Board Hears Report on Study Made Of Proposed School Addition Site

High School Will Have Full-Time Enrollment of 722

CENSUS SHOWS 51 MORE CHILDREN IN DISTRICT

By Ruth Held
of the Kewaskum Statesman

Members of the board of education Monday night heard a brief oral report on the topographical study made of the site of the proposed addition to the present high school here. The area is adjacent to the school.

A detailed written report was filed with Supt. Marshall Boyd by Jack Fieweger and John Millsap of the architectural firm of Schutte-Mochon, Inc. The school board authorized the study in connection with a district-wide, long-range building program on which the Schutte-Mochon firm has done a cost survey totaling $3,009,183.

Fieweger said the soils report is generally good. He reported the soil on the west half of the site is "very good;" that on the east half "not so good" but that the soil in the area beneath a proposed swimming pool "is in the better part". The new addition would skirt the area in which there was a water problem in last year's original pool plan that was defeated.

The pool is included as an alternate plan at a cost of $280,500. The project cost survey includes an addition to the Wayne Elementary School, listed at $186,247; one to the Farmington Elementary, listed at $157,219; and the high school addition at $2,385,217.

The board also viewed sketches showing grade levels of the proposed high school, two-floor, 101,110 square foot addition that will increase the student capacity to "roughly 1,200." Fieweger said "there are no problems grade-wise."

Citing building needs, Boyd said the present high school was built for 750 students. High school enrollment is 650 but when school opens next month, about 145 junior high students will be spending one-half of their school day in the high school building, bringing the full-time enrollment at the high school to about 722.

The Wayne School and the high school are equal in building needs priority. Boyd said the additions are planned on a four per cent population growth basis and projections have been accurate since 1964. Each year has found the need for two classrooms.

He reported the school census just completed shows there are 51 more families and 51 more children in the district than there were last year. The largest increase is reflected in the group up to one year of age. There is a leveling in the four to ten year old group. From that point, totals go up a gain.

The high school addition will be planned in an open concept design with large instructional areas rather than the conventional four-walled classroom.

The question "what is our next step?" brought the opinions that

"though we are a long way from actually building, the long-range plan should be brought up for discussion at the annual electors' meeting July 27."

The board indicated it favors a "package building plan" as opposed to building piecemeal and the architectural firm's representatives were asked to prepare basic information that can be presented to the electors at the annual meeting.

In attendance Monday night, at the invitation of the present board, were the candidates seeking election to the school board.

A contract was approved for John Thalacker, a graduate of Stout State University, to teach industrial arts and mathematics. The teaching staff is now complete.

Ambulance Calls

Friday, July 10, 12:45 p. m.—Paul Ermer, 1326 Kewaskum St., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ermer, removed to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, when he experienced difficulty in breathing.

At 8:50 p. m. Saturday the West Bend fire department rescue squad was called to 4035 Kettle Park, R. 2, Kewaskum, when Wilton Randy Stone, 12, of Wildwood, Ill. suffered a possible fracture of the right leg while playing baseball. He was given first aid and taken to St. Joseph's Community Hospital.

The Worst Is Yet to Come

Statesman Gets Around... Ad Sells Summer Sausage in Far Off Vietnam

Some time back Rose Miller's present duty assignment (Vietnam) precludes my beating a path to your door (and thus following your famous "Don't Write — Stop In" policy), so I must impose on your good will and mailing facilities.

Could you please send one Rammer's Summer Sausage to me, and also one each to both my father and my father-in-law (both ardent sausage lovers). Their addresses are as follows:

Dr. F. A. Chagan
637 S. Bowman Ave.
Merion Station, Pa. 19066

Mr. Robert E. Graves
406 S. Lincoln
Springfield, Ill. 62704

A check is enclosed to cover expenses. Please let me know if the amount is sufficient.

Thanks for your assistance. And next time I am within 200 miles of Kewaskum I will definitely make it a point to "stop in."

Best regards,
(Capt.) Allan M. Chagan

I think a "P.S." is in order; I am a friend of Bob's having gone thru 23 weeks of OCS with him, spent 2 years in Germany, and finally find that we are virtual neighbors in Long Binh, Vietnam.

It was thru Bob that my introduction to Rammer's Summer Sausage came about. (Those "Don't Write — Stop In" pencils somehow turned up at OCS).

But the "worst" is yet to come. Rose will have to select the sausages, wrap and package them just right so they won't spoil in shipment, and pay the postage on the sausages. Then, too, there is the problem of whether the check will cover the cost. A minor problem, Rose!

Anyway here is the letter Capt. Chagan sent to Mrs. Miller:

Long Binh
7 July 1970

Dear Mrs. Miller:

While thumbing through an old copy of the "Kewaskum Statesman," I happened upon your ad for the incomparable Rammer's Sheboygan Summer Sausage. My

Girls State Representative Thanks Legion

Robert G. Romaine, Post 384, American Legion, Kewaskum, which sponsored Susan Behnke at Badger Girls State held on the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison June 15-19, received the following letter from Miss Behnke, thanking them for giving her the opportunity to attend and telling of her experiences at Girls State:

230 Clinton St.
Kewaskum, Wis.
June 22, 1970

To The American Legion Post:

We heard many lectures on many things at Badger Girls' State: financing government, governmental structures, law, and even parliamentary procedure. But what impressed me the most, and what I shall remember for the rest of my life, is patriotism, which we learned not from lectures but by experience.

Never in one week have tears come to my eyes or my voice choked with pride so many times as during that week I spent in Madison. No one was ashamed to sing the national anthem or put her hand over her heart and recite the Pledge of Allegiance loudly and clearly. All five hundred and three of us felt as one at these times, and I sincerely thank you for giving me the opportunity to experience this most important part of being an American.

Yours truly,
Susan Behnke

Annual Picnic Here Sunday Is Great Success

THOUSANDS ATTEND; NAME WINNERS IN FINE PARADE

Hot, sunny weather (almost too hot for comfort) helped make the annual Firemen's Picnic held in the village park Sunday another smashing success. Thousands of persons lined the streets for the excellent, hour-long parade at 12:30 p. m. and more thousands streamed into the park for the picnic in the afternoon and evening.

The big parade to start off the event was the usual fine one and very colorful. Highlighting the parade were 11 bands and drum and bugle corps, smaller orchestras and musical organizations, drill teams, baton twirlers, commercial floats, 4-H and other organizational floats, comic entries, children's specialties, ancient and comic cars, visiting firemen and Legionnaires with color bearers, decorated bikes and trikes and other vehicles, equipment, riding horses and numerous other units. The parade was led by the Milwaukee Riders Motorcycle group with classy cycles and uniforms.

The theme for commercial floats in the parade this year was "Sportsmen's Paradise." Cash prize winners in the parade were: 1. Honeck Chevrolet (Reel in a Deal), 2. Jim's Mobil (Keep Our Kettle Moraine Clean), 3. Regal Ware, Inc. 4. Ben Franklin, Campbellsport (Long May It Wave), 5. Held's Store, Campbellsport (Pee Wee Fire Department).

Among the non-commercial and children's float and specialty winners were: 1. Brownie Cadets No. 1, 2. Snoopy's Kids (Jane Loomis), 3. McClain's Kids, 4. Future Senior Citizens (Gruber gang). Honorable mention went to the Wedding children, Kewaskum 4-H Club and B-Mer-E 4-H club's "Ten Commandments."

Following the parade, as people poured into the park, some of the drum and bugle corps and bands performed in front of the stage. Live music was furnished on the stage throughout the afternoon by Two Hits and a Miss and in the beer garden by The Polka Dots. The same two bands played in the evening but switched places. The beer garden again proved to be one of the most popular spots on the grounds where the music and dancing were enjoyed. Thirty-three half barrels of beer were consumed in the beer garden alone not to mention that sold in the two beer stands. There were numerous rides, concessions and amusement stands in operation for entertainment of the crowd. The bratwurst and hamburger stands were also kept busy. Approximately 800 pounds of hamburger were consumed.

In the evening water fights Random Lake firemen's team copied the championship money. Five rounds were fought by six participating teams. In the first round Random Lake beat Allenton, second round, Fillmore defeated Campbellsport; third round, Random Lake beat Boltonville; fourth round, Campbellsport won over the Kewaskum baseball team; fifth and championship round,

SECONDARY THOUGHTS

By the Staff of Kewaskum Community High School

THE ROLE OF THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS IN SECONDARY EDUCATION

By Howard Zemlicka

The teaching of a variety of skills which prepare the student to be a better member of society as a worker or a consumer isn't a new idea. Education in the time of primitive man was provided by the father teaching his sons and the mother teaching her daughters the skills needed for survival. Later, as man entered the age of specialization, teaching evolved as a profession. Many methods of instruction were tried by the people of these societies. A Swiss educator, Pestalozzi, in 1801 advanced the idea that children must learn by doing and discovering for themselves. Thus emerged the underlying theory of the industrial arts—that of learning by doing.

Pestalozzi's ideas were noteworthy for their outstanding success in the instruction of young children. His experiments were so widely acclaimed that educators came from throughout the world to learn of his system. The heart of his approach was that the three r's weren't enough; he believed that children needed the chance to work with their hands as well as their minds in order to develop problem-solving skills. He felt that success in hand work built confidence and interest in school and that a child interested in school would do a better job.

The industrial arts curriculum at Kewaskum High School offers the student a wide variety of courses in the following areas: metals, woods, electricity, drawing, mechanics and graphic arts (printing). The curriculum allows the student to elect and pursue any area or areas he finds interesting. These areas generally offer more than one level of any particular course and some offer as many as three course levels for the student with a high interest in one specific area. We would like to encourage our students to diversify their choices of courses to insure a broader base of experiences for a better general education.

As an example of course offerings within one specific field, I will elaborate on the experiences available in the metals field. As an eighth grader, the student receives instruction in the use of hand tools for measuring, layout, bending and cutting of metals. At the high school level the first course is Metals I where more hand tool work is done as the student is exposed to forging, tempering and heat treating. His first experience with the power metal working machines also is begun here with his basic instruction on drill presses, lathes, milling machines, surface grinders and the sheet metal forming machines. In Metals II the student is given a free choice in choosing a project and assumes all the responsibility of planning and designing, drawing and writing a job sheet or method of production plan, all the while working with fellow students in a simulated on-the-job experience to produce a metal product. The student is expected to produce all the jigs, dies, and necessary special apparatus to produce his product. The student might choose such upper level courses as welding and mechanics to carry on in the metals field.

Other fields in the industrial arts would have a similar course development.

In general the object of our industrial arts curriculum is to prepare our students to be better consumers of industry's products through better critical thinking when choosing and buying a product, to give insight as to what goes on in industry and thus aid in choosing a life's work, to provide the student with basic hand skills that will prove useful in any line of work as well as in leisure activities, and to make the student more diverse in his background so as to help him adjust to the changes in manufacturing techniques in the event that the job he will hold after leaving school ceases to exist.

Upon graduation from high school some of our students enter colleges and vocational schools for more education, others enter apprentice programs for further training. For the majority of our students, however, high school graduation means the end of formal education and the beginning of a life's career. In counseling your child about the choice of courses bear in mind that the ultimate goal of industrial arts is to develop in the student problem solving skills that will serve him in any line of work he might pursue. Education should be preparation for life—industrial arts can make a significant contribution toward this preparation.

West Bend Soprano To Talk at Meeting Of Women Voters

West Bend soprano, Gail Chalfant, will be guest speaker at a special open meeting of the Washington County League of Women Voters, 8:00 p. m., Thursday, July 23, at the home of Mrs. Robert Zinkgraf, 1330 Hawthorn Dr., West Bend. Reservations for interested women may be made through President of the League, Elaine McKinney, 251-0853; 1st Vice President, Mary Allison, 675-6451; 2nd Vice President, Mary Simpson, 673-3740.

Gail will give a demonstration-lecture about the opera, "The Mother of Us All." This opera is of particular interest to the League of Women Voters because it is the story of Susan B. Anthony's fight to get the vote for women in the 19th century. Susan B. Anthony did not live to see woman suffrage voted into law in 1920, 50 years ago; but she debated, lectured, wrote letters and inspired huge crowds with her rhetoric. Gail Chalfant will sing some excerpts from the opera and show how a singer prepares an opera so that it comes to life in the theater.

The West Bend soprano graduated from New England Conservatory of Music with a major in voice. She studied voice there with Mme. Uta Graf. In 1966 she received a Fulbright grant to study opera in London. While at the London Opera Centre, she was coached by Richard Bonyng (Joan Sutherland's husband). She also had dramatic coaching from Boris Goldovsky and Otakar Kraus. Upon her return to this country, she entered and won several national contests, including fourth place in the Metropolitan Opera Contest and first place in the American Opera Auditions, both in 1969. She has appeared in ten operas, singing leading roles, ranging from "Riders to the Sea" (her London debut) to "La Boheme" (at Milwaukee's Skylight Theatre. During the last Christmas season she sang the soprano solos in the "Messiah" in the new Performing Arts Center before a crowd of 2,400. Sentinel critic, J. Joslyn, said the next morning, "Soprano, Gail Chalfant has a full bodied voice which she uses with superb control and beauty." Her next Milwaukee appearance will be at Kocuzco Park, July 29, in the Summer Under the Stars series. She will sing three arias with the Milwaukee Symphony including "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess."

Her experience as a lecturer is varied. She has spoken to grammar school audiences about the opera "Hansel and Gretel" and to numerous women's clubs and college students about opera in general. In private life, she is the wife of Tom Chalfant, a teacher at the U. W., Washington County Campus, who will receive his Ph. D. in British novels from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, January 1971. Tom and his wife, Gail, will be moving to Montgomery, Ala., in August. Tom has accepted a teaching position at an all black university there. Gail will go on occasional tours with the Grass Roots Opera Company of Raleigh, North Carolina.

There was this drunk at a party. He staggered over to his host and said, "Say, do lemons have legs?" "Of course not," replied the host. "Why?" "Well," mumbled the lush, "in that case, I just squeezed your canary into my drink."

Wolves are often described as like trains. A girl enjoys hearing them whistle even if she is not going anywhere.

Keeping a secret from some people is like trying to smuggle daylight past a rooster.

Kewaskum and Campbellsport, both of the Scenic Moraine conference, tuned up for their Thursday tourney showdown with impressive victories Monday evening. The Indians whipped Germantown, 6-1, and the Cougars battered North Fondy, 11-6.

The Indians' tournament victory over North Fondy Saturday was their third of the season over the Orioles. They beat them just last Thursday night here in a conference game and also bested them in a previous contest at North Fondy.

In the 7-1 win, Tom Theusch tossed a five-hitter and helped his own cause by also taking batting honors in the game with three hits. Catcher Ron Theusch collected two hits and drove in two runs for the Indians. Steve Stern also got two hits, including a double and Dave Schacht connected for a two bagger. Gross was the only Oriole batter to get two hits. All of North Fondy's hits off Theusch were singles. Tom struck out nine batters.

The Orioles took an early 1-0 lead over the Indians after two innings but Kewaskum tied the game in the third and took the lead for good in the fourth inning. Carl Seibel, North Fondy's starting pitcher, was forced to leave the game in the fourth inning when he pulled a muscle. Kewaskum jumped on his successor, Steve Reschek, for five of its nine hits and put the game on ice with a four-run outburst in the sixth.

Indians Win Two Over North Fondy And Germantown

In action the past week, the Kewaskum Indians won two Scenic Moraine Conference games, lacing North Fondy here Thursday night, 12-6, and drubbing Washington High of Germantown there Monday evening, 6-1. The double victories upped the Indians' record to 7-6.

The Indians padded their batting averages at North Fondy's expense. Kewaskum battered the Orioles' Steve Reschke for 16 hits in rolling to a 12-6 win. Four doubles and a triple constituted Kewaskum's power package. The Indians were led by Tom Theusch, Tony Butschlick and Larry Bunkelman with three hits each. Jim Tessar got a triple and single in two trips. Boelter was the only North Fondy belter with two hits.

The Orioles batted out Kewaskum starter Eichstedt with a six-run inning in the fourth. However, reliever Randy Koth, a second baseman by trade, came in to put out the fire and struck out eight along the way to preserve the win. Kewaskum already had an 8-0 lead before that time. North Fondy had a total of six hits. Koth has seen little mound action and his performance was a surprise. With its lead trimmed to 8-6, Kewaskum shoved across three more in their half of the fourth and added one more in the sixth.

In their impressive 6-1 win over Germantown Monday, the Indians tuned up for the semi-final game in the WIAA Regional tournament at West Bend, which was postponed Tuesday night and re-scheduled for Thursday evening. Kewaskum beat North Fondy in the tourney opener Saturday, 7-1. However, Kewaskum was held to seven hits at Germantown. The Indians led by a slim 2-1 margin after four innings but scored two in the fifth and one in each of the sixth and seventh innings to win easily.

four-hit pitching to subdue Germantown. Clark checked the Warhawks without a run, except for the fourth when they scored to avoid a shutout. The Indians did not use Tom Theusch in either of the above games as he pitched the entire game in the tourney at West Bend Saturday and was probably slated to go again in Tuesday's postponed semi-final.

Butschlick rapped a bases-empty home run in the sixth inning and teammate Dave Schacht tripled home an insurance run in the seventh. Butschlick led the winners with two for four and was the only batter with two hits in the contest.

The Indians will play their final Scenic game at home Monday night when they entertain powerful Pewaukee and their ace left hander, Bill Beno.

Lakes '9' Loses to Sheboygan, Beats Port Washington

Kewaskum's team of the Lakes circuit broke even in two games played over the weekend. Hosting Sheboygan Saturday night, Kewaskum went down 10-2, but came back at Port Washington Sunday afternoon to win, 6-5. The team is now 3-7 for the season.

Sheboygan scored 3 times in the first inning, twice in each of the third and fifth innings, and 3 more times in the seventh to win easily. Kewaskum's runs both came in the fifth on a walk, hit, error and fielder's choice.

Mark Heise was on the hill for the losers and was pounded hard. He was nicked for 12 hits before being relieved by Fred Bruhn at the start of the eighth. Heise struck out 2. Bruhn gave up 2 more hits in the 2 innings he worked for a total of 14 and fanned 1. D. Diener went the route for Sheboygan, checking Kewaskum on 4 hits, while striking out 4 and walking 5.

D. Ahrens and R. Reiss led the Sheboygan attack with 3 hits apiece in 4 trips and each connected for a home run. D. Larsen got a single and triple, while D. Rasmussen collected a double and triple for the winners. Allen Theusch got 2 of Kewaskum's 4 safeties.

At Port Sunday Kewaskum finally broke a 7-game losing streak in winning 6-5. It was the team's first win since the first two games of the season. Trailing 5-3, Kewaskum scored 3 runs in the eighth inning to pull out the win.

Young Bob Fellenz went the route and was the winning pitcher. He hurled an 8-hitter in notching the victory. Fellenz struck out 4 and had very good control. He failed to walk a single batter. T. Peiffer worked for Port and held Kewaskum to 7 hits, while whiffing 7. But his control was way off, walking 9 batters, and this was a big factor in his defeat.

Clem Jacak was the top gunner for the winners with two singles, while Peiffer and V. Schultz each got two safeties for the losers. Both of Schultz's blows were for extra bases, including a double and triple. It was the eighth straight setback for Port's tail-enders.

This Sunday Kewaskum travels to Grafton to meet the eighth place team and hopes to make it two in succession.

Members of the Women's Golf Association were hostesses to the Women's Golf League of Town and Country Club, Sheboygan, on Wednesday. Coffee and sweet rolls were served at 8 a. m., after which the golfers took to the fairways for a "shot-gun" tee-off.

As the ladies arrived, they were seated at individual tables according to the number of their scheduled tee-off. Floral centerpieces, which also were used for the noon luncheon and later awarded as attendance prizes, were "trimmed" with a golfball and tees.

Among the visitors, prizes in Class A went to Mrs. Hilbert Schmideler for low gross honors; Mrs. Harold Oldenburg, low net and Mrs. Frank Hansen, low putts. Class B winners were Mrs. William Faase, low gross; Mrs. Roland Grimmer, low net and Mrs. Jacob Katte, low putts.

In Class C competition, Miss Pat Strywick took low gross; Mrs. Jerome Aleff, low net and Mrs. Phillip Herman, low putts. Carding the best scores in Class D were Mrs. Robert Oldenburg, low gross; Mrs. Alvin Popp, low net and Mrs. Frank Holden, low putts.

All of the ladies were given an opportunity to test their skill in getting a golf ball into a designated circle off the No. 6 tee. Those who did were Mrs. Popp of Town and Country and Mrs. Joe Harlow, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Hemauer of the hostess club.

Prizes also went to Mrs. Grimmer for having sunk an approach shot and to Mrs. Hemauer for the longest putt on the No. 9 green.

Card games rounded out the day. Winners at sheephead were Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Herman and Mrs. Willard Gruhle; at bridge, Mrs. Harold Mehring, Mrs. Aleff and Mrs. Miller. Twelve attendance prizes were awarded.

A date to keep in mind is July 29, when we will entertain the ladies of Camelot Country Club, a brand new organization. The sign-up sheets are posted in the pro shop.
