Kewaskum Seniors Enter Unique National Education Competition

A team of nine seniors at Kewaskum High School have entered a unique national education competition.

They are competing in the fourth annual mass production contest sponsored by the American Industrial Arts Association and Stanley Tools Division of the Stanley Works.

As its entry, the Kewaskum chapter of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America has designed an aluminum can compactor. Made of pine, the unit can be mounted on a garage wall stud.

The device easily crushes aluminum cans using a simple level and platen system. The unit is about 20 inches tall and about 6 inches square.

The contest enables students to learn and use the principles and methods of a successful manufacturing operation in the application of the skills they develop in their industrial arts classes.

Entries are products manufactured by the student team, using mass production techniques and methods.

In selecting a product, students must consider its marketability, including the results of a market research study. They also must select the proper tools and develop whatever jigs are required to

KHS Student Service Club Places First in National Contest

The Kewaskum High School Chapter of VICA - Vocational Industrial Clubs of America recently received word that they took 1st place in the National Stanley Tools Mass Production Contest sponsored by Stanley Tools in Columbus, Ohio.

Club advisor, Bill Stangl, explained that the goals of VICA are to help prepare students for a career in industry. In entering the contest club members must first come up with a project idea. They did this through a market survey of several proposed projects. The group decided on a can crusher. The project was to be mass producible and consist of 90% wood. Students then had to design the product including jigs and fixtures to mass produce. To enter the product in the contest, the club had to send two samples of the crusher along with a complete set of working drawings. Pictures and drawings of the jigs and fixtures and a bill of materials for the project also had to be submitted.

To date the club has produced and sold 50 "Crushers" at a cost of $5.95 each. The club was awarded the Stanley Gold Hammer Award and each member received a certificate from Stanley and a key ring and Stanley tape measure.

manufacture the product repetitively to precise, quality standards.

Entries were judged at the annual conference of the American Arts Association in Columbus, Ohio, on March 29 and 30. Winning entries in the four levels of competition will receive "Stanley Gold Hammer" awards. In addition, each winning team member will receive an award certificate and a keytape.

Stangl said the product "really gives students an idea of what industry goes through to design, manufacture and market a product."

"It gives them a good idea of what goes on, if they are interested in a career in industry," he added.

The students must design jigs for construction of the product, must organize and plan the work, and must learn to cooperate and get along with people in reaching a common goal, Stangl noted.

In selecting the winning entries, "the judges check to see that you (the team) really did all the steps of making this a mass production process, and prove the team manufactured

School Board Approves Funding and Staffing

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

With some alterations, the Kewaskum School Board Monday night approved District Administrator John Long's housing and staffing recommendations for the 1984-85 school year.

On a 4-3 vote, the board okayed Long's second choice proposal from his report and list of five alternate recommendations. Board member Ralph Horner moved that the District keep all buildings open for 1984-85; re-assign some Middle School teachers; lay off some teachers; keep the Middle School English and Reading programs intact, but reduce Social Studies and Physical Education.

Long's opening paragraphs of his report stated, "The recommendations are based on what I perceive to be in the best interest of students and of the taxpayers of the district. I am not running a popularity contest with special interest groups but with the people of the district."

Long's highest priority recommendation was not approved by the board. That recommendation stated, "Keep all buildings open for 1984-85, move all sixth grade students to the Middle School; re-assign some middle school teachers,

Resignation of Pearson Accepted

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

On a 7-0 vote, the Kewaskum School Board approved the request of Clark Pearson to resign as principal of the Kewaskum High School and return to teaching status as an instructor in the Math Department.

Board member Tom Brigham told Pearson that while he accepted Pearson's resignation with regret, "the administration's loss was the students' gain."

Pearson has been high school principal for the past twelve years. He came to Kewaskum in 1972, from Greendale where he served as assistant high school principal.

A position in the Math Department became available when the School Board recently approved the addition of a Computer Literacy course and made it a mandatory requirement for graduation beginning with the 1984-85 school year.

Pearson's resignation will become effective June 30th. The board went into closed session Monday night to discuss finding a replacement for the position.

Hwy. 45 Bypass Project Progressing on Schedule

Madison. . . State Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend) announced that the Highway 45 bypass project is progressing on schedule. The Highway 45 project was one of twelve projects approved for bonding authority by the Legislature in the 1983-85 state budget.

Explaining the funding mechanism for the important project, Panzer noted, "Federal money which was recently delayed and decreased in Washington is not required for construction of the bypass. The entire proposal is being funded by state bonding authority, so, fortunately, political squabbles in Washington will not impact upon us."

Eleven contracts for the first phase will be let from April through June. Construction will begin in May of this year. Phase one of the project, eight miles from STH 145 to Paradise Drive, will be completed and opened by the fall of 1985. Phase two from Paradise Drive, around West Bend, and back to old Highway 45 is scheduled to open by the fall of 1986.

Panzer, one of the key proponents of the bypass in the legislature concluded, "The most difficult portion of this process—the funding approval—is history. Now it is up to the Department of Transportation to complete the project on schedule."

Julie Ketter, president of the Wisconsin Jaycee Women, presented the chapter with its charter. She also installed the charter members. During a special "Rose Ceremony," Barbara Deluka, Jaycee Women Regional Director, installed the officers of the chapter.

The chapter invited the Kewaskum Jaycees and the West Bend Jaycee Women to help celebrate this special occasion. The Kewaskum Jaycee Women support the Kewaskum Jaycees as well as participate in various projects of their own. At the first Jaycee Women meeting, the Kewaskum Jaycees had presented the Kewaskum Jaycee Women with a generous donation to help get the chapter off to a good start. The West Bend Jaycee Women helped organize the Kewaskum chapter, and are offering guidance and assistance as needed. President of the West Bend Jaycee Women, Jean Robrahn, presented the chapter with a gavel inscribed "Kewaskum Jaycee Women, 1984." It was an enjoyable evening of friendship, fun, and food.

The Kewaskum Jaycee Women would like to invite any young women, between the ages of 18 and 35, to join their organization. Meetings are held the third Monday of each month at 8:00 p.m. in the basement of the West Bend Savings & Loan (use the back entrance). You are under no obligation to join if you attend a meeting. It is our sincere hope, however, that by coming to one of our meetings, you will discover what a worthwhile organization this is for you and your community, and that you will want to share in the experience.

Complete sets of working drawings are submitted along with the completed product, so others could make the product the team designed. Market surveys results also are submitted to the judges.

"The thing must look mass produced," he stressed.

The contest allows students to learn the techniques of mass production, Stangl pointed out. The various parts are manufactured at different places and times, and are marked and stored. The parts are then assembled at one place and time, according to the working drawings.

Stangl said the Kewaskum team started work up product ideas back to October. Two products, a tool box and an aluminum can crusher, were submitted to a market survey of 100 people.

The survey showed a greater demand for the can crusher, Stangl said, and the team immediately began working on drawings to produce it.

Actual construction of the can crusher began recently. The unit is offered for sale to the public and purchases can be made through the Kewaskum High School office.

The unit selling price is $5.95, with about 25 to 30 units being marketed.

The Kewaskum team has put hours of enthusiastic effort into this product, Stangl said.

In addition to the many hours spent working up drawings and about 15 hours survey time, the team has compiled more than 30 hours work in designing a prototype.

lay off some teachers; close Beechwood School (one year from now).

Long told the Board, there were no easy answers for the district's problems, but they were elected to make decisions and they would have to start making them.

District census figures show Kewaskum has a declining student enrollment, and according to birth rate figures, it will continue to decline for at least another four to five years. Using the Middle School as an example, Long indicated there would be a drop of approximately fifty students from 1983-84, to 1984-85 enrollments, down to about 235 children. The Middle School's enrollment peaked at 338 students in 1978-79, and declined steadily since.

Long noted that whether the board and district residents like it or not, they are going to have to seriously consider closing schools. Referring to declining enrollments and the Beechwood School, Long said, "when you get down to 66 students in a building, that is not economically feasible." He also indicated he did not approve of the combined classes at Beechwood. "If Beechwood remains open, we will need another teacher for the third and fourth grade."

Long said the recommendation to close schools had been made by former Superintendent Floyd Brenholt, the State Department of Public Instruction and now, he was making the same recommendation. He said the Board should seriously consider moving the sixth grade students, closing Beechwood, and two to three years down the road, close Wayne Elementary. Long noted, if Beechwood and Farmington classes had been combined at Farmington this year, they would have had classes of relatively equal size, plus the cost of 1/2 teacher would have been saved.

Long told the Board, "no matter what you do tonight, I think it is well for you to think ahead, that you don't just sit there until this time comes two or three years from now and then you have another big squabble about what should get consolidated and what should get closed." He continued, "I've closed outlying schools where I have been before and almost got crucified and everything else, until about three months after the kids were in a new building and then I heard everybody say, we should have done this before." It was only done because of declining enrollments, not for any other reason.

The board also approved the lay-offs of Diane Stangl, sixth grade teacher, and Chapter 1 teachers Mary Loehr and Lori Noegel.

In response to a request from board member Charles Ogi, Building and Grounds Superintendent Fred Boehlke gave a report on roof inspections at the district's school buildings.

Boehlke said C. W. Haug & Sons, of West Bend, had completed their inspections and made the following recommendations for work to be done and the approximate costs. At Kewaskum Elementary, re-roofing and insulation of the three older sections at a cost of approximately $35,500.00. Boehlke said he had asked about interim patching and was told that it would cost $750 to $900 and "would only be guaranteed until the next rain." Beechwood School - replace the expansion joint between the two additions, approximately $1,500-$1,700. Wayne Elementary - maintenance repairs $350 to $500. Middle School - maintenance repairs, $400 to $650. Farmington Elementary - replace the 1966 building roof, costs $110,000, or a temporary repair which would last two to three years and costs $3,500. Boehlke said these recommendations were over and above present roof repairs which are being done.

In other action the board approved the recommendation of the Graduation Requirements Committee to increase credit requirements for graduation to 22 by the 1987-88 school year.

John Tessar, chairman of the Extra Curricular Activities Committee, told the board his group had completed its study and a final report would be submitted to them within the next two weeks.

The board ratified the new contract with the Kewaskum Education Association. Board member Tom Brigham said the two-year contract calls for an 8.5% salary increase in the first year and 9.0% for the second year. He said the approximate percentage of the total package cost was 9.25% for the first year and 9.75% for the second.

In a letter from Michael Spector, the District's legal advisor and negotiator, he recommended the board approve the contract. Spector stated, "The salary settlement is consistent with general voluntary settlements in the area; it is slightly higher than some because of a need for Kewaskum to catch up in certain areas of the salary schedule. The result of the salary settlement will be to make the district more competitive than in prior years when bargaining begins for the 1985-86 contract." Spector also stated, "if the tentative agreement is not ratified, mediation-arbitration is extremely likely, at a cost to the district of at least $10,000 in legal fees and substantial amounts of John's and Baird's time."

The approval was passed on a 4-3 vote, with Charles Ogi, Ralph Horner, and John Spoerl voting "no."

County Voiture of 40 et 8 Awarded Statewide Event

Washington County Voiture 898 of the Wisconsin Forty et Eight was awarded the 63rd Annual Grande Promenade during the veterans organizations Midwinter Petite Promenade held in Green Bay, February 10 - 12. The Grande Promenade will be held at the Dillon Inn in West Bend, August 2 thru 5, 1984.

This will be the first time that Voiture 898 will be host to this annual event that brings delegates from around the state together to carry out the official business of the Grande. The Grande Promenade will be presided over by Grande Chef de Gare Ray Smith of Onalaska. The Grande Cabane, which is the ladies organization affiliated with the 40 et 8, will meet at the same time and place. Presidente Charlotte Sawyer of Waupaca will lead the ladies in their activities.

Highlights of the Promenade will include the visit of Chef de Chemin de Fer William Lyons of Kenosha who holds the top ranking position in Voiture Nationale, and the annual 40 et 8 parade which will be on Friday evening, August 3, in West Bend.

The Forty et Eight is the fun and honor society of the American Legion. Its numerous programs include the Nurses Training Program of which over 500 Registered Nurses graduate each year. They also support the "Carville Star" publication in Carville, Louisiana, for the research and treatment of Hansen's Disease (commonly and erroneously called Leprosy). The Charles W. Artery Memorial Child Welfare Trust Fund is used to help youth who need care due to an emergency caused by fire, flood, tornado, etc. After the tornado that struck West Bend in 1981, the children of 13 families were provided with new clothes from this fund for a total of $1600.00.

For more information about the Grande Promenade and the parade, contact Promenade Chairman Dean Schatz, 1026 Cedar St. West Bend 53095, or Merv Thompson 9592 Townline Rd., Kewaskum 53040, Chef de Gare of County Voiture, 898.

Chairperson Announced for Local Bike-A-Thon

Wisconsin is gearing up for the annual Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon which in 1983 raised a record $168,000 to help fight America's number one genetic killer of children and young adults. Stanley L. Shaw, president of the Wisconsin Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, recently announced the appointment of the following chairperson: Mike Gindt and the Kewaskum Jaycees, Kewaskum Bike-A-Thon.

Cystic fibrosis (CF) is an inherited disease, present at birth, which causes certain glands to malfunction. Caused by a defective gene received from both parents, the fatal disease produces a thick, sticky mucus which clogs the lungs and airways, making breathing difficult. Twenty-five years ago children with CF seldom reached school age. Today, thanks to research supported by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, the children born with CF will survive to age twenty. Though treatments and early diagnosis are prolonging lives, there is still no cure or long-term control for cystic fibrosis nor is there a test to detect the over 10 million Americans who are unknowingly asymptomatic carriers of the defective CF gene.

The foundation supports a network of 128 CF Centers throughout the United States with local centers at Milwaukee Children's Hospital and the University of Wisconsin - Madison Hospital and Clinics. The Wisconsin Chapter also supports several state-based research grants.

"Throughout the years, the people of Wisconsin have pulled together to participate in the bike-a-thon program and help give these kids a chance," said Shaw. "We hope to get the full participation of many residents in this year's event. Together with the hundreds of other volunteers working on similar fundraising events throughout Wisconsin, we can make a strong impact on the fight to conquer cystic fibrosis."

The value of a diamond is determined by the four "C's": cut, carat, clarity and color.

Vocational Education In the High School

This is the 2nd in a series of articles on vocational education at Kewaskum High School.

Next year Kewaskum High School students will find new drafting tables in the Mechanical Drafting and Architectural Drafting classes. These tables have lockable storage drawers for students to store their equipment and drawings and keep materials clean and organized. Mounted on the tables will be an arm drafting machine. This is the type industry has been using for several years. The drafting machine combines the qualities of the T-square, triangles, scales and protractor all in one machine.

A relatively new development in drafting and design is the use of the computer in assisting the drawing and design process. I recently went to Ozaukee High School for a demonstration on their fine computer drafters. I was able to use the computer to make a drawing and to observe how this can be used in industry. The industrial arts department at Kewaskum High School is presently trying to obtain a CAD (Computer Assisted Drafting) system for the drafting department. Even if only one can be implemented in the program this would give the students exposure to an area of drafting and design that surely will be a major influence on the whole drafting and design process.

Kewaskum High School has three courses of drafting for students plus a seminar program for those who want to explore further into this field. Several students have taken these classes and have continued their education at college and technical schools and are now employed as draftspeople and designers.

With the only opposition on the ballot being for the trustee offices, the vote cast in Tuesday's spring election in the village was comparatively light. A total of 247 votes were cast, which is only about one-third of the number of eligible voters in the village. Two of the present trustees, Wayland Tassar and Joe Eberle, were re-elected to office for another two year term. The third trustee elected is Cyril N. Wietor, a newcomer, who won out over Carl F. Schaefer. All of the other village officials were re-elected without opposition.

Last Monday evening, John Witzig, administrator for the late Fred E. Witzig estate, consummated a deal whereby the fixtures and supplies of his brother's barber shop on East Main Street near the bridge were sold to Al Wietor of Wayne. Possession will be given Mr. Wietor on April 16.

The voters of the Mullen School District located eight miles west of Kewaskum, have authorized the School Board to replace their school building which was destroyed by fire last February. Albert Buss, son of Mrs. Herman Buss, had his arm taken off below the elbow last Saturday. He was working with William Heberer's traction sawmill on Charles Johnson's farm in the Town of Farmington. He was occupied in putting the belt on the sawdust carrier which had slipped off when the belt became tangled and jerked his right arm into the teeth of the saw, severing it through the muscle of the forearm and splintering the bone so that it hung only by a small portion of skin and flesh to the arm above. Buss is now at Dr. Heidner's hospital at West Bend and is reported as doing well.

The elections last Tuesday passed off very quietly. There was no opposition to the regular nominated ticket in either the village or town, consequently, very little interest was taken.

Following are the results of the village and the town. Kewaskum Village - President, Val Peters; trustees, L. P. Rosenheimer, Mat. Beisbier, Otto Habeck; clerk, Edward C. Miller; treasurer, William Schultz; assessor, Joseph Strachota; supervisor, John Muehleis; justice of the peace, L. D. Guth; constable, Dr. W. N. Klumb. Kewaskum Town - Chairman, Bernard Haufschild; supervisors, Henry Stark, A. B. Ramthun; clerk, Louis Backhaus; treasurer, John Klein Sr.; assessor, August Schaefer; justices of the peace, Emil Backhaus, William Quandt, William Colvin; constables, Herman Backhaus, George

Jerominski Announces Candidacy For State Assembly

Patricia Gruber Jerominski

Patricia Gruber Jerominski today announced her candidacy for the State Assembly, representing the 59th Assembly District.

Jerominski, a life-long resident and sixth generation of her family to live and work in the area, was a candidate in 1982 for this elected legislative position and narrowly lost to the current State Representative, Esther Doughty Luckhardt, who has announced her plans to retire from the State Assembly. Commenting on this fact, Jerominski stated, "The fact I came so close to being elected over a 20-year veteran of the Legislature is a clear indication the voters of this area have judged me to be well qualified to be their State Representative."

On the question of her knowledge and experience of and in the Legislature and the legislative process, Jerominski stressed her background of being a prior candidate for the Assembly, her service in the Legislature as a Legislative Aide, and her personal relationships with members of the Legislature. "All of these assets are a clear and definite record of knowledge, ability, expertise, and background which will enable me to represent this area responsibly in the State Assembly and to be an effective legislator; especially, the ability I possess to establish an atmosphere of cooperation with legislators of both parties to produce legislative results instead of legislative bickering and stalemate."

"I care and know about the people, needs, and issues of this area, and importantly know what it is to work hard for a living," Jerominski noted, "from being a life-long resident and a factory worker at Regal Ware and the West Bend Company, and nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend."

Major items Jerominski cited as her legislative agenda when elected as a State Representative were "property tax relief by taking the cost of public education off the property tax; rural economic development; increased recycling to save taxpayers' landfill costs; utility rate reform; the streamlining of surplus commodities, so more is available for distribution to schools, the elderly, and the unemployed."

Jerominski, 30, is married and the mother of 3 children, and is a graduate of Campbellsport High School. She also attended UW-LaCrosse, the UW Center in Washington County, and Moraine Park Technical Institute in Fond du Lac. Jerominski is a member of the Wisconsin Women for Agriculture; the Citizen's Utility Board; the Parish Council and School Board of St. Matthew's Parish in Campbellsport; and the Wisconsin Women's Task Force.

HOST A FOREIGN VISITOR THROUGH 4-H's IFYE PROGRAM

Whether citizens of the United States, Canada, West Germany, Zimbabwe or Australia, we are more likely than ever to find our lives intertwined with faraway neighbors of our "global village."

Technological changes in communications and transportation bring us closer to other countries and increasingly affect the way we live, work and think in today's world. This further suggests the growing importance of understanding and cooperation.

Foreign exchange programs are one way to expand our knowledge of other countries and cultures. 4-H and similar programs worldwide contribute to cross-cultural understanding through assistance, exchange and training.

The part of 4-H's exchanges that makes them so valuable, is that foreign visitors are taken into U.S. homes where they become more than just tourists. The same goes for Americans who visit other countries in programs like IFYE—International 4-H Youth Exchange.

So a prerequisite of the success of foreign exchange programs are homes which welcome visitors with open arms, making them part of a family. Hosting an exchange provides a unique opportunity for urban and rural families to have an international experience without ever leaving home.

Families participate in exchange programs for a variety of reasons, but they usually have this common motivation—a desire to learn from, and share with, someone from another country. Both are important. We tell our delegates to remember they are both learners and teachers in their role as IFYE representatives. That goes for host families too.

Hosts often find that viewing the United States through a visitor's fresh eyes increases appreciation and understanding of their own culture and heritage.

Families hosting a foreign visitor always are excited to discover how alike people are—they laugh, they cry, regardless of what language they speak.

One fringe benefit many host families experience is a new degree of closeness that comes from preparing for a foreign visitor and then sharing the responsibilities of including that person in their home. Several Washington County families are now looking forward to hosting young Japanese visitors.

For more information on becoming a host family or going to another country, contact the 4-H office.

The Kewaskum Middle School Student Council would like to thank the Kewaskum Booster Club for helping organize and operate the concession stand on Saturday, March 31, at the District Band and Choral Contest.

A special thanks goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Pat McFadden and Mrs. Eileen Kurtz for giving up an entire Saturday to help the Student Council raise approximately $140.00 after expenses. This money will be used to purchase something of lasting value for the Middle School.

To The Editor:

Your newspaper is to be commended for the fine job you have been doing covering High School sports and activities this past year, especially the coverage of the high school football and basketball seasons. Everyone that has attended and supported school activities can read your coverage of the events and say 'you did a good job, keep up the good work.' Players, coaches, and everyone involved needs the good positive reinforcement and support your paper has been giving them and knows your support will be continued in the future.

It is also gratifying to see an article about past high school athletes that have made good in college, such as Dale Wod-sedalek, who has been a member of a very successful College basketball program and has made a major contribution to their program.

Once again, Thanks.

Seek Area Employers to Train Unemployed Eligible Veterans

Employers can receive up to $10,000 if you train and hire an eligible Vietnam era or Korean conflict veteran through the provisions of the Emergency Veterans' Job Training Act of 1983 (Public Law 98-77).

You must certify that you plan to hire the veteran upon the completion of the training. Adequate facilities for training must be available, wages and benefits must be no less than those normally paid, and training cannot be for a position for which the veteran already qualifies.

The employer's reimbursement would be 50 percent of the starting wage up to a maximum of $10,000 per veteran. Payments will be made at the end of each three month period of training or can be monthly in the case of employers with less than 75 employees.

The training program should be for an occupation requiring significant training. It should last for at least six to 9 months for eligible veterans and up to fifteen months, for special disabled veterans (30% or more).

The employer should contact the nearest local Wisconsin Job Service Office or VA Regional Office for details, applications and assistance.

Apply to the Veterans Administration for approval of training programs under this Act.

Veterans who want to begin a program of training must first get a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans Administration. This certificate will be good for a period of sixty days and may be renewed. Applications may be gotten from any VA Regional Office or a local office of the Wisconsin Job Service. To speed up processing, veterans should turn in a copy of their DD 214 with the application. To find out more information, veterans may contact LVER or DVOP at the local Job Service Office or call, toll-free, the VA Regional Office listed in their local telephone directory.

If a veteran who is eligible for this program needs assistance in finding a suitable employment goal or type of training, counseling is available from either the Job Service or the Veterans Administration. Any veteran who would like this counseling may request it at the time he or she applies for the program.

Interested veterans, and employers, should contact Karen Morgan (338-4713) or James Kienast (338-4717) at the Job Service in West Bend for more information.

Electric Co. Offers Customers Behind in Payments 'Fresh Start'

Customers of Wisconsin Electric Power Co. and its subsidiary, Wisconsin Natural Gas Co., who are behind in their payments to the companies are being offered a "Fresh Start."

"We've written to all customers with large past-due amounts, asking them to contact us and work out a payment arrangement they can live with," Richard Anderson, manager, WE Customer Accounts, said. He noted that the Public Service Commission's emergency order limiting winter disconnections is expected to end within the next few weeks, and many of the customers contacted will face disconnection of their electric service unless they take action.

"Our 'Fresh Start' program will offer them a chance to sign up on a budget billing plan and a deferred payment agreement that will spread out their payment of past-due amounts without the burden of one large payment," he said.

Anderson said customers behind in their payments could call or come in to any Wisconsin Electric or Wisconsin Natural business office to "Work out a payment plan that they can handle. We'll explain fuel and financial assistance programs, our Good Neighbor Energy Fund, and other services available to help pay their bills and give them a 'Fresh Start.'"

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Spring is truly here to stay. The girl scouts are taking advantage of the spring weather.

On a recent outing, Brownie Troop 25 took a trip to the River Edge Nature Center at Newburg. Upon arrival they were given a complete explanation of the growth of maple trees. They then were able to tour the process of making maple syrup. At the end of the tour each girl was able to taste the difference between raw and cooked syrup. A good time was had by all.

On April 14 and 15 several girl scout troops from Kewaskum area will be attending the Rainbows Around the World Fair at the Forest Mall in Fond du Lac. This is open to the public. FREE!

The Juniors for Troop 53 are busy making the final touches on their own creation of their Easter bonnet. Each scout had to design and make her own hat. They will be bringing them on their April 17 meeting and will wear them in the Easter Parade.

With spring here, there is also another chance for the scouts to order T-shirts. The order forms will be coming home with the scouts next week.

There is still time for any scouts that want to attend the scout day for all girl scouts at Holy Hills on May 5. Just send your name and 50c to Mrs. Stommel.

Announces Candidacy For Assembly

Lucille Braunschweig

Lucille Braunschweig, a Dodge County Board Supervisor from the Town of Ashippun, announced today that she is a candidate for the State Assembly for the seat currently held by Esther Luckhardt, who is not seeking re-election.

Mrs. Braunschweig chose to make her announcement during Agriculture Week because she says, "I have a strong commitment to agriculture, agribusiness, and the welfare of small town Wisconsin."

In 1976 Mrs. Braunschweig was elected to the Dodge County Board of Supervisors and has won re-election since that time. She serves as chairwoman of the Dodge County Commission on Aging, as secretary to the Agriculture and Extension Education and Land Conservation committees and is a member of the Legislative committee. As a county board supervisor she serves as chairman of District 1 (nine counties in southeastern Wisconsin) of the Wisconsin Associated County Extension Committees (WACES). She serves on the state board of WACES and has represented the position on several state-wide committees within Cooperative Extension.

Senator Bob Kasten appointed Mrs. Braunschweig to serve on his Agriculture Advisory Committee and his Military Academy Selections Committee.

As an active Republican, she is now serving as vice-chairman of the 9th District Republican Party and is the immediate past president of the Dodge County Republican Women.

Mrs. Braunschweig is a charter member and past officer of the Rock River Chapter of Wisconsin Women for Agriculture (WWA) and has served on the State Board of WWA. She is currently serving on the Dodge County Farm Bureau Legislative Committee and is an active member of the Oconomowoc Chapter of Future Farmers of America Alumni.

She has been involved in various community organizations, having served as past county president of the Dodge County Extension Homemakers and currently is the general leader of the Toland Troopers 4-H Club. She recently completed a three year term on her church council and an office in the church women's group.

Luey and Bill Braunschweig, her husband, are lifelong residents of Dodge County. They won and operate a family dairy farm in the Town of Ashippun together with their three children. Son, Steve, 19, is a student at the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture Industry and Short Course. Sue, 18, is a senior at Oconomowoc Senior High and Sara, 15, is in the 9th grade at the Oconomowoc Junior High.

Mrs. Braunschweig, a graduate of Horicon High School and the Dodge County Teacher's College, taught schools in the Town of Brookfield and Neosho and substituted at various other schools.

Mrs. Braunschweig plans to continue fighting for further inheritance tax reform. Since 1976 she testified before legislative hearings in both the Assembly and Senate on inheritance tax reform. She says, "we won some successes in reforming the inheritance tax structure, but more changes are needed." Her testimony was published in the March 1976 issue of FARM WIFE NEWS.

"We need to improve the business climate in Wisconsin," Mrs. Braunschweig emphasized. "We cannot continue" she says, "to have business relocating to other states."

She said, "I intend to work for property tax reform. Property tax payers across the state were jolted when they read their 1983 tax statements which were up enormously because the state property tax credit had been taken away by the legislature," she said.

Mrs. Braunschweig with her local government experience and record of commitment and hard work for the welfare of people she is well qualified to serve the citizens of this assembly district.

Second ACP Sign-up Announced

A second sign-up is being held from April 9 thru April 17 for requesting cost-sharing under ACP according to Hilbert Scheunemann, chairperson of the Washington County ASC Committee.

The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) offers cost-sharing as an incentive for farmers to install conservation practices. Cost-share rates are from 40% to 75%. Practices include Striperopping, Diversions, Minimum Tillage, Sod Waterways, Animal Waste Controls, etc.

Farmers must be approved for cost-sharing before starting to work. The County Committee only approves practices after a sign-up period. Following the close of this sign-up, the committee will review all pending requests on file. According to Scheunemann, only practices with high priority erosion and pollution problems will be approved.

CONTROL APPETITE

To control your weight, eat a slice or two of whole grain and high fiber bread with a glass of water before you start a meal, to give yourself a feeling of bulk and fullness so that you will eat less. The natural cellulose-roughage content of high-fiber bread will absorb water to increase the feeling of fullness in your stomach and ease the hunger urge. Also eat very slowly and you'll find yourself satisfied with less - the pounds will start melting away.

AMPI Delegates Attend Annual Meeting

More than 2000 elected officials, delegates and management staff were on hand to hear U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block address the Annual Meeting of Associated Milk Producers, Inc. in Minneapolis, MN, March 25-28. Other keynote speakers included Senator Rudy Boschwitz (R-Minn) and Representative Kika de la Garza (D-Texas), Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

The theme for this year's meeting was "Pride in the Country." Elected officials and management staff justified that "pride," reporting that AMPI had a total member milk delivery of more than 16 billion pounds in 1983. In addition, cooperative members produced 11.5 percent of the U.S. fluid milk and 10.2 percent of the cheese consumed. They also marketed 9.5 percent of the butter and 17.7 percent of the nonfat dry milk produced in the U.S. 1983.

Corporate Board and Management reports, annual business meetings of each region, and action on policy resolutions highlighted the meetings' activities.

Delegates also had the opportunity to attend a panel discussion with farmer leaders from five other cooperatives presenting their views on the dairy economy and future dairy legislation.

A promotion forum included

Dr. David McCarron, Chairman of the Nephrology and Hypertension Department at Oregon Health Science University talking about the nutritional benefits of dairy consumption and the need to aggressively promote them. Edward Coughlin, Director of the USDA's Dairy Division and Ben Bishop, senior Vice President of the D'Arcy MacManus & Masius advertising agency also took part in the session.

"Our meeting provides an excellent forum to identify grassroots dairy farmer positions on a wide range of timely issues," states AMPI President Irvin Elkin, "so we can gear up to meet the challenges of the 1980's and beyond."

... about your Social Security

By David Becker, Social Security Branch Manager in West Bend

THE SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER

The Social Security number is being used increasingly as a means of identification, both by governmental and nongovernmental agencies. Public agencies that request a Social Security number must inform the person whether providing the number is mandatory or voluntary, the purpose for which the number is being requested, and the authority under which the request is being made.

The use of Social Security numbers by nongovernmental organizations such as banks, has made it an almost universal identifier. Such use by private organizations is neither required nor prohibited by Federal law; no one can be forced to provide his or her number to a private organization.

On the other hand, a nongovernmental agency does not have to provide the requested service if the person refuses to give his or her number. It is well to bear in mind that the fact that a private agency has a person's Social Security number does not give that agency the right to get information from the person's Social Security record.

Because of the importance of the Social Security number as an identifier, penalties apply to its fraudulent use. It is against the law to alter a Social Security card in any way, to buy or sell one, or to use another person's number. It is also a violation of the law to obtain a Social Security number by providing false information, or to use such a Social Security number. Penalties include a fine and/or a jail sentence.

Additional information about the use of Social Security numbers can be obtained from any Social Security office.

Tornado Tips

STATEWIDE TORNADO SAFETY CAMPAIGN HELD

[First in a Series]

Each year tornadoes kill hundreds of people and cause millions of dollars in damage. Tornadoes can topple buildings, roll mobile homes, uproot trees, hurl people and animals through the air for hundreds of yards and fill the air with lethal, wind-borne debris.

No one can stop a tornado, but there are precautions you can take to protect your life and your property. That's why the Wisconsin Division of Emergency Government and the National Weather Service have joined forces to make sure this tornado season is not remembered as one of the worst to hit our state.

Governor Anthony S. Earl proclaimed March 25th through the 31st "Tornado Awareness Week." A number of activities were planned to inform all citizens of the dangers involved — and safety precautions necessary — in the event of a tornado. (Wisconsin has averaged 18 reported tornadoes over the past 30 years). During that week, a tornado drill was conducted statewide. Schools, local governments, businesses and hospitals were encouraged to take part.

Time after time, the biggest tragedies occur in areas where tornadoes have never been reported and have no precedent in most people's memories. To find out more about tornado safety, contact your local emergency government director and watch for the second part of this series entitled "Tornado Tips to Save Lives."

Joey Steier, a fifth grader from Farmington Elementary, 1983 District Co-Champion, finished first in Division III with a 202 total.

Spectators witnessed a variety of styles. Ingrid Anker-son, a fifth grader at Wayne Elementary, jumps "double-unders" for the 10-second period. The rope is turned twice, while one jump is made and two points are counted.

Competition is started in individual classrooms. Classroom representatives compete in respective divisions at the school level. These winners go on to district competition.

Washington County Historical Society Museum Happenings

A special meeting was held recently in regards to updating the By-Laws and Articles of Incorporation. This meeting was held at Marion Haebig's home and those in attendance were Arthur Degnitz, Alda Warnkey, Zella Loomer, Lucille Karius, Judy Giessen, Evelyn Zarling, Mildred Wagner and Mrs. Haebig. Also discussed were things that will be coming up in the following months.

Our March meeting was held on the 20th, a Tuesday evening, at the Great American Savings & Loan Building on 2165 West Washington Street in West Bend, in the basement. This building is next to Johnson Bus Company. The purpose of this meeting was to update all By-Laws and Articles of Incorporation.

We still need more volunteers for giving tours. Starting April 3rd, we will be open on this Tuesday from 2-4 and April 5th, a Thursday, from 1-4. This will be the way we will be from then on and also the 2nd Sunday of every month. So we could use more guides as more and more people are coming in and you must have a guide to take you through the building. We will be having a volunteering meeting some time in the near future to show all how to give tours. This is very important in guiding. If you wish to become a volunteer, please come in the Museum on the days that it is open or call 334-7568. If anyone would like a group tour please call 338-8287 or 334-7568 anytime and we can set something up with you.

Some things that are coming up in the months ahead: we are planning on having a contest to name our man prisoner. This will be announced at a later date. Also more work on the cells is also in the process of being completed.

CLARENCE A. SCHWARTZ, SHERIFF

New Videotape at Sheriff's Department

A sexual assault is reported to law enforcement authorities every six minutes in the United States. Sheriff Clarence Schwartz believes that educating the public to the realities of sexual assault is one way of attacking this serious crime problem. Recently, the Kiwanis Club of West Bend purchased a videotape entitled "Preventing The Reality of Rape."

The Kiwanis Club has donated this tape to the Sheriff's Department for use in public education programs. The tape contains vital facts about sexual assault and a way to avoid being a victim. It identifies the typical rapist and the typical victim. It shows when and where many rapes occur, and what victims can do if assaulted. The program even includes information on going to court.

This 53 minute video program is available by contacting the Washington County Sheriff's Department at 338-4432 (Monday thru Friday).

First place winners received $100 Savings Bonds and second place winners were awarded $50 bonds. The essay theme was "Agriculture — Leading Our Nation's Recovery."

Jim Weber, Hartford FFA, has been named the overall winner of the Ag Day Essay Contest sponsored annually by Gehl Company, West Bend.

Weber's essay was also selected as first place winner from the Hartford group. Other winners were: John Gehring, 2nd place, Hartford FFA; Ross Nehm, 1st, Paul Wolf, 2nd, Slinger FFA; Jon Etta, 1st, Doug Enright, 2nd, Kewaskum FFA.

The theme for the contest was "American Agriculture — Leading Our Nation's Recovery." There were 35 entries submitted.

Second-place winners were awarded $50 U.S. Savings Bonds, while first-place winners received $100 bonds. Weber was also presented a trophy by Joseph Zadra, chairman and president of Gehl Company.

Gehl Company has sponsored the program for the past five years. The announcement of the winners and presentation of the awards coincides with National Agriculture Week, March 18-24.

Webers winning essay reads:

'American Agriculture — Leading Our Nation's Recovery'

As our nation recovers from its recent recession, we credit our political leaders for their perseverance and determination to help get America back on her feet again. The unemployment and inflation rates continue to be heading in the right direction, yet many still ignore the great amount of job opportunities available in the agricultural field. American industry realizes that efficiency is the ideal for success; American farmers consider efficiency as a way of survival.

One of the biggest problems in our nation in the past few years was the tremendous amount of unemployment. American agriculture consists of more than forty percent of this country's work force. Again forty percent of all large trucks on American highways are transporting agricultural products. Because most agricultural products are perishable there will be a very reliable and steady need for workers in the processing and distribution field. Constantly the consumer demands for higher quality products; therefore jobs in agriculture research and testing are created. At the present rate of progress in agriculture research we still need more than 15% more qualified personnel.

American agriculture has survived and strengthened through this time of despair. How? Efficiency! As the amount of farmers decreases to less than 3% of the national population, the number of individuals fed per farmer climbs to eighty-four. This phenomenal mark still results in large surpluses. These increased goals in production are reached by farmers who are no longer illiterate laborers but highly educated businessmen. Careful analysis of records and ability to make important decisions make American agriculturalists the most productive in the world.

Consumer demand plays such an important role on our nation's economy that as agriculturalists we must remain flexible. Increasing demand for new products enables the processors to be more versatile. Better quality and longevity of present products insure consumers of a continuing source of reliable agricultural items. We must accept the challenge of advertisement on a much greater scale. We must make the buying public aware of the affordable, high quality products we have to offer. By continuing our efficient success, American agriculturalists can definitely claim that we are leading our nation's recovery.

Fertilizer Co. Fined For Mislabeled

Estech, Inc., of East St. Louis, Illinois, recently agreed to a civil forfeiture of $1,000 in Washington County on nine counts of selling mislabeled fertilizer. Washington County District Attorney David Resheske handled the case.

Nick Neher, chief of feed and fertilizer control with the Wisconsin Dept. of Agriculture, Trade & Consumer Protection, reports that department inspectors took 18 official fertilizer samples of products manufactured at Estech's plant in Jackson, from July, 1980 to May, 1981. Nine of the samples were found to be mislabeled for one or more of the three major fertilizer elements—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

In addition to the civil forfeiture, Estech, Inc. agreed to a department special order which identified the steps necessary for the firm to assure that future fertilizer products comply with state laws and rules.

Neher stated that the department is currently in the process of compliance sampling for 1984 to assure that all companies manufacturing or distributing fertilizer in the state meet the requirement of state law.

Shaw Sets Indoor Record in Indians' Win Over Plymouth

By John Harju

Monty Shaw's new Kewaskum indoor record for the 800 helped the Kewaskum boys defeat Plymouth, 69½-48½, in a make-up meet held on April 2nd in Kewaskum. The Indian girls ended up losing, 53½-46½.

Shaw, literally ran away from the rest of his competition, finishing first in a record time of 2:09.0. He later commented, "I'm still disappointed in my time. I thought I could've done better."

Mike Steinhardt and Dan Menzel each won one event and placed second in two others. Steinhardt's first place finish in the 200 meter dash (25.9) and Menzel's win in the 400 (60.7) along with many other strong performances by Indian athletes enabled coach Dave Drexler's boys to easily win the meet.

Gunner Schlieter proved to be the "iron man" of the long distance runs. Schlieter won the metric mile and placed third in the two-mile behind teammate Bill Gruss, who was second. Jim Braun and Steve Seitz also did well and placed 1-2 in the shot.

Although the Indian girls only placed first in 4 out of 12 events.

Although the Indian girls only placed first in 4 out of 12 events, Coach Denise Leong did note some fine individual performances. Renee Kapp (first in the 45 meter hurdles), Sandy Secor (first in the 200), Lori Batzler (placed in 3 events) and Holly Kempf (first in the shot put) were some of these fine performances.

Darlene Luedtke did well in the long jump, placing 2nd in her best jump of the year. Lisa Fusek also did well, placing 1st in the high jump and 2nd in the 200 m.
