Court Dismisses Beechwood School Closing Complaint

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Over 35 people were in court Monday afternoon when Washington County Circuit Court Judge Richard T. Becker handed down his decision to dismiss a complaint by eight Beechwood area residents to stop the Kewaskum School Board from closing the Beechwood Elementary School.

The complaint alleged the board had acted without authority in closing the school. Attorney Arik Guenther, on behalf of the plaintiffs, Ralph Trapp, Donita Trapp, Steven Siebenaler, Alice Krahn, Irene Gnacinski, Glenn Luedtke, Dorothea Liebelt and Clara Trapp, contended that the board did not have the legal authority to close a school and, any such decision had to be approved by the electors at a special or annual meeting.

Referring to an affidavit and article submitted by board member Neal Weare, Guenther noted the West Bend News article mentioned sale of the building to a Lutheran school. In rebutting Guenther's comments that the board had closed the school with the intent to dispose of it, Jeffrey Schmeckpepper, attorney for the school board, asked the judge to note that the representative of the Lutheran school had contacted the board, not vice versa. No move had been taken by the board to try and sell the building. In fact, the board was going to turn the matter over to a committee which would study the situation and make recommendations. Schmeckpepper told the court, the board's only purpose for closing the school was consolidation of students due to declining enrollments.

In citing a similar case, Schmeckpepper told the court, the decision to close Beechwood was within the powers of the board and not subject to review by anyone even the court. "All action taken by the board was within their authority," he stated. Schmeckpepper noted that any decision like this is going to leave some people dissatisfied.

After a recess, Judge Becker handed down his decision to rule in favor of the defendants and dismiss the case. In stating his reasons for the decision Judge Becker told the court-

Water Tower Work Progressing

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo gave an update on the village's new water tower during Monday's Village Board meeting.

Bilgo said the tower had been pumped almost full last Friday and now contains approximately 240,000 gallons of water. The next step will be chlorination testing on Tuesday. If construction proceeds on schedule, all work on the tower and its pumphouse should be completed by early November. Installation of the watermain to the tower has also been completed.

Board President Gerald Stollenwerk opened bids for a new lawn mower for the Public Works Department. St. Lawrence Implement submitted a bid of $6,545.85 for a Ford Diesel Tractor with 60" mower. H. Laubenstein and Son submitted a bid of $5,725.00 for John Deere Diesel tractor with 60" mower. The bids were turned over to the Public Works Committee who will make a recommendation at the August 20th meeting.

The board will also open bids August 20th for the purchase of a new fire department rescue squad vehicle.

The board approved Resolution 84-7, permitting transfer of funds to cover purchase of the new emergency siren. Money will come from the Police Outlay Account $1,591, Communications Systems Accounts $1,100 and Snow and Ice Control Account $5,300, to cover the price of $7,991.

The board also approved the transfer of funds to pay for the new garbage truck chassis. Funds had been budgeted for the purchase in 1982, 1983 and 1984.

In other action, the board approved a resolution to extend polling hours for the 1984 presidential election only. The official hours of the village polls on November 6, 1984, will be from 7:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Committee to Recommend Two-Year Bus Contract

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Chuck Johnson, owner of Johnson Bus, and the Kewaskum School District's Finance-Transportation-Buildings and Grounds Committee negotiated a two-year bus contract which will be presented to the full board for its approval on August 13th, at the Wednesday, Aug. 1, meeting.

The final proposal includes a 4% increase for the 1984-85 school year, and 5% increase for 1985-86. Johnson's original request sought a 5% increase for 1984-85 on a one-year contract. After some discussion, Johnson told the committee he would go along with a 4½% hike. The committee then asked if Johnson would accept a 4% increase and he indicated that he would not.

Johnson asked the committee if they would be interested in a two-year contract. Chairman Kim Peterson asked Johnson what his offer was. He said he would be willing to go with the 4% and 5% increase. Peterson asked if he would consider a two-year contract 4½% for each year. Johnson said no, that if the district wanted to offer 4½%, he would only accept that on a one-year contract. Johnson told the committee, "Kewaskum's busing cost of $188 per student is one of the lowest compared to a statewide average of $288 per student."

Peterson asked District Administrator John Long what he thought of the proposal. Long said he didn't think Johnson had ever pressured the district with anything. He also felt a two-year contract could be beneficial to both parties in that they would know where they stood for the next two years. Peterson agreed noting the district would then know what had to be budgeted for transportation in 1985-86.

The committee then moved on to discuss arrangements involving busing of students on the assumption that Beechwood elementary remains closed. Long informed the committee there were three possible alternative busing recommendations. The first was to send all the Beechwood students to Farmington, the second, to send them to Kewaskum and a third, splitting the Beechwood families sending some to Farmington and some to Kewaskum.

Long told the meeting he did

Dundee Mountain Is Being Restored

Dundee Mountain, a famous glacial feature of the northern Kettle Moraine State Forest, is being restored this summer from the ravages of man and nature.

The inverted cone-shaped hill, a "kame" in glacial terminology, bears a deep scar for almost the length of its 200-foot height. The kame owes its early disfigurement to motorcycles that cut ruts across its surface before the area became part of the state-administered northern Unit of Kettle Moraine State Forest. Over the years, eroding rains deepened the ruts into a gully that is more than 10 feet deep in some places and even wider than it is deep.

From the nearby campground of Long Lake, the damaged kame was visible, more an eyesore on the landscape than a historic vestige of the glacial era.

Walter J. Adams, forest superintendent of the northern Kettle Moraine, recalled wryly that some early policies of the Department of Natural Resources, which administers the forest, were more recreation-oriented than protective. School children were bussed there in numbers and were encouraged to explore the unique feature. A wayside flourished near the mountain for a while. Parents would stop there to picnic; their children were irresistibly drawn to the hill. Realizing what the pounding of thousands of feet was doing to the glacial monument, DNR closed the wayside, closed off the damaged side of the mountain, and stopped the school bus trips.

"The Northern Unit (Kettle Moraine) contains outstanding examples of various glacial features," Adams pointed out. "Dundee Mountain and another glacial feature, Dundee Kame, southeast of the mountain, are world famous." Both have been cited in textbooks and mentioned in at least one encyclopedia.

Kames were formed in the glacial era when surface meltwater fell through holes in the ice and deposited sands and gravels in the form of conical hills.

This summer a crew from the Wisconsin Conservation Corps, assisted by forest personnel and the Youth Conservation Corps, is busy binding the wounds of the mountain.

Using cedar logs from the forest, they are building horizontal check structures to prevent water from washing through the gully and dislodging more soil. Cedar branches and hay are used to backfill the logs. The area will be seeded, and vegetation is expected eventually to cover the denuded area.

"Steps will be constructed up the kame so that people again have the exhilarating experience of climbing the kame and of standing on top and viewing the outstanding glacial features that can be seen from there," said Adams. Dundee Mountain is next to the highest point in the forest.

The work was begun several weeks ago and probably will be completed this fall, he noted. The project is not the first rehabilitation of a glacial feature in the northern Kettle Moraine, but so far it is the largest.

Offer Wallace Lake Sanitary District $205,458 DNR Grant

The Wallace Lake Sanitary District, Washington County, has been offered a $205,458 grant from the Department of Natural Resources.

The grant is for the construction of a forcemain and lift station ultimately to be connected with the City of West Bend Sewer System. The estimated cost of the project is $342,430.

The grant was made under the Wisconsin Fund, established in 1977 to provide money for the construction of water pollution abatement projects. Additional information on the Wallace Lake Sanitary District project is available from Ms. Lois Werner, Chairperson, at (414) 338-1123, extension 171.

LEARNING DISORDER

Dr. Ray Wunderlich of St. Petersburg, FL. specializes in preventive medicine. When he sees a child with a learning disability, he says, "Let's not just look at the LD that is a learning disorder - let's look at the LD that is a living disorder. room, "it is important to indicate what is not to be decided today." He noted the court was not there to judge on the merits of whether or not the Beechwood School should be closed. "The issue before the court is whether the board has the authority to close a school." Judge Becker stated in his opinion, the Wahldeck ruling of 1978 did apply to the case. "I don't think that because the board did not decide what to do with the building is a controlling factor," said Becker. "I cannot find that not having a purpose on June 11th was the same as closing and disposing of the building."

Judge Becker indicated that while an appeal of the decision could be made, it would not be particularly helpful to either of the parties involved.

Had the Board made such a motion, the plaintiffs would have been liable for the board's legal costs. However, no such motion was sought by the board.

Guenther was asked if there would be any further action. He said he did not know, but his clients would have 45 days to file a written notice of appeal.

Clara Trapp was asked if her group planned to appeal. "That's up to my lawyer," said Trapp.

A reliable source did indicate after the proceedings, that should the case be appealed and the decision upheld, the school board would probably seek relief for any costs incurred in those proceedings.

matic experience going to another school. In two years' time you're going to send them to another school and that isn't good from my point of view. Wherever you send them, send them so they don't have to be moved again. Long agreed with Beimborn.

After a lengthy discussion, committee member John Spoerl told the meeting he thought they were just "spinning their wheels" until there was a decision made in the pending court suit.

Warren Schmidt, Town of Auburn, asked if the School Board had a meeting since the Annual Meeting. Peterson told him "no." Schmidt then asked, "how can we assume that Monday, after court, assuming it gets decided one way or another, how can we assume that this is the way it's going to remain, that the School Board is not going to bow to the pressure of the people and the fact that they put back $40,000 in the budget?" Peterson told Schmidt he didn't think any assumptions were being made. "It's a contingency plan that, if it does happen, we don't have to start from 'ground zero' at that time, because we're getting short of time, and therefore, we have a spring board. At least we have somewhere to start from without starting all over again." Schmidt then said the only reason he had brought this up is, it was mentioned two or three times it will be decided on Monday (at the court hearing). He went on to say, if the board hasn't had a meeting to at least reconsider the pressure applied by the public at the Annual Meeting, or had a meeting saying no, this is the way its going to be, leave status quo the way it is now, then I don't see what gets decided now.

The committee then asked Long to clarify a discrepancy regarding the number of teachers involved and their assignments. Long said he would not give an immediate answer but he felt all the teachers had been accounted for. He indicated he would get back to the committee with an answer.

Buildings and Grounds Superintendent Fred Boehlke presented four items for committee discussion and consideration. The first item was installation of a cement floor in the new pole building. The question arose as to whether a cement floor would be better than gravel as far as moisture build-up and damage to items stored in the building.

The committee was asked to look into using hot-roll mix blacktop instead of cement. They agreed and directed Boehlke to get bids on a blacktop floor before any recommendations or decisions were made.

Boehlke and Long then told the committee there had been a request to move the football field to the high school area. Boehlke indicated this would entail the purchase of new poles, lights, electrical hookups, new bleachers and some field renovation.

Peterson asked why the request had been made. Long noted in the past there had been some conflict between elementary and football use of the area. This had hopefully been eliminated. The main concern for the request, however, was the dangerous condition of the poles and lights. Boehlke said, in the past, Steiner Electric had changed bulbs in the lights for the district. However, Steiner told the district it would no longer go up the poles because of their rotten condition. Presently, a company with a "cherry-picker" (elevated basket) now comes in to change the bulbs.

Boehlke told the committee, if you go to new poles, you might as well go to new lights which are more efficient. He indicated the cost of new lights could run $70,000 to $80,000. Long told the meeting the project should be part of a district capital improvements plan.

The third item presented for discussion was construction of walls in the open concept area at Farmington. Long told the committee he felt the walls should be built even if the Beechwood students were not to go to Farmington. He said they would eliminate distractions between classes and provide a better learning and study environment. Spoerl agreed with Long, stating, "I would like to get away from the open concept idea too." The cost for 218 feet of partitions to create six classrooms would be approximately $8,400.

Boehlke's last recommendation was the purchase of a new lawnmower. He told the committee the present mower was not a commercial type unit which could take the eight-hour-a-day operation it was put to by the district. Long said the district had spent over $3,500 in repairs on the mower over the last two years to have the air-cooled John Deere fixed. Boehlke suggested the district consider purchase of a Toro water-cooled commercial type unit which was designed for continuous heavy use.

The committee then had a short discussion on a five-year capital improvement projects program which Boehlke had outlined for the district. He indicated he would like to see the district put the program into effect starting with the 1985-86 school year. Boehlke was asked if his budget needs had been adequately met. He indicated for the items which had been scheduled for 1984-85, there should be, but he noted there is over $900,000 in backwork to be done over the next five years.

Peterson told the committee he was in favor of setting up capital projects budgeting. "Then you don't have to borrow $400,000 to do them," he said. Warren Schmidt agreed with Peterson stating, "in the past when we attempted to do so, it got purloined away."

In closing the meeting, Peterson said, we welcome any recommendations, items for discussion and suggestions on how we should proceed with capital improvements.

Water Tower

Schmidt indicated the extensive costs involved in repairing well #1 in 1983 still has the Water Department running in the red. He recommended the board ask Dr. Raymond Kipp to review the Water Department's budget and study the possibility of asking the Public Service Commission for a rate adjustment. Schmidt said the department would also be facing increased operating costs because of the new tower, pump and lines. The last increase was in July, 1982.

In discussing the Water Pollution Control Department, Schmidt felt the village could go one more year without asking the PSC for a rate increase.

The board gave Schmidt authorization to advertise for bids on the Fond du Lac Avenue to Roseland Drive waterloop and a water telemetry system. The waterloop is one of the village TIF projects. The present telemetry system which is used to govern water flow and pressure among the village wells will not be large enough to handle operations when the new well is put into operation.

Schmidt informed the board that the village had begun its new work relief program. Five of the eight people involved had responded and of the five, one had not shown up to work. Schmidt said he would keep the trustees up to date on the progress of the program.

not know how the third alternative would affect Kewaskum Elementary's numbers since it had just been considered as another choice and had not been studied by himself or elementary principals Tom Larsen and Richard Zarling. In the third alternative, rather than split students by classes, they would be split by families, sending some to Kewaskum and some to Farmington. In that way, all the children from a family would be attending the same school. Long said each family would have to be studied to see how many students it had and how the numbers would change Kewaskum Elementary's enrollment.

Ronald Beimborn, a parent and unsuccessful school board candidate, told the committee, if you're considering putting the kids in Kewaskum and Farmington, you've got to realize they're going to have a trou-

Air Force Announces Service Openings

The Air Force is looking for over 2,000 former Air Force personnel for fiscal year 1985, which runs 1 October 83 to 30 September 1985, according to Technical Sergeant Tom Kennedy, Air Force Prior Service Program Manager, Milwaukee.

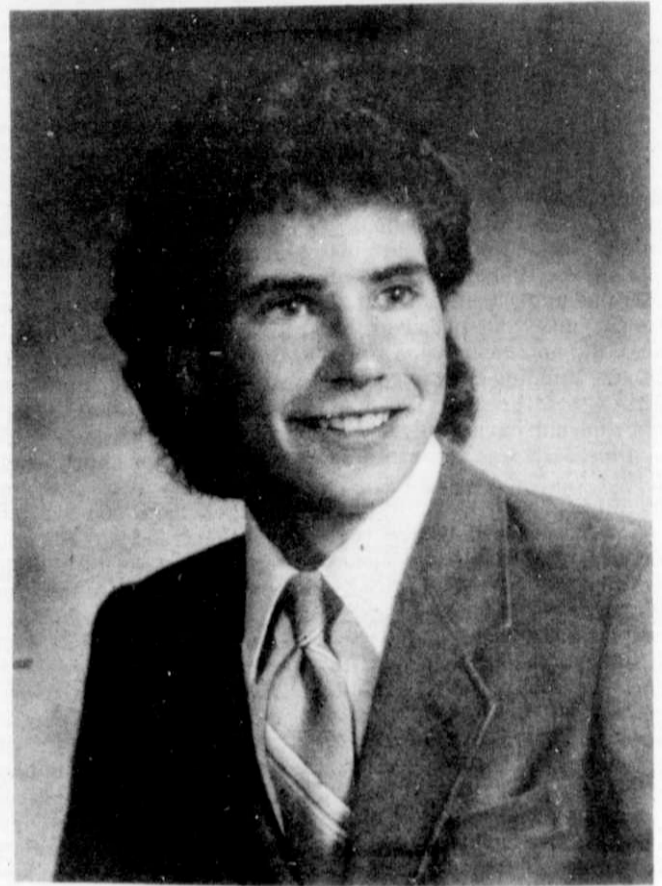

Prior service men and women who were trained as Cryptologic Linguists, Weather Specialists, Air Traffic Controllers, Aircraft Support Systems Specialists, Aircraft Mechanics, Munitions Specialists, and Computer Programmers are among the personnel the Air Force is seeking. According to Sergeant Kennedy, the Air Force can save hundreds of thousands of dollars by attracting recently discharged veterans in lieu of the high cost of training new people.

Prior Service men and women who were discharged from the Air Force may be eligible to re-enlist without loss of rank, if their former skill is on the Air Force's needed list.

"Ex-service personnel from other branches of the military may qualify for Air Force enlistment too, if they've attended certain Air Force electronic or technical training schools," said Sergeant Kennedy.

If you are interested in this or any other Air Force Program please contact TSgt Tom Kennedy, in Wisconsin call toll free, at 1-800-242-USAF, in Michigan call toll free, at 1-800-225-USAF.

Kewaskum Bank in Southern Region

Valley Bancorporation Restructures Organization

It was announced today by Gus A. Zuehlke, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Valley Bancorporation, that the company has instituted a restructuring plan dealing with internal reporting responsibilities involving Valley's unit banks and financial service companies. Zuehlke stated that "the restructuring plan calls for three Regional Vice Presidents and a Financial Services Vice President." Under this approach, current Valley banks will be geographically clustered into three regions reporting to a Regional Vice President. All financial service companies except for Valley's insurance unit will report to a Financial Services Vice President. Zuehlke further commented that "as we look today at Valley and forward to the remaining years in the 80's, we are projecting growth in size and profitability. This growth will come from current affiliates and acquisitions. As Valley increases its number of operating units, management restructuring is necessary to effectively coordinate the parts for the benefit of the whole." Zuehlke added that the plan had been unanimously approved by Valley's Board of Directors.

Under the plan, the three regions created are the Central, Northern and Southern region. The central region will be headed by Richard H. Jones, President, Valley Bank, Appleton. This region would include three Appleton banks and banks located in Oshkosh, Seymour, Ripon, Weyauwega, Black Creek and Sherwood. The northern region would be headed by Peter M. Platten, III, President, Valley Bancorporation. This region would include two Green Bay banks and banks located in Shawano, Casco, Denmark and Reedsville. The southern region will be headed by Richard F. Meloy, President, Valley Bank of Hartford. This region will include banks located in Hartford, Kewaskum, Watertown, Brownsville, Juneau and Fredonia. The Financial Services group will be headed by Mark L. Miller, President, Valley Trust Company. This group will include financial service activities to include trust service, leasing, brokerage, reinsurance and mortgage banking.

Valley Bancorporation, Wisconsin's fourth largest bank holding company, serves Wisconsin through 38 banking locations along with financial service companies engaged in trust service, leasing, insurance and data processing.

Attends Midwest Banking Institute

Charles Wilgenbusch, Ag Loan Officer, Valley Bank, Kewaskum, was among the more than 200 agricultural bankers who attended the 18th session of the Midwest Banking Institute (MBI) held at the University of Minnesota, Morris, July 22-27. The Institute is sponsored by the state bankers associations of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, and Montana.

According to MBI Administrator Wayne Berthiaume, also Administrative Vice President of Minnesota Bankers Association, the Institute is a specialized course of study for management level agricultural based bankers consisting of two one week sessions in successive years. During the two years, students study agricultural policy and issues, agricultural loan quality, farm enterprise analysis, credit analysis, agricultural bank management simulation, estate planning and farm business arrangements, economic activities in the rural community, and marketing. In addition to the full schedule of classes during the week, students attend evening seminars and study groups.

571 Children Fingerprinted At County Fair

The Washington County Sheriff's Department fingerprinted 571 children during the 1984 Washington County Fair, according to Sheriff Clarence Schwartz.

The fingerprinting program was financed by a donation from Rotary Clubs in Hartford, West Bend, Slinger, and Germantown. The fingerprints were turned over to parents for safe-keeping. At the same time, children received "Stranger Danger" coloring sheets and safety coloring books to drive home the message of how to be safe when Mom and Dad are not around.

The program was coordinated by Mary Kay Pilarzyk of the Sheriff Department's Youth Aid Office. Fingerprinting the children were Deputies Wayne Oneska, Tim Ewing, Beth Staehler, Thomas Waldschmidt and Special Deputy Roy Howson.

"We are thankful for the generosity of the Rotary Clubs, and for the assistance of our officers," the Sheriff said. "Many parents were impressed with the rapport the officers had with the youngsters, which made it a valuable experience as well."

Law Officer of the Year

Stanley Christiansen, Sheriff of Pierce County, was awarded the Law Officer of the Year Award at the 63rd Annual Promenade of La Societes Des 40 et 8, at their annual convention, which was held in West Bend on August 3, 4, and 5.

He was selected from a list of candidates submitted by Voitures (counties) from throughout the state. His selection was announced by James Wages, Mazomanie, the Americanism Chairman and was their guest during this convention.

The intent of this award is to recognize the law officer, who for a number of years, has turned in an outstanding performance of his duties as a law officer, as well as his duties as a citizen.

His qualifications will now be submitted for national consideration, and the ultimate winner will be announced at the Forty and Eight annual national convention in Knoxville, Tennessee, in September.

Kewaskum Jaycee Women Oppose Proposed Amendment to By-Law 24-2

The Kewaskum Jaycee Women are one of the many chapters across this nation that are involved in the opposition by the By-law proposal of the United States Jaycees, which if passed, would create a dissolution of the United States Jaycee Women organization. The United States Jaycee Women Board of Directors voted at the July Officers Training Seminar held July 25-29 in Tulsa, Oklahoma, to oppose the passage of the dissolution of the United States Jaycee Women organization. A By-law has been proposed by the United States Jaycees and will be voted on nationally by the Jaycees at a special meeting on August 16 in Tulsa.

The United States Jaycee Women have adopted a resolution which, in part, states, "Although the recent Supreme Court decision has the potential of altering the Jaycee movement as a whole, there is not available at this time any reliable data that mandates that the proposed amendment to By-law 24-2 is the best course of action to follow for the future of the Jaycee and Jaycee Women organizations. To that end, we stand in opposition to its passage on August 16, 1984."

Doris Gosnell, United States Jaycee Women President, from North Carolina, said, "The United States Jaycee Women feel that having two separate organizations doubles opportunities for leadership training and community service. We feel we have carefully developed an organization which we believe in, and that fulfills a specific need for the segment of society that we serve."

The United States Jaycee Women are organized in all 50 states and presently engage over 59,000 young women in leadership training through Community Development, Individual Development and Chapter Management. They were organized over 10 years ago for the purpose of embracing and promoting the Jaycee ideals and providing the opportunity for women to participate in the Jaycee movement. Last year the United States Jaycee Women raised over 1.3 million dollars for various foundations. Some of those foundations include, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Cystic Fibrosis, Arthritis March of Dimes, Rocky Mountain Multiple Sclerosis Center, and Missing Children.

Programs on the Moon At Ice Age Visitor Center Near Dundee

The full moon appears in the sky every month. The farmers used to plant and harvest by it, the nocturnal animals hunt under it and man has even walked on it. But have you looked at it closely?

On August 9th, 10th, and 11th, starting at 8:30 p.m., Ralph Winrich, an education specialist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will present his programs on the moon at the Ice Age Visitor Center, Northern Unit - Kettle Moraine State Forest. The Center is located on State Trunk Highway 67, east of Campbellsport, near Dundee.

Last year, Winrich presented a series of programs on the Perseid Meteor Showers. This year, the schedule of events will include three evening programs and a special afternoon program for kids—by kids. That program will be on August 11th, starting at 2:00 p.m. The evening program will include slide programs and outdoor observation of the moon. Telescopes and Apollo moon samples will be on display.

Kitchen Depression Glass on Display

Judy Reiss, of Random Lake, has on display at the Random Lake Public Library a collection of kitchen depression glass. Collecting for 15 years, auctions, flea markets and garage sales were the sources of her collection.

Depression glass was a cheaply made glass produced in the 1930's. Many times it was given free. Some movie houses had what they called a "Dish Night" and you received a piece of glass when you bought your ticket. It also was given as a premium in boxes of tea and cereal.

Depression glass is one of the fastest growing collectibles in the United States today. It is also one of the most interesting because of the many different colors and patterns. Among the items featured are a "Lightning" ice cube breaker, butter churn, refrigerator bowl sets, egg and cream whipper and a batter bowl.

The display will be at the library through the month of August.

Dear Harbecks:

Greetings from Florida! We have lived in three different states since leaving the Kewaskum area, but still continue to enjoy reading the Statesman. After spending 20 years in New Fane, your area is still home for us!

I might also add, having seen many other schools throughout the country, Kewaskum has one of the finest school systems around; and we are thankful and happy that our son, Peter, was able to receive 10 years of his formal education in that system.

Please make the address change as indicated on the enclosed masthead.

Thank you!

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor:

I would like to present a positive note on all the controversy with our Kewaskum School Board.

My wife and I attended the committee meeting last Wednesday night in the newly resurrected administration offices.

I cannot possibly describe how pleased we were to sit through a meeting where the chairperson conducted the meeting with dignity, and decorum.

Congratulations Mr. Kim Peterson, apparently you have had some experience conducting meetings at Regal Ware. You did well to provide ample time for anyone who wished to speak and made an effort to see if anyone else had their hand up or wanted to speak before going on to the next subject.

It is only our wish that some of this commendable conduct would rub off onto the school board meetings.

Thank you.

At the village board meeting Monday evening the project sponsored by the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club to provide a swimming beach on the west side of the Milwaukee River in the park area was discussed and board members decided to allow the Kiwanians to go ahead with this project. Work will be undertaken this weekend and the beach is expected to be ready for public use almost immediately. Because of the lateness of the swimming season, bath houses will not be constructed anymore this summer. It was also decided against a pier being built. But a raft will be floated, the weeds will be removed, the muck will be blown out with fire hoses and by other means, and sand will be dumped into the river and onto the beach. The Kiwanis Club will provide supervision at the beach for the remainder of the swimming season. The river water has been tested by the State Board of Health and found to be excellent for swimming.

The Kewaskum village board at their monthly meeting Monday night voted to extend the tavern closing time until 2 a.m. in the village for the duration of the daylight saving time period which ends late in September. Discussion at the board members favored the later closing time to correspond with later hours established by neighboring cities, villages and townships.

A deal was made this week whereby Ella's Bake Shop, located in the former Gust. Konitz building on East Main Street, changed hands, when Mr. Joe Fausder, who had been employed at the Campbellsport bakery for some time, became the new owner. Mr. Fausder took possession of the business on Monday. He is now installing sanitary ovens and equipment to meet the demands of the state pure food laws, and all may be rest assured that the baked goods purchased from the new bakery will be sanitary and will meet all the requirements of the most fastidious housewife.

The last of the free open air movies ended last Saturday evening when the picture, "White Hell of Pitz Palu" was shown in the Opera House on account of rain. The open air movies, sponsored by the businessmen of the village, had been drawing record crowds for the past six Saturdays, were a decided success and the people were very much pleased with the class of pictures shown. Now that the contract for the movies has expired, the businessmen of the village do eastern counties.

Of those, 81 percent passed the initial inspection with an average hydrocarbon reading of 103 parts per million (ppm), and a carbon monoxide level of 1.1 percent. Of those failing the initial test, their hydrocarbon emissions averaged 651 ppm, while carbon monoxide levels averaged 5.4 percent.

Kussow said vehicles which have failed an initial test are being repaired and retested. Upon passing the retest, these vehicles are showing a 65-70 percent reduction in tailpipe emissions. The average readings for the passing retests show 183 ppm in hydrocarbon emissions and two percent for carbon monoxide.

The inspection/maintenance law provides that after a vehicle owner has invested $55 in repair costs, a one-year waiver can be requested if the vehicle still cannot meet standards established for the model year. Only about three percent of the vehicles have been registered on a waiver basis for the current registration year, Kussow added.

Although the DOT is pleased that program goals are being achieved, it may be some time before the effects of the inspection/maintenance program on improving air quality can be measured. This is because air quality is affected by a number of variables, including meteorologic conditions and pollutants being emitted from other sources, Kussow explained.

The vehicle inspection program includes Kenosha, Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Racine, Washington and Waukesha Counties. It is being operated by Hamilton Test Systems, Wisconsin, under contract with the DOT Division of Motor Vehicles.

Vehicle Inspection Program Is 'Meeting Goals'

Computer analysis of vehicle emission test data is proving the theory that relatively few vehicles are the source of a large portion of vehicle-related air pollution in southeastern Wisconsin.

David Kussow, vehicle inspection program manager for the state Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicle, said a typical vehicle which fails the initial test is emitting an average of five to six times more pollutants than one which passes the first inspection.

"Grossly polluting vehicles are being identified and required to be repaired, fulfilling the intention of the vehicle inspection program," Kussow said.

The data covers 212,360 vehicles which were tested during the first three months of the program, which went into effect April 2 in the six south-

Two young persons who have been successfully treated at a Shrine hospital have been selected as Queen and King of the 35th annual Midwest Shrine game to be played at Milwaukee County stadium Saturday, August 11. The Queen is Kim Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hammond, New Berlin, WI. The King is Joseph Fulayter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fulayter, Lomira, WI.

This is the first time that a Queen and a King have been selected, according to Richard A. Huegel, potentate of Tripoli Temple, the organization which sponsors the game featuring the Green Bay Packers against their old rivals, the Chicago Bears.

Both the Queen and King will be introduced to the fans at half-time ceremonies. Queen Kim was treated at the Salt Lake City, Utah, Shrine hospital when she was 15 months old. She had a congenital hip problem which was corrected by the Shrine doctors. Until she was 16 years old, in 1983, she was under continuing observation by Shrine doctors who then pronounced her cured. She is a junior at Eisenhower High in New Berlin and now plays volley ball and participates in many other high school activities.

King Joseph is 14 years old. He was born with but one bone in his left arm; had no wrist action and the palm of his left hand faced away from his body. After several doctors expressed the opinion that there was no hope for correction, his father heard a Shrine message on the radio, giving a phone number to call for more information. He did, and that started Joseph's care at the Chicago Shrine hospital.

Shrine surgery returned his arm to a normal position and now Joseph can play basketball, has an interest in participating on the Lomira football team and does everything a normal boy can do.

Both the King and Queen will receive a $2,000 scholarship which can be used to help in their post-high school education. All treatment at Shrine hospitals is without charge. The Midwest Shrine game over the years has raised more than $1,250,000 for Shrine hospitals and burn centers.

Relax When Taking Your Children On Vacation

By Joan Hanrahan
Extension Summer
Home Economist

As your baby watches you and the family rush around preparing for a vacation, he or she is probably thinking, "I don't know what's happening, but I'm getting very excited."

The more excited and upset your baby gets, the likelier you are to hear about it.

A vacation with your baby can be a very happy time. It gives parents an opportunity to see their baby in a new situation — on the beach, making sand castles and trying new activities.

But parents need to take time to prepare for a family vacation. Know when you start out that the baby will change your vacation quite a bit. It won't be the same as the vacations you and your spouse took before the baby came along.

Remember that it's perfectly normal for babies to get fussy and difficult on trips. They don't do it out of spite, but rather because they simply don't know how to deal with the situation. A fussy baby is particularly difficult to deal with when parents are also tired and irritable.

Think carefully about your vacation priorities. Is a long car trip really necessary. Can you allow enough travel time to make the time spent in the car reasonable and tolerable for your children?

Make plans to have another adult share some of the child care during your vacation so you can have some time to yourselves.

If your baby will be meeting his or her grandparents for the first time, keep in mind that for an 8 to 15 month old baby, grandma and grandpa are still strangers.

At family reunions, "please pass the baby" can become a problem. Give the baby some space. Try to find a balance between letting family members hold the baby and protecting him or her from overhandling.

To help your baby relax on vacation, you can do a few simple things. Take along some of the baby's familiar and favorite things, such as small toys or a "friendly" blanket. Keep the baby's routine as familiar as possible. Feeding and bed times should remain the same.

If you're traveling by car with older children, it's a good idea to stop at least every two hours to get out of the car and stretch. A game of catch with a frisbee or ball is a good activity for the whole family. You can also plan a picnic meal at a park or roadside rest area. Change places in the car to take turns reading to and playing with your children.

There are several games you and your children can play in the car. Look for colors of passing cars or take one letter off each billboard that you pass to spell your names.

As an emergency measure, wrap some surprise gifts for your children that you can give them if all else fails. A new toy or game can hold their attention for a long time if they've grown bored and irritable from riding in the car.

Finally, and most importantly, relax. If you're not relaxed, your children won't be. Expect upsets, and remember that no matter how carefully you plan your vacation, the unexpected is bound to happen.

State Senator

SCOTT McCALLUM Reports

Millions Wasted in State Purchases

MADISON — A $6,500 riding mower that could have been bought for $900, and a $1,289 drill press that could have been purchased for $110 are examples of hundreds of purchases by state agencies that would rival the U.S. Department of Defense in waste, state Sen. Scott McCallum said.

McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) said a review of purchases by state agencies has found that more than $2.4 million could have been saved if the purchases had been made from the state's own Surplus Property Program.

"There's been a lot of talk about how the Defense Department has spent thousands of dollars on bolts it could have bought for pennies," McCallum said. "Well, I think most of our state agencies are just as guilty by not making their purchases through our Surplus Property Office."

The Surplus Property Program is an agency within the state Department of Administration which lists property it has at its disposal from the federal government. The items — furniture to electronic equipment to heavy machinery — are given to the state's surplus property office after the federal government determines it has no use for them.

Fifty to 75 percent of the smaller items are new, according to Surplus Property Director Ray Potempa, and overall, about half of all items have never been used.

Currently the state has about $10 million worth of surplus property inventory, Potempa said.

More than 6,000 institutions in Wisconsin, including state agencies local governments and health and education institutions, are eligible to purchase the items, McCallum said. Usually they can be acquired at fractions of their values, and often the only cost to purchasers is that acquired in transporting the items.

McCallum said his office reviewed purchases by several state agencies during a 15-month period from July 1982 through September 1983 to arrive at the $2.4 million figure. The review, however, did not include made by the state's largest departments: the Department of Natural Resources; the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Resources; the Department of Transportation; or the Department of Administration, which oversees the Surplus Property Program. Only one bureau of the Department of Health and Social Services was included in the review.

"Since our review didn't even touch on purchases made by the biggest spenders in state government," McCallum said. "I think it's safe to assume that the $2.4 million estimate that could have been saved is a conservative figure. I think the estimate in total savings could be two or three times that."

McCallum said he found it particularly ironic that the DOA, the department which oversees the Surplus Property Program, may be one of the biggest offenders of not going to the agency for its purchases. The Fond du Lac Republican said he has figures to show that the DOA had one contract with Rowley, Schlimgen and Jones in 1982-83 for $80,000 worth of office equipment, much of which could have been purchased from its own agency at fractions of the cost.

McCallum said he wasn't sure why state agencies didn't make more use of the program. He said that "shoppers" listing available items are sent to all agencies on a regular basis, and that the Surplus Property Office has met with procurement councils to tell them what the office can provide.

"What it comes down to," McCallum said, "is that our state guidelines for purchasing are about as stringent as the Defense Department's—and we can see the results of that now."

McCallum said he thinks it's possible that many agencies simply may not be aware of what the surplus program can get for them, or that the properties are in good condition — half of them new. But he added, "I also think that, more often than not, the agencies just disregard the cost and go the easy way — to private business."

"It's too bad the purchasing offices don't take into account that it may be convenient for them, but it's wasting taxpayers' dollars."

"The effect of this," McCallum said, "is that taxpayers in Wisconsin are paying twice. Once when the federal government purchases the items, and once again when the state government purchases a duplicate item."

McCallum, the only Republican senator on the Joint Finance Committee, said there is about $36 million in this biennial budget earmarked for purchases by state agencies.

"After looking over our findings," he said, "I wouldn't be surprised if more than $6 million of that is wasted by not using the Surplus Property Program."

'Century Family Day' At Pioneer Village

On August 12, Pioneer Village will be hosting "Century Family Day," inviting all senior citizens to be guests of the society on that day. Special tribute will be given to those families who are registered as having lived on the same land for 100 years or more.

This is a wonderful opportunity for senior citizens to relive days of the past, and to share these days with children and grandchildren.

The annual Handwerker Schau will be held at Pioneer Village on Saturday and Sunday, August 25 and 26, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

This year's event promises to be bigger and better! The Civil War Re-enactment Group from Hartwood will be there, as will several craftsmen. Among them will be basketmakers, spinners, weavers, rope making, tin-smiths, rug hookers, tatters, needlepointers, crocheters, blacksmiths, quilters, broom-makers, leather crafters, carvers, and representatives from Lasata showing their ceramic work.

Food will be available, with bratwurst and hamburgers for eating on the grounds, and a bake sale for your convenience. Waldo Orchards will have a booth, and the Cedarburg Garden Club will again be offering dried flowers.

Demonstrations will be given on corn-husk doll making, and farm animals will be available to the children for petting.

The Village will be opening early on these two days only; admission is $2.50 per adult, $2.00 for Senior Citizens, $1.50 for students 12-18, 75c for students 5-11, and children under 5 are free. Yearly memberships are available at the Village, entitling members to unlimited visitation rights during the membership year.

Pioneer Village is located on Highway I, 10 miles north of Cedarburg, adjacent to the Hawthorne Hills Golf Course.

Congressman

JIM SENSENBRENNER Reports

WATCH THE BUREAUCRATS: THIS IS THE SEASON FOR YEAR-END SPENDING

Watch out, taxpayers! This is the season of "year-end spending" in Washington. Before the close of the fiscal year on September 30th, the bureaucrats will be looking for ways to spend their appropriations. Otherwise, the money would go back to the Treasury, and Congress might just think the agencies involved would need less money in the future.

At the end of every fiscal year, the various agencies purchase millions of dollars worth of articles and services that are unneeded. For example, three Defense contracts were agreed to in the last few days of fiscal 1983, without competition, for $300,000 worth of rugs. The examples go on and on. However, fortunately, to keep this kind of thing from occurring again, the Pentagon's Inspector General is to evaluate the need for any requested hurry-up acquisitions and report to Congress.

Other good news exists, too. The machinery is there to make any agency's purchasing official fall into line. If an official breaks the law he or she can go to jail, as some already have. Or, if they violate a regulation, they will receive an official reprimand. This can mean they'll never be promoted again.

In order to keep noses clean at the enormous agency of Health and Human Services (HHS), a complete annual planning system has been installed with conferring and reporting responsibilities all along the line. As another example, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is making a similar effort, and at the same time the EPA's Inspector General is preparing a complete report to be ready in a few weeks.

I'm certain we all agree this sort of supervision is promising, but we have to make sure these measures are actually implemented as well. Be assured, as your Representative in Washington, I'll do everything possible to see that your tax dollars aren't wasted.

Twice, the U.S. has had three different Presidents in a single year: Van Buren, W. Harrison and Tyler in 1841; Hayes, Garfield and Arthur in 1881.

10 to Be Enshrined Into Rock River League Hall of Fame

When talking about Rock River League home talent baseball in these parts, the name, Held, usually comes into the conversation.

Ray, George and Harry, who spread their talents over some of the Southern Division's finest diamonds, were around so long in the 40's, and 50's and 60's that you knew some day these three brothers would be elected to the league's Hall of Fame.

And those three Helds are just for starters.

Wally, also left a solid mark on the Rock, and Don and Larry, sons of Ray, are sure to be considered for the Hall down the base paths of the now 55-year-old league.

Today's box scores also show Harry's son, Gwyn Held in Neosho's lineup, along with Wally's son, Gerald, and other son, Kenny, starring at Slinger.

Ray, of Slinger, was in the first group voted into the Hall of Fame in 1980; George was elected by members of the League Oldtimers' Association in 1982; and, now, Harry, of Neosho, has been elevated to the league's highest honor.

He and nine others were named this week by Oldtimer President Carl Heimerl, Jackson, following a count of ballots from the association's 238 members.

Chosen from a list of 25 noteworthy nominees, the 10 will be enshrined on Sept. 22 at the Oldtimers' 5th Annual Hall of Fame Banquet set for Hustisford's Firemen's Hall.

Sharing the induction spotlight with Held are Wil Braunschweig, an outstanding performer on diamonds at Lowell, Lebanon and Johnson Creek (he lives at Johnson Creek)) Milton "Crash" Heimerl, Burnett-LeRoy-Oakfield-Brownsville (Fond du Lac); Harold "Shorty" Kuehl, Lowell (Reeseville); Hilbert "Lindy" Lindemann, Ashippun-Ixonia and umpire (Oconomowoc); Curt Schwantes, Juneau (Sturgeon Bay); Romie Sterr, LeRoy (Brownsville); Ed Strueber, Clyman (Watertown); Bob "Snapper" Rubicon-Woodland-Hustisford (Woodland); and Gib Youngbeck (Mayville).

While nine of the ten distinguished themselves on the field, Youngbeck served the Mayville and LeRoy teams for many years as top notch scorekeeper and statistician, the first such Rock River Leaguer in that capacity to be so honored.

VOTING BY ABSENTEE BALLOT

Any qualified voter, unable to get to the polling place on election day, may ask to vote by absentee ballot. A qualified voter is one who is a U.S. citizen, will be 18 years of age or older on election day, and who has resided in the ward or municipality where voting is desired to be accomplished for at least 10 days prior to the election. If the voter resides in a municipality which requires voter registration, then registration is also a requisite for the voter who is qualified in other respects.

To obtain an absentee ballot, you must request it in writing. Contact the clerk in the city, village or town in which you reside by mail or telephone, or in person, and request an application form. After properly completing and returning the application to the municipal clerk, an absentee ballot will be sent to you along with a postage pre-paid return envelope, or given to you if the application is submitted to the clerk in person. An application mailed to the clerk's office must be received by the clerk no later than 5:00 p.m. on the Friday before election day. An application made in person in the clerk's office may be done up to 5:00 p.m. on the day before the election.

With one exception, the voter who wants to cast an absentee ballot must make a separate application before each election. Voters indefinitely confined to their home or care facility because of illness, age or disability need not file an application before each election: a special statement on the application form can be completed asking that an absentee ballot be automatically mailed to them before each election. However, if the elector fails to mark and return the ballots sent to them for an election, it will be necessary to again complete an application form before receiving absentee ballots for a subsequent election.

Absentee ballots can be voted at home anytime after they arrive in the mail. They can also be voted in the clerk's office if the application is made in person. If an elector requires assistance in casting his or her vote, the assistance must be rendered by someone authorized to administer oaths, such as a clerk or notary public. If the ballots are returned by mail, the affidavit-certificate must be properly completed and signed by two persons. If returning the ballots in person, the affidavit-certificate must be properly completed and subscribed and sworn to before the clerk or the deputy clerk who are authorized to administer oaths. In either case, the marked, sealed ballot must be in the hands of the issuing municipal clerk on or before election day. Any absentee ballot received in incomplete or improper form, or received after the polls close on election day cannot be counted.

BARTELT INS. WINS CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

HIGHLIGHTS

The tension and electricity in the air for the championship games was so thick you could cut it with a knife.

The action-packed games had the standing room only crowd sitting at the edge of their seats and the players marking their laundry.

The 1st playoff game pitted Grand Larsony led by the Crass boys against Kennelly Pharmacy headed by cunning manager Herbert "Herbie" Justman. The game started off fast and furious and then settled down to a good defensive battle. In the end Kennelly persevered 9-4. Kennelly was led by Paul Savine, Bill Driscoll and Ed Ninke. Mark Hammond made a circus catch in right field in the 6th inning to quell a Grand Larsony rally.

The championship game saw a slightly weary Kennelly team against a fresh, inspired Bartelt Ins. squad of crafty veterans. The game featured everything one would expect from a championship game. That is a lot more than you can say about the pitiful show you get at Milwaukee County Stadium. In the end Bartelt Ins. outlasted Kennelly 11-7 to win the championship for the 2nd year in a row.

After the games the breathless fans were treated to a short fashion show. The highlight of the show was James "Jonsey" Korth, who modeled a pair of provocative trolling shorts.

In an attempt to give the VIP Lounge some competition the two beer barons of Kewaskum, Tom Piwoni and Ken Bonlender, have concocted a summer special called the extra sharp ginger brandy Pina Colada. It is guaranteed to warm your innards for the summer cold snap we have been experiencing.

Next week the Round Robin tournament starts at the dome. Thiemerdome fans will be kept apprised of the action. Attendance 398.
