A graduate of the University of Dehli, India, Mehta received his Masters Degree in Business Administration from Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He has been with Regal since 1971, most recently serving as Director of Marketing.

Mehta, formerly of Udaipur, India, along with his wife, Sudha, and two children will be returning to India in early 1979.

Fire Kills Show Horse, Razes Barn

Fire razed a 40 by 60-foot horse barn and a show horse valued at approximately $15,000 died in the blaze at the Ronald Motz place in the Long Lake area early Thursday.

Also lost in the barn, located in the Town of Osceola on Lakeview Road, Route 3, Campbellsport, were valuable saddles, show horse equipment, a dog, hay and feed.

The Campbellsport Fire Department responded to the 5:15 a.m. alarm with 28 firemen. Eldon Spradau, secretary of the department, said that a west wind saved the farm home from fire damage. The debris still was smoldering when firemen left the scene about 8 a.m. Thursday.

Motz was treated at St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, for an injured left hand suffered when he attempted to rescue the horses and other valuables. Motz's telephone was out of order because of the fire. He was taken to the hospital by the Campbellsport ambulance.

Spradau reported the first emergency phone call was placed at 5:02 a.m. by Mrs. Koehn who operated a grocery store at Long Lake, but she was unable to determine the exact location of the smoke and flames.

The second call to the fire department was placed by Leo Shea, Route 2, Campbellsport, town chairman, after someone contacted him.

Charles Miller

By TAMI EDGAR
Statesman Staff Writer

The salary and wage control as proposed was approved at Monday evening's Village Board meeting.

This wage schedule will go in effect on December 21, the start of a new wage period. The proposed wages for personnel are as follows: Waste Treatment Operators, $17,424 and $15,132; Commissioner, $16,000; Police Chief, $18,030; Superintendent of Public Works, $19,365; General Employees, $6.00-$6.24 per hour; Librarian, $3.16 per hour; Apprentice Librarian, $2.86 per hour; Part-time Policemen, $3-$4 per hour.

The circulation for nomination papers deadline date for village offices is January 2 at 5:00 p.m. President Miller announced he will not run for the Presidency in 1979. The Board applauded him for his many years of service and contribution to the village. Terms also are ending for David Nigh, Mark Kral and Daniel Schmidt.

A building permit application was granted for a new one-family residence at 550 Knights Avenue to Robert Kirst. The Building Inspector has given his approval, and the Zoning Administrator expressed one change in the plans. The driveway was to enter from a proposed future street, which cannot be done, so the plans were changed to enter from Knights Avenue. With this change the board approved the building permit.

Patricia Dreher's application for a bartending license was approved.

A public hearing date was set for December 11, at 7:30 p.m. for the 1979 budget and revenue sharing. The board also approved the commissioner advertising for bids on a new boiler for the municipal Building by December 18.

The Police Department did not accept 42 hours of working time but expressed their desire to work 40 hours. The board decided to table the issue until the December 11 meeting.

The plans on the disposal plant for tertiary treatment were sent to Madison. The returned plans showed changes such as undersized pipes and a few more changes may be made.

The generator for lift stations found was self-contained unit. The National Guard had used it before and inquiries showed that they kept the unit in good condition. The unit is still unable to be obtained as of yet.

The Park Commission gave recommendations to send the worksheets of the park to the DNR to extend the completion date to 1979. The board approved these recommendations.

Steiger's Death Shocks Area

William A. Steiger

Sixth Dist. Rep. William A. Steiger (R-Wis.) of Oshkosh died in his sleep Monday morning, December 4, in his home in Washington, D.C. at the age of 40 years. A diabetic, Steiger was nevertheless thought to be in good health. He was found dead by his wife, Janet, Monday morning.

Cause of death was a heart attack caused by restrictive circulation, said Dr. James L. Luke, chief medical examiner for the Washington, D.C. Medical Examiner's Office. He called it coronary occlusion caused by arteriosclerosis. He had undergone a complete regular checkup at a diabetic clinic on November 17 and was judged to be in good health.

Steiger represented Washington County from 1966 through 1972. He was first elected to the House in 1966, representing the old 6th District. After reapportionment in the early 1970's, he was elected to represent the new 6th District, which encompasses Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and surrounding areas stretching widely to the east and west.

Residents of this area were shocked by Steiger's untimely death and political figures expressed their grief. His heart and soul was in the Washington County area, which he visited frequently, appearing in various parades and Republican activities.

Steiger's death means a great loss for Wisconsin and for the country. Bill was in his prime, young, active and a vigorous legislator. He worked hard for his party and on a nonpartisan basis in the best tradition of progressive politics. He distinguished himself in Congress.

Funeral services were held Thursday in Oshkosh.

Chas. Techtman Killed in Crash

Charles J. Techtman, 21, of 606 Spring Drive, West Bend, was killed in an auto accident early Friday morning, December 1, on U.S. 41.

He was the son of Harvey Techtman, West Bend funeral director, and wife Betty, former residents of Kewaskum, and was a nephew of Mrs. Merrill Krueger of this village.

The accident occurred shortly before 1:30 a.m. at the intersection of Aurora Road and U.S. 41. Joaquin Garcia, 27, of Morgan Stege, Illinois, told sheriff's deputies that Techtman's car skidded through the stop sign. Techtman and two passengers were thrown from his car when it was hit broadside by Garcia's Ford truck.

William C. Kieper, 24, of 6044 State 144, West Bend, sustained a skull fracture and broken right leg in the mishap and another passenger in Techtman's auto, Robert Weston, 22, of 1054 W. Washington Street, West Bend, sustained multiple fractures.

Techtman was thrown from the vehicle into a creek that runs along U.S. 41, according to the Sheriff's Department report. He was found face down in the creek. Asphyxiation was listed as the cause of death.

The three injured were taken to Hartford Community Memorial Hospital by ambulance. Kieper was later transferred to Milwaukee County General Hospital. Both Kieper and Weston were listed in critical condition after the accident.

Funeral services for Techtman were held Monday in West Bend.

Set New Goals for Erosion and Sediment Measures on Agricultural Lands in County

By Dan A. Wilson
County Resource Agent
UE-Extension, West Bend

The Washington County Board's adoption of an Agricultural Erosion Policy Resolution during its recent fall session sets new goals for erosion and sediment measures on agricultural lands in the county.

Concern for agricultural and construction erosion control stems from objectives set by the 1972 Federal Clean Water Act Amendments. This law detailed goals of "fishable, swimmable" surface waters by 1983 and essentially no discharge of pollutants by 1985. This act affects both point sources of pollution (industries and sewage treatment plants) and nonpoint source pollution (those pollutants which flow into surface streams from agricultural or urban areas after rain storms or snow melt).

Washington County's role in water quality concerns date back to 1974 when the Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) initiated a cooperative study of nonpoint pollution. The Washington County Project Study was developed to evaluate urbanizing and agricultural nonpoint source pollution problems and possible solutions.

Washington County officials hope that by adopting the agricultural erosion resolution the county will have a "head start" on controlling rural erosion problems if mandatory conservation measures are imposed by the Federal or State governments in the future.

The resolution developed by the Washington County SWCD, with assistance from the Washington County Project, is intended to encourage farmers to voluntarily adopt and implement a soil erosion control plan or conservation plan which would reduce sediment and other pollutant run-off from the land.

The resolution stresses that soil loss should not exceed 9 tons per any individual 200 foot square parcel of land per year and that soil loss for any farming unit would not exceed 3 tons per acre per year. Owners or operators of agricultural lands could develop their own erosion control plan or obtain a conservation plan through the SWCD in order to institute the necessary conservation practices needed to meet these standards. Provisions for review of erosion control plans by the SWCD have also been provided for in the resolution.

The SWCD and Washington County Board hope that if enough farmers voluntarily cooperate with the intent of this resolution, it's possible that future agricultural regulations will not be needed to meet the 1972 mandate.

A report developed by the Washington County Project indicates that only about 150 of the existing 1,500 working farms in Washington County have excessive soil erosion problems that could lead to surface water pollution. Therefore, only 10% of the county's farms need cropping and management changes to meet the resolution's guidelines.

Finally, the resolution calls for the SWCD's cooperating agencies, such as the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), University of Wisconsin-Extension (UWEX), and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) to cooperate with the SWCD in helping to implement the intent of the Agricultural Erosion Control Resolution.

Following Snowplows Too Closely Is December 'Law of the Month'

Drivers who follow snowplows too closely are not only running a foolish risk, they may be hampering efforts to restore a vital public service and breaking the law as well, William Harvey, Administrator of the Division of Enforcement & Inspection said today.

In announcing the "Law of the Month" for December, Captain Jack W. Jorgensen, Commanding District 2, of the Wisconsin State Patrol, said "the Patrol will make every effort to expedite snow removal operations so that state highways may be kept open for safe travel."

He said drivers should do their part by staying off the road when weather conditions are bad, and by avoiding interference with cleanup efforts when the storm has abated.

"Motorists should remember that when a heavy snowstorm hits, the snowplow operators may well have to stay on the job until the roads are cleared, even if that means working around the clock," he commented. "It's understandable that they don't feel kindly toward drivers who can't wait to get on the road, and end up stalled and blocking snowplow operations."

Jorgensen said that it is vital that motorists remain a safe distance behind a snowplow for their own safety. "Plows throw up a swirl of snow which may limit the operator's vision as well as blind drivers of cars that may be following too closely. When clearing an intersection the plow may have to back up, or the blade may strike an obstruction and the vehicle could be thrown sideways...all good reasons for maintaining a safe distance," he said.

Drivers convicted of tailgating a snowplow (or other vehicle) may be subject to forfeiture of not less than $20 nor more than $200, as well as earning three points against their driving records.

The Division said motorists should keep in mind that winter maintenance will again be restricted during off-hours on lesser traveled roads. As has been the policy for the past four winters, only the most heavily traveled highways will receive around-the-clock maintenance service. Lesser traveled roads are subject to reduced service between 8 p.m. and 4 a.m. on weekdays and all day Sunday.

ANIMAL LORE— DOMESTIC AND WILD

Animals of the farm and forest have been an important part of man's life, drawing his vehicles and implements and providing food and recreation. Mythical animals have frightened people and delighted storytellers. An enduring literature — Aesop's Fables, Alice in Wonderland, Br'er Rabbit stories — have centered on animals. Our speech is flavored with such sayings as "sly as a fox," "dumb as an ox," or "cross as a bear."

Though there is an abundance of sayings, superstitions, and tall tales about animals in Wisconsin, most of them have not been collected. What follows is only the tip of the iceberg.

Sayings

Farm speech abounds in sayings about animals, often crude, frequently unprintable. The ones about dogs are most common in everyday speech: "You can't teach an old dog new tricks," "a dog is man's best friend," "every dog has his day," and "a barking dog seldom bites." To train a dog, "you have to be smarter than the dog." Perhaps that is why we have so few trained dogs.

A settler in the cutover country said he lived so deep in the woods he had to have his own tom-cat. Farmers say that "a cow short in the tail will be short in the pail."

Superstitions

How can you know a good dog when you see one? Green-eyed dogs are no good. A good dog has to have a dark-colored mouth. How do you know a good horse? This jingle tells how:

One white foot, try him
Two white feet, buy him
Three white feet, deny him
Four white feet and a nose
Take off his skin and throw him to the crows.

These superstitions once influenced the German farmers in Door County: "If a mare is bred at mid-day, she is likely to have a filly;" a cow will have a heifer calf if she is bred facing North or South, has a drink after being bred, or if the farmer spits to the North or South as she is bred. A cow will have a bull calf if bred in her first or third heats.

Homing Instincts of Animals

Every community knows of a dog, horse, or cow that has returned to its old home after it was sold or its family had moved many miles away. Newspapers have carried stories such as the family dog returning 200 miles from Milwaukee to Omro, or the cow that returned from Barron to its old home 50 miles away. The most incredible story is of the cat that went from California to Madison in a year's time.

Yarns About Farm Animals

How do you weigh hogs in Jackson County? First, find a large rock to use as a fulcrum and place a plank over it to make a teeter-totter. Put the hog on one end of the plank and then place enough rocks on the other end to balance it. Then guess how much the rocks weigh.

Dogs and Lutefisk

In the old days when merchants ordered lutefisk by the barrel for the Scandinavian settlers, these barrels were kept in front of the stores where the fish stayed frozen most of the winter. Dogs roamed the streets at will, often stopping to water down the lutefisk as they passed by. The people whose ancestry was not Scandinavian, said that it was the dogs that gave it the flavor which the Norskies and Swedes liked.

The Bull and the Man With 14 Children

A farmer who had been blessed with 14 children took them to the cooperative artificial insemination barn to show them the bulls. He had a concern about the possible effect of so many children on the bulls inside. However, the manager said that he should go on in because "all the bulls will want to see a proven sire like you. It will inspire them to greater things."

Cows, Wolves and bears

All stories express affection for animals. Many point out their superior qualities, misidentification by city slickers, or how some stupid people behave around animals. The great legends are about wolves and bears. Of course, in a state that has had more cows than people, the dairy cow probably has the greatest body of lore—much of it forgotten.

How One Farmer Gained a Reputation

In the early days of dairying there was one Wisconsin farmer who gained local fame as a dairyman. Each day before breakfast he would go to his private room, lock the door behind him, and for 15 minutes would study a notebook that he kept in a locked chest. This habit was well known in the neighborhood and it was assumed that the contents of the notebook held the secrets of successful dairying.

When the man died, the children, eager to know the secret of dairying, opened the notebook at the family gathering. In bold capitals they found these great truths: "A BROWN COW IS A GUERNSEY, A JERSEY OR A BROWN SWISS: A BLACK SPOTTED COW IS A HOLSTEIN."

Cow Signs

Seen in Wisconsin: a milk truck with the sign—"All I am I owe to udders" and a barn called a "mootel."

Dairying and Rats

One Wisconsinite remembered the "Good Old Days" when he hauled milk to the local creamery each day with team and wagon: "I can remember one time at the creamery they found a rat in ice cream that had been purchased from a neighboring woman. When the woman was informed that the rat had been found, she exclaimed, "What? Didn't I get 'em all out?"

Straining Dirty Milk

A Kickapoo Valley farmer had a cow that kicked and shifted around every time she was milked. Once when the new city-bred hired hand was milking her, she dropped a cow-pile right into the pail of milk. This was too much for Hank. He took the bucket to the manger and did his best to make her drink it. When the farmer came into the barn, he asked Hank what in the world he was doing. He answered that the old cow had dropped a pile in the bucket and he was going to run it through the cow again to strain it. It was the only way he knew how to save the milk.

Don't Sell That Cow, Son

The farmer's mother was in a nursing home in Wausau, so each week when he visited her he brought a quart of fresh milk for her. He never mentioned to her that he always added a little brandy. She never mentioned it either. One day after he had presented her with the fresh milk she said to him: "Son, I wonder if I could ask you a special favor." "Certainly," said the son. "Please, son, whatever you do, please don't sell that cow."

Smart Cow Picks Stones From Hooves

In Amery, a dairy community, there is a very smart cow. It is said she is so intelligent that she can pick stones from between her hooves with her horns, and can open barn doors when tightly latched simply by flipping the latch with a horn.

Do Wolves Eat People?

One of the oldest and most persistent folk beliefs is that wolf packs have been a scourge of the world and have eaten people by the hundreds. Not so, say the game management experts who claim there is no documented case on record in which a wolf pack has attacked people. The mayor of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, had offered a handsome award for years to a person offering evidence of a wolf pack attack. He concludes that anybody who claims "he's been et by a wolf is a liar."

The oral tradition has it otherwise. There are dozens of cases that have found their way into literature, according to the many stories of wolf attacks that have been told by old Wisconsin lumberjacks. Louis Blanchard, who spent the years 1888-1912 in the woods, told this writer that the men in the camp heard the pack closing in on one of their colleagues. They found the place where the final attack took place, and there were five wolves that had been shot and two had been killed with an ax. Only the bones of the lumberjack were left. "The wolves hadn't been hungry enough to eat his boots to get at what was inside."

How to Tell a Black Bear

The Black Bear may be either black or cinnamon in color. It is often found in berry patches, standing on its hind legs and feeding its face with both paws. Scientists say that the Black Bear is smaller than the Grizzly and has short, curved claws that enable it to climb a tree. Old timers say there is only one effective way to tell the difference between the two. Kick the bear in the rump and run for a tree. If the bear climbs up after you, it is a Black Bear. Grizzlies cannot climb.

"World's Largest Bear"

Danbury claims the "World's Largest Bear" and exhibits the creature in a special museum. A postcard is also sold showing the bear and the 16-year-old girl who shot it. The dressed weight of the bear was 635 pounds and it probably weighed 800 pounds when it roamed the woods of Burnett County. DNR personnel may dispute this claim, but it has been visible since 1963. Across the street in a tavern is an exhibit called "World's Smallest Bear."

Bears Bet Unbearable

The REA has bear problem in the northern countries. The bears think the hum they hear in the electrical lines is a swarm of bees, so they slash the poles until they look like shredded wheat, hoping to find some honey.

Bear Capital of the World

Iron Belt has been having an annual bear hunt for many years, involving most of its residents and other bear hunters from afar. It calls itself the "Bear Capital of the World."

Wisconsin— "Animal Lore Capital?"

Wisconsin, as a dairy state and a place where hunting and fishing are so important to so many, has an enormous amount of lore about both domestic and wild animals — legendary muskies and wolves, superstitions of hunting camps, and tall tales about all sorts of strange animal behavior.

Cub Scout News

Cub Scout Pack 3744 held their meeting on Monday, November 27.

The opening flag ceremony was presented by Den 6.

Bear Badges were received by Jim Phillips and Scott Schmitt.

Tim Kleinke, new Cub Scout, and Shawn Neitzel, new Webelos, were welcomed to the "Wonderful World of Scouting."

Reports were given by a boy from each den telling of their month's activities.

SENATOR PETRI CAPITOL REPORTS

The Governor-Elect and the State Budget

Wisconsin's Governor-elect Lee Dreyfus has his work cut out for him! The Department of Administration has assembled budget requests from all state agencies totaling $12.99 billion.

The state must provide $7.15 billion of this sum, from the general revenue coffers principally comprised of income and sales taxes. The remaining $5.84 billion is covered by federal funds and special fees collected by the state.

We all have a stake in the state budget process. The total amount of spending determines how many tax dollars will be collected to make these expenditures.

This $7.15 billion figure, the state's burden of the agencies' budget requests, is about 21% higher than the present spending rate and it does not include anticipated state employee salary increases or the impact of inflation.

LEFTOVER FUNDS?

A great deal was said about the projected state surplus during the recent campaign for Governor. It is still unclear how many dollars will be left unspent in the state treasury at the end of the present budget period, July 1, 1979. Forecasters in the Schreiber administration are now saying that much less will be available for tax cuts than they had projected for the Acting Governor during the campaign.

We will have a sharper picture of the facts after January 1, 1979, when the Legislature's Fiscal Bureau will review the status of state finances and offer an unbiased view.

GOVERNOR NEEDS SHARP PENCIL

A fundamental problem of the Schreiber administration has been the use of key state agencies such as the Department of Revenue, to promote the partisan image of the Governor. It was difficult for Republican legislators to obtain important statistics from this agency when budget changes were being considered. Democrats had easy access to computer printouts and other valuable data.

I trust that credibility will be restored to state government under the incoming Dreyfus administration. We have a right to expect that state services are being used for the common good, rather than for partisan purposes.

Governor-elect Dreyfus has a sharp pencil, poised to set a ceiling on spending. The final package will probably be less than the requested $12.99 billion, if what I hear is accurate.

A real pine tree reflects an old time Christmas feeling. If you're using one this year, UL and your fire department remind you to check the base of the tree for dryness. Add water periodically to insure it remains moist. This will reduce the chance of it catching fire.

Tall Mayville Breezes by Indians, 73-51; Kern Injured

Kewaskum's conference opener at Mayville Friday night was a costly one. Not only did the Indians lose the game to the tall Cardinals, 73-51, but their only starter back from last year, junior Tom Kern, suffered a severely sprained ankle and will be lost indefinitely.

Kern, 6-2 center, was injured midway through the fourth quarter and was removed to the hospital. He was going up for a short jump shot when he came down on another player's foot and sprained his ankle. At first it was believed the ankle might have been fractured but x-rays showed it as a severe sprain. Play was delayed nearly 15 minutes while a Mayville rescue squad put an air cast on the ankle before removing him to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend. Kern's loss is a severe loss as he is the leading rebounder and averages in double figures.

Shooting at a hot 53 percent, the Cardinals dominated play and led by a one-sided 59-29 margin after three quarters of play. Then Coach Bob Wojtusik retired his regulars to the bench, after which the Indians outscored Mayville in the final quarter, 22-14.

The Cardinals scored nine points before Kewaskum got on the board. At one point, the Indians came within five points but that was as close as they got. Mayville used lob passes to 6-10 Dave Green and 6-5 Terry Mueller in the second quarter for easy baskets. The Cards ran off 12 straight points to go ahead 27-8 and at halftime it was 36-18. Mayville hit on 13 of 20 shots in the first half for a sizzling 60 percent, while Kewaskum made only 8 of 30 for 26 percent.

Green and Mueller led the winners with 15 points apiece, while Doug Bartelt chipped in

Cold Girl Cagers Lose to Mayville

A cold Kewaskum girls basketball team hit on only 14 of 64 shots in losing their conference opener at Mayville Thursday, 52-39.

The game was close at the end of the quarter, 12-10, but then the Cardinal girls outscored the Indians by a whopping 16-3 margin in the next period to put the game out of reach, as the Kewaskum girls played badly.

Top scorer for the losers was Yvonne Schacht with 10 points. Mayville's Cindy Machmueller led all scorers with 16.

A good point was that the defense led by Kaye Weinreich, forced the Cards into poor shots but they failed to stop Machmueller on second and third shots. Also the Indians forced numerous turnovers.

The Indian JV's also lost, 35-34. Sue Bade hit for five of seven shots from the floor. Tuesday Kewaskum played at West Bend East, Friday they travel to Slinger, and next Tuesday they go to Sheboygan Falls.

14 and Lucky Wurtz 11. Bob Nigh and Scott Brendemuhl hit 9 for the Indians and Kern added 8 before being injured. The Cards' Mueller also got 15 rebounds.

In other games Friday, Kettle Moraine trimmed Pewaukee, 60-45, and Slinger won over Grafton, 61-49. The outcome of the Hartland-Germantown game was not reported. Kettle and Mayville appear to be the powers in the conference.

This Friday Kewaskum hosts Slinger, which has another pretty good team. And the Indians will be without starter Kern.

JV'S TIP MAYVILLE, FRESHMEN BEATEN

The Kewaskum JV's won over Mayville, 56-50, while the freshmen were downed, 73-46.

The JV's got off to a 15-0 lead and were led by Jim Rohlinger with 22 points for his third 20-point performance or better in succession. Perry Kempf got 13 and Brian Larsen 10. Schwandt scored 20 for the Cards.

The Mayville freshmen had a big team and prevented Kewaskum from good shots. Jim Krahn hit 16 points for the Indians and Rick Leitheiser had 8. Rick Wellhoefer went wild for the Cards with 27 points, 16 of them in the third quarter.

Deer Kill Down by 11 in Southeastern Counties of State

Deer hunters in Southeastern Wisconsin took eleven fewer deer this year than in 1977.

The total count for the seven counties where the season was open in the Southeast District for this year is 1,664. In 1977, the total was 1,675.

The statewide count has not been completed yet, but game managers with the Department of Natural Resources expect that it will be about 145,000. Last year, the statewide kill was 131,160.

The deer kill in counties in the Southeast District for 1977 and 1978 was:

Cougar Wrestlers Shut Out Indians, Run Streak to 96

Perennially powerful Campbellsport's dual meet streak without a loss reached 96 Thursday night at Kewaskum, where the Cougars blanked the Indians, 58-0.

The Cougars racked up four pins, won two matches by forfeits in which Kewaskum had no wrestlers in that weight class, and gained decision wins in six others in the meet. It was the Cougars' 14th shutout.

Mark Schultz, fourth in the state meet last year at 98 pounds, recorded the quickest pin when he put down his opponent in one minute.

At 145, Chris Humphreys gained a 1-0 decision over the Indians' Jeff Bastian, a transfer from West Bend. The only other close match was at 185 where Kewaskum transfer from Campbellsport, Rich Waldkirch ran into his old teammate, Keith Rowe, and lost 4-2.

Thursday night the Indians entertain defending champion Pewaukee in the conference opener.
