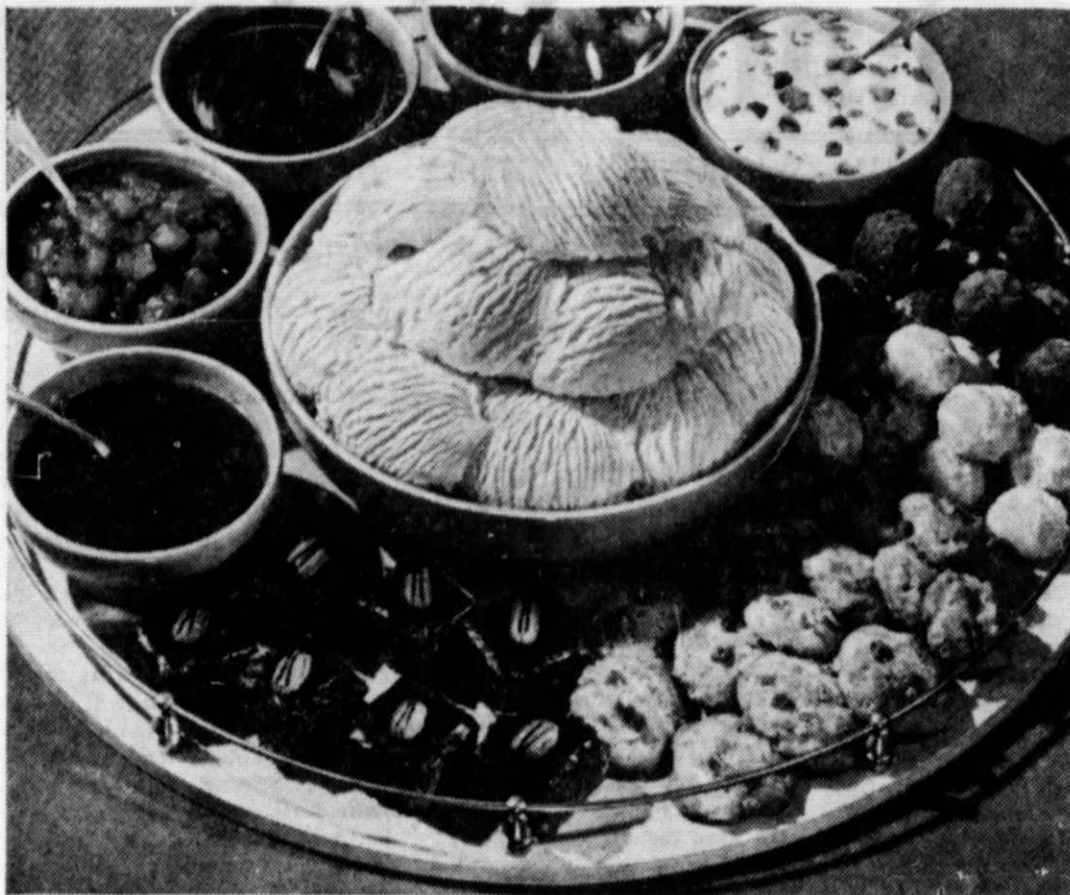

One Snapshot Makes a Christmas Card

The exchange of Christmas cards is one of the best of our holiday traditions. It brings us into communication with people in whom we are much interested, but just don't have time for keeping in touch throughout the year. That's one reason why we like to have our greetings be as personal as possible, and a good reason for making a picture greeting that will help tell our friends and relatives a story of the family.

We're all familiar with the very nice cards that your photofinisher can make up from masks bearing the Christmas greeting and using a favorite snapshot.

But you can take a picture which will form the whole greeting. All you have to do is find a way of incorporating the name and the greeting into a picture situation. Snap the picture and take it to your photofinisher for

Dessert Buffet: Ice Cream With Sauces

Buffet meals are wife-savers and such fun, why is it we so seldom think of a Dessert-Buffer for entertaining?

Build around ice cream, a serve-yourself idea, with a bowl of ice cream scooped out well in advance and left in freezer or freezing compartment, or put into a well-chilled bowl just before serving time.

Use the bowl as the center of a large tray or lazy Susan, arrange around it bowls of sauces, hot and cold, with cookies in clusters to fill the remaining space. Add cups or mugs for the beverage, the necessary serving pieces and dishes, and there you have it—one of the easiest and nicest forms of entertaining.

Here are sauces that can be made up well in advance, kept in the refrigerator and heated when needed:

BUTTER CARAMEL SAUCE—Melt in heavy skillet over very low heat 1 and 1/2 cups sugar. When golden brown stir in very slowly 1 cup boiling water. Cook to consistency of maple syrup. Add 2 tablespoons butter. Mix well. Cool to lukewarm. Then stir in 1/3 cup undiluted evaporated milk. Makes 1 and 1/2 cups.

MINTED PINEAPPLE SAUCE—Using 1 #2 can of crushed pineapple, drain; measure juice, adding water to make 1 cup. Combine with 1/2 cup sugar. Simmer 5 minutes. Add few drops of mint extract (either spearmint or peppermint) and enough green coloring to make a pleasant color, allowing for its absorption by the fruit. Add the pineapple and chill. Especially good on vanilla ice cream. Makes 2 cups.

MARSHMALLOW PEPPERMINT SAUCE—Using the bottled marshmallow whip, stir in several tablespoons of crushed peppermint stick candy, reserving some for surface garnish. Good on vanilla or chocolate ice cream.

Health and Beauty

If you have tried many times to reduce and failed, presumably from the lack of will power, it may mean you need to change your attitude.

In the first place, you must really want to lose extra pounds badly enough to endure some uncomfortable days. This desire is the one thing that is the basis of all successful diets.

Psychologists tell us that in this department many people have a "mind set." They say that, although you don't want to fail, you fear you will and half-way expect to.

An extremely nervous person will over-eat because, by drawing a great amount of blood to the digestive tract to digest the food, body tension is relieved. The mind is not clear and keen.

Over large amounts of food are used as a kind of sedative by some.

There are numerous other reasons for over-eating—self pity, an inferiority complex—the list could go on and on. The important thing is to understand your inability to diet.

Once this program has been over-come, you are ready to choose your diet plan. If you want to lose a great deal of weight, it is not important that you consult your doctor. He will tell you how fast to lose weight, the best diet for you and how much exercise to take during your diet.

If you want to lose four or five pounds, you will probably be able to do this by simply cutting down on the intake of food.

Remember—exercise is more important while you are dieting than at any other time. It helps keep your muscles and skin firm.

DUCK WITH WILD RICE DRESSING

There are foods that go together naturally, such as pork and beans, spareribs and sauerkraut, and so forth. But no pair is more famous than roast duck with wild rice stuffing. Expensive as wild rice is—the last we bought cost $1.25 for 8 oz.—it is worth it, just as is that occasional T-bone or rolled rib roast. Fortunately, a little of the rice goes a long way!

To stuff 2 mallards, cook 1 cup wild rice in 1 qt. water with 1 teaspoon salt for 40 minutes. Wild rice requires about twice the cooking time of ordinary rice. Drain off unabsorbed water and dry rice by shaking it in the pan over a low fire for a few minutes. Then mix in 2 tablespoons onion, 2 tablespoons green pepper and 2 tablespoons celery, all finely chopped, with one 4-oz. can mushrooms cut into small pieces. Season with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper and over all pour 1 stick of melted butter.

Stuff ducks, place on a rack in baking pan and roast 2 hours in moderate oven (350 degrees). Baste frequently with equal parts of pineapple juice (or orange juice) and water.

No habit has any real hold on you other than the hold you have on it. —Gardner Hunting.

About Your Home

There are almost as many "style trends" in home decoration as there are in woman's fashions. Home decoration changes are a good bit more expensive than changes made in your clothes. For this reason, it is most important to go about selecting the furniture and appointments for your home with great care.

Look at the many changes in the popularity of various designs of furniture found in the last twelve to fifteen years. About twelve years ago almost every woman who could afford it spent a good deal of her leisure time antiquing. The two most popular designs were Early Victorian and Early American.

As these two designs began to wane, French Provincial came in to favor. This had a somewhat short span of popularity as a big seller.

The latest thing is modern furniture. This type, in the more expensive lines, is quite good because the lines are simple and the effect is uncluttered and restful.

Very few of us can discard the pieces of furniture we have collected over a period of years. However, our homes need not look dated. There are so many little things you can do to make your home stylish that will cost you only a few dollars.

Lamps are taller, brighter colors are being used, drapes are not the heavy ornamental things they were in the past. Study the various magazines and you will find endless little things you can do to make your home newer and younger looking.

in FASHION now

There was a time when comfort was the least considered element of fashion. However, designers have come to realize that, when a lady is not comfortable and relaxed in her clothes, it is impossible for her to look her best.

Naturally, the first item of clothing to be considered is a properly-fitted foundation garment. There are so many styles and designs on the market that there is no excuse for being uncomfortable in bras, girdles or even corselettes. Keep trying until you find the one designed with your type of figure in mind.

The requirements of a young girl of sixteen and a mature woman of forty are nothing alike. The corselettes found in stores are a boon to the mature woman. Made of nylon elastic, they are tough and strong but at the same time light, cool and comfortable. The corselette will be more expensive than the girdle bought for a young girl, but is probably the most important single piece of clothing to be chosen. It is just what the name implies, the foundation for your other clothes.

Not only foundation clothes have been made more comfortable through the years but street clothes, play clothes and evening clothes as well! Top designers

Bible Comment: Gospel of John Shows Christ's Humanity

THE supreme theme of the Gospel of John is the divinity of Jesus, but the same Gospel, in many instances, incidents and phases emphasizes the humanity of Jesus as well. Jesus Himself stressed this.

Jesus described Himself as both eating and drinking, a normal human being who hungered and thirsted, became weary and slept. The divinity of Jesus was not the denial of His humanity, but was the Incarnation, divinity being revealed in and through His human life.

The story of the marriage in Cana of Galilee is an incident in the blending of humanity and divine power. While some will concentrate attention upon the miracle, others will find the chief interest in the fact that Jesus was there.

The miracle of the changing of the water into wine takes its place among all the miracles, which if they could be explained, would not be miracles at all. But the fact that Jesus was there as a guest, with His disciples, stands out with bold significance.

There also are other incidents that reveal Him in His true humanity, friendly and unconventional, as in the meeting with the Samaritan woman.

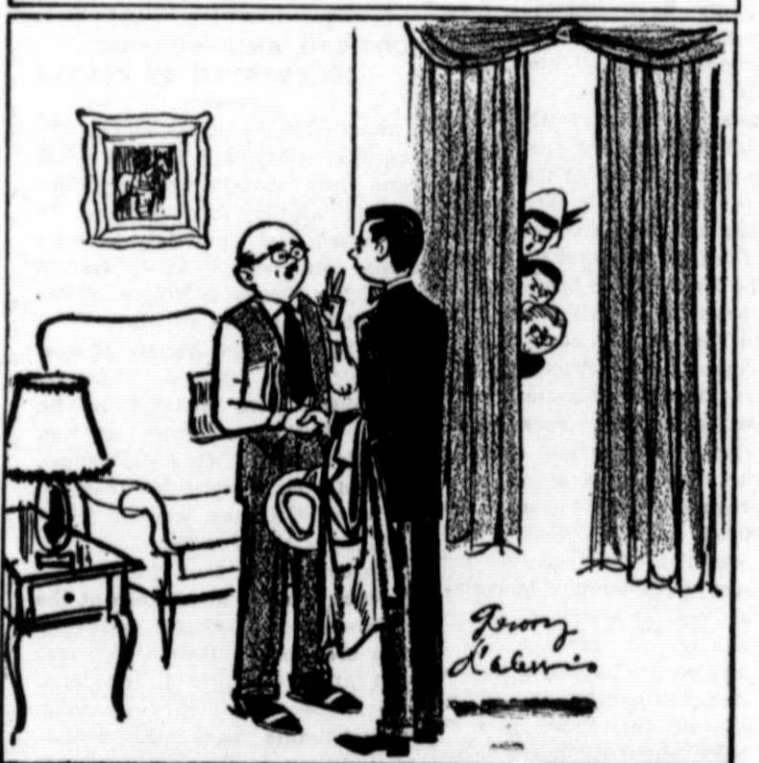

We must see Jesus in all the manifold aspects of that amazing earthly life if we would know and understand Him and follow His example in the earnestness of one who said, "I must be about My Father's business." We must understand the exacting nature of taking up the cross and following Him, but we must never lose the human touch, the gentleness of the Master who blessed little children and rejoiced with those who rejoiced, wept with those who wept.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The current national foxhound champion is an unusual winner. He is Osage Eddie, owned by Frank Jacobs of Oklahoma.

But the dark horse from Oklahoma scored heavily on the first day. When the final scores were totaled, the unknown Eddie was comfortably out in front.

It is not unheard of for an unknown to win an important field trial. But it is a pretty safe bet that the tried and true fox dogs of known and proven ability will garner the "High General Average" honors.

The big surprise came when Mr. Jacobs announced that his knowledge Osage Eddie, the new champion, had never smelled a red fox trail until he competed in the championship event.

However, no breed of dog has any corner of versatility. Beagles and bassets are frequently used in pheasant hunting.

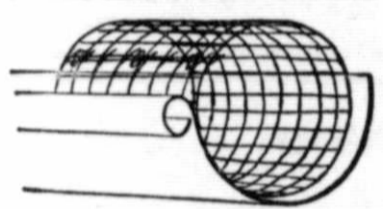

A farmer cousin of Davis sent his setter after the milk cows at the end of the long day of quail hunting.

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For the Home

Non-Clogging Gutters

A SIMPLE, inexpensive way to keep leaves from clogging your gutters and getting into the downspouts and drainage system is to install some small rolls of half-inch galvanized mesh wire.

Buy a piece 30 or 36 inches wide and cut it into pieces 6 inches by 9 inches. Each is rolled into a little cylinder until the edges touch. Fasten the edges together with copper wire, hairpins or small pieces of non-rusting electric wire, says Family Handyman.

Drop these into your roof gutters at intervals, especially over the spout.

Occasionally remove and shake them out.

Leave Camp Site Neat

The season is approaching where deer hunters have fun and are inclined to leave the forest areas a mass of rubbish and the conservation department today issued a plea to hunters to leave their camp sites as neat as they found them.

The plea comes particularly from conservation wardens, foresters and rangers who find the aftermath of the deer season shocking to their sensibilities. They point out that another hunter may want to use the same area next year and doesn't deserve to be penalized.

Don't heat fats or oils to a high temperature without knowing the flash-point of same.

The World's Longest Bridge

On Labor Day the old Bee Line Ferry across Tampa Bay quit its labors for all time. It gave way to a new 15-mile bridge, called the Sunshine Skyway, which should prove almost as big a tourist asset to Florida's west coast as its climate and sandy beaches.

The bridge, built at a cost of $22,000,000, spans Tampa Bay from the St. Petersburg peninsula to the town of Palmetto. Its primary benefit to motorists is that it provides a direct route through St. Petersburg to the lower west coast and south Florida.

Previously it was necessary to drive east around the Bay to Tampa, 49 miles over the straight route. The alternative was the ancient Bee Line ferry to Piney Point, which during the busy season was clogged and congested with traffic.

St. Petersburg and all the other Gulf Coast communities expect the Sunshine Skyway to be a very busy travel artery. Their surveys show that at least 750,000 automobiles annually will use the new bridge, accounting for an increase in tourist arrivals of more than 15 percent.

Visitors from Minnesota will be among the principal users of the bridge, driving to Tallahassee, then along the Gulf and to the south. This way they can go to Miami without crossing the state to Jacksonville and the east coast road. They'll save about a hundred miles.

Local interests also point out that for the first time St. Petersburg and the west coast below the bay now are connected directly with a major north-south highway, U. S. 19, which begins at Erie, on The Great Lakes, runs through Pittsburgh and Atlanta, before reaching its southern terminus at the Gulf of Mexico.

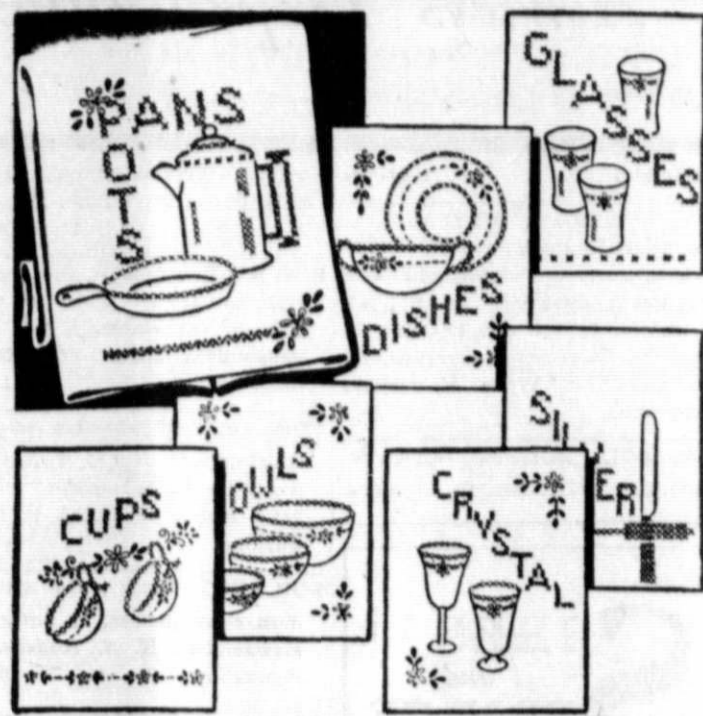

Below St. Petersburg, a number of Gulf Coast cities appear due for a new prominence in the tourist picture. Such attractive spots as Bradenton, Sarasota, Venice, Fort Myers, Bonita Springs and Naples are now on the direct route south. They have been steadily rising in recent years as resort areas, but the new bridge should accelerate the pace.

In addition to bringing points worth visiting closer to the average motorist, the bridge is something of a tourist attraction in itself. For one thing, it is understood to be the longest prestressed concrete span in the world and, for another, the longest crossing of open water in America. Its most spectacular feature is its central section, over the Tampa Bay ship channel, which will carry 155 feet above the water.

Unlike the ferry, which operated only between 7:30 a. m. and 8:45 p. m., the bridge will be open 24 hours a day. Another comparison between the old and new: ferry toll, $1.50 for car and driver, passengers 25 cents each; bridge toll, $1.75 per car, including occupants.

IVORY BANEBERRY 1954 National Wildlife Federation

Most persons in the United States who have access to rich woodlands have seen one or another of the white-fruited baneberries in late summer or early fall.

This baneberry is found in moist, open woodlands from Alaska to central California and east to Montana and New Mexico or even north into Alberta.

In spite of the fruits being poisonous to man they are fed on by some insects. The eastern white baneberry has its fruits eaten by a caterpillar that develops eventually into one of the dainty azure butterflies.

The plant grows to a height of three feet, is bushy and somewhat branching. In the upper areas the plant may be finely fuzzy. The leaves are few, the lower ones being long-stalked and the upper ones rather stalkless.

The flowers appear in early spring, are whitish, are borne at the ends of short stems, have a sickish odor. The clusters may be to 4 inches long in the fruiting stage at which stalks supporting each unit may be to 1 inch long.

The 6 known species are all to be found in the north temperate zones of the Old World and of the New. The genus Actaea is an ancient Greek name for the elder and probably refers to the similarity in the shape of the leaves of elders and of the baneberries.

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—State and local governments, which have been growing up to their new responsibilities since World War II, have provided a rising market for both goods and services in the last 12 months—a period in which many other segments of the economy were standing still or trending downward.

All purchases by states, cities and school districts will approach $27 billion this year. That will be 10 percent more than they spent in 1953.

In construction alone, these units will spend about $8 billion this year. Sewer and water facilities to care for the continuing movement to the suburbs are the fastest-growing category of construction. Schools and highways continue to take most of the money, but have not risen as fast as some others.

The beginning of school saw employment by state and local governments increase to 4,500,000, some 200,000 above the year-ago mark. Biggest rise was in school teachers hired to man the new classrooms.

FLYING EXECUTIVES—The aviation industry has deglamorized the test pilot, as one result of the improved performance of the modern airplane. Today's test pilot is not a daredevil. He's a methodical professional who makes a great many routine checks to see if a plane can do the specific high-performance job for which it was designed.

At Long Island's Big Republic Aviation Corporation, more than 15 "engineering test pilots," as they are called now, flight-test F-84F Thunderstreaks, a 650-mile-per-hour-plus fighter-bomber going to U. S. and Allied Air Forces.

The average Republic pilot, a serious-minded worker in his early thirties, starts work at 7 a. m. He makes one or more trips over several states at altitudes up to 45,000 feet, putting the Thunderstreak through more than 40 tests while checking 200 instruments, buttons, switches and levers.

After his routine business day he joins other commuters to the suburbs to greet his wife and children.

THINGS TO COME—Logically following the doll whose hair can be washed comes a hair-dryer, simulating grownups' electric ones. A new plastic pleat ring grips fabric directly, rather than requiring sewed-on tape. You can now get glass-fiber pontoons to buoy up your boathouse or diving platform. Don't soak and sink like logs, or rust like steel drums. A ring-like handle that goes all the way around makes a new grocery cart more pushable. It moves in any direction.

GROWING CANADA—Every month—almost every week—bringings from the North some new evidence of the rising stature of Canada as an industrial nation. Latest is the decision of a leading car company to form a subsidiary to run its growing business in the Dominion.

It will operate five container-making factories and a machine shop. It expects the new form of organization to establish greater flexibility and efficiency in the company's Canadian operations.

OUTGUESSED CONTROLS—The Sugar Act of 1948 requires Department of Agriculture officials to guess each year's consumption, and allot that amount of sugar among producing areas. This year's guess was 8,200,000 tons.

Dealers say actual sugar use will be about that much. However, as it has become apparent that there would be plenty of sugar to go around, industrial users and wholesalers have stopped stocking and are selling the sugar they were keeping to offset a possible shortage.

So while the sugar is being eaten, it isn't being purchased—except by the housewife. That has depressed the price a third of a cent a pound at wholesale since July.

RHEUMATISM

There are many different kinds of Rheumatism named according to the parts affected. Rheumatism affecting the nerves is called Neuritis; affecting the joints, Arthritis; the muscles, Myalgia; the Sciatic nerve, Sciatica; the lumbar area of the back, Lumbago and so forth.

The cause of Rheumatism is pressure upon nerves weakening the nerve and tissue that they supply. These weakened tissues have an affinity for the acid in the blood stream which gives rise to the pain attending Rheumatism.

By removing the pressure upon the nerve by Chiropractic adjustments, health is restored.

What every telephone subscriber should know

Here's why telephone service must be repriced

1. Food, clothing, shelter—everything you buy costs much more today than just a few years ago. Why? When costs of production go up, products have to be repriced. Otherwise, nobody could stay in business.

2. The high cost of living hits us, too. Poles, cables, telephones, wages, rents—everything we buy has gone up in the same way. We, too, must reprice our product to take care of these increasing costs.

Our operating costs (including taxes) have almost TRIPLED in the last 7 years!

3. While the prices of most things you buy have doubled in the past 20 years, our operating costs (including taxes) have almost tripled in the past 7 years.

4. We're caught in a squeeze—a bad one—between continually rising costs and regulated income. Our earnings have declined to the point where good telephone service is threatened.

5. Unlike most other businesses, a telephone company cannot accumulate reserves out of which to build additional "plant"—that is, the telephones, poles, cable, switchboard, etc. That money must come from investors.

6. Investors have a wide choice of securities to invest in. To attract their capital we must offer a fair rate of return—one that compares favorably with other investments.

7. Without adequate earnings we cannot offer that fair rate of return to investors. The source of our expansion capital dries up. Service must be curtailed, improvements put off—expansion limited.

8. Neither you—nor we—can afford to let that happen. Good telephone service is too important to the continued progress of your community. But it can be provided only if our earnings are improved.

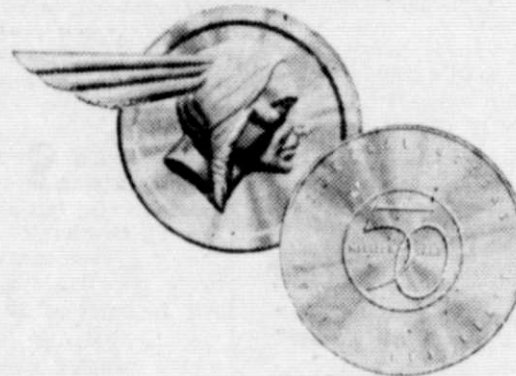

9. How much is needed? Only a few cents a day for the average telephone. We think you'll agree that's little enough to keep your telephone company financially healthy, able to grow with the community and provide telephone service that also grows in dependability and value.

Increase In Watch Tariff

President Eisenhower recently came to a decision that something must be done to halt the drop in employment in the U. S. watch-making industry, which has been continuing for several years. He decided something had to be done to preserve about one-fourth of the watch market for domestic producers, since the employment and training of skilled workers of this type is of value to the country in time of emergency.

The number of watchmakers now employed in the U. S. is estimated to be about 4,000, compared to about 8,000 in 1951. A recent report prepared for the President by several departments, including the Department of Defense, indicated a minimum of 6,000 watchmakers would be needed to manufacture essential civilian items and another thousand, or more, for military items in the event of an all-out war. The report said a minimum of 3,500 watch production workers would be needed as a base for expansion in time of national emergency.

This situation, then, was what confronted President Eisenhower and what influenced him to agree to a hike in the watch tariff. His order raising the tariff on certain imported watches and watch movements, up to fifty percent, followed as a logical consequence.

Although the President's action caused a wave of despair and resentment in Switzerland, and although it is sure to be attacked by many, there is much merit in the President's argument. We do not believe that completely in efficient U. S. industries should be subsidized to an extent where the American consumer must pay an outrageous price for a domestically-produced product, when he could get a product of equal quality for half the price, or less, from abroad.

On the other hand, we do not believe any critical American industry can be allowed to wither on the vine because it cannot keep pace with competition from some foreign country. In view of the fact that the President is attempting to maintain only about one-quarter of the American market for domestic producers, we think there is justification in his recent order.

Liza supported a shiftless, happy-go-lucky husband with a genius for avoiding regular employment.

"Liza," protested a friend, "how can you put up with such a lazy, good-for-nothing man?" "Well, I'll tell you ma'am," replied Liza, her eyes shining with a tender light, "it's like this, I make de livin' and he makes livin' worthwhile."

Protect Machinery Now For Winter; Saves Repairs Later

A good rust preventive and a little elbow grease on farm machinery now will save headaches and repair bills next spring.

Farm engines and similar power units need special attention. Farm machinery specialists advise draining the crankcase while the engine is hot, then refilling with clean oil. Replace the oil filter, and put fresh oil in the air cleaner after a thorough scrubbing.

Protect valves and cylinders by pouring a rust preventive liquid through the carburetor. If you don't have a good anti-rust compound, pour a tablespoon of regular engine oil through each spark plug opening and then crank the engine several times to coat all surfaces.

It's a good idea to drain the fuel tank, because gas may gum up strainers over winter. Also cover air intake and exhaust pipes to keep out rain and nests of birds and mice.

Unless you use anti-freeze, drain the cooling system. Don't overlook any drain cocks on the radiator and block; some models have a separate drain on the water pump.

Bearings freeze up easily on grain and fertilizer drills unless an extra special cleaning job is done on them. After thoroughly hosing down the drill and letting it dry, apply a water-soluble cutting oil, available from machine shops. This type of oil gives anti-rust protection on any surface not directly exposed to rain. And it's easily washed off in the spring when you need the equipment.

Here are other winter precautions, especially for machinery that has to be left out doors:

Block up so tires and metal parts are off the ground. Remove all grass and chaff. Grease roller and ball bearings, being careful not to blow grease seals. Spray or brush sheet metal surfaces and adjusting levers, latches, bolts, and nuts with a rust preventive compound (don't use grease—it's apt to wash off). Clean combine drapers or canvas and store in a mouse-proof place.

You can help yourself to safety by obeying traffic regulations without waiting for the speed cop to catch you.

How Long Will Your Fence Posts Stand?

University Institute of Agriculture finds aspen and cottonwood potentially the shortest lived posts, jack pine the most durable. Untreated, aspen and cottonwood, paper birch, and black ash, last about four years; cold soaked 48 hours in 5% penta solution, their useful life is prolonged to 10-12, 12-15, 15-18 years, respectively. Untreated, red oak endures 13 years, treated 18 to 20; white oak doesn't respond so wholeheartedly to penta treatment, which prolongs its life only 5 years, from 15 to 20. Jack pine, on the other hand, is the most responsive, leaping from 8 useful years untreated to 20 or more after treatment.

Jinks—Yes, except when I remember that a tack in the road wouldn't spoil a trip in those days.

Cashmere Wool

Cashmere wool is the soft winter underfleece of a small, semi-wild goat that ranges from the Caspian Sea to western China. Although it gave the wool its name, the Himalayan state of Kashmir itself has comparatively few of the goats. White cashmere is scarcest and most in demand. Gray and brownish gray are other natural shades. Each goat yields two to four ounces, compared to the 12-pound fleece of some sheep.

A cashmere sweater may represent the wool of six or more goats, while the yield of 30 might be required in an overcoat. The wool is never shorn, but plucked or combed out painstakingly by hand during the goat's spring molt.—National Geographic Society.

RASH RESCUE

OR THE MAD QUEST OF AN UNKNOWN FRIEND IN NEED, IN WHICH OUR HERO AND BELINDA ARE SWEPT WILLY-NILLY HAREM-SCAREM AND PELL-MELL INTO AN ADVENTURE THAT TURNS OUT HUNKY-DORY!

Before installing a ceiling in the basement recreation room it is a good idea to fix any floor squeaks, or loose rattling pipes. These will be difficult to get at after the ceiling is installed.

The strips should be at least 1" inch thick. They should be thicker if the pipes extend more than that distance below the floor joists.

Sometimes it is not possible to cover all of the pipes and still have enough head room.

In that case it will be necessary to leave them exposed, or have the pipes refitted so they are near a wall or partition where they may be boxed in.

The distance apart for the strips, center to center, will depend upon the kind of composition board you are using.

The strips should be located so it is possible to nail the ceiling board at the joints. This is usually 12" or 16".

It usually is possible to install a 1/4" threaded bronze ell on the side of the shut-off valve. A piece of bronze pipe then may be run so it will drain through the opening.

Install the cap which you removed from the side of the valve on the end of the pipe at the opening.

Good Foot Care Very Important

Your feet and your health are closely related. Therefore to enhance your appearance, and to have a feeling of well-being and comfort, consideration of good foot care is important. Protection and support of the feet while a person is in an upright position is necessary to lessen strain and prevent injury.

In order to develop strong feet that will carry you through life, you should start in infancy. As a baby grows and develops, so do his feet. When he starts to stand and walk his shoes should be flexible, but still give him needed support. As he becomes more active a firmer shoe is required.

As you grow older overweight can be an important factor in causing foot strain. Your muscles and ligaments are formed to take care of normal weight. When you go beyond that weight it can cause foot strain. The fit of your shoes is another important factor. Have your feet measured in a standing position, as your feet elongate and widen as your weight is put on them. A shoe one-half inch longer than your actual foot size when standing will give you the greatest comfort.

Socks and stockings should be as well-fitting as the shoes. A stocking that is either too long or too short can irritate the foot. They may either bind or bunch enough to cause pressure.

It is suggested that feet should be bathed daily as well as dried thoroughly. Feet that perspire excessively may be helped by a foot powder. Toenails should be trimmed straight across. This care is necessary to keep feet free from irritation or infection.

For those who spend much of the day on their feet, exercises may be helpful. Slip off the shoes, curl the toes, circle feet, bend ankles up and down. Try this occasionally during the day and see how it tends to improve foot comfort.

Your feet must take a lot of "wear and tear" during your lifetime. Give them proper care and they will serve you well.

In a river, bluegills generally prefer large, fairly deep pools.—Sports Afield.

An Athlete At Eighty-Five

Back in 1929, T. J. (Tom) Brown, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was given a pin by the Standard Oil Company for forty years of service. He had been an accountant with the company.

Brown was so proud of the pin he decided to show it to his daughter, who lived in Chicago, and so promptly walked out the Chicago highway. Since that time, Brown—now eighty-five years old—has been quite a walker and one of the world's oldest active bicycle race competitors.

Only this month, he finished fourteenth in an 18-man, 30-kilometer walking race, and recently he took part in a forty-two-mile marathon bicycle race in Canada.

While Brown is too old to win many of these races, he takes great pride in the fact that he has never come in last in any of them, either. We find great comfort in the Brown saga.

While most people, after working forty years as an accountant, would think that life was just about over, Brown has made a very interesting life for himself and competed in athletic events steadily since the day he completed forty years of service in 1929.

At eighty-five, he is still active and going strong, and recently, on a visit to New York, he bicycled uptown and downtown, and saw the sights on his bike. We do not know what the secret of Brown's success is, although he attributes it to the fact that he is a strict vegetarian.

The world needs more of his species, and we suggest to all those who have been working at one job for forty years or more, that they give serious consideration to the purchase of a bicycle, and to entering a few races now and then.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

The Pancake Sandwich For Informal Entertaining

Two light-as-a-feather golden-hued pancakes with a filling of well-browned fresh pork sausage meat, a topping of butter and maple syrup, to be relished with a savory bit such as spiced crabapples, apricots or figs—that's the Pancake Sandwich.

Once you've tried it, you'll find it so good and accommodating to serve for late Sunday breakfast or supper, lunches, snacks and informal entertaining any time. All you need is a beverage—milk, a hot chocolate milk drink, or coffee and cream.

A trick you'll like is to spread the lower pancake with a tart jelly after brushing well with melted butter. Another is to add fruit to the batter—a half cup of well-drained, crushed pineapple, fresh or frozen blueberries, chopped raw apple, thinly sliced bananas—any of which go well with the sausage filling.

When you plan to have batter cakes, don't serve anything else but butter, sausage or real crisp bacon and syrup.

Batter Cakes
4 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
4 tablespoons melted shortening
2 eggs beaten light
Sift flour with baking powder, sugar, and salt. Add milk and shortening to egg. Add flour mixture. Beat very thoroughly and if the batter isn't thin enough, add a little more milk. Bake on a hot griddle.

Cottage Cheese Cakes
1 1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 eggs well beaten
1 cup cottage cheese
Sift flour and salt together. Run cottage cheese through a sieve. Combine all ingredients and beat until well blended. Cook on hot griddle. Spread with any tart jelly, roll up and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Rice Cakes
1 cup milk
1 cup warm cooked rice
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup sugar
Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Beat eggs. Add milk which has been mixed with the rice and melted butter. Mix well and bake on a hot griddle. Spread with jam or jelly. They are delicious served with creamed chicken.

Corn Meal Cakes
2 cups boiling water
1 cup corn meal
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs well beaten
3 tablespoons bacon fat
1 cup flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
Pour boiling water over corn meal. Add sugar and salt. Let stand until cool. Add eggs and bacon fat. Sift flour and baking powder and add to the batter with the milk. Beat until smooth and bake on a hot griddle.

Buckwheat Cakes
1 pint milk
1-3 cup bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 package of yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 cup buckwheat flour
1 tablespoon molasses
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 cup lukewarm water
Dissolve yeast in cup lukewarm water. Dissolve soda in 1/4 cup lukewarm water.

Scald milk. Pour over bread crumbs and soak 30 minutes. Add salt, yeast and buckwheat flour. Add a little more flour if necessary, but keep batter thin enough to pour. Let rise overnight. Stir well, add molasses, soda. Beat well and bake on hot griddle. Be sure the batter is thin, add a little more warm water if needed.

Bread Crumb Cakes
1 1/2 cups bread crumbs
1 1/2 cups milk
2 eggs well beaten
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
Scald milk and soak crumbs in milk until soft. Add eggs and shortening. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Add to crumb mixture and beat well.

NUTS FOR YOU—Phyllis Mumby, 2, of Pomona, Calif., invites you to sample a plateful of what may someday be a major crop for southern California farmers. They're Macadamia nuts, edible fruit of Australia's Queensland nut tree. Extensive plantings of the trees are now being made, with an eye to a future bumper harvest of the hard-shelled nuts.

BIG BUZZNESS—Calvin Hudson, 7, is awed by this 295-pound, 6 1/2-foot rotary saw blade, one of two being shipped to French Indo-China by Sawmaker Frank White, of Atlanta, Ga. Only reason given for ordering the huge-size blades was, "They have big logs over here."

OUR DEMOCRACY by Mat

100 YEARS AGO, FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE LANDED AT SCUTARI TO MINISTER TO THE WOUNDED IN THE CRIMEAN WAR. MILLIONS OF MEN AND THEIR FAMILIES HERE AND THE WORLD OVER HAVE CAUSE TO HONOR HER, BECAUSE SHE DARED TO SET A PRECEDENT BY CARRYING NURSING SERVICE TO THE BATTLEFIELD.

THE SPIRIT OF DEDICATION AND OF SERVICE EXEMPLIFIED BY FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE IS A TRADITION OF NURSING IN PEACE AS IN WAR. IT IS A PROFESSION HIGHLY HONORED IN THE COMMUNITY. HERE IS AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR THOSE WHO SEEK SATISFACTION IN SERVING HUMANITY. THE NATION NEEDS ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND NURSES.

Strong ties bind Wisconsin farmers to the soil. A University of Wisconsin survey shows that only old age, illness, or a major personal or family crisis would make most farmers leave their farms.

Dairy specialists at the University of Wisconsin say it's time to winterize your dairy herd. This means increasing your feeding program, getting the barn ready, and culling the herd.

Let Statesman ads sell it for you.
