Village Board Approves 1985 Salaries

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board Monday night approved 1985 salaries for all village employees except the police contract, which is still in negotiations.

Raises ranged from 3% to 5% over 1984. The Water Pollution Superintendent received 3%, his annual salary will be $24,252; Chief of Police is up 3.5% to $25,450, Public Works Superintendent up 4.6% to $26,692, and Village Administrator up 5% to $28,330.

The assistant librarian, head librarian, secretary, bookkeeper, general maintenance workers and Water Pollution Control assistant all received 3.5% increases over last year's schedule. The hourly wage ranges from $4.37 per hour for the assistant librarian to $9.07 an hour for general maintenance.

Part-time employees will receive a 2.9% increase for 1985.

After the board approved the new schedule, Board President Gerald Stollenwerk told the board he would like them to consider an increase for all members of the Village Board. Stollenwerk said he made the recommendation since he will be leaving office next year and any decision on his suggestion would not affect him.

It's been five years since the board received its last increase noted Stollenwerk. The last one came in 1979 when the trustee salary was raised from $600 to $800, and the president from $1,000 to $1,350.

Stollenwerk told the board, if the village wants to continue getting quality people to serve on the board, the wages should be increased. His recommendation was an increase from $800 to $1,000 for trustees, and $1,350 to $1,600 for the president. He noted increases in other village employees equaled 20% and his recommendation would bring the board's salaries in line with them. "I'm not sure what your opinions are," said Stollenwerk, "but I thought I would throw it out (his recommendation) to you."

In other action, the board approved the 1985 Water Pollution Control Department budget of $257,026, and the Water Department budget of $126,809. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said no rate increase for the Water Pollution Control Department is planned for 1985. However, the Water Department may have an increase of possibly 3%. He noted that if the increase is approved by the Public Service Commission, it would not go into effect until the second quarter of 1985.

The board also granted a conditional use permit to Dr. Gregory Ogi for a veterinary clinic at 1511 Fond du Lac

Early Morning Fire Damages Village Home

A fire in a metal chimney caused several thousand dollars damage to the Michael Dreher residence at 1510 Brooklane Drive early Monday morning.

The fire was discovered by Police Officer Tom Bauer about 12:40 a.m., as he made his routine patrol. Bauer saw smoke coming out of the home's overhang. He went to the home and alerted the Dreher's who were asleep upstairs and unaware of the fire.

Fire Chief Augie Bilgo said firemen were on the scene until 2:15 a.m. Most of the fire damage occurred in the walls, ceiling and roof area of the family room where the fireplace was located. There was some smoke damage to the contents.

Bilgo said the grate and ashes in the fireplace were cold, but the fire apparently kept burning inside the metal pipe leading to the chimney.

The Dreher's rent the home which belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Al Barutha.

Thirty-five firemen responded to the call.

Kewaskum Elementary Teacher Iona Schmidt Retiring

KES Principal Richard Zarling presenting Mrs. Schmidt with plaque from Department of Public Instruction.

Mrs. Schmidt and her class working on Christmas projects.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A social gathering was hosted by co-workers of Kewaskum Elementary teacher Iona Schmidt to recognize her faithful years of service in the field of education.

During the party Schmidt was presented with several gifts including a gift certificate and a photo album containing candid shots of Schmidt, the staff and students, as a memento of her years at Kewaskum Elementary.

On behalf of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction, KES Principal Richard Zarling presented Mrs. Schmidt with a plaque recognizing her contribution to quality education in Wisconsin.

Schmidt will retire at the end of this year after a teaching career that spans 23 years. She began teaching in 1943. Schmidt taught grades 1 through 8 at Kewaskum's Spring School until 1945.

From 1961 to 1964, Schmidt taught at Elmwood School in Jackson. During that period she also served as clerk on the Kewaskum School Board. It was during that time that the new addition to Kewaskum Elementary was constructed and opened.

Schmidt taught kindergarten in Kewaskum during 1966-1967. She spent one year teaching in Campbellsport. In 1968, she returned to the Kewaskum School District teaching kindergarten at the Wayne and Kewaskum Elementary schools.

Schmidt's career is drawing to a close during a busy and happy season as she helps her last class of youngsters complete their Christmas projects and gifts for their parents.

One way to keep a Christmas tree from drying out is to put ice cubes in the base of the stand.

When Christmas shopping, try browsing in antique shops. They are treasure troves that can spark the imagination.

FBI Academy Graduate

Lieutenant Kenneth Johnson

Lieutenant Kenneth Johnson of the West Bend Police Department, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, 8200 Indian Lore Rd., Kewaskum, graduated from the 139th Session of the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy on December 14, 1984. His graduation represents eleven weeks of executive-level training. The diversified FBI National Academy curriculum is designed to meet the needs of contemporary law enforcement in such areas of interest as police management, ethics, recent court decisions, urban police problems, and behavioral sciences. William H. Webster, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced that the law enforcement officers of the 139th Session of the FBI National Academy were honored in graduation ceremonies at the FBI Academy, Quantico, Virginia, at 10:30 a.m. (EST), Dec. 14. Former FBI Director Honorable Clarence M. Kelley was the principal speaker. The class of 250 officers was represented by elected class spokesman Superintendent David John Wyrko, Northamptonshire Police, Northampton, England. No one knows who wrote "The First Noel", which first appeared in print in 1883 in a book called "Christmas Carols Ancient and Modern." It is thought to be very ancient.

Vil. Board

Avenue. Only two questions were raised by neighboring residents. They concerned noise and disposal of animals and their waste. Dr. Ogi assured the board he would abide by the conditions set in the permit regarding disposal of dead animals and animal waste. He said there should be no problem with noise since most animals are seen as outpatients and not kept for any great length of time. Ogi said there would be no boarding of animals at the clinic.

The board unanimously voted against signing a license agreement with the railroad for a private crossing east of the fire station. The railroad had stipulated the village would be responsible for keeping unauthorized personnel from using the crossing, would hold the railroad harmless from any injury, accident or claims and would maintain and make all the necessary repairs 300 feet in each direction of the crossing. Schmidt said both the village's attorney and insured carrier advised against signing the agreement as it would not be in the best interest of the village.

The crossing is primarily used by some of the village firefighters as a shortcut to the station on a fire call.

Peace Church Choirs Present Christmas Concert

The choirs of Peace Church in Kewaskum wish to thank everyone who helped make their first Christmas Concert a success. An audience of one hundred plus heard the Children's Choir, Chancel Choir and the Churchmen perform forty-five minutes of Christmas music. Many of those in attendance also stayed and joined the choirs in a delicious pot-luck supper after the concert. Thanks go out to all that helped, but especially to Nancy Panzer, Barb Panzer, Jill Schmidt and Lorena Wagner.

All choirs will be busy for the remainder of the Christmas season, as well as the rest of the Church year, but the Churchmen will have additional performances coming up. The group of twelve men started a little over a year ago with much success in the Church and have been asked to sing at the Fine Arts Gallery in West Bend in March.

The three choirs are always looking for new members, so if you are a member of Peace Church and have a love for music, come join us.

Popular Restaurant Returns To Its Customers

John Greene in the new Fort Silver Inn dining room.

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Like the legendary Phoenix bird who rose from its ashes to live again, the popular landmark restaurant Fort Silver, has also returned to life.

Drawing both old and new patrons back to savor the excellent meals which made proprietor John Greene's original restaurant in Silver later, Greene learned that another landmark, the Washington House in West Bend, might be available. "I have a certain feeling for landmarks and historical buildings so I decided the Washington House was the right place for me."

Along with changing the Washington House's name, Greene has completely changed the menu, bringing with him the specialties for which his own restaurant was noted. Besides dinners such as Beef Wellington and Sicilian Steak, Greene has added two shrimp delicacies, Pavo Carmonies which are shrimp wrapped with turkey, and stuffed shrimp topped with the Chef's own crabmeat dressing. Along with the seafood fare, Fort Silver Inn offers a variety of steaks, spare-ribs and chops.

Two popular trademarks of Greene's old restaurant, the Friday Seafood Buffet served from 5 to 10 p.m., and the Sunday Brunch, served from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., are also part of the menu. Another pleasant experience for patrons is the lazy susan of hot hors d'oeuvres served with each dinner.

The Fort Silver Inn serves its regular menu from 5 to 10 p.m., Sundays from 4 p.m. "We're also open for lunch from 11:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., six days a week," said Greene.

"Aside from the dining room, we also have facilities for meetings, banquets, and weddings up to 250 people," noted Greene, "and we can set up for small groups such as

Creek widely known, the new Fort Silver Inn in West Bend is quickly following in the steps of its predecessor.

After a tragic fire on June 2nd destroyed the Old Fort Silver, Greene considered rebuilding. "But, how can you rebuild a historical landmark, it wouldn't be the same," said Greene. Then, a few months wedding rehearsals."

Greene purchased the business and equipment and is renting the building. "We have about 70% of our help from Old Fort Silver combined with the Washington House staff. My chef, Joe Barnes, also came with me.

Greene said future plans include luncheon fashion shows and dinner shows, possibly country and western and Las Vegas style entertainment, which would be handled on a reservation basis.

Because of the busy holiday season, Greene said he was holding off on a grand opening until possibly the end of January. He indicated business has been very good and suggested patrons call for dinner reservations to avoid delays in seating. The Fort Silver Inn phone number is 338-8848.

KHS in the Olympics

Your high school is entering a new, exciting, and mind-challenging program. It's called the Olympics of the Mind. This program combines the excitement of an athletic competition with fun-filled gymnastics for teenagers. It provides creative problem solving for virtually all ages.

Olympics of the Mind challenges the student by proposing a variety of problems that need creative solutions. Our problems this year include robotics, hydraulics, musical-visual synchronization, and structural supports.

The problems are solved in teams of seven students. Each team must have an adult as a coach before being eligible for participation.

If you'd like additional information about the Olympics of the Mind program or about being a coach please call Mr. Kopecky, principal, KHS at 626-2166.

A surprise retirement party for Mrs. Margaret O'Reilly was held Sunday, November 11, at 2:00 p.m., in the Beechwood Elementary School gym.

Kenneth Erickson, teacher in charge of Beechwood School, was the master of ceremonies. A "This is Your Life" program was given.

Margaret had taught elementary school over 35 years.

She taught at one room schools at Hulls Crossing, Greenbush; Taft, Town of Russell; Makato, Plymouth; North Beechwood, Town of Scott; and South Prairie, Greenbush. She taught two grades for two years at the new Beechwood School's four room school. She taught at Parkview, Plymouth, before attending Marion College, Fond du Lac, and graduated in 1964.

She then taught at Boltonville Grade School for several years before going to the new Farmington School.

The past 15 years she taught lower grades at Beechwood.

Margaret and Robert O'Reilly were married November 23, 1946, at St. Ann's Catholic Church, St. Ann. They reside in the Town of Scott, R. 1, Cascade. Bob is engaged in farming.

They have four children: Phillip (Diane), Plymouth; Kathy (William) Arndt, Black River Falls; William (Marge), Town of Scott, and Thomas, at home. They have five grandchildren.

Margaret was very dedicated to her family, taking years off from teaching to raise her family.

Special surprise guests were Margaret's brother, Joseph Smith, Greendale; and her sisters, Mrs. Eileen Bohnhoff, Charlotte, N.C.; Mrs. Alta Christ, Menomonee Falls; Bob's mother, Mrs. Mary O'Reilly, Cascade, and his sister Mrs. Cal Bartelt, Campbellsport. Former fellow teachers and students, present administration and staff, parents and school children attended the program.

The children in grades 1-6 sang songs to conclude the program.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Reilly were presented with a corsage and boutonniere. Margaret was given a suitcase and many other gifts.

This event was sponsored by the Beechwood PTO.

Local Residents Involved In Five-Vehicle Accident

Four Kewaskum residents, a West Bend man and a rural Eden couple were involved in a five-car accident at 6:45 p.m. Saturday evening.

The accident occurred on Highway 45, 2/10ths of a mile south of Highway H, when a semi driven by Norman Menke of 730 Madison, West Bend, apparently malfunctioned causing dense smoke which combined with foggy conditions. Tami Timblin of 1336 Kewaskum Street, Kewaskum, who was behind Menke slowed down upon seeing the smoke. A car following Timblin, driven by Francis Charland of 9318 Kettle Moraine Drive, Kewaskum, also began to brake but skidded into the Timblin vehicle. A fourth car driven by William Otten of 7750 Sandy Ridge Road, Kewaskum, then hit the rear of the Charland vehicle.

Charland and his wife Kathy his passenger, were transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, with multiple abrasions and shoulder injuries.

Otten was involved in a second accident which was apparently the result of the first incident. Otten was struck by a vehicle driven by Allen Dickmann of Route 1, Eden, when he stopped for traffic caused by the first accident. Maureen Dickmann, a passenger in Dickmann's car, suffered a cut knee.

All the vehicles involved were headed south on Highway 45. The Sheriff's Department said no citations had been issued.

Seven students from the Campbellsport School District and the driver were injured at 7:25 a.m. Friday when a bus from the Johnson School Bus Service Inc. overturned after leaving slippery Banner Road in the Town of Forest.

None of the injuries were serious. All of those riding were able to walk away from the bus following the accident, according to Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department authorities.

The injured were transported by Mount Calvary ambulance and Fond du Lac city ambulance to St. Agnes Hospital for treatment of what were believed to be minor injuries.

Driver of the bus, John R. Neckuty, 52, of Campbellsport, was treated in the emergency room at St. Agnes and the injured students all were released after treatment.

Authorities said the bus was traveling downhill and rounding a curve when it left the ice-covered roadway one-half mile south of Old Town Hall Road, traveled down an embankment and rolled over.

Eight students were riding on the bus at the time of the crash, and the youngest — five-year-old Billy Bowe — was the only one to escape without apparent injury.

Injured along with Neckuty were Donovan Swalby, 12; Denise Swalby, 14; Ted Kohlmann 13; Susan Kohlmann, 16; Debbie Kohlmann 14; John Braun 12; and Susan Braun 15.

A 49-year-old Campbellsport area man sustained a head injury and bruised chest in a one-car accident on County Trunk DD 3/10 of a mile northwest of County Trunk G in the Town of Auburn. Authorities said Herbert Falk was traveling southeast on County Trunk DD when he lost control of his auto, causing it to leave the roadway. The car struck a tree and went down an embankment.

Herbert P. Falk, Route 2, Campbellsport, was conveyed by Kewaskum rescue squad to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, for treatment of the injuries. The accident was reported to the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department on Friday night.

KHS Academic Decathlon Team Receives Word of Qualifying Results in Competition

The Kewaskum High School Academic Decathlon Team recently received word of the qualifying results in academic competition with one hundred and ninety-three other school districts in the state.

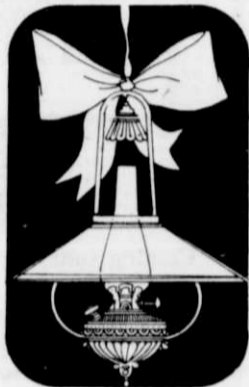

Each correct answer in competition was worth 20 points. A score of 500 points was the best score possible on each test. Three thousand points was the highest possible score for each student and 18,000 was the highest possible score for each team. The highest scoring team statewide totaled 11,320 points. The lowest scoring team statewide totaled 6,480 with the median score being 8,900. Two schools were selected from each CESA district in the state to proceed in competition. Kewaskum ended up with 9,400 points, well up in the second quarter score range but not high enough to represent their CESA district.

Guidance Counselor and Team Co-ordinator, Dave Wietor, felt the team did exceptionally well for their first year of competition. "We were informed that we actually scored higher than many of the teams who are proceeding on in the competition from other CESA districts. With the limited amount of time we had to prepare, I think our score is a good representation of the quality of students and staff in our district. The decathlon provided the students the opportunity to be exposed to and to study areas they may not have had time to pursue earlier in their normal school schedule. I think it was a most rewarding and worthwhile experience for our competitors," Wietor stated. Certificates of participation will be presented to the team members signed by State Superintendent

Bert Grover.

Can you imagine a Christmas tree without a decorated top ornament? Kewaskum Elementary School had three trees with no toppers, so this year they decided to do something about it! The school held their first annual Tree Topper Contest.

Any student in grades 1 through 6 could participate. The rules of the contest were very simple. The tree topper had to be made at home with their own materials, and it had to be made by the student alone.

The students first competed against their own classmates. Each classroom chose one winner and they went on to compete in the 1st and 2nd grade category, the 3rd and 4th grade category, or the 5th and

25 Years Ago

December 18, 1959

At a meeting of the village board on December 7, the total tax levy of $184,443.75 at a rate of $25 per thousand was accepted. This is a $2.50 per thousand increase over last year's levy of $22.50.

Once again it is Christmas cookie time, and for the sixth year our local girls have outdone themselves in decorating the many cookies now on display at the Electric Company sales room in West Bend. Sixth grade first place was won by Mary Koerble, a Girl Scout from Kewaskum. Sixth grade clock winners included Joyce Foerster of Kewaskum.

Ret. Leroy Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy A. Keller, Kewaskum, returned home last Friday after being separated from active duty at Fort Riley, Kansas. He was transferred to Fort Riley three weeks ago after completing basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Christmas specials being offered this week by local merchants include: a 28 oz. jar of party herring for $1.39 and 3-4 1/2 oz. tins of small shrimp for $1.00 at Marx I.G.A. Store; 5 pc. table and chair sets from $22 to $49 and Lane Cedar Chests from $39 to $89 at Miller's Furniture; a 10 lb. bag of cane sugar for $1.07 and a box of assorted Brach's candy for 39c at Koch's Food Store; all sizes of Christmas trees from $2.50 to $4.50 at Kohl's Tap; a four-speed automatic, stereophonic, portable stereo for $79.95 at Burckhardt Electric, and canned hams for 65c a lb. at Stellplug's Finer Meats.

50 Years Ago

The public school Christmas program given Thursday evening drew, as usual, an overflow attendance. A matinee program was given for all village pupils. The primary room presented "A Safe and Sound Christmas," with David Backhaus, Doris Mae Stahl and Lois Koch as naughty elves; Rachel Brauchle as the Christmas Spirit; Lucille Backhaus, Donald Mertes, Valeria Koerble and Lois Klukas as Santa's helpers; Shirley Backhaus as the fairy; and Marion Ramthun as the sandman. The Intermediate Room presented "Christmas in Germany," with Harriet Backhaus, Wayland Tassar, Donald Koerble, Lyle Belger, Evelyn Weddig and Lillian Werner. The Grammar Room presented "The Snowman," with Annabelle Grotenhuis, Irene Backus, Ida Backus, Harold Bunkelman, Roger Bilgo, Curtis Romaine, Alfred Holzmann, and Kathleen Schaefer, Violet Eberle, Lorraine Honeck, Mary Kleineschay, Shirley Manthei and Belinda Backus as the snow fairies. The high school students presented "Mr. Richey Changes His Mind," with Frederick Spoerl, Howard Schmidt, Marlin Kocher, Howard Backhaus, Inez Stellplug, Beulah Schaub, Marcella Klockenbush, Elizabeth Backhaus, Alice Dreher, Shirley Backus, Evelyn Schaefer, Alice Dreher and Myron Belger.

The Rev. A. J. Klapoetke, who formerly had charge of the parish at Clyman, Wisconsin, has been appointed pastor of St. Michael's Church at St. Michaels. Father Klapoetke succeeds Rev. Jos. F. Beyer, who was transferred to St. John's Parish at Johnsburg.

The truck war which threatened to disrupt a farmer-owned cheese factory in the Town of Kewaskum ended in a draw when the public service commission on last Friday handed down a decision permitting contending truckers to haul milk. The permits to haul go to William J. Dreikosen and Clarence D. Schrauth, both of whom have been serving patrons of the factory in the past.

THE CHRISTMAS VILLAGE

The following news story was written by Rosalie Kwiecinski of Milwaukee, a classmate of R. G. Edwards, M.D., Kewaskum, who is attending classes in Creative Writing at Concordia College:

"Mom, I have to babysit at four, so I'll have to go as soon as I finish putting pine cones in this basket. I'll put it on the floor next to the TV, and that other basket on the other side for the Christmas cards."

Leslie and I had been busy preparing our house for the holiday season. I looked around the room. We accomplished a lot. "O.K., that's fine. You go along. I'll be able to finish by myself." I wrapped my arms around her and gave her a hug. "Thanks for helping, Leslie. I love you, see you later."

"There is still the village to do. I left it for last. It's in that box in the corner." Left for last, as it always was.

The village is a special feature under our Christmas tree. When dad was alive, the village was his special "happening." Now it is mine. It was his fantasy alpine village, though some of the pieces were anything but alpine, but he delighted in setting up his village every year, and I inherited the fantasy.

I knelt down, opened the box, and unwrapped small houses cloaked in tissue. These same houses were used for many years, but I marveled once again at their detail. I placed them side by side on the carpet, then reached into the box again. This time my reward was the tissue wrapped people, trees, and animals. My thoughts wandered, and I went back in time to another tree and another village.

That time the tree was fresh and live. Sticky sap got on my fingers, and I didn't wash my hands for a while, just wanting to smell the fresh pine over and over again. Dad was fussy about our tree. He went from lot to lot to pick out the double-needled balsam that best suited him. He haggled on the price, then hoisted the choice to his shoulder and brought it home.

My older brother and I tittered with excitement waiting for the tree to be put in its stand and watered. Dad put on the lights, and then mom and we kids took over. Christmas trees were taller then because of the higher ceilings, so mom got on a chair, and as a little one, I handed ornaments to her for the top branches. After garland was draped, as a final touch, we were each given a handful of tinsel with instructions to put it on "one strand at a time." Then it was time for the village.

We were dismissed when it came time to set the village under the tree. The village belonged to dad.

Mom and Eddie went off, but I waited, then quietly settled in a big chair to watch. Dad got down on his knees, and at times flat on his stomach to work under the tree. Ornament boxes were stacked in various heights, then covered with sheets to simulate snow covered mountains. Then dad looked over his supply of cardboard houses, metal and celluloid people, and animals. After studying the pieces before him, he called, "Kate, I've got to go to the store. I need a couple of houses, and some people; maybe some deer, too. Want to come along?"

"Yes. You kids get dressed! We'll go with daddy to the dime store." I raced for my coat. I didn't get to go to the dime store very often, and I hurried with buttons, struggled with boots, leaving without mittens.

Once there, we found the counter dad was looking for. It was filled with rows and rows of tiny people, cows, squirrels, rabbits, and deer. Mama deer, fawns, and bucks stood side by side. As I looked over the deer "families," my eyes wandered upward to one single deer standing on a glass shelf, apart from the others. This deer was different. It was white. It stood with its head high, overlooking all the creatures on the counter. I wondered if dad saw it. I stared. The deer sparkled. Its eyes seemed to look right at me. I was entranced with all four inches, and wanted him under our tree.

I tugged on dad's sleeve. Getting no response, I tugged again. I was afraid someone else would buy the little deer while we waited our turn.

"What is it, what do you want?" Noting his impatience, I almost said, "Nothing." But the desire for the little deer was too strong.

"Daddy, please buy that little white deer on the glass shelf." He looked up. I waited for what seemed an interminable amount of time. Then he reached up and took the deer from its resting place. "I didn't see this one. It's different isn't it? Well, if it doesn't cost too much, we'll take it along."

It was our turn. When I heard the clerk say that the little deer cost forty-nine cents, I held my breath. Dad nodded, handing her money. The deer was

Footprints in the sand

One night I had a dream. I was walking along the beach with the Lord, and across the skies flashed scenes from my life.

In each scene, I noticed two sets of footprints in the sand. One was mine, and one was the Lord's.

When the last scene of my life appeared before me, I looked back at the footprints in the sand, and, to my surprise, I noticed that many times along the path of my life there was only one set of footprints. And I noticed that it was at the lowest and saddest times of my life.

I asked the Lord about it: "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you would walk with me all the way. But I notice that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why you left my side when I needed you most."

The Lord said: "My precious child, I never left you during your time of trial. Where you see only one set of footprints, I was carrying you."

Priceless Gifts

It's very easy for each of us to overspend at Christmas. There are so many people we would like to give to, but with spiraling costs it seems impossible to give as we'd like. The gift of friendship means far more than "things." There's the lonely person who would love to have even a visit.

An elderly couple who "just don't drive much these days" might really enjoy being invited to go on a shopping trip.

Perhaps a mother with small children would be forever thankful for someone to say, "How would you like to go shopping and let me take care of the little ones for you this evening?"

A loaf of homemade bread or a batch of Christmas cookies could be so thoughtful.

For a special Christmas, why not look around us, put on our thinking caps and see what all we can do to make a merrier season for our fellow travelers!

PEACE

St. Francis and the Christmas creche

One of the most common sights at Christmastime is the creche, or manger, holding the figure of the Infant Jesus.

Most churches feature large nativity scenes and many a home has its own small creche during the holidays. Nativity scenes such as this are so much a part of the season that we assume that they have always been so.

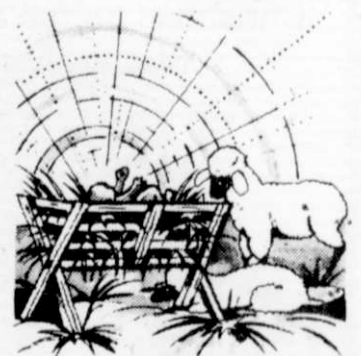

Actually, it was not until the 13th century that the creche came into usage. St. Francis of Assisi is generally credited with originating the custom. According to tradition, the gentle friar was staying near the town of Greccio, when he became inspired with the idea of recreating the first Christmas. Biographers say that he instructed a friend, "If you desire that we should celebrate this year's Christmas together at Greccio, go quickly and prepare what I tell you; for I want to enact the memory of the Infant who was born at Bethlehem, and how He was deprived of all the comforts babies enjoy; how He was bedded in the manger on hay, between an ass and an ox."

So it was that on Christmas Eve, the people of Greccio came to a spot in the woods near the town, where they found a manger filled with hay, and an ox and an ass next to it. Here Francis preached his Christmas sermon, filled with love for the Infant Jesus.

Legend has it that a member of the congregation saw a baby in the manger that night and that afterward, villagers took hay from the manger and gave it to their ailing animals, who promptly recovered.

Another version of this tradition says that St. Francis had a young woman and her baby represent Mary and the Infant Jesus. He placed hay about the church altar where the woman and child sat, and led an ox and an ass down the aisle of the church to take their place as part of the tableau. The villagers were delighted with this living representation of the nativity, and was only a matter of time before such tableaux were translated into lovingly carved manger scenes.

Today, they are universal reminders of that very first Christmas, inspiring devotion to the little Christ Child.

Mistletoe Story

Mistletoe, it is told, was considered the plant of peace in ancient Scandinavia. If enemies met under the mistletoe, they declared a truce for the day. This is possibly how the modern day custom of kissing under the mistletoe came about.

Legends of the season

There are many charming legends associated with the holiday season; one of the best-known is the legend of the Christmas rose.

According to the story, a young girl followed the shepherds to the stable in Bethlehem. Learning of the Christ Child's birth, she longed to go in and worship Him, but felt ashamed because she had no gift to offer Him.

Tears of disappointment fell from her eyes and as they touched the ground, a bush sprang up, bearing a beautiful white rose. Joyfully, the young girl picked the rose and took it in to lay before the Infant.

The legend of the Glastonbury thorn involves Joseph of Arimathea, who journeyed to Britain after the death of Christ. Coming to the town of Glastonbury, Joseph sat down to rest, thrusting his staff into the ground. It immediately took root and gave forth branches and green leaves. Every year after that, the thorn tree would bloom at Christmas.

Another legend tells of the poor shoemaker who lived on the edge of a village, near the woods. Each night he would place a candle in his window to guide travelers.

Miraculously, that candle light never wavered, inspiring others to place candles in their windows at Christmas time.

A beautiful legend explains the fir tree's association with Christmas. It seems that a young boy came knocking at the door of a forester's hut one stormy Christmas Eve. The forester's son gladly gave up his bed so that the exhausted child could sleep.

The next morning, the family heard angels singing and discovered that their guest had been transformed into the Christ Child. In gratitude for the family's hospitality, the Child broke off a branch from a fir tree and planted it in the ground, promising that it would always be green at Christmas time.

Living Up The Day!

All dressed up in his best suit he was, and mighty glad to have a break to get out in a world of kids and family fun. A little smile played around his lips as he sat in the rocker and watched the gifts being opened, and he seemed surprised that he, too, would be remembered by gifts.

A trac-ball set was given to one young person and after the gifts were "o-o-hed" and "a-a-hed" over, and kisses and hugs of thanks had been given—the kids dashed out to try out that trac-ball set.

The old gentleman watched for awhile, then slowly slid open the glass patio door, and soon, with racquet in hand, he, too, was bending to catch the gently thrown balls and beaming as if to say, "Eat your hearts out, nursing home occupants, I'm going to really live up this day!"

Afterwards he munched up Christmas dinner with real gusto!

Hearts of the kids and the adults were warmed to see the fun the guest was enjoying.

If you haven't tried having some lonely person to join your family for Christmas—bet you, too, would receive an extra glow of joy from doing so.

May this be your happiest Christmas as you reach out to make another happy!

"Please, Daddy, Don't Get Drunk This Christmas!"

John realized his problem and had been to programs for alcoholics. For eight months John and the bottle had happily parted company. Then the boss opened up the alcoholic beverages that Christmas Eve, just before closing time, and invited the staff to have a drink.

"Thanks, but I'd better be on my way home," John replied, lifting his coat from the coat rack.

"Ah, don't ask John! His wife won't let him drink," laughingly taunted one of the secretaries.

That did it! Before he left for home, John was drunk.

John doesn't remember clearly all that happened that Christmas Eve, but he solemnly declares he didn't commit the crime "jealous" persons accused him of.

For close to twenty years, now, John has sat behind bars. It all started from a taunt and a Christmas Eve drink.

Holiday plants enhance season

Many plants are synonymous with Christmas. Probably the earliest association is that of frankincense and myrrh. The Boswellia carteri, the tree from which frankincense is extracted, is related to the turpentine or terebinth tree. It has star-shaped flowers and its aromatic resin can be made into incense. At one time frankincense was considered to be as precious as gold. Thus, the gift of frankincense to the Christ Child was indeed a special one.

The commiphora myrrha is an unlikely-looking plant to be associated with the holiday season. But, it was from this shrub — bearing sharp, ugly thorns — that the Magi's gift of myrrh was obtained.

Christians aren't the only ones who've decked their halls with boughs of holly; the ancient Druids started this custom. Believing that sylvan spirits dwelled within the holly, the Druids sought to protect the spirits from frost and wintry winds, by bringing the plants indoors.

The early Romans sent branches of holly to friends and neighbors during the Saturnalia festival, which was celebrated in December. Missionaries combined such pagan customs with those of Christianity during the 7th century. Thus, holly came to be a symbol of Moses' burning bush, and its prickly points and red berries reminded the faithful of the crown of thorns that awaited the Christ Child.

Mistletoe was well-known to the Druids by the name of all-heal. Later, Christians would use mistletoe as a symbol of Christ, the Divine Healer. The Druids also used mistletoe as a symbol of peace and goodwill. Enemies would embrace under the plant, which is how our custom of kissing under the mistletoe originated.

Perhaps no plant is as synonymous with Christmas as the poinsettia. Brought back from Mexico by Dr. Joel Poinsett during the 19th century, the plant flourished here in the United States. Today, it is a popular decoration in churches and homes during the holiday season. Its red bracts resemble the star of Bethlehem, which is probably why Mexicans call it the flower of the Holy Night.

The Flicker of a Candle

As the flicker of a candle's light, so it seems, was His life among us, but the light lingers on and He is only a prayer away.

That light guides us in the right paths as we ask for it, and illuminates the paths of others, shedding joy and happiness upon Earth.

Let Him light up our lives this holiday season!

When wrapping holiday packages, if you have an assortment of unmatched "just too small" pieces of gift paper, try combining different patterns and colors for packages that are sure to please the eye.

Don't give thieves a chance to steal holiday pleasures

It may be better to give than to receive, but don't give thieves a chance to spoil your holiday season.

"This time of year, people are away from home more frequently, often leaving their homes filled with valuable holiday gifts. That makes them prime targets for theft," says James P. Weaver, corporate security manager for R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc.

Thieves also know that shoppers away from home carry larger sums of money and their cars are filled with purchases, warns Weaver, who helps manage the corporate security program for RJR's global businesses.

By following a few simple rules and using good common sense, thefts can be discouraged.

• When out at night, leave lights on inside and outside the home. For longer absences: use timers to turn lights on and off.

• Tell your neighbors when you plan to be away from home during the holidays. Ask them to keep an eye out for any unusual activity around your house and to pick up mail and newspapers when delivered.

• Beware of strangers who approached you in shopping malls or stores, soliciting contributions or selling goods.

• Always lock the doors when getting into or out of your car — even if you're just making a quick stop or short trip. It only takes a few seconds for a thief to grab you or your belongings.

• Protect your wallet or purse when shopping, or in any large crowd. A wallet visible in a back pocket is an invitation for theft. Carry a purse close to your body, not dangling loose from one hand. ▲

Originally, a Christmas "carol" meant a dance. They began when St. Francis of Assisi led villagers in joyous dancing around a recreation of the nativity scene.

Christmas in America: a feast of sights, sounds

In a small town in South Dakota, the nativity pageant is reenacted in a real barn; hundreds of miles away in historic Williamsburg, a colonial Christmas is recreated, complete with cannon blasts.

Such is the richness and variety of Christmas in America, reflecting its multi-ethnic origins and providing a feast of sights and sounds for the holiday season.

Let's begin our Christmas tour in Los Angeles, where a large Mexican-American community has kept alive the tradition of Las Posadas. Here, Mary and Joseph's search for lodging is reenacted for 9 successive nights, ending in a celebration of singing and holiday treats, including the breaking of the piñata.

Far to the north in Alaska, Eskimo boys and girls carry a brightly colored star from home to home all during Christmas week. After they have sung a few carols, they are invited in for treats. Pre-Christian games dating back to the time of the winter solstice are also part of Christmas celebrations in this state.

To the south, in Florida, the palm tree replaces the traditional evergreen as a symbol of Christmas. Recalling the palms of the Holy Land, Floridians decorate their palms with lights and other adornments to great effect.

In Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, the "Christmas City of America," the central event of the season is the Love Feast that is celebrated in the Moravian church on Christmas Eve. During the service, the children in attendance are served sweet buns and coffee, and then are given lighted beeswax candles.

Later, the Christmas Eve vigil is held, culminating with lighted candles being served to the entire congregation, in a dazzling spectacle of light.

In New York City, the plaza at Rockefeller Center is famed for its illuminated tree and its ice skating exhibitions. The whole city takes on a festive mood, as department stores outdo each other with elaborate, animated displays.

Symbolic of the Christmas spirit in America is the lighting of the Christmas tree on the White House lawn. Here, crowds gather to "ooh" and "aah" as the great tree lights up. Spectators join in singing beloved carols, as the holiday season comes once again to our nation.

A Tree To Eat!

Let the kids have fun helping to make this tree cake!

1 can (1 lb., 5 oz.) vanilla frosting: Tint 1/2 cup frosting yellow; 1/4 cup red, and 1 1/4 cups green. 2 cups flaked coconut: Tint coconut green.

15 Hostess Twinkies (registered trademark of Continental Baking Company) cakes: Frost 13 cakes green and roll in tinted coconut. Frost 2 cakes red. Place the red cakes horizontally, one on top the other (at the bottom center of a 16 x 19-inch tray) for the tree base.

Stack 2 green cakes perpendicular to the base, then place one green cake on top the existing 2 vertical cakes—this forms the trunk.

Diagonally arrange 5 cakes on either side of the trunk.

Cut a cup cake into a star shape. Frost it yellow and place on top the tree. Place yellow, spice candy sticks at the tip of each star point.

Use different lengths of cherry licorice (1 pkg., 3 oz.) to trim the tree.

Arrange 1 pkg. (8 oz.) of spice drops on branches. Place one peppermint starlite candy (7 oz. pkg.) at the tip of each branch. (Attach decorations with extra frosting.) Peppermint candies and spice sticks decorate the red base.

A Question:
Why do We

Christmas?

The Golden Rule

It is now the season of Christmas, 1,979 years since the Prince of Peace was born in the Fulfillment of Prophecy, to reject a crown of gold and life of splendor for 33 dedicated years and a crown of thorns.

Because He came as a leader and teacher of men, there were those who worked unceasingly to degrade and destroy Him. Yet, in God-like manner, He walked in the valley of men, teaching the fundamental principles of life and truth by both parable and example.

Because he lifted the eyes of mankind toward the heavens, spurning the meaningless values of worldly power and earthly riches, He sinned against plunderers and tyrants, and for this He was crucified.

Because He called out in pain for the forgiveness of those who had tortured Him and nailed His body to the cross between two thieves, he set the highest example of the Golden Rule.

Because He came, with Divine direction, to lead mankind unto salvation, He is with us forever.

Because, in One Solitary Life there remains always with us observe the anniversary of His birth, the Christmas.

May His most wondrous message reach deep into the hearts of all mankind.

Holiday Baby Sitter Picking

The busy holiday activities sometimes bring the necessity of a baby sitter.

It's sometimes difficult to find a reliable baby sitter during this season. The idea is to establish a relationship with your potential baby sitter before needed.

Sometimes a lonely grandma would cherish being with the little folk. A special food treat can be left for her to enjoy, a good book for pleasant reading, or a cross-stitch piece she'd like to make, etc.

Student nurses and other medical students often welcome extra Christmas money. Some high schools offer a baby-sitting course and perhaps could recommend someone from that class.

Have a peaceful holiday picking the right baby-sitter.

Simmer over low heat 3 minutes. Remove spice bag. Cool slightly. Add Smirnoff Vodka. Serve hot, garnished with lemon slices and cinnamon sticks. Serves 28. ▲

Christmas Child Saving!

Christmas is for kids! You could save a treasured child who is under 40 inches by giving a gift of a child restraint device to be used while traveling.

Cloth upholstered restraints are a few dollars more but eliminate hot, sticky vinyl seats during the summer. If you can't afford this, drape a cloth cover or towel across the seat.

If you feel your budget just can't buy a new seat, check with your local civic groups or health organizations who might have child restraint loan programs.

Look for a label on the new seat that shows that it has met the Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard (FMVSS) No. 213, which indicates it has been tested by simulated car crashes.

Choose a seat suited to the child's weight and one that buckles up easily. You might like to add racing stripes for the older child, explaining that similar safety devices are used by space astronauts and race car drivers.

A little traveler is also encouraged when he sees those over 40 inches buckling up their seat belts!

Christmas Hangings

All I want for Christmas is for my children to hang up three things—mistletoe, stockings, and the phone!

In many countries in Europe, people once believed all trees break into blossom for a few moments at midnight on Christmas Eve.

Christmas Cake Decoration

For a quick but mouth-watering cake decoration, bake your favorite cake in a one-layer oblong pan. When the cake is cool, frost with a light green frosting. Arrange pillow-shaped mints for the tree's base. Two peppermint sticks, one on top the other is the tree trunk. Diagonally place 4 peppermint candy canes on each side of the trunk and a peppermint star-round at the top. Round mints can be spaced on the sides of the cake, and candy silver balls sprinkled here and there for a sparkly, delicious Christmas cake!

Party Starters

Spread softened cream cheese on slices of cold cuts. Roll, and slice into pinwheels.
 Spread softened cream cheese on a cold cut slice. Stick another slice of cold cut on the other side of the cream cheese; spread with cream cheese again, followed by a layer of thin-sliced bread, cream cheese, a cold cut, cream cheese, a cold cut, cream cheese, a thin slice of bread, cream cheese, cold cut, cream cheese, cold cut. Now cut the stacked pieces into tiny squares and insert a toothpick for ribbon cube appetizers.

Cherry Christmas Sandwiches

Cut and mash maraschino cherries into cream cheese. Remove the crusts from your bread slices (the square-type loaf will be easier to use instead of the rounded loaf).
 Cover the crustless slices with your cherry cream cheese spread. Now cut each bread slice into about 4 even strips.
 Roll one strip, then start another strip where that strip ends until you have a neat, colorful pinwheel sandwich!
 Place your sandwiches on a pretty platter with sprigs of mint or other greenery here and there.

The yule log ceremony originated in Scandinavia, according to scholars. In ancient celebrations of the solstice, huge logs were blessed and burned in the hope that they would forever bring light, warmth and comfort.

If your young children want to help you wrap gifts but you always end up rewrapping them, here's an idea you might like to try:

Give Junior some magazines. When you are wrapping Grandpa's present, for instance, ask Junior if he can find a picture in the magazine that looks like Grandpa. Then let him tape the picture of "Grandpa" on the package. When it's time for the Christmas tree, Junior can safely identify and hand out the presents for each person, and the family chuckles over their "likenesses."

It Must Be True

It must be true that God loves men without fame or prestige. He sent the angels with the glad tidings to the lowly shepherds on the hillside. His only Son was not born in the grandest hospital but was born in a humble stable.

It must be true that God loves the rich, as well. His Star guided the rich Wise Men to the Baby King.

It must be true that God loves you and me—He sent the Greatest Gift to show His love. How do we give a birthday gift to Someone who "has it all"? The greatest gift we could give not only to Him but by remembering those less fortunate than we, is the gift of love.

True Gifts

Give a gift of courage to the discouraged, a gift of loyalty to those who depend on us. Give a gift of understanding to someone whose opinions may not be just like ours, to a person who's in trouble and needs our help, or to a person who's "blown it" for sure and needs a understanding hand rather than a pounding censure. These gifts will be true gifts from the heart.

It's Birthday Time

"...when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth His Son..." Galatians 4:4.

When God's great clock of time pointed to that hour, the Babe Jesus was born in Bethlehem. The world was ripe for the coming of the Deliverer. Generally speaking, people's faith had grown dim. The beyond, to them, was only gloom and uncertainty. God was thought of as a tyrant and not a God of love. God looked down upon the world with pity and compassion, and permitted His Son to come as a helpless babe, to fight the battle as every child of humanity must fight.

Jesus accepted humanity after the race had been weakened by 4,000 years of sin. He accepted our sorrows and temptations and came to lift us from the dust. God gave His only begotten Son in order that the path of life might be easier. Herein is love!

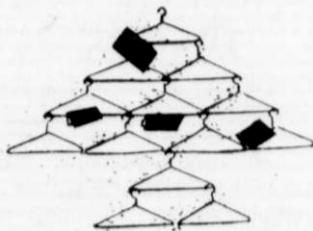

And now, on the day representing Christ's birthday, we have the opportunity to show Him, in some small way, our appreciation for His Gift of Love.

Christmas Love

At this season of the year it's especially fun to see what little kids do. Watch the reflections of twinkling Christmas lights in little kid's shining eyes. See their chubby, dimpled hands lightly touching a strand of shining tinsel, and as they barely get old enough to read, watch them scrutinize the name tags under the tree. (And if you peep around the door at another time you might just happen to see Granddad doing the same!)

A little child—what a beautiful gift each one is! A little Child—lent to us so many years ago—what a beautiful gift to our world—and as He grew, His love shown out in greater and greater magnitude to encompass the world and give us love and peace.

May love reign in our hearts this Christmas season as we share with others!

Card Tree

Want to make a cute display tree for the cards you receive this Christmas?

Build a tree with coat hangers, starting at the top with one hanger and adding another hanger each row.

Fasten the hangers together with tape or wire.

Spray paint the hangers gold, silver, or green. Twist some greenery around the hangers if you like.

Now your tree is ready to display the beautiful Christmas cards your friends send this year.

But let it whistle as it will,

"I Care For You"

Practically anytime you go shopping you'll hear someone muttering about how Christmas has become "too commercial," but, of course, the minute you turn your back and start down the aisle, guess who is busy looking at cute things they want to buy!

Christmas gift-giving, itself, is not a commercial creation for it began with the Wise Men's gift to Baby Jesus long ago. The real value to gifts is the thought behind it—the heart that says, "It may seem, so often, that I take you for granted, but I really think of you and care for you. I'd just like to pass on this little gift from my heart."

Christmas Strawberry Nog

Makes 1 1/2 quarts

- 1 10-oz. pkg. frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 qt. milk
- 1 1/2 cups dry instant non-dairy coffee creamer
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 1/8 tsp. red food coloring (optional)

Drain off 1/2 cup of syrup from thawed strawberries; let syrup chill.

Blend with electric blender strawberries with any remaining syrup, or run through a food mill.

Beat eggs and 1 tbsp. of sugar until light yellow and thick.

Stir the strawberries and milk in with the eggs.

Chill a mixing bowl and beaters for 15 minutes.

Combine the chilled strawberry syrup, coffee creamer, remaining 3 tablespoons of sugar, vanilla and food coloring in chilled bowl. Whip with electric beater at high speed 3 to 5 minutes until soft peaks form. Beat half of topping into egg mixture. Top with mounds of remaining topping. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

6. Cut out paper song books and glue to the hands.

Christmas Jewels

Just a tiny speck among the vastness of the universe was this one world of ours—the only planet whose people chose to sin. Wonder of all wonders that God would bend so close to this little world in its rebellion to offer it hope and a way of rescue. Only one word and He could have sent this world into oblivion. But we were important to Him and He sent the Christmas Babe to grow up among us and show us the happy way to live.

To Him we are treasured. "They shall be mine," He says, "in that day when I make up my jewels."

For His birthday, let us give Him all the praise and honor due His name and find true peace this Christmas season.

Tree Lighting

Legend says that Martin Luther started the custom of lighting

Christmas Wedding Wishes

In noting the many different Christmas traditions for various countries, it's very interesting to see that in many cases the Christmas spirit also includes wedding wishes. For instance, in Czechoslovakia a girl puts a cherry twig in water on December 4 and if the twig blooms before Christmas Eve, it supposedly means that she will marry sometime during the year.

In Albania, at the end of a meal each person shows he is grateful for having more than he needs by leaving a spoonful of food on his plate. Then everyone stands and swings the table back and forth as they sing, "May there be plenty in this house. May the time for a wedding be near!"

In Switzerland, on their way to the midnight Christmas Eve church services, the young people visit nine fountains, taking three sips of water from each fountain. According to a legend if they do this they will find their future husband or wife waiting at the church door.

In Norway, the family bakes a special Christmas pudding which contains an almond. The person who gets the almond in his portion of pudding will be the next to be married, they say.

May the Christmas holidays be the beginning of a year of happiness!

Assemble Toys Before Holiday

It's Christmas Eve, fathers of America—assemble! They always do. It's not to get together, but a put together. For some reason, two or more Christmases are necessary for the average father to realize that he didn't really buy a bicycle or a coaster wagon, he purchased a box of bicycle or wagon parts.

Most also learn the hard way that Christmas Eve is not the right time to put things together. Toys should be assembled at least a week before Santa's arrival, because only the man with an engineering degree can do it right the first time. Panic is the word used to describe what happens when a bicycle is fully assembled and there, in the bottom of the carton lies four bolts, two screws and something that looks a little like a can opener.

Don't wait, dads! Do it early. And, don't complete Step 1 until you've read what you will do in Step 1, (B) and Step 1 (C). In fact, you can save both time and temper if you read directions completely, not once, but twice—and study the pictures carefully.

Have fun—and a Merry Christmas.

Extra Christmas Winks

Mom and Dad, if you would like to take advantage of a few more winks on Christmas Morn, the one day you can sleep in, here is a game that will help.

The game has two rules: (1) Don't disturb Mom and Dad before 8:00 a.m., (2) When you wake up in the morning, look under your bed.

Now, when Mom or Dad wakes early Christmas Morn (they may need to set an alarm) slip a present for each child under his bed. When the children wake up they entertain themselves in their rooms until Mom and Dad wake up.

READY FOR WINTER?

Although winter won't officially be here until December 21, cold temperatures have certainly arrived. Since cold winter winds and the inevitable winter snowstorms will be with us for awhile, it is important that you winterize your home to insure your safety and good health over the coming months.

One precaution which is both healthwise and economical is to make sure your doors and windows are sealed adequately to keep warm air from escaping and cold air from entering your home. You don't have to make your home airtight; keep fresh air is necessary to keep your home from becoming stuffy. But adding weather stripping and possibly plastic coverings on the windows may keep you from being strangled by high fuel costs.

It's a good idea to have your furnace, stoves and fireplaces checked to make sure they are in proper working order. Carbon monoxide poisoning from any one of these sources (because of bad fittings or malfunctioning flues) can be a deadly winter hazard.

Snow piling up on the roof is another hazard of winter weather. It can cause your house to become cooler than usual and may even damage the walls and ceilings of your home. Make sure your gutters are cleaned out and remain free of ice and debris throughout the winter. Special heating devices can be purchased which melt snow as it builds up in the gutters.

Be prepared for emergencies by stocking up on non-perishable foods and vital medications in case of a severe storm. In some instances, you may be without means of heating the foods, so ones that don't require much preparation are best. Water reserves also may be affected by winter weather so make sure you have some reserves. A home emergency kit including clothes, candles, matches, a transistor radio, a non-electric clock and fresh batteries should be prepared in case of severe inclement weather.

Make sure you have enough firewood, snow-clearing materials (shovels, ice-melting salt, etc.) before weather becomes nasty. You can rest comfortably and avoid the mayhem in stores if you are prepared in emergencies.

If it should become necessary for you to evacuate your home because of the weather and/or loss of power, take the necessary steps to make sure everything will be safe while you are gone. Drain all of your water lines and toilets and add anti-freeze in the pipes and drains to keep them from freezing if the heat is shut off. When re-entering your home, don't turn on any lights or electric equipment until you are sure that there are no gas leaks in the house.

Twelfth-night ends Christmas season in some countries

For many cultures, the Christmas holidays are not over until after January 6th, known variously as the Feast of the Epiphany, Twelfth-night or Three Kings Day.

In some countries, gifts are not presented until January 6th because that is the day commemorating the Three Wise Men and their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. Children in Italy, Spain, Mexico, France, Central and South America, and Puerto Rico receive gifts on that day.

Twelfth-night, of course, was immortalized by Shakespeare in his comedy by that name. One theory has it that the play was written to be performed before Queen Elizabeth I as part of the festivities on Twelfth-night, January 6, 1601. Although it is not known which play Shakespeare's company performed that night, they did provide entertainment at Whitehall on that occasion, underlining the importance that Elizabethans placed on the holiday. Today, the English wait until Twelfth-night to take down their Christmas greens.

tion regarding cakes. In France, bakers give their customers galettes, flaky pastries containing one bean. In Belgium, a King's Cake containing one bean is served on the Eve of the Epiphany. The lucky person finding the bean is king of the feast.

St. Nicholas cakes — baked in the shape of animals and birds and St. Nicholas — are served in Holland on January 6th. If the morning is foggy, youngsters are told that the fog is smoke from the ovens of the Saint as he bakes his cakes!

In French Canada, the king and queen of Twelfth-night are determined by cutting Le Gateau des Rois, a traditional cake containing a pea and a bean.

During the two weeks between Christmas and Epiphany, Mexican youngsters perform small plays in honor of the Christ Child. These plays are called pastores, and always have a moral to them.

Epiphany is also the occasion for the breaking of the piñata, a colorfully decorated pot filled with all sorts of goodies for the youngsters.

So, if you're inclined to keep celebrating Christmas into the New Year, there are centuries of tradition to back you up!

Too Many Toys?

Though it may be hard to keep from buying the kids every new toy on the market at Christmas-time, it seems that children enjoy the giving of a few toys at various times during the year. This gives them more time to thoroughly explore a new toy and learn from it. Too many toys all at once are overwhelming to a child's mind. So, if you're really tempted but don't want to splurge too much on Christmas gifts, why not buy them and save some to give in a few weeks when the newness of Christmas toys wears off? Or think of some children who might not have many toys for Christmas and watch their joy as they receive your unexpected gifts.

For many, January 6th is the feast of the Epiphany or "Little Christmas." As such, it heralds the manifestation of Jesus as the Son of God to the Magi, and through them, to the whole world.

Most cultures that celebrate Twelfth-night have some kind of tradi-

Ninety-nine bells chime in Antwerp, Belgium, to call worshippers to the Christmas services in the city's 500-year-old cathedral. Carol-singing children, colorfully-dressed, are followed by jewel-robed priests. They all walk on a carpet of bright pieces of paper and flowers. In Belgium, Christmas is a season of gifts and joy.

Recalling the days of an old-fashioned Christmas

Can you remember the aroma of candles burning on the Christmas tree? If so, you have some precious memories of a bygone era, the time of the old-fashioned Christmas.

Most of us have only handed-down stories to evoke that special bit of Americana. According to these reminiscences, here is what Christmas was like many years ago:

Dashing through the snow in a one-horse open sleigh was not just a song, it was a very real experience during the holiday season, with harness bells jingling away as you crossed fields blanketed with snow.

At home, the old wood stove would be hard at work. Maybe mother would be making a batch of candy or baking some of her delicious holiday cookies.

There was wood to be brought in for the stove and fireplace; that was brother's job, while sister helped in the kitchen.

There was the tree — a real fir, pine or spruce tree — decorated with strings of popcorn made from home-grown corn, apples from the orchard, and handmade paper cones.

Even shopping was a special treat in those days: the wood stove in the local store would give out its warmth and spices in open bins would give off their wonderful aroma. On the counter, there were jars of colored candies to entice the youngsters.

On Christmas Eve, church bells would summon the faithful to special services; or perhaps there would be a Christmas play performed.

In the morning, there were gifts to open, gifts that had been fashioned by hand. There might be a hand-carved whistle, hand-knit socks, or carefully embroidered handkerchiefs. Whatever the gift, you knew it had been made with love and received it in that spirit.

Later that Christmas Day, the family would gather in the kitchen, the biggest room in the house, at a long table burdened with holiday foods. There would be Christmas turkey or ham or goose, pies that had been baked the day before, as well as special holiday bread.

After dinner, the youngsters would take their sleds to coast down snowy slopes; or, they might head for the pond with their ice skates.

At the end of the day, visiting uncles and aunts and cousins would pile into a sleigh or bobsled as the horses stamped their feet and shook their harnesses. And off they would go, shouting goodnight and "Merry Christmas" under the Christmas stars.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

We'd like to wish you and your family a merry Christmas, and extend our many thanks to all our friends and customers.

Then and Now

Once a year we turn the clock forward an hour and then again we turn it back an hour—but time is still the same.

Once a year, at Christmas-time, we turn the page of time back 2000 years. The impact of that event that shook the world would do the same, today, were its people receptive.

There is a need for food, shelter, love and understanding from birth until death, today, the same as 2000 years ago.

Especially at this season, let's have our hearts open to help others to have their basic needs fulfilled, and let these thoughtful feelings last all year through.

Change Your Holiday Food Traditions to Fit Your Lifestyle

By Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

Does providing favorite holiday foods for your family mean hours in the kitchen for you?

Food traditions may be as dominant as any holiday traditions. But many long-standing traditions and role expectations may conflict with today's lifestyle.

Today's adults formed their image of what holidays should be like when most mothers didn't work outside the home. Mothers prepared everything because they were home all the time.

But with over 50% of today's women working outside the home, those expectations should change. Families must look at their traditions and see what they should do differently.

Some families choose to eat out for the holidays. The biggest day in restaurant growth over the past decade has been Thanksgiving.

If you don't consider eating out as an alternative, there are still many things you can do to reduce the time and energy it takes to prepare holiday foods.

Sit down with your family before the holidays to discuss possible changes in food traditions, particularly if you've had a recent change in work status.

Find out which holiday foods are most important to your family. Then try to work them in sometime during the holidays, but not necessarily all on the traditional day.

Some holiday foods are such that you either love or hate them. Think back. Did something remain uneaten a month after the holidays last year? That's a good clue it isn't popular.

Perhaps you'll choose to prepare just one favorite holiday cookie for your family this year. You can add variety to your cookie plate by organizing a cookie exchange. Trading cookies or other goodies is popular among many neighborhood and religious groups and is a nice way to learn about other families' traditions.

Many traditional holiday foods take a significant amount of skill and preparation time for which there is no quick alternative.

Many mothers think they have to make these foods in order to have a meaningful holiday. They end up feeling they're letting everyone down if they can't get it all done.

Don't feel guilty if you can't master a particular skill or you don't have the time and energy to make something you once did. Enlist the help of others, such as an older relative who is skilled and has time to do special things. In return, you may be able to shop for their gifts, an equitable trade if they can't get out to shop themselves.

Making holiday food preparation and cleanup a family activity will ease some of mom's burden and make everyone feel good. Remember, everything doesn't have to be perfect. By relaxing your standards a bit, you'll feel comfortable letting your children help too.

When planning your holiday menu, try to keep within your financial resources as well. Don't serve something unless you can afford it.

You'll be stressed if you feel you have to impress people by serving expensive foods. By serving the unexpected or non-traditional foods, you can save money and still have a nice meal.

Extras such as hors d'oeuvres aren't always necessary if you're serving a meal, and dessert can be simplified, less expensive and more nutritious if you serve fresh fruits and cheese which you may have received as gifts.

Plan for the meals as a whole to be colorful and attractive. Keep the amount of food under control with few things that require any last-minute preparation.

If guests will be coming from out-of-town, select foods that can accommodate a flexible serving time. Weather is often unpredictable.

Don't prepare more than one elaborate food item. Test it on your family first to see if they like it and to make sure it's fail-proof.

It's obvious to your guests and family if you're under stress while preparing a meal. Serve something you're especially proud of and comfortable serving, even if it's non-traditional. Keep in mind that the idea of having guests in your home is to spend time together and enjoy each other.

A CHILD'S CHRISTMAS

Friday, Dec. 21, 1984

Kewaskum Statesman, Page 19

How the mice turned back the Christmas clocks

One Christmas Eve, Santa was very late in arriving at the little village of Snowflake, the last stop on his annual trip around the world.

Fortunately, all the children of the village were asleep, so they didn't know that Santa had been delayed.

As the village slept, animals gathered at the town square to discuss the situation. It was almost 6 o'clock, the hour when the children traditionally arose on Christmas morning.

"There are going to be some pretty disappointed youngsters around here," commented the calico cat. "You can say that again," growled the German shepherd. You see, on Christmas Eve all the animals of the village would forget about their usual rivalries and speak to each other.

Just then, a robin landed on the square. "Santa's on his way!" he chirped. The animals barked, mewed, squealed, and crowed over this good news.

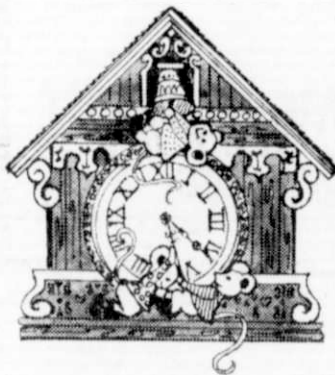

"Wait a minute," grunted the pig. "It may be too late. The children will be getting up soon."

"If we could only keep them in bed a little longer," whinnied the horse. But how, the animals wondered.

Suddenly, a field mouse squeaked excitedly. "I know! We'll go into all the houses and turn back all the clocks!"

KIDS! COLOR THE GINGERBREAD TREE!

The animals applauded this idea, and soon all the field mice of the village were scurrying into homes and clambering up the clocks. They moved back all the hands a half hour, just enough time for Santa to finish his rounds.

It wasn't long before Santa did arrive. When he heard about what the field mice had done, he laughed heartily and thanked them. Then he went to work putting presents under every tree.

Just as the clocks began to strike six, Santa climbed into his sleigh and flew off, waving goodbye to the animals of the village.

As the children happily opened their presents, the animals settled down for a nap. They were tired from waiting up all night for Santa, and the field mice were the most tired of all!

Party Rowdy- Quietener

Having a party for the kids? When the kids are getting a bit too boisterous, try this strategy: As each child arrives, he picks a number from a Christmas stocking. A duplicate set of numbers is kept in a brightly-wrapped box. Then, when things are getting overly boisterous, signal drawing time by ringing a bell or flicking the light on and off. Draw a number from the box and the child with that number gets to choose his prize from the basket of gifts.

The little expense of the prizes is well-spent since it helps to keep the party more pleasant.

A Bag of Switches

A magazine contest asked for thoughts on Christmas Joy. One eleven-year-old girl said, "If you get a bag of switches, don't get mad, just be thankful someone took the time to cut them." Especially coming from the heart of someone so young, what a beautiful thought—when times get hard, thinking of the bright side can bring joy.

We wish you and your family much joy this Christmas season!

These ornaments are fun to make and decorate!

Children love making ornaments at Christmas time — here's an easy recipe for bread dough ornaments that they can help make and then decorate:

Mix 4 cups of flour and 1 cup of salt in a bowl, using a wooden spoon or rubber spatula. Add 1 1/2 cups of water slowly, mixing as you pour. You may need more water, depending on the humidity, but keep the dough stiff for best results.

Knead dough for 10 minutes; when texture is soft and smooth, it will be ready for cutting.

Have the youngsters shape the ornaments with cookie cutters, inserting hooks into the dough at this time.

Bake dough in a 325° to 350° oven and no hotter. The ornaments should be rigid when removed from the oven.

Allow them to cool and let the kids take over, decorating them with poster paint or tempera. They can also sprinkle them with cake decorations, using regular white glue.

To keep the finished ornaments looking pretty longer, spray them with an acrylic gloss; this will also give them a nice shine.

Hang the ornaments on the Christmas tree for all to admire, or have the youngsters give them as gifts.

Christmas Family Togetherness

If you're living in a wooded area, during the Christmas holidays the whole family can have fun going out in the woods to gather holly berries, mistletoe, pine cones and greenery of all types. Then the whole family can get together to pop popcorn to string, and also string cranberries or holly berries.

Put on your thinking cap for every single thing you can do as a family to have true Christmas joy.

Sentimental Christmas Card

Approaching the Christmas card counter, the young man asked, "Have you anything sentimental?"

"Oh, here's one," the ready-for-the-occasion salesgirl replied. "To the only girl I ever loved!"

"Great! I'll take three—no—five of those, please!"

Jingle Bell Party Game

"It" is in the center of the circle of players, his eyes closed and counting to 10, while a small bell is passed around the circle.

After "It" counts to 10, he quickly tries to see who has the bell.

The players try to pass the bell as quietly as possible. If "It" catches the person with the bell, they change places.

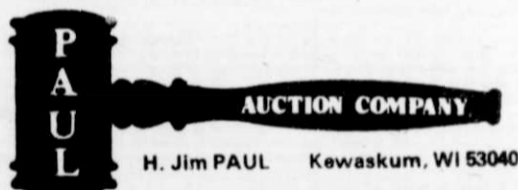

Brighten Christmas with gifts from your "home boutique." Fill glitter-trimmed empty coffee cans with homemade cookies or candies. The snug plastic lid will keep goodies fresh. Top with a bright bow.

Season's Greetings

However you say it, the message is the same: we wish you the best!

KL HOME AND HARDWARE

wrapped, and the other things picked out were packaged and handed to dad. The little deer was ours. I couldn't wait to go home, unwrap the package and hold the deer in my hand.

The new pieces were put on the dining room table. I reached a small hand for the deer, hypnotized by its beauty and sparkle. I carried it back to the big chair cradling it until dad needed it.

Finally, everything was in place, except the new deer. Dad had a problem deciding on the right spot for the elegant creature. I was amazed at how his big hands worked so gently placing the little pieces without knocking them over. He tried the deer in several spots, finally settling on a place at the edge of a newly created woods.

I smiled as I remembered the other time, but brought my thoughts back to the present and my own village and my own tree. Gone are the cardboard, metal and celluloid. Gone is the double-needed balsam. Gone is the fresh pine smell. Instead, the tree is artificial, and has no smell. The houses under the tree are wood and plastic. People and animals are plastic, too.

I stacked boxes and draped sheets, then placed snow covered houses on the "mountains," and houses with flowers, in the "valleys." Plastic skiers floated on the sheet covered hills; kids with sleds and snowmen greeted the skiers from an adjoining hill. Miniature ice skaters twirled on a pond of mirror. On another mirror pond, ducks swam and a windmill stood guard. I placed cows and horses in barnyards, pigs at a trough, sheep on hillsides. Chickens were being fed by a farmer's daughter, and he was coming home from the fields. Rabbits and squirrels darted here and there all over the countryside.

I reached into the box one last time, wading through the froth of tissue. My hands felt in all the corners, and I came up with a piece almost missed. I unwrapped a deer, a majestically, graceful deer. It wasn't white, and it didn't sparkle, but it had all the class of the one long since disposed of. I grinned as I thought this could be one of his descendants, and plopped him on a mountain.

I plugged in the lights, backed across the floor, and leaned against the love seat. Boxes and papers surrounded me, but I saw only the village. Lights twinkling in all the houses bid a welcome. "Oh, dad, I wish you could see my village. It's so pretty. I did a good job. It's warm and inviting. It's not like your village, but it's my own thing. I wish you were here to share it with me."

As I sat there, it seemed like I could hear, "Oh, honey, you did do a fine job on your village. It's a friendly village with all those people enjoying the mountains and ponds. And, I like the animals you have. They are formed better than the ones I had. It is beautiful. I like it all. There's only one thing, though. I don't want to hurt your feelings, but, don't you think that deer you put on top of the mountain would look better in that woods next to the ski shack?"

"Ohhhhhhh, dad, thanks. You're right. It will look better next to the woods." I moved the deer, and if I didn't know better, I'd say, it winked at me.

County Holstein Awards Presented To 4-H and FFA Members

The Washington County Holstein Association met recently for its annual meeting and banquet.

One of the activities was to present awards to 4-H and FFA members in Washington County for their dairy projects. Awards were presented to an outstanding FFA member from each of the three Washington County chapters. Each winner received a free scholarship to the Artificial Insemination School offered by American Breeders Service.

The Slinger FFA Chapter winner was Paul Wolf, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wolf of Allenton. Paul has served as the Slinger FFA Chapter President, Vice-President, Chairman of seed sales, public relations, and alumni relations, attended three sectional leadership workshops, Washington Leadership Conference, National Convention, and State Convention. He has also participated in dairy cattle judging. Paul is a member of the Wisconsin Junior Dairyman's Association and has served as the Chapter Secretary for the past two years. He has participated in county, district and state Land Conservation speaking contests. Paul is an active member of their family farm and is involved in many improvements and practices in the management of their operation. He would like to enroll in some type of animal husbandry school and then return to the home farm.

The FFA recipient from the Kewaskum Chapter is Jim Herges. Jim is the son of Leander and Mary Herges from Route 1, Allenton (Wayne). Jim has served as Chapter Historian in 1983 and 1984, Chapter Treasurer in 1984-85 and Chairman of the Recreations and Earning and Savings Committee. He presently owns 18 head of cattle. He recently started breeding his animals with high quality AI sires and is involved with many management practices including feeding and records. This past year he purchased 40 acres of land with his brother to help get his start in farming. His future plans are to take over the home farm with his brother.

Robert Troeller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Troeller of Rubicon, was selected from the Hartford FFA Chapter. He has been involved in a number of FFA activities including Chapter Reporter, Vice-President, delegate to State and National Convention, and attended the Washington D. C. Leadership Conference. He is a member of the Chapter's mechanic's team, dairy products team, Alumni Relations Committee, and Committee on Cooperatives. He is also the President of the Herman Hornets 4-H Club and member of the Junior Holstein Association of Dodge County and the Wisconsin Junior Dairyman's Association. He has exhibited dairy cattle at a number of events including the State Holstein Show, World Dairy Expo, District 8 Holstein Show, and the Wisconsin Spring Show. He is involved in many management practices and improvements on the home farm. After graduation, he plans to attend the Dairy Herd Management course at Lakeshore Technical Institute and eventually take over the home farm and stay in the Holstein business.

Robert was also selected as the Outstanding FFA Member from the Washington County FFA Chapters. For that award he received one unit of Columbus semen, presented by Francis Matenaer, AI Technician with American Breeders Service.

The Washington County Outstanding Holstein Girl is Tina Becker, the daughter of Curtis and Sandy Becker of Hartford. Tina is a former member of the Hartford Hands of Friendship 4-H Club. She is now a member of the Junior Holstein Association and the Hartford FFA Chapter. Besides showing cattle, she has been involved with twilight meetings and the Washington County sale. As an FFA member, Tina is Committee Chairman for the Building Our American Communities and Cooperation Projects. Tina showed her first cattle at the Washington County Fair in 1979, and since that time has exhibited many animals at both the Washington County and the Wisconsin State Fair. For the past two years she has been in charge of caring for all the calves on their farm. At the present time, she has four head of cattle in her name. Tina is interested in some kind of professional career in the dairy industry.

The Outstanding Holstein Boy for Washington County was Douglas Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mayer of Slinger. Doug is a first year member of the Slinger FFA Chapter and a six year member of the Hi-Lite Happy Workers 4-H Club, and a six year member of the Washington County Junior Holstein Association. He has carried the dairy project for five years, winning the County Dairy Award twice. He is active in a number of other 4-H projects, church activities, and musical activities including playing several instruments. Doug purchased his first purebred animal in May of 1979 and has had many accomplishments with his dairy animal since that time. He has exhibited at the county fair, state fair, Central Holstein Show, and World Dairy Expo. He has career plans of being a veterinarian.

Tina Becker and Douglas Mayer both received units of semen from East Central Breeders as awards for their efforts.

Doug Mayer was selected as a State Distinguished Junior Member and received an award presented by Tom Pieper, Holstein Consultant with the national association.

4-H NEWS

CHRISTMAS AROUND THE WORLD

By Kandi Veal
4-H and Youth Agent

Beneath the white mantle and bright blaze of an ideal Christmas lie dark and ancient mysteries. I invite you to climb aboard Santa's sleigh and take a journey around the world to see where your customs and traditions of the ideal American Christmas originated.

Holly, ivy and mistletoe are favorite decorations that adorn American homes throughout the holiday season. To our ancestors, they were strong life symbols not only because they were evergreens but also because, unlike most plants, they bear fruit in the winter. Traditionally, holly is masculine and ivy feminine: thus, both are needed if all in the house are to share in the blessings they imply. Mistletoe—the golden bough of classical legend—was held sacred by the Celtic Druids. Kissing under the mistletoe, however, seems to be purely an English custom never found in other countries unless an Englishman settled there.

Decorating and lighting small trees was a custom that originated in Germany. Traditionally one would find trees brilliantly lit with candles; however, due to the safety hazard, colorful electric lights have replaced the candles.

Christmas is essentially a feast of light. Candles blaze brilliantly at home and in churches. Special customs of lighting candles throughout the Christmas season can be found in Norway, Denmark and Ireland.

Holiday greetings are brought to friends and family around the world by sentimental messages on Christmas cards. Our British ancestors created this enchanting custom not more than a century ago.

Ringling out melodically as if sung by angels are traditional Christmas carols. Carols have come to America from England, Italy, Germany and France. "Silent Night, Holy Night," a traditional carol for many Americans, came to us from Germany. The tale goes that on Christmas Eve 1818, the priest of an Austrian village found that mice had eaten away the cloth of the organ bellows...yet that night midnight mass was to be celebrated...so the appalled and organless priest took the words of a Christmas hymn he had written to the local schoolmaster who wrote guitar music to it so they could present something special for the mass. It was sung that night to the simple accompaniment of an Italian guitar.

Gift-giving began long before Christianity, though Christianity has given a richer, deeper meaning to the international custom. Whenever Christmas is celebrated, gift-bringing is associated with a familiar figure.

Where did America's well renewed figure known to all originate? Germany lends us a similar figure of St. Nicholas and the Dutch brought us Knecht Rupprecht. Elfish qualities of the American gift-bringer may have encouraged the Irish in the United States to accept him because he was like the "little people" of their folklore. However, Santa Claus' growing importance was due to his role as a gift-bringer. Santa Claus has become a national symbol of generosity and charity.

Our sleigh ride is coming to an end. My Christmas message to you: As the rich spirit of Christmas settles in your home this year, may you better understand the international heritages that have had a significant impact on the customs and traditions you cherish and celebrate.

Christmas Is A Feeling

Christmas doesn't depend on whether the tree is real or artificial, nor does it depend on the gifts we send or the gifts we receive. Christmas is something that happens maybe at the church's Christmas play, or maybe when the carolers sing. Christmas may happen outside under the twinkling stars. Christmas comes when we really think about the special gift of Christ's love and give Him, and others, our love in return.

Girl Scout News

With Christmas just around the corner the Girl Scouts are busy enjoying the holiday activities in the area.

On Thursday, December 13, the area scouts went caroling around town. They then went to the Labor Center for a treat and a visit with Santa.

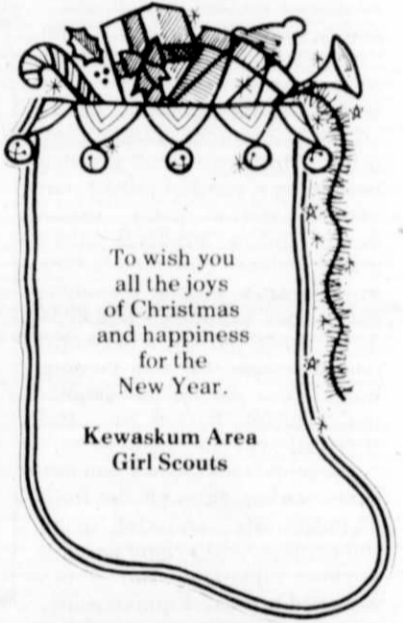

On Tuesday evening Troop 53 enjoyed a Holiday dinner at the home of their leader, Mrs. Stommel. They exchanged gifts and enjoyed a dinner with food that is served in Sweden for Christmas. Carols were sung as they gathered around the tree.

On December 6, the scout leaders from the Kewaskum area enjoyed a potluck dinner at the Legion Clubhouse. Each leader brought a dish that she is known for as her specialty.

After dinner Kewaskum Police Officer Richard Knoebel talked to the ladies on "Child Abuse." It was enjoyed by all.

The leaders would like to say "thank you" to Mr. Knoebel for taking the time to come.

A short business meeting was then held and an ornament exchange then took place.

To wish you all the joys of Christmas and happiness for the New Year.

State Campsite Reservation Change

There is a major change in the family campsite reservation program in state park and forest campgrounds beginning next year, 1985.

As a result of action by the legislature this year, there will be no advantage to campers who take their reservation applications to the park in person over those who mail in their reservation requests postmarked on the first date that applications will be accepted next year, January 2nd.

In the past, reservations taken to the park in person on the first work day after New Year's Day were processed immediately and the reservations confirmed "on-the-spot." Beginning this January 2nd, reservations taken to park or forest headquarters will be accepted and then set aside for a three-day period, rather than processed immediately. After three days, they will be processed together with applications received in the mail with a January 2nd postmark and the reservations will then be confirmed by random selection.

The three-day set aside on campsite reservation applications delivered in person will be in effect from January 2nd through January 7th and on those dates will eliminate any advantage the walk-in applicant in the past had over the mail-in applicant. "This new procedure will better serve the camping public," Dave Weizenicker, Director of the Bureau of Parks and Recreation, said. "It will eliminate the need for long lines of campers at the more popular state park and forest offices in early January each year," Weizenicker noted, "and it will give everyone an equal opportunity to reserve 'that favorite site' for a date later on in the year."

Campsite application forms for the 1985 camping season, which list the campgrounds where advance reservations can be made, are now available at DNR offices throughout the state. There are 29 state properties with campgrounds where advance family campsite reservations can be made involving a total of 1,961 sites. The remaining 3,227 campsites on state lands are available during the camping season on a first-come, first served basis.

DOT Seeks Safe Winter Highways With Less Salt

Wisconsin can keep highways reasonably clear of ice this winter, and use less salt, the state Department of Transportation has told highway crews at a just completed series of 72 county workshops.

"Our charge is to minimize the undesirable effects of salt by prudent management and yet provide a high quality of winter service on our highway network," said Transportation Secretary Lowell Jackson.

Key ingredients of a good deicing program, DOT Chief Maintenance Engineer Don Jorgensen told the county highway crews, include:

- Personnel who have been trained to use salt most efficiently,

- Good salt-spreading equipment that avoids waste and takes much of the guesswork out of salt application.

- Using sand mixed with small amounts of salt to keep it workable in extremely cold weather,

- Continued testing of techniques such as pre-wetting salt with liquid calcium chloride, or using other salt substitutes.

In its effort to reduce salt use this winter without losing the safety and mobility benefits of a good deicing program, DOT began the training workshops with highway crews in each of the 72 counties in September. In cooperation with the University of Wisconsin-Extension, DOT and county highway officials covered subjects such as the properties of deicing chemicals and how they work, equipment preparation and calibration, service levels, call-out procedures, weather forecasts, inefficient practices to avoid, policy, safety, environmental considerations and coordination with local law enforcement officials.

Jorgensen reported that pouring liquid calcium chloride on salt in some areas of the state last winter produced good results:

- Faster melting of snow and ice because the usual period required for brine to form was nearly eliminated.

- Less salt waste because pre-wetted salt did not bounce on packed ice or snow, immediately began to bore through the frozen layer, and was less likely to be blown off the road by wind or passing cars.

- Effective deicing at lower temperatures.

Jorgensen said the DOT and some counties would continue testing pre-wetted salt this winter.

Jorgensen encouraged all counties to invest in state-of-the-art automatic spreaders that spread salt evenly, whatever the truck's speed.

Some counties reported reducing salt by applying it with chutes instead of spinners.

While the DOT will continue to mix sand and salt when temperatures are well below freezing, said Jorgensen, "our experience indicates that mixing high percentages of salt with sand mostly results in raising the cost of deicing." Sand is an abrasive, rather than a deicer, and is typically used to improve friction between icy pavement and auto tires and quickly alleviate the accident danger.

Recent tests have been unsuccessful in finding a deicing chemical as effective as salt — and environmental safe, non-corrosive, economical and commercially available as well, said the DOT engineer.

Calcium magnesium acetate may be the most promising salt substitute tried, said Jorgensen, but it is less effective than salt and requires four times as much. It costs $350 a ton, compared with $24 for salt, and is not available in commercial quantities.

"We will continue our efforts to find a salt substitute,"

Jorgensen added, "but like it or not, our principal deicing chemical for many years to come will be sodium chloride — salt."

Most State Drivers Like 55 Speed Limit

Most Wisconsin drivers like the 55 mph speed limit, feel it should be continued on four-lane highways as well as two-lane roads, and like the way it is enforced right now, according to the Wisconsin Department of Transportation.

A July 1984 DOT public opinion survey found 54% of the respondents believed the 55 speed limit should be continued on interstate type divided highways, while 85% favored 55 on all other highways, according to Kenneth Leonard, director of DOT's policy planning bureau. He reported that 63% felt the limit should be enforced as it is now, 18% favored "more strictly," and 16% preferred "less strictly."

Wisconsin has one of the best compliance records in the country, said Harry Price, the DOT chief traffic engineer. Wisconsin ranked 8th in 1983.

The Wisconsin DOT statistics come on the heels of a National Research Council recommendation that because of the "substantial benefits to safety" the national 55 speed limit be "retained on almost all of the nation's highways."

The National Research Council, an arm of the National Academy of Sciences was asked at the direction of Congress to examine the speed limit's costs and benefits. The committee concluded that 55 saved 2,000 to 4,000 lives per year, prevented up to 4500 serious injuries, lowered fuel consumption by just under 2% and saved taxpayers $65 million in medical payments. Chief cost of the law, said the committee, is about one billion extra driving hours.

Average speed on Wisconsin highways, said the DOT, is 56.1 miles an hour, which is the same as in 1974, the first year of the 55 speed limit, and 9.2 miles an hour less than 1973 when the interstate daytime limit for autos was 70.

Drivers in Wisconsin highways average slightly less than the national 1983 average.

Traffic death tolls in Wisconsin in the ten years since the speed limit was enacted have averaged 200 per year lower than the totals during the ten preceding years. Prorating the National Research Council estimate of 2,000 to 4,000 lives save each year because of the 55 law Wisconsin's share of the lives saved would be 35 to 70.

Carols

Did you know that the word "carol" means "to dance in a ring"? Caroling became popular with the beloved 13th century St. Francis of Assisi. Since most of his villagers could not read, he enacted the Christmas story by arranging a manger scene using real people and animals, and then led the villagers in joyous caroling.

Conservation Farmers Receive Kewaskum Kiwanis Recognition

Kermit Coulter and John Schuppel Jr., Wayne Center Drive, Town of Wayne, were honored as outstanding conservation farmers at the Kewaskum Kiwanis annual Farm-City banquet held November 26, at the Hon-E-Kor, Kewaskum. Doctor Stephen Van Ess, Kiwanian Vice President presented the awards. Dave Rizzardi, Vo-ag instructor and FFA member Joel Junk presented a film on Wisconsin Agriculture. Slides were shown by Don Kurer, US Soil Conservation Service, of the conservation work applied to the Coulter and Schuppel farms over the years. He also paid tribute to past Vo-ag instructors Roy Esser and Orv Behnke as well as Rizzardi for their consistent effort to promote conservation in FFA and the classroom.

John Schuppel and his wife, Shirley, own a farm north of Allenton where water erosion takes its toll if good conservation methods are not practiced. John recognized the need in 1948 when he became a cooperater with the Washington County Land Conservation Dept. Since then, he has applied 108 acres of grasses and legumes in rotation; conservation tillage on 67 acres which leaves at least 1800 lbs. per acre of crop residue on the surface year around; 44 acres of alternate corn and hay strips on the contour; one acre of grass waterway and 22 acres of wildlife habitat management. John is retired now but makes sure that the conservation practices applied are very well maintained. Allen Schulz, a neighbor and previous Kiwanian conservation award recipient, is renting the farm and knows how to farm "them hills."

Kermit Coulter and his wife, Gertrude, have a 140 acre dairy farm also located on Hwy. "H" north of Allenton and 2 miles south of St. Kilian. To give you an idea how high and steep the land in this area is, Holy Hill can be seen from the intersection of St. Kilian Heights and Hwy. 28 which is one fourth mile north of the Coulter farm. It was in March of 1977 that Kermit came into the SCS office to see Kurer about contour strip cropping. He became an ICD cooperater and a conservation plan for the farm was developed. Forty-three acres of contour strips were laid out in 1978. A grass and legume rotation was applied as well as 2 acres of pasture management. A grass waterway, a chisel-disk system of conservation tillage are planned as well as 38 acres of additional contour strips on land recently purchased. A timber stand improvement for 10 acres of upland woods was recommended for timber stand improvement by the DNR.

The Coulters and Schuppels have consistently demonstrated their interest in soil stewardship and it is a pleasure having them as cooperaters of the Washington County Land Conservation Department.

Christmas & Apple Pie

Someone says that Christmas without the Christmas Story makes as much sense as Apple Pie without apples. For real family togetherness, why not gather the family around and read or tell the Christmas Story during the Christmas holidays and help the children as well as adults plan a special love offering for church, and for someone in a nursing home, etc.—put some "apples" in the "Apple Pie"!

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

This Christmas, as Americans come together all over this great nation and exchange gifts with their loved ones, there is much to be thankful for. Although we take the many freedoms we have for granted, they are the very reason this is still the land of opportunity. As long as we follow our Founding Fathers' doctrine, Americans can always feel a sense of hope that through verve, hard work and bold initiative our children's lives can be better than our own.

However, the situation is not nearly as prosperous and full of hope in many parts of the world. As many of you have seen, Africa is suffering a tragedy of enormous proportions. Most regrettably, we are also becoming more aware that the extent of the famine could have been avoided. Terrible misuse of the land, Soviet-type collectivized farms, civil war, massive refugee migrations, pervasive poverty and government ignorance have all contributed to the present problems. It has been estimated that, at least in Ethiopia, if the land were worked properly, there would be enough food to feed their own population. This rape of the land is a direct result of Marxist policies. Let us not forget that Ethiopia is a Russian satellite. Namibia, a Democratic country, despite the lack of rain, grew enough crops so they could actually export some — and it was all done by hand!

Even though America is being insulted and abused by the communist government of Ethiopia, our efforts to bring relief to millions of starving fellow human beings have not been thwarted. Just since October, the U.S. has approved more than $250 million in emergency food aid, which translates into over 550,000 metric tons. Also, in an unprecedented action, the President released another 300,000 tons of wheat held in U.S. reserve.

I hope that as we share the holidays with our friends and loved ones and pray in our places of worship we remember and pray for those here at home and throughout the world who do not share our good fortune.

Happy holidays and best wishes for 1985.

Higher Fines for Illegal Deer Hunting And Shining Result in Drop in Arrests

Four years of higher fines for illegal deer hunting and shining have made a dramatic drop in arrests. DNR Chief Warden, Ralph Christensen, said, which coupled with favorable winters and proper management provides Wisconsin hunters a better chance to bag their deer. "Comparing data from the past 15 years, law enforcement hours of effort have remained the same, but the number of arrests have declined," Christensen said. "Deer herd numbers and harvest during that period have grown to record highs."

The Wisconsin legislature increased the fines for illegal deer hunting prior to the 1980 deer season. Before 1980, the maximum fine for shooting a deer during a closed season was $196. Shining deer was $383. After the law change, the penalties jumped from a $1,910 minimum for illegal taking of deer and shining to a maximum of $3,810 depending on the latitude of the court and circumstances of the case.

"We expected to see a decrease in the number of arrests, but the decrease was staggering," Christensen said. "During the period from 1968 through 1983, the highest number of arrests occurred in 1979 with 1,500. In 1980, arrest plummeted to 500."

Beginning in 1968, arrests averaged 600 per year through 1973. In 1974 arrests for deer violations jumped to 1,000. After drops in 1975 and 1976, arrests again climbed to the 1979 high of 1,500.

The arrest rate has remained near 500 for each year since then. Law enforcement efforts statewide fluctuate somewhat, but continue to average about 100,000 hours per year.

DNR records show that the buck harvest was near the 50,000 level during the late 1960s. It began to climb in 1973 through 1975 before dipping to 69,000 in 1979. The harvest jumped to the 80,000 level in both 1977 and 1978.

The buck harvest is an accurate harvest gauge of hunting success as it is not inflated by variable antlerless deer quota figures.

Department researchers explained that a severe winter in 1978-79 brought the harvest to 76,000 in the fall of 1979. Starting in 1980, the same year as the increased fines were imposed, the buck harvest hit 81,000 and increased to some 97,000 by 1983. The buck harvest hit 99,000, the highest so far in Wisconsin history, in 1981.

Not all of the harvest increase is attributable solely to the increased fines. The Midwest did experience a regional increase in the buck harvest from 1980 through 1983 due to a series of mild winters. Minnesota, Michigan and Iowa as well as Wisconsin all registered more bucks during those years.

"That regional increase, the combination of a growing deer herd along with the decrease in illegal kill simply translates to a greater probability of bagging a deer for the average hunter," Christensen stated. "Our court systems are also less burdened with illegal deer hunting cases now and in general the deer herd is less pressured."

There are also some other benefits in decreased violations specifically in improved hunting quality, sportsmanship and hunter/landowner relations. The exercise by responsible hunters of their hunting privilege will also keep the Wisconsin deer hunt a very unique experience for everyone.

Indians Defeat Lomira In Non-Conference Game

By John Harju

Kewaskum hung on to beat Lomira, 71-68, last Tuesday night in Kewaskum.

At the end of three quarters of play, the Indians (now 3-3) were comfortably out in front 57-37 thanks to good team work and disciplined shooting.

Coach Perry Koth cited the play of guard Brian Ruplinger and reserve forward Ron Theusch as factors in keeping the Indians in command through the first three quarters.

In the fourth quarter, however, things fell apart for Kewaskum as they were outscored 31-14. Lomira forward Rick Koll scored many of his game-high 29 points during this period.

"It was like a circus out there," commented Koth about his team's play during the final quarter noting the fact that Kewaskum was outrebounded 9-4 during that quarter, as well as turning the ball over "way too many times."

Koth then brought his starters back into the game with just over two minutes to play to secure the win.

Leading a well-balanced Indian scoring attack was Bob Yahr with 14 points, followed by Ruplinger and Tim Rohlinger with 11. Mike Steinhardt and Todd Wiedmeyer had 10 as well. Theusch led in rebounding with 7.

Following Koll in scoring for Lomira was Brad Tagliapietra, scoring 11 of his 18 points in the fourth quarter. Koll led in rebounding with an impressive 20.

The Indian JVs also won, 37-36, coming from behind to win on a short jumper by Jess Mueller with just over a minute to play. Mike Coulter scored a season-high 22 points to spark Kewaskum.

Kewaskum's varsity and JV squads will be in Germantown next in a tournament, Dec. 28-29.

KHS Girls Overpowered By New Holstein, 58-36

By John Harju

There's no doubt that New Holstein was definitely the best team last Thursday night as the visiting Huskies handed the KHS girls (1-2 and 2-5) a 58-36 loss.

Kewaskum's shooting woes continued as the young Indians hit on only 14 of 51 shots from the floor for a timid 27%. What made matters worse was the Indians foul trouble which allowed the Huskies to go to the line 37 times where they made 24 free throws. (65%). Kewaskum was just 8 for 16 from the line.

A big thorn in Kewaskum's side Tuesday was the play of Kathy Steffen, Amy Anderson, and Lori Koeser, who popped in 13, 13, and 11 points, respectively. Steffen led in rebounding with 9 while Anderson had 4 steals.

Lisa Fusek, Jodi Yearling, and Michelle Gebheim each had 8, 7, and 6 points to lead Kewaskum in scoring. Fusek also led in rebounding with 6.

Coach Keith Amundson's JV Indians (1-2 and 4-3) were defeated, 34-29.

Tracy Theusch, Jenny Hintz, and Michelle Beck led the sophs with 8, 7, and 4 points apiece.

The fresh(women) remained undefeated in conference play as they won, 28-25. Brenda Theusch led KHS with 9 points while Debbie Felix, who replaced injured Jenny Schuster at center, had 8. Coach Michele Wiedmeyer also noted key play by Nicole Fliess and Jean Klahn as reason for her team's win.

Coach Milt Dickinsen's squad will travel to Mayville on Dec. 27-28 where they will be involved in a 4-team tournament.

Wrestlers Jolt Cedar Grove, 40-24

By John Harju

The KHS wrestling squad jolted host Cedar Grove, 40-24, last Tuesday in non-conference mat action.

Kewaskum (now 2-5) was without 138-pound regular Wade Jepsen (eye infection) and 185-pound Jim Lauer (flu illness) but responded, none the less, with the help of some impressive pins and Cedar Grove forfeits.

KHS's first pin came from 119-pound Rich Straub, picking up his first win in 4:59. After Bob Callison ran his record to 7-0 via forfeit at 126, 132-pounder Rick Staehler followed with a 3:44 pin. 167-pounder Marty Selchert and heavy-weight Jeff Diels also recorded falls in :59 and 3:01, respectively.

Gymnasts Give Beaver Dam a Run in Opener

By John Harju

The KHS gymnasts stayed close with Beaver Dam in their opening meet of the season before faltering in the final event, the uneven parallel bars, and end up losing, 84.97 to 77.06 last Friday night in Kewaskum.

Coach Sue Paul definitely agreed. "That's our weakest event (bars), and we'll have to work on it."

Despite losing Paul praised her team for performing "very well."

Highlights for KHS included sophomore Chris Kirchner's second in the all-around (6.76), first in the floor exercise (7.4) and balance beam (7.1), tied for second in the bars (6.0), and third in vaulting (6.55).

Another soph, Sherri Batzler took second on the beam (6.7) while a third sophomore, Renee Kapp, and Darlene Luedtke were second and fourth in vaulting as well.

The Indian JVs won 74.71-65.05. Carrie Batzler placed in three events while Terry Voge won the vault. Kapp placed second on the bars.

Kewaskum's next meet will be Jan. 8th at Waupun.

54 Shooting Accidents, 5 Fatalities Reported During '84 Gun Deer Season

A total of 54 shooting accidents including five fatalities were reported to the Department of Natural Resources during the 1984 Wisconsin gun deer season, Homer E. Moe, hunter education administrator, said.

"In more than half of the accidents, investigation showed that injuries occurred when the shooter exercised poor judgement in attempting to bag a deer," Moe said. "Group bagging, loaded guns in or on vehicles, shooting across highways and tree stands were major factors in the remainder of the mishaps."

In all, 31 of the 54 accidents, including two of the fatalities, were classified as two-person accidents. In 71 percent of those accidents (22 of 31) the persons involved were members of the same hunting party. That also included two fatalities. Twelve of the 31 two-person accidents, or 39 percent, including one fatality, involved hunters attempting to group bag.

"Three of the fatalities were of the self-inflicted type," Moe said. "One involved an unsafe rifle known to accidentally discharge."

There were a total of 23 self inflicted injuries in the 54 accidents. Eleven of those involved lever action rifles. Rifles, including 17 lever action types, were reported in 34 accidents. Eighteen shotgun accidents were reported and two handgun mishaps. Three fatalities were caused by rifles and two by shotguns. Only four of the accidental shootings were reported when hunters were loading or unloading their guns.

"Fifty percent of the accidents during the 1984 season occurred on the opening weekend of the deer season," Moe stated. "Only one fatality occurred during the same period."

Nine accidents and two of the fatalities involved loaded firearms in or on vehicles, or shooting across highways. Eight of the accidents, including two of the fatalities, involved hunters slipping or falling from a tree or tree stand.

After trailing by 14 at half-time, Kewaskum came back to tie it up at 93 early in the fourth quarter, only to have Port reel off 10 unanswered points and lead 103-97. Kewaskum got no closer than six after that.

Manager Bill Backhaus commented, "unfortunately we haven't been able to put our full team on the court the last two weeks, and that has hurt. We're in the same hole we were in last year at this point. Maybe after the holidays we can regroup and put something together."

Kewaskum's Leon Laatsch took scoring honors in the contest with 37 points, followed by Bill Gonwa with 28. Top scorers for Port were Kevin Lemon with 33 and veteran Rollie Kitt with 30.
