Gas Fire in Tent Claims Three Lives at Long Lake

6 Others Burned, 3 Critical; All Victims Related

PREMATURE DAUGHTER BORN THURSDAY TO ONE WOMAN CRITICALLY BURNED

A camping and vacation trip ended tragically for three Illinois families at Long lake near Dundee Wednesday morning when two small children and their aunt burned to death after a defective heater showered them with flaming butane gas.

Six other persons, including the mother of the dead children, suffered burns. The mother and two other children were in critical condition at St. Mary's burn center in Milwaukee. The three women, all mothers of small children, are sisters.

Dead are: Cheryl Williams, 2, Markham, Ill.; Sandra, her 10 month old sister, and Mrs. Raymond Bandeko, 31, Hazel Crest, Ill., their aunt.

Mrs. Lawrence Williams, 24, mother of the dead children, her son, Steve 3, and Ronald Jones, 8, Benson, Ill., were in critical condition at St. Mary's burn center. Ronald's mother, Mrs. Cleo Jones, 27, was listed in fair condition.

Diana Yates, 15, Pekin, Ill., a sister of the three young mothers, and Michael Bandeko, 6, the dead woman's son, were treated at Plymouth hospital for burns to the face, chest and arms.

Bandeko, Jones and Williams, the husbands and fathers of the victims, were fishing near the southeastern shore of Long lake. They watched in horror as the tent burst into flames only a few hundred feet away.

Witnesses said they heard the children's cries about 7 a. m. and rushed to the tent but it was engulfed and consumed by fire "with in a minute." Authorities said a butane feeder line to a tent heater apparently broke spewing the interior of the tent with fuel which ignited with explosive force.

They said a completed setting on a near-by picnic table indicated the three women were preparing breakfast while their husbands went fishing.

The campgrounds, on the east side of Long lake, is a popular spot among campers from southeastern Wisconsin and northern Illinois, and was crowded with persons to observe the Fourth of July week end. Four or five other families were camped within 20 yards of the 12 by 15 foot tent that burst into flames.

A Fond du Lac man camping with his family about 50 yards away said he rushed to the scene but like six other would-be rescuers was beaten back by the heat and fear that the stove might explode. "When I got near someone hollered 'Get away! There's gas in there, it'll explode,'" he said. "We could see bodies lying in the tent. We tried to put out the fire but it was so hot it was no use. The tent was burned to the ground by the time we got there."

A woman in a near-by tent said

Stray Dog Kills 146 Chickens on N. Stoffel Farm

Sometime between the hours of 9 p. m. last Friday and 5:30 a. m. Saturday an unknown stray dog or dogs entered the chicken coop on the Nicholas Stoffel farm at 1731 Fond du Lac ave. in Kewaskum and killed 146 Leghorn laying chickens.

Police were called and the investigating officer found chicken feathers in a farm lane west of the chicken coop leading to a neighboring farm. Also a dead chicken was found about 1½ blocks from the coop. Further investigation is pending.

The Leghorns were valued at $1.20 each and the total loss caused by the killing of chickens by the dog or dogs was estimated at $165.20.

Two Hurt in Auto, Motorcycle Crash

A Port Washington couple was injured when their motorcycle collided with an auto at the intersection of Main st. and River View dr. at 2:55 p. m. Sunday. Injured were Lawrence Schanen, 46, of 525 W. Chestnut st., Port Washington, driver of the motorcycle, who suffered cuts and bruises of the right arm and leg, and his passenger, Mrs. Agnes Schanen, of the same address, who incurred bruises and possible fractured right hand. Their cycle collided with a car driven by Arthur J. Neuy, 21, of R. 3, West Bend. The latter was traveling east on Main st. and made a left turn on River View dr. in front of the west-bound motorcycle, which crashed into the car. Neuy claimed he did not see the oncoming motorcycle until it was too late to avoid the crash. Both of the injured persons were treated by a local physician. The right front end of the auto and the front end and windshield of the motorcycle were damaged.

In another mishap on River View dr. which occurred at 8 a. m. on Tuesday, vehicles driven by Rachel Jones, 41, of R. 1, Arnold, Mo. and Louis Seefeldt, 318 Keller st., Kewaskum, collided. Both vehicles were southbound when Mrs. Jones, in attempting to pass the Seefeldt truck near the intersection with Main st., sideswiped the truck, which was about to make a right turn onto Main. Neither Seefeldt nor the four occupants in the Jones auto were injured. The left side of the Jones car and the right front fender of the Seefeldt truck were damaged.

Over $100 in prize money will be awarded to the best floats, children's specialties and other units in the line of march. All children in the parade will be given free tickets good in trade in the park.

The Milwaukee Continental Youth band, composed of 120 members between the ages of 14 and 21 years, has won state and national championships, represented Wisconsin in the Presidential Inaugural parade in Washington, D. C. in 1961, performed at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash. in 1962 and perform at Disneyland in California on Aug. 9 of this year. A picture of the band will appear in next week's issue.

Numerous outstanding bargains in merchandise and many surprises will be featured. Prizes may be given by some of the businessmen and there will be plenty of laughs. Plan on coming to Kewaskum for a day of good buying and fun.

Looking Thru the Field Glasses . . .

BY BOB LAKE
Conservation Warden
Washington County

When an individual sells a motorboat that has a number on the bow and a certificate of registration issued to him, he must fill out the back of the certificate, indicating the date of sale and the name and address of the purchaser. The certificate must then be mailed to the Wis. Conservation Department, Box 450, Madison. The number stays with the boat and it is the duty of the party who makes the purchase to apply for a transfer of that number to his name on forms furnished by the department. The forms are available from the department, county clerks and commercial boat dealers.

A rural Neenah man paid a $100.00 fine, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, had his hunting, fishing and trapping licenses revoked for a one year period when he was caught fishing with three lines recently and charged in court under the repeater statute. ASSIGNED TO HAWAII

Master Sergeant John L. Shields of Milwaukee is being reassigned to Hickam AFB, Hawaii, following his completion of the special training course for C-124 flight engineers at Tinker AFB, Okla.

Sergeant Shields was trained in routine and emergency operational procedures for the aircraft, including electrical systems, instruments, hydraulics and weight and balance.

The sergeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shields of 3732 Colingwood st., Detroit, Mich., is a graduate of West Division High school, Milwaukee. He and his wife, the former Eleanor Schmidt of Kewaskum have two children.

The navy recruiter was trying to interest a young man in submarine duty. "No thanks," was the response. "I'm not getting on any ship that sinks on purpose."

Free entertainment acts will be provided Sunday afternoon and evening, July 14, at the Kewaskum firemen's picnic by the artists pictured here. They are:

Upper left—"The Acro-Nuts," who have made a scientific and psychological study of exactly what makes audiences laugh. They have taken this knowledge and built an act that is just what the doctor ordered. The act is replete with bumps, falls, impossible entanglements and screw-ball situations. This amusing comedy team never attempts anything the easy way when a trick or comedy sequence can be accomplished in a more complicated manner. Here are two nuts left over from Christmas who try and prove that "you don't have to go to Niagara to see the falls." Since comedy is their business, John and Jorie Armstrong are a laugh-riot from start to finish.

Upper right—Consuelo, "Aerial Artiste." Born to theatrical parents and literally raised in a trunk tray, Consuelo absorbed rather than learned, both from her parents and other performers, the intricate and difficult aerial artistry which is her stock in trade. She is a beautiful and daring trapeze artiste, whose routine of contortions and gymnastics on her specially designed trapeze and Roman rings has captivated audiences throughout the world. This glamorous belle of the circus world has appeared with all the famous circuses throughout this country and Europe.

Lower—"The Three J's" feature Darlene, 22, Bob, 19, and Kay 13, who despite their youth are veteran performers and have appeared with such celebrities as Brenda Lee, Tex Ritter, Betty Foley, Sky King and Penny, Rex Allen and many more. They have appeared on television and radio throughout the entire Middle West. Darlene is a star accordionist, Bob excels on the electric Spanish guitar and banjo, and young Kay man-handles the big string bass and also takes off on the steel guitar. "The Three J's" bubble over with energy and bounce and include loads of novelty and are sure to please all ages from 8 to 80.

Welfare Dept. Hires Casework Supervisor

Robert G. Hintz, director of the Washington County Public Welfare Department, announced that Charles P. Whittlinger has been employed by the department as casework supervisor, effective July 1.

Whittlinger was formerly casework supervisor of the Eau Claire County Public Welfare Department, Eau Claire, for the past five years. He has also had experience as a child welfare worker in the Shawano County Public Welfare Department from 1953 to 1958.

Whittlinger attended the University of Wisconsin, graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1953. He earned his Master's degree in social work from the same institution in 1955.

Hintz said Whittlinger replaces William Diebels, who recently resigned to accept employment as staff development supervisor in the Fond du Lac office of the Division of Public Assistance, State Department of Public Welfare.

Whittlinger is married and the father of two children, Charles, Jr., age 5 and Susan, age 2. He plans to move to West Bend as soon as housing is located.

The next big one you hook could be yourself. Fishing, one of the more popular leisure time sports, can be hazardous to neophytes, cautions the Institute for Safer Living. Here are a few precautions for anglers: Know your safety rules for handling watercraft if fishing offshore; step cautiously when wading in streams, submerged rocks are slippery; give other anglers plenty of room; watch those hooks when casting; always carry hooks in a safe container, put them away after each use.

Fire Takes Lives

she heard the children shouting and at first thought they were just playing. She said when she looked out of her tent she saw flames shooting up out of the roof of the tent. Fond du Lac county Sheriff Raymond Howards said those who escaped death ran through an entrance in the tent before the flames spread too far.

Volunteer firemen from Campbellsport aided conservation department officials in putting out the resulting blaze. Contrary to earlier announcements in newspapers, the Kewaskum firemen were not called to the scene. Coroner Frank Decker requested the state fire marshal to investigate.

Authorities said the families arrived earlier in the week for a joint vacation at the camp site and had planned to return to their homes sometime this week end. Mr. and Mrs. William Yates, parents of the four sisters, were visiting another daughter in Whittier, Calif., when they received the news of the tragedy. The parents left immediately for home by plane.

One of the women critically burned Wednesday gave birth Thursday to a tiny daughter in St. Mary's burn center. The baby, weighing only 4½ pounds, was born prematurely to Mrs. Jane Williams, 24, of Markham, Ill. Hospital authorities said the infant was in critical condition with shock and a toxic condition resulting from her mother's burns.

Kewaskum Beats Sheboygan, 9-5

The Kewaskum A.C.'s avenged a beginning of the season defeat here by turning the tables at Sheboygan Sunday, where they blasted out a 9-5 upset victory over that team, which holds down third place in the Land o' Lakes league and previously had a fine 7-2 record.

The winners built up a comfortable 7-0 lead before Sheboygan scored its first run in the 7th inning. Kewaskum bombed out Martin, the opponents' starting pitcher, in the second inning with a four run uprising climaxed by Don Meisenheimer's home run. Sheboygan scored four more in the 8th frame to bring the score to 7-5 but Kewaskum added a little frosting to the cake with two final runs in the 9th.

Kewaskum pounded out 10 hits off of three Sheboygan hurlers. Martin was followed to the hill by Hargel and Splittgerber. Combined they struck out seven batters and didn't give a walk. Fred Bruhn did the twirling for the victors, being touched for eight hits, fanning four and walking four.

Hay Fires

By now every farmer has his hay in his barn. Unfortunately, a few farms go up in smoke every year because the hay in the barn is too wet or too green. Spontaneous combustion starts in this hay, develops into a flame, and destroys the entire barn.

Fortunately, we can do something about preventing this. This means getting the hay in at the proper moisture. This is probably the major reason why approximately one hundred farmers in Washington county have gone to mow-drying systems.

There is not a simple way to avoid fire once the hay is in the barn, but here are some warning signs of danger:

If you find areas around your barn where it is very difficult to breathe, this means the oxygen is being used up. This is a definite danger sign.

Secondly, you may smell smoke somewhere around the buildings although the smoke cannot be seen.

If you have either of these two symptoms, find a way to probe a long pipe into the center of your haymow. Get the pipe as far as possible into the mow. Then insert a thermometer—a candy or ordinary cooking thermometer will do the job nicely. Leave it there for five or ten minutes. Pull the thermometer from the hay and read it. If the temperature is 100 degrees or less, ignore it. If it is 150 degrees, watch it carefully; if it is over 212 degrees, your barn is in danger of burning down and requires immediate action.

Should I Tie Up Tomatoes?

"Should I tie up my tomatoes or shouldn't I?" By tying them, we mean putting a stake into the ground and then tying the tomato plant up to the stake. Does it pay? People argue on both sides. We feel that tying does do some good. One of the things is keeping the plants off the ground. This means it is easier to keep the weeds out. It is also easier to keep the snails and slugs from the tomatoes because these pests exist only where there are moist, cool conditions. This alone is a good reason to tie up your tomatoes. You will usually be successful in growing tomatoes, regardless of variety, after tying them up.

Chevy II Wagons—

The heft of a suitcase. The rustle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly spacious wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old bugaboo of packing, for instance. No bother. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old whichway and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the spunky 6-cylinder engine either. It just hums along passing up gas pumps (there's also a choice of an even thrifter 4 in most models) like it didn't have a care in the world. Fact is, it has far fewer cares than most engines—being built with the special knack Chevrolet engineers have for dependability and ease of maintenance.

Like a car with ginger—without a lot of needless gingerbread? Your dealer's got a full line of Chevy II's to pick from. Why not drop down and check now while the trading and the traveling are especially good?
