Wires Felled By Wind, Woman Has Board Chairman Narrow Escape

High winds, with gusts up to 50 miles per hour, which again swept across the state Tuesday for the second time within a week, caused more damage in this area.

Two electric power lines were felled by the wind on Railroad st. in front of the Louis Bath machine shop Tuesday afternoon. The sputtering live wires fell to the ground and sidewalk, narrowly missing Mrs. John Milewski of Kewaskum, who was walking to work at the time. Although she received quite a scare from the hot wires around her, she managed to escape uninjured.

It was reported that electric motors in the Fairmont Foods plant were affected by the felled wires, also that a power line was blown down on the southwest end of the village. Light and power was disrupted in some parts of the village for a time until Wisconsin Electric Power Co. linemen repaird the fallen lines.

A number of tree limbs and smaller branches were blown off by the gusts and scattered about. Small objects were hurtled around and other minor damage caused. The wind was not so severe, however, as that a week ago Monday which caused widespread destruction

Before "OUR TOWN" came a long, the American theatre was pretty much confined within the naturalistic limits of the conventional stage setting, with its three walls and missing "fourth wall' for the audience to see through But Mr. Wilder boldly dispersed these limitations, these artificial barriers, and proved that it was possible, by the magic of the spoken word alone, to create a whole town, a whole lifetime of emotional experience. And where he led with his pioneering a chievement, gratefully emanci pated playwrights have been following ever since.

Our meeting of April 8 was at the new home of our president, Mrs. Vern Dahlmann. Guest for the evening was Miss Jeanne Reindl, whose trip to the Youth Catholic church at Ashford, died Conference was partly financed at St. Joseph's hospital, Milwauby our club. She reported on her kee, on Tuesday, April 21, of a week end at Neenah-Menasha. There were many topics pursued at various meetings. She said she enjoyed Professor Trowbridge, a worldwide traveler who told of his experiences with Russian children. There was a discussion on human rights led by a Negro girl who presented her side of the race picture. It was not all work as there was a Hootenanny and a singing and dancing time. She stayed at a private home with another delegate to the conference. There was a bus available to get to the high school where the conference was held. Next year's meeting will be at Madison. After we heard her glowing report we knew how

After a short business meeting we held our auction. Two big boxes gaily decorated brought spirited bidding. Mrs. Gladys Ramed had made two piggy banks from bleach bottles gaily decorated. There were sour cream nut cookies and a pair of hand knit TV slippers which also brought out our bidding.

The project leader, Mrs. Margie Janssen and Mrs. Jeanne Otten, presented the etiquette project. Proper glove lengths, etiquette at weddings, table place settings, and proper thank you notes were discussed. Several skits were read by the members on everyday situations where etiquette was lacking. They were very humorous but brought home to all of us that etiquette is merely consideration for others which makes for pleasant living, not something which we don with our Sunday clothes but forget on weekdays.

After the project we had delicious barbecue sandwiches and coffee. Then Mrs. Dahlmann took us on a tour of her home. She and her husband are doing all the work themselves. They will have a home to be proud of when they are through.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Margaret Becker on May 13.

Mrs. Erwin Bullette teld us that good manners are a set of practical, common sense rules designed to put harmony in cur lives. She told of the etiquette books available at our library and the inexpenive paper backs available in our local stores.

Observed May 1

An evening of schafskopf, skat or bridge or an afternoon at a football or baseball game would be impossible without rules governing the conduct of the game and an honest desire on the part of a great majority for strict compliance with such rules. This we all take for granted and few, if any of us, break the rules. Most of us indignantly arise to confront and chastise even the slightest offense. Our life in America, our safety on the highways, our security in our homes, our freedom of speech and religious worship, our rights to ownership and enjoyment of property, in short the right to live as we do is possible only by observance of the rules for living-the law.

We all know that four little officials can not control twenty-two they do it week in and week out because the American public demands that they play according to the rules. By the same token, a handful of policeman can not enforce the law-they in turn must by public opinion.

Our way of life is vastly more most important that all of us rise with the same indignation to confront and chastise a law breaker. Few of us do this unless we or those close to us are directly effected. Why not? Because we just don't think about it.

The purpose of law day, May 1st of each year, is to make all of us think and act, to emphasize to each that our very life depends on law observance, to make each of us aware that a violation by our friends or neighbors is a step towards breakdown of the one thing that preserves us-the law, to recall to the mind of each of us, that Greece, Rome, every civildied-because of the decadencebecause of lack of law observance.

ALTERNATIVE PLAN TO FOX BOUNTY SYSTEM

Local Control of Money And Choice of Projects

This is a plan developed by the conservation department to obtain better value from money which until now has been spent on bounties.

It aims at an action program to improve fish and game habitat on the local level.

Its main feature is local control by the county board of some $180,000 per year now budgeted by the conservation department for bounties. In the past this money has gone to fewer than 1,000 persons with no change in the fox population. The new plan would spend the money for the benefits 240 pound football players, yet of the public at large-not for bounties, but for a large variety of conservation projects of lasting value.

The plan recognizes that one attraction of the bounty, regardless of what it does to fox, has been be backed up by public demand that it brings money into the local community. The proposed alternative also brings money into important than any game. It is the local community under the control of the county board. It is a state aid program with counties to provide matching funds or their equivalent to be spent for sound local conservation projects. Since most counties already pay a bounty, matching funds will entail no additional expense. It will merely mean a shift in use. Indeed, matching will often be relatively painless since use of machinery, labor and other non-cash, easy-to-come-by contributions will qualify.

Right now, the conservation department is not paying a bounty. A special bill was passed by the legislature, but vetoed by the governor. No doubt an attempt will be made to override the veto and reinstitute bounties. This new plan is urged as a highly desir-

Looking Thru the will lead to physical accomplishand waters of every county in Wisconsin. Its benefits will be universal, not limited to a handful of bounty hunters.

> Its main virtue is that it will finance at least $250,000 worth of lasting conservation work each year of value to all residents, but especially to local citizens. The county board will decide on the projects and the work will be done within the boundary of the county.

Next week, how the program will work.

Carpeting also was added and air conditioning installed in the public area. New computing and other equipment has been added. Dr. Leo J. Uelmen is president of the bank and Frank P. Thiel cashier.

Plans for extending natural gas service into Campbellsport are being finalized, according to A. A. Fick, Fond du Lac, division manager of the Wisconsin Power and Light company. Fick said, "We have about completed our engineering details of this project and will now place orders for the required pipe and other material. Actual construction will be contracted and we expect to be serving customers in September."

JUSTICE FREEDOM

May 1, 1964, has been set aside by Act of Congress and official proclamation of the President as Law Day USA. Law is the bedrock underlying our form of government and our whole society. Respect for law and the orderly processes of justice are vital to the nation's welfare. The observance of Law Day reminds us of the freedoms we enjoy under the rule of law; it teaches us why we must respect the law in order to have rights and freedoms ourselves; it underscores responsibilities that go with privileges in a free country, and it emphasizes the importance of an independent legal profession and independent courts.

Roland Jaeger Enters Race for County Assembly

Roland P. Jaeger

Roland P. Joeger 45, of 1214 Park ave., West Bend, this week formally announced his candidacy on the Republican ticket for the office of assemblyman for Washington county in the 1964 September primary election.

Roland was born in Milwaukee where his father, Albert Jaeger, was a building contractor. He attended St. Martini school and graduated from Milwaukee Lutheran High school.

Jaeger has been a resident of this county for 21 years, and has been in business in West Bend for 19 years. He came to West Bend in 1943 and managed the F. W. Woolworth store for a year and a half, then served two years in World War II in the U.S. Navy aboard the light cruiser, Pasadena under Admirals Halsey and Nimitz. He graduated from gunnery school at Great lakes in August, 1944, and joined up with Halsey's task force, and spent the next two years overseas in the Pacific Theatre. He was honorably discharged with seven battle stars in 1946.

After the war, Roland returned to West Bend to again take his position as manager of the Woolworth store. He resigned from the Woolworth Co. when in 1948 he and his brother Wilbert built and operated the Park-Way Drive Inn, operating this business for 10 years. In 1950 the Parkette, a candy and ice cream store was opened on main street, West Bend and after the sale of the Park-Way to the Vander Heyden Bros. Roland devoted full time to the Parkette operation.

Roland's mother, Adele Jaeger, lives in her own home on Sherman Way, West Bend; his oldest brother Wilbert and his family live on Highway 45; a sister, Dorothea Goede and her family live have been married 24 years, and family of Dundee, have four children, Douglas, the Jade of Lomira. oldest, is in his 4th year of chemical engineering at the U. W. at Madison; David is in his 2nd year at Stevens Point college, majoring in biology; Jennifer is a sophomore at West Bend High school and Janice is in the 5th grade at St. John's in West Bend. The Jaegers will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary the 30th of May this year.

Jaeger has been very active in community affairs in the city of West Bend. He has been past president of St. John's church, past president of the West Bend Businessmen's association, past vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, served on the local Red Cross board, member of the American Legion Post, past commander of the VFW Post 1393, was a member of the Kiwanis club over '10 years, at the present time is president of the West Bend city council, and is serving his 6th year as alderman of the 1st ward and chairman of the board of public works.

Many residents of Washington county will remember Roland from the Washington County Fair, where for the past 12 years he operated the ParKette food and ice cream stand.

When asked why he would like to represent Washington county as assemblyman he answered, "I have always been active in government affairs pertaining to West Bend and Washington county and want Washington county to be well represented in the state. With my past experience to guide me, and helpful suggestions from members of the community, I am confident that I could do the job in helping our county to continue to be progressive and a fine place to live.
