Lions BBQ a Success Despite Wet Weather

Sunday's rain didn't dampen the success of the Kewaskum Lions Club annual chicken barbeque and Kettle 20 races. Most of the runners were in and the races completed by the time the morning rain came. That rain did not hamper chicken dinner sales either.

As the skies started to darken, club members began to show a little concern that there wouldn't be a very good turnout for their fundraiser. Said one club member, "we thought we were going to end up with chicken up to our eyeballs."

The rain, however, turned out to be a blessing in disguise. As soon as the rain eased up, people began coming to the tent, not to sit down and eat but for carry-out orders. We got so

Rain, High Winds Rip Through Area

A demolished storage shed and its contents littered the yard of Bob and Evelyn Reickert, Highway D, in New Fane, as Sunday's winds and rains tore through the little community.

Although amounts varied greatly in Saturday's rains, many gauges registered as much as a half inch of moisture. That, as the old saying goes, was "just a drop in the bucket" compared to the storms that roared through the area on Sunday. Totals reached almost two inches by the time the front finally went through the area and things began to settle down Sunday evening.

Not only was the area nearly washed away, but high winds also ripped through the area. One of the areas most noticeably affected by the winds was New Fane. Many trees suffered extensive damage as large branches were broken off and blown into the streets and yards.

Schools Welcome Students

by Penny Kleinhans
District Administrator

Wednesday, Aug. 26th is the first day of school for returning and new students of the Kewaskum School District.

Parents and guardians should by this time have received information on bus rules and pick-up times. If you have not, please call the Johnson Bus Company at 626-4414 to complete arrangements.

We are asking that families take time to review the bus rider rules and safe boarding, riding, unloading procedures. If this is your youngster's first experience at riding the "big bus" why not take some time, or arrange for someone to accompany him or her at that first pick-up and drop-off.

Also, please be aware of the times crossing guards are present on village street corners and utilize them accordingly. And, finally, don't send your children to school before the school doors open as they will be unsupervised.

Information for those interested and eligible for the free and reduced hot lunch program was published in the Statesman last week, Middle School and High School students also received copies at registration. Forms will again be given to elementary students (one per family) during the first week of school. If you don't receive one, or wish to review the criteria, please call the Business Office at 626-8427.

Hot lunch prices for this year will remain the same as for the past several years. That will be $1.10 daily and $4.75/$5.00 weekly. School on Wednesday is a full day and lunch will be served. The calendar for the school year has been published several times in the past few months. If you still need one please call the business office and we'll send one out.

A new policy this year will be free milk for the kindergartners. You will be receiving a note from school about the cost for snacks ($5.00 approximately) for each semester. That will be about $10.00 less than in the past because of the free milk.

Please be aware of the fact that the School District does NOT carry accident insurance for students. We therefore urge parents/guardians to review their own policies to be certain coverage is adequate. Particularly in the case of athletics this is a necessity. The schools do have information about the WIAA (Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association) insurance program that is available for parents to purchase on their own at a nominal sum. Information can be obtained by calling the school building offices.

District support staff have worked hard this summer cleaning and making the buildings "spic and span" for the fall opening. Different teachers have continued curriculum development and advanced training. Administrative staff have worked to hire new staff and arrange schedules. All is in readiness and all are anxious to greet children and begin anew.

Most important for us will be the continued support and involvement of parents, grandparents, guardians and community members at large.

Please take the time to review handbooks with your students, go over homework with them, call their teachers or principals, visit your schools, volunteer any time you might have and get involved with parent groups or committees! We need and want your assistance.

Other hints for a successful start to the 1987-88 school year include the following: Be positive about the teacher(s) your child has and the programs available; be interested in what is happening on a daily basis, encourage participation in extra-curricular activities; set goals that are high enough yet realistic and set aside some time on a regular basis for reading (or reading to your child) or homework.

WELCOME BACK!

Holy Trinity to Open With 147 Students; One New Teacher

Town Okays Permit for Temporary Asphalt Plant

It's hard to tell now, but this is the "S" curves which are being reconstructed near the gravel pit parking lot on Highway 28. This view, looking east, shows how much the hill on the north side of the road has been cut down and the roadbed widened. The project is scheduled for completion in October.

All the asphalt surface has been removed and work is well underway on the Highway 28 reconstruction. Torrential rains, however, have halted work this past week. A bulldozer worked on the roadbed looking west, from St. Michaels.

The Town of Kewaskum has approved a conditional use permit for the construction of a temporary portable asphalt plant and gravel extraction pit at the corner of Kettle Moraine Drive and Highway 28.

The permit, issued to Walter Dei, will expire on September 20th. The plant will be used by Payne & Dolan, Inc., the firm which is doing the Highway 28 reconstruction and resurfacing project.

George Allmann, Town Chairman, said there was some opposition to the permit by the Department of Natural Resources. He said, however, that when the company gave assurances it would restore the site to its original condition, the DNR reconsidered its opposition to the application.

Allmann said Payne & Dolan has put up a $5,000 bond and guaranteed to cover the pit and reseed the area with natural vegetation to return it to its prior state. Because the land is zoned agricultural, a public hearing had to be held on the application of a conditional use permit for the non-conforming use planned for the land.

Fire Destroys Barn

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn on the Harvey Wellhoefer property at 6335 Highway U, Allenton, late Wednesday evening.

Five neighboring fire departments, including St. Lawrence, Kohlsville, Woodland, Iron Ridge, and Theresa helped Allenton firefighters battle the blaze until 6:00 a.m.

Damage was estimated at $17,000 to the barn, and approximately $7,000 to its contents consisting of wagons, feed and other equipment.

Firefighters were delayed in reaching the fire because of vehicles and equipment blocking driveways to the scene. There was traffic congestion on Highway 33 making it necessary for the County Sheriff's Department to direct traffic allowing fire equipment access to open roads.

A driver was arrested at the intersection of Highway 33 and 175 when he refused to obey the orders of an officer who was directing traffic.

Storm

An extremely strong wind, some residents thought it may have been a small tornado, traveled along Mill Street, west across Highway S, and behind homes on the northern edge of New Fane. A Evelyn shed at the Bob and Evelyn Reichert home facing Highway D, was demolished sending it and its contents flying all over the family's yard.

Local damage, however, was minor compared to the tornado destruction suffered by homeowners in Waukesha and Racine counties.

As the weather began to clear from the west, the setting sun lent an eerie orange color to the entire sky. Many people said they had never seen such an unusual sight. All that brilliant orange and dark outlines of homes and trees was almost as scary as the storm itself, noted one woman.

As if there wasn't enough rain over the week-end, more showers moved through the area on Tuesday.

Martins Attend Family Reunion in Canada

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Martin, Kewaskum and daughter Dawn have returned home after attending the Sommerfeld family reunion in Saskatoon, Sask, Canada.

Several hundred attended this three day affair which was held on the Hartly Sommerfeld farmyard. Clan members came from distant areas namely California, Oregon, Washington, Vancouver, Nova Scotia, New York, Virginia, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and other parts of Canada.

Ludwig Sommerfeld was the only member of his family to emigrate to the U.S. He arrived here in 1857 settling with the Zedlers temporarily in the Town of Lomira. From there he settled in the Juneau area. In 1903-1908 two sons and two daughters left this area to homestead in the Saskatoon area.

Pictures and Genealogy charts were on display. On Sunday morning an Ecumenical service was conducted by Rev. Glenn Mahan of Chicago. Entertainment was airplane rides over the city, bus trips around the city, baseball, horseshoe and volley ball. Prizes were awarded to the youngest in attendance, a three year old baby from California, the oldest, 93, from Calgary and those from the farthest, New York.

The Ludwig Sommerfeld family consisted of 3 sons and 5 daughters.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scannell and Lorinda Bunkleman, Kewaskum, went to Seymour to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bunkelman.

When they returned home they received the news that Robert's brother, Jimmy Scannell, of Georgia, passed away.

On Sunday, they attended the 40th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Johnson of Milwaukee.

Ole Timer's Sunday At Wayne Church

Sunday, August 23, has been designated as "OLE TIMER'S SUNDAY" at Salem United Church of Christ in Wayne. This service of thanksgiving honors those "faithful pillars" who have supported the congregation through the years.

Salem UCC is observing the 130th anniversary of its founding through various special services during the year.

This particular service will include scripture read in German and a short meditation in German conducted by the Rev. A.A. Graf, a former minister of the congregation in 1930-1939. Our quartet consisting of Fritz Menger, Armond, Gerald and Roger Mertz will sing Lobe Den Herren. The choir will provide additional special music by singing "Rescue the Perishing," "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross," and "Blessed Assurance."

The Rev. Milton Staskal, Pastor, will deliver the sermon: "IN PRAISE OF PILLARS."

The public is invited and encouraged to attend. The festivities will conclude with a coffee hour hosted by Rollie and Edna Maul.

Salem United Church of Christ is located 6 miles west of Kewaskum, 9 miles south of Campbellsport, at the junction of Washington County Highway H and W.

Area Students Enroll At UW-Platteville

Three students from the Kewaskum area have enrolled for fall classes at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville. The fall semester at UWP begins Sept. 2 with the last formal registration sessions scheduled for Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

They are Sue Bodden, daughter of Raymond and Geraldine Bodden, 1246 Meadow Lane, Kewaskum; Timothy Staehler, son of Ray and Marianne Staehler, Route 3, Kewaskum; and Jacqueline Voge, daughter of Charles and Nancy Voge, 148 Riverside Road, Fredonia.

The freshman class again boosts the notion of academic excellence. The class size will approximate the class of 1986-87 and appears to hold high distinction in the areas of academics, athletics and performing arts.

Fond du Lac County Supervisor Thelen, 52, Dies of Heart Attack

A Fond du Lac County Board supervisor died Thursday morning of a massive heart attack while driving along Highway 67.

Mathias J. Thelen, 52, of Route 1, Campbellsport, suffered the attack at 9:10 a.m. Thursday while driving westbound, about one mile east of Lomira, according to the Dodge County Sheriff's Department.

Thelen's car traveled off the right side of the highway, broke off a tree and crossed the No. 10 fairway at the Camelot golf course. The car broke off another tree and crossed the No. 1 fairway before entering the parking lot, where it struck an unoccupied vehicle owned by Roy Rassmann of 304 Krieser Drive, Mayville.

The Thelen car then continued across the driving range and over the No. 3 fairway. It struck two more trees, crossed over the No. 4 tee, hit another tree and came to rest in a pond.

Thelen was pronounced dead at the scene. A spokesman for the sheriff's department said Thelen's death is not being considered a traffic fatality.

Wilbert Halbach, chairman of the Fond du Lac County Board of Supervisors, will appoint a successor to Thelen.

The appointment must be confirmed by the county board. Thelen represented Fond du Lac County Supervisory District 6 for the past three years. He was a member of the county Highway Committee and Commission on Aging.

County Board of Supervisors Approves Hiring Architect For Preliminary Work on Possible UWWC Expansion

Friday, Aug. 21, 1987, Kewaskum Statesman, Page 5

The Washington County Board of Supervisors has approved hiring an architect to prepare preliminary design work and cost estimates for a possible expansion to the University of Wisconsin Center — Washington County.

Approval came by a 23-6 vote on Aug. 11 when the board authorized the hiring of Strang Partners, Inc., of Madison. Strang submitted a low bid of no more than $3,000 for the project, including travel and printing costs.

The hiring will become effective contingent upon the reaffirmation of an earlier endorsement by the City of West Bend and the finalizing of a contract.

Strang's final report could be completed as early as October and will include a five-year plan for campus development.

Final architectural costs will be split on a 69-31 percent basis by the county and city, respectively. The split reflects the joint ownership of the freshman-sophomore center by the two units of government.

Strang's bid was the lowest of seven competing firms, narrowed from an original field of 14. Bids ranged up to $24,000. Final selection was made by the UWWC Board of Commissioners, a joint body of county and city officials, after interviews with the firms on Aug. 6 and 7.

Representatives of each firm had toured the campus on July 8 and 9.

Supervisor Leo Groh of West Bend, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, said board members spent 12 hours on the interview process including the checking of references. He said commissioners concluded that Strang was "well-qualified and well-prepared."

Prior to county board vote, UWWC Dean Robert O. Thompson emphasized that approving the preliminary design and cost work involved no commitment to construction.

"All we're asking is a road map that tells us how to get where we want to be," he said.

The map, he explained, would avoid solving space needs on "a piecemeal basis" and making sure that "whatever we do, fits in" with a long-range plan. Thompson called this approach "a wise, responsible stewardship of taxpayers' money."

Supervisor Fritz Gierach of Germantown opposed hiring the architect. He said the county should vote the UWWC expansion up or down before spending money on a study. "Once we start spending money, it will never end," he said.

Groh said the architect's work would help the county make that decision. He said that a preliminary space study, presented to the county board in April, indicates that UWWC could "need up to 180,000 square feet of new space." But, he added, the county and city "can do part of that or all of that or whatever."

The April study report, which showed a total need for an additional 17,220 assignable square feet (ASF) of space at UWWC, was developed by the Bureau of Technical and Informational Services of the UW System. The study was undertaken at the direction of the county board.

Priorities were set by UWWC Dean Robert O. Thompson in consultation with the UWWC Campus Planning Committee. Top priority space needs, totaling 7,185 ASF, include two computer laboratories (1,390 ASF), office space (850 ASF), meeting, conference and continuing education space (800 ASF), theatre storage and set construction (1,000 ASF), cafeteria and kitchen storage (1,800 ASF), classroom (800 ASF) and library processing and circulation (545 ASF).

Second priority needs totaled 4,476 ASF and third priority 5,559 ASF.

On Aug. 11, Gierach asked if UWWC could charge extra fees to students from other counties to help pay for any expansion.

Thompson replied that 88 percent of the students come from Washington County. Since the state pays $1.7 million in UWWC operating costs, he said, any extra charges would not be added.

County Board Chairman Reuben Schmahl of Jackson pointed out that students move across the county line in both directions. "We send our students to other schools," he said.

Hiring the architect will mean money-back for both city and county. In 1985, a total of $10,000 had been appropriated for the project.

Voting against hiring the architect were Gierach and supervisors Jack German, Willard Hepe, Adolph Lofy, Ken Miller and Harold Westermann.

Commissioner, Norman Petersen, will conduct an outdoor "Scoutmaster Olympics," with the aid of staff members Vince Schwartz, Kim Wegmann and Rick Yegge, Sr. All attending will participate in fun, games and surprises.

UWWC Theatre Trips Open With Shakespeare at Spring Green

Outdoor Shakespeare will open the round of 1987-88 fine arts events at the UW Center-Washington County.

Reservations are being accepted now for the annual trip to the American Players Theatre at Spring Green, Wisconsin. A bus will leave UWWC at 1 p.m. Saturday, September 19, returning at 11 p.m.

This year's show is "Merry Wives of Windsor." Cost for tickets and transportation is $18. A maximum of 40 registrations can be accepted.

Brad Ford, assistant professor of communications and theatre arts at UWWC, said participants will see Sir John Falstaff, "one of Shakespeare's most famous characters."

Tour members can eat at the Spring Green Inn, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, or bring a brown bag lunch.

Ford, the artistic director of UWWC's Theatre on the Hill, is a member of UWWC's Fine Arts Committee which is sponsoring the event. He said theatre-lovers should enjoy the day because of the setting, the company and the costs.

"The outdoor setting is absolutely incredible," he said. "It adds a lot to the pastoral qualities of much of Shakespeare's stuff."

"The company is dedicated to the preservation and production of all the theatre classics. At one point, its future was endangered, but art-conscious people rallied to save it."

And, Ford concluded, "The price is right."

percent of the 157 being offered at UWWC this fall, were closed as of Aug. 4, due to reaching maximum enrollments. Six more were at 90 percent of capacity.

Murphy said that space still remains in a variety of courses.

New freshmen applications stood at 336 on Aug. 4, lagging behind last year's record-setting pace of 376 on the same date. The figure is above early August three-year averages of 297 for 1983 through 1985.

Fall Enrollments Up 25% at UWWC

With almost a month remaining before classes start on Sept. 8, fall semester enrollments are running 25 percent ahead of 1986 at the UW Center - Washington County.

Last fall, a record 777 students attended UWWC. "We're going to go over that," Mike Murphy, director of student services, predicted on Aug. 5.

As of Aug. 4, 643 students had signed up for fall classes compared to 594 on the same date last year. August registrations had one more day to run. A final enrollment period is set for 9 to 5 p.m. on Sept. 2 with registrations accepted, in some cases, through the first two weeks of classes.

A final round of placement testing in English and mathematics is planned for new students at 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Aug. 31.

Students registering to-date are carrying an average of just over 12 credits each, the minimum full-time course load at the University of Wisconsin. Forty-eight classes, 31

A Back-to-School Message from State Supt. Herbert J. Grover

As back-to-school preparations for the 1987-88 school year begin in earnest, it is with great pleasure that I encourage communities to join the yearlong celebration of the "Year of the Family in Education."

Schools and families have a great deal in common. They both serve children. But in recent years, both the family and school have been criticized on how they are meeting their responsibilities. Many claim that the family is not working and that schools are failing as they try to take over for families.

Clearly, the family is different from the days when I was in school. The traditional father working and mother at home with the children is not the case for the majority of U.S. families. In Wisconsin, only about 14 percent of families could be called traditional.

Today's family is smaller than it was a generation ago and is generally led by two wage-earning adults. Despite the changes, the family is the best institution we have for helping our children grow into adults.

I encourage all of you, not just those with children in school, to join the Year of the Family in Education. Although more than two-thirds of our population have no children in school, we are all part of a large, extended family. Whether you are an aunt, or uncle, grandparent, other relatives, friend, or neighbor, children benefit when you tell them they are important and that the education they receive will be crucial in the future.

I urge you to talk to the children in your life. Sharing yourself can make a big difference. Tell them it is important to attend school every day. Set high expectations for them. Insist that they behave properly and speak correctly.

As a part of the community, make a visit to your local school.

If you have a special talent, offer to share it. All community residents can and should take part in school activities. We all have a solid stake in the education of children, who are our future leaders, workers, and parents.

UWWC Summer School Enrollments Down

Summer school enrollments were down from 1986 at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County. But the number of credits carried was up from a year earlier, according to an Aug. 5 report from the UW Centers registrar in Madison.

The report showed UWWC had 107 students enrolled in its eight courses down from 127 in 1986. Students enrolled for 4 percent more credits this year with 22 carrying four more credits and 85, three or less.

Roland Baldwin, director of student services, said the main reason for the drop was a cutback in the number of courses offered. Similar cutbacks were in effect for most of the UW Centers' 13 freshman-sophomore campuses.

Total centers' enrollment for the six-week summer session was 2,225, down 337 (13 percent). Total credits carried were also down 13 percent.

Thirty-eight of the enrollees were transfer students, most of them home for the summer from other schools. Twelve students were in college for the first time; 57 were enrolled previously at UWWC.

Women outnumbered men on campus this summer by a 73 to 34 margin. Thirty-five students were 25 years of age or older.

Not counted in the registrar's report were 28 additional students who enrolled in non-credit refresher and remedial algebra and geometry classes.

Weekend Courses Offered at MPTI

Adults who want to put their weekends to work have a choice of 10 occupational and business courses to choose from at Moraine Park Technical Institute during the fall term.

Weekend courses include: principles of motivation, managing human resources, management theories and practice, applied supervisory management, technical communication - written, managerial budgeting and finance, principles of supervision, computer software literacy, job-seeking skills and psychology of human relations.

The time saved from taking a weekender course is considerable. In most cases, students may complete three credits in three weekend (Friday evening/Saturday day) sessions or in four Saturday sessions. Weekenders begin at different times during the term and meet at various locations in the MPTI district.

Full descriptions of weekenders, complete with dates, times and locations are given in the Moraine Park Schedule of Courses which has been mailed to district residents. Students may register by calling the MPTI instructional center supervisor in their area or the Fond du Lac campus at 929-2100.

MPTI Offers Financial Aid to Students

Fall classes start soon at Moraine Park Technical Institute and interested students are urged to contact a Moraine Park counselor about financial aid options and eligibility requirements.

Financial aid through state and federal funding is available to qualified students enrolled in an MPTI program on a full-time or part-time basis for at least six credits. The credit courses that students enroll in must apply to their program.

A Moraine Park counselor can assist a student in choosing a program as well as in applying for financial aid. Students are required to fill out a Financial Aid Form (FAF). This form is a tool to determine the amount a student can contribute financially to his or her own educational expenses.

Some current grants include the PELL Grant program, the Wisconsin Higher Education Grant, the Supplementary Education Opportunity Grant and the Talent Incentive Grant. Funding is also available to qualified students through the College Work study program and the Wisconsin Guaranteed Student Loan program.

Additional sources of funding are available to qualified disabled adults through DVR funding. The Wisconsin Veterans Loan program reimburses qualified veterans for tuition and books when they enroll on a part-time basis for 11 or fewer credits.

Community based scholarships and Moraine Park Foundation scholarships are also available.

For further information on the full range of MPTI financial aid options, contact your local Moraine Park campus or instructional center.

Due to the supplier's mistake the Lions ran out of chicken early in the afternoon, and only had hamburgers left to offer the many disappointed customers who began arriving after the rain stopped.

UWC Fond du Lac to Open Sept. 8 With Increase in Enrollment

The University of Wisconsin Center-Fond du Lac begins its 120th year of service to the community with classes beginning Tuesday, September 8.

The campus will have a new dean for the start of the fall semester. Dr. Bradley Gottfried will join the campus August 24 as the second dean in the history of the campus. He will replace Dr. Willard J. Henken who will be retiring September 1.

Henken will step down as enrollment increase to new highs in recent years. New freshman applications have increased more than fifty percent over last year. Registrations have surpassed last year's figures for summer registration. University officials estimate an enrollment of over 600 on-campus students this fall.

More than 80 credit classes in 22 subject areas are offered at the freshman-sophomore campus, with courses offered during the day, late afternoon, and evening to provide flexibility to area residents. Courses are open to all students, full-time, part-time, and audit. To gain admission to the center, students are required to file a UW System admission application form. An English placement test is required for entrance to English Composition classes. A math placement test is required for select students depending on high school preparation. Application for admission and placement tests should be completed before seeking advisement and registration.

Registration for the fall semester for students who have not filed programs is Tuesday, September 1 at 1:30 p.m. in the Student Center. Students will meet with advisors to choose classes, file programs, register, and pay fees all in one session.

The UWC Fond du Lac is a state institution which allows Wisconsin residents access to a low cost university. Fees for the fall semester are $57.40 per credit up to 11 credits and $681.65 for 12 or more credits. A full-time non-resident must pay $2,060.65 in addition to the resident fees. Individuals may audit courses for half the per credit fee. They are not required to complete assigned course work. Persons 62 and over may audit free of charge.

The purpose of the local center is to provide area residents with the opportunity to obtain UW courses without having to travel great distances. Advantages are that students can live at home for the first two years, saving expensive room and board costs, averaging $2,000 at resident colleges. Students can also remain at their place of employment and continue activities in their home communities. The savings incurred by living at home for two years could pay for most of the third year of college.

Slightly over one-quarter of UWC-Fond du Lac students are part-time, those enrolling for less than 12 credits. Students can complete two years of college study and receive an associate degree. Motivation to attend classes often includes a desire to obtain a more secure job, to be eligible for a career promotion, and for personal enrichment. Many students continue at bachelor colleges and receive bachelors, masters and even doctorate degrees.

The center also has a "special student" category for people who just want to take a course or two for personal interest or professional development. Anyone may enroll as a special student for up to six credits of course work without submitting previous educational records. High school seniors may also enroll in credit classes prior to graduation on a part-time basis. To qualify, they must file an application for admission form and have the recommendation of their high school principal. Credits and grades earned by the high school student will be fully accredited, transferable UW credits for the students.

Individuals at the center to gain whatever knowledge and understanding is available by attending a class. Auditors are not expected to take examinations nor should they expect to have any course work evaluated by an instructor. Audits are on a space available basis with the consent of the instructor.

The center offers students the opportunity to participate in activities which include student government, the campus newspaper and radio station, and various clubs. Fine arts activities include Theatre, Forensics, Community Band, Jazz Ensemble, University Choir, and the Madrigal Dinner.

Athletic activities include intercollegiate competition in soccer, golf and women's volleyball in the fall.

Men's and women's basketball in the winter, and tennis and women's softball in the spring. An active intramural program operates throughout the year.

The campus also provides entertainment activities which are open to the public. Seminars, lectures, theatre productions, musical performances, dances and movies are offered throughout the school year at a nominal charge.

For information on credit classes at the UW Center-Fond du Lac, contact the Office of Student Services at 929-3606. Office hours are from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Handling 'Back to School' Stress

For young children, adolescents and parents, starting or returning to school can be a stressful time. To minimize the stress, parents need to plan ahead. The Division of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Milwaukee Psychiatric Hospital offers these tips for parents in preparing their families to return to school:

- 1) Avoid surprises - if this will be your child's first day at a new school, call the school in advance to determine if parents need to fill out forms or attend meetings before school begins.
- 2) Adjust your family to the meetings they will need to keep at least a week before school starts.
- 3) Familiarize yourself and your children with the appropriate bus schedules.
- 4) If you have young children who will walk to school, walk the path with them many times in advance of the first school day. If an older brother or sister will be walking with the younger child, impress on the brother or sister the responsibility they have to watch out for their sibling.
- 5) Purchase back to school supplies well in advance of the first day of school.
- 6) After school has begun, it's a good idea to be in contact with your child's teacher/guidance counselor. Let the teacher know that you are available to discuss your child's performance and behavior. In other words, let the teacher know you are and will remain involved with your child's education.

Holy mackerel! A mother cod can lay as many as five million eggs at a time. Usually only six survive. If they all produced live fish, there would be much less room left in the ocean for water.

Louis Bath, who has been operating a machine shop in the Rempel Corporation plant on the corner of First and Railroad Streets for the past five years, recently purchased the plant from the stockholders of the Rempel Corporation, and has now taken over sole ownership of the same. Hereafter the plant will operate under the name of Rempel Manufacturing Company. The new owner, Mr. Bath, has been employed in the Rempel plant for over 25 years and his experience, reliability and past record makes his business known far and wide, which assures his patrons that he is well able to take care of their work. The plant, under the name of Rempel Manufacturing Co., will continue to manufacture Rempel concrete mixers, Rempel two-roll corn huskers and other articles. Mr. Bath will also continue to operate the machine shop in the Rempel plant. Included in the repair work is cutting and welding with electricity and acetyline equipment.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. John Corbett of rural Kewaskum, of the marriage of their daughter, Mildred, to Arthur Krause, son of Mrs. Anna Krause of Jackson. The wedding was performed on May 26, 1936 at the parsonage of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Waukegan, Illinois.

A $44,000 entertainment program has been arranged for the thousands of visitors who are expected at the big all-star Wisconsin State Fair, August 21 - 29. A large happy gathering again assembled at Fillmore last Sunday for the third annual reunion of the Klessig-Jaehrig families. The old house and its surroundings dear to all for its history and memories was again chosen for the place of the meeting. There were 52 family members present and ten guests.

This week with deep regret, as a result of an unkind blow of fate, we must inform our readers of the passing of one of Kewaskum's most prominent businessmen and citizens. Edward C. Miller, 59, died at his home on Main Street on August 16, following an illness of five days.

Shortly before going to press we received notice that Louis Backhaus Sr., aged resident of Prospect Avenue of this village, had passed away on August 19, at his home following an illness with pneumonia. Last minute notice informs us also that on the same day her husband passed away, Mrs. Louis Backhaus was stricken with what is believed to be an appendicitis attack. She was rushed to St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, where she is being properly cared for at this writing.

The Washington County Tourism Council would like to publicly thank the participants and spectators at the Tug-of-War contest held at the Slinger Fairgrounds during the county fair. This popular event, sponsored by the Tourism Council for this second year, demonstrates the spirit of sportsmanship, competition and fair play while crowds cheered pullers to exert energy and use muscles long forgotten.

A total of 16 teams competed in two divisions - Men's and Coed. (No takers in the women's division although we expect that to come in the future.) Winners in the Men's Division are: 1st - 5 Corner's Dodge, Cedarburg; 2nd, - Kettle Moraine YMCA, West Bend; and 3rd - Steiner's West Bend. Winners in the Coed Division are: 1st - West Bend Savings & Loan-Spouses; 2nd - West Bend Savings & Loan-Employees; and 3rd - P T L, Slinger.

Thanks also go to Rudy's Girls, an amateur team from Orfordville, Wisconsin, who put on a demonstration and assisted the Tourism Council in officiating. This team travels worldwide to pulls and has won many medals and honors. Rudy and his entourage were impressed with the manner in which each participating team cooperated and the promptness each appeared on the field. We, of course, know that we have great people in this area but it is wonderful to hear it from "outsiders."

We look forward to an increased number of teams to participate in the 3rd Annual Tug-of-War next year. If anyone would like more information, they may call any of the officers of the Washington County Tourism Council.

To the Editor and the Reading Public,

There is a multi-million dollar campaign going on to prevent the confirmation of Robert Bork to the U.S. Supreme Court. That he is highly skilled and qualified for the position is not taken into account by the "Anti-Life Zealots" who plan to obstruct his confirmation.

Just what can Mr. or Mrs. or Ms. ordinary citizen do to have their opinions considered? First and foremost pray for justice, then act. Write to Senators Kasten and Proxmire and Joseph Biden, who is Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Tell them that the case against abortion and related issues should be tried on the scales of justice and not on the opinions of liberal groups who want to impose their views on the rest of us.

It won't take a lot of time or effort, just tell them you favor the confirmation of Robert Bork to the U. S. Supreme court. Be sure to sign your name and give your address. It's the only way for the Government of The People to work.

The address for all Senators is: Senator _____, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20510.

One of the people,
Marcella Schaefer,

UWWC Business Manager Ron Moss Moving West

The man who has served as business manager at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County since its first year of operation is leaving.

Ron Moss of West Bend, who started work in West Bend in January, 1969, has accepted a new position as the assistant to the dean at Gillette Community College in Wyoming.

"I'll be wearing a lot of hats there," he said, "just the way it has been here."

Gillette is a two-year branch of Sheridan Community College, one of seven such campuses in the state. The college has the equivalent of 260 full-time students, 80 percent of them adults. Seventy percent of the classes are taught at night.

The Gillette community is a boomtown located between Devil's Tower and the Big Horns. Coal, oil and gas business has led to a growth from 3,000 population in the late 1970s to 30,000 today, Moss said.

He described the campus as being located in a building that looks more like a medical clinic than a school. When classes began there in 1975, they were in the local high school.

Moss will be responsible for providing program direction in four other communities. One, Buffalo, is 70 miles west, he said; two are 30 miles away; the fourth, he said "I haven't found on the map, yet."

Looking back on his 18 years in West Bend, Moss said his job required "working behind the scenes." He expressed satisfaction at having the chance "to see the inner workings of the campus — how all things intermix with each other."

Moss said he will remember the "outstanding quality" of faculty, staff and students and how city and county officials dealt with the growth of the campus and community.

"Everyone worked together," he said.

Cooperation was made easy, he said, because of the nature of the UW's — freshman-sophomore centers. "What's so unique about the Center System is faculty interaction," he said. "They have interdisciplinary ties and get to know all the departments."

"And they're aware of the needs of all the students. That's why many students are so well-prepared to go on."

His top memory of the student body were "the troubles" on many there were "troubles" on many campuses. "Our main one," he said, "was when the students wanted to lower the flag to half-mast. They were able to take hold of the situation and discuss it. I always remember those discussions without demonstrations..."

Moss said he also found it "very satisfying" working with the city and county on maintaining the physical plant and "seeing the commitment they have made" to UWWC.

Among the hardest parts of his assignment, he said, was "the complexity of budgeting — coordinating the activities of the city and county to maintain the facilities" with the state operating funds.

Moss expressed optimism about the future of UWWC. "In my crystal ball, growth is going to be continual," he said.

"Students are starting to recognize they can come here and save thousands of dollars on a college education by living at home."

As the campus addresses future space needs, he said, he hopes former students will "talk to officials about how they never could have reached their goals without UWWC."

He predicted that area efforts to attract industry will underline the ways a UW campus is "a big asset." "We will be much further ahead because of the campus being in West Bend," he said.

Moss holds a masters degree in management from Cardinal Stritch College and a B.S. degree in elementary education from the University of Utah.

Before going to college, he served in the Army signal corps in the Panama Canal Zone, rising to sergeant in less than two years. Immediately after, he lived in Finland for nearly three years.

He sees values in young people having such experiences. "There is no need to jump right out of high school into college," he said.

Before coming to UWWC, Moss taught fifth grade for more than six years and was terminal supervisor for Conoco in Milwaukee.

He admitted to having "mixed feelings" at leaving West Bend for Wyoming.

For 18 years, he said, he has had "the satisfaction of serving the community, which has always been our main goal."

Gillette, he added, offers similar "new challenges and ventures — a chance to continue exploring."

Moss said, "That's why we're heading west again."

LITERACY: LET'S MEET THE CHALLENGE

For most of you, reading this column is not difficult. However, for over 21 million adult Americans, reading is not possible. There are at minimum 21 million American adults who do not read successfully.

The personal and social costs of illiteracy are devastating. It is difficult for non-readers to travel, and when they do they encounter difficulties most of us cannot imagine. They cannot read traffic signs or street names. They have become prisoners of the streets and neighborhoods they know.

Non-readers cannot choose from a menu at a restaurant or look up a phone number in case of an emergency. They cannot interpret the instructions on a bottle of medicine, risking their own health and possibly their families'.

Personal costs of illiteracy are high and so are the economic and business costs. Finding a job and keeping it is no easy task for illiterates. As a result, families rely on welfare and unemployment compensation. This places a direct financial burden on business and taxpayers. On-site business costs associated with illiteracy include: absenteeism, inadequate work performance and wasted time to correct mistakes.

This does not have to be. There are public and private programs for those who need to learn how to read and for those who wish to help teach reading. Our own Milwaukee Journal and Milwaukee Sentinel has a company sponsored program called "Reading Partners." This commendable program involves tutoring students in the Milwaukee public schools who have reading disabilities. The employees receive time off each week with pay to work with a child.

If you know someone who needs help or wants to help, you can contact: CONTACT LITERACY CENTER* P.O. Box 81826, Lincoln, NE 68501-1286, 1-800-228-8813.

This is the national literacy hotline to provide referral services for students and volunteers. You can call this number for the instructional program for your community.

School Bus Danger Zones

School bus danger zones are the areas around the bus where 80 percent of all bus accidents that cause student deaths occur. National statistics show that four times as many fatalities occur outside the bus in danger zones than inside the bus.

Transportation Safety Tips

Motorists

- Stop when meeting or overtaking a stopped school bus with red lights flashing. Failure to stop at least 20 feet from the bus and remain stopped until the red lights are turned off or the bus resumes motion can bring a fine of $30 to $300.
- Honor the 15 mph speed limit when entering a school zone. Stop when the school patrol or crossing guard instructs you to do so.
- Yield the right of way to pedestrians in marked or unmarked crosswalks. Before driving across a sidewalk, yield to pedestrians.
- Watch for bicyclists. Maintain a minimum distance of three feet when passing a cyclist.

Pedestrians

- Walk on the sidewalk. If no sidewalk is available, walk on the left side of the roadway facing traffic.

- Cross in the crosswalk. Check for traffic before stepping off the curb.
- Obey traffic signals and the crossing guard.
- If your school has a designated safe route, use it.

Bicyclists

- Make sure your bicycle is the right size. You should be able to straddle your bike with both feet on the ground.
- Bicycles must be in good condition. A well-maintained bike is safer and will last longer.
- Ride with traffic on the right side of the road.
- Obey traffic signals and use hand signals to let others know what you plan to do.
- Ride single file when riding in a group. Make your own decisions instead of following the leader.
- Protect your bike by locking it up.
- Consider wearing a safety helmet. About 75 percent of all cyclists killed each year die from head injuries.

School Enrollments To Remain Steady Until 1990; Grover

About 768,000 Wisconsin public school students will return to the classroom when the 1987-88 school year begins this fall, State Superintendent Herbert J. Grover reports.

This year's estimated enrollment is essentially the same as 1986-87, when the count was 767,819. Enrollments in kindergarten through third grade are increasing, Grover noted, which should eventually result in an overall enrollment increase.

However, no significant change is expected in K-12 enrollments until 1990, he added. Although K-8 enrollments are increasing each year, the number of ninth- through twelfth-graders is expected to decrease until 1991.

These Wisconsin trends are consistent with nationwide projections from the U.S. Department of Education, Grover said. Nationwide, the education department predicted public school enrollments would reach a low in the mid-1980s. Predictions said that starting in 1985, enrollments would gradually increase in the elementary grades but would decrease in the high school grades until 1990.

July Electric Bills Higher Than Usual

If your electric bill for July is higher than usual, you've got company.

Wisconsin Electric Power Co. customers set at least four power-usage records in July as sizzling temperatures boosted electricity consumption to all-time highs. Company records show July had 325 cooling degree days, compared with 182 for a typical July.

Customer calls to Wisconsin Electric in July totaled 85,000 — up from 50,000 calls in July 1986. Much of the increase represented customers questioning higher-than-usual electric bills in June, which, like May and July, was much hotter than average.

The company anticipates a similar increase in calls during August from customers regarding July electric bills. Residential customers who have air conditioning may see bills that are $10 to $25 higher than normal for a typical July.

While many customers used much more electricity than usual because of the heat, Wisconsin Electric delivered all the power they needed, said Bill Boston, senior vice president. "Unseasonably hot July weather and its effect on cooling, refrigeration and ventilation equipment was the key factor in pushing peak demand to these new highs," Boston said.

"Our employees worked hard to make sure everyone got the electricity they needed for home or business. Aside from several severe storms that caused brief but widespread power outages during the month, we were able to meet large power demands without any serious problems.

"Our available reserve capacity, plus the ability to purchase power, provided for the additional needs of WE customers," Boston said.

Among records set during July on the WE system:

° On July 19, hot weather pushed peak demand up to 3,121,000 kilowatts — the highest ever for a Sunday.

° On July 20, Wisconsin Electric customers demanded an all-time peak of 4,068,000 kilowatts, beating the July 18, 1986, record of 3,810,000 kilowatts.

° On July 23, WE customers used 80,112,000 kilowatt-hours (KWH) of electricity in a 24-hour period — the first time consumption throughout a single day has ever exceeded 80,000,000 KWH.

° In the fourth week of July, WE customers used a record amount of electricity — about 11 percent more than any previous week in history.

Aug. 1 saw another record as the company set an all-time peak demand for a Saturday of 3,233,000 kilowatts.

In order to meet such demand, the company on several days operated all available coal, nuclear, and hydroelectric plants and some oil-fired generating units.

In addition, WE bought some power from neighboring utilities at various times during the month. It also sold power to them when available.

A small number of industrial customers on special interruptible service had their power cut briefly on July 20 when the all-time peak demand was recorded, helping WE reduce the demand requirement by about 20,000 kilowatts. Those customers receive regular monthly credits for allowing brief and occasional service cutoffs.

While meeting the month's high power demands WE also requested its sixth rate decrease in three years. The 1.4 percent overall decrease is awaiting approval from the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin. It resulted from WE successes in renegotiating coal shipping contracts and realizing lower-than-expected costs for fuel and purchased power.

New Speeding Point System Now in Effect

The demerit point system for speeding is much simpler now under a new Wisconsin law that went into effect July 21.

Norbert K. Anderson, administrator of the State Department of Transportation's Division of Motor Vehicles, said the law eliminates the escalating point system by which speeders used to be charged more points if they had prior speeding citations.

Anderson said the law is simple now. "Drivers caught speeding up to 10 mph over the limit get three points; from 11 to 19 mph over the limit results in four points; 20 or more over the limit costs six points," he explained.

"Drivers who get 12 or more demerit points for traffic violations within any 12-month period have their licenses revoked or suspended," he added.

The law also eliminates a provision under which the DOT used to suspend drivers who accumulated 18 points in 24 months — or 24 points in 36 months.

Anderson said only those violations which occur within a 12-month period are counted now.

Since the escalator point system went into effect in July 1980, as part of a state energy-conservation law, it has caused considerable confusion, Anderson said.

"When drivers receive a citation for speeding," he said, "they often ask the arresting officer how many points they will receive. Drivers used to be upset when the actual points assessed turned out to be more, because the arresting officer had not been aware of previous speeding convictions and quoted the minimum point total."

Other portions of Wisconsin's point system law remain unchanged. Anderson said drivers with probationary licenses will still receive two extra points for all convictions after the first, and convictions will be used for a full five-year period for determining habitual traffic offender status.

"Under the habitual offender law," Anderson said, "drivers are revoked for five years if they are convicted of 12 or more moving violations — including speeding — or four or more major convictions, including drunk driving, reckless driving, eluding an officer, or operating after a revocation." Anderson said.

Generally, drivers who accumulate between 12 and 16 points in a year are suspended for two months, while those with 17 to 22 points receive a four-month suspension. Between 23 and 30 points, the suspension period is six months, while more than 30 points in 12 months results in a year's suspension.

However, if the driver has been previously suspended or revoked within the past five years, the penalty is a revocation instead of a suspension. The difference is that in addition to paying the $50 reinstatement fee, drivers who are revoked must reapply for a new license, pass all tests including the road test and furnish proof of financial responsibility for a period of 3 years.

Requirements for Resident Hunting, Fishing License

Persons, 18 years of age and older, are required to show proof of residency when purchasing a Wisconsin resident hunting or fishing license.

That requirement went into effect last year. Acceptable forms of identification are as follows:

1. A valid Wisconsin driver's license.
2. A Wisconsin Department of Transportation (DOT) letter of suspension or revocation.
3. A Wisconsin DOT identification card (nondriving license).
4. A Wisconsin DNR sports-person identification card.

If a resident doesn't have any of these forms of identification, a declaration of residency form can be filled out at the time of purchase of a resident license. That declaration will be processed by the Department of Natural Resources and a DNR sports-person card will be issued. It will be valid for two years as identification when purchasing a resident hunting or fishing license.

The proof of residency requirement was instituted to combat fraud. In past years, some nonresidents took advantage of the loose identification requirements by using fabricated names, house numbers and streets to obtain the lower priced resident licenses.

S'more Pie Is Perfect Dessert For Young Cooks

After school or on an uneventful or bad weather weekend, do your children clamor for something to do? Why not team up and make a scrumptious S'more Pie together? This simple, tasty concoction will cure the kids' boredom and serve as the evening's dessert at the same time.

This creamy chocolate pudding-like mixture is made extra rich with evaporated milk. Miniature marshmallows and graham cracker crust give S'more Pie the same magic taste found in the s'more treats made 'round the campfire.

This easy-yet-elegant dessert can help even the youngest cooks develop or refine their cooking skills and boost their culinary confidence. Help take the mystery out of cooking by explaining cooking terms to the children, demonstrating measuring techniques, and showing them how to follow recipe directions.

With a little teamwork, this delicious pie can be prepared in a short time. Perhaps the most difficult part of making S'more Pie will be waiting until it's time for dessert.

S'MORE PIE (Makes one 9-inch pie)

- 1 cup sugar
 - 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 - 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 - 1 1/2 cups undiluted Carnation® evaporated milk
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 cup (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate chips
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- Crumb Crust*

Combine sugar, cornstarch, and gelatin in medium saucepan; blend thoroughly. Add evaporated milk and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture just comes to a boil and thickens slightly. Remove from heat. Stir in chocolate chips until melted and mixture is smooth. Stir in vanilla. Chill until mixture mounds on spoon. Stir occasionally. Stir in marshmallows. Spoon into Crumb Crust. Chill thoroughly, 4 hours or overnight.

CRUMB CRUST: Combine 1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs, 1/2 cup melted butter, and 1/4 cup sugar; mix well. Press onto bottom and up sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10 to 15 minutes or until edges begin to brown. Cool.

Roethke Hopes Olympics Are in Her Future

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Indianapolis, Indiana, was the site for last week's Pan American Games and a gold medal victory for Lynn Roethke, 26, formerly of West Bend.

Roethke, a veteran in Judo competition, participated in the 134 pound class, defeating three tough opponents to earn the gold. In quarter final competition, Roethke won a decision over Susana Caballero of Cuba, and was awarded her second win on penalty calls against Amanda Clayton of Canada. In her third and final match, Roethke took a close decision over Natasha Hernandez of Venezuela.

Roethke, now of Nassau, New York, had a hometown fan club rooting her on as thirty West Bend residents, including her parents Joyce and Chuck, traveled to Indiana to see the matches. Twenty friends from Indianapolis also joined the group to help cheer her on to victory.

The Pan Am win was a major victory and another rung up the ladder of competition for Roethke as she works to earn a berth at the Olympic Games. Roethke still has a lot of work and more competition ahead of her. While her prospects of being invited to the games are very good, she must still finish in one of the top three slots in European competition this November. Roethke could also be eliminated if someone from another Western Hemisphere nation wins the world title.

It is expected that only eight women will be selected for each weight class competition when Judo makes its debut at the Olympic Games next year.

THIEMERDOME THURSDAY GOODTIME LEAGUE

Barrel Haus	2	0
Thornton's Thunderers	1	1
B.J. & CO.	1	1
Bartelt Ins.	0	2

highlights

A soggy drizzle greeted the teams this past week. It also effectively held down attendance as many fans still don't believe the dome story. However, the action went on as usual.

The 1st game saw Bartelt Ins. lose again, compliments of Barrel Haus 8-2. Even WD-40 applied to the bats of the Bartelt squad failed to get rid of all the rust that has accumulated this year. It could be that new arms and legs may be needed. Once again it was one bad inning that did Rags Pfeiffer and the Bartelt team in. The only bright spot on the Bartelt team this year has been the pin point pitching and hard hitting of Mike "Rags" Pfeiffer.

In a tearful announcement last week Rags stated to the press corps, that he was retiring from competitive softball after this year to devote more time to his new found golf game and also to spend more time with the grandchild. Rags competitive spirit on the field and his post-game presence will be missed. A farewell dance is being planned at the Hyatt Regency in Milwaukee later this fall. Watch for announcements in the Statesman and the Chicago Tribune.

The 2nd game saw a rejuvenated Thornton team crunch B.J.&CO. 17-8. Everyone on the Thornton squad got into the act as a new cover had to be sewn on the softball after the 5th inning. B.J.&CO. still played long ball as Randy Fechter and Lee Schultz both hit moon shots over the deepest part of the field. The player of the game no doubt was Dennis "No Baloney" Maloney. He made several defensive plays on the mound that were hard to believe even on the instant replay. He attributes his new found agility to moderation in all things and daily aerobics. However, in a candid interview after the game he indicated if anyone wanted to reach him the next day he could be found in traction at St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend.

This coming week is the last game of the season. If B.J.&Co. defeats Barrel Haus and Thornton's Thunderers can beat Bartelt Ins. the league would end up in a 3 way tie; a commissioners nightmare.

Fans are urged to arrive early for preferred parking for this final night at the Dome. SPECIAL*

A new addition at the Thiemerdomes grounds are the addition of a branch sales office at the rear of Richard Theimer Jr. Barber Shop which will be occupied by Honeck Chev. Lakes Team Tips Benders 2 Times

The Kewaskum Land o' Lakes League team halted the West Bend Benders, 9-4, Thursday night at Carl Kuss Field, West Bend. Tim Heberer scattered five hits going the route while Kewaskum connected for 12. Chip Faehling lasted only three innings for the Benders, while Bryan Goehring worked the last six.

Dave Donath's two RBI double was a big blow in the third, while Klay Shannon of the Benders and Ron Theusch of the winners provided home runs. Kewaskum put the game out of reach with four runs in the sixth. Terry Koth, a member of the University of Wisconsin baseball team, went 3 for 4 and scored two runs.

In a home game played on Saturday, Aug. 1, Kewaskum also swamped the Benders, 18-7. The visitors were the victims of one big inning as Kewaskum pushed over nine runs in the fifth on seven hits. West Bend rallied with five runs in the eighth but it was far short. Goehring went 4 x 5 for the Benders, while Yahr and Geidel each had three hits for Kewaskum, the latter's including a home run.
