Village Tax Rate Up Slightly

By GERRY MUELLER

The Kewaskum Village Board Monday night continued its review of the preliminary budget for 1987, in preparation for its public hearing on November 3rd.

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said, using estimated figures, the village's taxpayers will see an increase of approximately 2.1%, or 14c per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The increase would see the rate go from $6.65 per $1,000 of assessed valuation for 1985, to $6.79 for 1986.

The board also reviewed the TIF District's budget which is included in the village's general budget.

In other action, the board reviewed recommendations for repairs on the fire house to eliminate water problems along the west roof and wall area. After a short discussion the board decided to drop plans for caulking the cracks. The trustees, instead, directed Schmidt and Public Works Superintendent Augie Bilgo to obtain quotes on having the west wall and parapit sided to match the present exterior siding, and proceed with the work as soon as possible. Schmidt said costs for siding the wall would be about the same as bids received for the caulking work, approximately $2,800.

In other business, the board approved the purchase of a new blower for the Sewerage Treatment Plant at a cost of $12,000. The present blower, which aerates the tanks, finally broke down after being in operation since the 1950's. Schmidt said the department knew the blow-er was wearing out and the village has been putting money into the budget the last few years to cover its replacement.

In an update, Bilgo informed the board that the new sidewalk installation is progressing. He told the board, however, that due to the bad weather, planting of grass will be postponed until next spring. Money for the work will be held from the contractor's payment until the seeding is completed at that time.

The board also adopted five resolutions concerning the items of the County-wide Library System tax exemption, park reservation policies, collection of delinquent taxes, utilities fire protection costs, and support of state shared revenues.

The board then adjourned to closed session.

Car Vandals Apprehended

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Four youths, aged 15 and 16, were arrested by Kewaskum Police during a vandalism spree Friday, October 10th, in which 43 hood ornaments were removed from vehicles in Kewaskum and West Bend.

The arrests were the result of a Kewaskum officer's observation of one of the teenagers looking into a car at the Valley Bank parking lot during his routine patrol. The officer followed them to the old Sentry Store parking lot where he saw one of the individuals get out of the vehicle carrying a bolt cutter.

The officer saw several other tools in the car and what appeared to be hood ornaments sticking out from under the floor mats. A search of the car revealed 43 ornaments and a pay telephone receiver with a cut cord. Replacement cost of the items was placed at over $1,000.

The West Bend Police identified approximately 12 of the ornaments and the receiver as coming from the West Bend area.

Two of the youths admitted participating in the thefts. The four boys were turned over to the juvenile authorities on charges of theft and criminal damage to property. The young men may be required to make financial restitution for the damages. The case has been turned over to the Juvenile Intake Officer of the Washington County Sheriff's Department.

In another incident during the week, two Kewaskum High School students were tracked down following complaints that two teenage boys were frightening young children on the west side of the village.

* The youths were located after two girls gave their parents and police a description of a car containing two boys which harassed them.

The Kewaskum Police reported the youths offered candy to young children or asked them if they wanted to go for a ride. There were three complaints October 9th, about the same vehicle trying to pick up children.

With the aid of the girls' description, the police were able to locate the car the next day and the boys admitted to harassing the children. The boys said the incident was a homecoming prank and they did not realize the serious nature of their actions. The juveniles were turned over to their parents and no charges were filed.

The Kewaskum Police Department plans to award certificates of appreciation to Sarah Bonlender, 7, of 1014 Edgewood Road, and Jenny Strobel, 8, of 1019 Edgewood Road, for their help in locating the boys.

Recommendation — Sell Beechwood School to a Local Community Group

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Sell the Beechwood Elementary School and accompanying land to a local community organization for a nominal fee with the stipulation that, if the group decides to sell the property, the Kewaskum School District has the option to buy the school back for the same price at which it was sold.

That was the recommendation arrived at by the ten-member Beechwood Disposition Committee at its meeting Monday night and which will be passed on to the Kewaskum Board of Education for 10th meeting.

The action came after 2½ hours of discussion and a variety of defeated motions as to just what kind of recommendation reflected the feelings of the people and provided a solution as to the disposition of the school.

While a motion to forward the recommendation was approved by a slim, 6 to 4 vote, the end result could be that the electors will make the final decision on the school's fate in the next few months.

If the board decides to go along with the committee's recommendation, it will mean a special meeting of the electors, similar to the Annual Meeting, will have to be called for the sole purpose of voting on whether the school should be sold.

Since the recommendation carries no other options, and the School Board does not have the power on its own to sell the school, the decision to sell or keep the property may rest with the electors. If, however, the board rejects the committee recommendation, a solution to the school's disposition would be back to "square one."

During the meeting the committee discussed four possible options for the school. The first - to simply keep the building and use it for storage, etc., second - offer the building for sale either to the public or a local community organization which would put the property on the tax rolls, third - lease or rent it, and fourth - advise the board to keep the building for five years until the district was satisfied that the Farmington and Middle School changes were working.

Committee member Joan Rosenberger, Town of Farmington, felt that there would again be a need for the school by the 1990's. Committee member Jack Theusch, also of Farmington, disagreed with Rosenberger's projected population increase figures. "Our Farmington census, from 1980 to 1986, only went up one person so your (Rosenberger's) building boom facts really haven't had any effect," said Theusch. Committee member Ron Beimborn, Beechwood, said, "In my own personal opinion there is overcrowding at the Farmington and Middle Schools.

School Board member Clara Trapp, who was in the audience, told the committee, "What you have to look at now is, do we want to get rid of the building or keep it. The present School Board should not do something now that the next School Board will have to undo later."

Committee member Chuck Voge told the meeting he had contacted Russell Kempf of the Beechwood Athletic Club to see if that group would be interested in buying the property. Voge said he was told the club could not afford the property or the maintenance. The senior citizens would like to use the building but do not seem interested in buying it either.

Theusch asked Trapp if the Town of Scott would be interested in accepting and maintaining the building. She indicated that the town would not ask its taxpayers to accept the added tax burden. Theusch noted, then you realize the predicament the School District is in. "Opening up the building to local use requires the whole school district to support that use," said Committee Chairman Perry Ankerson.

After the recommendation was approved, School Board President Tom Brigham, who was also in the audience, asked the committee to spell out specifically what it meant by "local community organization" and "nominal fee." On two separate motions, the committee stipulated local as the old Beechwood School District of Joint District Ten of the Towns of Scott and Mitchell, and nominal as between $2,100 and $47,000, relative to the indebtedness assumed by Kewaskum when Beechwood became part of its district, plus $4,430 for additional land purchased adjacent to the school. Because the old Beechwood District's books were not available the nominal figure could not be made more specific.

Ankerson also addressed another item concerning the school, that being the use of the building by community groups since it has been closed as a school. A letter from the School District's attorneys, Quarles and Brady, giving a legal opinion on that use was read.

The letter stated, "At no time in his (Attorney Schmidt's) opinion did Judge Becker state that the Kewaskum School Board was under an obligation to use the Beechwood property in any specific manner. Ms. Clara Trapp has apparently interpreted Judge Becker's statements as requiring the School Board to allow community groups to use the Beechwood facility. This is entirely inaccurate. Based upon the content of Judge Becker's decision and our construction of applicable statutes, it is our opinion that the School Board of Kewaskum is under no such obligation." The letter went on to say the School Board did not have a duty to make Beechwood available for community functions and to maintain it for that reason.

The recommendation will now be forwarded to the School Board for its acceptance or rejection. If the board decides to follow the recommendation, a special district meeting will be called, possibly for some time in December.

Director of Habitat for Humanity To Present Program at Peace Church

Millard Fuller, International Director of Habitat for Humanity, will be the speaker at an informative and inspirational program on Habitat at Peace United Church of Christ in Kewaskum on Saturday, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. All community residents are welcome.

Fuller, a lawyer from Alabama, had become a millionaire as co-founder of Dees Marketing Group, Inc. by the age of 30. From that time to this, his life changed drastically from the economics of the market to that of Christ, which involved his literally giving away all his wealth and devoting his life to practical programs for God's people in need - people of all creeds and colors. Fuller, a white man, took a courageous stand in the late 1960's in the U.S. South and later world-wide. This commitment has led to his founding of Habitat, ten years ago. It now has projects in 35 states, 17 foreign countries, and 170 U.S. and 1 Canadian city. Its goal is simple, and it works - to build homes for the poor on a no interest, no profit basis, so that dignity and ownership can replace charity and welfare. Volunteer construction workers for Habitat are always co-workers, not case-workers for the needy. The project is private and involves both monetary and labor donations from every sphere of society.

Peace Church hosted a program on October 6 which explained the role of the Habitat volunteer in Americus, Georgia, International headquarters. Amy and Steve Funnell, daughter and son-in-law of Rev. James Bettin of Peace Church, related their experiences as construction laborers from September to December of 1985. Millard Fuller's message will present the complete spectrum. He is renowned as an exciting, humorous, and inspirational speaker. He has authored three books, the latest No More Shacks was published early this year. His wife and four children share his work, and former President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter have been active co-workers in New York City and Chicago projects. The Georgia Habitat headquarters includes a Jesuit House, maintained by Catholic priests and volunteers who wish to be involved in the homebuilding.

Fuller's evening in Kewaskum will follow a Saturday afternoon presentation at Lake Park Lutheran Church in Milwaukee. On Sunday he will be at two morning services at Fifth Avenue Methodist Church and a 2:30 afternoon program at Immanuel United Church of Christ, both in West Bend. These three cities will be his only Wisconsin appearances on his current trip north from Georgia.

KHS Assembly Offers a Different Approach on Drinking, Driving

Last week, students at Kewaskum High School attended an assembly sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Company entitled "Amber Lights." "Amber Lights" offers a new approach to the problem of the dangers of drinking and driving. It has a wider focus that goes beyond "alcohol-abuse awareness."

The goal of "Amber Lights" is to inspire students to realize the value of balance and moderation in their lives. This sense of being in control of one's life goes well beyond just the drinking issue. Whether it's eating, money, sports or drinking, all of us need to be in balance.

The purpose of the assembly was to help students understand more fully the concepts of balance, moderation, and critical thinking. If students are to change their attitude about drinking and driving, they must be impressed with the benefits of the change, as well as the steps needed to bring about the change.

Hopefully students will start to recognize the "caution" signs and start to take responsibility for others as well as themselves when they see the "Amber Lights."

Booster Club to Meet Oct. 29

Designate Oct. 19-26 National High School Activities Week

Tax reform woes did not sidetrack this recent 99th Congress from other significant legislation: Namely, a joint resolution honoring Kewaskum High School students in extra-curricular activities.

The U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives designated this week of Oct. 19-26, 1986, "National High School Activities Week." The local parent Booster Club salutes this special week for students.

Our high schoolers join more than half the students in the nation's senior highs who are involved in at least one activity. KHS offers some 46 activities: sports, clubs, forensics, chess, Olympics of the Mind, drama, music...not to mention the school year book, the newspaper and school spirit and pep groups.

Now congressional resolutions are loaded with "whereases" and "be-it-resolveds," but some points stand out:

That "this other half" of education is significant in the total development of students...often leading to increased interest and performance in strictly academic areas.

That these activities directly benefit local communities by channeling young people's interests and talents and by instilling a sense of community pride.

Making sure these extra activities provide more than just a week of recognition is what Booster Club does best. Fund raising, parent backing and popcorn-by-the-bag is the mainstay of Booster support but even these essentials are often difficult to provide.

According to club president Margaret McFadden, it's simple math: Booster support is in direct proportion to the number of parents involved. "More parents mean more people to help raise money," she explained. Last year a small group earned several thousand dollars that went for warm-up suits, sports equipment, a camera, uniforms and club requests.

Promoting school spirit is another big priority for Booster Club, which hosts Parent Nights for sports and any other activity that requests it.

"This year we'd like to encourage all freshmen to consider at least one extra-curricular activity," said

McFadden. Equally important is the recruitment effort by upperclassmen and activity advisors she continued. This year Booster tried somewhat unsuccessfully, an Activities Open-House for freshmen and parents. They will be working on ways to increase attendance.

Mark your calendar for the next Booster Club meeting: Oct. 29, Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

EDITORIAL

Hunters Image Tarnished

By Chuck Voge

In spite of all of the culinary improvements of our modern times the most skilled chefs and other gourmets of our society have yet to come up with so much as one palatable recipe for stop signs and other road side markers. In spite of this obvious deficiency hundreds of roadside signs are illegally shot and bagged by Wisconsin hunters each year. They are later tagged by county highway workers and replaced at your expense and mine. Worse yet the law abiding hunter shares in the blame for this annual plywood slaughter, and his reputation suffers accordingly. Ethical hunters will be quick to respond with "these people aren't real hunters."

Well, they buy hunting licenses and carry guns in the great outdoors, and in my book that makes them hunters.

The law abiding and ethical of the hunting fraternity would do well to consider taking the responsibility for cleaning up at least a part of this problem, if not to save tax dollars, then at least to take ammunition out of the cartridge belts of the anti-hunting sect, and improve on the image of all hunters along the way.

Hunters will be quick to respond with "that's a tough problem to solve, how can we do anything when we usually don't even see it happen?"

For openers it would be reasonable to expect all sportsmen's clubs to join in a statewide coalition to establish a reward fund and use the money in this fund to post a standing reward of at least $500.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone caught in the act of sign shooting. While it wouldn't eliminate the problem completely it might serve as a deterrent in some future public property destruction instances. It would also tell the anti-hunting crowd, and the general public, that GOOD SPORTSMEN do care enough to help in the policing of their sport.

The above editorial is not the opinion of the Statesman but rather that of the writer.

BRENDA

I remember Brenda when she was a little girl, Her days were filled with song and dance and a baton to twirl.

I remember Brenda when she sang a pretty song, The musicales, the high school play, it doesn't seem so long, Ago that she was here to smile and laugh and hold our little boy.

When she held him and cared for him she was filled with joy.

I remember Brenda for her smile and sometimes pout, Some days it seems all like a dream and she is still about.

I remember Brenda when I see a rainbow in the sky, Or hear certain songs on the radio - sometimes I have to cry.

I remember Brenda and I never will forget -the times we spent together -the dreams we shared together -the tears we cried together and I will always remember - BRENDA Deeply missed by Jeff, Debbie & P.J.

Two Men Found Guilty in Burglary

Two men, one from West Bend and the other from Jackson, were found guilty of burglary and were ordered to make restitution for the crime.

The West Bend man pleaded no contest to a charge of burglary and a charge of felony theft was dismissed. The Jackson man pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and felony theft.

Fond du Lac County Judge Steven Weinke placed both men on two years probation, to run concurrently with their present probation terms.

The pair and another man allegedly drove to a Town of Auburn home on March 17, 1983. They broke into the house and took 15 rifles, pistols, shotguns, a knife, ammunition and jewelry.

The guns were sold to an Oklahoma resident for $3,000, according to court records. The jewelry was also sold.

Sam Schmidt, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmidt; Christine Neumann, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Neumann, and Kelly Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schneider, all pupils of Holy Trinity School, reading a poster telling of the coming parish event, "The Pony Express." Kelly is holding the saddle bag.

Holy Trinity Church Members to Hold Pony Express Finance Campaign

More than 732 members of Holy Trinity Church, Kewaskum, will become saddlebag-carrying "trail bosses" and "route riders" within the next few weeks in their parish's Pony Express finance campaign.

The Rev. Robert J. Berghammer, pastor, said the program is based on the same concept as the Pony Express of more than a century ago — teamwork.

James Wessing, general manager of the campaign, said 63 leaders of the parish have been designated trail bosses, to supervise the relaying of the saddlebags to each of the parish families on Pony Express "run" routes.

Each saddlebag bears the name of 10 church families on the run route, he said. A family fills in an "estimate of giving" card, seals it in an envelope and inserts it in the saddlebag, which then is hand-carried to another family on the route.

"We decided to use this unique approach because we believe parish finance campaigns should be exciting and enjoyable, in addition to having their serious moments," he said.

"And, many dedicated members of the parish are hesitant to solicit pledges from their friends and neighbors. With this Pony Express program, there are no solicitations and no pledges."

The Rev. Robert J. Berghammer explained that each member is asked simply to estimate the amount he or she will be able to give to the parish during the coming year.

"Each family makes their decision in the privacy of their home, without any over-the-shoulder 'supervision' of someone from the parish," he said.

He said the Pony Express theme was chosen because of the example set by the highly dedicated riders of the original Pony Express.

"In addition to their personal commitment, the secret of their success lay in their ability to work as a team — each rider dependent on the other to make the relay system work and speed the mail on to its final destination," he said.

Likewise, he said, the success of the parish's finance program depends on the dedication, commitment and teamwork of each member.

"We trust each family to act responsibly in making a decision about the support they will give their parish during the coming year," he said.

Thursday evening at 5:35 when President Taft passed through this village with a special train, there were about 100 citizens at the depot thinking perhaps they could get a glimpse of the nation's president, but all they were able to see was the train passing by at a rate of about 40 miles an hour. The special train was composed of six coaches. The engine was decorated with flags and bunting. A special engine was sent 15 minutes ahead of the Taft Special to make sure that the track was clear.

The past week has been a busy week for J.B. Day and Adolph Rosenheimer in real estate transactions. Last Monday they purchased the 120 acre farm of Fred Luedtke 3 miles west of this city, better known as the Tiss farm, and sold it the same day to Nic Rheingans of St. Kilian taking in exchange his 81 acre farm near the latter village besides some other consideration.

The following program will be tendered by some of our school pupils on November 8th in the school main room: Piano solo - Elvira Morgenroth; Declamation - Irene Opgenorth; Essay - Agatha Laubach; Reading - Irene Peters; Declamation - Harvey Brandt; Declamation - Alwyn Haug; Declamation - Reuben Backhaus; and Music by the school.

One of the most popular weddings ever held in this village took place last Saturday afternoon, when Rev. Mohme united in holy bonds of matrimony in the Ev. Peace Church, Miss Elsie Backhaus and Herman Backhaus of the Town of Kewaskum.

A very pretty wedding took place at the St. Mathias Church, New Fane, on October 24, when Miss Anna K. Schiltz and William H. Calhoun were united in marriage.

The first snowflakes of the season fell last Monday.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Fellenz of New Fane last Sunday.

But we will never forget your smile, spirit, or love.

We will miss you always, this is true,

But with forever love, we can now look for guidance from you.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR BEST FRIEND OUT OF THE DOG HOUSE.

Dogs are fun. They're loyal. And they protect your home from everything and everyone. Including our meter readers.

Last year alone, 34 of our employees were attacked and injured by "family pets."

We know they don't mean it. After all, it's hard for a dog to tell the difference between a threatening stranger and a friendly meter reader.

But some of these attacks, even by small dogs, resulted in hospital treatment, medical expenses and impoundment of the pet for medical tests. In some cases, the owner was held legally liable for the actions of the dog.

On the day your meter is scheduled to be read, please make sure your dog is secured. You can find the date for your next scheduled meter reading on your electric bill. Or, you can call your local Wisconsin Electric office and ask.

You'll be helping our meter reader. And keeping your best friend out of the dog house..

Officials Tour Area Milwaukee River Watershed

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Milwaukee River East-West Branches Priority Watershed was the subject of a recent one-day tour through portions of Fond du Lac and Washington Counties. The tour's purpose was to inform both public officials and private citizens of the need to locate and remedy the sources of non-point source pollution which are, along with point source pollution, contributing to the destruction of the Milwaukee River's water quality.

The watershed is one of five in the seven-county 830 square mile Milwaukee River Priority Watersheds Program created by the Wisconsin Legislature. The program is being developed in conjunction with the Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District's massive ten-year cleanup program.

The watersheds project is following a three-step plan toward cleaning up the water. The first, and major step is an inventory of all urban and rural sources of non-point pollution. All lands adjacent to lakes, streams and drainageways will be assessed to determine the type of amount of pollutants that could reach the Milwaukee River and associated waters. Secondly, a plan establishing quality objectives and priorities will be written. Meetings and public hearings will be held to discuss the contents of the plan and to obtain comments, with Department of Natural Resources, local government and Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission approval following. Publication is anticipated in early 1987. The third step will be carrying out the jointly reached land management recommendations.

Sally Kefer, DNR-Madison, said both the DNR and County Land Conservation Departments are continuing to gather information on planning needs and viewing non-point pollution sources which could become part of the watershed program as far as cost sharing is concerned.

Voluntary costsharing will be one of the key features of the program. If landowners agree to participate, they could be eligible to receive up to 70% of the cost of using pollution control or conservation practices on their land. The sign-up period for the project will be three years following adoption of the plan. After sign-up, landowners will have five years to install the practices.

Approximately 65 people representing Fond du Lac, Washington, Ozaukee, Dodge, Milwaukee, Waukesha and Sheboygan Counties participated in the trip which visited areas demonstrating the various forms of non-point source pollution.

While point source pollution is usually the result of industry discharge through a specific area such as a pipe, non-point source pollution generally takes place when rainfall or melting snow wash materials off the land into nearby lakes or streams. Such pollution occurs in both urban and rural areas.

Urban non-point sources include soil erosion from construction sites, roadsides and stream banks; oil, grease and toxic chemicals from streets; fertilizer, pesticides, grass, etc., from lawns and recreational areas, and inadequately treated wastes from septic and holding systems.

Rural non-point pollution usually results from cropland soil erosion often containing fertilizers and pesticides; nutrients, bacteria and organic matter from barnyards, or manure spread on unsuitable slopes. Animals having access to streams also causes erosion of banks along with indirect and direct pollution of water sources.

Many of the problems causing the pollution have existed for decades but now the situation has reached the critical stage where action must be taken to correct them.

An example of community concern and involvement is the pending cleanup of the Campbellsport Mill Pond. The pond was the result of the main branch of the Milwaukee River being dammed up many years ago to provide power for a mill. The mill is now gone and over the years the pond has deteriorated due to heavy siltration. The end result is sediment 10 to 11 feet thick lying on the bottom of the pond. Approximately 125,000 cubic yards of sediment will be dredged from the pond, said Bill Stoffel of Campbellsport, with the money for the work coming from fundraisers held by area clubs and local organizations. The cleanup is expected to be completed by 1988.

While the mill pond is an example of a major undertaking to reduce pollution, Perry Lindquist, Washington County Land Conservationist, noted less expensive methods of pollution control can be accomplished. Through simple changes in land management and useage such as contour strip, planting, soil erosion can be reduced by 75%. Fencing off streams or moving pastures so cattle do not erode the banks or pollute the water were other examples. Diverting rainwater from barn roofs away from cow lots to prevent pollutant runoff into streams and building short walls around cow lots to hold back manure solids, with grass barriers below to filter water leaving lots are other methods of pollution control.

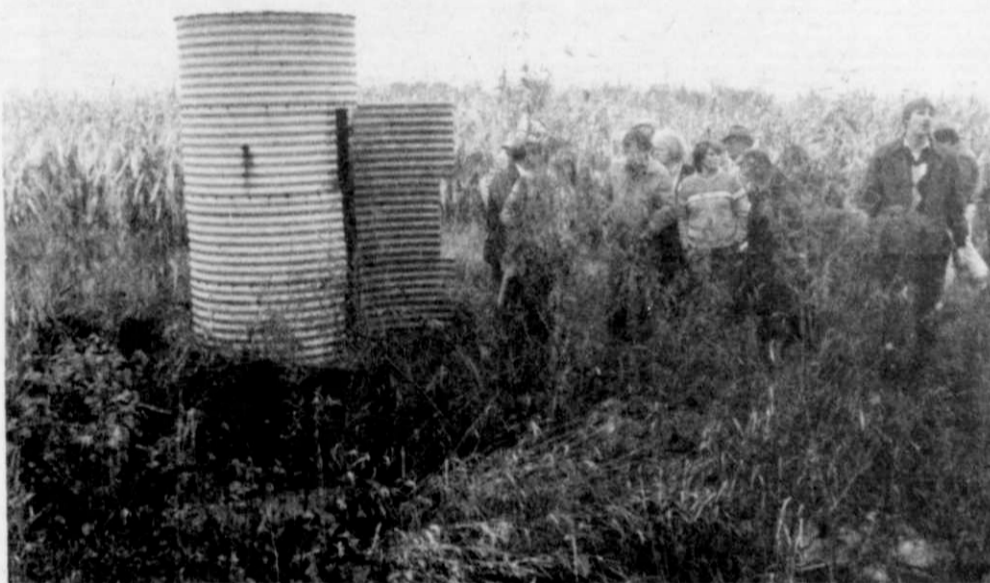

Lindquist said county land conservationists have been and will work with any landowner interested in developing management programs for their lands.

The legislature has appropriated $3.1 million for cleanup to landowners and local governments. All five watershed projects in the Milwaukee River Basin, East - West Branches, Milwaukee River North Branch, Cedar Creek, Menomonee River, and Milwaukee River South, are expected to take eight years to complete, with the last one finished by 1996.

SUNDAY WORSHIP
Sunday, Oct. 26, at 10:30

Bill Stoffel (Regal) of Campbellsport explained his community's mill pond cleanup project. Approximately 125,000 cubic yards of sediment are expected to be dredged out during the cleanup which is expected to be completed by 1988.

The Watershed Tour stopped at an EPA funded water quality monitoring station on the Howard Proeber farm, 5036 Hwy. D, West Bend. The purpose of the research data gathered during the 1970's was to compare storm water runoff samples before and after conservation practices were applied. The data was also used to evaluate the effects of common conservation practices on non-point source water pollution.

The Watershed Tour viewed the drawn down impoundment area behind the West Bend Woolen Mills dam. There is presently a controversy over whether or not the dam should be removed or replaced. Besides the highly contaminated sediment in the basin, there are 3 landfills along its banks which may have water back charging into them which could again pollute any cleanup measures taken in the near future. One of the DNR's options is to remove the dam and fill in the impoundment making it a grass area. Property owners along the dam area are opposing that action.

Washington, Dodge Counties Now Eligible Flood Disaster Centers Closed But Victims May Still Apply Over Hotline

The last two of six Disaster Application Centers (DACs) which served eastern Wisconsin residents in the eight counties declared disaster areas by President Reagan on October 7th closed October 17th.

The closing of the assistance centers does not stop victims of the September floods from being able to apply for assistance. Applications will now be taken over the Disaster HOTLINE at 1-800-323-2361. Operators are now on duty from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and, on Sunday, from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

The DACs, which began operations October 11th to assist victims of the severe storms and flooding in September, have taken applications for assistance from 1,167 persons.

"We feel that the large majority of the victims of the September flooding have had the opportunity to apply for assistance," said Paul E. Hall, federal coordinating officer. "We also hope that those victims who are still in need of assistance will continue to apply for help through our toll-free hotline now that the centers have closed. The deadline for applying is December 5th."

The total number of applications by center were: Milwaukee - 485, Fond du Lac - 341, Sheboygan - 105, Beaver Dam - 94, Kenosha - 90, and Port Washington - 49. Washington, Dodge and Waukesha counties last Tuesday were added to counties now eligible for federal disaster assistance.

Totals by categories of assistance requested were: Tax assistance - 1,053, Temporary housing - 482, Small Business Administration loans - 476, and Individual and Family Grants - 405.

The state and federal disaster response team has begun processing the more than 1,100 applications for disaster assistance filed by residents of eastern Wisconsin who were damaged by September floods and storms. Paul E. Hall, federal coordinating officer directing the joint recovery operation, said that during the week ending October 24, many applicants can expect to see results from their requests for aid. The first letters dealing with eligibility for temporary housing assistance and the state's individual and family grant program were placed in the mail October 17.

Slinger Enters Flood Insurance Program

In emergency session, the Board of Trustees of Slinger in Washington County voted unanimously to enter the National Flood Insurance Program effective October 16, according to Brad Loar, flood insurance spokesman for the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

As a result, disaster victims in Slinger may now be eligible for state and federal disaster assistance, Loar said. The types of assistance available include home, personal property and business loans, temporary housing and individual and family grants.

The longer term benefit of a community being in the program is that its residents are eligible to purchase flood insurance. Then, in the event of a flood, victims receive a payment from the policy. Without flood insurance, they must apply for a low interest loan from the Small Business Administration which must then be repaid.

"Moreover," Loar said, "they will receive benefits from their policy during nuisance flooding which does not reach the magnitude of a major declared disaster." But individuals cannot purchase flood insurance unless the local government elects to enter the program.

Washington County, in which Slinger is located, came into the program in August of 1977, which took care of residents living in unincorporated areas. Only three other communities in the eight county area in eastern Wisconsin declared eligible for federal disaster assistance as a result of the September flooding are not participants in the National Flood Insurance Program. They are Lowell and Iron Ridge in Dodge County and Oostburg in Sheboygan County.

Flood insurance can be obtained from any licensed property insurance agent in Wisconsin. Slinger residents have 30 days from October 16 to obtain a policy that will be effective on the date of purchase. After 30 days from the date the town elected into the program, policies will have a five day waiting period, Loar said.

Another aspect of the National Flood Insurance Program concerns the hundred year flood plain. It is mandatory for communities within the hundred year flood plain to participate in the flood insurance program if its residents are to be eligible for most federal assistance that is provided as a result of a flooding disaster declaration.

A hundred year flood plain is defined as any area mapped by FEMA that has a one percent chance of being flooded in any given year.

Residents desiring more information on flood insurance should contact their community officials or call Bob Watson with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources in Madison at 608-266-8037. Additional information on flood insurance can be obtained by calling the National Flood Insurance Program's toll-free number - 1-800-638-6620.

Temporary Housing Letters Mailed to Aid Recipients

The first of what will be several hundred Temporary Housing Program letters were mailed October 17 to victims of the September floods and storms that brought a Presidential disaster declaration to eastern Wisconsin.

Mary Hudak, directing the Temporary Housing assistance program for the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) team in Wisconsin, said about half the letters spell out the eligibility for some aspect of the Temporary Housing program in terms of dollars authorized. Those letters state that U.S. Treasury checks will be sent within a period of two weeks.

Disabled Veterans Week Oct. 19 to 25

Governor Earl has proclaimed "Disabled American Veterans Week," October 19 to October 25, 1986, in recognition of the services rendered by the D.A.V. to the disabled veterans and to the communities of Wisconsin.

Letter to The Editor...

Eau Claire, WI
Oct. 13th, 1986

Dear Editor,

My letter is in response to the many comments I've read, particularly the one in your Oct. 3rd issue, on the subject of the musical "Grease" which is to be performed at the Kewaskum High School.

I, like Ann Enright, am also an alumni of the Kewaskum High School, and also took part in plays and many activities as a student there. There is one exception to our likes though.

I was a student of Mr. David Bertelsen, who is the director of the play "Grease." I feel that today, even though I am a graduate of more than six years, part of his good morals and good nature and sense of good taste are still with me. I trusted he and other teachers to direct and teach me as a teenager, along with my parents, and now as an adult respect them for it.

I no longer live in Kewaskum, and can very seldom attend any of the activities that I loved so much when I was a student, but I have my memories and my high value of life that was instilled in me when I needed it most, my teenage years. I can't seem to remember what lessons any of the plays taught me while I was in them, but I do remember those lessons that the teacher taught while organizing a production. That's what mattered.

Please Kewaskum, put your faith in Mr. Bertelsen. Trust that he can do this play in a fun and easy-going way. Don't put too much emphasis on a play that was not intended to be a moral hazard, but just plain fun to perform and watch.

P.S. Your kids are smarter than you think. I can't believe that this stage play can change someone's morals unless you help it to.

Trick or Treat Time

Trick or Treat Time has been set for the Village of Kewaskum between 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, October 26, 1986.

We ask the citizens to follow some of the following suggestions to make this a safe and enjoyable time for our children.

Keep your children in their own familiar neighborhoods.

Do not use masks or costumes that do not afford a good field of vision for the children.

Do not follow the children in a car.

Parents, inspect all treats before allowing the children to eat them.

Report any suspicious treats and any other suspicious activity to the police at once. The longer you wait the more difficult it becomes to apprehend the suspect.

The Auxiliary Police will be on patrol as well as an extra squad car during this time. Report to them and go to them to help you across dangerous intersections.

With all our cooperation, this should be a safe and meaningful experience for our youngsters.

Thank you

Girls Defeat Plymouth, Kiel In Volleyball

The Kewaskum girls volleyball team won two more matches last week to even their record at 5-5, good for fourth place in the Eastern Wisconsin standings.

Playing at Plymouth Tuesday, the girls displayed some good setting and spiking to win the first two games in dominating fashion, 15-2 and 15-8. However, they lost the third game by a disappointing score of 7-15.

Debbie Felix led Kewaskum in points, while Jenny Schuster was the assist leader. Lisa Schneider did well in sets, while Felix and Jenny Hintz led the spiking attack and there was much support from Teri Schmidt.

The JVs split the first two games, 16-14, 8-15 and after taking a 14-8 lead in the third game, they stalled and finally lost 16-14 in overtime. The freshmen lost all three games.

The Indians hosted Kiel on Thursday evening and swept all three games, 15-4, 15-3 and 15-13. The JVs went down, 14-16, 15-5 and 8-15. The freshmen lost all three games, 7-15, 6-15 and 3-15. Details were not available.

The 1986 fall track season for area middle school came to an end Oct. 7. The final meet was held at Slinger. The results of the conference meet are as follows:

Seventh grade - 1. Waupun, 95½ points; 2. Slinger, 66 points; 3. Kewaskum, 64 points; 4. Hartford, 52½ points; 5. Germantown, 35 points; 6. Pewaukee, 26 points.

Eighth grade - 1. Slinger, 94 points; 2. Kewaskum, 71 points; 3. Waupun, 58 points; 4. Hartford, 45 points; 5. Pewaukee, 41 points; 6. Germantown, 32 points.

The Kewaskum Middle School girls' teams have done a very good job this year. Despite the wet, cool fall, the girls managed a season of hard work and much enthusiasm. Much improvement of times and distances were recorded. During the seasons 5 dual meets the 8th grade record was 5-0, while the 7th grade compiled a 2-3 record. Truly appreciated was the support of parents and friends at the meets, as well as the faculty members who worked the meets. Without them the season could not have been such a success.

The following girls received ribbons for their achievements at the conference meet:

First place: Janel Flynn (8), long jump - 12'9½"; Melissa Jacak (8), high jump - 4'4"; 400 meter relay (8) of Melissa Braun, Patti Aupperle, Nicole Gaffke, and Pam Gauger, 59.4; Tina Schwartz (7), long jump - 12'8"; Kelly Korth (7), 800 meter run - 2:57.3; Rachel Gosa (7), 200 meter dash - 31.0.

St. Lucas Soccer Team Splits Two

The St. Lucas 76'ers traveled to Calvary Lutheran School of Thiensville on Tuesday, the 14th, to suffer a 4-1 defeat. The Sixers took the early 1-0 lead and took that lead through the halftime break. Calvary came out smoking in the second half and sent the St. Lucas squad on to its third setback of the season.

On Thursday, the 16th, the Sixers hosted the always tough Rams of Good Shepherd, West Bend. Playing their best soccer of the year, the Sixers dominated the scoring of the day. Good passing, super hustle, and a number of people involved in scoring the goals spelled defeat for the Rams, 5-3.

Steve Dickman led the attack of the 76'ers. Steve had two of the five goals striking from the right side. Jody Ludwig, Doug Stern, and Erik Kral all added one goal each to send the 76'ers on to victory.

The 76'ers closed out their soccer season with a contest against Bethlehem Lutheran School of Menomonee Falls on Tuesday Oct. 21.

End Winless Drought

Indians Tip Fox Valley Lutheran of Appleton

By Chuck Voge

The Kewaskum Indians enjoyed the sweet taste of victory for the first time this season Friday night, as they downed the Fox Valley Lutheran Foxes by a score of 8-0.

Big defensive plays, all at the right time, were the key to the Kewaskum success. Juniors Jeff Miller and Steve Johnson stopped the Foxes twice, with interceptions and sophomore Mike Heberer had a field day as he went FOX TRAPPING on three separate occasions and picked up an interception of his own. Heberer also threw cold water on the Foxes' fire twice more during the game, when he broke up a Hail Mary pass from Appleton's quarterback, Jon Dahlke.

Later in the fourth period Heberer really helped put this one on ice for the Indians when he scooped up an Appleton fumble down near the Kewaskum goal line that stopped the Foxes' final scoring opportunity, and helped drain whatever sap the Foxes might have had left.

Kewaskum's only score came on the first play of the second period when Mike Coulter capped a 71-yard scoring drive by taking the ball in on a short plunge from the three. The Indians ran for the two point conversion and that put together with tough defense would be all that they would need for the rest of the evening.

Offensively the Indians were able to launch a much more balanced running attack than they have been able to in the past. While Coulter picked up his share of the tough yardage, right up the middle, Jeff Miller and Mark Schlosser teamed up for the rest of the Kewaskum ground game.

The excellent running of Miller and Schlosser went a long way toward giving the Foxes someone other than Coulter to key on. All too often in the past the story has been "stop Mike Coulter and you stop the Indians."

Coulter did have his moments in the game. On one running play he was met by no less than five Appleton players. While they were all hanging on him he still picked up at least two additional yards when the best that five men could do was just slow Mike to a standstill without being able to completely bring him down. Play finally stopped when officials whistled the play dead.

Except for one area the Indians usually aren't bothered much by penalties. Delay of the game has, however, been a constant source of trouble for Kewaskum since they always use the long count when they snap the ball. The long count is a very necessary part of the Indian game plan and is used to give quarterback Eric Pearson the necessary time to call audibles at the line of scrimmage. The only solution to the too numerous delay penalties is the Indians will just have to learn to "Shag It" after they leave the huddle.

The Indians altered their game plan in yet another way when head coach Fran Charland shuffled three players at a time on offense on each play. The three man shuttle had a two-fold purpose. It was designed to not only give more players some playing time, but also went a long way toward resting players as the game progressed.

Resting players paid big dividends in the long run. When the Indians had to come up with the big defensive play late in the game they had people that were still fresh enough to go in and do the job.

The Foxes were not weak sisters by any means. Coming into the game they had a 3 and 5 record and fielded a team with 59 players on their roster compared to just 35 for the Indians.

Next the Indians will take their newly acquired one game winning streak on the road when they travel to Chilton for a conference game with the Tigers on Friday, Oct. 24th, with game time at 7:30 p.m. The Tigers have been having their own share of problems and are also 0 and 4 in conference play. The big question now is will the Indians make it two in a row? The answer "DEFINITELY."

The freshmen and JVs were idle for the week.

Indian Boys 6th in EW Conference Meet; Girls Short

The Kewaskum boys placed sixth and the girls were short of a team in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference cross country meet last Wednesday at UW-Sheboygan.

Chilton won the boys end of the meet and conference championship by beating Sheboygan Falls, 51-63. Finishing third in the standings was New Holstein with 74 points, followed by Two Rivers 83, Plymouth 125, Kewaskum 144, and Kiel 179.

The Indians' Miles Shaw made the all-conference squad with his seventh place finish with an 18:06. He could have done better were it not for suffering from cramps during the run. Shaw had previously beaten several of the runners who finished ahead of him Wednesday.

The only other Kewaskum runner in the top 25 was Curt Ayer, who placed 23rd with a time of 19:02. Craig Hubbell, who also felt cramping, was back in 36th place with a 20:42. Kris Follmann and John Braun finished 38th and 40th respectively.

Two Rivers won easily in the girls meet, with all five runners among the top nine finishers. They were far ahead with 28 points, compared to second place Sheboygan Falls with 65. The Raiders' Trina Taddy won the individual crown in 12:35. New Holstein took third place with 71 points, Kiel fourth with 113 and Plymouth fifth with 115. Kewaskum had only four runners, not enough for a score.

The Indians' Ellen Kuphal finished 15th, just missing second team all-conference with a 14:38. Sherri and Carrie Batzler were 25th and 26th, and Pam Osterbrink was in 32nd.
