Electors Again Reject Bonds for High School Addition Here As $633,000 Expansion Is Defeated

Edwards, Miske Are Elected to School Board

SALARY OF SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS RAISED; BUDGET OF $388,029.12 APPROVED

A $633,000 bond issue for a high school addition, expansion and improvement program was defeated for the second time this year by electors of the Kewaskum high school district at a referendum election held Monday at the school. The electors voted 253 to 142, a margin of almost 2 to 1, against issuing bonds for the project. A similar referendum was also rejected last February, when the school board was unable to win approval of the voters.

A total of 395 ballots were counted in Monday's referendum, which was far under the 501 votes cast last February. School officials had anticipated a favorable vote if the turnout was large. There are approximately 1,800 eligible electors in the school district.

School officials point out that enrollment in the high school has increased from 267 to 550 since the present building was constructed nine years ago. During this time the normal class load has increased from four to five subjects and the school day has been lengthened from six to eight periods.

Arrangements are being made to hold some of the classes in the elementary school during the coming 1965-66 term. Due to overcrowding, the educational program must be curtailed unless additional space is provided, the school board points out. It was reported that the high school Spanish classes and chorus would be held in the grade school this fall.

In other balloting Monday Richard L. Edwards of Kewaskum and Zona Miske of the town of Wayne were elected to fill two vacancies on the school board. Scattering, write-in votes for 12 other candidates (listed in the minutes following this item) were also cast.

Roger McKenna, a former member of the board who was not a candidate for re-election, was appointed chairman of the budget hearing and school meeting, held in the evening following the election.

Electors at the annual meeting also approved the district high school budget of $388,029.12 for the coming year, which was approximately $33,000 higher than the current budget. The budget includes approximately $263,000 for operational costs with the remainder earmarked for debt retirement. Total estimated receipts for next year are $83,325 and $263,508.46 will be raised through the tax levy.

Salary of school board members was also raised from $200 to $300. Minutes of the annual budget hearing and school meeting are as follows:

Local Students Register at UW

Taking advantage of the summer registration-orientation program for new freshmen during the past week at the University of Wisconsin in Madison were two students from Kewaskum: Michael W. McCarty, son of William McCarty, 1140 Roseland Dr., and Daniel R. Reindl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reindl, R. 2.

This past week was the fifth week of the UW's summer registration-orientation program in Madison. The program, established to help young people make their transition into university life easier both for themselves and their parents, has been under way for the past five weeks, and during that period some 3,400 young men and women from all parts of Wisconsin and many other states have taken advantage of its opportunity to register for their university studies for the 1965-66 school year. The program continued through July 23.

Under the program, the young men and women visit the campus for at least a day, often with either their mother or father or both parents, arrange for their housing if that is not already done, take some placement tests, meet some student leaders and faculty members, and register for their coming university studies.

The new students will be returning to the UW campus Sept. 7 to continue their orientation into university life. Their fall semester classes will begin on Monday, Sept. 13.

13 Scouts Return From Canoe Trip In Canada Wilds

BIG BLACK BEAR SURPRISE VISITOR IN CAMP, STEALS FOOD DESPITE CLUBBING

Thirteen Explorer Scouts and two advisors from Kewaskum and area have returned from a canoe trip into the Canadian wilderness, which was a new and very exciting experience, to say the least, for the group. They drove to Ely, Minn., north of where they started the canoe trip. Although he did not go along on the canoe trip, Willard Manthei drove some of the boys as far as Ely and also called for them on the return trip. H. L. Rumsey, one of the advisors on the trip, relates some of the highlights of their experiences as follows:

"On Sunday, June 27th, thirteen Explorer Scouts and two advisors from this area, Myron Belger and myself, Dr. Rumsey, arrived at the Charles Sommers Wilderness Canoe Base, 25 miles north of Ely, Minn.

"We were completely oriented, outfitted and a guide, Jim Bachman, was appointed to help us with all questions involved in our 9-day canoe trip.

"Monday morning we proceeded into the Canadian Quetico Provincial Park with six canoes, four heavy food packs, six large personal packs and fishing gear for 16 anxious fellows. During the next ensuing days we crossed about 30 portages which were between 50 yards and one-half mile or so long. We had a two-day layover for fishing and resting our bodies from paddling and portaging.

"Our canoe trip contained about 80 miles of Canadian paddling, north through Agnes Lake to McKenzie Bay and south through Silence Summer Shade Lake and a couple of dozen other lakes. Two canoes swamped or turned over but no one was hurt, other than good sore muscles.

"We came across every animal we expected with the exception of moose, which were all around us but never sighted. We saw deer, bear, beaver, loons, merganser ducks, eagles, etc. The mosquitoes, black flies and 'no-see-ums' were plentiful as was the rain, sunshine, cold, warmth and wind.

"The meals were something out of this world but we were all so doggone hungry we ate them anyway. We were able to salvage two good meals of fish and probably could have had more if the guide would have allowed us to keep some of the other fish under five pounds.

"On the second last day about 5:30 in the morning we had a visitor in our camp that was very hungry and decided to steal our last food pack. A big black bear came into camp when we were sleeping and made a terrible racket, knocking over pots and pans, and dragging our food pack about 30 yards. I ran out and found a long 8 foot birch tent pole close by. After hitting him squarely over the head he jumped up a tree, came right down and back after the food pack. Once more I found the range and this time he jumped

Secretary of State Visits County Fair

Robert C. Zimmerman, Wisconsin's Secretary of State, visited the Washington County Fair at Slinger on Friday, July 23.

This year's visit marks the sixth consecutive year that the popular Secretary of State has toured the Washington County fair.

"Bob," as he is known to his many friends throughout the area, is a great Wisconsin "booster." Included in a great portion of his correspondence to friends are pamphlets boosting Wisconsin as a tourist, as well as a dairy state. Many times he includes recipe cards which call for the use of products which have made Wisconsin famous.

"Bob" can most frequently be found in the barns at the fair viewing the various animals, or in the exhibition building sampling as much of the food as the ladies will allow.

The Secretary of State arrived on the fairgrounds about 10:30 a. m. on the 23rd and visited with fair goers until about 1:30 p. m. He indicated he was looking forward to again visiting one of his favorite Wisconsin fairs and to greeting his many Washington county friends.

Rogene Klug Weds Edward Engelman

Vases of white snapdragons and red carnations decorated Immanuel Lutheran church, town of Scott, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 10, for the wedding of Miss Rogene Lee Klug to Edward Engelman Jr. The Rev. Donald Burgdorf officiated at the service in which the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Klug, R. 1, Kewaskum, was united in marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engelman, R. 2, Campbellsport. Mr. Klug presented his daughter in marriage.

Soloist for the rite was Lee Kempf, who sang "O Perfect Love." The music of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" was used as the processional.

Imported silk organza and Alencon lace fashioned the bride's gown detailed with bracelet-length sleeves and a sculptured neckline. The bodice featured miniature pearls, which enriched the lace appliques, extending down the front of the princess-styled dress. Two self-fabric roses topped the chapel-length train of the full skirt. The bride's bouffant veil was secured to a forward petaled hat of organza, embroidered with pearls and aurora borealis. She carried the traditional bridal bouquet.

Miss Barbara Koch of Kewaskum was the bride's maid of honor and three other young ladies were bridesmaids — Mrs. Floyd Klug, Mayville, sister-in-law of the bride; Miss Renee Engelman, Long lake, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sue Engelman, Superior, cousin of the bridegroom.

As the honor attendant, Miss Koch appeared in an orchid gown enriched with orchid embroidery on the floor-length controlled bell skirt and on the fitted bodice. A square neckline and elbow-length sleeves further detailed the dress. Her forward hat of braid rosette with floral buds was ornamented with crystals and a four-tiered veil. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of small, white carnations and orchid roses.

Similarly styled gowns in maize, peach and Nile green were worn by the three bridesmaids. Their gowns also were distinguished by the floral embroidery and their hats were like that of the maid of honor. The bouquets they carried also were identical, except that the roses were in shades to match their dresses.

Two flower girls preceded the bride into the church—her niece, Doreen Klug, and a sister of the bridegroom, Connie Engelman. Their identical, hoop-skirted frocks of white lace had tiered ruffles of taffeta at the back of the skirt. The fitted bodices were designed with short puff sleeves and round necklines. Each carried a lace fan with garnett red roses and a large, single, white carnation.

Lee Schmidt served the bridegroom as best man while his brother, Gary Engelman, and two brothers of the bride, Floyd and Glen Klug, were groomsmen. Duties of ushers were performed by Edward Koepke, cousin of the bride, and Kenneth Garbisch, an uncle of the bridegroom.

At 4:30 o'clock a dinner was held in the church parlors for closest relatives of the bridal pair. In the evening a dance was given at Belgium Community Center with a buffet supper served at 10:30 p. m. for the guests.

Mr. Engelman and his bride traveled in Michigan, into Canada and to Niagara Falls on their honeymoon trip and are now at home at R. 1, Kewaskum, since July 21. The bride was graduated in June from Kewaskum Community High school. An apprentice tool and die maker, the bridegroom is employed by Midcities Tool and Die Co., West Bend.

1200 View Spring School Art Fair

REGAL WARE PURCHASES PAINTING AND DRAWING

Scenic countryside of the Kettle Moraine, a pleasantly sunny summer day, and an old red brick country school combined this past weekend to lure approximately 1,200 art lovers to an unusual site for an outdoor art fair.

According to photographers Gene and Jacquie Picard of Cedarburg, and Dick and Barbara Bauer of Menomonee Falls (new owners of Spring school) $3,000.00 worth of artwork and crafts were purchased during the two day art fair held June 17 and 18 on the grounds of the school, located on Highway 28 in the town of Wayne.

Seventy-five artists from Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana displayed and sold their work. Jurors John Wilde, professor of art at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, and Robert Bornhuetter, director of the art department at Nazareth college, Nazareth, Ky., gave out cash awards from the Spring School Art Fair sponsors, and trophies donated by the West Bend Company to the following artists:

- Best of show award to Robert Caldart, potter from Brookfield.
  - Best painting award to Frank Wokurka, Menomonee Falls.
  - Best graphic award to William Kennedy, Madison.
  - Best sculpture award to Michael Brandt, Oshkosh.
  - Best craft award to Dik Schwanke of Oshkosh.
- Purchase awards were presented by the following industries and businesses:
- Pioneer Container of Cedarburg purchased a painting by Edward Slade of Brookfield, and another painting by Birger L. Sponberg of Deerfield, Ill.

Doerr Electric Corporation of Cedarburg purchased a pastel done by Ruth Checkis of Oshkosh.

Colonial Studio chose a piece of sculpture created by Allen Cautt of Thiensville.

Regal Ware, Inc. of Kewaskum purchased a painting done by Will Grams of West Allis and a drawing by Bruce Bentz of Madison.

New York Blower of Milwaukee purchased a graphic by Peter Balastri of Milwaukee.

And the News Graphic of Cedarburg purchased a graphic by Lee Tishler of Milwaukee.

Enthusiastic comments from fairgoers and from the artists regarding the site of the art fair have encouraged the Spring school owners in their plans for next summer's art fair. They purchased the school recently after school consolidation closed the school and put it up for sale. Future plans for the two story red brick school perched on its hilltop with the rolling countryside providing a scenic backdrop, will include its use as an art gallery, a photographic gallery, and possibly for community art classes.

Labor Council of County Plans Labor Day Celebration

The Washington County Central Labor Council, at its regular monthly meeting last week, heard from its Labor Day planning committee that the problems that kept last year's parade and celebration from getting off the ground had been resolved and as a result this year's parade at Hartford on Sept. 6 at 1:00 p. m. and the celebration at Woodlawn Union Park after the parade should be one of the best in this section of the state.

Several county area bands have agreed to play and several more are in the process of agreeing. Attorney General LaFollette has agreed to be the principal speaker and other area dignitaries are planning on attending. Of the 14 county employers having agreements with the members of the council, only a few are not planning on entering some sort of a unit in the parade. However, some other groups have expressed a desire to enter the parade, giving it a wider range of interest.

Arrangements have been made for a Hartford veterans organization to sell hamburgers and there will be a popcorn wagon at the park following the parade. The refreshments that are given with the purchase of a one dollar ticket for as well as the soft drinks for the younger set. Children under the age of 18 years accompanying their parents will not need a ticket.

CARS TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF DEER; 32 KILLED IN COUNTY

Fishing pressure light. Night fishing producing good walleye catches at Pike and Silver lakes. Excellent bass fishing morning and evening at Big Cedar, Drickens and Little Cedar lakes. Night-crawlers the best bait. A few northerns caught with large chubs.

Two deer were killed on Washington county highways in the past week, a doe on Hwy. 41 & CTH (W), another on the Knollwood road, two miles south and 1/2 mile west of Newburg.

For the information of the hunter and the target shooting enthusiast in this area, a new regulation became effective July 2, 1965. The Wisconsin Administrative Code, WCD 45.14 Firearms (2) reads as follows: No person shall have in his possession any rifle, pistol or airgun at any time on state forest lands in the Kettle Moraine or the Point Beach state forests unless unloaded and in a carrying case except during the open season for game between Sept. 15 and the following March 31 and at authorized target areas or ranges and at designated dog training or dog trial areas.

Car-deer collisions this spring have taken a heavy toll of Wisconsin's favorite big game animal.

Accident reports, highway clean-up crews and enforcement men of the conservation department all tell the same story. The 1965 deer road-kill is running heavier than the 1964 toll of 8,000-plus animals.

Warden Russell DeBrock, Rhineland, reported more than 30 deer killed by cars in his area alone, during May. These counts include only deer picked up by the wardens. No one knows how many die later in the woods, or are picked up off the road illegally.

In Outagamie county, disposal of road-killed deer became such a problem that wardens there leased a tract of land for burial of unsalvageable carcasses. Disposal is a headache in settled areas, especially eastern and southern Wisconsin. Wardens may have to drive miles and spend hours to reach incinerators, rendering plants, or acceptable burial spots.

Traffic safety authorities are concerned, too. Car-deer collisions injure a number of people each year, and cause thousands of dollars of damage to cars. The safety division of the Motor Vehicle Department has joined conservation officials in warning motorists to watch for deer along roadsides, and to be especially alert for second and third animals after the first one crosses the highway.

The road kill in Washington county to date is 32 animals.

Cooperative federal-state mourning dove call-count surveys have just been completed in Wisconsin.

Each year, personnel of the Wisconsin Conservation Department and the Federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife run 22 permanently located transects in 30 counties between May 20 and June 10 to measure the dove breeding population. Results of the survey are used in setting season and bag limits in those states where the mourning dove is classified as a game bird. Doves are legally hunted in 30 of the 48 states but not in Wisconsin. (All states south of us to the Mexican border have a season each year). In the south, it is an especially important game bird, and nationally, the species ranks number one in terms of migratory game birds harvested by hunters.

The Wisconsin surveys, plus those conducted in 47 other states and four Canadian provinces, provide the only index to overall breeding population levels and yearly fluctuations. Results will be announced as soon as data is compiled.

Unlike most other migratory game birds, doves are widely scattered throughout most of the United States and southern Canada.

The species seem unusually adaptable to man's activities.

In 1964, for example, the survey indicated that the dove breeding population in Wisconsin was up 7.4 percent. For the United States as a whole, the 1964 breeding population was 7.9 percent above the 1963 index, and 2.7 percent higher than the 10-year average.

County Agent News Notes

By MAURICE J. HOVLAND
Washington County Agent

FLY CONTROL

Last week at summer school Professor Dicke of the entomology department spent some time talking with county agents about fly control. Let's talk about the house fly, because this is the one that is of most concern to us around farms. Remember that house flies are extremely prolific—they breed very rapidly. The best way to control flies that are already there is to spray them with pyrethrins in the fogger as the quick knock-down spray.

Unfortunately, you could kill every fly in your barn today, and by tomorrow you could have another generation ready to go again, simply because there are normally some excellent breeding places around a barn. According to Prof. Dicke, the best way to control flies is to eliminate the breeding place, and this is the manure piles and the calf pens in the barn.

Because flies take several days from egg laying to adult, it stands to reason that the manure pile is a good place for them. When the temperatures are warm, we get more flies from the calf pens than probably any other source on the farm. We believe that by cleaning the calf pens every day or every third day, we will cut down the fly population tremendously around the barn. Remember that this fly does not feed on dead animals, only on manure. Therefore, if we eliminate the breeding source, we eliminate the fly.

You also know, I am sure, that the house fly breeds around the garbage of the house. So it is important that we keep that garbage at a minimum during the warm summer months.

SUMMER SCHOOL

As your county agent, I would like to report to you that I have had a very successful time attending the University of Wisconsin summer school this year. I would make this observation that there is a great deal of information forthcoming that the public is going to need, be this in agriculture, business, or general living. While it seemed to me that on the campus the hills are a little steeper, the steps more numerous, the coeds a little younger, and the seats a little narrower, the information is also a lot more modern, and I shall do my best to convey this information to you in the weeks and months ahead.

COUNTY FAIR

Remember, the annual Washington county fair opened, July 22, and will run through July 25. Come often to the Slinger fairgrounds.

The cattle judge for the open class will be Gordon E. Berg of Brownsville. Gordon is one of the outstanding young Holstein breeders in Wisconsin today.

DON'T CUT ALFALFA IN SEPT.

Let me remind our many readers that for the past ten years this county agent has been reminding farmers — don't cut your alfalfa during the month of September. Just leave it alone during that time and let it recover. I know some farmers have poked fun at that idea, but I also know there are many years when we don't have to be concerned about this at all. This is one of the years, isn't it? This is one of the years when leaving the field alone during September has paid off in many instances. September is still two months away, but let's plan our hay program now in such a way that we take off the field sometime before Sept. 1 or after Oct. 10.

There are a lot of good ways to become a failure, but never taking a chance is the most successful.

"I feel this trip was a great success as we went the same way the Sioux and Chippewa Indians had in the past. We saw paintings which the same Indians had made on the water line of the rock formations. The Indians and tough old voyagers cut out many of the portages which we crossed. This was by far the most beautiful country I have ever seen and will never forget the experience.

"We give special appreciation to Regal Ware for the use of their station wagon and the donations of cold cash to make our trip more enjoyable. They are to be commended for their attitude and generosity toward all organizations in our community.

The boys participating in this trip were: Curtis Erdmann, Mark Schaefer, David Teeselink, Scott Waranius, Robert and James Manthel, Mark Belger, Paul Buezek, Bill Weddig, Dennis Petermann, Jim Butz, John Petermann and Russ Oelhafen."

Errors Beat Lakes Team At Grafton

In a comedy of errors at Grafton Sunday afternoon the Kewaskum Lakes team was defeated, 12-6, by the third place team of that city. The loss dropped the team another notch in the standing, into sixth place, with a 6-5 record.

Kewaskum committed 10 errors and six or seven of these were turned into runs. On the other hand Grafton was guilty of only one miscue. Grafton's third baseman, Francous, reached base five straight times on errors and scored four of the times.

Grafton got only one more hit than Kewaskum, making 10 to 9 for the losers, but the bobbles and wild throws killed Kewaskum. Norman pitched the first four innings for the winners and was lifted after walking the first two batters in the fifth. He was nicked for six hits, while striking out three and walking four. Zahn finished up, allowing three more safeties, passing one and whiffing eight. Don Meisenheimer was the Kewaskum starter and was replaced by Bob Hanson with one out in the eighth after two hits, three errors and a walk in the frame. Hanson gave up one more safety and had two more miscues committed behind him in two-thirds of an inning. Two men batted for Grafton in the eighth and five runs scored.

Kewaskum tallied two runs in each of the third, fifth and ninth innings. Grafton counted one in the first, four in the third, one in the sixth, one in the seventh and five in the eighth. Wendland was the hitting star for the winners with three bingles, while Zahn and Arnold collected two apiece. Jack Theusch, with a triple and double, paced Kewaskum and Fred Bruhn also got two singles.

This Sunday Kewaskum entertains ninth place Plymouth, with a 1-8 record, and should stand a good chance of getting back into the "win" column.

The champion, John Hron, will have his name engraved on the traveling trophy and both he and Tessar will receive individual trophies.
