Albers Named Wastewater Group President-Elect

The Wisconsin Wastewater Works Operators Conference, holding its Twelfth Annual Meeting in Milwaukee on November 17, elected officers for the coming year. Peter Albers, Superintendent of the Wastewater Treatment Plant, Kewaskum, was named President-Elect for 1979. Other officers include President, Willis Stubbe, Sheboygan; Vice President, Leo Templeton, Manitowoc, and Directors Franklin

Munsey, Milwaukee, and Robert Bues, Neenah-Menasha.

Albers has been active in the conference for many years and is a Grade One Certified Wastewater Plant Operator. Albers has received the Operator of the Year award in 1975. He resides at 340 Clinton Street, Kewaskum. Shown in the photo is Albers (right) with Stan Budrys, Racine, 1978 President.

The Wisconsin Wastewater

Works Operators Conference is a non-profit, scientific and educational society dedicated to the advancement of knowledge in the area of water pollution control. Its membership of over 600 is comprised of treatment plant operators, engineers, chemists, municipal officials, sales representatives, and others with a direct interest in wastewater treatment and water pollution control.

VFW Auxiliary Notes 50th Anniversary; Lorinda Tessar Is Charter Member

Lorinda Tessar

The Fred A. Schaefer Auxiliary Post Number 1393 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States celebrated their Charter Night and 50th Anniversary on November 4 at the Kettle Moraine Inn, West Bend.

Charter members who were present were Lorinda Tessar of Kewaskum, Katherine Klein, Ethel Klein, Pearl Claus, Agnes Lemke and Alma Haug, all of West Bend. Hildegard Claus of Fond du Lac was unable to be present due to illness.

Dorothy Ward, the President, opened the celebration with a speech and Pearl Claus gave the opening invocation. A cocktail and dinner party was attended by over 100 people.

State President, Patricia Mortenson, and her husband, and Lillian Campbell, Past State President, were also present, along with Post Commander Gary Raybern and other guests.

MPTI Approves Land Appraisal

The Moraine Park Technical Institute District Board gave approval to go ahead with an appraisal on 35 acres of land north of the present MPTI facility in the northern end of West Bend at its meeting Thursday night.

The land, owned by the Pastors family, who sold the 25 acres of land to MPTI for their present facility, was being held for MPTI with an option to buy since last January. The option guaranteed a purchase price of $10,000 an acre.

There are no building plans now, Lee Flanders, Fond du Lac county campus administrator said, but it is being considered for future development.

Actual purchase of the property will be discussed at the board's December meeting, Flanders said.

Health Teacher to Be Considered by Board at Meeting

The regular meeting of the Kewaskum Board of Education will be held on Monday, November 27. Beginning at 8 p.m., the meeting will be held in the district administration office.

Agenda items will include a proposal for using Title I monies on a reading program. Mr. Allmann, District Reading Specialist, will present this to the board.

To determine the direction for the health curriculum work, the board will consider the question of adding a health teacher to the staff for next year. A packet for parents to help them in getting answers to problems and questions will also be discussed.

Payroll and vouchers payable, as well as miscellaneous questions which come up, will complete the agenda. The board will meet in closed session following the regular meeting to begin discussions of wages and salaries for 1979-80.

Board Tables Edwards Request For Rezoning Wigwam Hall

By TAMI EDGAR
Statesman Staff Writer

It was voted to table the William A. Edwards rezoning request at Monday night's Village Board meeting.

Board members decided to postpone any action on the rezoning until variance on side yard requirements are checked out. Public hearing on the matter was held prior to the official board meeting.

Rezoning of the Wigwam Hall property at 100 Clinton Street from a B-2 General Retail Business and Service District to a R-4 Multiple Family Residence District must be by an ordinance.

The Police Department was granted their request for permission to solicit bids for a new police car. The Police Department's request for office help was postponed until the December 4 meeting due to the absence of the Committee Chairman.

Monday the DNR met at the Municipal Building to allow for alterations in the schedule to follow the steps in bringing the tertiary treatment for waste materials. All that has to be done is to submit plans of modifications to the project's plans.

Board members approved giving their authorization to purchase a generator from government surplus in Madison if in good condition. The generator found is a 2 1/4-ton Continental Diesel. It is also able to be used for the power lift stations.

The board also authorized the Commissioner to advertise for bids for gravel crushing. Bidding for the crushing of gravel was set to open on December 18.

The Park Committee recommended to postpone the fencing of the baseball diamonds in the new park. This would leave the option open for installation at a future date if desired. The board then approved the postponement on the basis of the recommendations.

Mitchell Attends State Workshop

Ernest Mitchell, Athletic Director for Kewaskum High School, has attended the Twelfth Annual State Workshop of the Wisconsin Athletic Director Association.

The state meeting was the largest ever held for secondary school directors of athletics, with over 300 athletic directors and girl's sports coordinators enjoying three days of workshops, exhibits, and presentations by state and nationally known personalities.

The keynote address Sunday evening was given by Dr. Dean Berkley, Director of the Division of Administration and Administrative Studies at Indiana University. Dr. Berkley gave a stimulating address to get the workshop off to an excellent start. The windup luncheon speaker, Harold Pluimer, Minneapolis, Minnesota presented a very unique presentation entitled "Encounter with the Future." It was an excellent conclusion to the informative workshop.

Among the highlights of the convention was the awards luncheon. Special Recognition went to Jake Gores, Goodrich High School, Fond du Lac, who was named State Athletic Director of the Year 1977-78.

Special thanks go to retiring President John Klement of Monona Grove High School. Many excellent improvements to the association took place under his direction. The WADA welcomes Newell Nelson, West Bend High Schools as the President from 1978 to 1980.

Two Area 4-H Clubs Recognized

Several 4-H Clubs, including two from the Kewaskum area, were recognized for service to the community at the County 4-H Achievement Program recently.

The Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club is under the leadership of Mrs. Norbert Dettmann of the Farmington area. The group went Christmas caroling at Beechwood Rest Home and the Samaritan. They cooperated with the Modern Woodmen to conduct a card party and bunco party to raise money for supplies to beautify the entrance to Boltonville. They planted trees and shrubs. The 4-H members worked with the firemen to clean up the community park. They conducted two paper drives. They adopted a grandmother and visited her several times during the year.

The Kewaskum 4-H'ers maintained a wayside near Kewaskum. This included cutting the grass, trimming the trees, providing firewood and picnic tables in the area. They planted flowers in the flower boxes in Kewaskum and participated in the firemen's parade by building a float. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Seideman are the general leaders of the Kewaskum 4-H Club.

Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club Recognized

The Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club of rural Kewaskum was recognized as one of the top 4-H clubs in Washington County 4-H Conservation Activities. The 4-H club cooperated with another community organization, Wildlife, Inc., to plant trees and shrubs in the area. They also did some landscaping and tree and shrub planting at the entrance to Boltonville. The club cooperated with the firemen to clean up the park. As part of their conservation activities, they also held two paper drives. Mrs. Norbert Dettmann is the general leader of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club. Tell others about energy conservation was one of the main activities of the Trentonaires 4-H club. Each member gave a talk and made a poster on the subject at their local meeting, and some members participated in the county program. The members also worked during the year to clean up the town cemetery. They also took a hike to observe nature at Ridge Run Park. Mrs. Wilmer Flasch of West Bend is the leader of the club.

Planting trees and shrubs at several locations in the community was one of the highlights of the Kirchhayn Trotters 4-H club. The leader is Mrs. Fred Idermuehle of Cedarburg. The group planted trees at the Jackson Town Hall, Jackson Historical Church and the Jackson Town Park. Most of the members also participated in the poster and speaking program dealing with conservation of energy.

The Good Luck 4-H Club of West Bend had all 35 of its members participating in the Speaking and Poster Program regarding energy conservation. Paul Cypher and Arlene Cypher, West Bend, are the leaders.

Conservation activities such as these are the ways in which 4-H members contribute to the conservation of resources and the beautification of their community.

Warn of Increased Danger of Carbon Monoxide Gas During Winter Months

With the approach of the Wisconsin winter and its accompanying below-freezing temperatures, motorists should be alert to the dangers of carbon monoxide gas (CO), the state department of transportation warns.

Carbon monoxide (CO) — a colorless, odorless, tasteless and extremely poisonous gas — is the by-product of many chemical reactions, most notably the internal combustion process in automobile engines where there is insufficient oxygen for complete combustion. Exhaust fumes may contain concentrations of CO in excess of seven per cent. However, lesser concentrations can be just as lethal.

Carbon monoxide is poisonous because of its great affinity for hemoglobin, the oxygen-carrying substance in the blood. Exposure to the gas greatly reduces or fully hinders the ability of hemoglobin to carry oxygen throughout the body, causing death by asphyxiation in excessive concentrations.

Because CO is colorless, odorless and tasteless, persons breathing it usually fall asleep, unaware that they are being poisoned. Moreover, the time required for a fatal dose decreases rapidly as the concentration of the gas in the air is increased.

The possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning increases in winter because, with car windows usually closed, ventilation is restricted.

The possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning in parked vehicles is especially great. Always open a window slightly in a car parked with the engine running and never leave an engine running in a closed garage without proper ventilation, the department advises.

Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning are drowsiness, headache and nausea. If they occur, get fresh air—quickly.

If you encounter someone you suspect is a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning, first, get the person into fresh air. If the victim has stopped breathing, give artificial respiration continuously and send for the State Patrol, other police, a fire-rescue unit or ambulance immediately.

Fish and Flicks

WEST BEND — "Cat Ballou" a comedy set in the old West, will be shown at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County in the new Fish and Flicks series on Nov. 24.

A delicious fish dinner is served in the UWVC co-op between 6 and 6:45 p.m. Fish, French fries, lettuce salad and bread are served cafeteria style at the cost of $1.55 for adults and $1.10 for children under 12. Reservations for the dinner must be made by 4 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22. Dessert and beverage are available at an extra charge.

A 1965 release, "Cat Ballou" features Jane Fonda in the title role as the frontier lady of propriety who, when her father is murdered by a hired killer and his ranch seized, turns outlaw with a vengeance. She assembles a band of happy-go-lucky outlaws, equally impractical as she. Lee Marvin won an Academy Award for his double role as "Silver Nose," the cold-eyed, deadly gunslinger, and his twin brother, Kid Shelleen, the dissolute, drunken, completely irresponsible, gun-fighter hired by Cat Ballou. Marvin's horse in the film also deserves acclaim in its award winning portrayal. Rated PG, the color film will be shown at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Theatre.

No reservations are needed to see the film without the dinner. The cost for an adult for the film only is $1, for children under 12, 50 cents.

4-H CLUB PLANS OWN RECREATION

Knowing how to use time wisely is important for everyone. Several 4-H clubs were recognized at the county 4-H Achievement Program for planning and conducting recreational and leisure time activities. The Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club of Boltonville planned three roller skating parties.

They conducted a dance and card party for their community. They had a club Christmas party and a winter party. The group went caroling at the Beechwood Rest Home and sent Christmas cards to senior citizens. They went bowling and hiking and had a picnic. They also planned a special canoeing trip. Mrs. Norbert Dettmann, Route 1, Kewaskum, is the general leader of the club.

Senior Citizen Recreation Cards Now Available

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is extending an invitation to Wisconsin's Senior Citizens. State Senator Thomas E. Petri (R-2nd District) announced that Senior Citizen Recreation Cards are available now from DNR stations and county clerks.

"Senior Citizen Recreation Cards, for persons 65 years and older, will be effective beginning January 1, 1979," Petri explained.

"I am glad to see that the DNR is recognizing the contributions of the elderly by giving them this privilege. The cards, which cost $7.50 for a life-time, permit admission to state parks and forests, and small-game hunting and fishing licenses at no extra fee."

These cards will not replace state licenses. Duck Hunters will still have to pay for a Federal Migratory Waterfowl Stamp.

"The Golden Age Passport, issued by the federal government, is available free of charge to persons 62 years and older," Petri continued. "The passport opens the gates to all national parks, monuments, recreation areas, seashores, historical and memorial parks that are run by the National Park Service."

Golden Age Passports are available from the DNR Green Bay Area Office or recreation areas managed by agencies of the federal government which include the Kettle Moraine State Forest and Devil's Lake State Park.

Wisconsin has over one-half million acres of park and forest land, including 68,000 feet of beach frontage. The state's parks and southern state forests attracted over 10.3 million people in 1977. Another 1.2 million visited the northern forests.

Register Now for MPTI Classes to Begin in January

Thinking about continuing your education? You don't have to wait until next fall to get started. Moraine Park Technical Institute can begin to train you in January.

Moraine Park Technical Institute has recognized the need of area adults to start and complete their education at a time convenient to them. In the past, Moraine Park has been flexible in offering part-time study in degree and diploma programs. Adults are able to slot into daytime scheduled classes or evening credit classes. Now, MPTI has given program entry points a close scrutiny and evaluated the needs of the older adult and their time-schedule.

After a review by MPTI Instructional Operations and Division Chairpersons, a comprehensive scheduling of flexible entry points for new students in programs at the three campuses was established.

For an individual concerned about furthering their education in 1979, January can be a good month to begin at MPTI. Programs taking registrations for January include Nursing Assistant, Farm Management and Operation, Operating Room Assistant, Ward Clerk, Child Care Assistant, Food Service Assistant, Restaurant and Hotel

Cookery, Marketing, Fashion Merchandising, Real Estate Technician, Secretarial Science, Secretarial Science-Medical, Supermarket Management, Auto Body Repair, Auto Mechanics, Engine Technology, Industrial Engineering Technician, Machine Repair, Machine Tool Operation, Mechanical Design, Mechanical Drafting, Metal Fabrication, Production Welding, and Goal Oriented Adult Learning.

Part-time study beginning in January includes Food Manufacturing, Water/Wastewater Treatment Technician, Account Clerk, Accounting, Data Processing Machine Operator, Electro-Mechanical Technician, and Supervisory Management.

Moraine Park's Financial Officer, Harold Albertin, stressed that financial aids are still available until March 1979 for full and half-time students enrolling in this school term.

MPTI is a place where people learn to learn; where they take the first step along a path which could very well lead to that future everyone daydreams about. All programs at MPTI make an extra special effort to simulate actual working environments. Classrooms are a place where students work in surroundings similar to the business and industry seen everyday in the community.

MPTI offers 52 programs in 6 career areas: Business & Marketing, Home Economics, Trade and Technical, Safety Education, Health Occupations, and Agri-Biotechnology. Inquires about programs are welcome through Student Services Department at the Fond du Lac campus, 922-8611; West Bend campus, 334-3413 or at the Beaver Dam Campus, 887-1101.

Mothers, when shopping, if you put the groceries on the floor in the rear of the car, and let your youngster sit or stand alongside you on the front seat, you may be protecting your groceries better than your child in case of a sudden stop. An unrestrained child can pitch forward against the dashboard or windshield with serious injury. A safety harness vest, anchored firmly to the car structure, offers the best protection for a small child, and allows him to sit, stand, or sleep.

Conclude Learning Center Seminars At Cedar Lake Home

The Learning Center at the Cedar Lake Home Campus, West Bend, concluded the presentation of three fall workshops designed for long term health care professionals entitled "Total Person: Total Team."

The workshops, held in September, October and November, were attended by Health Care Staff from Wisconsin and Minnesota. During the two day workshop participants share views, concepts and methods for delivering quality care for the aging and handicapped.

Mrs. Marian Palmer, Coordinator of the seminar, explains that each workshop is designed to introduce participants to the total health care team concept.

"We recognize that the needs of the elderly go far beyond physical needs. The workshops are therefore designed to teach a 'Total Person' concept - recognizing that each person has mental, social, emotional and spiritual needs. In addition, we believe these needs can best be met by a 'Total Team' approach utilizing the expertise of all disciplines."

Participants are included in small group discussions, individual counseling, lectures on the aging process, reality orientation, total needs of the resident and attitudes towards life and death. They also are involved in various therapy projects being accomplished thus seeing first hand concepts put in action.

Health Care professionals are invited to attend these workshops which will be held next spring. Information on this and other workshops can be obtained by contacting the Director of Education, Cedar Lake Home, West Bend.

Life at Hospice Told to Citizens Concerned for Life

The traditional definition of the word "Hospice" is "a resting place for the weary traveler," a definition that still holds true for the modern concept of the term. A hospice is a special hospital for the terminally ill person, a place where the person may go to live his last days to the fullest extent possible after medical science can do nothing more for him.

"A hospice is actually a concept, rather than a place," explained Ms. Caryl Huige, Administrative Assistant of Rogers Memorial Hospital's Hospice, Oconomowoc, at a recent meeting of Wisconsin Citizens Concerned for Life. "The goal of a hospice is to offer support and comfort to the dying patient so he may, if he wishes, return to his home to die there surrounded by his family."

"Ideally, the patient comes to the hospice to get his pain under control via medication given on a regular, individualized schedule. This enables the patient to relax his fears about pain, as he knows it will be controlled all the time. He then can turn his thoughts to tying up the ends of his life, if he chooses," stated Dr. Robert Sowell, Medical Director of the Hospice.

The Hospice is as much like home as possible. Family and friends of all ages can visit, even overnight, anytime they wish. Pets are allowed, if desired. The patient's appetite dictates the type of food served to him — he may have anything he wants.

Counseling is also offered to the patients' family, if desired, not only before the death, but also afterwards.

The procedures used at the hospice let the dying patient know that he is still a person and that his wishes are the most important part of determining the type of care he will receive. "The emphasis is not on dying," according to Ms. Huige, "but rather on allowing the patient to have as much quality of life as is possible during his last days."

Respite Care Service Available At Cedar Lake Home

The Cedar Lake Home Campus respite care program is fulfilling a needed service to community members according to Mary Gumm, program coordinator.

Respite care services provide temporary care for elderly or disabled elderly persons over 60 living with a caretaker or relative who has gone away for a short period or who may need a rest.

"Our respite care program is designed to give the individual mental stimulation, extended community involvement, three good home cooked meals a day, plus a wide range of therapy and recreational activities that the person may not otherwise receive," Gumm says.

"Program participants have really enjoyed their stay and have learned how exciting life can be at an extended care facility," she says.

The program provides a room and care for respite care individuals. Participants may stay up to 11 nights. The respite care person is invited to participate in all of the many activities available to residents at Cedar Lake Home.

The Southeastern Wisconsin Area Agency on Aging awarded the Cedar Lake Home Campus, through a Title-III grant, this adult respite care program which covers the costs of residential services.

For more information on the respite care program, call Mary Gumm, Cedar Lake Home Campus, West Bend, 334-9487.

Friends for Battered Women of County Urgently Need Area Help

With "the horrible holidays" upon us, FRIENDS for Battered Women of Washington County, Inc. wants potential victims and abusers to know that help is available. A sympathetic response in a crisis, a safety haven, professional counseling or just talking things over with a FRIEND may make the holidays more pleasant.

Feelings of helplessness and hopelessness are common to victims and their assailants. Each needs to understand one's own and the other's created fears and tensions, which naturally increase during holidays and vacations. Each needs to discover more creative, less destructive ways to deal with feelings that become unbearable and overwhelming at times.

FRIENDS care about battered women and their families. FRIENDS do not advocate prosecution - or steps toward legal separation or divorce - except as an emergency measure or as a last resort. There are many alternatives to violence.

Managed Milking Seminar Scheduled For County Farmers

Harvesting milk, milking cows, is a very critical operation on all dairy farms. The procedure of milking cows correctly can make a difference as to whether or not the dairy operation will be profitable.

Washington County dairy farmers will have an opportunity to become informed on milking practices through a Managed Milking Seminar. The Managed Milking Seminar is scheduled to be held on Tuesday, December 5 and Thursday, December 7, 1978. The program will be held in cooperation with the Ozaukee County UW-Extension Office, and will be located at the Trenton Town Hall east of West Bend on Hwy. 33.

Some of the topics to be discussed on the program include: milk quality and its relationship to the future of the dairy industry, understanding the physiology of milk secretion affects milk practices, basic concepts of utter infection, diagnostic screening tests for the dairyman to use in determining milk quality, principles of milking machine operation, proper installation and establishing a maintenance schedule, cleaning and sanitizing milk equipment, considerations and selection of milking equipment, and what's new in milking systems.

This program is being coordinated with University of Wisconsin Extension Specialists from the Dairy Science, Veterinary Science, and Agricultural Engineering Departments.

Information and registration materials for this session will be sent to dairy farmers in Washington County. Persons having questions or needing additional information can contact Jack Trzebiatowski at the Washington County UW-Extension Office, Court House Annex No. 2, P.O. 1,800 Frightened by Jaycee Haunted House

"Frankenstein" Don Nowak, "Frankenstein 2001" Mike Reindl, "Dr. Frankenstein" Richard Bannenberg.

The Wolfman reported it to be a "Howling" Success, as nearly 1,800 toured the Kewaskum Jaycees recently completed Haunted House. This third annual affair took on a little more realism when it was moved to the old Geidel house, a near perfect setting.

The large turnout caused an hour and a half wait for those wishing to tour the Haunted House. But, those that "Made it through" the Haunted House said it was worth the wait. Chairman of the event, Wayne Riekkoff, stated that plans for next year's Haunted House will include a shorter waiting period and a better system for controlling the large crowd.

Merle Miller, President of the Kewaskum Jaycees, said the Jaycees wish to thank all of those who attended, the Village of Kewaskum for the use of the house, Kennelly Pharmacy for assistance in advertising, Kewaskum High School for use of their lab equipment and all who participated in the frightful event.

We'll be back next year to "Scare the yell out of you."

"A Transformed Wolfman" Richard Bechler.

FARMING CONTOUR STRIPS

By John Wheeler
Soil Conservationist

Does rain water from your neighbor's property drain onto your crop field? Is your cropland on a slope so that water rushes off and is lost to the plants, taking soil with it? Is your cropland on a steep slope where you want to plant corn? Answer: stripcropping is your answer.

Contour stripcropping is a systematic arrangement of strips or bands on the contour to reduce water erosion. The crops are arranged so that a strip of grass, hay or clover growing crop is alternated with a strip of clean-tilled crop (corn).

On a contoured field water is channeled across the slope instead of down. The soil absorbs more rainwater and is less susceptible to drought. Contouring not only controls erosion but distributes water evenly. This pays off in better yields and higher quality crops.

To contour your crop field, follow the natural lay of the land. Find the critical slope of the land and put a stake there. Use the abney hand level to take a reading from one stake to the other stake, moving the stake up or down the hill to keep on the contour. Repeat this process across the slope to establish the contour guide line. Alternate strip will be parallel to this line. The width of strips will depend on the steepness of the slope.

As you cultivate the field, leave small channels between the rows to collect and hold the moisture so that it soaks into the soil.

Minimum tillage in conjunction with contour stripcropping can reduce soil loss to the minimum and also increase rotation of corn on sloping land.

If water from your neighbor's property drains onto your field or if your field is on a slope so that rain water washes away the soil, a diversion terrace can divert the flow of water effectively. A terrace is simply a ridge with a shallow channel on the upper side. The terrace should have a slight grade so that water does not stand in the channel but flows off gently. This water should outlet into a grassed waterway to control erosion. Make the terrace high enough to carry all the water that is intercepted, make it wide enough so that you work over it easily and so that it blends in with the natural shape of the land.

For additional information contact your local Soil Conservation Service in West Bend or call 334-3706.

Check Exterior Chimneys Often

Interior chimneys, which run through the inside of a house rather than up the side, are more efficient than exterior chimneys. Bill Seybold, University of Wisconsin-Extension wood heat specialist, says interior chimneys work better because heat passing through the brick isn't really heat lost--it's heat thrown back into the house. Exterior chimneys waste this heat because they radiate it out into the atmosphere.

Exterior chimneys are also colder than interior chimneys, and so create more creosote build-up. Creosote creosotes less in the warmer interior chimneys. Seybold recommends cleaning any chimney at least once a year, "but exterior chimneys really should be inspected more often than that."

Unless you're building a new home, you usually won't have the chance to pick one type of chimney over another. But as long as you remember to check your chimney for creosote frequently, both interior and exterior chimneys are equally safe, Seybold says.

A public hearing on the written request of William A. Edwards for the rezoning of the Wigwam Hall property at 100 Clinton Street from B-2 General Retail Business and Service District to R-4 Multiple Family Residence District was scheduled for November 20, 1978, at 7:30 P.M. Motion by Trustee Schmidt, seconded by Trustee Kral. Voice vote was unanimous.

The following building permits were approved and the Commissioner was authorized to issue the proper permits upon payment of the required fees. Motion by Trustee Danielsen, seconded by Trustee Hergiges. Voice vote was unanimous.

1. Thomas Bauer - one family residence at 540 Knights Avenue.

2. Tom Jaeger - 12 ft. by 16 ft. storage shed to the rear of existing home at 360 Braatz Drive.

3. Kohn Bros. Farm Service - addition to existing farm implement sales and service building at 516 Main Street.

President Miller reported that he had arranged a meeting with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and the village's engineering firm to discuss the suggested plans for the updating of the waste water treatment plant.

The Board again discussed the possibility of installing a monitoring system for the sewage lift stations and water wells and also the possibility of obtaining a new siren for disaster warnings. No decision was reached on either item.

The commissioner was instructed to prepare the 1979 Fire Service Contract between the Village of Kewaskum and the Town of Kewaskum.

President Miller reported that he had been in contact with the Environmental Protection Agency at Chicago in an attempt to obtain final payment on the fund grant for the 1975 waste water treatment plant improvements.

The Board agreed that the Village of Kewaskum should join with other communities in Washington County under a mutual aid agreement for ambulance service.

The Board accepted the proposal of Nick Mueller Excavating for the demolition of the village owned house at 1603 Fond du Lac Avenue at a cost of not to exceed one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars. Motion by Trustee Danielsen, seconded by Trustee Schmidt. Voice vote was unanimous.

Motion was made by Trustee Danielsen, seconded by Trustee Mlodzik that sewer and water service be provided to the Betty Clark property at 1030 Fond du Lac Avenue provided that the sanitary sewer main be extended across the entire front of the lot. Voice vote was unanimous.

The Claims for paint damage to autos parked in the Regal Ware parking lot during the period that the village's water tower was being repainted were referred to the Administrative Committee.

Opposition was voiced to the fencing of the two ball diamonds in the Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park. Trustee Schmidt, Chairman of the Park Development Committee reminded the Board Members that the fencing of the ball diamonds was a fundable item, that the fencing of the diamonds at a later date would be more costly and that his committee felt that at least the north diamond should be completely fenced. No definite decision was reached.

The totals of claims, as recommended for payment by the Finance Committee, were as follows:

Vil. General Fund	$72,068.25
Water Dept. Fund	788.56
Sewage Dept. Fund	3,887.73

Payment of these claims, as recorded in the official record, was so ordered upon motion by Trustee Mlodzik, seconded by Trustee Hergiges. Voice vote was unanimous.

Motion was made by Trustee Schmidt, seconded by Trustee Kral and unanimously carried that the Board adjourn to closed session to discuss pending litigation.

WISCONSIN LEGENDARY HEROES — THIRD CLASS

Part II — Dietz, Blanchard and the "Lost Dauphin"

Defender of Cameron Dam

John Dietz comes closest to being Wisconsin's classic legendary hero. Alone he stood against corporate wealth, and, though he finally went to Waupun prison, in a sense he won his case. He did not rob from the rich to give to the poor, as the legends of both Robin Hood and Jesse James claim, but he did stand like Horatio at the bridge and prevented 8 million feet of logs from passing down to the Chippewa Falls-Eau Claire sawmill.

Dietz moved to the logging frontier and in 1900 bought 160 acres of woods in Sawyer County. This cutover land was far removed from any settlement but cornered on the Thornapple River. For at least three years Dietz was employed by the Chippewa Lumber & Boom Company to watch the nearby dam used to store water upriver for floating logs in the spring down to the sawmill.

In 1904, Dietz claimed the company owed him wages beyond that which they were willing to pay. This was the beginning of a controversy that was to give him the reputation of Defender of Cameron Dam.

When Dietz learned that the dam was partly on his property, he refused to allow company workmen to put up the gates. His deed recorded no easement for the dam though the legislature had previously authorized dams on the Thornapple for harvesting logs.

When the company employees came in 1904, they found a "No Trespass" sign on the dam and John Dietz stood there with his rifle to enforce it. He demanded a toll for all logs sluiced through, which the company refused to pay. Defying injunctions and court orders, Dietz held up the winter's harvest of logs and the Thornapple was of no further use to the logging company.

On May 7, 1904, four deputies from the Hayward area set out to serve a warrant for Dietz' arrest. As they approached the dam, shots rang out from the woods, knocking one man's hat off, clipping the suspenders of another, and pinking another in the arm. Following this incident, the sheriff was sentenced to 30 days in jail for failing to serve the warrant. Dietz may have escaped prosecution at this time because the people of Sawyer County applauded his stand against the lumber company.

Next spring the two deputy marshalls who went to Dietz' house to serve an injunction were thrown bodily from the cabin. A posse, said to number 28 men, attempted to serve a contempt of court warrant, but returned after an exchange of shots.

In July, 1906 the new sheriff came up with a scheme to take the Defender of Cameron Dam. He brought in a half-dozen tough characters from Milwaukee, dressed them in shirts and hats resembling the State Militia, and sent them out. In an exchange of shots, Dietz' son Clarence received a superficial wound. One of the posse was shot in the neck, hip, and foot, but managed to retreat with the others. After this battle Dietz told newsmen that when he left his home he would go out feet first and leave an empty gun behind him. Even the payment of $1,717 in back wages by the company did not change things. On October 1, three deputies who kept the Dietz cabin under surveillance saw the three older children -- Myra, Clarence, and Leslie -- on their way to town. What happened is obscured by conflicting testimony, but there was shooting. One deputy later said that they only "intended to slightly cripple them." Myra was hit in the stomach; Clarence in the arm. Leslie rolled out of the wagon and ran home to tell his father what was happening. Myra was taken to Winter where she was examined and later sent to the Ashland hospital in a baggage car.

The final attack came on the morning of October 7, 1906. The sheriff and his deputies surrounded the cabin and the little war began. The cabin was riddled. In the middle of the afternoon, the cabin door opened, and out came daughter Helen bearing a white flag. She ran to the attackers, delivered her message: "If papa comes out, will you please not shoot him?"

In this battle, during which several thousand rounds of ammunition were fired, Deputy Oscar Harp was killed. Miraculously, the Dietz family escaped serious injury, though their furniture, windows, even the organ was shattered. Mrs. Dietz said that if she "hadn't argued with John we'd all been dead by morning."

When the Dietzes were brought to trial in Hayward in May, 1911, John chose to be his own attorney. Funds poured in from friends everywhere. Even the New York Times reported on the trial. The issue was not his defense of Cameron Dam, but the killing of Oscar Harp. Dietz was found guilty, and sentenced to life imprisonment in Waupun. Mrs. Dietz and the children were found not guilty.

His friends now had a cause to fight for. A book was written about the affair and sold on trains and in bookstores. A slide presentation was put together by friends and shown widely in village halls. A movie called "The Battle of Cameron Dam" was shown throughout Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and the Pacific Northwest.

These efforts, supplemented by lectures made by the family, provided funds needed to seek a new trial. When that failed, a pardon was sought. Governor Francis E. McGovern had commuted the sentence to 20 years in 1914 after having been presented with 40,000 signatures on a petition. In 1921, Governor John J. Blaine granted an absolute pardon.

John Dietz — Defender of the Cameron Dam

Dietz spent his last years in Milwaukee, a sick man, and died May 8, 1924. Malcom Rosholt, his biographer, says that no man has ever created "a greater furor in his time than John F. Dietz."

Louie Blanchard, The Chippewa Logger

One of the lumberjack heroes on the Chippewa River was Louis Blanchard who spent 1888-1912 in the lumber camps. His French-Canadian father and Belgian mother started life along the Chippewa after the Civil War, raised a family of ten children, and made a life among the stumps supplemented by winter work in the logging camps.

Louie settled down on a farm near Cornell on the Chippewa, and was well-known up and down the river as a story-teller and singer of lumberjack songs. When asked if he had ever heard about Paul Bunyan, Louie replied: "Well, I never heard of Paul Bunyan much, but I knowed his daughter. One time she carried a feather tick of buckshot down the main street of Chippewa Falls and went through the board sidewalk up to her knees every step she took. The big man we heard most about was Joe Mouffreau, a big Frenchman....He used to straighten out the logging roads with his big yoke of oxen....He had a big chain that took ten men to carry. They'd dig a hole around the road where it started, then he'd hook his chain on and give her four or five medium-sized pulls and soon get that road straightened out so that it was only twenty miles long instead of thirty, and when they got to camp they'd sell what they had left over....Since towns and counties didn't have many roads, there was a good market there...."

One fall old Louis split a dog in two accidentally when he came down with his axe, and in his haste put the dog back together wrong. He had two legs up and two legs down. Somehow the old dog recovered and became a good hunting dog. He would run on two legs awhile, turn over and run on the other two legs, and never got tired. A man from Superior bought him but lost him when he chased a moose twice around Lake Superior.

Eleazer Williams, The "Lost Dauphin"

Near Green Bay and DePere is the Lost Dauphin State Park. A plaque summarizes the legend of the "Lost Dauphin" but does not settle the question whether the Lost Dauphin was fraudulent or not. In part the plaque says:

"...In 1822 Williams led a delegation of New York Indians to the Fox River Valley, hoping to set up an Indian Empire in the West. A year later he married the daughter of a pioneer French-Canadian blacksmith....The couple settled in a cabin on the bank of the river....In 1841 the French Prince de Joinville visited Williams at Green Bay, giving rise to the belief he might be the 'Lost Dauphin,' son of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette. This story gained wide publicity in 1853 through the book 'The Lost Prince' by John H. Hanson. Williams had scars like those borne by little Louis XVII. Was he the Lost Dauphin?"

This legend really begins with the French Revolution in 1792 when Louis XVI and family were incarcerated in a Temple. Later the king and queen were killed, and the boy was imprisoned alone and presumably died. According to the legend, the son did not die, but was spirited away by royalists and sent to Quebec. There he was raised by an Indian family, sent to mission schools, and became a missionary among the New York tribes. When the Oneida were removed to Wisconsin, he was their leader for many years. Nothing was ever said about his parentage until 1841 when the son of Louis-Philippe came to Green Bay and had a meeting with Williams. In his diary which is now in the State Historical Society, Williams recorded that the prince revealed to him that he was the son of Louis XVI and was heir to the throne of France. The prince offered him an estate and other fringe benefits if he would renounce his claim to the throne.

The story was widely believed. Some loyalists even built Williams a "French chateau" fitting for royal blood. At the chateau Williams died, an unhappy man who still believed (or pretended to believe) that he was the true heir to the throne of France.

Summary

These North Country personalities---Jeremy, Till, Dietz, Blanchard, Williams---had more than regional reputations. One had a unique and mysterious "gift" of finding bodies, one had a secret cure, one fought the logging establishment, one was a humorous lumberjack, and one claimed the throne of France, but around each one was woven a legend that made them heroes to their followers.

TO THE EDITOR

Washington County
Humane Society
Box 345
West Bend, WI 53095
November 13, 1978

To The Editor:

The Officers and Directors of the Washington County Humane Society are grateful for the community support we have received in our first year of operation.

Our most recent effort to raise funds was our "Fall Festival" in October, which was very successful thanks to the many donations the Society received. Most of all we want to thank the people who were basically responsible for the success of this event: Mina Kreitzman-Hubertus, Sue Becker-Slinger, Diane Okrubica-Slinger, Carol Beger-Hubertus, Chris Lehn-Allenton, LaVerne Panfil-Germantown, Pat Andrews-Allenton, and most of all our thanks go out to Deb Schinke, our Shelter supervisor, who coordinated this entire event.

We would also like to thank Robert and LaVerne Panfil of Germantown who have voluntarily taken on the tremendous task of keeping all our book-keeping and financial records required by law.

The financial support received from the community has been extremely gratifying, although there is so much more we could do for the comfort of the animals temporarily in our care. If every family in the community could donate $1.00 on a quarterly basis to the Shelter, amounting to $4.00 a year to the individual family it would amount to more than $100,000 dollars per year for the Shelter's operation. I would hope Washington County Humane Society is never placed under the threat of closing due to financial difficulty, as has been falsely rumored in April of this year. As long as there is an animal in Washington County needing our assistance our doors will be open to them.

At this time we would like to publicly thank our two most generous financial supporters, the West Bend Company and the Holy Hill Dog Club. The West Bend Company, an industrial leader in the community, realizes that as our county grows so does the animal problem. In our first year of operation the Society has handled nearly 1400 animals. We offer many services that no other organization offers within this community. Thanks to the West Bend Company and all our other supporters we have been able to help alleviate animal problems, that would have existed, had our Shelter not opened on November 19, 1977.

The Holy Hill Dog Club has been most generous in donating most of the funds they have made from the four "fun matches" they have held in the last two years. Although some people believe that those involved in dog clubs, purebred dogs, and dog shows are not concerned with the problems of unwanted, abused, and stray animals, the members of the Holy Hill Dog Club are to be commended for the strong support they have given the Society to further our work, not only financially, but in some cases have donated many hours of their time to help with the various projects undertaken by the Society.

Sincerely,
Phyllis Cook

Thanksgiving, 1978

Dear Friend of Goodwill:

Many years ago a popular songwriter proclaimed that "the best things in life are free." But in our dollar-oriented society, too many of us take the free things for granted as part of our basic rights.

That is why we're taking this opportunity at Thanksgiving time to assure you that we value greatly your continuing support of our program of rehabilitation for the handicapped.

Because of your generous contribution of space, publicizing our program and need for public support, we are now serving more than 600 handicapped persons on a daily basis.

On their behalf, therefore, we extend our sincere thanks for your essential part in making the Goodwill way the road to opportunity for the people we serve.

Sincerely,

New Governor Has Mandate

When the New Year rolls around, a new Governor will take office in Madison, with a mandate from the people to hold down state spending and cut state taxes.

The November 1978 election will go down in the history books as one of the most exciting in many years. A non-politician - Lee Dreyfus - decided it was time to take the issues of today to the people. Coming out of the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point campus, he took on a respected Congressman in a vigorous primary battle and won.

With amazing vitality, Chancellor Dreyfus challenged the Acting Governor, a veteran politician who had held various elective offices in Madison since leaving law school. The Chancellor took his message to the people with personal appearances and televised debates. The people liked what they heard.

On election day, voters turned out and decided it was time for a change in the Governor's office.

TOMORROW

What happens now? Our Governor-elect has started to tackle the job of changing leadership in the State Capitol. Although he will not be sworn in until January, a "transition staff" is already at work in the Capitol working on the many questions that will greet the new administration.

Our new Governor will have the responsibility of preparing the 1979-81 state budget, the single most important legislative task to face the Legislature. The budget process is vitally important to you and I because state taxation rates will be determined by how much is spent. Then we have the record state surplus to deal with. We can be certain to see Governor-elect Dreyfus act to curtail future "over-taxation."

APPOINTMENTS

One other note, the Governor-elect has extensive appointive powers and will be naming a score of citizens to important state posts over the next four years. Many of the positions are non-paying but are important because they have a direct impact on life in this state. For instance, the Wisconsin Real Estate Board regulates state real estate salespeople, while the Board of Regents is responsible for the operation of the University system. There are numerous other boards and commissions.

I was happy to hear that Governor-elect Dreyfus has asked citizens to submit their recommendations for the many appointments he will be making. That's a good sign! A sign that our Governor will be listening to the people. We should see a more responsive government develop.

In case you have a comment to direct to Governor-elect Dreyfus, the address is P.O. Box 1979, Stevens Point, WI 54481.

I'm sure he will be happy to hear from you.

Students Invited To UWWC Play

WEST BEND — Area high school students interested in theatre are invited to a special performance of "The Thurber Carnival" at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County on Wednesday night, Nov. 29. The performance begins at 8:15 in the student Union Theatre.

The students have been invited to the performance by director and communication arts professor Carl Barnhart. Following the play, there will be an informal discussion of theatre and a tour of the theatre facility. Barnhart has had a large response from interested students who will attend the play without charge.

Barnhart has gathered a company of local artisans who have been active in many of the fine arts events in the community. "Everything in the play was manufactured by the talented people collected in the company," said Barnhart.

The artwork, which is composed of more than forty large backdrops were done by Stuart Carlson. "They are large replicas of drawings by Thurber, which will serve as a background for the action."

The original musical score has been composed by UWWC students Connie Sleger and Greg Erickson.

"We'll be using slides, developed by former UWWC Student Wes Reshel, so it certainly is a multi-media event," added Barnhart.

Along with being an acting coach and actor himself, Barnhart brings 14 years of directing experience to the UWWC stage. Arriving at the UWWC campus to teach communication arts and direct the fine arts events, Barnhart completed his MFA at the University of New Orleans in Louisiana. Previous to that he was director of theatre and professor at Ohio Northern University.

The other performances of "The Thurber Carnival" will be Thursday, Nov. 30, Friday, Dec. 1, and Saturday, Dec. 2. All performances begin at 8:15 in the Student Union Theatre on the UWWC campus.

Ticket prices for adults are $3, $1 for students and senior citizens, and the special family rate for two parents and any number of children, $7. UWWC students receive free admission to all fine arts events. Tickets are on sale in the main office in the Main building on the UWWC campus.

Young Indians Lose First Two To Plymouth, St. Mary's Springs

Kewaskum's young basketball team, with five juniors in the lineup, pried off the lid with two weekend games, both at home, against non-conference schools. On Friday the Indians bowed to Plymouth of the Packerland Conference, 67-58, and Saturday night they were downed by Fond du Lac's St. Mary's Springs team of the Fox Valley Christian Conference, 62-48.

First game shooting problems plagued Kewaskum in its loss to Plymouth as the Indians made only 28 percent of their shots. Kewaskum forged to a 35-35 tie early in the third quarter but the Panthers regained control and led by as many as 17 points at one point in the second half.

The Indians hit on only 21 of 74 shots, while Plymouth, despite the fact that some of the players had only four days of practice because they were in the state Class B football playoffs (which they won), hit 27 of 63 shots for 43 percent. The visitors also had a big edge in rebounding, 44-26.

The Indians trailed at the half, 35-29, but tied it up with three straight baskets at the start of the second half. Then they turned cold, while Plymouth hit a hot streak to gradually pull away.

The Panthers got balanced scoring. Mike Ladwig had 16 points, Dave Hellestad 12, and Tom Hanson and Jeff Dessloch each 11. Guard Henry Schilter paced Kewaskum with 16 on 7 baskets and 2 free throws. Tom Kern was next with 12.

Kewaskum's shooting improved slightly against St. Mary's Springs Saturday but not well enough to get past the Ledgers. The Indians hit on 17 of 53 shots but wound up on the short end of a 62-48 score. This might be expected considering Kewaskum is primarily an all junior team and the season just started.

The team looked improved defensively with the full court press and moved out in front by six points in the first quarter, 13-7. Early in the second period Springs rallied to tie it up and badly outscored them, 23-11, to make it 32-24 at the intermission. The Ledgers also outpointed them in the last two quarters.

The Indians cut the Springs lead to 6 points in the last quarter but then lost Schilter and Kern on fouls and that was all she wrote.

The Ledgers' Shawn Foley was the game's leading scorer with 18 points, followed by Goodayish with 13, and Wettstein and Donovan with 10 apiece. Kern led the Indians with 13 and played a fine overall game. Schilter and Brendemihl each tallied 10 for the losers.

Kewaskum hit poorly from the free throw line, sinking just 14 of 28. The Indians were out-rebounded decisively, 40-17.

Tuesday night Kewaskum played another non-conference game at West Bend East of the Little Ten. The Supers nudged Slinger (also of the Scenic) in their opener Friday, 64-61.

Indian JV's Also Lose Two Games

Like the varsity, the Kewaskum JV's also lost two games over the weekend. On Friday Plymouth beat them, 55-43, and Saturday night it was St. Mary's Springs 64, Indians 59.

Freshman Brian Larsen, who has been brought up to the JV's led Kewaskum with 13 points against Plymouth and Perry Kempf had 12.

In the St. Mary's contest, the JV's played poorly defensively. They had 8 and 9 point leads and then lost them. But Jim Rohlinger was consistent, scoring 26 points. Kempf added 11.

Girls Host New Holstein In Cage Opener

The Kewaskum girls' basketball team opened their season here Tuesday night with New Holstein, always a strong team in the Packerland Conference.

Coach Mike Theiler has six lettermen returning, two of them starters in Yvonne Schacht and Janet Matenaer. Schacht was an all-conference selection last year, averaging close to 13 points. Matenaer, only a junior, averaged five points and is good defense.

Others back are Bobbi Schmidt, Sharon Wagner, Kaye Weinreich and Tracey Schleif.

Last year the team finished in the second division after a bad first half start. But Theiler says the girls have a much better attitude and more confidence this year.

Top prospects are Jill Yearling, only a freshman, who starred on the successful middle school teams, and Junior Diane Bremser, who is looking good. Sue Russell also should see much action.

With Janine Prost, Mary Ryan and Karen Wagner gone, the squad will be small and will rely on a fast break offense and man-to-man pressure defense with its quick players.

Hartland should be the team to beat in the Scenic Moraine.

Washington County Receives Grant for Snowmobile Trails

A total of $38,778 has been distributed to four Southeast District counties for development, land acquisition, maintenance and insurance for public snowmobile trails.

Tom Blotz, Recreational Aids Specialist for the Southeast District, noted the grant money covers 211 miles of trails in Ozaukee, Racine, Sheboygan and Washington Counties.

"The grants from the Wisconsin Snowmobile Program, financed entirely from snowmobile registration fees, not only provide 100% of the costs to counties for snowmobile trails but also 100% of costs to municipalities for public snowmobile route signs," added Blotz.

"We also give $30,000 to snowmobile clubs for free trail signs and other reflectorized material." Besides money for county trails, the grant program provided $8,930 for maintenance of state trails on the Northern and Southern Units of the Kettle Moraine State Forest. There are 43 miles of trails on the Northern Unit and 46 miles of trails on the Southern Unit.

"There are currently over 7,000 miles on publicly funded county, state and federal trails in Wisconsin. Of that figure, the DNR maintains 600 miles of state trails at an annual cost of around $40,000," said Blotz. "Counties can receive up to $100 per mile for trail maintenance, although no county is guaranteed $100. Reimbursement is based on actual expenditures."

Trail grants are derived from snowmobile registration fees, currently $12 for 2 years. "The original fee of $9.00 for 3 years was never intended to support a trail system of 7,000 miles. The new fee increase will maintain the existing trails at $100 per mile maximum and will allow for limited trail development," added Blotz.

Monies allocated this year for county snowmobile trails in Washington County total $12,975.90.

SNOWMOBILE SAFETY COURSE OFFERED HERE

The Kewaskum Sno-Chiefs are again sponsoring their snowmobile safety course. Any person between the ages of 12 to 16 years of age or older can participate. Dreher Member of UWWC Soccer Team

The University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County Wildcats soccer team ended their season with eight wins and two losses—a respectable record, but it did not carry the team into the conference playoffs.

"We played to our expectations," said head coach and athletic director Tom Brigham, "But it was basically a learning season." With only two returning lettermen, the team was comprised of all new players. "I felt that with the ability of the players we started with, there was a great improvement in individual skills."

Dr. David Huehner and Dr. Sami Saad, Brigham's assistant coaches felt much the same. Huehner said, "We had a dedicated group of young men who represented the campus well."

According to Saad, "As always, it would have been nice to go all the way, but most of the players showed improvement and worked very hard."

Saad commented on the attendance at the games, "I would like to express a word of thanks to the fans, they were great. We had good attendance at most home games and this was a fine inspiration for the players."

Some players have indicated that they will return for the next season. All three coaches agreed that this should form a good nucleus for the 1979 team.

The team elected as the most valuable players, co-captains Dave Hauser and Steve Forster. Both men were also named to the 1978 WCC Eastern Division All-conference soccer team.

Bruce Herbst and Mike Bury were elected by their teammates as co-captains for the 1979 Wildcat team.

Conference winner this year was the team from the UW-Center Fond du Lac. The Wildcats did beat them in their first match, but by the end of the season the Wildcats lost the spark to hold back the forceful team from Fondy.

Deer Harvest Up in County; Hunter Shot

For the opening weekend of the deer season in Washington County the 1978 kill ran ahead of last year during the first two days. Two hundred twenty-two deer were shot Saturday and Sunday in the county compared to 188 in the first two days in 1977.

There were 123 deer registered Saturday and 99 on Sunday. Denny's Arco station at U.S. 41 and State 28 in the Town of Wayne registered 31 deer during the weekend.

At Kewaskum High School, about 105 students out of 806 have taken off for deer hunting. At Kewaskum Middle School the number is 25 out of about 320. A rough estimate of 10-15 percent of Washington County's workers and students took time off their jobs and school work for the deer season.

A West Bend man suffered a gunshot wound Monday morning in a hunting accident in a wooded area east of 18th Avenue near County NN. Robert Pick, 25, of 1733 Barton Avenue, West Bend, was reported shot in the right side by another member of his hunting party. He was removed to St. Joseph's Community Hospital.
