1983-84 School Budget Discussion Begins

Purchase of Computers Okayed

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

On a 6 to 1 vote, the Kewaskum School Board approved a recommendation by the Long Range Committee to purchase seven Apple II computers, seven green screens, one printer and a disc drive maintenance contract.

Funds amounting to $10,067.00 from the Block Grant available to the district will be used in purchasing the equipment which will be placed in the high school and middle school.

The grant money had originally been designated for the purchase of six computers with color screens. However, after a study by the committee, with input from local resources, the group decided the need for more units was greater than the need for the color screens. At the committee's meeting last Monday, resource speaker Paul Redig indicated there is a difference of approximately $200.00 per unit between the green and color screen.

Board member John Tessar questioned why the committee did not recommend going with the Commodore computer, a less expensive unit, at least for the middle school. Chairwoman Norma Serwe said it had been considered but that there was presently 20 times more software available with Apple, plus the fact that a chip was not yet available to make the Commodore compatible with the Apple. Since the high school already has four Apple units, it was felt the district should stay with them. When the district purchases computers in the future, the less expensive Commodores could be designated for the elementary or middle school, thereby freeing the Apples to be transferred to the high school providing it with additional units.

The board questioned whether there was enough demand for the added units. Computer course instructor Joe Harlow said the four computers presently in the high school are running constantly, either in class or during free periods when students come in during their study hall time to use them. Harlow noted there aren't enough machines or free time on them to allow everyone adequate "hands-on" time. "We'll use them, I'll guarantee that," said Harlow.

In other action the board approved the inclusion of "Survival Math" to the high school math program. High School Principal Clark Pearson explained the class is actually a session of Consumer Math that will be set up on a slower scale for students who have difficulty in math but need the second math credit for graduation.

A student may enroll in the class only on the recommendation of his or her teacher. The

First Real Snowcover

After just a few flurries up to this time and about a half inch of snow two weeks ago (which melted away), the first significant snowfall of the winter finally arrived Saturday when two to three inches fell.

This is the latest up to this date—Jan. 22—we can remember that there was no snow on the ground in this area.

There has also been absolutely no cross country skiing or snowmobiling up to this time and it is getting late in the season.

The first snow resulted in dozens of snowmen being built by anxious residents as seen in yards around town. Even a snowcat got in the act. A likeness of Garfield the Cat was made from the snow with colors and all at the Greg Nigh residence. By the next day, Sunday, many of the snowmen had toppled in the 34-degree temperature.

The entire winter so far has been unseasonably warm with temperatures above normal and no subzero weather.

One woman in Florida wrote a note that it was 40 degrees there on that day and it was 37 here, just three degrees cooler.

KHS Student Government President Dave Kudek, [left], presents a check of $204.00 to Muscular Dystrophy representative, Lisa Hron. The money was raised last week through a Sadie Hawkins dance sponsored by the KHS organization. The band, "America's Heartbeat," contributed all the proceeds to the MD Association.

Kindergarten Registration

This year's annual "round-up" for the parents of all prospective kindergarten pupils in the Kewaskum School District will be held during the day on Tuesday, February 1st, and Wednesday, February 2nd, 1983 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, and 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. in the Beechwood, Farmington, Kewaskum, and Wayne school offices. Please register your child at the school in your area on one of the above days. It is not necessary to bring the child while registering.

To be eligible for enrollment in kindergarten, children must have attained their fifth birthday on or before September 1, 1983. Evidence of date of birth, either a birth certificate or a baptismal certificate, must be brought to the office at the time of enrolling.

Parents of bus pupils will need their section number and fire number as well as also fill out bussing forms.

Parents will register their children for next year's term and get the necessary health forms. If you know of any new families in this district, please pass this information on to them.

Richard E. Zarling, Director of Elementary Education, would like to impress upon you the importance of registering your child on either of these two days so that they may plan for them and know staff requirements for next year.

SIDE EFFECTS

Patients ask why they should take medicines that cause side effects. All medicines, even aspirin, have some degree of risk. They are not prescribed, however, unless the physician believes they will do more good than harm. Modern drugs like cortisone, drugs for high blood pressure, irregular heartbeat, and cancer may cause several unpleasant side effects nearly every time they're used. Without them, the patient would experience even more suffering from the untreated illness. This is known as a "favorable risk-versus-benefit ratio."

School Board

board had some concern that some students might try to take the course to get an easy credit. Pearson said there was no chance of this because of the teacher recommendation requirement.

Board President Charles Ogi asked whether the board would be lowering school standards just so students could get a diploma. Pearson did not feel this would be the case. These kids would probably take the Consumer Math course anyway said Pearson, but would be behind the other students in the class. In Survival Math, the Consumer Math course is gone over slowly and more thoroughly and the kids will probably get more out of it, explained Pearson.

A recommendation by High School Counselor David Wietor and Pearson to give a 1/2 credit to students who volunteer their services to the school for such things as tutoring, lab assistance, office help, etc., was defeated. Wietor said he recommended the independent study idea in the hopes it would induce more students to become interested in volunteering their free time.

The board felt those students who were already volunteering their time had adequate credits and did not need the 1/2 credit.

The board began discussion on the 1983-84 school budget. However, after some deliberation, the board decided it needed to target a definite starting point. The board asked the administrators what kind of budget needs they were looking at and the administrators asked the board what percentage figure they would allow the district to shoot for.

Board member Tom Brigham suggested Business Manager Robert Borch and Administrator

John Long prepare a report showing what would be needed to provide a budget equal to this year's and what percent increase would be needed to keep "status quo." And then, work out a breakdown showing what money would be needed if the district uses all, or parts of the money collected for the debt retirement service.

The debt service levy will drop from $317,000 in 1982-83 to $90,000 in 1983-84. Borch recommended using the debt service levy as a vehicle to reduce the district's cash-flow problems, rather than using that money in reduction of the budget. The $225,000 debt service reduction could be a determining factor in the development of the 1983-84 budget.

Borch and Long will present their recommendations at the school board meeting scheduled for February 14th.

Archbishop Weakland's TV Series to Premiere January 29

Milwaukee - The premiere of OPEN THE DOORS, a new television program featuring Archbishop Rembert G. Weakland, will air at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, January 29, on WITI TV 6, after having been delayed three weeks because of network football coverage.

The thirteen-week series is produced by the archdiocese of Milwaukee and sponsored by the Catholic Knights Insurance Society.

The first program, "The Church in These Hard Times," features an interview with a young couple coping with layoffs, illness, and hard times. Archbishop Weakland and his guests reflect together on the plight of the couple and on other poverty issues. Guests include Warren Braun, episcopal delegate for Social Ministry; Fr. John Schreiter, pastor of St. Gall Parish in Milwaukee, and Peg Mudroch of the Campaign for Human Development.

The format of the series is designed to take religion out of the pulpit and formal classroom and deal directly with people and the issues that confront them. It sees the Church in the words of Vatican Council II as the People of God. The program attempts to introduce people to other people who are in the Church today. Archbishop Weakland said the program strives to "open the doors" to dialogue and understanding, not simply to give pat answers, but to address difficult social and human issues with concern and openness.

Among the topics for future programs are ageing, youth in the Church, marriage, women and the Church, the question of church annulments and ministry to the divorced, and the bishops' letter on war and peace.

The program on February 5 will air at 5:00 p.m. It is called "Aging--Growing in Grace." The film segment features two sisters in Madison who are professional musicians. Guests appearing with Archbishop Weakland are retired Archbishop William E. Cousins, Sister Adele Henneberry, director of Interfaith for the Elderly, and the late Dolly Carlson, who was coordinator of Interfaith for the Central City Church in Milwaukee. Miss Carlson was killed in an auto accident just before Christmas.

4-H NEWS

By Bob Stodola
County 4-H & Youth Agent

4-H PHOTOGRAPHY WORKSHOP FEB. 12

Leaders, members and parents are invited to the 4-H Photography workshop which will be Saturday, February 12, at the Washington County Court House Auditorium in West Bend. The workshop is for 4-H families in Washington, Ozaukee and Fond du Lac counties.

Dave Wacker, photographer and county fair judge, will be conducting the workshop. Topics he will cover are: evaluating and judging photos, handling your camera and taking pictures, taking flash pictures, using floodlight for portraits, processing and developing film and preparing your pictures for fair. Registration for the workshop is required. If you would like more information call Jean Beisenstein, 4-H Leader, 673-2053, or Bob Stodola, 4-H and Youth Agent 338-4478.

The purpose of the 4-H photography project is to teach young people the basics of using a camera. They learn the basics of evaluating the quality of their pictures. A member can get as advanced as he wishes. Some members may wish to take only a few pictures, while others may really get involved such as doing their own developing and eventually getting into a career in photography. Photography can also be a help in other 4-H projects. For example: Members may want to take pictures of their project before they get under way and they may want to take pictures after the project is completed. Pictures make a good way to identify animals. Often photographs are used for registration papers.

Photography is one of the more important projects in 4-H. Almost everyone wants to take pictures and a few hints along the way can make your picture taking much more enjoyable and worthwhile.

4-H ARTS AND CRAFTS WORKSHOP FEBRUARY 19

There will be a workshop for adult and youth 4-H leaders on Saturday, February 19, at the UW Extension office in West Bend. Four-H leaders and others interested in registering can call the 4-H office.

There are two important elements in arts and crafts. The first is the ability to create a design and the second is the skill in working with a certain material. Both of these elements will be covered in the arts and crafts workshop.

Leslee Corpiar, UW Extension visual arts specialist will keynote the program with discussions and demonstrations on the purpose of arts and crafts 4-H projects, design, helping members be creative, and understanding what a judge looks for in craft articles.

Separate sessions to work in a specific material will be conducted by 4-H leaders. Those attending may select one of the following: Leathercrafts - Agnes Wagner; Blockprinting - Debbie Fischer; Painting and Drawing - Marjorie Slaughter; Handweaving - Leslee Corpiar; Basketry - Pat Krueger, and Nature crafts - Ione Stodola.

The workshop is open to adult and youth crafts project leaders, parents of members and other adults who want to learn some of the skills of working with youth in crafts projects. It is open to people in Washington and surrounding counties. Advanced registration should be made by February 10.

KEWASKUM 4-H CLUB

The Kewaskum 4-H'ers held their last meeting on January 13, 1983.

There was a swimming party on January 15, at the YMCA. The cost was $1.00 for children and $3.00 for adults.

LOWER BACK PROBLEM
By H. L. Rumsey, D.C.

If you've been treated for lower back problem and the pain and discomfort are still there, you may be able to benefit from chiropractic treatment. If your spine is out of alignment, this may be causing other problems in addition to lower back pain. Because the body's nervous system is closely integrated with the spine, any misalignment can cause painful irritation. Abnormal nerve function may affect whatever organs, glands, or tissues that are supplied by that nerve. The nerves of the lower back, for example, are connected to certain organs and other structures in that area. If lower back spinal misalignment is putting undue pressure on the nerves, you may be suffering from more than lower back pain. It may be having a direct effect on other areas of your body. A thorough examination can disclose exactly where the problem is and how it can be corrected.

January 24, 1983

Dear Editor:

This is an open letter to the parents, students, and taxpayers residing in the School District of Kewaskum. The purpose of this letter is to set forth the facts to date in a lawsuit brought by the Kewaskum Education Association and David Wietor against the School District and the Board of Education. The case is currently pending in Washington County Circuit Court.

For purposes of background, since January 1, 1981, the District has provided dental insurance for teachers represented by the Kewaskum Education Association. The insurer was the Wisconsin Education Association Insurance Trust.

During November, 1982, the District solicited bids on its dental insurance program for continued dental insurance to be effective January 1, 1983. At its regular meeting on December 13, 1982, the Board of Education chose the Blue Cross/Blue Shield dental insurance bid due to the substantial cost savings to the District during 1983 — a cost savings now figured to be in excess of $13,500. In compliance with the bid specifications, Blue Cross/Blue Shield has consistently advised the District that its policy equals that previously provided by the Wisconsin Education Association Insurance Trust.

On December 24, 1982, suit was brought against the District and Board of Education by the Kewaskum Education Association and David Wietor, President of the Association. The suit alleged, in essence, that the change in insurance carriers violated the collective bargaining agreement between the parties which expired on June 30, 1982, several provisions of the Municipal Employment Relations Act, and a common law obligation premised on labor law principles.

The Kewaskum Education Association and Mr. Wietor requested relief from the court in the form of an order enjoining and restraining the District and Board of Education from terminating the current Wisconsin Education Association dental insurance policy and from unilaterally making any change whatsoever with respect to the current dental insurance policy other than through collective bargaining. The plaintiffs further requested that the District and Board pay the costs, fees and disbursements of the plaintiffs in this lawsuit, as well as that the Board be required to take whatever action necessary to reinstate the Wisconsin Education Association Insurance Trust dental policy.

A hearing on the issue of whether the court should enter a temporary injunction enjoining the District and the Board from changing dental insurance carriers was held on December 29, 1982. After considerable testimony and argument, the Honorable James B. Schwalbach denied the plaintiffs' request for a temporary injunction.

The court recognized the School Board's duty to attempt to keep costs such as dental insurance as low as possible under all circumstances. The court went on to find that the expired collective bargaining agreement does not require nor was it intended to require that the Board must obtain its insurance from the Wisconsin Education Association Trust. In addition, the court found that the plan provided by Blue Cross/Blue Shield would provide basically the same benefits and coverage as the former Wisconsin Education Association Insurance Trust plan. Finally, the court indicated that the plaintiffs had not carried their burden of showing irreparable harm being caused by the switch of insurance carriers.

Despite this decision, the Kewaskum Education Association and Mr. Wietor are pursuing the lawsuit. On February 28, 1983, the parties have been ordered to appear for a pretrial conference before Judge Schwalbach. At some point in the future, the case will be scheduled for a full trial as to all issues.

The Board of Education has filed an Answer in the proceeding which essentially denies any and all allegations that it has violated the expired collective bargaining agreement, any statutes, or any common law labor principles. The Board has asked the court to render judgement dismissing the action of the Kewaskum Education Association and Mr. Wietor, and that the plaintiffs pay the Board's costs, disbursements and attorneys' fees in the matter.

At the recommendation of Attorney Gerald A. Kiefer, our legal counsel, we have retained the Madison law firm of Isaksen, Lathrop, Esch, Hart & Clark to defend us in this lawsuit. We have been advised that it is extremely difficult to predict the total amount of legal fees which we will incur since it is impossible at this point to tell the extent to which either party in the action will proceed beyond the trial court. As of January 15, 1983, however, the District has incurred legal fees in the amount of $7,401.86 for services rendered by Attorney Kiefer and the Isaksen firm.

Finally, our attorneys indicate to us that the Board has a reasonable probability of prevailing in this matter. We feel that it is extremely important that the Board retain the management prerogative to change insurance carriers so long as no violations of statutes or a collective bargaining agreement occur when the goal is to serve District and taxpayer money.

Very truly yours,
Board of Education
School District of Kewaskum

To the Editor!

I wonder how the teacher contract negotiations are coming along?

Why don't we hear anything about them? I suppose "no news is good news," but it seems the district never wins, with the Binding arbitration law.

The dental insurance mess is a good example.

Our Board of Education found an insurance carrier with better coverage at less cost to the district, and what happened?

The KEA took the district to court, and even though the district won, the court costs came out of district funds. I heard that they may still go to court for a trial that could cost the district 25 to 30 thousand dollars.

That money should be spent on education. I wonder how much more of our money is going to be wasted by the KEA.

Sincerely,

A Concerned Grandparent

FEBRUARY 2-16

This year the girl Scouts from Kewaskum, Farmington and Wayne will again be taking cookie orders. They will be at your door starting after school on Feb. 2, until Feb. 16. This year the girls will not be assigned a special route in the village of Kewaskum. If you are not contacted by anyone by Feb. 16, you may still help a little girl get credit to go to camp by calling our community cookie chair person, Lois Bartz, week days at 626-8116 until 2:30, or at 626-4555 evenings and weekends. In the Farmington area you may call Carol Neuser, 692-2755, and the Wayne area call Judy Goetsch, 629-9378.

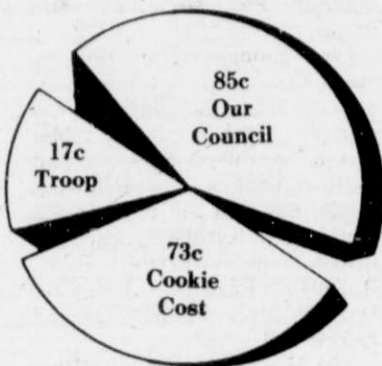

Last year our girls, 114 of them from 10 troops, sold 8,076 boxes. Yes, that's a lot of cookies! Where does all that money go? I'm glad you asked - 85c a box goes to our council; 17c goes directly to the girl's troop and 73c is the cost of the cookie itself. You're buying a lot more than delicious cookies. You're helping to keep the tradition of Girl Scouting alive. It's such a small investment for so much and $1.02 a box may be used as a tax deduction.

A question has been asked why are those little girls made to sell cookies in the middle of winter? The reason for this is so that the troop has a few months of the school year left to use its profits on projects before the summer months. This year our winter has been mild, let's hope it stays this way for them, as they are not permitted to step into your home.

Again, they ask that you keep the delivery dates in mind. This year they will be March 14 to 23. Please remember the girls may only accept cash, no checks. Please help our girls by buying what ever you can, it's an investment in our community's future. Thank You.

Because of matters of vital importance to the congregation, a general parish meeting was held at Holy Trinity Church hall after services Sunday evening. Chiefly the meeting was held to decide whether or not the parish will remodel its old school building. Due to overcrowding at the new parish school as a result of adding the pupils of St. Bridget's mission to the local school, more room must be provided. At Sunday's meeting the parishioners voted in favor of remodeling the old school to provide these necessary facilities. The increased number of children make it imperative that the parish look to its future needs.

West Bend and sees the formula  $A = RKLSCP$ , they may think it's all Greek, but it's the soil loss equation for tons of soil lost per acre through cultivation of sloping land. In Washington County there are approximately 63 different kinds of soil, ranging from peat marshes, sands, loams, silt loams and gravel. These soils have a permissible soil loss. If a land operator plants continuous corn up and down the hill on 6% slopes of a Hochheim soil type with a slope length of 400 feet, he could lose as much as 27 tons per acre per year. Now, if this same operator uses a rotation of corn-corn-oats and 4 years of hay with alternate strips seeded and planted on the contour, this would reduce soil loss to 1.5 tons per acre. Another alternative is to plant on the contour, using minimum tillage and install a terrace to reduce the slope length. If top soil is selling for $5.00 per cubic yard (1 cu yard = 1 ton) this shows that the first land operator is losing $135.00 per acre of top soil each year.

When the soil erodes, it ends up either on your neighbors land, or fills road ditches, culverts, streams, lakes, ponds and harbors. Normally, it takes 100 years to build 1 inch of top soil and an intensive rain storm can wash it away in just a few hours if it is not protected.

By selecting the proper land-use based on soil type for each field on the farm and apply conservation practices, soil erosion can be kept to a minimum.

Pesticides Program Scheduled in County

The Washington County UW-Extension has scheduled a second program for the certification of private applicators of restricted use pesticides. The program will be held on Wednesday, March 2, 1983 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend.

Persons interested in attending the program must register by February 23rd. Registration costs for the program are $17.00 for certification and materials, $3.00 for the noon lunch, and $3.00 for postage. The postage cost can be saved if the materials are picked up at the Washington County UW-Extension office.

Individuals interested in registering should send the registration fee to Washington County UW-Extension, P. O. Box 537, West Bend, Wis. 53095, or register in person. Make checks payable to UW-Extension. Registration will be on first-come first-served basis up to a maximum capacity of about 60 people.

Area Schools Will Observe 'Newspaper
In Education Week'

Newspapers have become an important weapon in the arsenal of materials used by educators to provide youngsters with reading materials that are interesting as well as educational. With this in mind, area schools will observe "Newspaper in Education Week." The newspaper is inexpensive, and it is available in most homes. Moreover, it contains many sections and features which can stimulate a youngster's interest in reading. We hope that this special "Newspaper in Education Week" will encourage youngsters to read the newspaper year-round.

Coordinated locally by the Washington Ozaukee Reading Council, "Newspaper in Education Week" is being observed nationwide February 21 through February 25. "Newspaper in Education Week" is cosponsored by the International Reading Association and the American Newspaper Publishers Association Foundation.

Washington Ozaukee Reading Council's next meeting at the West Bend High School is to be a "double-feature." Those in attendance may learn more about computers with Gary Grimm. Simultaneously, Stuart Kendall, NIE co-ordinator, will present a workshop on "Newspaper in Education" including specific ideas for NIE week.

The Washington Ozaukee Reading Council is devoted to the improvement of reading instruction and promotion of the reading habit. The council is one of more than 1,100 organizations affiliated with the 65,000-member International Reading Association, a non-profit professional organization dedicated to furthering these goals worldwide. All persons interested in promoting reading are cordially invited to meetings. For more information call Sharon Finanne, President (375-0659) or Mary Short, President-Elect (338-8044).

Lower Interest Rate
To 9 Percent at ASCS

Commodity and farm storage loans disbursed in January by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 9 percent interest rate, according to Donald E. Sampson, Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) Office in Washington County.

The new rate, dropping since a high of 14% in August, reflects the interest rate charged CCC by the U.S. Treasury in January, Sampson said.

The interest rate on outstanding 1981 and 1982 crop commodity loans and farm facility loans disbursed since April 1, 1981, were automatically adjusted to the 9 percent rate, effective Jan. 1. Loans disbursed prior to April 1, 1981 do not have the up or down adjustable provision.

From the School Board President's Desk....

Why is that committee spending our money? How can the district afford all these computers?

Varying forms of these questions were sent to me this week. First of all, the Citizen Long Range Planning Committee is not spending any district money. District money is spent only with Board authorization. The committee functions as an information-gathering body only; it has no authority to spend money. The committee invites area resource people to present information, then condenses the information, and gives it to the Board. A recommendation for Board consideration may be included with the information, but that is not essential.

Last week the committee was investigating various brands of micro-computers. Our district has received a $10,067 federal block grant for the purchase of computer hardware. This is not money from the district budget. There is a deadline for the use of the grant, and if we don't use it, we lose it. We want the best value for the money.

Now, in general, I am in favor of computer instruction in our schools, but there are some problems that have to be solved and some questions that must be answered before I am willing to consider investing in the number of computers the district administrator has requested. The budget is not yet set. As you all know, this has been a very difficult year financially for district residents, and the next year promises to be no better. If we're going to purchase more computers, then we will have to cut somewhere else. Furthermore, I have yet to see a computer curriculum. If computer instruction is going to become part of current curriculums, what is going to be eliminated in order to make room for the computer instruction? Finally, the district has very few teachers who are qualified to teach computer usage. Training must be done, and that takes time. Much more work needs to be done before the district can clearly formulate a plan for computer instruction K-12.

On January 1st the familiar Wisconsin driver license changed, but not for everyone at the same time. For drivers scheduled to have a vision test, and new licensees, the driver license will bear their photograph in color. This will leave New York and Tennessee as the only states with non-photo licenses.

Issuance of the new photo licenses by the state Department of Transportation actually got underway in December for those drivers whose licenses expire in January.

The new license will be credit-card size, two-thirds the size of the present license, and plastic laminated. It will cost $9, with originals valid for two years and renewals for four years, twice as long as the current renewal. The color photograph will be part of the license itself, located in the lower left hand corner. Any restriction information and donor card statement will be on the back as before.

There is a provision in the law for not having your photo taken if you have religious objections, but they must be certified, according to Robert Kindschi, director of driver licensing.

In the event you are unhappy with the photograph on your license and insist on having a new one taken, and there is nothing technically wrong with the photo, there will be an additional charge of $4 for a duplicate.

Kindschi says those drivers with licenses expiring in 1983 who are not due for a vision test (required every four years) will receive a two-year paper license for $4 and will get their photo license in 1985. Instruction permits, chauffeur and school bus operator licenses will not require a photo.

The non-driver ID card will require a photograph. Except for being plainly marked as an "identification only" card, it will be identical to the driver license. Cost will be $4 and the ID card will be valid for four years.

Photos will be taken at each of the 140 driver license examining stations around the state, but licenses will not be issued on the spot, according to Milo Hodgson, director of the Bureau of Field Services. They will be mailed from the Madison office, as required by state law.

For drivers who are temporarily out of state when their licenses are due for renewal, a temporary "valid without photo" license will be issued. Application for a license containing the applicant's picture must be made within 30 days after returning.

The new photo license will be welcomed by those who depend on driver licenses for identification - business people accepting checks or dealing with legal age limitations, as well as those who must prove their age or identity.

New Wisconsin Highway Map Now Available

A new edition of the Wisconsin state highway and transportation map is off the presses, but it will not be available for general public distribution until later this month.

As an economy measure, the Department of Transportation is using its supply truck system to distribute maps to transportation districts, which will serve as bulk distribution centers across the state.

First distribution of the new maps is the statutorily-required distribution to state legislators, who received their shipments Jan. 7. State Patrol, motor vehicle and transportation districts in the eastern part of the state received maps the week of Jan. 10, while western districts were served the week of Jan. 17. All districts will have maps available to the public the last week in January.

The major changes on the new map are that it is undated, and carries a cover photo of the state Capitol instead of the Governor. Deletion of the chief executive's photo, approved under the Dreyfus administration, saves tax dollars since the photo dates the map.

A "blowup" of downtown Milwaukee is added to 25 other community inserts, locations of official state historical sites are now shown on the topographical map and information about recreational facilities has been expanded. Information has been added about Wisconsin's new law requiring approved restraint systems for transporting small children.

A scale showing distance between cities in kilometers has fallen victim to the nation's disinterest in the metric system. The chart shows distances only in miles.

The major changes in the highway system are completion of the new I-43 freeway between Milwaukee and Green Bay, continuation of the US 51 freeway south to Plainfield, and the new USH 18-151 bypass around Dodgeville.

Transportation Secretary Lowell Jackson said the new map attempts to either provide information needed by travelers or to direct them to sources of information. Toll-free numbers are listed for road condition and detour information.

The maps are provided free of charge to service stations, motels, hotels and recreation-travel oriented businesses for free distribution to the public.

Because of increasing mail costs, the department is stressing local distribution. People are urged to pick up individual copies and businesses to pick up packages of maps for free distribution to the public, at State Patrol district headquarters, Motor Vehicle driver license exam stations, and transportation district offices.

Because the map will not be substantially changed during the next four years, motorists are urged to "care for and share" their copies. The previous map was essentially unchanged from 1979-82, except for minor updating and changing photos of chief executives.

Wisconsin's first "official" highway map was printed in 1918, although the Highway Commission had printed and sold maps of the major highways since 1914. The 1918 map was the first in the world to show numbered highways, which were keyed to traffic signs on the roads. Maps were printed annually through 1975, except for one year during World War II.

Rising printing costs and a substantial reduction in the number of highway relocations dictated going to a biennial map in 1976-77.

In addition to the free folded pocket map, the state also offers large unfolded plastic wall maps at a cost of $3.00 plus tax.

Districts will provide individual copies and handle small shipments locally. Bulk orders will be mailed from DOT Document Sales in Madison, phone (608) 266-8921.

SOCIAL SECURITY'S LONG-TERM PROBLEMS — PART II

Last week, I discussed in this column some of the options being considered to alleviate the Social Security system's short-term financial woes. This week, I want to discuss the long-term problems of the future, and possible options we have in addressing them.

Even though the National Commission on Social Security has recommended a package that would add $169 billion to the program over the next twenty years, by current estimates this is still not enough to meet the larger, more serious shortfall awaiting the program in the next century.

The future problem is caused by one factor: Americans are living longer, retiring earlier, and collecting Social Security benefits longer than the architects of Social Security ever imagined possible.

In 1900, the average life expectancy in the U. S. was 47 years. By 1940, when Social Security had been in existence a mere three years, it was up to 63, just below the retirement age built into the program's finances. In 1980, the life expectancy reached 74, and continues to rise.

Clearly, people are drawing from the program for periods far longer than it was designed to allow. At the program's beginning in 1937, it was expected people would draw benefits, if they lived that long, for only two to three years, so the level of taxes and benefits was based on that premise. Now, however, recipients collect benefits an average of nine years or more, throwing the original math out the window.

The other trend to note is the birth rate. Following World War II and into the 1950's and 1960's, the U. S. experienced the "baby boom" - an average of 4.5 million births a year compared to the present 3.6 million.

When this group entered the work force, Social Security tax collections went up faster than the number of retirees. However, as those coming after the boom enter the work force now, the trend is nearly reversed. This will mean two things in the coming years; the ratio of tax-contributing workers to benefit-collecting retirees will continue to decline and a real crunch will come when all those "baby boomers" go into retirement themselves. Some experts see only two options to handle this: increasing the retirement age over a period of time or shifting our dependence from Social Security to private pension plans. Congress must look at these questions, too.

532 Drivers Certified
As 'Habitual Offenders'
Through December 1982

Since Wisconsin's "habitual traffic violators" law went into effect in August 1980, 532 drivers have amassed enough major traffic violations to warrant five-year license revocations, according to the state Department of Transportation.

Norbert K. Anderson, administrator of the Division of Motor Vehicles, said that local courts have ordered revocations for 223 drivers, while the other certifications are pending in 64 counties.

Under the habitual violators law, the DOT issues a certification to the home county for Wisconsin violators or to the Attorney General for non-residents whenever driving records show 12 or more convictions of moving violations within 5 years; or four or more convictions, including combinations, or reckless driving, operating while intoxicated, homicide involving a motor vehicle, operating while suspended or revoked, and other "major" violations.

Of those revoked through 1982, Anderson said 130 drivers had four violations, 62 drivers had five, 21 drivers had six, four had seven, one amassed 11; three had 12 violations each, and one each had 15 and 17 violations since the legislation went into effect.

Drivers certified included one convicted of 11 violations on the same court date, one with 12 violations within a 25-day period, and one driver whose 17 separate convictions included three in Wisconsin and 14 in eight other states.

the assessment. In order to make up for the loss, such a farmer would likely need to add two cows to his herd. The result would be an even greater dairy surplus.

The best way to reduce our surpluses is to sell more dairy products. The growth in the consumption of cheese has eased, and newly popular products such as yogurt and low-fat milk have not taken up the slack from a falloff in whole milk consumption. The average consumer drank 30 percent less whole milk in 1981 than a decade earlier.

Unfortunately, the 50c assessment would be of no help whatsoever in stimulating needed demand for dairy products because the reduced payments made to farmers would not be passed on to consumers. That simply doesn't make any sense to me.

Fortunately, there is a growing consensus that Congress is now opposed to the assessment. If it goes into effect, there is a good chance that it will be short-lived. In early spring we will likely be working on an alternative program that will be better for our farmers, better for consumers, and better for the government. I intend to do everything possible to see that this comes about.

McCALLUM

McCallum Opposes Proposal to Eliminate $9.8 Million in Aid to Local Fire Departments

State Senator Scott McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) today criticized Governor Earl for "slicing aid to smaller communities while leaving Milwaukee and Madison virtually untouched."

Senator McCallum made his comments in response to Governor Earl's proposal to eliminate $9.8 million in aid to local fire departments. "I am not opposed to budget cuts," McCallum said. "In fact there are many places where the state budget can and must be cut. However, because aids to local fire departments are not funded by tax dollars, no real savings for taxpayers can be achieved. In fact, local taxpayers will be forced to pay higher taxes or go without vital lifesaving services as a result of the Earl proposal."

The Fond du Lac lawmaker explained that the fire aids come from a 2% assessment on property insurance premiums which is collected from insurance companies doing business in the state. That means that no tax dollars go into the program. McCallum further noted that because these aids make up a larger percentage of their budgets, smaller communities will be hardest hit by the proposal.

"Many fire departments in the 18th Senate District will be badly hurt by the Earl plan," McCallum said. "Coupled with the recent elimination of school property tax credits, many of our communities will be receiving a double whammy while Milwaukee will see large aid hikes."

Senator McCallum explained that Milwaukee and Madison will not be adversely affected by the Earl proposal because the governor intends to plow the fire aid monies into the shared revenue formula. Most of the shared revenue funding goes to larger cities and no change in the funding formula is planned by the Earl Administration.

"The fire aid proposal is another example of Governor Earl's insensitivity to the problems of small towns in Wisconsin," McCallum said. "I strongly urge the governor to adopt an even handed approach in his budget cutting."

Following is a list of communities in this area of the 18th Senate District and the amount of funding they received under the fire aid program which Governor Earl wants to eliminate. The figures represent the aid payment made in August, 1982. Figures for 1983 are not available at this time. They should be slightly higher than the 1982 total.

Report

By Congressman Tom Petri
(R-Sixth District, Wisconsin)
U.S. House of Representatives

Agriculture Is in the Midst of a Crisis

It's no secret that American agriculture is in the midst of a crisis. During my travels around the Sixth District, farmers have told me of the terrible problems they're having making ends meet.

The intense level of frustration felt by the nation's farmers was revealed January 4th when more than 200 chanting farmers tried to stop a public farm auction by force in Springfield, Colorado. Tear gas was used in an attempt to restore order.

Clearly, the law must be upheld and debts must be paid. Rioting is no solution. However, it is equally clear that our farmers need help if we are to make American agriculture strong again.

According to a study by the American Bankers Association, 2.9 percent of farmers who took out loans in 1981 went bankrupt. That figure rose to 3.3 percent in 1982, and a 4.4 percent bankruptcy rate is anticipated for 1983.

Something must be done. But the question is — what? Agriculture is in a crisis, but so is the federal budget. Last year the federal government ran a deficit of about $110 billion. Twelve billion dollars out of the budget was used to subsidize agriculture and help our farmers. This year farm subsidies are likely to cost $13 billion while the deficit may reach $150 billion. Figures like this make my hair stand on end.

There will be no easy solution to our agricultural dilemma. But one thing's for sure: We shouldn't be making things even worse for dairy farmers by instituting the new 50c assessment on each hundredweight of milk produced.

As I write this, the 50c assessment is still being held up by the courts. I hope we can do away with the assessment altogether. In fact, I have joined with my colleague, Congressman Steve Gunderson, in introducing legislation to repeal the assessment.

According to Kenneth McKenzie of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., the average Wisconsin farmer, with about 50 cows, could lose $3,500 due to

MAKE THE MOST OF FAMILY INCOME BY DRAFTING A SPENDING PLAN

Easy come, easy go. That money management approach may work fine for families whose money is easily come by. But most families work hard for their income. They want to keep hard-earned cash from slipping through their fingers.

One key to successful money management is a family spending plan.

To draw your own spending plan, first record your expected annual income. Two income types supply your family's coffers: earned and unearned. Earned income is wages, salaries, fees for services and fringe benefits. Unearned income comes from wealth holdings and includes rent, interest and dividends.

Inventory your family's annual income by adding your earned and unearned income for each month. List only net or after-tax amounts. Divide the total by 12 to get your average monthly disposable income.

Averaging income across 12 months is particularly important for families whose income fluctuates during the year. It helps them spread earnings out to cover expenses during leaner months.

Next identify your family's short-and long-term goals. List the goals you want to accomplish, the number of months in which you want to accomplish them and the estimated cost. A short-term goal might be an especially nice Christmas gift. A long-term goal might be a down payment on a house. Divide the total cost into monthly amounts and include the amounts as expenditures in your spending plan.

As with income, two types of expenditures drain your family's coffers: fixed and variable. List your fixed expenses—including rent or mortgage payments, utilities, installments, insurance premiums, taxes, savings, and medical bills—for each month. Add the monthly totals and divide by 12 to get your average monthly fixed expenses. Then do the same with variable expenses, which include food, clothing, entertainment and transportation. If you have difficulty recalling monthly expenses, check old receipts and checkbook stubs. Estimates can be revised as you become more familiar with your family's spending patterns.

Finally, add the average monthly fixed and variable expenses. Compare the sum with the average monthly disposable income. Expenditures should equal income. If income exceeds expenditures, you'll be able to save more and possibly achieve your goals sooner. If expenses exceed income, you need to consider ways to curtail spending.

Tips to Deter Your Home From Burglary

Recent burglaries in Washington and surrounding counties created a great deal of concern among area residents as to the real security of their home. And although the persons responsible for these burglaries are identified and beginning their journey through the legal system, you can be just as sure that in the future a new wave of "B & E's" will be upon us, noted Sheriff Clarence Schwartz in a release today.

The Sheriff stated that most people make it easy for burglars to work. Unlocked windows and doors, lack of interest and concern by neighbors, inability to describe property or an accurate inventory of items, obvious signs of absence, and failure to cooperate with law enforcement authorities are all wide open invitations to be a victim of the crime of burglary.

The Sheriff listed these tips to help keep you safe from burglars:

1. Don't hide a key outside. If you can hide it, a burglar can find it.

2. Have good safe locks. A deadbolt lock is recommended for all doors. Always lock the doors even if you plan on being gone only a few minutes.

3. Install an alarm. The louder the better. Loud noises make burglars very nervous.

4. Be very suspicious of strangers at your door. Most recent burglaries in Washington County were committed after the burglars went to the door, rang the bell, and asked directions if someone was home. If this occurs, get a good description of the person and vehicle, and a license number if possible.

5. Use metal grillwork and decorative side glass to prevent burglars from breaking the glass and reaching in.

6. Close garage doors whether home or away. Open and empty usually indicates an empty home, and also often allows easy unobserved access to the house when the garage is attached.

7. Don't leave articles in areas easily accessible to the general public, such as lawn mowers on the lawn, etc.

8. When working in the attic, cellar, or taking a shower - lock up. Surprising a burglar who didn't expect anyone home could be dangerous.

9. Have effective window locks. Secure patio doors by blocking the track with a strip of wood.

10. Use a clock timer for lights and leave a radio on to give the impression that someone is home. Alter the lighting pattern.

11. Leave word with neighbors whenever you are gone for any extended period of time to watch the house and as to where you can be contacted in case of a break-in.

12. Mark your property with your driver's license number. (Engravers are available for use from the Sheriff's Department).

13. Make up an inventory list of the property, including a description and serial numbers. (Take pictures, if possible, of valuable items). Keep the list in a safe place.

Sheriff Schwartz concluded by saying that even taking all these precautions will not assure that you won't be a victim of the burglar, but everything you do lessens your chance that much more.

Cable Subscribers Urged to Protest Rate Increases

Cable subscribers should write and call U.S. senators and congressmen to protest "outrageous, anti-consumer royalty rate increases," according to Mark Landvatter, manager of River Bend Cablevision.

A little-known federal agency called the Copyright Royalty Tribunal (CRT) "has caused us to drop our plans to add WOR-TV from New York city, and will force us to drop WHA-TV, channel 21 from Madison, WI on March 15th if their new regulations are left standing," Landvatter said.

The CRT in Washington triggered the problem for local cable television subscribers when it voted to hike program rates by tens of millions of dollars nationwide.

Following protests from viewers and cable operators the major portion of the rate increase was postponed by Congress from January 1st to March 15th, when many cable systems across the country will be forced to drop popular distant TV signals or charge subscribers substantially higher monthly rates.

"Congress created the CRT, which sets the rates we must pay for retransmission of broadcast stations we carry from outside the Milwaukee area," Landvatter said. "Now it's up to Congress to stop this unfair and inflationary action. West Bend, Kewaskum and Jackson cable subscribers should call and write their elected officials in Washington and ask them to stop this ridiculous regulation that will limit cable subscribers viewing options, or force higher rates on them."

Even the Wisconsin Congressman who wrote the Copyright Act of 1976, which created the CRT, filed a protest with the U.S. Court of Appeals, which is presently hearing arguments alleging that the CRT erred in approving the massive rate increase.

U.S. Representative Robert W. Kastenmeier (D-WIS), chairman of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and Administration of Justice, told the appeals court that the CRT decision thwarts the intent of Congress.

"In particular," said Kastenmeier, "I agree that the Tribunal's refusal to consider the public interest in its decision or to adopt a declining fee schedule to reflect, as does the Copyright Act's schedule, the declining marginal value of additional distant television broadcast signals, the arbitrary, capricious and an abuse of the discretion place in the Tribunal by Congress. Should the January 1, 1983, effective date be allowed to stand, the Tribunal's decision will cause irreparable harm to the public and the cable industry which serves it."

The CRT's order for increased rates on distant television signals has prompted a storm of opposition. However, the U.S. Appeals Court in Washington has refused to postpone the January 1st increase while the court hears arguments alleging the CRT is not acting in the public interest.

Unless Congress acts to stop the rate increase during the lengthy legal appeal process, cable systems around the country, including West Bend's system will be forced to drop the popular distant TV stations from their channels, or be faced with stiff rate increases for their carriage.

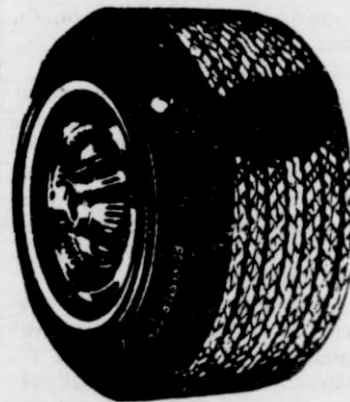

River Bend Cablevision had announced and purchased the needed equipment to add WOR, New York, to its channel line-up on December 1st. "We were forced by the CRT decision to delay our planned expansion and to drop WOR from our plans by the CRT action. We will now be forced to drop WHA from Madison by the same rules if Congress doesn't act in the interest of our customers," Landvatter said. "Ever since we lost WOR's signal last year, we've had written requests from our customers every month to try to bring it back. Now that we have the technical ability to do so, the CRT has set up a new road-block for us," he said.

Minutes of Village Board Meeting

Mid-Monthly Meeting
January 17, 1983
8:00 P.M.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin met in mid-monthly session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Gerald Stollenwerk presided. Trustee David Nigh asked to be excused and was absent, all other Trustee Members were present.

The minutes of the meeting of January 3, 1983 were approved after a correction to the publication dates on ordinance 83-1 and 83-2 were changed from January 14, 1983 to January 21, 1983. On a motion by Trustee Howard Laubenstein, seconded by Trustee Richard Schmidt, voice vote was passed by the majority.

The annual report of the Kewaskum Police Department for 1982 was given to all Trustees for their review. It was noted that the department's percentages are very good.

Ice skating was again a topic for discussion with the Superintendent of Public Works Bilgo. It was noted a smaller ice rink may be established near the new larger area for smaller children. The Board was unanimous in their decision to discourage hockey play on the new ice rink when more and smaller children are present.

Administrator Schmidt briefed the Board on the outcome of the County Solid Waste Management Meeting of January 10, 1983. When more information is made available the topic will again be brought up for discussion.

Administrator Schmidt reviewed with the Board the possibility of requesting the Wisconsin Electric Power Company to place time of use meters on both of the village's street light circuits, which would result in an annual cost saving to the village of approximately $1,800.00. Also the possibility of requesting the installation of LCR switches on 3 of the village's hot water heaters, which would result in a cost savings of $162.50 per year. On a motion by Trustee Paul Blumer, seconded by Trustee Donald Mlodzik and unanimously carried, the Board authorized the Administrator to instruct the Wisconsin Electric Power Company to proceed with these two cost saving measures. Voice vote was passed by the majority.

Administrator Schmidt informed the Board of a Police Commission meeting scheduled for Tuesday, January 18, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. and a West Bend CATV meeting scheduled for Wednesday, January 19, 1983 at 7:00 p.m.

On a motion by Trustee

Richard Schmidt, seconded by Trustee Jeffrey Rohrer and unanimously carried, the Board authorized Foth & Van Dyke to advertise for bids on the Wastewater Treatment project, after the Superintendent of Wastewater Treatment, Administrator and the Village Attorney review and approve the information to be bid. Voice vote was passed by the majority.

The Board reviewed the proposed Water and Wastewater Treatment budgets for 1983. On a motion by Trustee Richard Schmidt, seconded by Trustee Paul Blumer and unanimously carried, the Board instructed Administrator Schmidt to consult with Dr. Raymond Kipp, of Water Engineering Associates on the proposed W.W.T. budget and the circumstances involved with it. Voice vote was passed by the majority.

President Stollenwerk read a proclamation to the Board, proclaiming the week of January 16 thru the 22, 1983, as Jaycee Week.

President Stollenwerk commended the Kewaskum Historical Society for the state wide acclaim received in reference to the reconstruction of the 1847 log cabin adjacent to the museum.

The Mid-Moraine Municipal Association meeting was announced for those Board Members interested in attending.

Motion was made by Trustee Donald Mlodzik, seconded by Trustee Howard Laubenstein to adjourn. Roll call vote was 6 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 1 "Absent." The motion was carried by the majority.

Daniel S. Schmidt
Administrator

Citizens Financial Service Corp. Acquires A. C. Larson Co. Agency

Citizens Financial Service Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of West Bend Savings and Loan Association, announced this week the acquisition of the A.C. Larson & Co. insurance agency. Ronald J. Larson, manager of A.C. Larson & Co., said the insurance agency would continue to operate as before, but as a division of Citizens Financial, using the trade name of A.C. Larson & Co. Insurance Division.

A.C. Larson & Co. and its predecessor, the E.W. Eberhardt Insurance Agency, will be marking its 62nd year of business in 1983, according to Ronald Larson. The agency was started by the late Elmer Eberhardt in 1921. In 1944 the late Albert C. Larson became affiliated with Eberhardt in the insurance business and was later joined by Richard A. Larson on a part-time basis, and in 1959 by Ronald Larson, the company's present manager. The Larsons purchased Eberhardt's interest in the agency in 1961 and changed the name of the partnership to A.C. Larson & Co.

The acquisition of A.C. Larson & Co. is the third major addition to the financial services offered by West Bend Savings in the past year. Citizens earlier purchased majority interests in Realty World-West Grove Realty Co., Inc. and in Mid-West Credit Services, Inc. Naomi R. Engeleiter, West Bend Savings Senior Vice President responsible for subsidiary and affiliated operations, indicated that West Bend Savings is intent on becoming a complete financial resource company. The addition of one of the county's larger insurance agencies added a logical and profitable service that could be made available to West Bend Savings' 30,000 customers throughout Washington County.

Engeleiter indicated that the acquisition by Citizens had been worked on for almost a year and needed full review and approval by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board supervisory staff and the State Savings and Loan Commissioner's staff because both Ronald J. Larson and Richard A. Larson were partners of A.C. Larson & Co. and also directors of West Bend Savings and Citizens Financial. Other directors of Citizens Financial are H.C. Kaempfer, C.J. Schloemer, A.V. Weasler, Eldor Kannenberg, Lawrence Hillman, Joseph Zadra and John Kasten.

As one of the largest independent agencies in Washington County, A.C. Larson & Co. is active in all lines of commercial and personal insurance, including fire, homeowners, auto, liability, life, health and disability coverages. Group coverage in all fields is a growing area for the agency. As an independent insurance agency, the firm represents a list of "Blue Ribbon" insurance companies that is virtually a Who's Who of the insurance industry, giving it the ability and capacity to place practically every type of insurance protection required by its business and personal clients. Northwestern Mutual Life agent, Bob Jahn, has also located his agency in the Larson Co. offices.

For a few months the insurance agency will continue to function at the 105 N. Main Street offices, but later in the year will occupy independent office quarters in the new Savings and Loan headquarters building at One Savings Center on Main and Walnut. Probably one of the most experienced insurance office staffs in the state, with a total of over 100 years' experience in the agency, the present agency associates of Gerald Desrosier, Barbara Larson, Marlene Garbisch, Helen Rillings and Terry Weyer will continue with the firm. It is expected that a substantial increase in sales staff will take place during 1983.

A.C. Larson & Co. was also one of the leading real estate brokerage firms in West Bend for almost 40 years and, in recent years, primarily in subdivision work and commercial property sales. The firm pioneered the first local parade of homes, was one of the first brokers in Southeastern Wisconsin to use home photos in newspaper ads, developed an appraisal department with certified appraisers, handled the Maplewyn Subdivision planning and sales of the Horlamus family, and was active in development of both condominium and planned unit development projects in the area. Realty World-West Grove Realty, Inc. will continue to handle and service Larson's clients, and sales associates will transfer to the other Citizens Financial affiliate.

Ronald Larson indicated that various real estate and investment holdings of A.C. Larson & Co. were not included in the sale and would continue as private investments. That phase of the partnership would continue as a private investment partnership under the name of Nerstrand Investments.

Menomonee Falls Stingers Nose Out Lakes Team, 113-111

The Menomonee Falls Stingers handed the Kewaskum Lakes basketball team another close defeat, 113-111, at Falls North High School Saturday night, as veteran Ron Plahmer led the way with 28 points. Kewaskum remains alone in second place in the Lakes 'B' Division as all 'B' Division teams lost to 'A' Division teams for the third week in a row. First-place Port Washington was clobbered by Cedarburg 142-107.

For the second week in a row a Kewaskum comeback fell a bit short of upsetting a 'A' Division foe. Kewaskum trailed by 13 in the third quarter when they started their comeback. They tied the game at 109 with two minutes left only to have the Stingers ring off two quick baskets. Kewaskum could only answer with one. Bill Gonwa missed a 12-footer with seven seconds left which could have sent it into overtime. Manager Bill Backhaus commented, "I was pleased with the way we came back and almost pulled this one out. We've come so close to gaining ground on Port the last two weeks. Hopefully, if we keep working hard, things will start going our way again."

The Stingers led 27-25 at the quarter as Mark Sievers had 10. They increased the lead to 57-51 at the half as Plahmer and Sievers had eight each in the second quarter. They expanded their lead slightly in the third quarter to 89-82 as Plahmer had 10. Kewaskum outscored them 29-24 in the fourth quarter behind Gonwa's eight.

Besides Plahmer, Sievers had 24 for the Stingers and Joe Fox 20. Leon Laatsch led Kewaskum's balanced attack with 29 points, followed by Gonwa with 22, Backhaus 18, Mike Maney 15, and Todd Pruett 14.

Better free throw shooting could have won it for Kewaskum. They made only 7 of 15 for 46.7 percent, while the Stingers were a perfect 7 of 7 for 100.0 percent.

Kewaskum will try to get back on the winning track when they host the Thiensville-Mequon Twins this Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at KHS. The Twins are currently 4-3 and in a three-way tie for third place in the 'A' Division.

Hunter's Safety Course Offered

Hunter Safety Certificates are required for hunting in many states and provinces, so make hunter safety a family affair. Take the course with your son or daughter.

Ken Stuart, Rick Heisler and Bill Prost, Wisconsin Certified Hunter Safety Instructors, assisted by Mike Spors, Game Warden, and the Directors of the Campbellsport Sportsman Club, invite anyone interested in hunting and recreational shooting to enroll in a Wisconsin Hunter Education course. The course will start Tuesday, Feb. 8th, at 6:30 p.m. at the Campbellsport Sportsman Clubhouse, and is sponsored by the Campbellsport Sportsman Club. The course will run for eight weeks. The students must be 12 years old to enroll (or reach 12 prior to completing the course). There is no maximum age, and parents are also encouraged to enroll and participate. Advance registrations are requested. Please contact Ken Stuart 533-8470, Rick Heisler 533-4955, Bill Prost 626-4686 for details. The course fee is $5.00, and covers all necessary materials.

Persons successfully completing the course will receive a distinctive embroidered emblem and a hunter safety graduate certificate. The certificate is valid in lieu of a small game hunting license for one season, and is a lifetime certificate for hunting in many states and provinces. Young students certified will also be able to hunt and use firearms without parent or guardian present at age fourteen instead of age sixteen. Classes will cover responsibilities of hunters, firearms safety in the home and afield, knowledge of firearms and hunting equipment, wildlife identification and management, marksmanship and outdoor skills. Dr. Anthony Schlaefer of Campbellsport will conduct hunter vision screening tests for all students as a public service.

During 1982, The International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies presented the State of Wisconsin an Award of Merit for achievement in the field of Hunter Education.

Sturgeon Spearing Season Opens Feb. 12

The sturgeon spearing season on Lake Winnebago opens on Saturday, February 12th, and continues through Tuesday, March 1st, this year.

The 1983 Spearing and Netting Regulations pamphlet is now available at Department of Natural Resources offices around the state, and we would like to remind anglers that it is necessary to purchase their sturgeon spearing license before the season opens. The special spearing license and tag for sturgeon spearing on Lake Winnebago is $5.50 and will not be sold once the season opens on February 12th.

Anglers who take lake sturgeon by hook and line are advised that beginning this year, the fish must be tagged and registered. Tags will be available from the Department later this year. The inland lake sturgeon hook and line season opens September 3rd and the Wisconsin-Minnesota boundary waters season opens on April 30th.
