Car Stolen Here Sunday Recovered In West Allis

A car parked in front of the Kewaskum Theatre was stolen Sunday afternoon and was not recovered until late Monday afternoon, when it was found abandoned on the street in West Allis.

The operator of the auto was Marvin A. Tanck, 17, of R. 1, Fredonia, a student at Kewaskum Community High school. Tanck parked his 1961 sedan owned by his father, Alfred Tanck, in front of the theatre at 3:45 p. m. He was in the theatre about an hour and when he came out at 4:45 p. m. the car was missing. The keys were left in the ignition.

Passage of Trading Stamp Bill Is Urged By Local Residents

Madison, March 15—Three Kewaskum area residents were among 22 Wisconsin business and labor leaders and homemakers who today urged passage of a bill to permit Wisconsin residents to get merchandise in exchange for trading stamps.

They were Carl W. Wertz, sales manager for the Premium Division of Regal Ware, whose firm, he said, sells millions of dollars worth of merchandise to the trading stamp industry.

Support for 200S was also given before a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing by Joe Gruber of the Regal Ware plant, and Norbert Kane, AFL-CIO representative in Washington county. Washington county retailers benefit from payroll made possible in part by sales to trading companies, the Regal Ware spokesmen said.

The proposal to end Wisconsin's 50-year-old prohibition on trading stamp merchandise has support from 1,000 firms whose combined sales to the trading stamp companies are estimated to be more than $35 million per year, said Ray O. Jondahl of Racine, president of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, who also spoke in behalf of the proposal.

George W. Hall, secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO, Milwaukee, also asked for support of the measure pointing out that it will help maintain and create new jobs in Wisconsin.

The bill was introduced March 3 by Senators Frank E. Panzer of Brownsville and Arthur A. Cirilli of Superior.

Statements in support of it were given by Mrs. A. F. Krohn of Madison, Mrs. Howard Hodgson of Sun Prairie and Mrs. Richard Berghs of Greendale who described themselves as typical housewives who like the trading stamp merchandise available in neighboring states.

Also appearing before the committee were executives and union representatives from other leading Wisconsin firms that supply

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my beloved wife, Ella E. Glass, who passed away one year ago, March 31, 1966:

In memory you will linger,
Dear one for all the time.
I will always, always miss you,
For you left me all alone to pine.
Up in Heaven your Father's waiting
For you, dear one of mine,
And you are waiting there for me I know.
Soon will come my time.
Then will be the happy meeting
When dear ones unite,
In God's Kingdom in Heaven
I will meet you in delight.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

735 E. South St.
Lawrence University
Appleton, Wis.
March 6, 1967

Kewaskum Statesman
Kewaskum, Wisconsin
Dear Mr. Harbeck:

After reading the "Letters to the Editor" column in the March 3, 1967 issue of the "Statesman" I feel compelled to reply to the letter therein printed. Having previously taken a college course entitled "Psychology of Education," and being presently enrolled in the "Philosophy of Education" course, my thoughts have frequently turned to the type of system in which I received my high school education. I find myself preparing here to write a defense of the practices and the theories supporting such a philosophy of education.

I can not agree that money is being wasted when students are taught such subjects as algebra, physics, geometry, chemistry, etc. I think I can answer the question "Why do we teach them these things?"

When I was a freshman at Kewaskum High School seven years ago, we students were aware that the curriculum that we elected was dependent on the direction in which we were headed after high school graduation. i. e., college, marriage, a trade, business, etc. It is true that we had to take several courses, but we were also able to elect courses in which we were interested, or if not interested, those which would be of value to us later on. As a high school student I frequently joined those who claimed that courses such as algebra and geometry were a waste of time. My interests and abilities being more oriented toward languages, and social studies, I was particularly vehement in my opinion. However, now I must admit that these courses were extremely valuable to me. I maintain that even if I had not decided to go to college, these courses still would have been beneficial to me as a human being who will never be able to avoid having to choose between alternatives, having to make decisions. Thinking clearly and logically is important if it is desirable that the correct decision is to be made; mathematics contribute significantly to developing one's ability to reason. To cite an example: Recalling our plane geometry high school courses, we will remember the numerous theorems to which we were exposed. If these theorems are really understood (not merely learned by rote drill), we can transfer the knowledge gained from that course to other areas of our lives; i. e., we can apply the logical steps employed in "solving" the theorem to problems in our lives that demand a rational resolution. Man is a rational being and a geometry course helps him to develop his rationality. And this ability to think logically is significant regardless of the path of life man follows. Therefore, I feel it would be inexcusable to delete this important subject from all the high school curriculum. I would rather see it required for all students, not just those who are college bound.

In regard to those high school graduates who take jobs after graduation, I feel they receive adequate preparation under our present system. I agree that a four-year high school can not possibly train young people for every occupation they might be interested in or might pursue, but I feel that a specialized school after high school is the answer to this problem. In response to the hypothesis that high school graduates "often take the first job that is available to them, and it probably is not the type of work they are best suited for," I can only say that it is the individual graduate's fault if he does not conscientiously apply for jobs and consider alternatives.

I do not believe that a person at the age of fourteen or fifteen is ready to decide what occupation he will pursue for the rest of his life; his experiences are not varied enough. I am a firm advocate of a liberal education; liberal in the sense of broad as opposed to narrow and limited. If a student is exposed to many fields of discipline in high school, he will be able to make a rational decision late marriage, college, or a job. We no longer follow the custom of a child assuming his parent's role in society. Each person can choose for himself. It is the school's responsibility to acquaint him with as many fields as possible so that he can really make a choice, i. e., allow and help him to see the various opportunities that are open to him. Then, when he does make his choice, he will be more likely to be happy with it; and if he is happy with the role in society he has chosen for himself, and he will perform much better. It would be a gross injustice to allow "teachers and parents to determine what the child is suited for." This is defying a basic principle of our democracy. It is undoubtedly true that "Throughout our nation . . . there are millions of people who are not doing the kind of work that they are best suited for." In my opinion this is because these people might not have realized, perhaps, a latent talent (which, by the way, could be realized through acquaintance with numerous disciplines in high school), or because these people were not conscientious enough to explore all the occupations available to him early in life.

The U. S. educational system can be improved. However, I can not agree that including such courses as algebra, geometry, chemistry, etc. to the curriculum is contributing to a "wasteful education." I would like to state explicitly that I am not opposed to vocational schools. However, in my estimation, the young person should attend a high school such as we have in our community and should see as many of the paths that he can follow before he makes the crucial decision. My opinion is that this would be a thorough education; then he can specialize and feel safe that he has made the correct decision.

I believe the program newly initiated in the West Bend High school system (under which upper class high school students are learning about job opportunities by experiencing them first hand), is an excellent innovation in education. Assuming that students take numerous required courses during their first two or three years of high school, the mature senior will be ready to try a particular field. I am also assuming that he will not be obligated to accept the position after graduation. Give the young person enough possibilities from which to choose. Then you will insure his happiness and, in turn, better performance which will improve our society.

It is quite likely that the value of the high school courses to which I have referred is often obscured. The longer we are out of formal schooling the more difficult it is to differentiate between knowledge that is innate and knowledge that we have assimilated through formal education. Speaking as one who has recently graduated from high school and one who is still a student in formal education, I feel compelled to relate the significant contribution such courses can make to our development as educated, rational adults who can emerge from adolescence as responsible citizens in our democratic society. I believe this is a realistic, not an idealistic, philosophy.

I would appreciate it if you would publish this in your paper. Thank you for your time and patience.

Yours truly,
Colleen E. Held

Cancer Patients of County Can Obtain Free Dressings

Washington county cancer patients needing dressings can obtain them free of charge from the American Cancer Society by presenting a referral card signed by their physician to Mrs. William Thorin, 151 Forest ave., West Bend. Mrs. Thorin is service chairman for the Washington county unit of the American Cancer Society.

The society reserves the right to limit the distribution of dressings to non-hospitalized patients except in cases of indigence.

This service is just one of many available from the American Cancer Society in Washington county. It is made possible by the contributions of local citizens during the society's annual crusade.

During the past year, the American Cancer Society in the United States provided cancer patients with almost 16 million surgical dressings which were made by 158,478 volunteers.

The stated goal of the society's service committee is to "aid in saving lives by supporting physicians' efforts to provide earlier and improved treatment of cancer" as well as to "bring greater comfort to cancer patients and to ease the burden on their families."

The American Cancer Society of Washington county will hold its 1967 Educational and Fund-Raising Crusade during the month of April. Volunteer workers are needed.

FLYNN BACK FROM SECOND TOUR OF DUTY AT VIETNAM

Marine Lance Corporal David L. Flynn of Kewaskum returned to Alameda, Calif. aboard the USS Coral Sea, when the attack aircraft carrier completed her second tour of duty in the Vietnam war zone.

The 20-year old marine is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Flynn, who live at 204 Main st. in Kewaskum.

As a member of the marine detachment, he knows shipboard routine and naval customs and ceremonies, as well as his job of being a combat ready marine.

He works with the ship's company performing security duty, and has a working knowledge of the weapons found in the Coral Sea's armory. Whenever required, he may act as part of an honor guard, and he may be called to act as an orderly for the commanding officer or executive officer.

Speaking of the importance of each man on his ship, Coral Sea's skipper, Captain Frank W. Ault, said, "Everyone serving on the Coral Sea is a member of our ship's fighting team. I consider his job, regardless of its physical remoteness from the actual flight operations, to be a very real and vital contribution to the success of these operations."

Fruit Growers to Hold Annual Meet

The Washington-Dodge County Fruit Growers association will hold their annual meeting on Monday, March 27, according to Mrs. Reuben Koch, chairman. The meeting will be at the Moraine Supper Club south of West Bend, starting at 10 a. m. and going through the afternoon.

The main items for discussion will be how to use the insect spray schedules, proper spray techniques, and proper fertilizing of fruit trees.

The association at the present time numbers about 60 in the two counties, according to Mrs. Koch. While each of these people has received a personal letter, others are also invited to attend who may not be members of the association at the present time.

George Klingbeil, University of Wisconsin fruit production specialist, will meet with the group, as will Ed Bergstrom of Dodge County University Extension.

Surprise! Easter Eggs Of Fondant

Easter eggs old hat? Not when they're a no-cook fondant made the Borden Kitchen way with sweetened condensed milk. Magic Easter Egg Fondant: (Makes 2 lbs.—enough for 2-dozen medium-size eggs)

In a medium-size mixing bowl cream together 1/2-cup butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, and 1 teaspoon salt. Blend in 2/3-cup sweetened condensed milk until smooth. (For best results use only Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk.) Gradually add 6-cups (about 1-1/2-lbs.) sifted Confectioners' sugar. Blend well after each addition until the mixture becomes very stiff; turn onto a clean board. Carefully knead in all remaining sugar. The mixture should be smooth, not sticky. Cut mixture into the desired number of pieces, separating according to number of flavor variations desired (see below). With palms of hands, shape each piece into an egg; place on a waxed-paper-lined cookie sheet. Refrigerate for several hours or overnight. Dip eggs in Dipping Chocolate.

FLAVOR VARIATIONS: Coconut, Immediately after all of the sugar has been kneaded into the Basic Fondant mixture, gradually knead in 3/4-cup flaked coconut. Almond, In the above Magic Easter Egg Fondant recipe, substitute 1 teaspoon almond extract for vanilla extract OR cream in 1 (8-oz.) can almond paste. Follow directions as indicated in basic recipe.

DIPPING CHOCOLATE: Put 8 squares (1/2-lb.) semi-sweet chocolate and 1/3-1/2 slab household paraffin wax in top of double boiler. Place over hot water. Heat over medium-heat. (Never melt paraffin over direct heat.) Stir with wire whisk until chocolate is melted and well blended. Remove from heat. Insert double-pronged kitchen fork into bottom of chilled fondant egg (or place egg on a flat wire skimmer). Dip into chocolate; let excess chocolate drip for a moment. Carefully place dipped egg on waxed-paper-lined cookie sheet. Stir chocolate thoroughly with wire whisk before dipping each egg. If chocolate begins to cool and thicken, place over low heat and gently reheat. Let coating dry. Decorate with butter cream frosting.

Benefit Game For Des Smith Nets $216.05

LAKES TEAM SHADES OLD TIMERS BY 91-83 SCORE

The basketball game played for the benefit of Des Smith on Sunday night in the high school gym was well attended and a total of $216.05 was realized from the contest. This amount was presented to Des by the players, who together with the officials and other participants, donated their services.

Teams involved in the game were the regular Land o' Lakes league squad of the past season and a team of "old timers" or retired players of the area. The "old timers" gave the Lakes team a torrid battle all the way before losing by a close score of 91-83. The final margin would have been only six points if Allen Tessar hadn't donated a basket to Ted Miller. The "old timers" cheated slightly by having six men on the floor on a couple of occasions and there were other moments of comedy in the contest to go along with the serious basketball.

Some of the former Lakes stars showed they still have a lot of basketball left in them. John Tessar was the star of old, leading his team in scoring with 19 points. He hasn't lost his touch, just some of his speed and stamina, and played only part of the game. Other former aces like Augie Bilgo with 11 points, Wayland Tessar with 9 and Frank Krueger with 8 also showed they still had it but not for any length of time.

The "old timers" had a large squad of 16 players (more than enough for three teams) and could throw in substitutes freely, which they did, or should we say they had to do. Other members of their squad and the points scored included "Hefty" Backhaus, 0, Dave Nigh 3, "Bud" Perkins 1, Ellie Ramthun 2, "Red" Stautz 5, Bill Webben 8, Allen Tessar 0, Ken Erickson 3, Norb Rohlinger 6, "Doc" Rumsey 5, Rog Schleif 3, Ray Mertzig 0.

Mike Coulter paced the Lakes team with 27 points, followed by Ralph Bier with 15, Gary Gerhartz 14, Don Meisenheimer 13, Al Tennes 8, Earl DuBois, Tom Larsen and Ted Miller with 4 apiece, Al Koepke 2. In all fairness it must be mentioned that the Lakes team substituted just as freely and didn't exactly hustle like it was the World Series or Super Bowl playoff.

The Lakers led at the quarter 27-11, at the half 48-41, at the third quarter 67-60. The weak eyes of the "old timers" on free throws hurt them. They sank only 14, while the bright eyes of the Lakers were good for 25.

Officials for the struggle were "Fast Whistle" Behnke and "Slow Toot" Wieter. Live music was played between halves. The contest had to be halted for a few minutes in the second half while his teammates carried Roger Schleif off the floor on a stretcher as part of the fun. The crowd enjoyed every minute of it.

Rosenheimer Names Coultas Chairman Of Cancer Crusade

DIRECTORS, COMMITTEES LISTED FOR APRIL DRIVE

For the second consecutive year, Warren Coultas, West Bend, has been named chairman of the American Cancer Society's annual Crusade in Washington county, according to Lehman Rosenheimer, Kewaskum, unit president.

The society will hold its 1967 educational and fund-raising Crusade during the month of April which has been declared Cancer Control Month by presidential proclamation. Special emphasis will be centered on cancer's warning signals during this year's Crusade.

"The warning signals of cancer are most important," Rosenheimer said. "If one goes to his doctor when he is alerted by a signal, and if cancer is found, the chance of cure is greatly increased."

Lists of the warning signals will be distributed in person by American Cancer Society volunteers during the Crusade.

Directors of the Washington county unit who will be active in the campaign, in addition to Rosenheimer and Coultas, are: M. J. Gonring, Sr., Mrs. Harold Fischer, Ruth Hess, Mrs. Betsy Schultz, Mrs. William Thorin, Mrs. E. A. Neese, George Lockwood, J. G. McCollow, L. E. Tollack, Dr. James Baumgartner, T. J. Kenny, H. D. Sheski, Mrs. Marjorie Wendt, Anton Staral and Dr. J. R. Reilly, all of West Bend; Mrs. Roman Baus, Dr. Robert Nickels, John Underwood, Dean Mitchell, Dr. James Algiers, Dr. Hugh Etteldorf, Mrs. R. R. Horst, Jr. and Wayne Chaplin, all of Hartford; Chester Rheingans, Jackson and Ray Hildendorf, Germantown.

Officers of the group are: Guido Schroeder, West Bend, chairman of the board; Lehman Rosenheimer, Kewaskum, president; John J. Shinnars, Hartford, first vice president; Jack Killcen, Slinger, second vice president; Ruth Hess, West Bend, secretary, and M. J. Gonring, Jr., treasurer.

Committee chairmen are: Mrs. Harold Fischer and Mrs. Morton J. Whitney, West Bend, public education; Dr. Robert Nickels, Hartford, professional education; Mrs. William Thorin, West Bend, service; Mrs. Elwood Neese, West Bend, memorials and legacies; L. E. Tollack, West Bend, public relations and publicity; T. J. Kenny, West Bend, and Mayor T. J. Buckley, Hartford, special gifts.

Crusade Chairman Coultas immediately issued a call for volunteers to assist the society during its April campaign.

"Because cancer is a problem that demands urgent attention and because of the great deal of work involved in a neighbor-to-neighbor Crusade of this nature, many people are needed if the job that needs doing is to be done," Coultas said.

4-H Club News

KEWASKUM 4-H'ERS

A toboggan party was held in the Kettle Moraine area, near the Byron Dei residence. A good time was had by everyone. Gerald Secor gave the club $5.00 he got for helping a man get his car out of the snow. We also would like to thank the parents who helped with the transportation.

Our club started a point system where so many points can be earned by participating in activities. They will be especially honored at the end of the year.

The 4-H'ers had the honor of participating in the "Show of Shows" at Germantown. They gave the play "Reachin' for the Moon." Much experience was gained through presenting it.

Mrs. Leland Schaub helped judge our posters for the County 4-H Poster and Speaking contest. Winners were Linda and Ellen Secor, Debra Brendemuhl, Douglas Strack and Colleen Frank. Runners up were Bethena Seefeldt and Tom Schoofs.

Winners in the speech contest were judged by the officers of club. Janice Panzer, Dennis Smith and Karen Secor were selected to go to the county. Runners up were Alvin Panzer, Jr. and Bethena Seefeldt.

A radio broadcasting skit, directed by Colleen Frank, was given by Ed. Kleinke, Dennis Smith, David Schaub, Sandra Schleif, Yvonne Kleinke and Alice Weddig.

Members signed up to work for the Heart Fund.

At the County Speaking contest Karen Secor won 1st, Dennis Smith won 2nd, and Janice Panzer won 4th.

Reports were given on the play by Dennis Smith, Explorers by Michael Buss and Karen Frank and on the "Alice in Dairyland" parade and firemen's picnic by Joan Schoofs.

Tom Dei, Ellen Secor, Debra Strack, Ed. Kleinke and Gerald Schoofs gave a skit called "I Do! I Do! I Do!" directed by Colleen Frank.

Recognition Given To Kober, Edwards

TOP AGENTS IN DISTRICT PRESENTED AWARDS, TRIP

At a recent meeting of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company held at the district office in Sheboygan, special recognition was given to the leaders for the year 1966. The manager, Ray Miller, presented special awards to George Kober and Richard Edwards, the two leading regular agents of the entire district.

Both of these field men attained President Club status which entitle them also to a special plaque in recognition of placing well in excess of half million on new insurance for the year. They also received an all expense trip to French Lick, Ind. in May of this year where they will be greeted by various executives of the company from New York and also the regional manager from Milwaukee.

Kober is a 32-year veteran with Metropolitan and is, of course, well known in the West Bend and Kewaskum area as the entire area was serviced by him until just recently. Edwards, of Kewaskum, has just completed two full years with Metropolitan which, of course, makes his recognition most outstanding.

Needless to say, both Agency Manager Johnson and District Manager Miller expressed their deep feeling of pride to have these two gentlemen represent the company in the area and be a part
