Village Home Is Gutted by Fire; Loss Is $5,000

BLAZE DESTROYS INTERIOR, CONTENTS AT OELKE HOUSE

Fire gutted the Leland Oelke residence at 1208 Stark st. in Kewaskum at about 10:30 a. m. last Friday and destroyed most of the interior, contents and personal belongings of the Oelke family.

The fire apparently started in a closet surrounding the furnace in the central part of the home. The closet also contains the chimney. The home is a four-room quonset-type frame building built about the time of World War II.

The blaze was first noticed by Bobby Oelke, 6, who with his mother and two other children, ages 5 and 4, were home at the time. The boy summoned his mother, who was watching television. Mrs. Oelke took the children and ran outside clad only in night clothes. Her screams attracted a neighbor, Mrs. Marvin Kleinke, who tried to calm her and took her to the home of another neighbor, Mrs. Lloyd Westerman, to obtain warmer clothing. They then returned to the scene to check on the children and found that they had been taken in by a third neighbor, the Elmer Wenzlaffs, of 702 Highland st.

The fire department was summoned after some delay and by the time firemen arrived the blaze had gained considerable headway. The flames spread very quickly throughout the interior, badly damaging the inside of the building, especially around the closet area. Most of the contents and personal belongings were also lost in the fire as the result of fire, smoke and water damage.

Firemen were forced to use smoke masks to enter the building because of the dense smoke. They removed and knocked out windows, cut a hole in the roof and used a smoke ejector to let the smoke out. Firemen fought the blaze over an hour before getting it out.

Damage by the fire was estimated at approximately $5,000. The loss is covered by insurance. Cause of the blaze was not definitely determined.

Members of the Oelke family have been staying with neighbors since the fire.

Alfred R. Tanck, R. 1, Fredonia, has been awarded a gold engraved watch by J. R. Brown, president of The West Bend Company, in recognition of his 25 years of service with the firm.

As the newest member of the company's Quarter Century Club, Tanck brings the number of living members to 184.

Al began his career with The West Bend Company on Dec. 31, 1941. He recalls coming to work on New Year's Eve in the midst of one of the worst snowstorms in memory because "he didn't want to miss his first day on the job."

During those early years, Tanck worked on cartridge cases for the war effort. In 1945, he transferred to material handling holding that job until being reclassified as a machine lubricator in 1955. In 1960, he moved to shipping and in 1965 to the machine shop where he is now a machine repairman.

A graduate of West Bend High school, Al now lives in the Fredonia area with his wife, Violet, who is also a West Bend employee. The couple has three children—two married daughters, Mrs. Carol Stib and Mrs. Carla Ader, and a son, Marvin, a student at Kewaskum High school.

A northwoods enthusiast, Al lists his hobbies as traveling and fishing in northern Wisconsin.

He was officially received into West Bend's 25-Year Club at the group's annual meeting in October.

March of Dimes Teen Age Program Sets Pace in Birth Defects Battle

Paul Petersen, the 21-year-old television, motion picture and recording star, plans to some day "get married and have at least nine kids."

"I also want to adopt all the orphans I can from around the world and bring them all together each year during the holiday season," says the young man who once played the role of Jeff on the Donna Reed TV show.

Like thousands of members of his generation, Paul perhaps best demonstrates his love for children through his efforts to fight birth defects. He is national chairman of the March of Dimes Teen Age Program (TAP) for the second consecutive year.

The National Foundation-March of Dimes is conducting an all-out war against birth defects which strike 250,000 infants born in the United States each year. As national TAP chairman, Paul is working to stimulate interest in this vital problem among young people—the nation's future parents.

Thousands of TAP members across the nation are taking an active part in the fight against birth defects through year-round programs of education, service and fund raising. A good portion of the contributions raised by TAP members has helped the March of Dimes finance its rapidly growing nationwide network of 77 birth defects centers for diagnosis and treatment of infants born less than perfect.

To carry on this fight, teenagers have raised money for the March of Dimes by holding dances, basketball games, car washes, skating parties, and by selling everything from balloons to spaghetti dinners.

Who are these teens? And how have they channeled their energies into the TAP movement?

Paul Petersen, a native of Glendale, Calif., is one teenage idol who is serious about education. In high school he maintained a straight A average, and in college he is now an honor student in night school and university extension courses.

For two years Paul was TAP chairman in Los Angeles. Then, in 1965, he was named national co-chairman along with Luci Baines Johnson, the younger daughter of the President.

TEENAGE IDOL PAUL PETERSEN signs his autograph in a big hand for the little lady, Donna Dill. Both have signed up for the fight against birth defects—Paul as national Teen Age Program chairman and Donna as March of Dimes 1967 National Poster Child.

The National Foundation offers the Luci Baines Johnson Service Award to young adults who best exemplify the significant contribution of youth to the fight against birth defects.

The TAP co-chairman of Baltimore, Md., 18-year-old David Green, is the 1966 national winner of this award. Among his accomplishments was the organization of educational, service and fund-raising programs involving more than 75 youth groups. This year he is president of his high school student council.

A 17-year-old Denver, Colo., resident is the western area winner. Carolyn Beck, state TAP chairman and a high school honor student, raised $1,400 for The Salk Institute for Biological Studies in 1965 with the help of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Thomas M. Johnston, 18, Warsaw, Ind., the midwest area winner, organized a series of dances to raise funds for the March of Dimes and built his chapter TAP membership to more than 400. A former high school honor student and president of his student council, he is now studying at Indiana University.

Southern area winner, John Thomason, 17, Corpus Christi, Tex., was able to organize 800 teenagers in a successful shopping center sale to raise money to fight birth defects. He is now a student at Baylor University.

Many March of Dimes TAP volunteers are honor students, leaders in school and members of many youth service groups. All TAPs share the common interest of helping to bring about the day when every child has the chance to grow up healthy.

Make Mondays Legal Holidays?

"Should the dates of certain holidays be changed so that they fall on Mondays regularly, thereby creating a number of three-day weekends throughout the year?"

That's the question Kenneth W. Haagensen, executive vice president of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, is asking these days. It is in the form of a survey being conducted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Haagensen would like some opinions from Wisconsin citizens before he answers the questionnaire.

The idea is relatively new. The objective is not to establish new or added holidays. It is simply to schedule existing holidays on fixed Mondays to provide long weekends, such as the Labor Day observance.

"But for obvious reasons," said Haagensen, "Christmas and New Year's are not included in the proposed changes."

Changes suggested would cover up to five other public holidays. Under the plan, Washington's Birthday (Feb. 22) would be changed to the third Monday in February; Memorial Day (May 30) would be changed to the last Monday in May; Independence Day (July 4) to the first Monday in July; Veterans Day (Nov. 11) either the first or second Monday in November.

One suggestion is that Veterans' Day be placed on a Monday in April because the March-April period has no designated holiday, while November already has Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving—now the fourth Thursday in November—would be changed to the third or fourth Monday of that month.

Haagensen, who hasn't taken a position on the proposals yet, said the chief reason for advocating the change to Monday observances seems to be the social benefit for the general public.

"Champions of the plan cite that such regular three-day weekends would provide people with more opportunities for rest and relaxation," stated the State Chamber executive. "Obviously, three-day weekends would benefit the Wisconsin tourist industry greatly, giving people more time to visit our state," he continued.

Haagensen cited three economic reasons that have been advanced by proponents of the plan. Uniform Monday observances would . . .

1. Reduce the absenteeism that sometimes surrounds holidays that fall in mid-week.

2. Avoid the production interruptions caused by mid-week holidays; and

3. Create a sales stimulus for many types of businesses whose products and services would be useful in the new-found time for recreation.

Advocates of the changed dates for certain holidays agree that there would be a disruption of "tradition." But, they suggest, the presently established dates are not necessarily traditional in every sense.

For instance, Thanksgiving dates have been shifted repeatedly—the last time in 1941 by Congressional resolution.

Washington's Birthday was on Feb. 11 until the British introduced the Gregorian calendar in the colonies. Then it jumped to Feb. 22.

Independence Day could be celebrated on July 2, since that was the date on which the resolution of independence was adopted.

Memorial Day was strictly for Civil War soldier dead until World War I, when it was expanded to cover all war casualties.

The same is true of Armistice Day, marking the end of World War I. It was changed to Veterans' Day under President Eisenhower, honoring all war veterans.

Haagensen said that neither the State Chamber nor the National Chamber is seeking legislation to pave the way for uniform Monday holidays.

"All we want is an expression of opinion," he stated. The National Chamber poll is strictly advisory; it does not constitute a policy declaration. We do know that some companies have adopted this new schedule for some but not all of the holidays in this present survey."

Written opinions from Wisconsin citizens on uniform Monday holidays should be sent to the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1143, Madison, Wisconsin 53701.

First Career Day Is Success With Local College Students

Despite one of the worst snow blizzards of the year, 27 area college juniors and seniors attended the first Career Opportunity Day held Wednesday, Dec. 28, at the West Bend High School cafeteria. The students, from colleges and universities throughout the country, had the opportunity to discuss present and future job openings with various West Bend area firms. The purpose of Career Opportunity Day is to seek qualified college students to fill the personnel needs of local businesses, industries, and schools after graduation.

In his address to the students, Bernard Ziegler stated: "One of the most important questions you, as individuals, must answer is 'Where will I go to foster my goals?' To answer this question," he said, "you must take an inventory of your abilities, goals, likes and dislikes, your personality assets and liabilities; the standard of living you desire. Then, locate a community that will best suit your personal requirements. You can judge a city and community in many ways—its lakes, golf courses, utilities, schools, churches, hospitals, airports, city and county facilities; and, most importantly its businesses and industries. But, most important and overshadowing all others, are its people. Our local communities have been able to attract many new people each year who bring fresh and constructive ideas with them. This is the secret to a progressive community. With this in mind, we hope that you will consider the West Bend area for your future," he stated.

This was the first program of this type to be held in Washington county. Plans are currently underway to hold a similar program on a larger scale in 1967. Dave Wolf, acting as chairman for the event stated, "We hope to encourage many more businesses and industries to participate in a similar event next year. A program of this type offers an excellent opportunity for them to become acquainted with the wealth of talent available in students who attended local area high schools and are now completing studies throughout the country's colleges and universities."

Catholic Women Hold Day of Recollection

A Day of Recollection for all Catholic women of District 13 of the Milwaukee Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women was held at Holy Angels parish, West Bend, on Wednesday, Nov. 30. About 90 women representing the 19 affiliated parishes of the district attended.

The meeting was opened with prayer and scripture reading followed by a talk given by Father Norm Frederick of St. Mary's parish, Port Washington. He defined the role of "A Christian Woman" in today's world. Father James Konezny of Holy Angels parish, West Bend, defined "What It Means to Be a Christian." The object of Christian living is loving Christ and serving Christ, being His hands and feet to other people. Christianity means being aware of the outside world and needs of others. Every person met is an eternal responsibility. When living the role of a Christian, happiness reigns at home and in the world.

Discussions and a lively question and answer period followed. Posters were made by groups of women on related ideas received from the talks.

Celebration of the Eucharist, Feast of St. Andrew was held at 12:00 noon followed by a dinner served by the Christian Mothers in the Walnut Room of Holy Angels school.

The Day of Recollection was a most rewarding day of intellectual and spiritual enlightenment for all who attended.

The old houn dawg—a long-time fixture in Holiday On Ice—has been retired and a tiger has taken his place. However, the tiger has the same locomotion the houn dawg had—with Alfredo Mendoza and John La Due doing the manipulating. The tiger will make his initial appearance with Holiday when it plays the Milwaukee Arena from Jan. 20 through Jan. 29. The young lady in the picture is Jane Morris—just to make possible the caption "Beauty and the Beast."

Indians Drubbed By Lomira, 74-50

The Kewaskum Indians returned to basketball action after the holiday layoff with a non-conference game at Lomira Tuesday night. The Lions, unbeaten leaders in the Fox Valley Tri-County conference, easily trimmed the Indians, fifth place holders in the Scenic Moraine conference with a 1-3 record, by a score of 74-50.

Gerry Meyer and Dennis Sampson both pulled down 12 rebounds to lead Lomira to a ragged victory over Kewaskum. The real fireman for the Lions was Karl Rusch, who came off the bench in the second quarter and scored seven of his 10 points. Thanks to Rusch, the Lions turned a 14-13 first quarter deficit into a rousing 31-24 half-time lead. Lomira outscored the Indians by large margins, 23-14 in the third quarter, and 20-12 in the final period, to win by a sizable 24 point margin.

Jeff Unferth dropped in 20 points for the Lions to lead all scorers. Top scorers for the losers were Mike Miller with 13 points, Bill Backhaus with 11 and Schuster with 10.

In two other non-conference tilts Tuesday North Fondy bested Berlin, 77-70, and Campbellspport beat Rosendale, 71-51.

The Indians will resume conference action tonight (Friday) when they play at Random Lake. Tuesday they will travel to Slinger.

March of Dimes Physician Opposes Institutions for Birth Defect Victims

The human stampede is under way the moment the tall doctor strides into the waiting room.

With a flying tackle, a five-year-old, born with nine birth defects, catches him around one thigh, and refuses to let go. A little girl, who's only four and has been blind since birth, knows instinctively he's arrived and gleefully latches on to his belt.

"A typical day," Dr. Paul H. LaMarche says cheerfully to a visitor as he peels off the children and sidesteps a phalanx of advancing mothers.

The embattled doctor is director of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Rhode Island Hospital, Providence. He is a pediatrician who feels strongly that the last place for a defective child, with few exceptions, is an institution for the handicapped.

"We regard it here as part of the Bill of Rights that all of these children with birth defects are entitled to the best diagnosis and treatment, regardless of race, finances or superstitions of the past," Dr. LaMarche says.

"A decade ago, even five years ago, almost every one of these children would have been sent to some institution. There they would have been forgotten as they wasted away and sometimes died. These tragedies still happen. But more and more of these afflicted children are with their parents in their own homes, where they belong, learning to become useful citizens."

A tousled five-year-old yells "Hi, Doc!" and buries a small fist in the pediatrician's midriff.

"Craig here thinks he's another Jack Dempsey. Maybe some day he will be. He was born with a good part of his spinal cord, membranes and nerves sticking out of his back. We repaired the opening and today he swings by his knees from the monkey bars at school and climbs his neighbor's trees to swipe apples. But most medical thinking at the time of Craig's birth was that a meningomyelocele always meant you had a paraplegic on your hands—total paralysis below the waist."

Another five-year-old named Tommy is a classic case in the annals of children who have survived despite multiple congenital malformations.

"Tommy has known just about every severe birth defect in the book," the pediatrician says, "from dislocated hips and elbows to cleft palate and curvature of the spine."

"Despite all this, Tommy's life now is pretty much that of normal kids. He plays ball and gets into the usual small-boy mischief. He's in the stream of life where he belongs."

Gilda, born without eyes, has a radiant smile although in her sightless world there would seem little to smile about. "The basic aim," Dr. LaMarche says, "is to get Gilda into nursery school as soon as possible. Artificial eyes will improve her appearance, minimize comment from the unthinking, and help eliminate the stigma that cruelly but inevitably attaches to the blind."

Thus the mending of these small defective bodies progresses each week at the Birth Defects Center in Providence, just as it does in San Francisco and Denver and Chicago and at more than 70 other March of Dimes Centers across the nation.
