The $6,000 differential is a maximum estimate due to the Peace Church Warns contractor's provisions to cover increased construction costs that may result before the pool is completed.

The pool would be built without the tunnel construction specified in the original plans and building would be steel framed.

POOL SIZE UNCHANGED

The $74,000 or $80,000 reduced cost was achieved without reducing the "Olympic" size pool specified in the original plans. It will be 42 feet by 75 feet with 3,150 square feet of swimming and diving area. An outdoor, circular wading pool, 18 inches in depth, would also be included.

Now that S & H Green Stamps are no longer available in Kewas kum, many residents may be tempted to throw out their partly filled stamp books and loose stamps. Don't do it.

Project Concern needs S & H Green Stamps and needs them badly. The Kewaskum Juniors are collecting these savings stamps for Project Concern to be redeemed and used for the many worthwhile medical relief projects it undertakes.

What is Project Concern? It is an independent, non-profit medical relief organization, founded by Dr. James W. Turpin. It receives its total support from individual contributors and operates indefic religious affiliation. Founded

Mae Seil Bride Of James Giese

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of nylon sheer and lace with fitted Empire bodice, scoop neckline, and long sleeves with lace cuff. The A-line skirt was detailed with bands of lace at front and pearl trimmed lace motifs accented the waist. The detachable train was edged with a wide band of lace. A flower headpiece of Venice lace and miniature pearls held her handrolled, scalloped edge silk illusion veil, which was sprinkled with seed pearls

Mrs. Robert Hiers, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was seen in a blue, floor length Aline gown with Empire bodice, and short sleeves accented with Venice lace. Matching lace was repeated on the back panel. She wore a four tier veil headpiece, and carried a snowball of mums to match her dress. The bridesmaids, Cheryl Giese, sister of the bridegroom, Jean Miske, cousin of the bride, and Jean Klug were similarly attired in maize, pink and green dresses and carried a snowball type bouquet of mums to match their gowns.

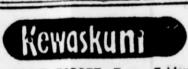

William Prost attended his cousin as best man, with groomsmen Randall Giese, brother of the bridegroom, Francis Seil, brother of the bride, and Elmer Giese, uncle of the bridegroom. The bride's brother, Kenneth Seil, and Richard Maurer, cousin of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

The wedding supper, reception and dance was held at the Wigwam in Kewaskum.

The young couple will make their home at 401 Main st. in Kewaskum, Mrs. Giese, a 1968 graduate of Kewaksum High school, is a stenographer at Regal Ware, Inc. Her husband is a 1967 graduate of Kewaskum High school and is presently serving with the U. S. Army. He left for Germany on Nov. 12.
