1987 Kewaskum Sewer and Water Department Budgets Approved

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The Kewaskum Village Board, Monday night, approved the 1987 Water Pollution Control Department budget of $282,508. The new budget carries a 5.4% increase over 1986. Village Board President David Nigh noted some of the reasons for the higher budget were increases in power, insurance, chemical, and sludge hauling costs.

In discussing the budget, and specifically the sludge hauling, village consultant Dr. Raymond Kipp told the board the biggest problem for the department is high PH levels resulting from the dairy plant's discharge. "If we can't solve the problem of the high levels, I'm afraid the $18,000 won't be enough to cover sludge hauling," said Kipp.

Kipp told the board, if the problem with the dairy isn't settled soon the treatment plant won't be meeting DNR permit requirements and then the village could be faced with fines as high as $5,000 per day of non-compliance.

Trustee Dick Schmidt asked Kipp what was causing the high levels. "Primarily the cleaning of the trucks," said Kipp. There are steps the dairy can take to eliminate the problem, noted Kipp. "There are a lot of dairies operating and without these PH problems."

Administrator Dan Schmidt and Kipp said they had been working with the dairy but so far all they had received was promises. They indicated the village will just have to set a deadline for correction of the problem. "We do have provisions in our ordinance to fine the dairy but we've tried to avoid that," said Schmidt. The two men indicated they had hoped the dairy would cooperate voluntarily without the threat of fines.

High PH levels kill off the bacteria which are needed in the tanks to break down the sewage. If the bacteria die, the tanks stop working and they must be pumped out and the sludge hauled away. Water Pollution Control Superintendent Pete Albers noted that when the plant is operating properly some pumping is required about every eight to ten weeks, however, the PH

Village President Nigh Will Not Seek Re-election to Board

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

At the conclusion of Monday night's Village Board meeting, David Nigh announced he will not be seeking re-election to a second term as President.

Nigh said he had served twelve years on the board and, while he had enjoyed the opportunity to serve, his business and other commitments were making greater demands on his time. At this point in my life I would like to go on to other things, he noted.

Upon the conclusion of Nigh's statement, trustee Paul Blumer announced his candidacy for the position of president. Blumer, who has been on the board since 1979, is completing his fourth term as trustee.

Incumbents Mary Krueger and Richard Schlice, whose terms as trustee, along with Blumer's, expire have taken out nomination papers but have not as yet returned them.

With Blumer's decision to run for board president, there will be one trustee's post open.

In the School Board election, the terms of members Jean Goeden, Tom Brigham and Kim Peterson will be expiring.

So far, five individuals have taken out nomination papers. They are, incumbents Goeden and Brigham, Ruth Schmitt, who has made one successful bid for a position, Neal Weare, a former board member who was defeated in his bid for re-election to a second term, and newcomer Robert Schulteis, the only candidate, to date, who has returned his papers.

Incumbent Kim Peterson has not taken out papers or indicated whether or not he will seek re-election.

The deadline for submitting nomination papers for the elections is January 6th.

KHS Administrator Proposes Addition Of Class AA for Some WIAA Prep Sports

Penelope J. Kleinhans, administrator of the Kewaskum School District, and a member of the WIAA Advisory Council, has drawn up a proposal that would add a Class AA for the state's 105 largest schools, which would give the smaller Class A schools a fairer chance at winning a WIAA boys basketball title.

The proposal also would expand girls basketball and volleyball to four classes and boys golf to two classes. Boys and girls cross country would be reduced to two classes. Football (6), spring baseball (3), softball (3), boys and girls track (3), girls gymnastics (2), summer baseball (1), Hockey (1), girls golf (1), boys and girls swimming (1), girls tennis (1), boys and girls soccer (1) and boys golf (1) would retain their current class structure.

Kleinhans' plan would feature a state Final Four in each class in basketball, rather than the current arrangement of eight Class A state qualifiers and just four each in Class B and Class C. The proposal will be discussed at the WIAA Board of Control/Advisory Council meeting in Stevens Point on January 28-30, 1987.

Since the WIAA went to the three-class system starting with the 1974 state tournament, every boys Class A champion has come from the pool of schools which would now comprise Class AA.

The 14 Milwaukee high schools which sponsor basketball all would be placed in the new Class AA. The largest school in the new Class A would be Oregon, with an enrollment of 853. Kleinhans said participation in a state tournament was important "in terms of gaining community support and a positive attitude about your schools."

Jan Doleschal, commissioner of athletics for the Milwaukee Public Schools, said, "On a statewide basis, it's a good move."

With the proposed four-class Final Four tournament, the total number of games at the state tourney thus would be reduced from 13 to 12.

Kleinhans, who is concerned and interested in extra-curricular activities, notes that Class C schools must win more games than Class A schools to get to the state tournament. The number of classes in each sport would be determined by the number of schools participating.

WIAA Associate Director Matt Otte said the January meetings of the Board of Control and Advisory Council would include discussion of the proposal, but that the WIAA's annual meeting April 30 would more likely indicate schools' interest in changing the class structure. He said no change in the class setup could be implemented before the 1988-'89 school year.

Involving area schools, the new four-class system would move Fond du Lac, Sheboygan North, Hartford, Sheboygan South, Menomonee Falls, West Bend East, West Bend West, Beaver Dam, Cedarburg, Germantown, Port Washington, and Grafton from Class A to Class AA; Waupun, Two Rivers, and Plymouth would remain in Class A; New Holstein, Slinger, Kewaskum, Ripon, Sheboygan Falls, Campbellsport, Kiel, Mayville, Chilton, North Fond du Lac, and Horicon would move from Class B to Class A; Laconia, Markesan, and Random Lake would remain in Class B; Lomira, Ozaukee, Oostburg, and Cedar Grove would move from Class C to Class B; Oakfield, and Kohler would remain in Class C.

4 Killed, 3 Hurt In Area Accidents

A one-car accident early Sunday morning took the life of one West Bend man and seriously injured two others.

Killed in the mishap was Allen R. Morrison 19, of 515 Decker Drive, West Bend, driver of the vehicle. Two passengers, Gregory G. Ellison, 18, of 2113 Barton Avenue, and Willard J. Boettcher, Jr., of 614 Redwood Street, both of West Bend were seriously injured.

According to a Washington County Sheriff's Department spokesperson, Morrison was killed when his car apparently skidded on a patch of ice and struck a tree on Salisbury Road, about one-half mile south of Highway H, in the Town of Kewaskum. Morrison and a rear seat passenger were thrown from the vehicle.

The accident was reported to the Sheriff's Department at 5:09 a.m. Sunday morning. Ellison and Boettcher were transported to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, where they were reported to be in serious but stable condition with multiple injuries.

In another Washington County crash Sunday night, raising the county's fatality total to 26 for the year, three Milwaukee men were killed and a fourth was in critical condition after a van collided with a railroad train in the Town of Addison.

The van-train collision occurred on County Trunk DW west of U.S. Highway 41 north of Allenton.

Killed were the driver, Jerome L. Van Beek, 47, of 6017 W. Mitchell, West Allis, and two passengers, Kevin K. Werner, 33, of 7221 St. James, Milwaukee, and Dennis J. Neitzel, 34, of 2527 N. 39th St., Milwaukee.

A third passenger, Robert R. Thompson, 30, of 711 Center St., Milwaukee, was in critical condition with chest and abdominal injuries in the in-

KLEINHANS' PROPOSAL TO WIAA FOLLOWS:

For some time, concerns have been expressed about the fairness of the three-class tournament structure for several team sports sponsored by the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association (WIAA).

The three-class tournament structure is used in most sports in which a majority of WIAA member schools enter teams. The exception is football, in which a six-division playoff structure is used, and some sports in which one-half or less of the member schools participate.

Under the three-class system, there are currently 128 schools in Class A, 118 in Class B and 179 in Class C, based on enrollment from the previous school year. Eight Class A teams advance to the state tournament, along with four Class B and four Class C squads.

While the current structure is certainly an improvement over the one-class tourney in effect prior to 1974, thoughtful individuals in WIAA member schools have voiced concerns about the equity of the current tournament structure.

Class B and Class C schools have made the following points:
 ** While 70 percent of the schools participating in the boys basketball tournament series are Class B and C, these schools represent only 50 percent of the state tournament field.

** Class A teams play four games to advance to the state tournament, while most Class C schools must play six games to earn a trip to Madison.

** Class C state tournament semi-finals are always played on Friday morning, starting at 9:30, while Class A and B semi-finals are played Friday afternoon and evening.

More recently, the smaller Class A schools have voiced concern that the larger Class A schools are dominating the Class A boys basketball state tourney field. Using statistics compiled over the last 13 years, it was pointed out that a large Class A school could expect to make the state tournament once every 10 years, while a small Class A school would have a chance of going to Madison only once in every 40 years.

In response to these concerns, the administration recently instructed the WIAA staff to review the concerns and return with recommendations.

For team sports, the WIAA staff recommended the following:

** Four-class tournament when three-quarters of the membership is sponsoring the sport (currently boys and girls basketball, and volleyball).

** Assignment of schools to pre-state tournament groupings by geography.

** Retain present procedure for qualifying from regional-to-sectional and from sectional-to-state (automatic plus, in appropriate sports, extra qualifiers).

In boys basketball, for example, if the four-class system was in operation this season, there could be 105 Class AA schools, 105 Class A schools, 105 Class B schools, and 106 Class C schools (four schools do not sponsor boys basketball). Four teams in each class would advance to the state tournament. Semi-finals in two classes would be held on Thursday, semi-finals in the other two classes on Friday, and finals in all four classes on Saturday.

Appendix A provides a listing of the current WIAA member schools, enrollment used to determine current classes, current classes for the 1986-87 school year, and classes in which the schools might be placed in a four-class system (AA, A, B and C) in boys basketball. There may be some minor variations when schools are actually placed into classes.

As with any proposal, there are advantages and disadvantages. The WIAA staff has identified the following advantages of the proposal:

** Provides more state participation (teams and individual) for small Class A, Class B and Class C schools.

** Each class will have the same number of schools assigned instead of the present policy of 128 Class A schools, 118 Class B schools and 179 Class C schools.

** Classes will have schools of more comparable enrollments grouped together.

** More efficient state tournament management, particularly for team sports, as only semi-final and final contests will be played.

The disadvantages of the proposal:

** Team and individual sports handled differently.

** Schools could be in different classes for different sports.

 ** Could increase travel, particularly at the sectional tournament level.

** Less state tournament participation (team and individual) for the present large Class A schools.

If the goal is to provide as much equity as possible when our young athletes participate in tournament competition, then I believe we must seriously consider, and implement, the recommendations of the WIAA staff.

problem has resulted in periods where the village has had to pump and haul sludge every two to three weeks.

Albers also told the board the cost of chemicals was another significant factor in the increased budget. "One of the chemicals we use has risen 450% in cost over the past five years." The chemical, a by-product of the steel-making industry, is becoming very scarce as steel mills cut back or close operations. It's a matter of supply and demand, and the plants are scratching to meet their needs, he noted.

With the approval of the budget, the board also approved a 16.6% increase in the residential and commercial user rates. In his report, Kipp told the board the department is approximately $19,000 "in the hole." Effective January 1st, the sewage rate will go up $5.89 per quarter, from 1.87 per gallons, to $2.18. The village's last rate increase went into effect in March of 1983.

In other action, the board approved a 1987 budget of $121,243 for the Water Department. It too, like the Water Pollution Control Department, has been running in the red. Expected 1987 revenues of $109,800, could mean a shortfall of $11,443 for next year.

While the budget reflects a 6.6% decrease in spending from 1986, it also shows a 11% deficit in expenditures, noted Schmidt. Schmidt said he would be submitting a request for a rate increase to the Public Service Commission some time in early January.

The increase for the Water Department probably would not go into effect until the second or possible third quarter of 1987, depending on how fast the PSC acts on the request, said Schmidt.

With the 11% deficit and a 6% profit margin as recommended by the PSC, the village will be looking at a hike of around 16% to 17%, noted Schmidt. He reminded the board that the village has no say in how big an increase the village will see. The PSC determines that and passes that on to the village.

The subject of a 5% room tax for the village was also discussed by the board. During a public hearing on the proposed ordinance, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Klein, owners of the Bonnie Bell Motel, expressed their opposition. The Kleins said their business did not draw the kind of customers who would or could afford to pay an additional 5% for a room. "Our customers are elderly or people who work on the road and don't have a limitless expense account," Klein told the board.

Klein asked the trustees why they had "singled out" his business. The board members said it was not a matter of singling anyone out, but of looking at various options open to the village in an effort to offset the continuing loss of revenues. The board indicated a room tax was an alternative to increasing property taxes. "We just felt this was something we could explore," said Nigh.

"Every year we're losing state and federal aids and we were just looking for other sources of revenue," stated trustee Richard Schlice.

Trustee Richard Schmidt said he would make a motion to table the room tax for next year, with the understanding there could be a possibility of establishing it in the future. "I don't want the issue killed but the paperwork kept on file in case one, two, or five years down the road we find ourselves in a situation where we must look at this as a source of revenue." Schmidt's motion passed on a unanimous vote.

In other business the board approved 1987 budgets for the TIF district and Special Revenues Fund.

The board also approved resolutions covering the transfer of funds, and the naming of an accounting firm to audit the village's financial records.

Richard Schmidt advised the board that it looked like the Countywide Library System would go into effect on January 2, even though contracts with all the participating municipalities have not been signed.

Dan Schmidt informed the board that all the village tax bills had been mailed out last week and 19 residents had already made their payments.

"Tenderness is passion in repose."

According to the Washington County Sheriff's Department, Van Beek was driving east on County DW when his van was struck by a northbound Soo Line Railroad train at 6:25 p.m.

Van Beek and Neitzel died of head injuries, and Werner had a crushed chest, according to the report. All four men were ejected from the van.

A responding State Patrol officer said the railroad crossing was marked by stop signs, functioning flashing lights, railroad crossing warning signs and rumble strips in the road. He said the four had attended a snowmobile club Christmas party prior to the accident.

Two Kewaskum Educators Back at UWWC After Teaching One Year in Malaysia

By Jack Anderson, UWWC

Two educators are back at the UW Center - Washington County after a year of teaching at Indiana University - on the edge of a Malaysian rain forest.

During a recent talk to UWWC faculty about their experience, Dick and Margaret Cleek of Kewaskum spoke about their work at Shah Alam, an industrial suburb of 60,000 people near Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia.

Dick, an associate professor of cultural geography and computer science, and Margaret, an associate professor of psychology, were among 50 U.S. faculty selected to work at the school during its first year of existence.

The school was established by the Malaysian government in conjunction with the Midwestern Universities Consortium in Asia with Indiana University playing a lead role. This year UWWC's Alan Grimm of West Bend, associate professor of chemistry, is at Shah Alam with his wife Suzy to teach at the school.

In setting up the tropical Indiana University, the government sought to familiarize students with American ways of higher education. Dick said, "If students do well in the program, they want to go to a U.S. university."

About 500 students were enrolled during the school's first year with the number expected to quadruple in the near future.

Students are picked from the top six percent of their classes. Most come from rural areas. Many are from families of eight or nine people and grew up in houses built on stilts to ease problems of snakes, insects and heat.

The Cleeks noted that Malaysia has the highest standard of living in Asia, outside of Japan. Many rural areas, for example, have TV. "They all watch Dallas," Dick said.

Malay students, Margaret said, see education as "the way to succeed." She said that students attending their school were told: "This is your chance in life."

Dick found his students "more motivated than American students." One possible reason, Margaret said, is the requirement that those flunking out have to pay back all their scholarship money.

Not many flunked. In a class of 140 students, she said, only two failed and no one dropped out. Most students received "B" grades.

Margaret said some students complained that "American professors are much too easy, do not set tough-enough rules, and let students get away with murder."

Dick said, "I don't think we were easy. We set University of Wisconsin standards." He sees such comments reflecting students' training in the British system of education that stresses "rote memory and standing-in-the-corner."

During orientation for this year of teaching, Margaret said, "They beat it into us: 'Teach just like you did at home.'"

Most of the students at Indiana University were Malays, one of the three major ethnic groups in the nation. Malays tend to follow the Islamic faith, a fact that colored some aspects of school life.

Physical contact between the sexes, for example, was forbidden. "I had a girl who wouldn't pass papers to a boy," Dick said.

Muslim women must cover their bodies, which did not interfere with activities like student government, the newspaper and camera club. But in athletics, Margaret said, "Females wore total sweatsuits from head to foot" despite a hot, humid climate.

The requirements of mid-day prayers resulted in a 12:15 to 2 p.m. period when no classes were scheduled, allowing a break for religion and lunch.

The Cleeks express great affection for the Malay people. "They have the best-behaved kids I've ever seen," Dick said. Margaret talked about how soft-spoken her students were. "They were incredibly shy," she said.

Dick told how a speech teacher had "tried to get them to yell."

After a year of teaching non-English students, Dick found himself using words in a more "precise" way. That practice is continuing at UWWC.

In looking back on her year abroad, Margaret remembers the awareness of her students. "They know so much about the world," she said.

And she smiles at memories of the new American way of learning colliding with the old British system. "They were used to being told, 'Here it is. Memorize this,'" Margaret said.

So when a teacher talked about theories, she added, a Malay student might express impatience asking: "Why don't you wait until you know and then tell us?"

"Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east and are come to worship him."

Kiwanis Club Announces Soil Conservation Award Winners

By Don Kurer,
District Conservationist

Mark Ruplinger and James Murphy were honored by the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club on Monday, December 8th, at the Glacier Inn for their outstanding effort in planning and applying soil conservation practices to their land.

Attending with the award winners, to receive recognition for their part was Mark's mother, Charlotte, and Jim Buss, local dairy farmer who farms the Murphy land with him. A slide presentation of the awardees' farms was given by Don Kurer, District Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service. The awards were presented by the program chairman, Roy Esser.

The awards are presented to two farmers annually by the Kiwanians at their Farm-City meeting. Since the program was started 29 years ago by Orv Behnke and carried on by Roy Esser, 58 farmers have been recognized. Thirty-one of the award winners have turned their farming operation over to a son or son-in-law who have maintained existing conservation practices and/or added to them.

A letter read by Roy Esser, which was written by Harold Ryan, SCS conservationist, 19 years ago, stated that "prior to this Kiwanis program, very little conservation was practiced in this area. Today the amount accomplished in these 3 townships (Wayne, Kewaskum, Farmington) exceeds what is done in the other 10 townships in the county." It is equally true today that the fifty-eight farmers and their wives, who have been honored, sell more conservation to their neighbors than anyone else in the county. The Kewaskum Kiwanis club, along with the farmers, truly deserve high commendation for this very worthwhile program.

James Murphy owns a 188 acre farm in the Town of Wayne and has been a cooperater with the Washington Land Conservation Department since 1968. Jim has been very persistent in getting conservation practices on the land with the help of the Soil Conservation Service. Since 1984, 112 acres of contour strips were applied to control sheet and rill erosion on the steep drumlin topography of the area. Over two miles of stone fence were removed to facilitate the contour strips and over 7,000 feet of underground tile drainage were installed to drain off hillside seep water. Two grass waterways were constructed with tile to safely dispose of excess runoff water from the land without causing gully erosion. Jim Buss, Kewaskum area dairy farmer, deserves credit for implementing the conservation plan on the land including 116 acres of chisel plowing instead of moldboard plowing to help control the erosion. Two waterways 2150', two diversions 2850' and one 1110' terrace are planned for the future to complete the plans for the land through the ASCS cost/share program. Timber stand improvement was accomplished on Murphy's 11 acre woodlot in cooperation with the DNR. Thirty-three cords of ironwood and other cull trees were thinned out by the New Tribes Mission, Little Kohler, which was donated to them for fire wood.

Mark Ruplinger farms 82 acres of land with his mother Charlotte, which is located one mile east of Highway 41 on Highway H, Town of Wayne. Mark took over four years ago when his dad passed away. He is a member and past president of the Kewaskum High School

FFA alumni.

Mark became a cooperater with the Land Conservation Department in January of 1985. He immediately went to work to remove 1,500 feet of stone fence which formerly squared off his fields to make room for 48 acres of contour strips which cross the old field boundaries. In one place, there was an 8 foot build-up of soil behind the old stone fence which was graded down by Dave Resch, excavator in the process of removing the stones. Mark follows a conservation cropping system on 65 acres consisting of mostly hay. He plans to improve 4 acres of woodland in the future and maintains 4 acres of wetland in existing trees and shrubs for wildlife.

I have appreciated working with these two cooperative landowners. They are doing a wonderful job and my congratulations to them now and in the future.

Since this will probably be the last Kiwanis awards program I will attend due to my retirement, (although they invited me back next year) I want to congratulate the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club on their conservation efforts for 29 years. This goes for the 58 farmers recognized since 1958 to the present. The extensive conservation practices applied in this area will be a tribute to them for generations.

WISCONSIN SKETCHES

By Jim De Lorme

GREAT LAKES STORMS

Courtesy of the Kewaskum Statesman

November is respected by sailors on the Great Lakes as the "month of storms."

In early November of 1975 the 729-foot carrier Edmund Fitzgerald loaded 26,000 tons of iron ore at the Burlington Northern docks in Superior and left port, headed for Detroit. The weather was unusually balmy. Less than thirty hours later the "Fitz" succumbed to the battering of twenty-five-foot waves and winds of eighty-five miles-per-hour in the first winter storm of the season. All hands of the ship's crew of twenty-one, including eight from Wisconsin, were lost. Today the ship lies in two pieces under 530 feet of Lake Superior — part of the legend of the Great Lakes.

The holiday season brings a poignant recollection of another ship lost in winter weather on Lake Michigan. Over seventy years ago the Rouse Simmons, a three-masted sailing schooner, left Manistique, Michigan on its annual three hundred mile voyage of yuletide cheer. The "Simmons" was caught in part of the great November storm of 1913, and was last seen off the shore of Sturgeon Bay flying distress signals. Her sails were in tatters and the cargo was heaped on her decks, covered with ice. Driving snow cut visibility to zero and prevented any rescue attempt by the Kewaunee Coast Guard. The ship, its crew, and its cargo disappeared.

Next spring, and for many years thereafter, commercial fishing nets in the area hauled up balsam and spruce, the cargo of the "Christmas Tree Ship" that had been bound for the homes and families of Chicago.

Social Security Checks Day Earlier

Monthly Social Security checks which are normally delivered on the third of January will be delivered on January 2nd instead, according to Dave Becker, Manager of the West Bend Social Security office.

"Benefit checks are mailed early when the usual delivery date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or Legal Holiday," Becker said. "In these instances, the checks are dated and delivered on the first day before the third of the month that is not a Saturday, Sunday or Holiday."

Becker stated that this procedure helps reduce the problems that people have when they receive their checks and their banks are closed. These situations occur several times during the year, and Becker advised that SSA would provide similar information about future early check delivery dates as they occur.

AREA NAVY MAN RECEIVES AWARD

He is the son of Mrs. Wilma A. Smith, of Tomahawk, WI.

Calendars Available From Sensenbrenner

(WASHINGTON, D.C.) — REP. F. JAMES SENSENBRENNER, JR. (WI-9) announced that a very limited number of 1987 calendars are available on a first come first served basis through his Washington office.

These calendars are produced by the U.S. Capitol Historical Society and include pictures of historical sites relating to the bicentennial of the Constitution, as well as an abundance of historical data.

Persons wishing to receive a calendar should write to: Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner, 2444 Rayburn Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, Attention: Calendar Requests.

Because of the limited number of calendars, only individual requests can be accepted. No group requests will be honored.

VOLUNTEERISM

The holiday season is a giving time, full of festivities, love and laughter. For most of us, to fill our plate is a simple matter of finding our way to the pantry and making our selection. We have the opportunity to feast on the riches of our nation's agricultural harvest.

Unfortunately, feasting on the bounty is not something every American can do. However, the needs of many of the hungry have been heard by the American people. In Wisconsin, we have acted generously and unselfishly. Through church groups, Salvation Army and numerous other organizations the hungry are being fed.

The common thread through all the example cited is their spirit of volunteerism and the desire to do something for the less fortunate. I believe wholeheartedly in volunteerism and ask that during this season of holiday enjoyment that you take a moment to consider the plight of the hungry.

Organizations in and around the Ninth District have begun their annual food drives and would be grateful for a donation of canned goods or other suitable contributions.

This nation was made great by early efforts of neighbors helping neighbors. As a result of this rich legacy, we now have people accepting responsibility for caring for one another. This is far better than leaving this task to paid bureaucrats. Who can possibly know the needs of those around us better than we?

It is this spirit of volunteerism, the gift of giving, that makes the holidays special.

Washington Board of Realtors Joins Regional Multiple Listing Service

Robert Tallinger, President of Multiple Listing Service, Inc., announced that the Washington Board of REALTORS is a partner in the regional listing service.

The Multiple Listing Service is wholly owned subsidiary corporation of the Waukesha County Board of REALTORS and the Milwaukee Board of REALTORS. It is a medium of cooperation between participating REALTORS for the sale and purchase of real estate. Sellers although listing their home with one particular REALTOR, benefit by having it exposed to more than 3100 REALTORS affiliated with the Multiple Listing Service. Buyers, in working with a member broker, have access to the vast array of properties offered through the MLS.

The Washington Board of REALTORS brings the number of Boards participating in the regional, metro MLS to four. The Ozaukee Board of Realtors has participated in the regional MLS from its inception. The four Boards of REALTORS constitute the District One jurisdiction of the Wisconsin REALTORS Association.

The Multiple Listing Service is guided by a twelve member Board of Directors consisting of five directors each from Waukesha and Milwaukee and one from Ozaukee and Washington. A staff of six provide for the day-to-day operations of the computerized information system.

Regional MLS networks are becoming more common due to expanding market areas and the complexity and costs of computer systems. The metro-Milwaukee regional MLS is a model for several regional efforts currently forming around the United States.

Production on Swampbuster Soils Could Cost County Farmers Benefits

A list of soils used to identify wetlands or potential wetlands was released this week by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service. Drainage or altering these soils for crop production can result in the operator losing eligibility for federal farm program benefits.

The Swampbuster provision of the 1985 Food Security Act denies federal farm program benefits to anyone growing crops on a wetland that was altered after December 23, 1985.

Twenty-eight soils in Washington County are classified as "Hydric" wherever they occur, according to Don Kurer, SCS District Conservationist. These soils are seasonally saturated, ponded or flooded. Many other soils have small pockets of wetter soil types which may also indicate potential wetlands. By definition, a wetland must have a hydric soil and be capable of growing "Hydrophytic" or water-loving vegetation.

For example, a hydric soil with cattails growing on it is automatically considered a wetland. But a wetland may also be covered with trees such as red maple or black willow, says Kurer.

UWWC Has Record Fall Enrollment

Final fall semester enrollment reports show a record headcount of 777 students at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County.

The headcount is up 56 students (8%) from the fall of 1985 and is the second-highest growth rate among the 13 UW centers. UWWC is the fifth-largest of the two-year schools.

Reports show UWWC enrolled its largest freshman class in history this fall - 342 new students, up 59 (21%) from last fall. Seven out of every ten UWWC students are classified as freshmen, who have earned fewer than 30 credits. About two out of ten (17%) are sophomores and one in ten (12%) are special students not working towards a degree.

Full statistics, as compiled by the UW Centers' registrar in Madison, indicate that UWWC students tend to be younger and enroll for more credits than the average center student.

More than half the UWWC students (53%) are 19 or younger compared to 42% for the combined centers. A fifth of the UWWC students are age 30 or older compared to a fourth of the students at all centers.

Two-thirds (69%) of the UWWC students are enrolled full-time, carrying 12 credits or more, significantly higher than the 57% rate for all 13 centers. At UWWC, 271 men and 261 women are enrolled full-time.

Women students outnumber men by 54 to 46 percent at both UWWC and all 13 centers. In both instances, most of the margin comes from part-time enrollments, where women hold a two-to-one margin.

Since the Washington County center opened in 1968 increasing numbers of students have enrolled full-time. A measure of this trend is provided by each semester's full-time equivalent (FTE) count, obtained by dividing all credits carried at a center by 15 credits.

During the fall semester, UWWC had an FTE of 588, an increase of 50 (up 9%) from 1985, the top growth rate among the 13 centers along with UW - Waukesha.

Four out of five students at UWWC are from Washington County, 632 in all. Students come from eight other counties including Ozaukee 97, Dodge 21, Fond du Lac 9, Sheboygan 5, Milwaukee 2, and one each from Jackson, Manitowoc and Rock counties.

Eight students are residents of other states or countries.

Announce Changes In Social Security

Nearly 40 million Americans will find a benefit increase in their Social Security and Supplemental Security Income checks being delivered in January, 1987. The 1.3 percent cost of living increase is linked to the consumer price index. The average Social Security beneficiary's monthly benefit will rise from $478 per month to $484.

The annual earnings base - the maximum amount of earnings taxable under Social Security - will increase from $42,000 to $43,800 in 1987. The tax rate of 7.15 percent for employees and employers and 14.3 percent with a two percent income tax credit for the self-employed remains the same in 1987.

The exempt amounts used in the annual earnings test will also increase in 1987. The annual earnings test is the measure used to determine whether a person who works will receive benefits during the year. The 1987 exempt amount for persons age 65 and over will be $8,160. For persons under age of 65 the 1987 amount will be $6,000. A person's benefit is reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. The earnings test does not apply once a person reaches age 70.

The amount of earnings needed to earn a quarter of coverage - the measure of Social Security work credits - will be $460 for 1987. A person will earn four quarters of coverage if his annual earnings are $1,840 or more.

Citizen Advocacy Christmas Party Is Grand Success

With Christmas comes the season of the heart. Citizen Advocacy of Washington County's Christmas party reflected the sharing, cooperative nature of all who are involved in the program.

The party began with all joining in to make ornaments for the tree (donated by Terlinden's); their efforts would later be taken home for outdoor bird feasts. Pine cones coated in lard and bird seed will spread the Christmas message.

A potluck supper was enjoyed by about 70 advocates and their friends, self-advocates, friends, board members and staff.

Kathy Ramsthal was recognized for her many contributions to the program. Her latest effort involved selling 370 raffle tickets for prizes she had secured from local businesses. A rowing machine (donated by the West Bend Co.), Smokey-Joe Weber grill (donated by F&M Bank of Slinger), AM-FM radio (donated by Steiner's TV), and Oster kitchen center (donated by Oster Mfg.) were awarded by drawing at the party.

Kathy received a plaque and small gift in appreciation for her efforts, as well as a few good rounds of applause.

Among the highlights of the evening was the appearance of the West Bend High Schools Swing Choir and their Director, Karen Wysocky. Their spirited and nicely choreographed program was enjoyed by all. The impromptu caroling they added to their presentation was met with many voices joining in.

The festivities ended with a gift exchange, which seemed a token of the greater gifts of advocacy, sharing and support that are given throughout the year.

Citizen Advocacy would like to thank the Rev. Truitt for use of Fellowship Hall at Fifth Avenue Methodist Church, McDonald's and George Prescott of Prescott's Shop Rite for their help in making the 1986 Christmas party a grand success.

The First American Christmas

The Irish potato came to America from Ireland; the English Sparrow from England, but how did Christmas come to America? Shortly after Columbus discovered America, the first American Christmas was celebrated. On Christmas Eve, the Santa Maria ran aground and Columbus and his men worked in vain to free her. At last she was stripped of much of her gear which was transferred to the Nina. This extra load on the Nina, in turn, forced Columbus to leave some of his crew behind in a new fort which was named in honor of the holiday, Le Navidad, meaning the Nativity.

Think Safety When Buying Christmas Toys

Each year approximately 90,000 children under age 15 receive emergency hospital treatment for injuries from toys, according to Jane Jansen, assistant trade and consumer protection administrator with Wisconsin's Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP).

Fatalities and serious injuries occur most often when children swallow or choke on small parts; fall against toys; or cut themselves on sharp edges or toys.

"We're not advising people to stop buying children toys, but we do want them to keep safety and the child's age in mind when purchasing toys," says Jansen.

Jansen recommends these guidelines for toy safety:

- Explain to the child how to use toys properly and safely.
  - Select toys to suit the age, skills, abilities and interests of the individual child. Not all toys are age labeled or provide explanations of why certain toys may be inappropriate or even hazardous for children younger or older than the recommended ages.
  - Look for sturdy construction. When buying soft toys for young children, make sure you purchase well-made items with eyes, nose, and other small parts tightly secured.
  - For infants and toddlers, avoid toys with: small parts that children may put in their mouths, and long strings or cords that may cause strangulation.
  - Check toy boxes for safety. If the toy chest has a vertically opening, hinged lid, make certain the chest uses a lid support that will hold the lid open in any position in which it is placed. There have been several fatalities from toy lids falling on children's heads or necks. Also make sure the toy chest has ventilation holes.
  - Arrows or darts should have blunt tips made of resilient materials such as rubber or soft plastic suction cups. Make sure the tips are securely attached to the shafts. Avoid dart guns or other toys which are capable of firing articles not intended for use in the toy, such as pencils or nails.
  - Electric toys with heating elements are recommended only for children over eight years old, and only with adult supervision.
  - Avoid toys that shoot or propel objects that may injure eyes or get lodged in throats.
  - Check instructions for clarity. They should be clear to you, and to the child.
  - If supervision is required, be prepared to make the commitment and set "ground rules" for play.
  - Keep all toys with small parts away from children under the age of three as well as children who still put things in their mouths.
  - Teach older children to keep their toys away from younger children that can be injured by small parts or sharp points.
  - Keep children playing with riding toys away from stairs, traffic or pools.
  - See that toys used outdoors are stored after play — rain or dew can rust or damage a variety of toys creating hazards.
  - Examine toys regularly for jagged or sharp edges, or missing pieces that might constitute a small part. Repair them immediately or discard.
  - Teach children to put their toys away where they won't be stepped on or tripped over.
- In conclusion, Jansen urges parents to remember that there is no substitute for adult supervision.

The original St. Nicholas was a 4th century Turkish bishop. According to legend he dropped a bag of gold coins down a chimney into a stocking a poor girl had hung up by the fireplace to dry.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing this as a very concerned parent and grandparent, and I am deeply concerned about sexual education in our schools.

These are our very young minds that enter our universities that cannot comprehend reading, writing, and arithmetic, and we're filling their minds with sexual freedom, immorality, self-indulgence, and irresponsibility, and murder (yes, abortion is murder!).

The literature I have read was overly explicit in defining anatomy, sexual organs, arousal, fore-play, self-indulgences, contraceptives and abortion. I found very little, if anything, that said sex is a real expression of love between man and woman in the sacrament of matrimony. And with this expression is the willingness to act in God's Love and accept the responsibility of parenthood.

I do agree that children should be taught that boys are different from girls - that our bodies are the temple of the Lord, that we can give each other in marriage the most beautiful gift of all. We should teach them morality, purity, responsibility and save the intercourse instruction for a premarital course. There is enough rape, sexual abuse, abortions, etc. Teach them they are responsible for their action, that with free sex comes disease, death, family destruction, and, yes, lack of personal freedom. Parents, don't let anyone take away your right to teach your children the basic qualities and values of humanity. Speak Out!

Teresa Peterson

Church's stand against the destruction of human life. This issue is not debatable.

The eighth grade student text of "New Creation" contains a six paragraph section entitled Unwanted Pregnancy (pp. 63 & 64). In it are discussed options concerning unwanted pregnancy "for people who choose to be sexually active." Abortion is presented as an option with a few short-term, easily overcome undesirable aspects. It goes on to discuss a woman who "rejects the option of abortion." Three paragraphs describe the extreme difficulty, hardship and unplanned changes in her life that would follow such a decision. The pro-life choice is presented in such a way as to make it least desirable. This material recognizes pre- and extra-marital sexual activity as merely a matter of choice. Nowhere can you find fornication and adultery referred to as serious sins. Nowhere is it mentioned that this choice is in violation of the law of God and the law of man. To promote this kind of attitude is harmful, especially to children who may have yet to complete and reinforce their basic Christian values.

We were told this was going to be a religious sex education course. Which religion is it, anyway? "New Creation" says abortion is an option. Now, it is a fact that Roman Catholic teaching emphatically condemns abortion. It is also a fact that the Humanist Manifesto II states: "In the area of sexuality, we believe that intolerant attitudes, often cultivated by orthodox religions and puritanical cultures, unduly repress sexual conduct. The right to birth control, abortion, and divorce should be recognized. (Section 6). To me it is very plain which religion is being professed!

We know who is the Creator of the "Old Creation." HE is pro-Life!

Who devised the "New Creation?" One who would reduce the crime of murder to a convenient option? There is only one entity who would change the Creator's Work! Will our children learn his teachings and become his people? Will we allow our children to become the first generation of this "New Creation?" The answer must be NO!

We wish all a Blessed Christmas.

Nancy J. Dirmeier

being taught at Holy Trinity Catholic school in our area, the main complaint seems to be that by giving this to the public I have not acted discreetly.

The series has been in the school since the last quarter of the last school year. Opposition to the series was active from the beginning, both at meetings and on a one to one basis. I resort to this method of opposing partly because I see this as a public matter since that material will be available to other children in the community by contact with Holy Trinity students. The suggestion that I discuss this matter with those in authority was my first concern. When you are told that the series will remain and they don't know why it's being discussed, this indicates to me that I might just as well stop wasting my time. When I am told that if it's good enough for the archbishop it's good enough for them, I am not encouraged to try to discuss any more.

I am sure there are misunderstandings. These should be corrected and I trust they will. I still believe that as long as this material is available to some of the community children, it is available to more than we can safely guess. Because of the controversial aspect of the "New Creation" series I believe it is harmful.

Parents, we need the education to educate our own children. Sex must remain private. Let's take a few steps backwards and start giving back to sex the respect it was meant to have before all beauty is gone. Or has that already happened?

In seeking peace, a blessed Christmas to all.

Sincerely concerned,
Geri Murre

ABOUT THOSE REINDEER!

Santa Claus sure knew what he was doing when he chose reindeer to pull his sleigh. While reindeer are quite small - usually around three-and-a-half feet tall - they have great strength and endurance. Ranger Rick magazine reports that a healthy reindeer usually weighs about 150-250 pounds and can pull its own weight in cargo on sleds across the tundra - or the rooftops!

1986 Gun Deer Total 2nd Highest

The harvest of deer during the past gun season was the second highest total of animals taken in a season in the history of deer hunting in Wisconsin.

Preliminary registration numbers show that at least 257,231 deer were taken this year, exceeding the previous second highest harvest of 255,923 in 1984. The record high harvest during the gun season was the 274,302 deer taken last year.

This year's harvest exceeded the pre-season estimate of 230,000 by about 12 percent. Department of Natural Resources' wildlife managers attributed the large harvest to the excellent weather conditions which prevailed during the entire season statewide. Apparently hunters who were unsuccessful during the opening days of the season maintained their interest because of the good weather and returned to the field later in the week, and in many cases filled their tags.

Frank Haberland, forest wildlife specialist in the department, said, "While the fine weather undoubtedly was the most important element in the high harvest, the fact that most of the corn had been picked prior to the season was also a factor." And, he noted that cold temperatures prior to the opening of the gun season had firmed up the marshes and backwoods roads, "providing good access for hunters enabling them to get into the areas where many of the deer were."

Following is a chart showing the annual deer harvest for both the gun and archery seasons for the past seven years.

YEAR	GUN SEASON	ARCHER	TOTAL
1986	257,231 (preliminary count)
1985	274,302	40,744	315,046
1984	255,923	38,891	294,814
1983	197,600	32,876	230,476
1982	182,715	30,850	213,565
1981	166,673	29,083	195,756
1980	139,624	20,954	155,386

Kewaskum Falls To Badgers

By Bob Pick II

MENOMONEE FALLS — The Kewaskum Land o' Lakes basketball team was very obedient Sunday night.

Whatever the Menomonee Falls Badgers told Kewaskum to do, they did.

And, according to Kewaskum manager Bill Backhaus, that was a sign of trouble.

Foul trouble, to be exact.

In a blur of hacks, reach-ins and shoves, Kewaskum was whistled for 26 fouls that led to 31 Badger free throws and a 126 to 114 Land o' Lakes victory for the men from the Falls.

"We were a step slow and consequently we had to help out each other," said Backhaus, whose team is now 1-1 in league games. "Once we did that, we fouled."

"Guys were picking up fouls by helping guard somebody else's man."

Steve Albinger topped all scores with 40 points and Leon Laatsch added 25 for Kewaskum. Bob Wolf had 38 and Bill Gardner and Jim Gardner 24 each for the Badgers.

Kewaskum will host Oconomowoc in their next contest at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Sunburst Ski Hill Opens

Sunburst Ski Hill, Kewaskum opened its 1986-87 season at 4 p.m. last Friday, it was announced by Kim Engel, who is starting her third season as owner/manager of the hill.

The cold weather of last week allowed the snow making crew to put the finishing touches on the five of its main runs in preparation for the weekend opening. Engel's crew of 60 employees is ready to serve all who come out to ski this year.

In excellent snow making weather last week the machines started running around the clock. With a base of natural snow which fell Monday, the ski hill opened with a base of between 6 and 10 inches of snow. The addition of four new snow-making machines helped in preparing the hills.

One new run, Verticle Drop, an expert hill, has been added this year. In the past it had been used for motorcycle climbing in the summer.

Set Possible Record in Wild Game

Plymouth Runs Up 104 Points, Bombs Indians

The Kewaskum Indians knew they would be in for a tough game at Plymouth Friday night against the undefeated Panthers, who lead the conference with a 3-0 record, but didn't expect Plymouth to run up that many points and win by such a decisive margin in a one-sided 104-60 victory.

The 104 total points and 36 scored in one quarter, the third may have set new conference records. The Panthers scored 60 points in the second half alone to equal the Indians' output for the entire contest. Plymouth also ran up 98 points in their victory over Two Rivers last Tuesday for a total of 202 in their last two games, which may also have been a new high.

It was an out of the ordinary game in several other ways. Fifty personal fouls were called, 26 on Kewaskum and 24 on Plymouth. The Panthers made good on an unbelievable 34 free throws compared to the Indians' 14. Kewaskum committed 40 turnovers (that's right, 40) which really hurt them. Coach Perry Koth gave all 14 players a chance to play and this also helped the Panthers run up the score.

KHS had a height advantage over Plymouth but couldn't keep up with their quickness. The winners jumped off to a fast big lead at the start and the Indians never came close to catching up. The Panthers led at the half, 54-21. Kewaskum seemed to lack aggressiveness and again just couldn't make their shots from the outside.

Mike Coulter was the only Indian to score in double figures with 30 points, half of his team's total, in a little over three quarters of action. But Mike made good on only four free throws in 15 attempts. He also led his team in rebounds with 14. Reserve Ken Vogt was next with seven points.

Leading Plymouth was ace senior guard, Andy Horstman, who scored 31 points, 14 of them in the third quarter. Two other Panthers were in double figures, Kevin Nytes with 15 and Jon Davis with 11. Plymouth shot better than 50 percent, hitting 35 of 67 shots. Although they held a commanding lead, the Panthers unnecessarily continued to pour it on.

Kewaskum was also defeated in both preliminary contests, the JVs by 59-46 and the freshmen by 81-43. The JVs had numerous fouls called against them and also committed 30 turnovers. They were led by Joel Miller, Mike Heberer and Dave Steger with 12, 11 and 10 points respectively. The frosh got 11 points from both Steve Gerhartz and Brian Leitheiser but were no match for the Panthers.

This Friday Kewaskum makes the long haul to Two Rivers.

Indian Girls Also Lose To Unbeaten Panthers

Like the boys did Friday, the Kewaskum girls also took their lumps at Plymouth Thursday evening when they were downed by the undefeated Panthers, 48-37. Plymouth, 3-0, is now the only unbeaten team in the conference, while the Indians suffered their first EW setback.

The girls tried hard, possibly too hard, but just couldn't get untracked until near the end of the game. The Indians bested the Panthers in nearly every statistic but still couldn't win. They outrebounced them, 37-29, and had one less turnover. But Plymouth hit 20 of 67 shots for 30 percent while Kewaskum made good on 15 of 59 for 25 percent.

The contest was close through the first quarter and most of the second before the winners took a 26-18 lead at halftime. Plymouth took as much as a 13-point lead in the third quarter scoring nine unanswered points at one time to gain control. In the last quarter Kewaskum reduced the deficit to nine but that was as close as they came.

Although a victory would have lifted the Indians into first place with a 2-0 record, Coach Milt Dickensen was satisfied with his girls' effort. Jenny Hintz played well and scored 10 points. Soph Jenny Schneider also played one of her better games replacing Brenda Vetter who experienced foul trouble.

Third year starter Julie Matzdorf was held to 11 points, while Nikki Biskobing was high with 13, and Kris Senglaub scored nine and had nine rebounds for the Panthers. The Kewaskum girls seemed to play nervous. Debbie Felix had problems getting her shots to drop and Brenda Theusch was held to four, below her average. Hintz was tops for the losers with 10 points.

Coach Dickensen felt his girls are capable of playing much better than they did against Plymouth. The Indians, now 1-1 in conference, are 1-3 overall. Tuesday they hosted Campbell-sport and Thursday they travel to Two Rivers.

The JVs won their second straight game, 35-24, over the Panthers, with the Donath sisters, Cindy and Debbie, scoring the last six points. All 12 members of the squad saw action. The freshmen were handed a 47-29 defeat. Sandy Stollenwerk scored 10 points and had nine rebounds.

Girls Volleyball Team, 3rd at State Honored

The Kewaskum girls volleyball team, regional and sectional champions, who went on to place third in the state tournament, climaxed their very successful season recently by being honored at the fall sport banquet at the high school. They were joined by their parents.

Coach Dave Rizzardi praised the girls on their successes of the past two seasons, including the Eastern Wisconsin Conference co-championship last year and the state tournament berth this season. He said how nice it was to add more plaques and awards to the school's trophy case.

Rizzardi introduced the 12 athletes who won letters and they were given a standing ovation. They included seniors Laurie Blum, Dawn Dieringer, Shelly Petsch, Terri Schmidt, Lisa Schneider and Brenda Vetter; and juniors Debbie Felix, Kari Kurtz, Angie Nowak, Patty Padden and Jenny Schuster.

Although the Indian girls ended up 6-6 in Eastern Wisconsin play, they really jelled late in the season and were all fired up for the tournaments, playing inspired volleyball.

Junior Debbie Felix was named by her teammates and coaches as Most Valuable Player. A dominant force at the net, Felix ended up with 279 spike attempts and led the team in spiking. The best server on the team was Schuster, who missed only two of 150 attempts. Schmidt and Schneider were selected as co-captains and Padden was honored as Most Improved Player.

The JVs played under .500 but coach Sue Paul Kenfield reported they showed improvement at the end of the season. Those on the JV team honored were: Yvonne Amerling, Angie Laufer, Tracy Krahn, Lisa Wheeler, Mandy Schmdit, Keri Ramthun, Jodi Zimdars, Cindy Stych, Missy Heisdorf, Cindy Donath, powerful front row performer, Jenny Schneider, second leading spiker and tied for top serving honors with 93 percent, Joan Petermann, Lisa Harlow, also a 93 percent server, Paula Wilson and Debbie Donath, successful on 47 of 57 spike tries. Many of these sophomores should help the varsity next year.

Rizzardi, who also coached the freshmen, and volunteer coach Holly Swanson, said it was their largest turnout ever for that team. Members of the freshmen team honored included: Shelly Kasseckert, Dana Neuser, Becky Schlosser, Tina Weddig, LeeAnn Winninghoff, Vicki Kurth, Karen Felix, Andrea Flies, Tricia Schwartz, Kristina Schinker, Shelly Schuster, Jessica Schmidt, Chris Ramthun, Tina Gambino, Sandy Stollenwerk, Kim Stielow and Debbie Rimmel.

Kewaskum Wrestlers Beat Mayville, Fall to Plymouth

The Kewaskum wrestling team split two matches the past week, defeating Mayville in a non-conference meet there last Tuesday, 38-32, and losing to Plymouth in conference action at home Thursday, 40-25.

The Indians recorded four pins, won two matches by forfeit and had one draw in their victory over the Cardinals. There were no matches at 145, 155, 167 and 185 pounds.

Getting Ready Helps To Boost The Spirit

Friday, Dec. 19, 1986,

It seems traditional to spend hours getting ready for Christmas. We spend a lot of time decorating the home, putting ornaments on the tree, checking the gift list, shopping all over town.

With it all, there comes more and more an awareness of the true meaning of Christmas. When gifts have been exchanged and opened on Christmas morning, let us keep this spirit in our hearts.

MAKE IT PERSONAL

A homemade card speaks of special thoughtfulness. Anyone with a little time and talent can devise a Christmas message that will be especially appreciated. It is becoming increasingly popular to poetize the family gossip of the year in the form of a holiday greeting message to friends and neighbors.

The best Christmas gift of all!

Sally's brother Timmy was writing a letter to Santa, when she asked him, "Timmy, would you write Santa a letter for me, too?" Sally didn't know how to write, you see.

"All right," said Timmy. "What do you want Santa to bring you?" Sally thought and thought. "I don't know what to ask for," she told her brother. "That's easy," said Timmy. "Why don't you ask for a fire engine?" "No, I don't think I want a fire engine," Sally said. "Then how about a transformer?" said Timmy. "No, I don't want a transformer."

Timmy was getting annoyed with his little sister. "You'd better decide what you want to ask Santa first. I have to write my own letter now!"

Sally looked at all her toys. She had two dolls, a toy stove and sink, a doll-house, crayons and a coloring book, and lots and lots of stuffed animals.

She thought about it every day until it was Christmas Eve, and she still had not thought of something she didn't already have.

For the first time she could remember, Sally was not excited as she and Timmy hung their stockings over the chimney.

On Christmas morning, Timmy was the first one out of bed. He dashed into the living room and soon he came running into Sally's room to wake her up. "Sally!" he said, "Come see what Santa brought you!" Sally jumped out of bed and ran to the living room. There, under the tree, was a big box marked "To Sally from Santa."

Sally ran to the box and looked in. Inside was an adorable puppy! Sally scooped the puppy up and hugged it. The puppy licked Sally's face and wagged its tail happily.

Just then, Sally's parents came into the living room. "Look what Santa brought me," Sally said, showing them the puppy. Sally's mother smiled. "I guess Santa knew there was something you didn't already have."

"Yes, and it's the best present ever!" said Sally, hugging her new puppy.

Use Christmas cards to decorate big boxes that are awkward and expensive to wrap. Cut the illustrations of cards and glue them to boxes.

Hope springs anew in hearts at Christmas for peace on earth, good will to men!

EXTRA-SPECIAL HOLIDAY DISH FOR EXTRA TURKEY

TURKEY-RICE CASSEROLE

- 1-1/2 cups water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons butter or margarine
- 1-1/2 cups Minute rice
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 package (9oz.) Birds Eye small onions with cream sauce
- 1 cup Birds Eye sweet green peas
- 1-1/2 cups diced cooked turkey
- 2 tablespoons sliced pitted black olives (optional)
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine (optional)
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine 1-1/2 cups water, the salt, 2 teaspoons butter and the rice in 1-1/2-quart casserole. Cover and bake at 450° for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, heat bouillon cubes and 1/2 cup water in saucepan until cubes are dissolved. Add milk, onions, peas, turkey, olives, and the 1 tablespoon butter. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Cover and simmer about 4 minutes. Move rice to sides of casserole; pour turkey mixture into center and sprinkle with cheese. Place in preheated broiler for 2 or 3 minutes, until lightly browned. Makes 4 cups plus rice or 4 servings.

You can have children make their own Christmas cards by tracing the outlines of their hands on red or green construction paper. Cut the hands out, decorate with seasonal greetings.

CAROLS

Many of our favorite Christmas carols are centuries old. "The First Noel" was originally a medieval shepherd song. "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" dates to the 16th century and "Joy To The World" was published in 1719.

May the blessings of the Christmas season be yours.

40-Year-Old Christmas Tree at State Capitol Marks 70 Years of Forestry in Wisconsin

MADISON, WI — Wisconsin's state Christmas tree is a 40-year old balsam fir taken from the Flambeau River State Forest, southwest of Park Falls. It is fitting, in this year celebrating 75 years of forestry in Wisconsin, that the Wisconsin Capitol's Christmas tree comes from one of the early state forests.

Thirty-five years before the state's Christmas tree came into existence, the Wisconsin Forestry Program was just beginning. That was in 1911 when the state hired F.G. Wilson and 11 other forest rangers to manage the timber resource. Much of the state's land, especially in the north, had been cutover by lumber barons and fires had ravaged hundreds of thousands of acres. In 1913, Wilson planted the state's first forest plantation near Star Lake in Vilas County from seedlings grown at a nursery at Trout Lake. Through forest protection and management plans, the rebuilding of Wisconsin's forests had begun. Over the years, forest land tax relief legislation was passed, school and county forestry programs were started, and state foresters worked on many projects with the state's colleges and industries on tree improvement projects. All assisted in the state's reforestation effort.

When the capitol's Christmas tree first sprouted in 1946, the forestry program in Wisconsin was well underway. In that year the first "farm foresters" were appointed by the Wisconsin Conservation Department (now the Department of Natural Resources) to assist farm woodland owners with forestry programs. Such programs exist today to ensure that the quality of the state's forestlands are maintained.

About 68 percent of Wisconsin's forests are under private ownership with the remainder in public lands. All state timber lands receive or are eligible to receive direct forest management assistance. State entomologists keep watchful eyes on disease and insect infestation. Forest-Rangers stand ready, as they have done the last 75 years, to put out destructive wildfires.

The tourism and wood products industries are dependent on the health of timberlands in the state. Together they represent the major economic income for state citizens. Wisconsin also leads all other states in paper production, and that lead should continue.

Current forestry management programs will maintain the state's renewable resource for the benefit of wildlife, esthetics, water quality, recreation and timber production.

A balsam fir will sprout this spring that will grace the state's capitol 40 years from now. This year, however, the Flambeau River tree will be proudly displayed in the capitol, a reminder of the beauty, splendor and pride that citizens take in their forestlands and a tribute to the state's 75 years of forestry.

Christmas Seals Fund Widely-Used Programs

A quarter of a million state residents last year used programs and services from the American Lung Association of Wisconsin to improve their respiratory health, Lung Association President Jonathan (Jack) W. Wagner said in announcing a $795,000 goal for the 1986 state Christmas Seal Campaign which began last month.

Last year, the state Lung Association also distributed a record 290,000 pieces of literature on preventing and controlling lung disease and increased its support of research on smoking to $100,000 annually, Wagner said.

"The terrific response to our programs greatly challenged our resources last year, especially in the areas of smoking and marijuana,"

Wagner said. "Use of our stop-smoking programs and smoke-in-the-workplace consultation services more than tripled, and requests from elementary schools for over 53,000 sets of our new marijuana prevention materials were three times greater than we had projected," he said.

"Lung disease is the third most common cause of death in the U.S. and the only major disease category in which death rates continue to rise. It will only be through generous contributions of funds and time from thousands of Christmas Seal donors and volunteers that we are able to continue serving all Wisconsinites who ask for our help," Wagner said.

Fifteen Lung Association programs and services available statewide include four types of stop-smoking group and self-help programs; smoking-and-pregnancy programs for health care professionals, expectant mothers and high school students; and smoking prevention and clean air programs for elementary students.

Lung Association services for state residents who have lung disease range from a self-help kit and summer camp for children with asthma to information and referral services for adults with emphysema, chronic bronchitis or other lung diseases.

Christmas Seal contributions may be mailed to the Lung Association at P.O. Box 500, Hudson, WI 54016.

Story of the little match-girl

BY HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

In the cold and gloom a poor little girl, bareheaded and barefoot, was waiking through the streets. In an old apron she carried a number of matches and a bundle of them in her hand. No one had bought anything of her all day!

Her little hands were almost benumbed with the cold. Ah, a match might do her good, if she could only draw one from the bundle and rub it against the wall and warm her hands at it. She drew one out. R-r-atch! How it sputtered and burned! It was a warm, bright flame, like a little candle, when she held her hands over it. But the little flame went out... and she had only the remains of the burnt match in her hand.

A second was rubbed against the wall. It burned up, and when the light fell upon the wall it became fransparent like a thin veil, and she could see through it into the room. On the table a snow-white cloth was spread; upon it stood a shining dinner service; the roast goose smoked gloriously, stuffed with apples and dried plums. Then the match went out and only the thick, cold wall was before her. She lighted another match. Then she was sitting under a beautiful Christmas tree. Thousands of candles burned upon the green branches. The little girl stretched forth her hand toward them; then the match went out. The Christmas lights mounted higher. She saw them now as stars in the sky; one of them fell down, forming a long line of fire.

"Now someone is dying," thought the little girl, for her old grandmother, the only person who had loved her, and who was now dead, had told her that when a star fell down a soul mounted up to God.

She rubbed another match against the wall; it became bright again, and in the brightness the old grandmother stood clear and shining, mild and lovely.

She took the little girl in her arms, and both flew in brightness and joy above the earth, very, very high, and up there was neither cold, nor hunger, nor care — they were with God.

Edible Santa

Find a firm, red apple. Stick a toothpick in each of four big marshmallows. Two will be Santa's arms and two his feet. Insert them, with the other end of the toothpicks, into the apple in the proper places.

Place a large marshmallow (lollipop-fashion) on a toothpick for Santa's head.

Break a toothpick in half. Impale a raisin on each toothpick half and stick the toothpick in place for Santa's eyes.

Put a large red gumdrop on top of Santa's head to be his hat, and a red cranberry for his nose.

Use cotton for Santa's beard and around his hat, using toothpicks to hold it on as necessary.

Lakeshore Band, Moraine Area Symphony Present Christmas Cathedral Concerts

WEST BEND — The 57-member Lakeshore Concert Band and 46-member Moraine Area Symphony Orchestra are into their third season of Christmas Cathedral Concerts.

Director Albert Asch, associate professor of music at the UW Center-Washington County, said, "This is our way of taking our concerts where the people are, by teaming up with another group."

At 7:30 p.m., Dec. 7, the orchestra was scheduled to team up with the choir at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Grafton. A second concert, featuring the band, is set for 7:30 p.m., Dec. 18, at the Cedarburg recreation center.

The band will wind up the concerts at 4 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 21, with the choir at the Immanuel Church - United Church of Christ in West Bend.

Asch said the concerts feature "a lot of the more challenging Christmas music rather than just the popular type — unless there is a serious arrangement available." Carol singing will be a part of each concert.

Packed churches are the rule for the concerts. "That's good for the performers," Asch said. "And it's been a big boost for the churches, too. We're getting more churches that want to do this than we can handle."

Fitting the 12 instrumental sections of the orchestra and 15 of the band into a sanctuary can present logistical problems Asch said. "Sometimes it's not easy to get everyone up in front. You can end up with people sitting behind a lectern. Often musicians are hearing a new balance of instruments. That's challenging."

Spanish children receive their Christmas presents from the Magi kings on January 6. They leave their shoes out for the kings to leave the presents in.

Long Distance New Surcharge Billing Now in Effect

Long distance customers served locally and billed by GTE-Wisconsin beginning December 1 will see a new 7.35 percent surcharge applied on charges for all interstate services. This surcharge is designed to offset negative financial aspects of Wisconsin's Gross Receipts Tax on long-distance carriers.

While the surcharge was authorized by the Federal Communications Commission of Wisconsin June 1, 1986, programming complexities resulted in implementation delays. Retroactive billing of charges since June 1 will appear on future bills. GTE will realize no additional revenues through this surcharge application.

Affected customers in December are being notified by GTE through bill messages and letters.

TORCH PARADE

Caroling and Midnight Mass are longtime traditions in the mountains of Western Austria. Beginning with the family living farthest from the village church, torch-bearing carolers begin a procession. At each house along the way, greetings of "Froehliche Weihnachten" are exchanged and the inhabitants join the march to the next home. Eventually, the whole population is part of the parade as it arrives at the church steps in time for Midnight Mass.

Time to Order Trees and Shrubs

Application forms to order trees and shrubs from state nurseries are now available, according to Albert Kubiske, state forest, nursery and wild river specialist in the Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Forestry.

The forms may be obtained from department field stations, U.W. County Extension offices and all department foresters.

Seedlings available include a variety of both hardwood and softwood trees, and shrubs for wildlife. In addition, wildlife packets and windbreak-shelterbelt packets are available.

Over 20 million trees and shrubs were distributed in 1986 and about the same number are available for 1987. However, according to Kubiske the demand for seedlings is expected to be high again this year. It is recommended that landowners place their orders early in order to obtain the species they need. While the present inventory is excellent, supplies of some of the more highly desired species are expected to be exhausted early.

A reminder that these trees and shrubs purchased from state operated nurseries can be used only for conservation purposes. They cannot be used for landscaping or commercial Christmas tree production.

Wire twisters used and fasten plastic bags and bread wrappers can be useful for fastening lights to Christmas trees.

Wrapping Round Gift Need Not Frustrate

There's no reason to lose your "cool" trying to wrap a round package for Christmas giving.

Place the package on paper and cut so there is an inch overlap on each side. Fix neatly with tape. Leave enough paper at both ends to fold over and meet in the center of the cylinder. Pleat these ends neatly toward the center, making firm creases. Cut two circles of paper to fit the ends and paste over the pleats.

Round packages may also be wrapped in several layers of tissue paper with overlap fixed with tape, and two or three inches of paper at each end. Tie the end wraps firmly with ribbon or yarn. Cut rosette-like ends that result in thin strips to resemble a party "snapper." Decorate each end with a bow.

HERALD ANGELS

Charles Wesley, brother of John Wesley, wrote the original to "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" in 1739. Legend says the original carol began, "Hark, how all the welkin rings."

The Holidays — When Children Get The 'Gimmies' from TV Commercials

MILWAUKEE — The holiday season can be a trying time for parents of young children, as a barrage of television commercials spurs demands for toys and the other wonders parading across the TV screen.

What's a parent to do when a child is convinced that without the treasures endlessly touted on TV, Christmas will be a washout?

V. Kanti Prasad, associate dean and professor of marketing in the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee School of Business Administration, has two small children himself, so he knows the pressures TV advertising creates at this time of year. He also has done research on the effects of television advertising on children.

There's no doubt that the commercials are effective, he says, noting that research studies have found that children are particularly responsive to advertising of such things as cereals, toys and games.

But parents now being wheedled and cajoled by their kids should take heart in the realization that the situation is temporary, Prasad says. There may be occasions of parent-child friction regarding Christmas buying, but all is forgotten come January. Moreover, children grow out of their susceptibility to TV pressure. (Of course, they enter another phase in which peer pressure replaces the TV kind).

One way parents can diffuse the issue is to establish a budget and let the children themselves make the choices within the budgetary guidelines, he says. Parents also can steer children toward certain toys and away from others.

"Influencing children's Christmas buying is not to be viewed in isolation," he emphasizes. "It should be part of an overall education in making children responsible consumers. This should go on throughout the year."

With an ever-increasing number of new products on the market, it's no wonder children's wish lists keep growing, he says. The new technology has led to an influx of new toy products and innovations in old ones. Parents whose own childhood choices were much simpler — dolls, trucks, blocks, games — are understandably confused by the profusion.

Some parents respond by automatically considering the new toys inferior to the classic kind. But that isn't necessarily true, Prasad indicates.

"Some of them are really valuable for the kids," he says. "With all the explosion of new products, you can lose sight of that fact. But you have to be more discriminating and exercise more judgment than before. Otherwise the toys will end up in the basement in January."

While the choices have multiplied, basic buying principles are still applicable. "It's still important for parents to stress toys with an educational value, with 'scope' for exercising the imagination rather than things that replace thinking. They're still the lasting kind of gifts. That's what we as parents should encourage," he advises.

Among relative newcomers are many that have both educational and entertainment value. Computer-style learning machines are excellent ways for a child to acquire math and verbal skills, he says. Younger children benefit greatly from toys designed to develop motor skills.

High-quality toys may be expensive, but can be used for generations, he adds.

One thing is sure: Stores will be selling a lot of toys, and everything else, between now and Christmas, for the holiday season is an extremely important part of the retail sales picture.

"A very high percentage of sales occur during this season. Consumers are happy during this season to spend money. They don't feel so much guilt," Prasad says.

"There is a lot of emotion connected with Christmas shopping, but it may not be true that there is a lot of unplanned buying going on."

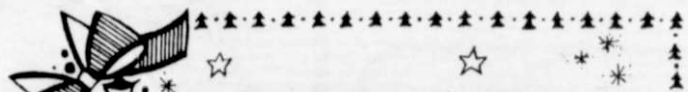

He believes that a significant percentage of household gift buying involves items that would have been purchased anyway, though shoppers may choose a more deluxe version at this time of year.

"It's happy time," he says. "People are willing to spend money. It's the best of both worlds as far as the retailers and the whole economy are concerned."

FAMILY CHRISTMAS

Participation makes for a happy family holiday. Everyone can help crack nuts or snip fruit for fruit cake, cookies and candies. Let each family member add his own personal note on Christmas cards to relatives, friends and neighbors. Take a family drive through the neighborhood to visit friends and enjoy the decorating efforts of others. Sing Christmas carols together.

Know Your Mail - Order Shopping Rights

by Joyce Albrecht
Extension Home Economist

Rather than face the holiday crowds, many time-conscious consumers are doing their shopping through mail-order catalogs.

Mail-order sales have doubled since the late 1970's to become a more than $44 billion-a-year business.

But just as the business has grown, so have the number of complaints. Today mail-order problems are the biggest source of consumer complaints at Better Business Bureaus across the nation.

As a Wisconsin resident you're better protected from mail-order fraud than most Americans.

The state mail-order law helps Wisconsin consumers deal with a major mail-order problem: failure to promptly deliver prepaid merchandise.

The law protects Wisconsin residents from both in-state and out-of-state mail-order sellers. You're protected whether you pay for the merchandise by check, money order or charge card. And it covers you if you order by phone, too.

The law requires the seller to either ship prepaid merchandise or make a full refund within the delivery time shown on the original order blank or advertisement, or within 30 days if no delivery time is given.

The seller may extend the delivery date by sending you a notice stating that the firm cannot send the merchandise within the original delivery period. You then have three choices:

You can immediately write the firm and cancel the order. The seller must then promptly send you a refund.

Or you can write the firm within 30 days agreeing to the delayed delivery date.

Or you can do nothing. The firm must then ship the goods or refund your payment within 30 days.

If you have a complaint, write the company. Most well-known mail order companies will give you a fair deal. Describe the problem and include the order number, the date of purchase, and the price. Send copies (keep originals) of your cancelled check, money-order receipt, bill and other correspondence.

If you believe your mail order rights have been violated, file a complaint with the Wisconsin Department of Justice, Office of Consumer Protection, P.O. Box 7856, Madison, WI 53707 or call their hotline at 1-800-362-8189.

Following The Star

Midnight wraps the hills around Bethlehem in stillness. Woolly sheep lie on shadowed hillsides. Shepherds cluster together, talking quietly of the main topic of the day — the ironclad Roman rule over their country. In subdued tones they talk of how the prophets have foretold the birth of a Deliverer, and pray earnestly that it may be very soon.

An even as they talk, suddenly a bright halo of light envelopes them — so bright that they are frozen with fear. Then an angel calms their fears with the glad news, "Behold, unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."

While the shepherds watch — still spellbound, the light slowly fades and once again the stars shine down on sleeping Bethlehem. Looking at each other with wonder, the shepherds are filled with the greatest happiness they have ever known.

Midnight brings starlight to ancient Persia. Soft breezes stir the palm fronds and gently ripple through an open window, lightly touching the rolls of parchment on the table. Three men are intently studying the scrolls — scientists they are, who have included the Scriptures in their research. Suddenly they catch a glimpse of a strange flow through the open window, and watch as it seems to become one glowing star that hovers just above the far horizon.

Following the Star, the Wise Men are led to the greatest Star on Earth. Happiness glows on their faces.

Midnight enfolds the hills and vales, towns and cities of Christmas 1982. Christ looks down upon the birthday celebration planned in His honor; His heart is made glad as His children follow the Star, giving Him the gift of their hearts, and sharing the gift of His love with one another.

By Christmas Koalas

Thousands of tiny koalas are arriving in Washington County for the holiday season on Christmas Seals from the American Lung Association of Wisconsin. The Kristy Koala character was selected as the Lung Association's national mascot because koalas are highly susceptible to respiratory infections. Last year, over 4,600 Washington County residents used Christmas Seal-funded services including a new marijuana education program for 9- to 11-year-olds. Statewide, the Lung Association last year served over a quarter of a million Wisconsinites and distributed more than 290,000 pieces of literature on the prevention and control of lung disease. The goal for the 1986 Christmas Seal Campaign in Wisconsin is $795,000.

- 2 tablespoons unsifted confectioners sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour

Cream butter. Add sugar and vanilla; beat until light and fluffy. Add flour, all at once, and blend well. Mix in 2/3 cup of the coconut. Chill 15 minutes; then shape into 1-inch balls. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 350° for 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool. Tint remaining coconut with food coloring as directed on package, if desired. REMEMBER BASICS WHEN PREPARING SPECIAL HOLIDAY FOODS

During the holiday season, the kitchen becomes the center of activity as meals are planned and gifts are made. Sometimes, in the haste to get everything ready on time, cooking shortcuts are taken. Food is left on tables as conversations become involved, dishes are prepared hastily so that meals can be served on time and groceries are left in cars during last minute errand running.

Unfortunately, these shortcuts are potential sources of health problems. As you are preparing for your holiday celebration, keep some basic principles in mind.

* When shopping for groceries, note sell dates on perishable items. Keep in mind when you plan to use the ingredient. You may want to postpone buying some things from your weekly shopping trip, and purchase closer to usage date to avoid possible spoilage.

* When errand running, make grocery shopping your last stop. You may plan to run into a store for "just a minute," but long lines and jumbled shelves make holiday shopping extra time consuming. Meanwhile, foods, especially dairy products, can start to go bad.

 * Once home, re-wrap meats and poultry in Handi-Wrap® II brand plastic film before refrigerating. Often store wraps are ripped or don't provide adequate protection. Take care to wash away excess blood, which encourages bacteria growth. Handi-Wrap II keeps meats at the proper degree of moistness until ready to use. Remember ground meats should be used right away and steaks and roasts should be cooked within 3-4 days.

* Store foods in the proper place immediately. Freezer items should be placed in the freezer, perishables in the refrigerator and canned foods in a clean, cool, dry place.

* When thawing meats, the best and safest way is to let thaw overnight in the refrigerator.

* When preparing to cook, make sure all utensils, including your hands, are clean. Wash again between preparations. Keep kitchen linens clean as well. Damp, soiled towels, and knives with dirty blades are carriers of food poisoning bacteria.

* Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, both before serving and especially after. As soon as everyone at the table is finished with food items, wrap immediately with protective plastic cling wrap and store properly.

* The maximum amount of time food should be left out is two hours. Be aware the longer food is exposed to air and the greater the temperature change, the faster it will deteriorate. Cover with protective plastic wrap and store properly as soon as you can.

* When storing leftovers, don't leave them on kitchen countertops to cool. Cover with Handi-Wrap II and store immediately. Divide larger portions of meats, casseroles and mashed potatoes into smaller portions to cool quickly.

The holidays are a time for sharing special once-a-year foods. By sticking to some common sense food safety rules, your holiday will be even more special!

An old English tradition: toasting from Wassail Bowl

Wassail is derived from the Anglo-Saxon expression "Was Haile"—your health. For centuries, the Wassail Bowl was drunk in England with much ceremony and exchanging of holiday greetings. The custom was so common throughout the country that "wassailing" came to mean any kind of Christmas toast.

Old-time ingredients

The old-time recipe for the Wassail bowl was a heated combination of ale, cinnamon, ginger, sherry wine, lemon and sugar which was poured into a heated bowl. Toasted bread and roasted crab apples were added.

Today, even in England, the contents of the Wassail Bowl can be any kind of punch which stands ready to serve and toast friends when they drop in on Christmas.

Today's holiday punches

Popular holiday punches today include egg nog, and zesty cranberry punches such as one combining six cups each of cranberry juice cocktail and grapefruit juice with a 16 ounce can of jellied cranberry sauce. This should simmer for five minutes with four cinnamon sticks, some whole cloves, and the peel of two oranges. It is good served hot or cold.

Just be sure not to pour the hot punch into a glass punch bowl unless it is heatproof.

HOLIDAY FLAVOR

Of all the spicy, nostalgic smells of the holiday, that of nutmeg and its sister-spice, mace, is recalled with particular pleasure. We top the frothy egg-nog with nutmeg, use it to add final flavor to a hot glogg. Hard sauce for the plum pudding gets a dash of nutmeg or mace, as does the whipped cream to top holiday desserts. Mace is delightful in chocolate and, like nutmeg, has dozens of gourmet uses in the kitchen.

Veterans to Receive Increase in Pensions

Wisconsin veterans and dependents will receive up to a 1.3 percent increase in Veterans Administration Improved Pension checks payable on December 31.

According to Milwaukee VA Regional Office Director Jack McReynolds, VA pensions will now range up to $5,963 for a veteran without dependents and up to $13,411 for a veteran with three dependents who is in need of regular aid and attendance.

Unlike compensation benefits paid to veterans disabled by illness or injuries related to military service, pensions are affected by income from other sources, so the exact amount of increase will vary, he said.

Increases in Improved Pension and DIC payments to veterans and deceased veterans' parents are set by law at the same rate and date as Social Security increases.

HANDY ORNAMENT BOX

Have you lost that special box that had those neat little partitions in which you kept your Christmas ornaments, or has it disintegrated with the passing of time?

Try using an egg carton! It already has nice little cups to fit your ornaments and keep them safely stored for another merry Christmas!

A Big Christmas Bonus

It was Christmas Day and her little heart yearned for only one thing—to find her real daddy!

As she'd been looking through the telephone book, her eyes fastened on the listing: "Finder of Missing Persons". Now, somehow, she'd mustered up the courage to make the phone call. Her little heart pounded loudly in her ears as the phone rang on the other end. What would she say to the "big" man (well-known heir-finder, Bill Jones)? What would he care about a little girl's call—a little girl who had no money to pay for a fee. Would he sigh, "Oh, no, what a botheration on a holiday—Christmas Day, no less?" Would he say, "Sorry, little girl, I've just got too many other cases to handle—and cases with big money to gain?"

As the "big" man picked up the phone and listened—his heart was touched. Here was one little girl—her only Christmas wish to find her real daddy!

Christmas Day or no Christmas Day, Bill Jones took up the challenge like he'd never taken on any assignment before.

That very same day the little girl's father was found! But something just as great happened within the heir-finder's heart—the joy of having a part in helping a little girl's Christmas dream become real. That joy was worth more than any accumulation of heir-finder's fees for a lifetime.

This year may you receive the greatest Christmas bonus ever—simply because you found "Room in the inn" to make others happy.

SWEET YULE TREAT

One of the sweetest ingredients in the traditional English Christmas is Plum Pudding which, despite its name, has no plums in it!

Rather, it is a fragrant melange of dried fruits, aromatic spices and candied citron, steeped in brandy, combined with eggs and bread crumbs and steamed in a mold.

The following recipes for English Plum Pudding and its customary accompaniment, Hard Sauce, are from Ida Bailey Allen's Best Loved Recipes of the American People (Doubleday & Co.)

ENGLISH PLUM PUDDING

- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg

- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 2 cups stale bread crumbs
- 2 cups seeded raisins
- 1 cup currants
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 2 cups chopped beef suet
- 1 cup shredded candied citron, orange and lemon mixed
- 1/2 cup chopped figs
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 6 eggs
- 1 cup grape juice or brandy

Sift together the flour, salt and spices, add the bread crumbs, the raisins cut into halves after seeding, the currants, sugar, suet very finely chopped, the shredded candied peel, the figs, and lemon rind. Mix thoroughly, then moisten with the well-beaten eggs and grape juice. Turn into well-oiled molds having tightly fitting covers, fill not more than two thirds. Steam or boil for 8 hours. This pudding may be made some time before it is needed and reheated by a further boiling of at least 1 hour. Serve with Hard Sauce or any desired liquid dessert sauce.

HARD SAUCE

- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 cups confectioners' sugar, sifted
- 3 teaspoons boiling water

Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually, beating it into the butter. Add the boiling water a teaspoonful at a time and beat it vigorously into the sauce. Pile in a dish and set aside to chill before using.

Christmas Breads Easy To Prepare

Christmas breads are traditional — and not too difficult to prepare.

Start with a package of date-nut bread. Melt a half cup of butter in a saucepan and stir in a half cup of firmly packed brown sugar. Add to this one-half teaspoon of vanilla.

Sprinkle one half cup of slivered almonds or pecans into a greased seven cup ring mold and pour brown sugar over the nuts.

Mix package of date bread mix according to directions, spoon this over the pecan mixtures and bake in a moderate oven at 350 degrees for about forty minutes.

This delicious nut ring can be served hot or cold, or placed in a round tin for gift wrapping.

TREAT THE BIRDS

The Christmas season can be a difficult time for our feathered friends, the birds, particularly if there is a snow cover. You can trim an outdoor tree and decorate it with meat, vegetables and seeds to share your holiday blessings with cardinals, juncos, sparrows, finches and other birds. Those named above like vegetable seeds, but you can use such things as pine cones dipped in suet, bits of apples or carrots, even pie crusts to attract hungry blue jays, woodpeckers, nutcrackers, chickadees, warblers and brown creepers.

Wish Books

For many years the little kids, as well as "big" kids have had shining eyes as they look through those Christmas catalogs that have long been known as "Wish Books"!

It wasn't too many years ago that while turning the pages of those "Wish Books" one would discover diagonal signs across some ads that proclaimed, "NOT AVAILABLE". In fact, it became a game to some younger ones to see how many such signs could be spied in the catalog.

Times have changed and today so many things ARE available. What an abundance of things we have to choose from! But there is one thing that often seems to have the sign, "NOT AVAILABLE", stamped all over it - and that is TIME. Taking TIME to take the children out in the woods or to the shopping lot to let them help choose the Christmas tree is a little something for big memories.

If often takes so little, really, to please children. What will become most important to them is not so much the THINGS that soon will break, or they'll outgrow, or they'll just get bored with, but it's the TIME and love we spend on them—the giving of ourselves that will mean the most. This goes not only for the children in the family but for husbands and wives as well. How often the spic-and-span house, the cookies and pies and candies and casseroles that have been slaved over, the long hours spent at the office to pay for THINGS — make only a pressured house and not a loving, relaxing home.

This year, why not let's balance the holiday fun to really make it a home full of the fragrance of love and togetherness that will make beautiful memories that will last a lifetime and not just for a fleeting season.

Christmas Craft Dough Creations

Want to fashion your own Christmas ornaments, wreaths, wall hangings, and figurines? Make your own craft dough:

Combine 1 cup of salt with 2 cups of all-purpose flour. Gradually add 1 cup of water, thoroughly mixing it to form a ball of dough. Knead the dough for about 10 minutes until it is smooth. Your molding dough may be stored in the refrigerator for 3 to 5 days.

When you are ready to use the dough, you can hand-mold it or roll it out and use a knife or cookie cutter to cut shapes.

Bake your completed objects at 300 degrees until they are completely dry and hardened. This may take from 1 to 3 hours depending on thickness of your objects.

The baked items may be painted if desired.

The whole family can enjoy their own Christmas creations!

Old-fashioned Christmas has special appeal

An old-fashioned Christmas! What wonderful memories and images that expression evokes!

In the days before Christmas, Mother would be busy at the old wood stove, baking special breads, pies, cakes and sugar cookies, or making maple sugar candy. Sister would be helping mother in the kitchen, while brother kept the wood box filled with wood.

Dad would go into the woods and chop down the Christmas tree, bringing it home triumphantly on a sled. The tree was placed in the parlor, with real candles decorating it, as well as strings of popcorn and cranberries that had been strung by the children. Popcorn balls wrapped in tinfoil, and paper cones filled with homemade candy also decorated the tree.

The Christmas season actually began much earlier in the old days, for most gifts were handmade and so had to be worked on months in advance. The boys often made wooden objects, while the girls might embroider handkerchiefs or aprons. Mother, of course, kept her needles busy as she knit or crocheted garments for the whole family. Dad would whittle whistles or animals, or make a hobby horse or wooden doll.

On Christmas Eve, at the old country church, the tree was the biggest you'd ever seen, ablaze with candles. Nearby someone held a ten-foot pole that had a wet sponge tied on the end, should a fire start.

The bells would ring out over the countryside, bringing families in their sleighs or bobsleds, eager to worship the new-born King. What a delightful, jingling sound the bells on the horses would make, as they trotted through the snowy countryside. The bobsled or sleigh would be filled with hay, and the youngsters would snuggle under lap robes and gaze at the stars above, or hop on one of the heavy runners for an exciting ride.

A Christmas play would be performed at the church by the children, and afterwards Santa would make an appearance, rewarding the youngsters with goodies.

After hanging their stockings over the fireplace on Christmas Eve, the children would go to bed, happy with anticipation. They slept in big, fluffy beds, with feather ticks and feather comforters. If it was an especially cold night, mother would wrap a hot iron in flannel to warm their feet.

On Christmas morning, the youngsters would dash downstairs to find their stockings filled with nuts, apples, peppermint canes, hard ribbon candy, tin horns and a real orange in the toe of each stocking!

After Christmas dinner, the youngsters would go sledding or skating. Later, by the lamplight, the family might gather around the organ and sing carols, or perhaps dad would read a favorite scripture passage or a poem.

Christmas of long ago was a simple, unhurried, and happy time.

THREE KINGS' DAY

Driekonigendag, or Three Kings' Day, is a festive occasion in Belgium. It is a special day for children who dress in costumes and go from farm to farm, singing nonsense verses about the Kings and are given gifts, coins and cakes.

The cake of the Kings is shared at a party. The youngster who receives the piece of cake containing a dried bean is proclaimed King and chooses a Queen to help him rule over the party. The royal pair receive gold paper crowns and robes that are often pieced together from purple, orange or scarlet scraps.

Cocaine Awareness Program A Must: Panzer

MADISON...State Representative Mary Panzer (R-West Bend) said it is vitally important for the people of Wisconsin that funds to finance a program to change public attitudes and increase public awareness of the cocaine problem in this State be included in the 1987-89 State Budget. She said the program is needed because the use of cocaine has reached epidemic proportions and that 50% of Wisconsin's citizens don't know anything about cocaine and 80% still believe the myths of cocaine.

"If we don't do something to educate the public and change the direction in which drug use is going we will see a disastrous deterioration of our society. If that happens it will be far more costly than any educational or preventive program will be," she stated.

The Department of Health and Social Services' (DH&SS) Division of Community Services has requested $1,347,500 to finance the program, however the Department may propose partial funding through a program revenue account using monies from fines and other forfeitures.

The Wisconsin Cocaine Task Force which concluded an extensive study earlier this year states that 94,000 people use cocaine, 40,000 use it regularly and half of them are totally preoccupied with using or acquiring cocaine. Twenty to thirty percent of the users become addicted. "It is a $592 million per year racket which claims a toll of ruined and lost lives, impaired mental and physical health, lost jobs and broken homes," Panzer said.

Panzer said the Task Force's immediate priority is to expand public knowledge about the drug. It recommends a one-time cocaine specific media campaign with the purpose of informing the public of cocaine, its dangers and effects utilizing nationally produced television spots.

The Task Force's major recommendation in the public awareness program is that DH&SS and the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) make cocaine a priority in community prevention programs they currently fund. This would include schools and county agencies as well as service clubs and certain industrial groups.

"Cocaine use has been accelerating in Wisconsin since 1982. Because users tend to enter treatment programs after three or four years, 1987-89 promises to place a severe strain on the capacity and resources of public and private treatment agencies and providers, therefore sufficient funding to operate the program is a must," Panzer emphasized.

A Touch of Christmas To Houseplants

Give your regular houseplants a festive, Christmas look!

That Norfolk Island Pine can look absolutely beautiful with small, feathery birds and a few icicles on its branches! Since the limbs are delicate, you will want to use very light decorations, however.

Reindeer and candy canes can be perched on metal rods and placed in the soil of your plants. You may wish to wrap the pots in a special Christmas foil to help spread Christmas cheer.

That Boston Fern can have a special Christmas look with two, tall, tapered candles in its soil; however, it isn't recommended to light candles that are among plants unless the candles reach high above the plants.

Say "Merry Christmas" with an extra Christmasy touch to your regular plants as well as your Christmas tree!

Registered Nurse Preparation Program At MPTI Has Openings

There are still openings and applications are being taken for the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Moraine Park Technical Institute's West Bend campus. This program prepares students to take the National Council Licensure Exam for registered nursing. The two-year program admits students twice a year in January and September. Admission requirements include math, chemistry, ACT (or comparable exam), MPTI reading and math exam, dental and physical exam and an interview with counselor and program supervisor. Financial aid is available to qualified applicants.

Both part-time and full-time RN positions are available in hospitals, nursing homes, clinics, home health care and mental health centers. The anticipated registered nurse shortage in the work force has already begun and is expected to extend into the 21st century, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Due to our growing and aging population, more RNs are needed to meet the nursing needs of patients.

For further information and application, contact a counselor of any MPTI campus or call Nursing Program supervisor, Josephine Roehrborn, RN, West Bend campus, at 334-MSW, MSN, Associate Degree 3413.
