Ice Age Reserve Would Depreciate Area Property, Citizens Committee Charges

AREA RESIDENTS URGED TO WRITE OFFICIALS TO INACT PROTECTIVE LEGISLATION

The Citizens' Committee on Conservation, town of Barton, wishes to alert residents how the Resource and Development Commission plans would depreciate the market value of homes and farms in Washington county.

James Kannal, R. 3, West Bend, is chairman of the Citizens' committee and Harry Sheski, R. 3, West Bend, serves as secretary.

In mid-April, Kannal points out, the commission's proposed boundaries for the Ice Age Reserve will have been completed and filed with the governor's office at Madison.

The committee submits that once the designated boundaries outlined in this report are made public, Wisconsin's unjust laws of eminent domain come into play, in that it will penalize anyone for owning a home where the government wants to build a park.

Wisconsin state statutes do not compensate or take into consideration property losses stemming from the mere announcement that the government intends to condemn property. In other words, owners will be paid not the value at the time of official announcement of the project, but rather the rundown value at the time the government finally decides to take physical possession of the property. In one case in the state of New York, 23 years elapsed between publication of intention to condemn and actual time of possession. In Michigan, over a six year period dating back to 1959, property values of affected areas have depreciated one-third the original market value.

The committee also submits that this constitutes a misuse of the right of eminent domain. Setting aside private property for recreational purposes is one thing, but official publication designed to bring financial disaster to unsuspecting property owners is another.

This is the committee's recommendation: Since the governor has the authority, by law (H. R. 1096) to disapprove the project, area residents should write their state assemblyman, Fred Schroeder; state senator, Frank Panzer, or Governor Warren Knowles requesting that the state legislature

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME IS EXTENDED

Gov. Warren Knowles last week signed legislation extending daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October. Previously daylight time was in effect from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in September only in Wisconsin. The extension was approved by the legislature so that daylight time in Wisconsin would conform with neighboring states and thus coincide with railroad schedules and other time tables and avoid the confusion which existed under the old set-up.

There comes a time when anything can be a nuisance.

County Agent News Notes

By MAURICE J. HOVLAND
Washington County Agent

PIG GRADING CONTEST AND MEAT CUTTING MEET HERE

The Washington County Swine Breeders association is having a swine grading contest for the benefit of the members of the association. The first part of this contest will be held Monday, March 29, at John Youngbauer's barn in Boltonville.

Five pigs for slaughter will be brought in on the hoof, and they will be graded and gone over carefully. Then they will be taken to the Kewaskum Frozen Food locker where they will be slaughtered Monday afternoon. Tuesday morning at ten the breeders will meet again, this time at the locker plant, to analyze the carcasses for back fat, length of carcass, quality, and other things that are pertinent.

At 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, March 30, consumers are being invited to meet at the Kewaskum Labor Temple, where a specialist from the Meat and Animal Science Department of the University of Wisconsin will conduct a demonstration and discussion on selecting meat cuts. This specialist is Quin Kolb (years ago his sister was home agent in Washington county). He will cut the loins and the other parts of the carcass, and present a discussion on selecting cuts, what to look for, etc. All consumers of pork products are invited to attend.

LANDSCAPING MEETINGS TO BE HELD IN KEWASKUM

Roy Esser, vo-ag instructor of Kewaskum, and your county agent have made arrangements for two meetings on landscaping for people in the Kewaskum area. These meetings will be held in the ag room of the Kewaskum High school.

At the first meeting Roy will discuss soil fertility, and I will give you a general look at insect problems. Gayle Worf, plant pathologist at the University of Wisconsin, will discuss fungus diseases, bacterial diseases, and other conditions which limit plant growth. Bulletin material will be available which you may have upon request.

This meeting will begin at 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, March 30, and is open to the public. We will try to be finished by ten. A second meeting will be held April 6.

YOU CAN'T TRUST MARCH

Last week's snowstorm sure fooled us, didn't it? It just adds proof to the story that "you can't trust March." We can't be too sorry about the snow, however, because the ground certainly needs the moisture. Maybe at least some of the frost went out of the ground during the warmer days, and a lot of the snow as it melted was able to soak in.

4-H Club News

WAYNE CRUSADERS

The meeting of the Wayne Crusaders 4-H club was held Tuesday, Mar. 2, at the Wayne Elementary school at 8 p. m.

Recreation such as badminton and other games were played before the meeting.

Roll call was then answered by naming some sort of wildlife we saw during the month.

Conservation posters made by the following were sent to the county 4-H poster contest. In the junior division, Darlene Terlinden received a blue rating and Charles Schrauth received a red rating. In the intermediate division, Dennis Terlinden received a blue rating and Patricia Peter received a red rating. Donald Miske received a red rating in the senior division. We want to thank Miss Paula Petri for judging our posters.

In the speaking program, Mary Strachota received a blue rating in the intermediate division and Charles Schrauth received an honorable mention in the junior division.

Awards for the speaking and poster contest were also given in our club.

The Jackson 4-H club invited us to a roller skating party at the Artistic Rink Mar. 15 from 7 to 10 p. m.

At the next meeting we will have a paper drive. Roll call for the next meeting will be a sign of spring which we have seen.

A talk was given by Linda Wulff on "The Origin of the 4-H Clubs." She told us who began it and how it came into being. Darlene Terlinden gave a talk on the "Gifts of the Forest." She told us the various products we get from different trees. Judy Darmody gave a talk on the Explorers project. She told us that at their first meeting they learned about cooking and rulers.

Refreshments consisting of soda and popcorn were served by the Jackson, Rightsell and Wendt families.

Our next meeting will be held April 6 at the Wayne Elementary school at 8 p. m.

Conservation Congress Election in County Apr. 5

At your Conservation Congress hearing, Monday, April 5, at 8 p. m., at the Washington county court house, you will be electing a regular member for three years and an alternate for two years to your County Conservation Congress committee.

Your County Conservation Congress committee is made up of 3 regular members and 2 alternates. Regular members are elected for a 3-year period and their terms are staggered so one expires each year. Alternate members are elected for a term of 2 years and their terms are also staggered. In Washington county, the regular member whose 3-year term expires is G. E. Otten, the alternate whose 2-year term expires is Lambert Newmann.

In addition to the election of a regular and an alternate member, any vacancies which may exist at the present time will be filled. Election to the vacancies will be for the unexpired term whatever length it may be.

There are a few simple rules pertaining to the election of these committeemen. First of all, none of the five committeemen shall be from the same city, village or civil township. This is to give as many localities as possible a member on this important committee.

The committeemen are to be elected by separate ballots, and at least two nominations from the floor are to be made for each position, and voting shall be done by written ballot. Any person participating in the voting for committeemen must be a legal voter and a resident of the county in which he is voting.

Other instructions on this election are as follows:

In order that the real interest of conservation be served, it is essential that you elect men as representatives of your County Conservation committee who have the following qualifications. They should be persons with a good knowledge of fish and game problems who are open-minded and should be able to view conservation matters on the basis of state-wide interest.

No person will be certified by the commission, who:

1. Employs political tactics in seeking election.
2. Seeks election to further personal interest or interest contrary to the benefit of conservation.
3. Has been convicted of a violation of the fish and game regulations during the past 5 years.

You have a busy, interesting and important evening in store for you at your Conservation Congress hearing, Monday, April 5, at 8 p. m. at the Washington county court house. Make plans now to attend and take part in the discussion.

Program on Pork Cuts Here Monday

Good news for grocery shoppers. Have you ever wondered why some pork chops are more expensive than others? Or had you noticed that there were more than one kind?

Would you like to know more about cuts of pork and how to choose between them in the meat department?

The people who produce pork in Washington county are planning an opportunity for homemakers to see freshly cut pork, become familiar with the various cuts, and learn how to buy it.

The Kewaskum Labor Temple, March 30, at 1:30 p. m. is the place to be to take advantage of the opportunity to learn more about buying pork. There will be information and materials too on preparation of these pork cuts.

This program is open to women in the Washington county area. Do take advantage of the opportunity.

Even ex-President Hoover set a bad example. When he was president, he gave all his salary back to the government. Now they've got us all doing it.
