Week's Wit

Mill Ends Park in Portland, Oreg. is the world's smallest park. It contains only 452 square inches, which means, of course, that it could be littered by only one beer can.

New Pastor at Salem-Wayne

Rev. Donna Marie Lee

The Reverend Miss Donna Marie Lee was ordained to the Christian ministry and formally installed as pastor of Salem United Church of Christ in Wayne on December 12th, 1982, in a special service at 4:00 p.m. The Reverend Herbert I. Schumm of Trinitarian Congregational Church in North Andover, Massachusetts, was the guest preacher.

The Reverend Miss Lee was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. She is the daughter of Marie Ivey Menziatti of Seal Harbor, Maine, and Edward Burton Lee of Alexandria, Virginia. She graduated from Mount Desert Island High School in Bar Harbor, Maine, in 1975, and entered Smith College in Northampton, Massachusetts, in the fall of that same year. She received her Bachelor of Arts Degree from Smith College in May of 1979, majoring in Religion and Biblical Literature. She entered Andover Newton Theological School in Newton Centre, Massachusetts, in the fall of 1979.

While in seminary she served as student assistant pastor in several Massachusetts churches, including Townsend Congregational Church in Townsend, Massachusetts, and Trinitarian Congregational Church in North Andover, Massachusetts, where she served as minister to youth during her senior year. She also spent one summer as a student chaplain at Boston City Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts.

Charges Filed in Burglary

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The case of Robert Krewald, 18, Kewaskum, has been adjourned until January.

Krewald was arrested and charged in connection with a $10,000-$15,000 jewelry burglary at Bier's Jewelry Store, Kewaskum, the weekend of December 4.

At a December 9th hearing, the suspect was released on a $1,000 signature bond signed by his parents. He appeared in circuit court Monday, December 13, where Judge Richard Becker adjourned the case until January 3.

Information supplied to the Kewaskum Police Department by Fond du Lac authorities led to the apprehension. Kewaskum Police Chief Donald Hlavaty reportedly received a call from Fond du Lac authorities about five new rings Krewald allegedly had sold to the Coin Exchange at 109 Main St., Fond du Lac. A total of 298 stolen rings were recovered by police from Krewald.

Chief Hlavaty reported this was the largest burglary in Kewaskum during his 15 years on the force.

Beechwood School Library Funds Proposed for 1983-84 Budget

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Mrs. Coleen Narbotovics, representing the Beechwood PTO, appeared before Monday night's School Board meeting with a request for approximately $4,500.00 to be used for further development and improvement of the Beechwood School library.

In her report Narbotovics said, at present 68% of the 1,600 books now in the library are 20 to 30 years old and falling apart, the balance are about 10 years old. With the nearest library a minimum of ten miles from the school, the PTO would like to improve the library with new magazines, books and shelving and have it open to students during the summer months. Narbotovics noted the school is no longer serviced by a bookmobile. Right now the school is receiving only three magazines and the school would like to add another six such as Ranger Rick and Boys Life.

Of the $4,500 requested, approximately $3,700 would be targeted towards new books and magazines, with the remaining money to be used for supplies such as carding and shelving.

Narbotovics stated roughly 120 hours of volunteer time, along with many donated books, have gone into setting up the library. Teacher Kenneth Erickson said the PTO has done an outstanding job of supporting the school and last year alone they donated $2,500 for materials. The PTO would also like to set up an adult section in the library, however, Narbotovics said none of the requested funds would be used for this area. The adult section would be developed through volunteer efforts and donated books.

Several board members noted they were in agreement with the PTO's request, however, there were no extra funds available in the 1982-83 budget. Board member Ralph Horner motioned $4,500 be earmarked in the 1983-84 budget or that these monies be made available sooner if available from other accounts." The motion passed with five members voting yes, one no and one abstaining.

Later on in the meeting, after a bid for dental insurance which will apparently save the district $15,000 was accepted, Horner motioned $4,500 of that money be taken out of the insurance account and used for the library. Business Manager Bob Borch said he would not recommend such a move since the teachers salary contract has not been settled and any saving on dental insurance may have to be used to cover any deficits which may occur in the area budgeted for salaries. Horner's motion was killed by a 4-3 vote. District Administrator John Long said he felt the $71.00 for magazines could be approved immediately. "The $4,400 is a budgetary item and I feel it should be budgeted for next year," said Long. "If you start stealing from someplace else you'll rue the day," he stated.

The board heard a report from High School teacher Joe Harlow and Middle School teacher Mark Roth on computer classes in the district.

Harlow said the district's goals are for the immediate future. With this the first year of a computer math course being offered, Harlow said they wanted to "touch those who are leaving first." The 1982-83 class was available to seniors only. It has been recommended the course be open to juniors and seniors in 1983-84. Harlow said it is starting at the top and working down.

"We are happy with the computers but we need more," stated Harlow. "Our machines are used every period," stated Harlow. "The machines are not used 10% of what they could be, but that's partially due to a shortage of trained staff," said Harlow. He noted that students gain skills quickly because they have the hours. Students have first crack at the machines and some periods students are waiting their turn to use them. This results in the teachers getting in very little computer time. Board member John Tessar asked Harlow how many of the staff would have to be trained for the district. "Everyone should have some training," he said. Harlow noted he would like to see more teachers taking courses in the computer sciences.

The board tabled approval of a Block Grant (non-operational funds) for the purchase of six Apple computers. This was done because Tessar suggested the district check into the possible purchase of Commodore rather than Apple equipment. Tessar said he had been following the development of the Commodore and felt it was equal to the Apple with a substantially lower price tag, approximately $500 per unit. Mitchell Gebheim, a district resident who teaches a computer course at West Bend, said there should be no problem in having different brand computers and he would seriously recommend the board consider the cost saving factor. Gebheim noted one teaching manual can be used with several different types of computers such as Apple, Radio Shack and Commodore with no problems. The programs come out the same. The board agreed to hold off any action until further information and prices could be obtained on the Commodore computers.

Roth said he would like to see computers in the Middle School and if possible the elementary schools. Roth noted he had seen programs which went all the way down to the First Grade level. Long noted he was in favor of computers in all the schools, however, those on the elementary level could be less complex resulting in considerably lower unit costs.

The board heard a report by Mrs. Margaret McFadden on the progress of the Evaluation Policy Committee which was set up to study and update the goals of the District's teaching program.

The board discussed the possibility of becoming involved in a pilot program for competency based testing. The Department of Public Instruction's program is slated to go into effect for the entire state in 1985. Testing in grades three, seven and ten would determine how well students are progressing in the areas of reading, math and language arts. A final decision on this item will be made at the January meeting. The board complimented Mrs. Barbara Niehaus and her staff for the fine lunch program they have provided this year. Students from the Farmington School put on a rope jumping demonstration to illustrate how the school is using the activity both as an exercise and competitive sport event.

Kevin Chambers represented the KHS English department at the Second Invitational Conference on Composition which was held at UW-Milwaukee Dec. 9.

The theme of the conference was "Responding to Student Writing." Speakers from Milwaukee area colleges presented methods of teaching composition. These speakers, college comp. teachers themselves, also gave insights into what their respective colleges expected from students in

INTRODUCING THE INSURED MONEY MARKET ACCOUNT

*The Market
Rate Account
you asked for...*

Up until now, in order to earn high rates, it was necessary to tie up your money in a savings certificate, or invest in a money market fund that was uninsured. Now there's another solution.

A West Bend Savings' fully insured Money Market Account.

It's the type of account every investor, including Commercial Customers, should consider. The insured Money Market Account gives you insured savings with complete liquidity and a competitive money market rate.

HIGH MONEY MARKET RATES

COMPLETE LIQUIDITY

Your money is not 'locked in' to any dates or terms. It is a liquid account accessible to you at anytime.

CONVENIENCE

Now you can handle all your investment needs at one location. In addition, your funds will be put to work helping create new loans for housing, automobiles and other types of consumer credit. ## Join the Jackson Holiday Challenge....to Save Lives!

Giving a gift of blood this holiday season is one way individuals can give of themselves so that others may live.

That's why the Wisconsin Pharmacal Company of Jackson and the Jackson Area Businessmen's Association are calling for an area Blood Drive and challenging the citizens of Cedarburg, Germantown, Hartford, Kewaskum, Slinger and West Bend to vie for a city championship and trophy to be presented by Wisconsin Pharmacal and the business organization.

Over the past several years, new surgical procedures and cancer treatments require increasing amounts of blood from volunteer donors. Sensing the needs of their community, Jacksonites will be donating their blood at the Wisconsin Pharmacal Company on December 21, 1982. During business hours and evening hours, beds will be set up to accommodate the donors at the firm's new plant at 2977 Highway 60 in Jackson. Plans are now underway to promote the project among the area civic organizations.

John Wundrock, president of Wisconsin Pharmacal, sees the challenge as a competitive way to remind people that their blood is especially needed during the holiday season when supplies tend to run low.

Wundrock himself is a holiday donor who has been giving his gift of blood for a number of years. "The first year, I rounded up a number of my friends to donate their blood to a young hemophiliac who was in the hospital. I came away feeling that we, in a small way, were responsible for helping to save a life. Since that time, my gift of blood has been a holiday tradition.

"Now we would like all the citizens in our area to accept the challenge of the people of Jackson by donating their blood through their various city blood drives. When the number of donors have been tabulated, the city or town with the greatest percentage of donors will receive the trophy.

"But, we'll all be winners because by becoming Blood Brothers, we'll all be helping to save the lives of our neighbors and others served by the Milwaukee Blood Center."

Give the "Gift of Blood" at Christmas time. You'll be giving the one gift that you will remember giving long after the holiday season.

Merry Christmas

To those we love and see each day,
And other loved ones far away,
To all good friends
whose friendship means so much
And those with whom we're somehow out of touch.

Nanc, Len, Alison and Blythe Malvick

Chances of Drunken Driving Arrest One in 240 in Wisconsin

Wisconsin traffic law enforcement officers apparently work a little harder than their counterparts across the nation.

According to James O. Peterson, state highway safety coordinator, a motorist has one chance in 240 of being arrested for drunken driving in Wisconsin, compared to one in 2,000 nationwide.

Peterson said the 1 in 240 figure used the same method of calculation used by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to develop the national estimate.

The chance of arrest is for intoxicated drivers on Wisconsin highways from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Peterson noted that there were 38,227 arrests for operating while intoxicated in 1981.

SHERIFFS

Clarence A. Schwartz, Sheriff

DECEMBER IS 'DRUNK AND DRUGGED DRIVING AWARENESS MONTH' IN WISCONSIN

Clarence Schwartz, Washington County Sheriff, announced that the month of December has been proclaimed "Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Month" in Wisconsin by Governor Lee Sherman Dreyfus.

He pointed out that drunk driving is the most frequently committed crime in America, killing over 25,000 people, permanently crippling 125,000 others, injuring 650,000 and creating costs to our economy surpassing $24 billion each year.

"Drinking and driving is dangerous for anyone. This combination is even more dangerous to teens because they are less experienced drivers and still not used to drinking," said Sheriff Schwartz.

"Alcohol affects your vision, your ability to judge distances, your ability to respond quickly, your judgement, and your memory. Although you may feel alert and competent after drinking, your driving ability has been reduced," he added.

The effects of using marijuana are different for each user, but the most common include a feeling of euphoria and relaxation, distortion of time and space, impaired short-term memory and impaired coordination.

For many people a single joint of marijuana can cause mild or severe anxiety, panic, or paranoia. These effects are most likely to occur if you are stressed, anxious, or under stress or mental strain.

Sheriff Schwartz added, "Drinking or marijuana smoking drastically affects your driving ability by reducing your physical coordination and ability to see, impairing your short term memory and judgement, and increasing the likelihood that you will get distracted and forget to pay attention to your driving."

When it comes to cake baking, shiny metal pans are best, because they reflect heat away from the cake and produce a light brown, tender crust.

Farmington Cadette Girl Scout Troop #57 members who attended "wider opportunity" at the University of Wisconsin campus in Oshkosh are, left to right: Erin Wheeler, Brenda Neuser, Becky Morlen, Amy McGinnis and Kim Poling.

Five girls from Farmington Cadette Girl Scout Troop #57 and their leader recently took part in their first "wider opportunity" weekend as Cadette Girl Scouts. They attended "Beyond the Rainbow" which was sponsored by the Fox River Area Girl Scout Council and held at the University of Wisconsin campus in Oshkosh.

Over 300 girls from the Fox River and surrounding councils attended this semi-annual event. The girls stayed in the dormitories on the campus and attended mini seminars on Saturday on various topics that they had chosen. Some heard speakers or participated in projects on puppetry, wheat weaving, the art of make-up, cheerleading, physical fitness, fashion designing, etc. They ate all their meals at the campus cafeteria and were astonished at the number of choices they had to make and to find out they could have ice cream for breakfast...if no one was looking.

In the evening the girls were able to see the campus movie or go swimming, bowling, play miniature golf, etc. in the UW student union. The girls really had a fantastic time as it was their first chance to experience a "wider opportunity" and to see the variety of experiences that Cadette Girl Scouting has to offer.

SHOULDER BAGS

Women troubled by sore muscles, aching backs, and unexplained fatigue may be wearing clothing that is wrong for them. Wearing a heavy shoulder bag on one side most of the time will cause that shoulder to droop. This can cause pains in the back, neck, shoulder, and down the arm. Heavy purses and attache cases can cause more 'tennis elbow' than tennis itself.

County Residents Reminded of 'No U-Turn' Law

Sheriff Clarence Schwartz today reminded motorists that Wisconsin law prohibits U-turns at any signalized intersection, whether or not a "No U-Turn" sign is posted.

U-turns are also prohibited at freeway crossovers and at any intersections where a "No U-Turn" sign has been posted.

Sheriff Schwartz said the law enforcement agencies are becoming increasingly concerned about the number of illegal turns, which also include violations of the "No Left Turn" and "No Right Turn" signs. "Studies found that nearly all motorists recognized the meaning of the pictorial sign messages," Sheriff Schwartz said. "Those drivers who chose to ignore the signs should be aware that points will be assessed against their driving records, in addition to forfeitures," he added.

A driver apprehended for making an illegal turn is required to post $40.60, which is the amount of the forfeiture upon conviction. In addition, three (3) penalty points are assessed against the convicted driver's record. Subsequent convictions within a year result in forfeiture of $74.20, as well as points, Sheriff Schwartz added.

Christmas Appeal is more important than ever before.

Any inquiries about local services, or about helping The Salvation Army's 1982 Christmas effort, can be directed to local volunteers or to the Service Extension state office at 4757 N. 76th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53218.

Salvation Army Services Increase

Salvation Army services to the needy, through the volunteer Service Extension Program, have more than tripled during the last two years. Support needed for this drastic increase has been provided by the public through direct donations, and the United Way support in some 75 Wisconsin communities.

The Salvation Army provides year round service to all areas of the state. Local Service Unit volunteers provide food, clothing, lodging and other relief to those in need. In some communities, visits are made by the volunteers to nursing homes and hospitals for a touch of Christmas cheer. Prisoners in state institutions are also visited and can request assistance and a visit for their family. A Christmas gift can be ordered and is delivered by the Salvation Army to the children of institutional inmates through the Salvation Army's statewide "Toy Lift" program.

With difficult economic times, it is estimated, by Mr. Leonard Holt, Service Extension Program Director, that more support will be needed this Christmas and winter than in past years. Public support to the Salvation Army's Annual

From the School Board President's Desk....

Does the school really need three entire years to teach the students English?

Kewaskum High School requires three years of English for graduation. As far as I'm concerned, four years should be required for every student. Kewaskum High School's offerings range from remedial to college preparation courses. Reading, writing, speech, and literature are all included under the English heading.

Why do we emphasize English so much? Well, how do we communicate? Reading, writing, and speech are essential not only for the college-bound student but also for every single graduate. Francis Bacon said, "Reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man." We cannot function without efficient, effective communication in our day to day living. Just think of how many times a day we have to ask a question, solve a problem, make arrangements—and when we do this, we have to be understood. Haven't you ever listened to someone and when the person finished speaking not known exactly what the person wanted? It is really frustrating. We have to be able to read directions, write a letter, explain our position. All of this involves language—reading, writing, and speech all work together.

Grammar, punctuation, spelling, usage, and sentence and paragraph structure are covered in all courses. Sometimes it is easy to say that comma placement, for example, really isn't that important, but then I think of the difference between "Let's eat Doc" and "Let's eat, Doc," and commas suddenly become important.

Composition skills should be stressed all the way through school—and not only in English classes. Composition, like every other skill, is developed through practice. It's hard to be an efficient, effective writer and speaker. Especially in these economically difficult times, our graduates must be able to present themselves in the best possible manner. The required English courses are required in school because communication is required in life.

Dr. Charles J. Ogi

Student's Concern and Effort Allows Another To Participate in Special Olympics

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Through the efforts of Stuart Stautz, a senior at Kewaskum High School, another youth has been able to participate in the Regional and State Special Olympics.

Under the supervision of his Metals III class Instructor Howard Zemlicka, Stautz built a bowling ramp. The ramp is designed to be used in conjunction with a wheelchair for bowlers who cannot bowl independently.

With the aid of the ramp, Special Olympian Brad Keller was able to earn a First Place ribbon at the Regional meet in West Bend and a Sixth Place ribbon at the State Special Olympics Bowling meet in Madison on December 3rd and 4th.

Stuart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stautz and Brad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Keller.

Five other Kewaskum Special Olympians took part in the state competition. They were Stacy Mueller, who won a gold medal for First Place; Joan Bath and James Paulsen, each winning silver medals for Second Place; Mike Busse earning a Fourth Place ribbon and Joanne Stautz a ribbon for Sixth Place.

The Kewaskum Special Olympics team is sponsored by local community organizations as well as private individuals.

J & J AUTO TOPICS

STARTING TIP

It's bad enough not being able to get a frigid car started on these cold mornings but now a Swedish automaker says that it is unhealthy to drive it. He's coming out with electrically heated car seats. He claims that most back trouble, rheumatism and bursitis is caused by cold seats and the sitting position. We've seen some of the plug-in type seat heaters but they're a big drain on the battery.

Our tip of the week in connection with this news is "your car should be kept in top starting condition with our all-around tuneup at J & J AUTO SERVICE at 450 E. Main." Then, you can send your wife out to easily start the car for the warm-up before going to work.

WARTS, BIRTHMARKS and MOLES R. G. Edwards, M.D. - Health Officer

Warts are circumscribed, benign, virus-induced epithelial growths of the skin and adjacent mucous membrane. Experimental inoculation of ground filtered wart tissue into human skin results in the development of warts at the sites of injection in a few weeks to a few months.

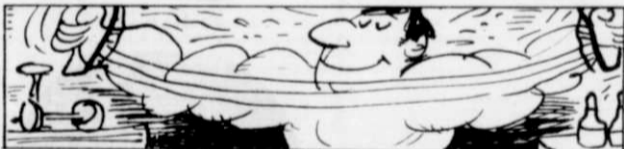

Warts are very common and their distribution is world wide. Both sexes are equally affected and the peak incidence lies between ten and twenty years. They are also autoinocuable as demonstrated by the Kissing lesions between toes or fingers and new lesions will form along the path of a scratch through an old mature wart.

Warts occur anywhere on the skin or adjacent mucous membrane. There are many different sizes and shapes of warts. This disorder is contagious, but the source and method of infection are frequently unknown. Warts may be flat, multiple or filiform in shape, especially about the face and neck. Occasionally the filiform wart will be malignant, hence it is a wise doctor who excises suspicious growths and has the tissue examined for malignancy. Burned tissues cannot be so analyzed. Planter warts occur on the soles of feet at pressure sites and are extremely painful and difficult to cure. Moist warts (condylomata acuminati), occur in ano-genital areas. These lesions are usually pink or pale white in color and may cluster together to produce small or large cauliflower like growths.

Treatment of all these various lesions is best performed by the dermatologist or good general practitioner, as a few are cancerous and must be correctly treated the very first time, otherwise the patient will die in a few months. The worst wart-like growth is called MELANOMA, a very dark or black colored seemingly harmless spot of tissue that probably existed on the patient 8 to 12 years. All such spots should be removed at once - but not the brown colored ones, nor those all that are scaly or surface.

Birth moles are congenital in origin and, as a rule, are never cancerous but may become unsightly and require surgical revision by a capable and experienced surgeon. Furthermore, it is true that warts may disappear spontaneously without treatment, 10 to 75% of cases. This regression may be due to immunologic, psychologic or still other unknown mechanisms.

The care of warts, moles and small skin tumors should be under the care of a good conscientious physician because certain measures that are advocated by some well meaning, but totally irresponsible people, can lead to very harmful scarring, excessive local irritation and severe drug reactions.

The body's muscles make up about 40 percent of its weight.

MAKING ENDS MEET

By Joyce Albrecht, Extension Home Economist

PROMPT ACTION IS THE KEY TO REMOVAL OF FOOD STAINS

Special holiday meals are fun—until you look at the stains on your best tablecloth and napkins. The key to removing stains is to act quickly.

Get at stains while they are still fresh. Stains are often impossible to remove later, especially if set by heat.

Identify the stain, if possible. The treatment for one kind may set another. If you can't determine what caused the stain, it helps if you at least know whether it's a greasy stain, a non-greasy stain or a combination of the two.

Many of the foods you'll be serving produce non-greasy stains. These include fruits and fruit juices, seafood sauce, vegetables, wines, milk and black tea and coffee. You may be able to remove these stains by sponging them with cool water. Or else, soak the stain in cool water for at least 30 minutes; some stains need an overnight soak. If the stain remains after this treatment, work a detergent into it, then rinse.

Butter and margarine leave a greasy spot. Sometimes regular washing removes these stains. If not, it helps to rub in detergent, followed by a warm rinse. Some wash-and-wear fabrics need to stand for several hours before rinsing.

Often you'll need to use a grease solvent. Place the stain face down on a soft white cloth or paper toweling. This way, the stain can be washed out of the fabric, not through it.

Then dampen a soft cloth with the solvent and sponge the back of the stain. Replace the undercloth as it picks up soil. Dry and repeat if necessary.

Choose non-flammable spotting fluids and use them in a well-ventilated area. Be sure to read the label and follow the manufacturer's precautions.

Foods that contain both greasy and non-greasy substances include: soups, mayonnaise and salad dressings, gravy and meat juices, ice cream, chocolate and tea and coffee with cream. Treat combination stains by the cool water-detergent method and then sponge with a grease solvent.

To get rid of lipstick marks on napkins, apply undiluted liquid detergent to the stain. Or dampen the stain and rub in detergent until thick suds form. Work in until the outline of the stain is gone; then rinse well. A grease solvent may be necessary to remove final traces of the lipstick.

Although candlelight is romantic, it's likely to add another stain to your tablecloth. You can probably scrape off most of the excess candle wax with a dull knife. Place the wax stain between clean white paper toweling or several layers of facial tissues. Press with a warm iron. To remove remaining stain, sponge with a grease solvent.

If your tablecloth is an heirloom and you're hesitant about working with it, consult a professional cleaner.

Petri Discusses Federal Gasoline Tax Increase

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Wisconsin Congressional Delegation met December 1 to organize support to change the formula for dispersing funds raised by the proposed five cents a gallon increase in the federal gasoline tax.

Charging that Wisconsin receives far less than its fair share of federal highway funds, Representative Tom Petri had asked the senior member of the delegation, Representative Clement Zablocki, to call the meeting.

Wisconsin Deputy Secretary of Transportation Marvin Schaeffer briefed the delegation on meetings held earlier the same day with federal Department of Transportation officials.

Schaeffer said that Wisconsin currently receives only 75c out of every dollar the state pays into the Federal Highway Trust Fund. Under the formulas proposed to go along with the gas tax increase, Wisconsin could receive as little as 68 cents per dollar, Schaeffer said.

At Petri's urging, the Delegation agreed to push for a formula which would guarantee each state at least 85 percent of the funds that the state pays into the Highway Trust Fund.

"It's clearly unfair for Wisconsin to get back as little as 68 percent of the gas tax money paid in," Petri said after the meeting. "I'm skeptical of any increase in the gas tax, but I will certainly oppose the increase if the formula for dispersal of funds is not made more equitable."

Petri met with Secretary of Transportation Drew Lewis the following morning to discuss the proposed Trust Fund formulas.

"Lewis argued that under the Administration's formula Wisconsin would get a lot more money from the Trust Fund than we do now," Petri said. "But that's with the five cents increase in the gas tax. I pointed out to Secretary Lewis that if we wanted to raise the gas tax, Wisconsin would do far better by getting 100 percent of a higher state tax rather than 68 percent of Wisconsin's contribution to a federal tax."

Minus Eichstedt, Lakes Team Loses To P. Washington

The bubble was burst for the Kewaskum Lakes basketball team here Saturday night as the Port Washington Lakes handed them their first loss of the season, 105-87, as Rollie Kitt poured in 34 points. The loss drops Kewaskum into a three-way tie for second place in the Lakes "B" Division with Slinger and Sussex, all with 2-1 records, while Port moves into undisputed first place with a 3-0 record.

Kewaskum was simply out-manned in this game as they couldn't contain Port's big, strong lineup. Also, Kewaskum was without Clark Eichstedt, one of their top players, for this one.

Port took command of the game with a big 30-16 first quarter, behind Kitt's 12 points. After the disastrous first quarter, the two teams played on pretty even terms the rest of the game. Port increased the lead only slightly in the second quarter to 54-38 at halftime as Kevin Lemon had seven. Kewaskum got as close as eight points in the third quarter before dropping off again and finishing the quarter down by 81-60. Kitt had 12 again in the quarter. Kewaskum outscored their opponents 27-24 in the fourth quarter as Leon Laatsch got 12, to bring the final margin to 18.

Besides Kitt, 6-6 Lemon finished with 26 points for Port, burly Chuck Larsen had 23, and Dave Ross had 14. Laatsch with 32 points and Mike Maney with 22 were the only players in double figures for Kewaskum.

Port made nine of 15 free throws for 60.0 percent, while Kewaskum was 7 of 8 for 87.5 percent.

Kewaskum will try to get back on the winning track when they travel to Mayville (0-3) this Sunday for a 7:30 game.

Hunter Safety Record Continues to Improve

The gun deer season in Wisconsin was the safest in the past 19 years according to Homer Moe, Coordinator of Hunter Safety for the Department of Natural Resources.

A total of 29 firearm related accidents were reported during the nine-day season this year, the fewest number since the 1963 season total of 28. There were three fatalities from gunshot wounds this season, compared with 8 fatal accidents in 1963. For the past 20 deer seasons, there have been an average of 47 accidents, including 7 fatalities.

"Since 1969," Moe stated, "the general trend in the accident rate during the gun deer season has been down, although there are some seasons during that period when the accident rate went against the trend. I feel that the Wisconsin Hunter Education program, which began in 1967, has had a definite influence on lowering the firearm accident rate."

During the past 15 years, 225,000 hunters have participated in the Wisconsin Hunter Education Program. "Credit for the success of the program must go to the approximately 2,000 volunteer instructors around the state who donate their time and talents to improve the quality of hunting in our state," Moe said.

Of the 29 firearm accidents reported this season, 13 involved members of the same hunting party, and nine others were self inflicted injuries.
