Sixth Grade Move to Proceed

Beechwood School Closing Upheld Under New Management

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum School Board has re-affirmed its decision to close Beechwood Elementary by voting, 5 to 2, a motion to rescind its earlier action to close the school effective with the beginning of the 1986-87 school year. Newly elected board member Clara Trapp and Ralph Horner, who made and seconded the motion, were the only two votes in favor of keeping Beechwood open.

The action came after a lengthy discussion which included pleas to the board to consider the possibility of future growth in the district, overcrowding at Farmington, and the possible adverse effects to sixth grade pupils if they were moved to the Middle School.

Joan Rosenberger, Town of Farmington, presented the board with a petition containing 811 signatures against the closing. "I would like to say we could probably have gotten several thousand signatures if we had the time," she stated. Rosenberger again referred to the SERPAC projections which she had presented at the two informational meetings last week, that Washington County will see increases in population into 1990. Board member Perry Ankerson again countered that the Kewaskum School District is only a part of the county and population increases in the county did not necessarily mean substantial increases in student enrollments. District Administrator Penny Kleinhans said DPI projections and yearly district census figures show that Kewaskum is in a "pocket" where this is not happening.

Rosenberger told the board that if the issue had been put on a referendum in April, it would have cost little more than the printing and the district's residents would have been able to give their input. If it would have been a simple thing of asking just one question, do you want Beechwood closed, yes or no, maybe a referendum would have worked, noted Board Member Ron Theusch, but there was a lot more to it than just that.

There is talk of a recall, noted

Rosenberger, but that costs money. I would rather see that money going for our children's books and supplies.

Rosenberger told the board, when the district mandated budget reductions at the annual meeting last year they did not tell you to close Beechwood. Theusch told her the taxpayers defeated the proposed budget and told us to make cuts. We went back to the administration and asked them to make recommendations. Closing Beechwood, which represented a major reduction, was one of the nine or ten options, he noted. Rosenberger then asked why Beechwood was the only option considered. Ankerson told her it wasn't. "We laid off teachers and cut programs," stated Ankerson. "It's not a hell of a lot of fun doing this but it has to be done. It's a sticky issue since I believe in small

While the Glacier Inn will be opening under new management Friday, May 23, there will be some familiar [not old] faces behind the bar and in the kitchen. Nancy and Bill Kulas have returned to their "old stand" and will again be welcoming patrons to their restaurant to enjoy the good food and drinks for which the Glacier Inn was known in the past.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Kulas are operating the Trail's End Tavern on Main St. The Glacier Inn had been operated since August of 1983 by C.J. and Karen Galliard.

"We'll be featuring some new things when we re-open," said Kulas. "First off, we'll be featuring the salad bar with all the fish fries including the family style.

We're also going to feature prime rib, and adding duck to the menu. There will also be specials during the week." Bill also said there would be a few other new items on the menu.

For the present, the Glacier Inn will discontinue noon lunches except by pre-arrangement for special meetings or organizations. Hours will be, bar open at 3:30, with dinners served Tuesday through Sunday from 5:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.; closed on Mondays.

Right now Bill and crew are busy getting things spic and span for the opening next week. Once we get settled back in, Nancy plans on doing a little redecorating, noted Bill.

"We're looking forward to opening next week and invite all our friends and past patrons to stop in and say hello."

Laid Off Support Staff Get Temporary Reprieve

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The discussion of lay-off practices and procedures for district support staff turned out to be another item which dragged the Kewaskum School Board's meeting out into the "wee" hours of the morning Monday, but the end result may help to establish some type of seniority system for non-union personnel.

The action came as the result of a motion by board member Ralph Horner to reduce support staff on the basis of seniority. Horner made the motion with specific reference to several support staff who were given lay-off notices as the direct result of the Beechwood School closing.

Even though several of the personnel had between 10 and 18 years of service with the district, no consideration was given to re-assigning them to another area even if that meant "bumping" out someone with less seniority.

District Administrator Penny Kleinhans indicated that it had not been the district's past practice to take seniority into consideration in support of staff lay-offs. "This is a negotiated item in contract discussions, we do not have a seniority system and the district did not award one in negotiations," said Kleinhans. They have been management decisions handled by the administration.

Horner said he could not see any difficulty with laying off strictly by seniority. Board member Ron Theusch said, "I think it's a little more complex than Mr. Horner is saying. I think the support staff has some real problems in trying to work out a seniority system and I wish we could get a little more specific in how we would do it."

Board member Jean Goeden said she thought the district should have a specific policy and it should go through the Policy Committee and then come to the board. Former board member Neal Weare, who chaired the Policy Committee and had worked with the support staff trying to set up a seniority system, asked the board, "how long are we going to ask these people to

Music in The Park

May 18, 1986 is the date chosen by the Kewaskum High School Music Department for their annual outdoor concert. Bring your lawn chairs and blankets and get comfortable at the River Hill Park for an afternoon of "pops" music.

The concert, which begins at 1:30 p.m., will feature the symphonic band, treble choir, concert band, concert choir and swing choir. Both bands are ready after their exciting dinner concert with new songs which will appeal to people of all ages. The choirs, after a short break since Easter, will also sing music to keep your feet tapping. As the final group of the afternoon, the swing choir, just back from their competitive trip to Chicago and Six Flags Great America, will keep the pace going with the style and pep that we are all so used to hearing from them.

This will be the last concert of the 1985-86 school year, and we don't think that you want to miss it. Take some time off from your usual Sunday afternoon and treat yourself to the pleasure of good music, performed by a group of excellent young people and musicians, in a very beautiful setting.

For your added gastronomic pleasure the Kewaskum Indian Booster Club will be selling refreshments in the food stand. See you all at the River Hill Park this Sunday, May 18, at 1:30 p.m.

wait, I think we owe it to these people to do something now." We are told the board something had been put together by the two groups but the board had not chosen to take it under consideration.

Leonard Peter, of Wayne, asked the board what was so hard about seniority lay-offs. "If you got a cook with 18 years and one with four months, the new one goes. You keep cooks with cooks, secretaries with secretaries and so on."

In an effort to resolve the situation, the board voted to reinstate those support staff who were laid off until it can be discussed at the next Negotiations Committee meeting and a recommendation for lay-off procedures brought back to the board. Theusch noted, however, that even after the situation was looked into, it was possible that some of the same personnel would still be laid off if similar positions could not be found for them.

The board held its election of officers for the coming year with Tom Brigham being re-elected president, Perry Ankerson elected vice-president, Jean Goeden clerk, and Ron Theusch treasurer.

In other action, the board approved the second reading of polices concerning maternity leave, and teacher and student attendance at state competitions.

Finance - Transportation Committee Chairman Perry Ankerson informed the board that his group was working on the new bus contract proposal. He also noted that at a future board meeting, he would pass on a recommendation to discontinue busing of village students.

The board defeated a motion to extend the eighth grade reading program to one year.

Buildings Superintendent Fred Boehlke received board approval to award a contract at a cost of $2,077, to Commercial Industrial Services Company for summer maintenance of the district's boilers, furnaces and air conditioners. A contract was also approved for the calibration of heating and cooling controls at a cost of $2,850, and the purchase of five replacement heating coils for $1,792.

The summer library program was again approved for Beechwood Elementary. In August, the district's books will be moved to Farmington and books owned by the Beechwood PTO will be returned to it for disposition as the PTO sees fit.

The board approved the extension of high school teacher William Lickel's contract from 43% to 85%, to cover the need for an additional Biology class and study hour supervision.

Mr. Gene Bohn, the district's insurance agent, gave the board a short update of the status of the district's insurance needs and some problems with, and in getting coverage. Kleinhans informed the board she is looking to other sources of insurance for the district but had no specific information presently.

Because the meeting was running extremely late, the board voted to adjourn without completing all the business on its agenda.

schools, but this is a direct result of budget issues. We are addressing the issues of making do with the money we have in the district."

Not all of the approximately 100 people attending Monday night's meeting were against the school closing. Joyce Schulteis told the meeting, "I hope the board stands by its decision and I think the students will adjust better than the adults." "I recommend you stick with your decision and at the Annual Meeting you seriously consider liquidating the property," stated Chuck Vogt.

In other action, the board also defeated a motion to rescind the transfer of all district sixth graders to the Middle School. Trapp and Horner again made and seconded the motion which was defeated 5 to 2.

In discussing the transfer before the vote, Middle School teacher Mary Reilly-Kliss asked Trapp, "do you agree with the plans that have been made?" Trapp replied "no." Reilly-Kliss stated, "I really see no problems at all with the plan." Mrs. Stangl, another teacher, also supported the plan and felt the students would benefit from it rather than be hurt by it.

Several parents expressed concern over their children having to ride the bus with the high school students and being subjected to bad language and harrassment. "Our parochial students have been riding the buses with the high school for years," said Board President Tom Brigham. "If you can handle it on the buses, the teachers can surely cope with handling the students in school."

Mrs. Sue Buechel, Beechwood, read a letter from a CESA psychologist who felt placing sixth graders in a Middle School was inappropriate. Brigham told Buechel the letter referred directly to Waupun where they were dealing with a "true junior high school concept. And that is not what we are trying to do here," said Brigham. The sixth grade classes are separated from the seventh and eighth grades.

Robert Schulteis told the board, his fifth grade son, who comes in early for band, has been riding the high school bus and there had been no problems. "My fifth grader is just thrilled with the prospect of going to the Middle School," said Margaret McFadden. Mrs. Carol Connor told the board she had informally questioned several West Bend residents about their system and found no negative comments.

Mrs. Jan Martinson told the board, "it's about time this school board stands by its decision instead of yo-yoing back and forth. I've had my disappointments with some of the board's decisions, but we all can't have things our way."

Northern Unit of Kettle Moraine State Forest to Observe 50th Anniversary With Two Open Houses

The Northern Unit-Kettle Moraine State Forest in the Kewaskum area will observe the forest's 50th anniversary this year.

Two open houses are planned at the northern forest. The first is scheduled Sunday, May 18, when all state parks and forests in Wisconsin waive vehicle admission fees for the day and invite the public to tour and picnic at the facilities. A display of historical and other photos of the forest will be available for the May event. Camping fees are not waived.

The other open house is planned Saturday, July 26, when a ceremony commemorating the forest's founding is held at the Henry Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center, located in the northern forest near Dundee. Vehicle admission fees will be waived for this event too, and all recreational facilities will be open for use.

By June, a new state publication on the forest will be available at both Northern and Southern Units of the Kettle Moraine. The Southern Unit, headquartered at Eagle, will observe the founding a day later, July 27.

The Kettle Moraine forest began with about an 800-acre tract at Mauthe Lake, deeded to the state for a nominal amount by the Izaak Walton League of Milwaukee, according to Northern Unit Superintendent Walter Adams. The present northern forest contains 27,800 acres, most of it purchased.

"The Northern Unit experienced a very good year in 1985 with an attendance of 723,000 — up 25 percent from 1984," he said. "This year is expected to be a banner year with the celebration of the forest's 50th anniversary."

Several improvements in forest facilities will add to the convenience of users, Adams said.

A new entrance road, contact station, and visitor parking lot are planned for Long Lake Recreational Area. A picnic shelter will be built for the north picnic area of Long Lake and a shower building for areas E and F of the lake's campground. A four-unit toilet will be built at the Zillmer Trail, and a new snowmobile bridge is planned for the Kewaskum access trail.

Fall will bring dedication events for newly completed recreation facilities.

The New Fane 7.7-mile hiking and skiing trail will be dedicated October 5, and a newly completed section of the Ice Age Trail, from Greenbush to Glenbeulah, will be dedicated October 11. The October 11 event will be attended by National Park Service and Ice Age Trail Council members.

Another new development, Adams said, is formation of the Friends of the Kettle Moraine, Inc., which will assist in interpretive and educational activities for the forest unit.

It's springtime in the parks, and for the May open house, Adams said, "many flowers and shrubs will be blooming, songbirds will warble into breezes sweet with the smell of early wildflowers, and it's a nice time to follow the Kettle Moraine Scenic Drive through the forest." Five hiking trails will be open for visitor use.

The forest covers parts of Fond du Lac, Sheboygan and Washington Counties. Established in 1936, it is managed for multiple uses, but recreation is its dominant use.

The park open house May 18 coincides with the beginning of National Tourism Week.

Most facilities will have personnel available part of the day to meet the public and answer questions. Most will provide refreshments.

At Harrington Beach State Park in Belgium, admission is free all day, but programs are limited to 1-4 p.m. They will include Smokey the Bear presenting free posters and bookmarkers to children; a 2 p.m. program by Wildlife ARC, an animal rehabilitation center, featuring a hawk and an owl; and a historic artifact contest with the prize a copy of "Wisconsin State Parks — Explore and Enjoy." Coffee, orange juice and cookies will be served. Park Superintendent Mark Voskuil; Sam Decker, local history buff; and a Department of Natural Resources conservation warden will be available to answer questions. Shuttle bus rides will give visitors an opportunity to see the extent of the beach park, which includes about a mile along Lake Michigan. Severe shoreline erosion, which has stripped away broad sand beaches, will be an unwelcome sight but one that visitors will be sure to check out.

At another lakeside park, Kohler-Andrae in Sheboygan County, the Sanderling Nature Center will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., according to Jim Buchholz, park superintendent. A slide program and refreshments are planned there. Displays of mounted wildlife also are on exhibit. Two nature trails and two miles of beach will provide outdoor activities, Buchholz said.

Pike Lake State Park, east of Hartford, will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on May 18. DNR resource people will be available from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. to answer questions and greet visitors. Displays on forestry and wildlife can be viewed at the ranger station during those hours.

The campground, picnic areas and hiking trails will be open, according to John E. Wald, Pike Lake park superintendent. Located in the Kettle Moraine area, the park contains part of the Ice Age Trail and offers panoramic views from its 1,350-foot-high Powder Hill.

The Southern Unit-Kettle Moraine State Forest at Eagle will show a slide show on the forest at regular intervals from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Visitor Center off Highway 59, about three miles west of Eagle. Fish Manager Randy Schumacher will be available during those hours to answer questions. Also available will be schedules of nature walks that the southern forest is sponsoring this year. Refreshments will be served.

The Northern Unit-Kettle Moraine, headquartered at Campbellsport, plans a display of historical and other photos of the forest at the Ice Age Visitor Center near Dundee. Five hiking trails will be open for outdoor exploration, according to Superintendent Walter Adams.

Bong Recreation Area in Kenosha County, which offers a wide choice of outdoor activities on its 4,500 acres, will join in waiving vehicle admission fees May 18.

KEYS: High Risk Venture May Open Doors

Starting a new business venture in Kewaskum these days appears somewhat risky for investors, especially if that venture is in the business of asking people for money. But that's just what some local people are doing, and they're operating on high risk/high gain energy and optimism.

The new venture is KEYS, which stands for Kewaskum Youth Scholarship, Inc., a non-profit organization. Its purpose is to provide scholarships to KHS graduates so they may continue their education at technical school or college.

Admirable goal.....tough to accomplish.

Tough, because KEYS' dollar target is $100,000. The plan is to give $10,000 in scholarships from the accumulated interest. This year the new organization awarded its first scholarship for $500 to KHS senior Richard Staehler at the school's Scholastic Honors Ceremony.

Tougher still, because recent news articles stated that Kewaskum graduates received over $20,000 in local scholarships this year. This is a lot of money....but then again, it isn't when financing higher education. Actually, our graduates have access to limited scholarship funding.

A $100 or $200 scholarship can't send anybody to school. It costs approximately $5,000-$10,000 to attend a four year college and $1,000-$2,000 to attend a two-year tech school....that's per year for the college and the tech!

That significant difference between going on for more education, and not being able to go....providing that resource to insure that a student will have enough funds to make the choice, that is what KEYS hopes to do by offering scholarships over and above those already given.

No Spaghetti Funders?

Recognizing that bake sales and spaghetti dinners can't finance this "significant difference," KEYS is banking on a different strategy. Backed by seed money generously donated by the Pete Ayer Chorale, which staged a holiday benefit last year, they also invited West Bend's COLUMNS to share their success story. Meanwhile, a board of directors was elected, incorporation proceedings began, a key logo was on the drawing board and committees were recruited.....and significantly, several generous contributions were made by Kewaskum residents to the fledgling organization.

Part of its fundraising strategy is to contact Kewaskum High School alumni to inform them of this opportunity to "give something back." A big stumbling block to this process has been locating current addresses. KEYS has published "HELP" notices in area papers trying to locate anyone with mailing lists for class reunions, etc., and would appreciate anyone with this information contacting the KHS Guidance Office.

One special way some have chosen to support KEYS efforts is with memorials to loved ones. Other donors simply recognize the value of higher education and the crucial need for financial support. Periodically KEYS acknowledges contributors' generosity in the local paper.

"Our hardest sell," says KEYS President Jerry Gosa, "is to convince people that supporting scholarships for our graduates directly benefits the giver."

One KEYS member put it this way: "there's a quality of life we've come to expect in Kewaskum, like clean air and water, safe neighborhoods. Opportunities for advanced education for our young people are a plus for us all....and should not be limited to the few."

Another major source KEYS hopes to reach is local business and industry. This corporate and commercial backing has proven a major factor in COLUMNS' successful fundraising. In the next few months KEYS will be knocking on doors, all kinds.

This new venture is cautiously, optimistically "open for business".....it guarantees a high yield on your investment.

All contributions to KEYS are tax deductible and can be mailed to P.O. Box 124, Kewaskum, WI 53040. For more information contact KHS Guidance Office, tel. 626-2166.

Arrest of Former Resident Uncovers List of Eight Outstanding Warrants

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Collin M. Becker, 20, of 2419 West State Street, Milwaukee, (formerly of Kewaskum), was arrested over the weekend for operating a vehicle after license revocation.

Becker was charged, in Washington County Circuit Court, Monday with operating a vehicle after revocation of his license for the second time and obstructing an officer. As of Wednesday, Becker remained in jail on a $250 cash bond.

The arrest occurred Saturday night at 9:20 p.m. on Highway 45, near Sandy Ridge Road, when Kewaskum Police Officer Thomas Bauer initially stopped a vehicle because it was operating without taillights. When a responding Washington County Sheriff's Deputy arrived, Becker, who was standing next to the Kewaskum squad, tried to get away by running across a field, Sheriff's Department records indicate.

The deputy followed Becker on foot, while Bauer circled Becker with his squad and cut him off. Becker was apprehended by the Sheriff's Deputy and taken into custody.

A routine check of Becker's record found eight outstanding warrants filed against him. Seven warrants from the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department include repeated charges of driving after suspension, driving after revocation of license, driving while intoxicated, speeding, failure to appear in court on charges, and non-payment of a $125.00 fine for possession of marijuana.

Washington County Sheriff's Department records indicate an outstanding warrant for obstructing an officer.

Sheriff Dept. Offers Reward for Arson

The CRIME ALERT PROGRAM will pay $200.00 to the person who provides information which will lead to the arrest of the person or persons involved in this arson. As always with this program, the Sheriff's Department wishes to stress all information received is totally confidential and the person remains anonymous.

If you have information on this arson, or any crime, call the CRIME ALERT number at 929-3216. It is not necessary to reveal your identity. You will be given a code number and you can periodically check back to learn the progress on this investigation. CRIME ALERT PROGRAM also pays cash reward for other information on other crimes.

Holy Trinity Pen-Pal Get Together

Kewaskum Statesman, Page 7
Friday, May 16, 1986

"The more we get together the happier we'll be," was the tone set by the Holy Trinity Third Graders on Wednesday, May 7.

Since January 1986, the third grade has been corresponding with the third grade from St. Mary's of Mayville. The climax came on Wednesday, May 7, when the third grade of Mayville were invited to Holy Trinity to meet their pen-pals. They arrived at 11 a.m. and were introduced to each other.

After that the two classes went to the Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park and enjoyed their bag lunches together. Each child of Holy Trinity paired up with their penpal. After an enjoyable lunch together they took a nature walk, played kickball, and "Duck, Duck, Goose."

It was fond farewell at 1:45 when the St. Mary's children had to leave for home. Each student has the opportunity to continue the friendship by writing back and forth throughout the summer.

The two classes had the pleasure of a hike through the nature trail in the park.

The two groups enjoyed their bag lunches in the park.

DNR Payments in Lieu Of Taxes Sent to Towns And Municipalities

Recently 818 Wisconsin towns and municipalities in 71 counties, with property managed by the Department of Natural Resources within their boundaries, received checks from the department totalling $1,222,128 on 1,130,358 acres.

The payments, in lieu of taxes on state-owned lands, were made in accordance with state statutes on lands classified as state forest lands, game management lands, fish management lands, park lands and Central Wisconsin Conservation Area leased lands.

The payment schedule which determines how much the department pays each town and municipality is lengthy and complicated, but essentially results in a payment of at least $.50 an acre.

The payments are made to reduce the impact on local property taxes when the state acquires land which is then removed from the tax roles.

NEWS EXTRA...

Farmers Alerted to Pesticide Dangers

"Planting season is a time when dairy farmers have to be extra aware of pesticide residue and their responsibility to keep pesticides out of the milk and food supply," says Don Konsoer assistant food division administrator with Wisconsin's Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP).

"Whenever livestock are present on the same farm where pesticides are stored, extra precautions must be taken," warns Konsoer. Last year several Wisconsin farms lost livestock to pesticide poisoning.

Konsoer suggests taking the following precautions when handling pesticides:

- 1] Keep all pesticides in original containers and don't cover up product labels.
- 2] Store pesticides in a separate area from feed and animals.
- 3] Clean up pesticide spills immediately and completely.
- 4] Store pesticide application equipment, including corn planters, in an area away from animals.
- 5] After hauling pesticides in a vehicle, check to see if any spilling occurred and clean it up before using the vehicle again.

6] Familiarize yourself with organophosphate and carbamate poisoning. If you observe any poisoning symptoms in your livestock contact your veterinarian immediately and do not sell any milk or animals.

Farmers are especially cautioned against using the same vehicle for hauling both pesticides and feed without thoroughly cleaning it first. A couple years ago a Wisconsin farmer lost 13 cattle from pesticide poisoning when his feed became contaminated from residue left in a truck that first hauled pesticides and then feed. "Even though no pesticide was found in the milk, the herd owner suffered severe financial losses that could have been prevented by carefully washing and rinsing the truck before hauling the feed," says Konsoer.

Farmers have done an excellent job in following the pesticide law and recommendations relating to crop and pest control; however, storing and moving pesticides on the farm has at times been overlooked. To protect the milk supply and to guard against pesticide poisoning in animals and humans, Konsoer advises farmers to review their pesticide storage and handling procedures.

Treat leftover baked potatoes like this; cut in half, scoop out, mash potato with sour cream, grated cheese, chives, salt and pepper. Return to shells and freeze.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

To: All Residents of the Kewaskum School District

On Monday evening, May 5th, I was in attendance at an information meeting held at the Farmington town Hall. This meeting was organized to discuss many concerns within the Kewaskum school district. Some of the items were: the closing of Beechwood school, lack of communication, subject matter pertaining to student courses, high salaries, taxes and historical background involving the district. I would like to take a moment to reflect my views on some of these items.

1) The closing of Beechwood school was not done in haste, as it was two years ago. A comment was made that this was felt to be part of a master plan for the future. That all outlying schools would eventually be closed, a new school built in the village, and all students would then be under one roof. In the three years I was on the Kewaskum school board this "plan" never came up once for discussion by the board as a whole, or individual board member speculation. People are entitled to their opinions, but when unfounded accusations begin then it is time to speak up with knowledgeable facts.

2) Is there now, or has there ever been in the past a lack of communication within the school district? I would have to say yes to both. I don't feel that it is anywhere as bad now as it has been previously. If you all think back, there was a time when district residents could hardly voice an opinion, and if you were successful your ideas remained just that, your ideas! Just because something doesn't go the way you want it to go doesn't mean a lack of communication. In life, we don't always get everything we want. Perhaps the new board will see their way clear to have a separate meeting where no school business is conducted and you, the people, can air out some of your feelings and ideas without the restrictions of parliamentary procedure. Just don't get upset if some ideas are accepted and others don't gain full support! Since Ms. Kleinhans has been here, I feel we have gotten a lot more facts and figures and a better insight as to the educational needs of this district. Let's all try to work with her instead of carrying on individual battles. She has a difficult enough job trying to get our schools on the right course without having to do battle over every single item that comes up.

3) Most of the discussion at the Farmington town hall meeting centered around subject matter and the middle school. Mrs. Rosenberger indicated that the Policy, Legislation and Instruction committee did a survey to see what courses could be electives. This survey was asked of the 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students. These elective courses were the ones they chose most often. Neither the board, nor the administration came along and said, "Well, let's do this and just stick in whatever course we want." One parent spoke out that they wanted to have a say in what their children would be taught. My comment is that with all the state mandates as to what MUST be taught, can't we allow our children to at least pick some subjects that they are genuinely interested in?

4) Are salaries too high? It depends on who you talk to. Are taxes too high? This second question is probably the easiest of all to answer. YES, taxes are too high, but whose fault is it? It's simple to look at your tax bill and scream at the school board, but is that fair? I don't think so. It's not the school board's fault. IT'S YOUR OWN FAULT!!! You, the voters, continue to allow this state to keep the school tax on the back of every property owner. You, the voter, allow the state to continue the binding arbitration law. As long as this is allowed to go on you will see your taxes continue to rise to the point of no return. At that point you simply will not be able to pay them anymore, and you may lose everything you worked your whole life to attain. We all know what the school tax is, but do you know what "binding arbitration" is, and how it affects your taxes and the salaries of everyone from the District Administrator down to the very last teacher? There isn't enough space for me to explain fully but before you go around saying, "This one is over paid, or that one is overpaid," get the facts. Call your school board members or the district office and find out! One parent stated that they were in favor of the Director of Instruction until they got their tax increase. I remind you that every resident of this district who has been here for the last 9 or 10 years must share the burden for this position. Our district has been a member of SEC (School Evaluation Consortium) for that length of time. We have been paying dues for this based on student enrollment and a fee. If all of you were so concerned about the education of your children as you say you are, then why wasn't this plan implemented? Why didn't you force the board to follow through with this? If we had, Ms. Backus would not be taking the abuse she is now getting. Since November of '85, Ms. Backus has been trying to do what this district should have been doing for the past 9 or 10 years. If what she is able to do enhances the educational opportunities for the children in this district, then I feel she has more than earned her salary.

In closing, I would like to add, that when any district resident has a different point of view on a matter, let the board know in a friendly manner. Don't be afraid to tell board members and the administration when they are doing a good job, as well. It is human nature to be quick to criticize, and all too often we forget to give praise where praise is due. My sincere thank you to Ms. Kleinhans and Ms. Backus for giving me a better insight into what education really means. It is more than taxes and controversy. It is a genuine caring for children and their future. Let's all work together for the betterment of all our children.

Editor's Note — It seems a few teachers felt offended in regard to the editor's note in the Letters to the Editor in last week's issue. In no way did we mean to imply that the teachers are not professionals. Everyone knows the teachers are professionals. We should have been more explicit and stated in that particular sentence of the editor's note as follows: "Our tax dollar is not spent on other professional salaries," (doctors, lawyers, etc.).

With reference to the release on teachers' salaries, it should be noted that the Statesman neither deleted or added any information, but printed the statistics and covering comments exactly as they were released to the paper by the school. To: All Residents of the Kewaskum School District

On Monday evening, May 5th, I was in attendance at an information meeting held at the Farmington town Hall. This meeting was organized to discuss many concerns within the Kewaskum school district. Some of the items were: the closing of Beechwood school, lack of communication, subject matter pertaining to student courses, high salaries, taxes and historical background involving the district. I would like to take a moment to reflect my views on some of these items.

Citizen Advocacy Says 'Thanks' to Those Who Have Given So Much of Themselves

There were fresh flowers on each table at the eighth annual dinner for Citizen Advocacy of Washington County, held at St. Frances Cabrini church in March.

It was a night to say "thank you" to those who have given so much of themselves in the past year, and have pledged to continue their fine contributions in the days to come.

Started in 1978 by the Association for Retarded Citizens of Washington County, the Citizen Advocacy (CA) program works to develop one-to-one relationships or matches between volunteer advocates and individuals with a disability. With the assistance of a trained staff and administered through a board of directors, CA matches strive to provide support, friendship and guidance for disabled citizens, as well as insuring rights and responsibilities that are due to them.

Volunteers are an important group of people, and that importance was nurtured at CA's recognition dinner by gathering volunteer advocates and their matched friends, board members, staff, self-advocates and guests.

Each group of volunteers was recognized individually with respect to the role they fulfill in the organization. Fresh carnations were pinned to their lapels as they were acknowledged by Sue Moser, Director of CA and CA's Board Members.

The first group introduced were the volunteer advocates and their match. These one-to-one matches produced real magic as the volunteers related stories of their involvement.

Volunteer advocates Mary and Don Frohmader have a three year match with a man named Chuck. Don began his story by telling the group, "My friend was moved from West Bend to Juneau, and I didn't get to see him as much. That's where my wife came in." From there, it was clear that Chuck's friendship with Don grew to include Mary, as well. As she said, "I can't recall when I joined CA, or even if I did join. I guess I just got drawn in."

Mary's interest included helping Don with arrangements to move Chuck from Samaritan Home in West Bend to another residence. They drove Chuck and his elderly parents to Juneau to look over the new surroundings, and together helped ease the concern for Chuck's placement. Mary said, "Through it all, the social workers, staff at CA, and everyone involved was so caring and sensitive to the situation" that ultimately, Chuck made the move with a minimum of difficulty.

Mary spoke with deep emotion about Chuck's father's death, and her involvement in the funeral as well as support for Chuck's mother, who is 84.

Now, though Juneau is quite far away, the Frohmaders still see their friends and will continue to do so. Sue Moser added that the Frohmaders have agreed to become Chuck's legal guardian once he is alone in the world.

The Frohmaders are a great example of what Sue Moser calls the "widening circles of caring in our community" that CA strives for.

Advocate Delores Kenney told the group of her relationship with her friend. They've gone to shows together, and enjoyed the "Northern Lights" concert, as they both love music.

Jan Helmbrecht, a short-term volunteer advocate, has had a 1 1/2 year relationship with a 23-year old man. He was initially very withdrawn and unable to communicate clearly. She worked with him on some legal problems, and once they were straightened out, believes he responded to the one-to-one interest she showed him. He "came out of his shell, and now has had a full-time job for one year. I'm so thrilled with this young man, and his success in the community," she said.

Doug Quinn-Gruber has been a short-term advocate as well as presently being the Coordinator of the Community Advocacy Project. He explained how exciting the short-term advocacy program can be for a volunteer with less time to contribute, and that the advocate is a "human connection." Doug enthusiastically offered "hats off to CA advocates for the sense of community they're creating in Washington County."

Staff member Doug Quinn-Gruber was then recognized for his work on the Community Advocacy Project. His position serves self-advocates as liaison to the services they need, such as transportation, housing and accessibility to buildings and sidewalk crossings.

He is not the "Go-getter," however. When the needs of the self-advocate have been matched with the agency or individual that would best deal with those needs, the self-advocates are responsible for pursuing the issue.

Self-advocate Georgette Raab's assistance to the Community Advocacy Project is essential. On the advisory committee for the project, Georgette advises on issues that are of paramount importance to people with disabilities. For example, transportation is a big concern. She said, "I went to speak to the Office on Aging about cab and bus service. Now they're spreading the word. That's one thing I did myself personally, and I think that's pretty good."

As an education advocate, Lynn Apuli's interest lies with children's and parents' rights, as well as schools' responsibilities to special needs children. Lynn became involved after a meeting of PAGEE

(Parents' Action Group for Exceptional Education). Sue Moser was guest speaker at that meeting, explaining the role of CA in the community. Lynn is the mother of two children with learning disabilities, and maintains that "the kids can only benefit. If I can only be a pair of ears for a parent, I'd be glad to do it."

Two legal guardians, Alice Laubenstein and Lorraine Krenn were thanked for their interest in insuring the legal rights of disabled persons.

Departing CA Board Members Florence Mineau, Gordon Mineau and Waring Fincke received certificates reading, "The capacity to care is the thing which gives life its deepest meaning and significance."

The members of the Opportunity League, a group independently formed by their own initiative, is comprised entirely of self-advocates. This group was recognized for their accomplishments in self-advocacy.

Before the dinner started, some members of the Opportunity League took full advantage of the time by circulating a petition requesting that public budget hearings be held at night so that working people like themselves could attend.

Debbie Percival was a guest-speaker at the dinner. She is the statewide resource person from the Wisconsin Coalition for Advocacy, Wisconsin's state protection and advocacy agency.

Ms. Percival told the group that there are 10 CA offices in Wisconsin, which is one of 18 states that have such programs. Canada has 40, and Australia, Chile and Honduras have programs, as well.

She cited the "networking principle" as one of the most valuable traits of the volunteers. From the advocate to friends, neighbors and relatives of the advocate and his/her friend, the sense of community is happily realized.

Other guests included Jackie Fogel of United Way-Washington County and two CA staff members from the Dane County CA program.

Special thanks were given to the organizers and tireless workers who made all the dinner arrangements, in addition to the many businesses who made donations to make the evening enjoyable.

The recognition of the "Rainbow Award" recipients was one of the final pleasures. This year's award was given to two women who were "always there when you needed something," said Gretchen Fincke, CA Board President. "They not only did the work but brought enthusiasm to the task, as well," she said.

Marge Schloemer and Joan Pick were awarded small gifts and a round of applause for their dedication to the CA program.

And, finally, Gretchen Fincke was thanked for her two years as President of the Board of Directors.

There are always high spirits at recognition dinners. Community members who have found room for others in their hearts are always treasured and told how much they mean to an organization. The special nature of this organization's recognition dinner lies in the fact that the volunteer advocates are not only drawing a disabled person into the community at large, but encouraging and assisting that person to enter a more independent, self-directed lifestyle within that community. In CA, you might call it "letting go, with love."

Anyone interested in volunteering through the Citizen Advocacy program is encouraged to call 334-3384.

State Offers More Low Cost Farm Loans

By Senator Donald K. Stitt
[R-Port Washington]

The Legislature recently approved $22 million in farm loan guarantees which will provide low cost loans for farmers from participating lenders. Farmers may borrow up to $20,000 through private lenders at a 9% interest rate.

Under this recently approved program entitled "CROP," farmers must borrow the funds only for fertilizer, seed, fuel, pesticides, village services, crop insurance or other services or consumable goods necessary to produce an agricultural commodity. An "agricultural commodity" is the plant or part of a plant, animal, or animal product produced primarily for sale, consumption, propagation, or other use by humans or animals. This is the definition according to state law.

The CROP loan program allows lenders to use their own capital to provide loans to eligible farmers. In return, the state (through the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority, WHEDA), gives the lender a 90% loan guarantee and a 2% interest rate subsidy. The subsidy is the primary cost of this program.

These loans are designed to be short term loans and come due on March 31st of the calendar year following the year in which the loan was made.

Loan extensions are available subject to your lender's discretion until June 30th of each year.

Loans became available from participating lenders on April 7th and are now available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Farmers interested in applying for a loan should contact their local lender as soon as possible. In addition, please feel free to write me, Senator Don Stitt, P.O. Box 7882, Madison, Wisconsin 53707 or call my office at 608-266-7513 or leave a message with the Legislative Hotline at 1-800-362-9696.

The 161 participating crop lenders located throughout the state include the following from the surrounding area: Adell State Bank, First National Bank & Trust Company of Beaver Dam, The Bank of Ashippun, Valley Bank of Hartford, Horicon State Bank, Port Washington State Bank, First Interstate Bank of Wisconsin of Sheboygan, and Security First National of Sheboygan.

Some Investments Are Too Good to Be True

By Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

How would you like to double your life's savings almost overnight and at almost no risk? Who wouldn't? But be careful--these are the kinds of empty promises that investment and business swindlers use to bilk older consumers out of millions of dollars each year.

Because many retired people fear their life's savings won't support them for the rest of their lives, promises of easy income can be very appealing.

Just one step ahead of the law, boiler room operations spring up all over the country, staying in business just long enough to work their investment swindles and disappear. Commodities--metals, gems, coffee and cotton--are often used as the bait for fraud.

In these schemes, boiler room salespeople succeed in talking victims into investing in precious gems, the gold or silver market or even "jojoba-bean" property.

Informed investors know that the higher the return on an investment, the riskier it's likely to be.

You should be particularly cautious when a salesperson promises a very high yield with quick return. Other lines include, "once in a lifetime opportunity" or "chance to get in on the ground floor."

The National Futures Association suggests that your best defense against falling victim to investment fraud is asking the kinds of questions swindlers don't want to answer. Insist on specific answers to questions such as:

--Exactly how much of my money would go for commissions and management fees?

--How can I obtain a copy of your "risk disclosure" documents?

--Will you send me copies of your literature and any prospectus your firm may have?

Government's Threat On the Drinking Age Effective: McCallum

State Senator Scott McCallum (R-Fond du Lac) said that the federal government's threat of withholding $21 million in highway funding has forced the state to pass legislation returning the drinking age to 21. "The federal government," McCallum said, "has put states like Wisconsin in a precarious position. We have no choice but to raise the drinking age."

The third term senator believes the proposal to raise the drinking age to 21 is a simplistic approach to solving a complex problem. "Raising the drinking age will not end the drunk driving problem that plagues Wisconsin," said McCallum. "Society's attitude toward drinking will have to change if drunk driving incidents are to be significantly reduced. That change in attitude can not be legislated."

Senator McCallum has indicated that he will support legislation to return the drinking age to 21 when it is introduced during the special session. He sees a need for a uniform drinking age in the country to eliminate the serious border-hopping problem. The special session on the drinking age will begin May 20.

Honor 2 County Young People With Governor's Youth Awards

MADISON — Two Washington County young people were honored by Governor Anthony Earl at 11:45 Tuesday, May 13, in a ceremony at the Capitol.

Eleven year old Lee Gripenrog, son of Gary Gripenrog of 273 S. Main St., West Bend, received the Governor's Youth Award for Bravery.

In October, Lee saved the lives of his neighbors by crawling through toxic smoke to awaken residents of his apartment building and then notifying the fire department. Lee was recommended for the award by Battalion Chief Eugene E. Spaeth of the West Bend Fire Department.

The Governor's Youth Bravery Award is given to a young person who has exhibited exceptional courage and unusual swiftness of action in saving or attempting to save a life at the risk of his or her own life.

Nine year old Andrew Wetzel, son of Robert and Irene Wetzel of Hartford, received the Governor's Youth Award for Meritorious Action.

In December, Andrew told school authorities and police about a man who tried to entice him into a van. Andrew was able to give authorities a very detailed description of the man and his van. His quick action alerted the city to "Stranger Danger."

The Governor's Youth Meritorious Action Award is made to young persons who exhibited an unusual swiftness of action and presence of mind in either an effort to save the life of a person in danger or unusual need or to notify the appropriate authorities of such a situation. Andrew Wetzel was recommended for the award by Principal Mary Beth Jensen of Hartford's Lincoln School.

The Governor's Youth Awards also recognize young people who have performed outstanding service for their schools and communities.

The Governor's Youth Awards are sponsored by Governor Anthony Earl's Youth Awards Committee and the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts, and Letters.

Louis Bath of this village suffered painful burns on Tuesday evening of this week when gas fumes ignited as he lighted an acetyline torch to begin welding on an automobile in the Rempel Manufacturing Plant. Before starting his welding work Mr. Bath removed the gasoline and tank from the car to prevent such an accident. For further precaution he waited about 20 minutes before lighting the torch in order to give the fumes a chance to disappear. The car was standing over a drain pit in the shop, into which Mr. Bath crawled into to begin his work. As he lighted the welding torch, apparently there were still a number of gas fumes at the bottom of the pit which ignited with a sudden spirit of flame and severely burned him about his face and hands which were unprotected by clothing. By quick thinking he immediately turned off the torch and the flames vanished, giving him a chance to escape from the pit and get away from the flames.

Mrs. Muenk, teacher, and Wayland Tessar of the grammar room attended a meeting of the Women's Federation Art Club at Fond du Lac on Thursday. At this meeting Wayland was presented with a bronze medal as a winner of the district contest of creative art work. His exhibit portrayed "Haying Time at the Farm."

Valley Bancorporation Declares 3-for-2 Stock Split, Increases Dividend

The Board of Directors of Valley Bancorporation, parent company of the Valley Banks, meeting after the Annual Shareholders Meeting, voted to authorize a 3-for-2 stock split, thus providing a 50 percent stock dividend. On May 30, 1986, shareholders will be mailed one new share of common stock for each two common shares held as of the record date, May 23, 1986. Gus A. Zuehlke, Valley's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, pointed out that after the 3-for-2 stock split, Valley would have 7.8 million common shares outstanding. Valley stockholders currently number approximately 6,000.

In another action taken, the Valley board increased the quarterly dividend. The cash dividend, which will be payable after the record date of the recently announced 3-for-2 stock split, amounted to $.20 per share. Currently, the Valley dividend stands at $.193 per share (pro forma for the 3-for-2 split). This cash dividend will be payable on June 6, 1986, to shareholders of record May 30, 1986. The increase amounts to 3.5 percent.

At the annual meeting of shareholders, the increase in authorized shares from 10 million to 20 million was approved along with a reduction in the per share par value from $1.50 to $1.00. Zuehlke pointed out that, "The increase in authorized shares will give Valley greater flexibility in implementing its expansion strategies." Zuehlke also added that on April 30, 1986, Valley officially acquired five banks. These banks, located in Beaver Dam, Chilton, Minocqua/Woodruff, Peshtigo and Spring Green, add approximately $200 million in assets to the Valley organization. At that time, Valley had approximately $2.0 billion in assets and delivered financial services through 75 locations in Wisconsin.

In an EW Conference track meet at Two Rivers last Tuesday, the host Raiders took first in the triangular with 90 points, followed by Plymouth with 58 and Kewaskum with 22.
