NEW DIRECTORS ELECTED AT 20TH ANNIVERSARY EVENT; WOOD HOSPITAL REGISTRAR IS SPEAKER

About 130 persons attended the annual dinner-meeting of the West Bend chapter of the American Red Cross held at St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran church in Kewaskum Monday evening.

Speaker A. A. Hozinski, registrar of the veterans' hospital at Wood, Wis. discussed "Qualifications for Veterans' Hospital Admission." He gave some inside information on veterans' hospitals.

At this 20th anniversary dinner special recognition was given to members who served on the board of directors when the chapter was organized in 1935. Before that time the chapter area included the entire county.

E. J. Altendorf, who served as treasurer of the chapter area for 30 years, from 1919 to 1949 (including 14 years with the present chapter area), received one of the certificates. Robert T. Rolfs, chairman of the 1955 fund drive, received a citation for services in grateful recognition of outstanding loyalty, patriotism and public spirit.

Clem Mayer of Jackson extended the invitation to hold next year's annual meeting in that village. Unanimously elected by voice vote to the board of directors for a term expiring in 1955 were: Roman Breit, village of Barton; Mrs. Edw. Fickler, village of Kewaskum; Mrs. Charles Weinreich, town of Farmington; Norbert Reetz, town of Jackson; Roger Bardwell, Mrs. Alan Kieckhafer and Marvin Husar, West Bend; Mrs. Walter Sprinkman, town of West Bend, and H. C. Bennalack, West Bend.

Entertainment was provided by a small orchestra from the VA hospital at Wood, under the direction of Arthur Marson. Introductions were made by Marvin Martin of Kewaskum.

A financial report was submitted and indicated that total available cash as of June 30, 1955 is $11,743.36. A statistical summary of Red Cross chapter activities during the past year was also given.

And last but not least, Charles "Chuck" Sparks, Kewaskum, chairman of the dinner meeting, was showered with praise for the fine dinner and program he arranged.

WALTER DEIS CELEBRATE TWENTY-FIFTH WEDDING

NO SERVICE AT POST OFFICE ON JULY 4TH

The post office will be closed on Monday, July 4th. Only one mail will be received and that is on Train 217 due here at 5:00 a. m. No mail will be dispatched. The lobby will remain open until 6:00 p. m. for the benefit of lock box patrons.

Another Refreshment Stand Erected in Park

Work has now been completed on the construction of another new permanent refreshment stand in the Kewaskum park. The stand, which is near the north end entrance to the park, will be put to use for the first time on the night of the fireworks display this Saturday, July 2. A week later, on July 9 and 10, it will be used again for the annual firemen-Legion picnic.

The new stand is 40 feet in length and 20 feet wide. The outer walls are constructed of concrete block and the bar top of the stand is removable. It has a six foot over-lapping roof all around the stand to protect customers from the hot sun and rain, although it is hoped it will never be needed for protection from the latter. A four foot concrete walk also surrounds the stand.

The park now has two very fine permanent refreshment stands which will improve facilities for taking care more customers at a time. In past years a small, temporary stand was put up where the new stand is now located and only bottled goods was sold in it.

So get your elbows in shape boys to try out on the new bar.

Still Time to Enroll in Swimming Classes

Following is the recreation program schedule for next week: Monday, July 4—No recreation, no swimming lessons.

Tuesday—Morning—Swimming lessons at West Bend; afternoon—1-3, Puddles practice; 3-5, softball for girls and handicraft and games.

Wednesday—Morning—Swimming lessons at West Bend; afternoon—1-3, Puddles practice and girls softball practice; 3-5 badminton, croquet, checkers, volleyball and other games for all.

Thursday—Morning—Swimming lessons at West Bend; afternoon—1-3, Puddles practice and girls softball practice; 3-5, volleyball and other games for girls.

Swimming lessons are well under way, however, you may still send your boy or girl and they will be entered in a class even though they have missed the first week. The instructors have asked Recreation Director Ernie Mitchell to mention the importance of regular attendance. Because of the large number of swimmers it is necessary to make two trips with the bus. In this case the smallest children go first at 9 and return first at 11:15. The larger children leave here at 9:30 and return at 11:50.

The afternoons are used for recreation at the high school.

WORKMAN INJURED IN FALL AT DAIRY PLANT

A workman employed on the construction of the new addition to the Heinemann Creameries, Inc. dairy plant in Kewaskum suffered injuries shortly after 1 p. m. on Thursday in a fall of about 12 to 15 feet.

The man was working on the second floor of the building when a shoring gave away and he plunged through an opening to the floor below. He sustained cuts and bruises and possible other injuries and was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, in the firemen's ambulance. Fortunately the ground floor of the building where the worker fell had not yet been cemented or his injuries might have been more serious.

The name of the workman was not taken by ambulance attendants but he is employed by a construction firm from another city.

Immunization Clinic in Village Attended by 195

A total of 1,427 children attended the immunization clinics held in Washington county at ten centers during March, April and May, 1955. These clinics were conducted by local physicians with the assistance of volunteer nurses and lay people. The biologicals used for this program are purchased through county funds.

A total of 1500 immunizations for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus were given; 140 children receiving protection for the first time. A total of 709 smallpox vaccinations were also given. Due to the fact that some of the first clinics were cancelled because of bad weather and other problems, some of the third shots have been given in the physician's office.

In the village of Kewaskum, 195 children attended the immunization clinic. A total of 214 injections for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus were given. Twenty children received protection for the first time. Eighty-two smallpox vaccinations were given.

Adeline A. Ketter, Route 1, Kewaskum, was among the 333 Wisconsin high school girls who attended the 12th annual Badger Girls' State on the University of Wisconsin campus June 21-25.

Attends Convention of Kiwanis International

President Edw. E. "Pat" Miller and wife Maye attended the 10th annual convention of Kiwanis International at Cleveland, Ohio, June 26-30. They joined more than 13,000 other Kiwanians and their wives at what promised to be the largest convention in the organization's history. The convention was held in Cleveland's Municipal Auditorium as the high spot in Kiwanis' 40th anniversary year. Today, there are well over 4000 Kiwanis clubs in the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Noted speakers addressed the convention. Wednesday morning, June 29 saw the high point of the five-day convention when the delegates elected the officers for the coming year. The new president of Kiwanis International, was selected at that time in addition to two vice-presidents, treasurer and six international trustees.

Wednesday evening the president's reception and ball were held in the Cleveland Municipal Auditorium. Band Leader Ted Lewis and a company of professional actors entertained at the ball.

Another feature of the huge convention was the Tuesday evening district dinners. Each of these was a miniature convention banquet in itself. They were held simultaneously throughout the Cleveland area.

Chevs Lace Mequon 18-3; Laced By West Bend 21-6

The Kewaskum Chevrolets split a pair of wide open, hard slugging Lakes ball games the past week. Last Thursday night under the lights here, the team buried the heavy hitting Mequon nine under an 18-3 score. It was the other way around as West Bend buried the Chevs there Sunday afternoon, 21-6.

Kewaskum produced its largest run total of the season in surprising Mequon by running up such a sizable score. Usually Mequon displays a lot of power at the plate but they were held well in check by John Tassar and "Hefty" Backhaus, who combined in twirling a seven hitter. The Chevs pounded out 16 hits off of four Mequon hurlers. Tassar fanned four and Backhaus four. Tassar also walked seven.

The Chevs scored in every inning but two as they powdered the ball freely. Mequon scored all of its runs in the very first frame and that was it. This gave the visitors a 3-0 lead going into the second inning. It looked bad then but what a change when the tilt ended. Bud Korth went wild with the bat and had a perfect night for himself. He lashed out four hits in four official times at bat, including a home run and triple. He walked the other two times and the opposing pitchers had good reason. Augie Bilgo, Floyd Dreher and Bob Staehler each added two hits to the collection, Bilgo's including a homer. Helm and Burczyk were the only two Mequon batters with two safeties.

Kewaskum should have saved some of its runs for Sunday when the ship sank at West Bend to the tune of 21-6. The hard-hitting Lithias pounded three Chev moundsmen for 18 bingles while Kewaskum was checked with nine by Roy Sauer, pitching his first game for West Bend.

Bob Kissinger and St. Jonsson led the 18-hit attack with four hits apiece. Augie Bilgo, who has been slugging the apple at a terrific pace, was the only swinger on the losing nine to collect two safeties.

Two big innings led the victory for the Lithias. The Chevrolets got off to a whirlwind start by pushing across four runs in the initial frame. But West Bend doubled the score by unleashing an eight-run splurge in their half of the same inning. They went wild again in the sixth inning with another big cluster of seven buttons to make it 17-6.

After a shaky start, Sauer gave up only five more hits and two runs after the first frame. He fanned eight batters and walked four. John Tassar started on the hill for the Chevs but didn't fool the Lithias at all. "Hefty" Backhaus and Killy Honeck followed him on the mound. Backhaus whiffed three and Honeck two, each gave up a like number of walks. Tassar struck out none and walked three. Two young pitchers formerly on the Chev's squad, Dave Mertzig and Fred Bruhn, are now gaining experience on the Rivers team.

"Worpy" Glombetti connected for a 355-foot homer over the fence for the winners. Bilgo's two hits gave him 11 in 22 times at bat for (CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE)

Local High School District Approves Budget of $109,000

SCHOOL BOARD ALSO ELECTED AT MEETING MONDAY ATTENDED BY 67 PERSONS

Meeting in the high school auditorium Monday evening, electors of the Kewaskum Community Union High School District No. 2 approved an operating budget for the 1955-56 school year of approximately $109,000. Residents of the area also favored a school district tax levy of $85,000.

The meeting was a short one, being devoted entirely to routine matters, and lasted just over an hour. A total of 67 electors from Washington and Fond du Lac counties attended the meeting.

Miss Paula Petri, town of Wayne, was elected to the school board for a term of three years. Leo Bingen, town of Auburn, was elected for two years to fill the vacancy created when Paul Landmann, Kewaskum, resigned this spring.

The three other members of the board are Melvin Riley, town of Farmington, president of the board, who presided as chairman at the meeting; Clifford Stautz, clerk and Henry Rosenheim, treasurer. Both are from Kewaskum. Clifford M. Rose, principal, also was present.

Minutes of the previous annual meeting were read. The auditor's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. It was carried that the 1955 annual meeting of the district be held on the last Monday in June at 8 p. m. Salaries of school board members were fixed at $200 per annum and other routine matters were settled.

Paul Landmann listed the members of the building committee, who are Nic Stoffel, chairman; Louis Oppenorth, Lee Flecker, Harry Oelhafen, Wm. Ruth and L. N. Peterson.

Electors of the district in June voted 443 to 258 to issue $450,000 in general obligation bonds to erect a new high school.

It was also voted Monday night to raise and appropriate a sum of about $18,000 for the purpose of the new high school building site and to get the building program underway.

The budget hearing and annual meeting of the Kewaskum consolidated grade school district, village and town of Kewaskum, will be held on Monday night, July 11, with the budget hearing at 7 p. m. preceding the annual meeting.

Minutes of Monday's meeting will be published in next week's issue.

Antibiotics Playing Important Role In Modern Medicines

Today nearly 50 per cent of all medical prescriptions are written for antibiotics, according to a bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical Association. Twelve years ago penicillin and the other antibiotics had never been heard of, yet already have saved more lives than all other remedies put together. That is the happy ending to act one of the story.

Unfortunately, in act two the villain appears. Shots of penicillin over a period of years sensitized allergic people so that later injections, even smaller ones, caused some patients to break out in giant hives, or rashes. A few even died. And penicillin began to lose its punch as staphylococcus germs built up a resistance to it.

Wonderful new antibiotics made their bow—streptomycin and terramycin cured infections resistant to penicillin. They did, at least, until the germs built up a resistance to them, too. Then even newer antibiotics, including chloromycetin, appeared on the scene. But was there to be a continuous tug of war between newer and better drugs against stronger and more resistant germs?

In the battle between the super drugs and the super germs, science has found what seems to be a victory for the drugs. . . a laboratory test that shows which antibiotic will be the most effective against the microbe threatening the patient. Combinations of antibiotics are proving to be more powerful than one used alone. Extremely large doses of penicillin can kill microbes where formerly small doses merely stopped their growth.

Another major note is that most major microbes, unlike the staphylococcus germ, do not develop resistance to penicillin. And penicillin has won new laurels in preventing diseases it cannot cure. . . such as rheumatic fever. At the final curtain, the new antibiotics, used with discrimination, are still one of medicine's greatest wonders.

Circus on the Road

Not long ago the "Greatest Show on Earth" opened another season in New York City's Madison Square Garden. There the famous Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus began its annual one-month stand.

From New York City the circus headed for Boston and then went under the tent, and will give approximately 500 performances in over 100 towns and in 35 states and the District of Columbia before once again heading back for sunny Sarasota, Florida, and winter quarters, in November.

To many younger adults today, the real spirit of the circus is unappreciated. This is true because they have come along in an age where movies, television and other modern-day miracles of entertainment have been available.

But to the oldtimer, who can remember when the circus' arrival in town meant the biggest show of the year, the circus has a special meaning. In those days there was no television of the World Series, no television of championship boxing matches, and no television of football games. Nor were there moving picture theaters.

Eventually, we suppose, the circus will become obsolete. To move the tremendous number of animals and equipment requires a special train, and costs of moving such rolling stock, trucks, wagons and tractors, in addition to all the people and animals, continue to mount. In future years the show will probably be televised, in color, instead. (Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey, for example, carry with them over 270 horses, among the many other animals.)

Many can remember with warm reflections the big day, long ago, when the circus came to town, and it is still a joy to modern day youngsters. We hope "civilization" is not yet ready to do without the "greatest show on earth."

Minnesota Wood

We all like to think of Minnesota as a state with beautiful trees and vast rich timberlands. Comes University "Forestry Notes" to disillusion loyal citizens with the statement that Minnesota manufacturers of wooden boxes, crates, and barrels import most of the wood they use! Low-priced Douglas fir from the west coast has driven Minnesota woods out of the barrel shooks market. More than half the wood used in boxes for which aspen and cottonwood are suitable, comes from outside the state. Almost all the veneer logs we use in fruit boxes, however, originates in the state. The possibility of small-scale Minnesota charcoal production is being explored. Thawing northern streams and lakes signal the start of a huge "log jam" en route to M&O Paper Mills—about 72,000 cords of spruce, poplar, and jack pine by four different water routes.

HITCH YOUR PICNIC TO A BOAT

Even dwellers in deserts and city apartments can do their picnicking by boat nowadays.

What has made this possible is the small-boat trailer, a post-war development which has brought the joys and relaxation of boating to previously land-locked families.

Even though they may live miles from water, families can now have their picnics in the peace, quiet and privacy of the waterways. They need merely to hitch the trailer-borne boat to the family car—and any waterway becomes "home waters."

Before World War II, there were only a few hundred trailers in use. Now some 100,000 are sold every year—about one for every five outboard motors sold. The "amphibious American" is a rapidly growing breed.

The apartment-dweller usually keeps his boat-and-trailer rig in a rented garage or in the garage of a suburban friend or relative. However, in some areas the commercial "boat garage" is becoming available. The "boat garage" operator will store your boat service it and have it ready for instant use when the urge to get out on the water for a picnic or "just plain boating" strikes you.

The Outboard Boating Club of America offers these trailering tips for smooth riding and protection of boat, motor and trailer:

For attaching the trailer to the automobile, a hitch that clamps onto the bumper will do for smaller boats. However, a hitch attached to the frame of the automobile is preferable, both for easy riding and safety reasons.

In installing the towing hitch to an automobile, make sure that it's at an elevation to permit trailer tongue to extend on a level plane. Use safety chains, extended from trailer tongue to the frame of the car, as a safety measure to prevent the possibility of serious damage should there be failure of the main hitch. Some state laws require safety chains.

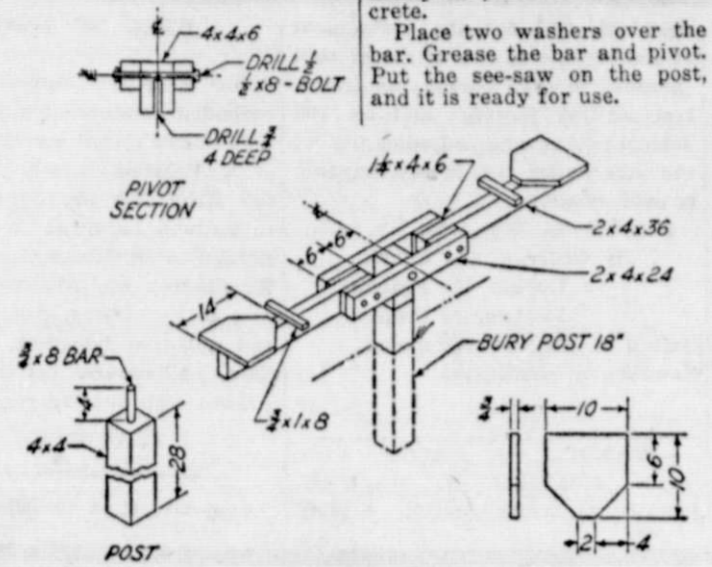

Before taking off on an "amphibious" excursion, always check the hitch coupler to see that it is tight and locked. Also check the tie-down equipment to be certain that its secure; a bouncing boat will almost surely become a damaged boat. On trailers for boats 16 feet or shorter, trailer wheels will track very close to the car wheels. Make just a slightly wider swing than normal when negotiating a sharp turn.

Remember, in passing other vehicles, that you have a trailer behind you; don't cut in sharply after passing. Drive slightly slower than normal to compensate for increased braking distance needed.

MAKE A SEE-SAW MERRY-GO-ROUND

A combination see-saw and merry-go-round is fun for small children.
To make the teeter-board, splice the 2 by 4's, as shown, using 1 1/4-inch stock as spreaders. As a safety measure, use only straight-grained, knot-free 2 by 4's. Draw up tightly with 8-inch bolts.
Make the pivot, as shown, place it in the teeter-board, and drill the bolt hole through all three pieces. Do not draw

Make a See-Saw Merry-go-Round
A combination see-saw merry-go-round provides hours of fun for small children. Mounted on a swivel-post this backyard toy is demountable for winter storage.

The teeter-board is made of two pieces of 2 by 4-inch lumber, 24 inches long, and two pieces 36 inches long, spliced together, using four pieces of 1 1/4 by 4-inch lumber, each 6 inches long, for spreaders. As a safety measure, straight grained, knot-free lumber should be used for all members of the teeter board. These are bolted together, as shown in the drawing, with four 1/2 by 8-inch bolts. Clamp the pieces together before boring the holes to make sure that the holes line up through the splice.

The pivot cap for the center post is a piece of 2 by 4-inch lumber, 6 inches long. Bore a 3/4-inch hole, 4 inches deep, in the lower end of the cap to accommodate the pivot bar. Then place the pivot cap in the exact center of the teeter-board frame, with the top of the cap coming flush with the upper edge of the frame. Fasten temporarily with finishing nails and bore a 1/2-inch hole through the frame and the cap. Remove the nails, and bolt the cap and frame together; do not draw up tight. A hole should be drilled through the end of the bolt for insertion of a cotter pin to keep the nut from working loose.

Seats and handles are made of lumber 3/4 inch thick, and are fastened to the teeter-board with No. 5 flathead wood screws, 1 3/4 inches long, countersunk.
The post is 4 by 4-inch lumber 28 inches long, and should be preservative-treated or of decay-resistant wood. Bore a hole 3/4 inch in diameter and 4 inches deep in the center of the top of the post, and drive a piece of 3/4-inch steel bar stock into the hole. The bar should be 8 inches long, so that 4 inches protrudes.

Round all rough edges with a rasp and sandpaper. Paint the completed teeter-board with a good outside paint.

Set the post 18 inches in the ground, first placing a flat rock or tamping smaller stone in the bottom of the hole to prevent settling. Tamp stones and earth around the post to secure it in an upright position. For permanent installation the post may be set in concrete.

Place two large washers with a 3/8 inch hole over the steel bar, grease the bar and washers, and set the see-saw on the post. The toy is now ready for action.

For winter storage, the see-saw lifts off the post, and the post may be pulled.

Your local lumber dealer should be consulted as to the best woods for this project.

Cleanliness Rule For Skin Disease

With children playing outdoors most every day now that warm weather has arrived, we can look for an increase in skin diseases among our youngsters. Sliding into "home" on a close play at the "plate," playing in the sand pile, or picking up cuts and scratches on that "camping expedition," children seem to find countless ways of acquiring skin infections of one type or another.

One of the most common skin diseases is impetigo. Caused by germs which are found on the skin, the trouble starts when these germs get into the skin through scratches or cuts, or from openings made by "picking" the skin with dirty fingernails.

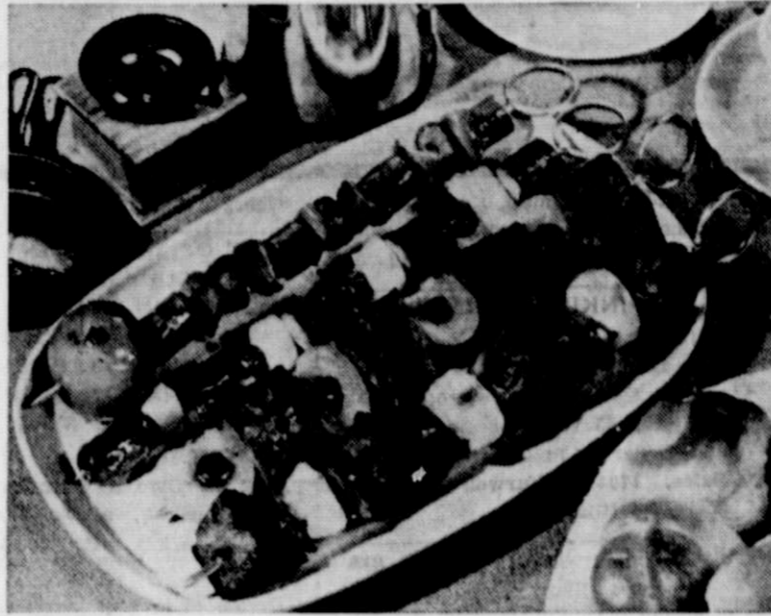

At the spot where the infection starts, yellowish, watery-looking material forms, quickly dries, and a crust which may pile up in thick layers usually develops. It's this fluid that contains the germs and spreads impetigo. It can be carried under the fingernails, and on towels by direct contact to other people or to parts of the same person. The infection starts when this fluid gets on skin that has tiny, invisible scratches or bruises. It spreads rapidly from person to person when direct contact with an infected individual occurs.

If your child should get impetigo, don't let him mix with other children. Cut his fingernails short so that he won't spread the disease to other parts of his body by scratching. Keep his fingernails clean; don't let him cuddle his pet dog or cat; and change his pillowcase daily. Keep his towels separate from those of the rest of the family and boil them after they are used. All cases should be referred to a physician since special treatment is demanded for cure.

Impetigo and filth are closely associated. Thus to avoid and clear up this disease, cleanliness is the rule.

HEARTY PICNIC FARE

By now we all know there's no bigger appetite that one created by a delightful summer's day out of doors... sound reason for you to plan on plenty when you think of food for that next picnic of yours.

Leftovers are especially unlikely if you plan your menu around sausage-ka-bobs, a popular and hearty outdoor version of those wonderful easy-to-prepare entrees cooked on skewers. Serving these appetizing and temptingly aromatic sausage-ka-bobs is no chore at all whether you have your picnic in your own backyard or at your favorite away-from-home picnic site. Just keep your plans simple and do your shopping and preparatory work well in advance... good advice for any successful get-together.

Sausage Kabobs

Here's how to go about it: First, assemble your ingredients and compile your sausage-ka-bobs to make them pleasing to the eye as well as the palate. For the meat part skinless frankfurters are excellent, or try bologna, ham sausage, or cooked salami. Buy the larger varieties of sausage unliced and cut them into one-inch slices and then into cubes or wedges. Skinless frankfurters have to be quartered crosswise.
Fill fresh mushrooms with liver or braunschweiger sausage or alternate cubes of sausage with the mushrooms.

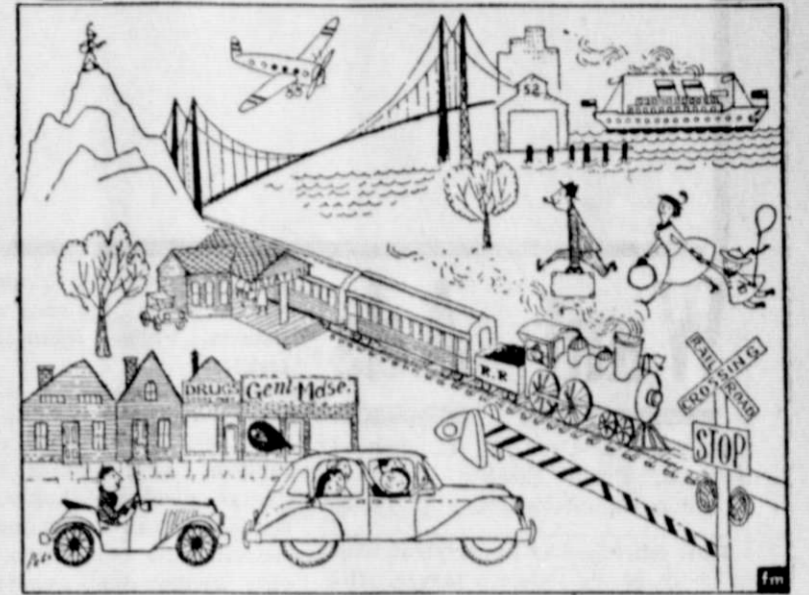

For alternating pieces between the bits of sausage choose several of the following colorful and delicious fruits: canned peach or apricot halves, red cherries, spiced crabapples or pineapple wedges. To add a spicy tang try adding pitted ripe or stuffed olives, pickled onions, slices of pickles, or green pepper wedges. Small whole, canned onions or potatoes or carrot or sweet potato chunks will delight the more hearty eater. Small whole tomatoes may be added at the end of the skewer.

Use Bacon

Bacon strips may be cut in squares and placed between the other foods or left long and threaded zig-zag fashion throughout the length of the kabob.
Rub each skewer with oil or fat before using to insure easy removal after cooking and some should be provided for brushing the food on the skewer before and during the broiling period.

With the main part of the menu all set, the rest is a snap. Keep the coffee server hot or the lemonade cold, as the case may be. In addition to pre-buttered tasty bread or rolls, an attractive dish of garnishes would be most welcome... try carrot and celery curls and radishes. With a bowl of the family's favorite potato salad and with a sweet or fruit for dessert, your picnic feast is complete.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Vacation Tips

Vacation time can be fun time—if you make the proper preparations before you take your vacation trip.

If you are one of the 28,000,000 persons who will be taking a vacation trip during the next six months, it is likely that you will take the family car and will clock some 1,000 miles on it before you are through.

There will be sun-burned backs, upset stomachs, and car-sick kiddies and adults galore before the summer is over.

You can insure a happy vacation by following a simple check list of MUSTS.

1. Check your dentist. A toothache far from home can be catastrophic.
2. Check your doctor. Bonamine, the motion sickness drug, will keep car or air sickness from shattering your vacation. Clinical tests have shown that a daily dose of the drug will provide 24-hour protection against motion sickness. This drug is now available in a convenient mint-flavored, chewing-gum tablet.

Ask your doctor to prescribe a diarrhea remedy for you—just in case. Have him give you a thorough physical check-up.

3. Travel light. Carry the minimum, but enough to give you complete comfort and weather protection.

4. Name-tag all your luggage. Paste your name and address on each piece of baggage.

5. If you are going abroad, check health regulations of the countries you plan to visit.

6. Visit your neighborhood drug store and stock up on shaving cream, cosmetics, toiletries, razor blades, film, sun glasses, talcum powder, a fungicidal powder for athlete's foot, mineral oil or milk of magnesia, sunburn lotion, a poison ivy remedy and adhesive bandages.

Unflavored gelatin may be used in every course of the meal, from artistic appetizers to delicious desserts. There are three rules to remember in gelatin cookery. First, soften the unflavored gelatin in cold liquid. Second, dissolve thoroughly in hot liquid or over hot water. Third, season or flavor and add the solid ingredients you fancy.

Jellied Chicken Tomato Soup
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups tomato juice
2 cups chicken stock
2 slices of lemon

SAVE FOR A RAINY DAY—You'll have to, if you want to wear either of these rainy-day fashions. Completely lined in wild mink, the coat at left is woven of wool from the Andean vicuña, has a generous collar that doubles as a hood on cold, blustery days. At right, New Yorkers are also being treated to a glittering view of this 24-carat gold-sprayed fitted jersey, which features a full-circle skirt.

JUTE SUIT—There's something in those burlap bags beside oats, fashion designers have discovered. Sport jacket, at right, and cocktail dress are both woven of jute, the plant fiber from which burlap is made. Recently modeled at the Pakistan Embassy in Washington, D.C., from American and Canadian designs, the creations are Pakistan's bid for a new outlet for jute, of which she produces 75 per cent of the world's supply. At least one American textile firm is now turning out burlap of clothing quality.

FIVE WORDS TO THE WISE

Five words to the wise are "Take Chiropractic spinal adjustments first." When Chiropractic first became known it was only tried after everything else had failed. In sixty-one years it has built up a marvelous record of results with diseases pronounced incurable.

No health method ever had a tougher assignment; and that Chiropractic succeeded is the finest tribute in the world to its sound scientific basis as a means of restoring the conditions of health. It is beyond the trial stage.

Chiropractic is not only successful with various kinds of pains and aches, but this unique method of health has proved to be supremely successful in dealing with the so-called internal disorders of the stomach, intestine, liver, respiratory system and circulatory system.

TEACUP TOPICS

The most striking trends of the spring 1955 glove fashion stress simplicity and elegance combined with good taste, says Betty Ann. Leathers are pastel hues, such as old pink, water green and soft blue; also various shades of yellow and beige are featured. Naturally, white is very important. Bright blue, some brown and, of course, black still are in fashion. Fashion notes call for tailored suits, with three-quarter sleeves, as well as many sleeveless styles for dresses, and this has opened a tendency toward longer gloves. However, short gloves are worn for sport and also are seen generally in the afternoon, along the boulevards.

For cocktail and evening wear, jewel trimmed leathers are again featured; also there is a slight leaning toward contrast colors in longer gloves.

Washable doeskin, kidskin and tanned glaces are important leathers.

At leading glove departments in Paris, there are simple gloves, with many classic silpions.

Displays are made up of gloves with pearl and rhinestone trim for evening wear, as well as light, ly embroidered, perforated and fagoted shorties to be worn in the morning and afternoon. Many styles in shorties are shown with plain backs.

There is a great demand for fabric gloves, either plain classic or printed. These always bring a note of freshness in a collection. Especially popular are the short gloves in light colors, showing little designs on the cotton fabric.

The long torso line is the key silhouette. The overblouse emphasizes the long look. It extends to the middle of the hip. Pleated skirts are the fashion news this season. Knife pleats, box pleats and pleats that fall into loose folds are all good fashion.

Shoulders appear to be less sloping, due to new set-in sleeves. The costume dress with its own jacket comes to the forefront in fashion. Dresses emphasize the long bodied look.

In sportswear, shorts with midly blouses are newly popular. The casual shirtwaist dress remains in favor, looking newer in print fabrics.

The feminine touch means contrast of fabric and idea, this year. Not the least of it is the shirtwaist dress in purest silk.

Lemon Cream Puffs

1/2 cup water; 1/4 cup butter; 1/2 cup flour; 1/8 teaspoon salt; 2 eggs.

Heat the water and add butter. Bring to boiling point. Add, all at once, the sifted flour and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until batter leaves sides of pan and forms a ball. Remove from fire. Beat in, one at a time, the eggs. Be careful to beat each egg until well blended before adding the other. Place spoonfuls of batter in two inch rounds on greased tin, heaping them well in the center. Allow two inches between puffs. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, for one-half hour. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake five minutes longer. When puffs are cool, cut a slash in the side of each puff and fill with lemonade filling. Dust tops of puffs with powdered sugar. Makes six cream puffs.

Lemonade Filling

1 6-ounce can frozen concentrate for lemonade; water to make 1 1/2 cups liquid; 1/2 cup sugar; 2 tablespoons cornstarch; 2 tablespoons flour; 2 egg yolks; 2 tablespoons butter.

Add water to concentrate for lemonade to make one and one-half cups liquid. Combine sugar, cornstarch, flour and lemonade. Cook over direct moderate heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Boil one minute. Remove from heat. Beat a little of this mixture with the slightly beaten egg yolks. Beat into remaining hot mixture. Return to heat and cook one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add butter. Cool. Then fill cooled cream puffs.

Do keep an overall color scheme in mind in selecting shower gifts and don't hesitate to talk this over with the bride. After all most showers are not entirely a surprise.

Was paper wrapped round a refrigerator tray of ice cream as soon as the cream is frozen will help prevent ice crystals from forming on top. The temperature control should be lowered a bit when the freezing is finished too.

There's no need to bake a rice ring in an oven. Simply pack hot drained cooked rice into a buttered ring mold and turn out on your serving plate.

ANGEL SURPRISE CAKE

It's fun to make, and definitely a pleasant surprise to eat, this Angel Surprise Cake, which can be cut into 14 servings for a big group. Top a 10-inch tube angel food cake by removing a 3/4 inch slice, horizontally, scoop it out and fill with a delectable mixture of strawberry-flavored gelatin and cream, then replace the cake top and chill for 6 hours. Before serving, spread the cake with a gay, whipped cream topping.

ANGEL SURPRISE CAKE

- 1 baked 10-inch tube angel food cake
- 1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup cream, whipped
- 1 cup heavy cream

- 3 tablespoons sugar
- Dash of salt
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Cut a 3/4-inch horizontal slice from the top of the cake. Carefully remove center of cake, leaving a 1/2-inch shell. Place cake on serving plate.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Place in bowl of ice and water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Turn into cake shell and cover with the top slice of cake. Wrap in waxed paper and chill 6 to 8 hours or overnight.

Before serving cake, combine cream, sugar, salt, and vanilla. Whip until light and fluffy. Spread over top and sides of cake. Serve at once. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

Health & Beauty

It shouldn't be hard for you to lose weight. In most cases overweight results from just plain overeating. When you consume more calories than your body needs to operate, the excess calories are stored in your body in the form of fat. If you cut down on the amount of food you eat, your body will draw on some of its stored fat and the result will be a weight loss.

It is not always as easy to lose weight as it seems it should be. Reducing, we have learned recently, is an emotional and social problem. It is emotional because in the first place, you must forego foods that give you deep satisfaction. The social problem develops when you must be around family and friends who are eating a lot more than you do.

The first and most important step you must take when approaching the problem of overweight is make sure you really want to lose weight. Many people who diet unsuccessfully don't really care if they bulge at the seams. They don't worry that statistics warn that overweight makes a person more liable to diseases that shorten their lives. The people really prefer eating anything they want and lots of it. It makes up for the boredom and dissatisfaction of their lives.

A medical checkup before you start dieting is a good idea. You may be the rare person whose overweight is caused by an organic problem. Also, you may be one of those people whose body tissues have an above-average tendency to retain water.

No matter what kind of diet you choose, don't fail to get the required amounts of the "basic seven" foods. They are: one pint of milk; one tablespoon of butter; one egg; three slices of whole wheat, rye or enriched white bread, one serving (four ounces) of meat, fish, or poultry, one serving (half a cup) of green-leaf or yellow vegetables; servings of two other vegetables; one citrus fruit or tomato; and one other fruit.

Getting Her Goat

Mr. Sass—But, darling you've been talking for half an hour, and I haven't said a word.

Mrs. Sass—No, you haven't said anything—but you've been listening in a most aggravating manner, and I'm not going to stand for it.

In Fashion Now

This is the season of many shades of blue, probably the most popular of all colors, as well as the most universally flattering. Brilliant blues, strong and intense, make complete ensembles. Subtle dark blues, lighter than the navy, and richness of woollens and crisp silks. Pale blues, flecked with white, have the sparkling effect of water colors.

Big, bold sleeves are another fashion note. Big white organdy butterfly sleeves trimmed with satin bows for more interest are very good on the tall, slim girl. Big long sleeves, full at the wrists with a jeweled cuff or cuff links are seen in popular evening shirts. Some of these evening shirts come with matching skirts of soft pleats.

Bib balloon sleeves are used to dramatize the old favorite slim sheath dress. Again this design is best for the tall, slim girl.

Precisely pleated and tucked clothes are adapted to more sophisticated lines than last spring and summer when the baby dress was the thing. This new line is much more becoming to grown-ups.

Though the baby dress is a thing of the past (thank goodness), there is a new interest in the demurely festive type clothes. Innocent round necklines edged with tiny ball fringe or lace are becoming to most of us.

The modest bolero with a Puritan collar is smart covering for a scooped neckline sheath of silk shantung or linen to be worn spring and summer.

Man's "Chewing" Habit Is Widespread & Centuries Old

Modern man perpetuates an old habit: he likes to chew tasty concoctions that he has no intention of swallowing.

Psychologists offer various theories for man's widespread delight in a quid. The practical explanation is that chewing is simply an easy way to relax or reduce tension—like whistling or doodling.

Gum-chewing, a habit that some persons enjoy and others deplore, is considered as modernly American as big league baseball. But many ancient peoples chewed sticky substances, the National Geographic Society says. Archeologists have found hardened gum among cavemen's relics in the American Southwest.

When Spanish conquerors splashed onto New World shores, they found the Aztecs chewing chicla, presumably to steady their nerves. The word chicla, applied specifically to the latex of the sapodilla tree, is an Aztec term for saliva or juice.

Elsewhere in newly discovered America, Europeans came upon Indians chewing tobacco leaves. The plant was taken back to the Old World and cultivated at first for medicinal uses. At one time, the pungent leaves were considered a "chewer's panacea" for common cold, toothache, rheumatism, indigestion, blood poisoning and hydrophobia.

In New England, Indians introduced early settlers to the resins of spruce, cherry and sweet gum trees. Gum-collecting flourished as a business.

According to legend, an exiled Mexican general brought chicla

About Your Home

The tableware for a home should blend with the home furnishings. Blending your tableware with your decorating theme—period or modern—will be a simple matter. There is plenty of handsome American glassware that will fit the mode of any style of furnishings as well as even the most modest budget.

When choosing your glassware, it is wise to select a hand-wrought pattern, and do not shy away from color. Color may best suit the motif of the room and can bring variety and distinction to a home.

Look at glassware very closely before making a purchase. Clear crystal should be clear as a fine diamond with no yellowish or muddy casts. Colored crystal should be rich in color and sparkling clear.

Another test of good crystal is to tap the edge of a goblet with your finger nail. If the rings are bell-like, the glass contains lead and potash, which give strength and permanent brilliancy to fine glassware. Lime glass has very little or no ring at all.

Electric dishwashers are good for washing glassware. When washing crystal in a sink or dishpan, always wash the crystal before doing the rest of the dishes. A couple of drops of bluing added to the water will add luster to the glass. Crystal decorated with gold should never be washed with scalding water or strong soap.

Dry glassware as soon as possible after rinsing with a dry absorbent towel made of some lint-free material.

In handling glassware, don't let the edges bump or strike anything. This will cause nicks. After a piece of crystal has become nicked, it may as well be thrown away. However, if the nick is very tiny, it can sometimes be sanded away with a piece of 00 emery paper.

Bible Comment:

Jesus Offered New Values for Old Concepts

ONE cannot read far into the New Testament without realizing the great extent to which Jesus challenged many of the attitudes toward living which now, as then, prevail.

Ambition, the desire to get ahead of others, the lust for power; all these motives that so strongly influence men were present even among the Twelve Apostles.

The rich farmer, whom Jesus described in a parable, was a typically successful man. He did what almost every successful man would do; planned for bigger things, planned to pull down his barns and build larger ones, planned to enjoy the fruits of all that he had built up.

But Jesus challenged such a conception of success. For one thing, he pointed out its false economy. The man had left out the most important thing of all, his own life. But he had also left out the more important spiritual factor—he hadn't been rich toward God. And such men are legion.

It should be noted that the challenges of Jesus to what might be called dominant worldly attitudes and ways are not negative. Over against these, Jesus sets positive, constructive conceptions of a more abundant life.

What Jesus' teachings emphasize is a set of different values. How great these values are, and how thoroughly the challenges of Jesus are vindicated, can be seen in the lives of those who have been conspicuous in giving, in contrast with those whose chief aim has been getting.

It is indeed more blessed to give than to receive.

Suspense

Old Lady (to parachutist) — "I really don't know how you can hang from that silk thing. The suspense must be terrible."

Parachutist — "No, mum; it's when the suspense ain't there that it's terrible."

the Snapshot Guild

Even if your connection with the flowers that bloom in the spring is limited to painting the flower pot, there's good snapshot material.

Picture Your Gardening

Do you remember the words of the good old Gilbert and Sullivan song, "And the flowers that bloom in the spring—tra-la—have nothing to do with the case"? Well, right now, we don't agree! We think that the flowers that bloom in the spring have a great deal to do with the case—especially when the case in question is taking pictures.

Here we are in the merry month of May and most of us are armed with spade and trowel—up to the very elbows in seeds and sun-warmed earth. And whether those efforts are directed toward a man-sized vegetable garden designed to feed the family, or merely a two-foot-square bed of flowers, or even a miniature herb garden, you gardeners should plan on keeping a picture record of your activities this year.

The day you break ground and plant the first seed is the day for your first snapshot. From then on, if you take pictures regularly right through the summer, you'll have an accurate "eye-witness" story of how your garden grew week by week. No one can deny the results of your spring labors when you show the pictures in hand to show the mammoth size of your peonies or the ample girth of those prize tomatoes of yours!

It's always a good idea to put people in some of your gardening pictures, too. But don't have them as the focal point of your picture or else the garden will serve only as incidental background. Let them be part of your picture—not just posed but busy weeding, cutting, planting, showing interest in the garden, or calling attention to specific flowers or plants.

—John Van Guilder

WHERE'S THE ENGINEER AND HIS SIX FIREMEN?—Fifteen (count 'em—15) conductors and brakemen wait for the engine and the rest of the 22-man crew before making a run for the roundhouse at Northampton, Pa., on the seven-mile Northampton and Bass Railroad. Perhaps the most liberally staffed train in history, train crew was made up of 22 high school seniors who spent an entire day functioning in train operation and maintenance positions. Event was cosponsored by the railroad, Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference and Northampton high school officials.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

When a man's fly or plug casting is consistently bad, there's a good chance that the trouble lies not with the tackle but with himself—that he hasn't learned the proper technique of casting. But spinning is so intrinsically simple that if after your first couple of hours at it you're still having trouble, it must be the fault of wrong tackle, not of anything you're doing.

The unfortunate fact is that there are on the market some spinning reels, and some rod-and-reel combinations, of erroneous design. Fortunately, it is a simple matter to avoid buying a misbegotten cross between a spinning & casting reel. Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sport Afield, points out that with a properly designed spinning reel the spool does not revolve in retrieving; there is a device to wrap the line back around the spool in the exact opposite of how it came off, so when the line is all back on it's as straight and untwisted as before you cast. You just make sure, when selecting a spinning reel, that some pickup gadget is wrapping the line back on and that the spool does not revolve.

In spinning reels Lucas prefers manual pickup to automatic. He thinks one with manual pickup is much simpler and more pleasant to use after you get used to it.

As for rods, most who are experienced with this type of fishing seem to prefer the seven-foot length, although many advocate shorter ones. The rod must be flexible enough to bend well in casting lures from one eighth to one quarter ounce. Bamboo and hollow glass rods work equally well for spinning. Solid glass rods are fine in lengths up to around six feet, but in longer lengths they tend to become top heavy and slow in action.

Some experts maintain that it's a trifle easier to learn spinning with braided line, but practically all that I know now use monofilament. For really good casting fresh-water spinning lures, one shouldn't use line over four-pound test. But when it's necessary to hold larger fish from dense weeds, snags and boulders, a six-pound test works quite well, and an eight-pound can be used. Anything heavier is just begging for short, difficult casts, snarls and other troubles.

One more important point—proper adjustment of the drag. Set the drag when you have line way out in the water and are retrieving. This way you allow both for guide friction and for a small diameter of line on the spool. Set the drag at what you consider safely below the test of the line. You can get a good idea of what that is by first breaking a piece from the end with your hands.

PLANE KILLS MAN IN YARD

College Park, Md. — Andrew C. Slemp, Jr., 47-year-old airplane mechanic, was mangled to death in his own back yard when the plane he was working on apparently jumped the chocks beneath its wheels and Slemp was caught in the propeller. After knocking Slemp down, the plane, minus its wings, continued forward until it rammed into the inside rear wall of the garage. Mrs. Slemp, hearing the crash, investigated and found her husband and ran for help. Slemp was pronounced dead by a medical examiner.

"SWAPS" POSITION—"Swaps," who was ridden to victory by jockey Willie Shoemaker in the eighty-first Kentucky Derby, takes it easy as he heads for his California home aboard a de luxe "Horse Express" railway car. Swaps is only the second California-foaled winner in the history of the Run for the Roses. He shares the distinction with Morvich, top horse in 1922.

Jefferson and Our American Heritage

Thomas Jefferson, whose birthday anniversary recently was observed, made several magnificent contributions to our American heritage. We have earlier taken note of Jefferson's birthday anniversary and mentioned his authorship of the Declaration of Independence and his founding of the University of Virginia.

In Jefferson's time, though, there was one other accomplishment of his life which ranked with these two. That was his success in separating Church and State in 1777. Jefferson first began this battle in May, 1776. When the Virginia Convention of Delegates met in Williamsburg, he urged passage of a bill providing for full freedom of conscience and the full separation of Church and State. The effort failed at that time.

The Anglican Church, which had been firmly established in the colony, had much influence and deep roots in Virginia and the effort was not an easy one. However, after Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence, he returned to Williamsburg and again sponsored a bill which would have separated Church and State. Again his effort failed.

In 1777, the effort finally succeeded, and Jefferson's bill ending public support of the Anglican Church was passed. Shortly afterwards, Thomas Jefferson drafted what is perhaps one of the most important documents ever written in the United States—the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom.

This Statute was not enacted until 1786, but when it was, it marked a milestone in the progress toward the separation of the State from any one Church and, in Madison's words, "it extinguished forever the ambitious hope of making laws for human minds in the United States." That Statute is ranked with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution by many historians.

It has since been a beacon for those in this country, and in other countries, and the results achieved under our system in the past 170 years have commanded the attention and respect of liberty-loving people everywhere.

Factual News About The Eyes

CARRIER PIGEONS HAVE SOME VISUAL TRICKS

What makes a homing pigeon home? That's a debatable question, says the Better Vision Institute. Some fanciers believe homing or carrier pigeons merely follow an instinctive urge. Others think the sun plays an important part in guiding their flight. Still others say the birds are guided by a sense of smell.

Whatever the answer is, there's no doubt that the homing pigeon possesses a memory sense plus exceptional vision, declares the Institute. His eye has extreme mobility in every direction, by virtue of six muscles. It also has an extra eyelid—a sort of transparent "blinker" which closes in flight to protect the eyeball against dust and wind and injury. Thus the pigeon actually wears spectacles provided by nature. And a special focusing muscle, which controls dilation and contraction of the pupil, enables him to adjust his eye to long or short distance.

Homing pigeons have been used since long before the birth of Christ. The ancient Egyptians took them on sea voyages and sent back messages warning of hostile vessels. In wartime, the Romans harnessed them to their chariots and released them to summon relief legions. Soon the leading banking firms of Paris, London and Brussels set up pigeon communication from all strategic centers of Europe. In recent years, New York police found out that carrier pigeons were a great help to the Harlem numbers racket.

These courageous birds were among the heroes of World War II. British planes dropped them in cages, by parachute, over the occupied countries of Europe.

Pigeons were taken along in bombers, to be called upon if radio equipment got lost or destroyed. Pigeons often brought rescue ships to pilots shot down in the Channel and off Norway.

THE OLD TIMER

"You may not know all the answers—but you probably won't be asked all the questions!"

LONG STORY—Sixty inches and 52 pounds of sturgeon will be a conversation piece for many winter evenings to come for Gary Booth, left, and Edwin Heidtke, of Wisconsin Dells, Wis. The 15-year-old Explorer Scouts now can add an authentic fish story to their other lore; have already come up with one about the "one that got away"—a Jonah that towed their boat along the Wisconsin River for 20 minutes before breaking a 40-pound test line.

India To Save Its Vanishing Game

Some of India's animals that charmed Rudyard Kipling and still enchant a world of readers are vanishing.

The hunting leopard or cheetah, the black buck, gazelle and one-horned rhinoceros now join other fauna in a gradual disappearance from the storied Indian landscape, the National Geographic Society says.

India, for centuries a wildlife paradise, has long felt inscapable natural forces marshaling against many of its animals and birds. An authority some 30 years ago noted how the fast growing population was driving back the protective jungle and how the disease and overhunting were taking a heavy toll.

Stricter Conservation Suggested

The Indian Board for Wildlife recently considered means to prevent extinction of many picturesque species. In particular, opposition is increasing to profit-making safari clubs that recruit outsiders for big-game hunting. Recommendations were for a ban on killing the malabar squirrel, Himalayan beardless wild cat, hunting leopard and the great Indian bustard, a large game bird. Protection has been asked also for the horned antelope, gazelle and black buck.

Game depletion in south India was attributed more to wandering tribes of hunters and trappers than to foreign hunters. An aim now is to keep travelers interested in India as an alluring hunting ground but to restrict shooting.

Spectacular Vanishing Varieties

Appearance, habit and temper contrast sharply in the wildlife India strives to protect.

One of the most eye-catching animals is the spiral horned black buck, banished by the herd's leader when its coloring turns black.

Prehistoric in appearance and of nocturnal habits, the Indian one-horned rhinoceros is reputedly the world's largest. It may live 50 years. Heavy-eyed and seemingly lazy, it will charge an elephant or tiger on provocation. Less combative animals sometimes congregate about the rhinoceros for protection against tigers.

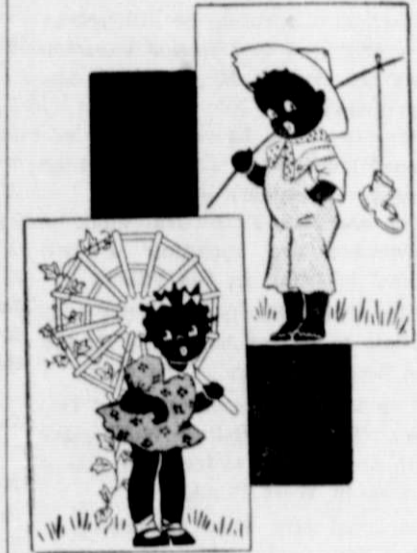

The spotted and long-tailed cheetah is considered the swiftest beast on a short course. It was used by Indians and Persians for centuries against antelopes. Its projectile-like speed was unloosed on the quarry generally at a distance of 200 yards.

The male of the great Indian bustard weighs up to 32 pounds and presents an 8-foot wing spread. In courtship, the bird's head bends back, almost touching the uplifted tail. It is capable of powerful, sustained flight and is renowned for its wariness.

"Limonite"

Perhaps few Minnesotans realize that the state's iron ore is not confined to the so-called Iron Range area in northeastern Minnesota. A few feet below the rich, green, gently rolling pastures of Fillmore county and adjacent areas nestle layers of yellowish "limonite" ore from a just a film up to 2 feet thick or a little more; above are from one to 36 inches on sand, gravel, and bluish clay, below thick layers of buff colored limestone. First carload of this ore was shipped during the wartime scarcity in 1941. Output now varies from 100,000 to 500,000 tons a year, of a quality classed as "high phosphorous non-bessemer," somewhat short of that of the Range ores.

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

Such a promotional barrage as they have never faced before may be in store for the nation's customers this summer. Selling campaigns for a variety of products will take on new vigor in the coming hot months.

What has happened is that merchants have found that changing ways of life keep most people close to home nearly all the summer. The customary summer slump in sales, they find, exists just because no one asks the prospect to buy. Advertising has usually fallen off about 15 per cent between July 4 and Labor Day.

Of course, the outdoor market—do-it-yourself, leisure living, boating and other sports gear—has its big season in summer, as do photograph supply dealers and radio stores. The newly aggressive sellers will stress furniture, apparel, toys and even groceries especially suited to warm-weather dining.

The whole idea got its chief impetus last year from New York's Summer Festival. Events to draw visitors were promoted, and merchants decided to advertise to catch the guests' eyes. Sales went up while other regions' sales fell off. This year the idea is spreading.

GOING DOWN AGAIN — In marked contrast to the furor aroused when coffee prices made new highs some time ago is the quiet surrounding their retreat to the lowest levels in five years.

One of the nation's leading coffee retailers, reduced its three brands by four cents a pound across the nation as last week began.

Coffee-producing countries' delegates met recently in New York to consider their problem. It was to prepare for this gathering, some observers believe, that Brazil recently took its peg from under the price of green coffee. Smaller producers had refused to withhold stocks, as Brazilian officials had suggested, to stabilize the price. This had left the Brazilians holding the bag—or rather several million bags—and Rio de Janeiro quickly folded its umbrella.

THINGS TO COME — You can get an umbrella for the front of your automobile so you won't have to keep the wipers going at the drive-in theater when it rains. Travel soap, a new product, is so-called because it's equally kind to clothes and to faces. A knockdown soundproof office can be set up in noisy working areas for supervisors and control personnel. Steel garages, to be erected with hammer and wrench, can be purchased in 1, 1½ and 2 car sizes. Now you can have Davy Crockett on sunglasses. The original hero had to kill his bar without this aid to marksmanship.

RUBBER RISE — It appears that the government got out of the rubber producing business in the nick of time. The use of rubber continues to climb, and within four or five years Washington would have had to pour more taxpayers' money into expanding the nation's manmade rubber plants to keep up with the demand.

It is predicted that by 1960 the country's rubber consumption will exceed 1,500,000 tons. That's double the amount used in 1940, before the existing plants were built, and about 300,000 tons more than the world's natural crop and manmade rubber-producing capacity, put together.

The president of a leading rubber company recently announced preliminary plans for expanding the 90,000-ton plant at Port Neches, Texas, that his company purchased from the government. This plant is one of 24 units sold in April to private industry. They were built for the government during World War II when crude rubber supplies were cut off with the loss of the Far East. All in all, their sale brought $310,565,000. That returned to the taxpayers 96.6 per cent of the government's total unrecovered investment in the war-time rubber facilities.

BITS O' BUSINESS — Department store sales for the country as a whole took a surprise leap of 11 per cent above the like week of 1954. Heavy construction contracts crossed the $7 billion mark for the year with issuance of $745 million in the May 16 week. April consumption of newsprint by U.S. newspapers set a record for the month, up 4 per cent from April, 1954. Coal production of 8,925,000 tons in the latest reported week represents a year-to-year gain of 1,776,000 tons.

How to Save Paint

A SIMPLE way to save paint and keep your paint can clean is shown in the illustration from American Builder, authoritative publication for building contractors.

Simply make a bar out of a section taken from a tin can, and lap the edges. Near each end cut notches so the bar may be fitted over the lip of the paint can. Locate the bar so that about three-fourths of the can is open for easy dipping of the brush into the paint. Wiping the brush on the bar prevents splattering and conserves paint.

Eugene Laatsch, Pres. "Bright colors make our foods just as attractive as they do our clothes, flower gardens, and our homes," so stated Eugene Laatsch when she discussed "Vegetables in our Meals" at the monthly meeting of the Boltonville Busy Beavers 4-H club, Wednesday evening, at the Fire Department building.

Eileen compared the vegetables to a huge bouquet with a variety of colors. She pointed out the bright red in the radishes and tomatoes; the varying colors of cool green in lettuce, celery, cabbage, spinach chard, peas, and broccoli; the luring yellow in carrots, sweet potatoes, and squash; the contrasting whites of the onion and potato, and the purple of the egg plant and cabbage.

"Feast on colorful vegetables for all the vitamins and minerals you need," was her persuasive conclusion. Harold Gilford, who was in charge of the meeting, surprised the members with a delicious spice cake with burnt sugar frosting that he had baked. He explained the entire procedure and it proved that that was not the first cake that he had ever baked. Everyone had a second piece.
