Garbage Pickup To Be Cut Down To Once a Week

The Village Board of the Village of Kewaskum, with the approval of the 1982 Budget, eliminated twice-a-week refuse (garbage) pick-up. This action was taken to minimize any increase in the Village's property tax. This action also brings the Village in line with other communities as far as once-a-week refuse pick-up. The Board feels this action will not create any problems or hardships. If a problem or question does arise, please call the Municipal Building and an effort will be made to resolve the problem or answer your question.

The Board has kept open the possibility of resuming twice a week pick-up for the three (3) main summer months. This matter will be reviewed and discussed in the spring of 1982 and a decision made.

The proposed pick-up schedule will be the same as it is currently. That is the normal Monday and Tuesday pick-up, with NO Friday and Saturday pick-up.

Due to the Christmas and New Year Holidays there will be a once a week pick-up the weeks of December 20 and December 27, 1981. Those pick-ups will be on Monday and Tuesday.

The Village Board and Public Works Department would like to ask for your cooperation with the change. Thank you!

Computer Course May Become Part of High School Curriculum

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Although budget cuts have been the main concern of the Kewaskum School Board in past weeks, Monday night's meeting heard a presentation by several Kewaskum faculty members which could add approximately $12,000 to the 1982-83 budget if approved.

Superintendent Floyd Brenholt, Dennis Reha, Middle School Principal, and several high school teachers, are requesting the board consider the possibility of adding a general computer program designed basically to introduce students to the computer world and related business areas. In Brenholt's written presentation he said, "these suggestions will get us into teaching computer literacy and into using computers as tools in the educational process. They will not take us into the area of training the computer professional."

Reha has been looking into the feasibility of some type of

A truck making a delivery at the pharmacy, driven by Timothy W. Kleinke of Greenfield, struck the building when his foot reportedly slipped off the clutch and the truck crashed into the door, police said.

No citations were issued. Damage was estimated in excess of $500.

Like Lazarus, Cross Country Program Rises From the Dead

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

At Monday's night's School Board meeting, about 15 parents and students concerned with dropping of the Cross Country program at the November 30 meeting found out it pays to make calls to school board members and write letters to the newspaper.

Before anyone could get up and speak for keeping the program, board member Charles Ogi made a motion to reinstate the program. "I made up my mind to come to the meeting and make a motion to retain Cross Country," said Ogi, who had previously voted to drop it.

One parent asked if she could still speak on behalf of the program. "One great thing about Cross Country is, everyone gets to participate, not everyone is capable of being in the bigger sports," said Mrs. Klein.

With Ogi changing his vote to "in favor of the program," his motion to retain Cross Country passed. Had the cut remained, less than $2,000 would have been saved in the 1982-83 budget.

Board member Jean Goeden commented to the audience, "this is a seesaw." She referred to the fact that when a cut is made that special interest group is back to the board demanding it be reinstated. People expect to see budget cuts but not those affecting their children.

In other budget related discussion, James Schmidt asked how come all 30 budget recommendations had been reviewed at the last meeting. His impression was that discussions would cover several meetings before any specific cuts were approved. Schmidt said he, like many other district taxpayers, were not able to attend since town boards were also holding meetings that night. "People of this district want major cuts," said Schmidt.

Schmidt questioned why dropping of the Business Manager position had been defeated again. His feeling was that this salary could be saved by having the manager's secretary handle this work. Business Manager Bob Borch said, "I take objection to that. I invite you to come in here any day to look over my job and then you tell me if my secretary could do this."

Superintendent Brenholt became angry over the suggestion that still further staffing reductions could be made. "I've listened to about all I intend to without fighting back," said Brenholt. "I'm tired of our staff members being criticized when they're already doing 15% more." Brenholt noted his salary was also $3,000 to $4,000 less than several superintendents in other districts.

Board member Tom Brigham again brought up the method in which counselors are working with students. Board President John Tessar questioned whether there had been any official complaints by parents or students to any board member. No one had received any.

Brigham felt that the job of Athletic Director should be assigned to another person allowing high school counselor David Wietor more time for counseling duties. Tessar asked Brigham if he was suggesting Mr. Wietor wasn't doing his job. Brigham said no, but Wietor himself had said it at a previous meeting, the counselors needed more time to work with students. "We cut Mr. Wietor's schedule by 10 to 15 days and now you're saying the job is not being done? This is confusing," said Tessar. "I think we're going to lose some awfully good people from this district pretty soon," stated Tessar. "I think we're sticking our nose into day-to-day operations."

In other business, Karen Petric brought the board up to date on progress being made in the gifted and talented program.

Assistant Principal Roy Esser reported on the evaluation of the high school vocational education program. Esser noted the examiners were satisfied with Kewaskum's program, employers are happy with the Kewaskum students they have hired and the students are satisfied with the programs. "Except for expansion in the health careers field and development of Distributive Education and Sales, I feel we have a very complete program," said Esser.

Tessar thanked Esser for his fine job of compiling information and working with the examining committee.

The board also approved the Athletic Academic Eligibility Code. Failing grades for the first time will cause sports ineligibility for 15 consecutive days, the second and subsequent times, a student will be ineligible for 30 consecutive days.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

computer program, either in the middle or high school, for several months. His recommendation is to offer this basic program on the high school level.

Board member Tom Brigham commented that a recent study showed, going into the 1980's, 80% of the jobs our high school students will experience will be in computer related fields.

Board President John Tessar asked how the school would go about selecting students to participate in this program. Principal Clark Pearson felt seniors would be given priority. If the sign-up exceeds the number the classes could accommodate, other means would also have to be used. Four classes of 20 students each is being considered. Tessar felt that any students considered should have a prerequisite of at least one year of algebra. His reason being that any person considering computer programming must have a solid math background or they won't make it. Brenholt felt this thinking was not correct, stating "a person should be allowed to try it if they want to." Again, emphasizing that this would be a general course, at least the first year. Board member Jerry Secor said, "the purpose of the high school program is to highlight these subjects, we are not trying to produce a finished program."

Present recommendations are to include the program in the Math Department under the guidance of Joe Harlow, a math teacher presently taking some basic computer courses. Lois Weiland, of the Business Education Department, felt it should become part of this area. Harlow said, "we're talking two areas, computer and programming," noting Plymouth High School has it as part of the Science Department.

Reha (with a math background) said, "I've changed my mind on a few things" (such as math being a requirement). He feels that the program should be available at present to all interested seniors. "One year down the line if some of these kids fall flat on their faces, we know we have to require math," said Reha.

Anticipated cost of the program will be $18,200 with $10,000 for equipment, $1,000 maintenance and $7,200 staffing. Brenholt feels approximately $6,000 of Title IVB money could be used to purchase equipment, resulting in a district commitment of $12,000 to get the programming started.

Tessar asked that a definite program be worked out for presentation at the next meeting. He also noted the board had better be ready with some answers when taxpayers begin to question the possibility of adding $12,000 when they are looking for cuts in the 1982-83 budget.

Son of Former Resident Dies In Accident

A 39-year-old West Bend man became Fond du Lac County's 12th traffic fatality of the year Saturday when his 1981 model pickup truck left Highway 45 north of Waucousta and struck a utility pole.

The victim was identified by Fond du Lac County Sheriff's officers as John W. Schlosser of 863 Homestead Drive, West Bend. He sustained severe head injuries in the crash.

Schlosser was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Schlosser of West Bend. His mother is the former Ruth Runte of Kewaskum.

The accident occurred on Highway 45, one-half mile south of County Trunk W, in the Town of Osceola. Exact time of the mishap is unknown, authorities said. The accident was discovered and reported to the sheriff's department at 2:29 a.m. Authorities arrived at the scene at 2:41 a.m.

Officials reported that Schlosser was traveling south on Highway 45 when his truck crossed the centerline and left the roadway on the east side. The truck slid broadside through the east ditch, with the passenger's side of the truck striking the utility pole.

The body was taken to St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, by Campbellsport ambulance.

Mr. Schlosser's obituary appears on another page of this issue.

The Girl Scouts enjoyed a Halloween Party following their "Trick or Treating" collection for U.N.I.C.E.F.

Junior troop No. 145 from Farmington went "Trick or Treating" this year for U.N.I.C.E.F. The girls covered the Farmington area, assisted by Cadet troop No. 57. They collected $65.31. Even though the girls didn't get any candy, they enjoyed what they were doing for others, very much.

Afterwards, they all met at the home of Mrs. Adrienne Berres for a Halloween party. They were each given a mask, but it was pinned on their back. After they discovered "who they were" they could put the mask on. They also played "Pin the Nose on the Witch."

The troop is working on a World Neighbors Badge, and "Trick or Treating" for U.N.I.C.E.F. will help with requirements.

The girls would like to send a special, thank you, to Mr. Quinlan for driving.

James Andre Story Included in Volume of Oral History Series

A story by James Andre of Kewaskum is included in the most recent edition of We Were Children Then published by Stanton & Lee Publishers, Inc., of Madison, Wisconsin. The tale of life in an earlier Wisconsin, entitled "The Summer of '32," is just one of 99 collected in the second volume of this highly popular, oral history series.

We Were Children Then, Volumes I and II, are collections of stories from the Yarns of Yesteryear Project sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Extension. The project is designed to preserve the recollections of Wisconsin's senior citizens, recollections that span the entire spectrum of life at the turn of the century. Topics include: Growing Up, School Days, Working, Transportation, Hard Times, Remembered Places, and many more.

Individual copies of both Volumes I and II of We Were Children Then are priced at $11.95 and $13.95 respectively and are available from Stanton & Lee at 44 East Mifflin Street, Madison, Wisconsin, 53703. Wisconsin residents can expedite receipt of the books by calling Stanton & Lee toll free at 1-800-362-5464 and having the books charged to their VISA and/or Master Charge accounts. The books are also available at bookstores throughout Wisconsin.

Andre's story was published in the Statesman several years ago. It is repeated below:

"THE SUMMER OF '32"

In 1932 times were hard, money was scarce, it was impossible to find work. It was a warm sunny day in May when I met my friend "Wabeno Joe" Enders in Kewaskum. He asked me to join him on a trip to Livermore, California to visit his uncle. We agreed to meet at the depot at 6 p.m. in the afternoon. I packed some extra clothes, soap, towel, razor, etc. into a pack sack, also a warm jacket. I had $2.25 in my pocket, walked down the track to the depot and found Joe waiting for me. About 6:30 p.m. the north bound train stopped and when it left we were riding on the water tank. At Oshkosh we got off to take a Soo line passenger train to Minneapolis. A policeman would not let us get off until we convinced him we would leave town at 10:30. He was at the Soo line station to see us get on and we were on our way.

Stevens Point was a difficult place to get through. The railroad detectives were tough and checked every freight and passenger train for free riders. The friendly engine crew let us ride in the coal car and when we got into Stevens Point the fireman got on the water tank to fill it. "No riders tonight, Red," he said, when the detective came to check the water tank. Early the next morning we got to the Twin Cities. We climbed down off the water tank and walked out of that big depot with the paying passengers. How we got away with this I will never know.

At the Great Northern freight yard we found a place to wash off the coal dust. After this we rode freight trains and did not get so dirty, we usually looked for a box car with a basswood floor for a "softer bed." At the Great Northern freight yard there were quite a few men waiting to get a ride west. Sometime in the afternoon about fifteen of us got into an empty box car just as the train started to leave the yard. It was an interesting experience riding through the western states. I can still remember the sound of the steam locomotives pulling up the steep grades in the mountain passes. How could one ever forget the steam whistles of the Iron Horse. We traveled together until we got to Washington. Whatever food we could get we shared. Milk was always to be had at dairies. Sometimes we washed dishes for a meal. We ate at the Salvation Army, we also had some hungry days. At Wolf Point, Montana the train was in a siding to let a passenger train go by. While we were waiting in the siding one of our group slipped away and came back to the car with a large hot ham that must have weighed eighteen to twenty pounds. It was so hot he could hardly carry it. We hid it until the train left town. The ham and some day old bakery goods really made a feast. He never did tell where he got it, someone's loss made a feast for a hungry bunch. We stopped a day at Glacier Park. There were many deer watching the train as we traveled through the forests of Idaho, also many large idle lumber mills in the villages. After we got to Spokane we headed south to San Francisco. At Pasco there was a camp of perhaps five hundred men catching fish in the river and trading them for food. Their shacks along the river were made of old lumber, boxes and tin. They called it "Hooverville."

The tracks of the Western Pacific going south travel through high country, there were many bridges over deep valleys. Further south the railroad ran along the banks of the Feather River for many miles. Many places men were panning gold on the sandbars. I was told very little gold was found. Narrow gauge logging railroads brought large logs to the mills many places along here. At Tracy, California we were in a locomotive graveyard. Several hundred old steamers were parked here, some were very old and had diamond stacks.

We finally got to Livermore, walking the last seven miles. I still had my $2.25. We met Jack Harter, Joe's uncle, in town. He had brought eggs to the grading station. He was a brother of Gregor Harter of Campbell-sport. Most of his eleven acres were used for growing grapes and apricots and he also had about one thousand laying hens. During the six weeks we were there we helped harvest the apricots and built a shelter for another eight hundred hens. While there he gave each of us $5.00 which we spent in San Francisco riding the cable cars and bay ferries. We visited the docks and other points of interest and stayed with people who owned land near Harter.

Harter tried very hard to find work for us in town as he wanted us to stay with him. None was to be found so we decided to leave for home. Jack gave each of us $5.00 and we were on our way back to Kewaskum. Mojave, Barstow and Las Vegas were next on our tour. Legalized gambling was just a year old in 1932. The Lucky Strike, Golden Nugget and the Apache Club were the only casinos in Vegas. We stayed here about a week. About six hundred men slept in the park in front of the Union Pacific depot. It was a good place to be, free food and drinks were available around the clock in the casinos. A wide open roaring village as workmen who were building the dam spent lots of money. From Vegas we rode to Ogden, Utah and then east of Chicago on the Union Pacific and Northwestern. At Cheyenne Joe and I somehow got separated catching a train. We were on the same train but did not know it as trains were long and several hundred men were on this train. We looked for each other on the trains and in rail yards on our way east. It was common to see four hundred riding one freight train on the Union Pacific. Most of the cars were loaded so we road on top.

It was on a Saturday afternoon when I got off a freight in the Northwestern yards in Milwaukee. I was hungry and went to the Red Room in the Plankinton Arcade and ate two large hot beef sandwiches, finally busting the $5.00 bill. At 9 p.m. I got on the water tank of a passenger train at the Northwestern Depot and was back in Kewaskum at 10 p.m. My friend Joe, had come back on the 6:30 p.m. train. Joe later moved to Alaska and was found dead in the woods. Someone had shot him.

As I look back now at the Great Depression of the thirties I often think of the men of the road. Perhaps we were a group all of our own, wandering, restless, always on the move, some going east, some going west, some going north and some going south, some not knowing which way they wanted to go. Though we came from all over going in every direction we seemed to develop a common bond for one another. We shared what little we had, talked about where we came from and what the country was like, what we did and where we wanted to go, and we trusted one another. We often went to sleep at night only to awake to find someone else had gotten on the train during the night and was sleeping aside you when you awoke. Never did I experience or hear of anyone stealing from one another. Perhaps this is a fitting tribute to the character of these men.

I live near the Northwestern and as the trains roll by I often think of this journey. I am sure it would be impossible for anyone to do it now or any time in the future.

Salt used in its pure form and in the many chemicals derived from it, directly affects almost all major industries. There's salt in shoe leather, in the dye of a hat and tons go into the production of paper.

Nurse to Receive

Degree at UW-Oshkosh

Twelve registered nurses who decided to go back to school to study for a bachelor's degree in nursing will receive that degree at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh at its Mid-Year Commencement on Friday evening, Dec. 18, at Kolf Sports Center.

They are the first to graduate through the new registered nurses degree completion program of the College of Nursing which began in 1979. They received their diplomas in nursing from hospital or technical institute schools of nursing and now will receive the bachelor of science in nursing degree from UW-Oshkosh.

Under this program they were able to receive a maximum of 23 nursing credits for their prior learning by writing a competency test devised for nurses by the American College of Testing (ACT) and two National League of Nursing tests.

These 12 had to meet certain university general education and pre-clinical course requirements before being admitted into the clinical nursing program for their final three semesters on campus, which began with the 1980 fall semester. Some of these required courses could be met by writing CLEP (College Level Examination Program) tests or departmental tests or by transfer of credits earned elsewhere.

All but one continued to work on a part-time basis in hospitals at Oshkosh, Neenah or Appleton or in a county public health service while attending classes.

These 12 registered nurse students included:

Carol Frac, 9103 Wescott Road, Kewaskum, a 1964 graduate of St. Alexis Hospital School of Nursing in Cleveland. She is a public health nurse for Washington County.

Special Tax-Deferred Savings

Now every worker can set up an IRA and save up to $2,000 annually. If both husband and wife work, each may set up their own IRA and save up to $4,000 annually. If you have a non-working spouse, you can set up an IRA for yourself and your spouse and save up to $2,250 annually. ALL TAX-DEFERRED:

Everyone qualifies, even if you are currently in a pension or profit sharing plan where you work.

What's The 44% Advantage?

The 44% advantage is the difference between a retirement savings plan that is taxable and a special tax-deferred Individual Retirement Savings Plan.

At today's rates, retirement income of $2,000 a year in an IRA for 25 years (for an individual in a 30% tax bracket) would be approximately $300,000. Had that income been taxed it would only be approximately $168,000 or 56%.

That means the new special tax-deferred IRA gives you a 44% advantage.

Build A Future Fortune A Month At A Time

Even on a modest income you can build a large retirement fortune one month at a time. At West Bend Savings you can make monthly deposits as low as $20 using one of three ways: (1) use an automatic payroll deposit plan where you work (ask your employer); (2) West Bend Savings will transfer money automatically every month from your checking account even if it is at another financial institution; or, (3) deposit the money each month yourself at any West Bend Savings office (if you prefer to make a lump sum deposit, you can do so anytime).

The above chart illustrates how far important state-funded road and bridge programs have declined since 1971 in relation to statewide vehicle usage.

"The hard truth is that the 1981 Budget Bill simply did not restore Wisconsin's capacity to keep its road and bridge system in safe operating condition." This is the major conclusion of a report just issued by the Transportation Development Association, outlining the long-term impact of the 1981 Budget Bill on key Wisconsin transportation programs.

TDA Executive Director Tom Walker pointed to the recently announced six-year highway program as dramatic evidence that funding remains inadequate.

"The state plan rebuilds bridges every 100 years and resurfaces highways on a 28 year cycle. That's about double their reasonable life expectancy," noted Walker.

Safety is also shortchanged. The program sets a goal, for example, of improving only 18% of the 828 miles of state highways with more than double the statewide accident rate.

"Since our transportation system is literally the circulation system of the entire Wisconsin economy, continuing to fund highway and bridge improvements at 38% below the 1971 level may be a very real threat to our future economic health," Walker said.

The good news, however, is that the outlook could have been far worse. The far-sighted action of Governor Dreyfus and the Legislature raised enough revenues to stabilize nearly all transportation programs.

For the first time in about a decade, transportation cutbacks are not occurring. A no user-fee increase budget would have forced reduction in current transportation spending to about 37% below the 1971 level.

Other key findings of the report were:

* Since 1971, motor vehicle registrations are up 44 per cent, licensed drivers up 23 per cent, and travel up 20 per cent. Despite these increased demands on the road system, real dollar spending for basic maintenance is up only 3 per cent from 1971 to 1983. Spending for basic local road aids has stabilized at 36 per cent below 1971 levels and state highway and bridge improvement funding has levelled off at 38 per cent under 1971.

* Even with the 1981 user fee increases, a typical Wisconsin driver is paying about half the annual fees that his counterpart paid 14 years ago, in 1967, when measured in real dollars.

"Surprising as it may seem, Wisconsin drivers remain undertaxed by past standards," said Walker. "That's the fundamental reason for all the spending reductions."

* The only major increase in real dollar spending in the last decade has been for the state to meet new, non-highway transportation responsibilities, such as mass transit, railroad revitalization, and elderly/handicapped transportation. Spending on these programs will consume about 10 per cent of the 1983 budget.

To keep transportation programs on the road to recovery, TDA is advocating legislation in 1983 to freeze state highway user fees for automobile operators at the current level of one penny per mile, measured in 1981 dollars.

"A penny-a-mile is a fair price to pay today for the state's transportation programs. Keeping that fee even with inflation in the future will eliminate repeated transportation crises and slowly restore the viability of the state's transportation network."

Representative

Mary Panzer Visits

On Monday, December 14, State Representative Mary Panzer, whose district includes Kewaskum, which is also served by the Moraine Park Vocational District, was at the Fond du Lac Campus. Instead of the usual government representative tour, Ms. Panzer took part in activities starting with culinary classes for the restaurant and Hotel Cookery Program. She learned new skills right along with the students.

After lunch, she traded in her chef's hat and coat for a micro-processor as she and a student guide diagnosed problems on microwave ovens. It wasn't an ordinary day for Mary Panzer.

1982 Wisconsin Calendars
Available Throughout State

THE STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF WISCONSIN
Wisconsin Calendar - 1982

Copies of the 1982 Wisconsin Calendar published by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin are now on sale at book, drug and retail stores and other outlets throughout Wisconsin. From the colorful front-cover photograph of an Old World Wisconsin guide sitting at her spinning wheel in the summer sun to an 1870s black-and-white photo of a southern Wisconsin thresher, the calendar is a fascinating pictorial of Wisconsin's past and present.

More than 20 color photographs depicting contemporary life in Wisconsin and more than 25 black-and-white photos from the Society's Visual and Sound Archives, and unrivaled collection of almost a million historic images of life in the upper Midwest, fill this 116-page book. Separate appointment pages for each week of the year, record keeping and personal directory pages, and past and future calendars are also featured in this year's edition.

Amateur and professional photographers from throughout the state submitted the colorful Wisconsin scenes found in the calendar. All of this year's black-and-white photos concern the many facets of the food industry in Wisconsin, from growing foodstuffs to preparing, marketing and consuming them.

Several of these food pictures also appear in The Flavor of Wisconsin: An Informal History of Food and Eating in the Badger State, a history-cum-cookbook just published by the Society. Written by well-known Wisconsin author Harva Hachten, this book is much more than a cookbook of 400 mouth-watering recipes. It is a history of the people who settled Wisconsin and particularly the ways they provided themselves sustenance and laid their tables, serving up a rich banquet of Wisconsin's culinary traditions, both plain and fancy.

The calendar, published continuously since 1948 when it appeared as part of Wisconsin's statehood Centennial celebration, has become a model for other state calendars and is extremely popular to residents both in and out of Wisconsin.

The cost of the calendar is $4.75 plus tax. If not available locally it may also be ordered, postage paid, by mail from Department C, State Historical Society of Wisconsin, 816 State Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53076. Discounts are given for orders of 12 or more. Community fund-raising groups and retailers are also offered quantity discounts.

Income from calendar sales augment the Society's publications budget, which is only partially funded with state tax revenues.

THE EDITOR...
December 2, 1981

Dear Mr. Harbeck:

Our goal for this year's United Way of Kewaskum drive was $18,000.00. Total pledges received to date are $21,635.78. It should be pointed out that these are pledges only, not actual cash received. Through the course of the year we always have a certain number of pledges that are not filled. This could be caused by economic hardship, people with payroll deductions who are laid off, terminated, or moved away. However, we do expect to be able to make fund distributions to the charitable agencies that request funds from the United Way this year.

I would like to thank all of the citizens of the Kewaskum and surrounding communities who have so graciously supported the United Way campaign this year and in the past.

Without these people's generous contributions year after year, we would not be able to print this type of article applauding the success of this year's campaign. Also, thanks to all the volunteer solicitors.

Thanks again for your help.

Sincerely,

The Kewaskum area has something new this year. Our senior Girl Scout troop is a horseman troop. Their leaders, Barb Peterson and Sheila Bowen are helping the girls to learn all they can about horses and riding.

This September they volunteered to work for the 25 and 50 mile endurance ride at New Prospect. They worked the check points, marking the time down on the riders cards. They also worked with the vets taking pulses and respiration. It was a perfect time for the girls to talk to many different horse owners as well as the vet.

The girls did a super job, and we hope to hear many more exciting things from our new Senior troop.

Farmers to Receive Deficiency Payments

Eligible wheat and barley farmers soon will receive deficiency payments on their 1981 crop according to Hilbert Scheunemann, Chairperson of Washington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Deficiency payments are required under the 1981 wheat and barley programs because average market prices received by farmers during the first five months (June through October) of the marketing year were below established target price levels of $3.81 for wheat and $2.60 for barley.

National weighted average market prices were $3.66 per bushel for wheat and $2.49 per bushel for barley. Thus, eligible producers will be paid 15 cents per bushel for their 1981-crop wheat and 11 cents per bushel for this year's barley.

Payments will be mailed soon from the county office. No further action is required by the farmers as payments are computerized from data collected from the 1981 acreage reports.

The community tree this year, at which place the program will be held, is located at the city hall instead of at the intersection of Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue, where it was placed in former years. Kewaskum, this year, has taken on more of a Christmas spirit than ever before in the way that a number of business houses have placed small Christmas trees in front of their business places, all beautifully illuminated in the evening, which indeed makes a pretty sight to see.

HOLIDAY ISSUE

We Wish you a MERRY CHRISTMAS...

Christmas. That glorious time of year symbolized by freshly baked cookies, festive decorations, and the laughter of children ringing through the house. Christmas is also a time for memories. Each year, at just about this time, we pause to reflect back over happy Christmases of years gone by.

So that your family may be blessed with all the happiness that the season can bring, and so that your children may begin to collect memories all their own, we would like to offer you some timely tips about holiday safety at home. Take five minutes now to read them. See that your family reads them too. It will be five minutes well spent.

OH TANNENBAUM!

Ecologists recommend that you buy a live Christmas tree in a soil pot which you can transplant later. Not only will you have a permanent reminder of Christmas past, but you'll have the safest tree you can put in your house. Just be sure to put plenty of water around the ball to prevent the needles from drying out for as long as possible.

If you do select a cut tree, keep these not-so-pleasant facts in mind. A dry eight-foot pine tree can burn completely in just 27 seconds. A dry Christmas tree is the source of more than 1,000 home fires every year. However, you can do a lot to lower the risk by following a few simple suggestions. First, pick a fresh tree. You'll know it's fresh if its needles are firmly attached. Don't be afraid to tug at them. If they fall off without resistance, pass the tree by. A few more dollars spent on a recently cut tree could be a priceless investment in the long run.

Once you have your fresh tree at home, cut the base at a 45° angle and store the tree outside or in an unheated shed or garage in water until Christmas Eve. When you are ready to bring it inside, try spraying it with one of the chemicals on the market designed to help the tree retain its needles.

TO OUR FRIENDS

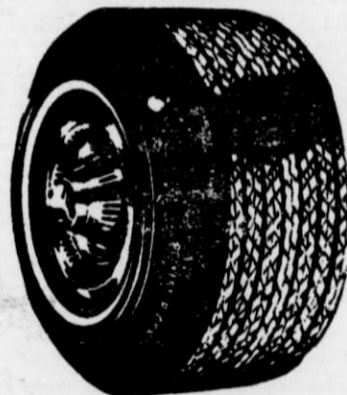

Your interest in Fire Prevention during the past year has been greatly appreciated, and we would like to extend our best wishes to you and your family for a Happy and Safe Holiday Season.

To Continue Priority Snow Removal System This Winter on State Highways

The winter snow removal priority system, started by the state transportation department eight years ago, will be continued this winter with few changes, Harvey Shebesta, District 2 Director, said today.

He said a total of $19.2 million has been budgeted for 1981-82 to clear snow and ice from the state's 11,400-mile state trunk highway system, based on the priority schedule established in 1973.

The state's 1981-82 winter maintenance budget is higher than the expenditure of $13.3 million for 1980-81 and $16.2 million for 1979-80, both unusually mild winters for Wisconsin, but less than the $20.1 million cost for the 1978-79 winter season which broke all snowfall records.

Shebesta said the department is well prepared with its winter maintenance planning. Plans are made in November that snowplowing, sanding-salting and radio equipment, equipment operators and supplies can all be ready for the first sign of snow or ice.

Preparations include calibrating salt and sand spreaders and training equipment

Shebesta said preparations for winter are not limited to personnel and equipment alone.

"During the fall, side ditches are cleaned; shoulders made smooth and flush with the payment; snow fences are put up, and tall weeds, grass and brush that may cause drifting are cut and removed," he said, adding that sand, salt, equipment parts and other supplies are stockpiled so that when the "crunch" is on, these items are readily available.

The state tries to restrict the use of chlorides to the absolute minimum necessary to provide safe driving conditions, Shebesta said. Even so, the state purchased 151,679 tons of road salt during 1980-81 and has contracted to purchase a minimum of 145,000 tons of the 1981-82 season with options for more if needed.

The department's policy is that the orderly movement of traffic during storm conditions normally will take precedence over all other operations. During severe storms, the district office and State Patrol are authorized to close a highway and advise the public of the condition through news media reports and the statewide road report telephone system.

A toll-free number is provided for persons outside the Madison and Milwaukee areas that gives up-to-date, statewide road condition informative 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Local numbers in Madison and Milwaukee provide the same statewide road information. The toll-free number is 1-800-362-3000. The number in Madison is 266-7040 and in Milwaukee, 342-2211. The same report is given on all three numbers.

Because of budget limitations, the department has adopted a priority system for snow removal.

The classifications are:

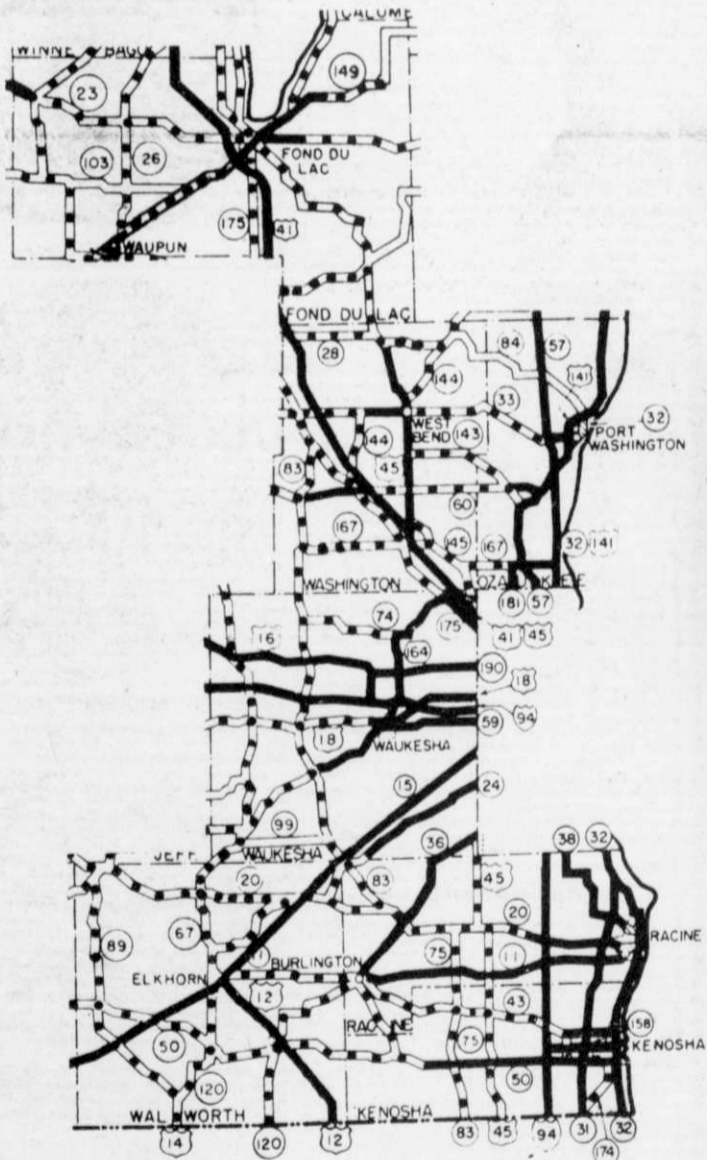

Class 1 - 5,000 or more vehicles daily (1400 miles in the state); receives around-the-clock service; bare pavement as soon as possible. Includes all interstate routes.

Class 2 - 1,000-5,000 vehicles daily (6300 miles in the state); receives reduced service, between 8 p.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays and all day Sunday; bare pavement as soon as possible after a storm.

Class 3 - Fewer than 1,000 vehicles daily (3700 miles in the state); receives no service between 8 p.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays and none on Sunday except to keep them passable in all types of storms; bare pavement near center of highway sufficiently wide for traction in both directions as soon as possible after storms, with full-width bare surface on hills, curves and intersections.

The accompanying map shows snow removal classifications for highways in Transportation District 2.

Plan to Save Your Soil Now

By Marc Bethke
County Conservationist

The highly productive American agriculture industry as we know it today is responsible for feeding a majority of our world's population. Besides feeding people in our own country, many foreign countries depend on American Farmers to supply them with food supplies to feed millions of hungry people. With increased pressure to produce more food, much of our land has been subjected to intensive cropping practices which have resulted in excessive soil erosion. Soil lost from farm fields cannot be returned, and if allowed to continue will result in less productive land. Fertilizers and other soil additives will mask the loss of soil temporarily, but eventually seed that is sown on the remaining stony ground will not be able to grow.

To solve the problem, farmers are urged to voluntarily make conservation plans to help protect their land from erosion. By using proper crop rotations, and sometimes by using special conservation practices such as contour stripcropping, terraces, conservation tillage, windbreaks and grass waterways, soil losses can be reduced to acceptable levels. The erosion of soil is a natural process which cannot be stopped completely, but through careful management of our land we can control it.

Now is the time to start planning for erosion control on your land. The Washington County Soil and Water Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service staff stand ready to assist you with planning alternatives for erosion control on your land. You may stop in to talk to them at 2395 W. Washington St., West Bend; or call them at 334-3706.

All farmers and landowners must realize the need to save their soil and their land in order to protect the quality of life of all people worldwide as well as to maintain a productive farming future for themselves. As Albert Schweitzer once said, "If we want to give more meaning to life in the world and to ourselves, we should live in harmony with the land."

State Awarded $3.7 Million in Federal Aid For Sport Fish and Wildlife Restoration

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of the Interior has awarded $3.7 million in federal aid to Wisconsin for sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs, Congressman Tom Petri announced.

Petri said the funds were obtained from tax collections in fiscal year 1981, which ended in September. A second installment will be distributed after the Treasury Department completes a tally of 1981 tax receipts.

Of the funds available to Wisconsin, $2.1 million are for wildlife restoration, $769,151 for fish restoration and $335,246 for hunter safety.

Funds for wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs come from an 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, a 10 percent tax on pistols and revolvers and an 11 percent tax on certain archery equipment. Distribution of these funds is based on the number of hunting license holders and the land area of each state. The funds may be used for state wildlife projects.

The Interior Department distributes hunter safety funds through a formula based on the population of each state. The funds may be used for hunter education programs, including the construction, operation and maintenance of public target ranges. The states may also use these funds for wildlife projects.

Fish restoration funds are collected from a ten percent excise tax on fishing rods and reels and other fishing equipment. The money is used to purchase land and water areas, to build and rehabilitate lakes and to develop facilities for fishing.

Indians Win Conference Opener at New Holstein

After drawing a bye the opening week of play in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, the Kewaskum Indians got the season underway at New Holstein Friday by defeating the defending champion Huskies, for the past two years, 67-60. The Indians are now 4-1 overall, their only setback coming at the hands of West Bend West.

After three very close quarters of play, Kewaskum put the same away with a 25-point outburst in the final period, while holding the Huskies to 16. After New Holstein took a two-point lead in the opening quarter, 19-17, the scoring was even in the next two periods, 10-0 in the second quarter and 15-15 in the third. Then the Indians came through in the clutch in the last stanza to ice the victory.

Coach Jim Westphal had praise for three of his starters and one senior reserve. Dale Wodsedalek, 6-5 center, the contest's leading scorer with 24 points, played another great game. Big Wods, who shot at an unbelievable 60 percent clip in the Indian's first four games, did it again Friday, hitting 10 of 16 shots from the floor, including an eight-foot jumper that put Kewaskum ahead for good, 53-52, with only 3:13 remaining in the game.

Guard Mike Heisdorf also came up with a super effort, including some fine assists and a couple of key steals. Forward Brian Larson had a good rebounding night and after a slow start in shooting found the range for 16 points. Reserve Randy Westerman also helped out a lot.

After leading by two points at the end of the first quarter and at the half, New Holstein jumped out to an eight-point lead early in the third quarter, 35-27. But the Indians bounced back with six straight points to narrow the gap to two points again. At the end of the third period it was still the Huskies by two points, setting the state for Kewaskum's big final quarter.

The Huskies stayed ahead by a point or two until Wodsedalek made good on a three-point play with less than five minutes left.

Girls Come From Behind to Beat Chilton in Overtime

After trailing for the first three quarters, the Kewaskum girls came from behind at Chilton Tuesday night to tie up the contest in the last period, send the game into overtime, and come home with a 53-48 victory.

The Indians, who never led during the regulation time of play, were behind at the end of the first quarter, 15-13, 23-19 at the intermission, and 36-31 after three quarters. They outscored Chilton, 17-12, in the final stanza to make up the deficit and sent the contest into overtime. Kewaskum scored five points in the overtime period while holding their opponents scoreless.

Cathy Schlice's jump shot from the top of the key with 42 seconds left tied the score at

The Huskies once more took the lead, however, then Wodsedalek scored again and Kewaskum pulled away. Larsen hit four of four free throws in the final 40 seconds. Heisdorf added a pair and hit on a bucket at the buzzer against the Huskie press.

New Holstein was fortunate in keeping all their players in the game as four of them had four personal fouls each. They were charged with 21 fouls to Kewaskum's 15 and this was a big help to the Indians, who made good on 15 free throws to the home team's 8.

This Friday the Indians host Chilton in quest of their second conference victory. This will be the final game until after the holidays.

Freshmen Defeat Huskies; JVs Lose

The Kewaskum freshmen opened the conference season with a win at New Holstein Friday but the JVs had trouble locating the hoop as they lost, 57-30 to the Huskies.

Leading the frosh with 15 and 11 points respectively were Mike Wiedmeyer and Mike Steinhardt, who also had 11 and 15 rebounds. Both played only about half the game due to foul trouble. Coach Perry Koth was disturbed with the number of fouls called on his team, at one point 16 for his team to just four for the Huskies. Still the Indians came out on top, 49-39.

Koth got good play from his bench from Gary Butzlaff and John Mertzig. Also Brian Ruplinger came in to make three steals which led to layups in the last minutes.

The press bothered coach John Baitinger's JVs, who had difficulty scoring.

Indian Wrestlers Second In Horicon Invitational

Lomira won the title in the Horicon Invitational wrestling meet Saturday with Kewaskum coming in second in the seven-team event.

The Lions, with four champions, the most in the meet, scored 103½ points, followed by Kewaskum with 87. Next came St. Mary's Springs with 79, Mayville 70, Horicon 48, Wayland Academy 42, and Slinger 37½.

The Indians had four representatives in the finals and even though only one took a title, they had enough points to place second for the second year in succession.

Kewaskum wrestlers in the finals were Don Goeden at 132, Wayne Boudreau at 126, Dave Goeden at 145 and Scott Durian at unlimited.

Boudreau suffered his first defeat of the year after five victories. He was pinned by Slinger's Tom DuFour in the second period. DuFour is now 6-0 and beat a good Kewaskum wrestler.

Don Goeden dropped a 6-2 decision to Mayville's Max Kempf but a questionable call in the first period set the stage for the outcome.

The Indians finally got a first when Dave Goeden outlasted Gus Unertl of Slinger, 2-0, in overtime. The two boys each managed just an escape during regulation, but then Goeden took Unertl down in the first 30 seconds of overtime to take the lead, which he held onto for the next two periods. Goeden, who pinned two opponents, is now 4-1.

Kewaskum got thirds from Dave Kudek at 105, Russ Katzenberger at 112 and Stuart Stautz at 155.

Tuesday night at Slinger the Indians mauled the Owls, 48-5, in a dual meet. Details will be published next week.

Indian Gymnasts Win Over Waupun

The Indians took first in each of four events and all around competition and also improved their team score over their first time out against Hartland by more than 20 points.

Soph Wendy Wilson took first in all-around with 5.925 and Amy Nigh and Sandy Nigh were not far behind. Wilson got first places in floor exercise (7.0) and uneven parallel bars (5.15). Amy won balance beam (5.9) with Wilson second and Dolly Swenson third. Amy also won the vaulting (6.5). Sandy took a second in bars (4.5).

Swenson also placed in vaulting and Annette Jandre took a second in floor exercise (6.65). The JV team lost, 76.5 to 75.3.

Mayville Moves Kewaskum Into Lakes Cellar

The Kewaskum Lakes team dropped their third straight game here Sunday night, a tough one to Mayville, 100-95. The win moves Mayville ahead of Kewaskum in the 'B' Division at 1-2, while Kewaskum is 0-3.

This was Kewaskum's first loss to Mayville, a much improved team, since they reentered the league four years ago. Kewaskum, bolstered by the addition of Bill Gonwa and Jeff Nonhof, still came up a bit short.

The game was a close one throughout, with never more than eight points separating the two teams. Kewaskum led by a point, 29-28, after the first quarter, but Mayville led at the half by three, 55-52. Kewaskum narrowed the margin to one after three quarters, 75-74. In the fourth quarter, Mayville got some easy fast-break baskets and opened an eight-point lead. Kewaskum fought back and cut the lead to two, 95-93, with a couple minutes left. However, Mayville hung on, with a bucket at the buzzer giving them their five-point margin.

Dan Heim, at the top of his game, poured in a game-high 40 points for Mayville, despite an intense defense played on him.

The 6-4 Heim displayed a perfect form and shooting touch throughout the game. Jeff Husslein added 17 points and Dave Drozd 12.

Kewaskum ace Leon Laatsch again led his team with 26 points, while Nonhof added 16, Don Gruber 14, and John Slesar 12.

Mayville shot a poor 42.4 percent from the line on 14 of 33, while Kewaskum was 74.2 percent on 23 of 31.

Kewaskum hosts division leading Port Washington Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the final game before the holidays.
