County Incineration, Next Step Feasibility Study

Village Considering Aeration For Swimming Pond at Kiwanis Park

By GERRY MUELLER

The cost, smell and limited success of using chemicals to keep the Kewaskum Kiwanis Park's swimming pond clear of weeds, minnows, etc., had led the village to look into the possibility of installing an aeration system.

At Monday night's meeting the Village Board viewed a slide presentation by Robert Langjahr of Aquatic Biologists, Inc., of Fond du Lac, on the use of aeration systems to improve and maintain water quality in lakes and ponds.

Parks Committee Chairman Tom McElhatton said the system was being brought to the board's attention as a possible alternative and better way to solve the problem of keeping the pond's water clean and weed free.

Langjahr told the board a preliminary estimate for the system and installation would run $4,700. All year round aeration of the pond would cost $700.

Administrator Dan Schmidt noted the operation cost was considerably less than what the village has been paying each summer just for chemicals. We've spent $1,000 on HTH and that does not include algecide, said Schmidt. The pond has also been dredged out.

McElhatton said a survey of eight neighboring communities showed their problems were basically the same as Kewaskum's. On the question of aeration, three of the eight were considering it. The City of Winneconne indicated it had already installed aerators from Aquatic Biologists. The County of Winnebago was installing system in 1988, and the Village of Ashwaubenon is planning for installation. The City of West Bend is using a waterfall to provide new water for aeration. As a nearby example of the system, Langjahr suggested the trustees look at Mercury Marine's pond along Highway 41, in Fond du Lac.

The aeration proposal will be studied and discussed further.

In other business, Trustee Mary Krueger updated the board on the County Incineration Committee's last meeting. She said the next step will be a feasibility study. So far preliminary bids for the study have ranged from $5,000 to $39,000. She noted the low bid had already been ruled out since it would not have provided a thorough report.

"If we're going to do this, it has to be financed," said Krueger, "and all the communities are going to have to make a commitment." She said the cost of the study would be assessed to each participating community according to population, from approximately 50c to $1.00 per person. The committee has decided not to exceed $50,000 for the study, said Krueger.

Krueger said the committee is also looking at setting up an Incineration Authority District. That way the communities would have some control over the operation and cost.

Krueger was asked what communities were willing to participate. She was not exactly sure. She did, however, know that Germantown, Slinger and Hartford had indicated they were not interested. Trustee Richard Schmidt noted that could change later on. "Look at the Towns of Kewaskum and Wayne; they thought their dumps would last forever and the picture has changed drastically from them already."

Krueger indicated that if communities were not in on the project from the beginning it was possible that some kind of buy-in fee would be charged to any group who wanted to join the district after it was established.

The board directed Schmidt to draw up a resolution of financial support for action at the next meeting.

Krueger also said representatives from Wisconsin Electric had been at the meeting and said the company would buy excess energy the plant generated. She noted there were two options which

Explanation of the 1987-88 Proposed School Budget

by: Cherna A. Gorder
Business Manager

The electorate will be asked to approve a budget of $6,909,000 for general operations and $63,779 for debt service at next Monday evening's Annual Meeting. The amount for general operations represents a 5.66% increase over the 1986-87 actual expenditures. The actual dollar amount of the increase is $369,940. The amount for debt service (long-term debt) represents a decrease of 8.34% from last year's actual expenditures of $69,101. This decrease is a result of the Bilgo land contract being paid off earlier this year, and decreased payments on the State Trust Fund loan.

The district's total long-term debt is now at $266,670. Based on the equalized value of the taxpayers' property of the district ($250,190,020), this debt correlates to a remaining principal balance of $75 on a $70,000 home.

The combined costs for salaries and fringe benefits account for 77% of the total budget. The dollar increase budgeted for total salaries and benefits is $437,519. Administrative personnel costs will decrease by approximately $25,000 this year with the combining of the Kewaskum Middle School principal's position and the Director of Instruction's position. The number of teachers will increase by 2.85 FTE to 116.5 FTE teachers for 1987-88; and the number of support personnel will remain the same. Approximately $462,500 has been budgeted for the increased salary and fringe benefits for teachers and support personnel and to cover the cost of the new professional staff.

Costs for the remainder of the 1987-88 budget will decrease by $67,579 as compared to last year's actual expenditures. Major reductions include $16,000 in property insurance as the district is now insured under the local government property fund; and, a reduction of $54,000 in the area of new equipment.

New projects for this budget include the AODA training workshops, IBM computers for

Bettin Publishes 30-Day Devotional Guide

An article in the September 1987 issue of Habitat World, the monthly newspaper of Habitat for Humanity, an international Christian Ecumenical project of housing for the poor, features news of a 30-day devotional guide written by Betty A. Bettin, wife of Rev. James Bettin of Peace U.C.C. Church, Kewaskum. Just published, the 30 cards carrying devotions accompany a cardboard house bank and are available free to individuals, churches, or lay organizations desiring to support the work of Habitat.

Each card is "a nudge to awareness from observations in the life of just one person," Bettin writes in her preface to the guide as she addresses the problems of inadequate living conditions for the poor in the U.S. and the world — situations she herself has witnessed. From cities and towns in Wisconsin and Indiana to slums in Buffalo, New York City, and Chicago; from Florida, Louisiana, Arizona, and in South America, too — there are poignant situations that the far-reaching ministry of Habitat can remedy. This project comes at the time of world-wide emphasis on the International Day of Prayer and Action for Human Habitat, observed in many churches on September 20.

These devotions were written by Bettin following a volunteer request from the Media Center at the Georgia Habitat Headquarters prior to the July Habitat work project in Nashville, Tennessee, which involved 15 members of Peace Church, including the Bettins. Darlene Tessar of Kewaskum volunteered her typing skills for the preparations of the manuscript.

Organizations or individuals desiring devotional guide and house bank kits may obtain them by writing the Development Department, Habitat for Humanity, Habitat and Church Streets, Americus, Georgia 31709. The recipient's name, address, and number of kits desired free should be included in all requests. The thrust of the guide states, "It is not what we have but what we share that matters."

The Habitat World article also reviewed Betty Bettin's recently published Christian drama, "Profits Down, Prophets Up." This was presented at Peace Church in June.

Kleinhans Attends Statewide Administrator Conference

Penelope Kleinhans, administrator of the Kewaskum School District, joined more than 400 other Wisconsin school district administrators in Madison, September 16 and 17, at the annual State Superintendent's Conference for District Administrators. The conference theme was "Education: A Family Affair."

"In their conference talks and sectional discussions, guest speakers focused on the importance of family involvement in the educational process," Kleinhans noted. "They presented formal research and common sense ideas that show that children do better in school when their families take an active interest in what they are learning."

"In the program presented by William Banach, past president of the National School Public Relations Association, the management of issues important to education was discussed and the top issues for 1987 were identified. In addition to Mr. Banach, conference speakers included: Kyle Rote Jr., former professional soccer player and president of Master Sports, Inc.; Joyce Epstein, principle research scientist at the Center for Research on Elementary Schools, John Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.; Donald Percy, former secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services and chairperson of the Year of the Family in Education Advisory Committee; and June Gabler, president of the American Association of School Administrators and superintendent of the Fort Dodge Community Schools in Iowa," Kleinhans said.

"Information I gathered at the conference will be used to help in planning and setting goals for the Kewaskum District in the future. Particularly the report from the Governor's Local Property Tax Relief Commission may be significant for us," Kleinhans said.

The State Superintendent's Conference for School District Administrators is an event required by state statute. It is convened each year soon after the opening of public schools.

JC's to Hold Open House

Kewaskum JC's will be holding an open house on Oct. 5th with Washington County Social Services Access Supervisor, Ruth Reines, to speak on Child Abuse.

We would all like to think this occurs in big metropolitan areas, but the truth is, it is here, in Washington County, which Kewaskum is a part of.

Please join us. The JC's will learn some facts, and signs to watch for, in coping with parent stress of raising our children and protecting the young of our community.

Open house will be held on the lower level, Savings and Loan Building. Use the back entrance.

the high school (with the Apple computers going to the elementary schools to begin replacement of the Commodore computers), and a part-time Gifted and Talented coordinator. In addition, the district is continuing to replace and upgrade textbooks and instructional materials.

The proposed revenues for the general fund are $6,750,000. This amount plus $159,000 from fund equity will provide the $6,909,000 needed to finance the budget. Fund equity will be decreased from $1,484,590 to $1,325,590.

The proposed general fund net tax levy will decrease by $193,452 and the proposed debt service levy will decrease by $5,000 for a total levy reduction of $198,452. The new levy of $3,221,500 will bring the district back to the tax levy of 1984-85 when the levy was $3,220,287. The new levy represents a reduction of 5.8% over last year's net levy.

The purchase of an in-house computer system for business purposes and the purchase of our own telephone system are just two examples of permanent reductions that have been made in the budget this past year.

A major initiative to effectuate further savings is the current energy savings program relative to electricity and direct purchase of gas for heating.

Improved borrowing procedures and wise investment practices have produced additional revenues for the district.

The projected equalized mill rate of $13.55 per thousand dollars of property value is based on a projected decrease of 5% in equalized value of the district. When compared to last year's equalized mill rate of $13.67, this represents a 12 cents or 1% decrease. If the equalized value of the district had not gone down, the mill rate would have declined to $12.88 which represents a 5.8% reduction.

The Budget and Annual Meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. on Monday, September 28 in the multi-purpose room at Kewaskum High School.

could be used to sell that power. Krueger said the committee hoped to have lawyers at the next meeting to discuss the legalities and procedure for setting up an incineration district.

Trustee Charles Boegel also addressed the subject of beginning some type of recycling program. The board agreed with his comments. "If we go to incineration you will have to have mandatory recycling and it would be easier to start out on a voluntary basis now," said Krueger. Boegel said his Public Works Committee would set up a meeting to look into recycling programs.

In other action the board okayed pre-road construction work for the new industrial park.

The board also received some preliminary budget figures. Schmidt noted the village had received notice that it will receive an estimated $47,520 in transportation aids for 1988, a 10% or $4,320 increase over 1987. State shared revenues have been estimated at approximately $389,000, up 1.44% over 1987. While that sounds good, said Schmidt, it is also bad. It means our economic growth has been slow. The slower your growth, the more help you need, he noted.

In other action the board approved a building permit to Scott Thelen for a garage and tabled action on the hiring of an assistant librarian.

Butenhoff Speaks to KHS Students

Tom Butenhoff, vice president of Kidder, Peabody and Company of Milwaukee, spoke to Kewaskum High School students about America's free enterprise system and how it works. Statesman photo by Gerry Mueller

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Tom Butenhoff, vice president of Kidder, Peabody & Company, Milwaukee, and a well-known financial analyst with his own radio program, addressed Kewaskum students recently.

Butenhoff spoke to approximately 100 students from the high school's Economics, Current Affairs and World History classes about America's free enterprise system. He told the group that each individual is a part of that system and everyone should and must know how that system works if it is to continue to succeed, grow and prosper.

Butenhoff's address stresses that individual freedom, one of the most fundamental and cherished of human goals, is the basis of our political free society. And the private enterprise system is the economic counterpart of the political free society.

In spite of its record, the system is being eroded by deviating from that ideal and giving more and more power to government. A collection of problems including inflation, unemployment and growing concentrations of economic power and poverty amidst plenty have resulted in a hodgepodge of controls and regulations which have reduced the effectiveness of our markets and seriously limited our economic freedoms. That has resulted in a serious reduction in the rate of economic growth and a loss of much of our economy's vitality.

Butenhoff feels everyone has a stake in the future of American enterprise and it offers limitless opportunities to everyone. However until every person understands how the economic system works, and they see the connection between the system's organization and individual welfare, the American enterprise system remains in jeopardy.

Butenhoff travels throughout Wisconsin and other parts of the country addressing approximately fifty to sixty adult groups a year. He has been lecturing on the free enterprise system for about twelve years. Butenhoff makes about a dozen speeches a year to Wisconsin student groups which are sponsored by the West Bend Company National Management Association, which is working with other organizations in an effort to strengthen the American people's understanding of the Free Enterprise System.

Ice Age Hike-A-Thon Set for Oct. 3rd

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

The First Annual Ice Age Hike-A-Thon has been scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 3, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. All proceeds from the event will go toward preserving and completing the 1,000-mile Ice Age Trail.

The Ice Age Trail is one of the only eight national scenic trails. It began as the dream of Milwaukeean Ray Zilmer who wanted to preserve evidence of the Great Wisconsin Glacier which covered most of the state 10,000 years ago. Zilmer's hope was to create a 1,000-mile long national park which would tell how the land was formed while affording millions of people the chance to enjoy the outdoors.

In 1964, the Ice Age Law created the Ice Age National Scientific Reserve in Wisconsin. Later legislation and government financing helped to complete 400 miles of the trail. The remaining 600 miles of trail must now be completed by private fundraising which is beginning with the statewide Hike-A-Thon.

Locally the Hike-A-Thon will begin and end at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County Campus in West Bend. Participants can hike six to twelve miles between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., on Saturday, October 3rd. Registration is free: Write to Wisconsin Ice Age Trail, P.O. Box 611, 1236 North 18th Street, Sheboygan, Wisconsin, 53082-0611, or call 377-8456 for more information.

Driver Held After Chase, Kewaskum Man Is Passenger

A 19-year-old West Bend man was being held in jail last Wednesday after he led police on a high-speed chase Tuesday night at which speeds exceeded 100 miles per hour.

The chase began on Highway 41 near Church Road, Town of Byron, when a sheriff's officer clocked the 19-year-old driver traveling 91 miles per hour at 11:35 p.m. Tuesday.

The northbound car turned east onto County Trunk B and headed to Eden and then south on County Trunk V to Campbellsport. The car traveled through Campbellsport at 80 miles per hour, police said.

Sheriff's officers chased the vehicle into Washington County to Highway 45, and the vehicle turned onto Y and headed back to Campbellsport. Two other squad cars assisted in stopping the vehicle at Highways 67 and Y in Campbellsport. No injuries and no damage resulted from the 17-minute chase.

The driver faced five traffic violations and a charge of underage drinking. Two passengers, a 19-year-old Kewaskum man and an 18-year-old woman from West Bend, also are charged with underage drinking.

The driver was released from the Fond du Lac County Jail on Wednesday after posting bond in excess of $500, according to the county clerk and his court date was set for Sept. 28.

Radios, Truck Stolen, Van Catches on Fire

Brian Enright, Kewaskum, said his radio was taken from the dashboard of a truck owned by Michels Pipe Line Construction Co. The $100 radio was stolen between 4:30 p.m. Friday and 6 a.m. Monday.

A 40-channel citizens band radio was taken from a truck parked at 2305 E. Newark Drive, Farmington. Charles S. Dachs of 2276 E. Newark Drive, reported the break-in Thursday, saying it occurred during the past week.

A 1975 pickup truck was recovered about 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Turner Hall in Fillmore after it was stolen at about 3 a.m. that day in Farmington. Earl W. Heisler, 59, of 1460 Scenic Drive, said that he awoke to the sound of a motor starting as someone apparently stole it from his driveway. Heisler saw it later in the day as he drove past the hall.

No one was injured when a van caught on fire 5:50 p.m. Saturday while northbound on State 41 at County D in Wayne. The Kohlsville Fire Department extinguished the flames. The fire was likely due to a mechanical or electrical problem with the van.

Kewaskum Area United Way Supports Council on Alcohol, Drug Abuse

One of the many worthwhile organizations supported by the Kewaskum United Way campaign is the Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse of Washington County.

The mission of the Council, located at 548 S. Main St., West Bend, is to provide information and skills which will reduce alcohol and other drug abuse and addiction and the associated stigma.

This is achieved by raising awareness, expanding knowledge, and promoting attitudes and behaviors that encourage early intervention, effective rehabilitation and the ultimate prevention of alcohol and other drug abuse problems.

Jerry Gosa, co-chairman of the Kewaskum United Way campaign, said that "The Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse of Washington County offers individuals and families assistance in objectively and realistically assessing their alcohol and/or drug use. And, if deemed necessary, the Council offers further help in modifying or stopping the use of alcohol and other drugs."

Following is a summary of the services offered by the Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse of Washington County:

Prevention Program — Making a decision regarding alcohol and other drug use is one of the most important decisions many people will make in their lifetimes. The Prevention Program operates on the premise that qualities such as personal values, meaning and integrity, self-esteem, and interpersonal skills all act as natural immunities against alcohol and other drug abuse. Some of the prevention activities include classroom presentations and speaking to ongoing groups for youths, weekly educational services which are free and open to the public, ongoing public awareness media programs such as the "focus" radio and "reflections" television programs, and maintenance of a resource library of accurate, updated information.

Intervention Program — The Council's Intervention and Outreach Program provides services designed to identify individuals in need of alcohol and drug abuse services, including crisis intervention, community outreach, assessment, diagnosis and evaluation, and referral.

Information and Referral — The Council provides information and referral services to individual inquiries about alcohol, drugs and associated areas. Additionally, it provides follow-up services, helping ensure service coordination to needed resources.

Intake Assessment [OWI] — The Intoxicated Driver Program involves the assessment and diagnosis of the extent of alcohol/drug involvement in the conviction of an Operating While Intoxicated charge. In addition, a traffic safety plan is developed by the assessor, which clinically is considered a client treatment plan.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Jeffrey Schiek, who passed away one year ago, September 29, 1986:

God saw he was getting tired,
So he was not to be,
And he put his arms around him
And whispered "Come with Me."

With tearful eyes we watched him suffer,
And saw him fade away,
Although we loved him dearly,
We could not make him stay.
His golden heart stopped beating,
Hard working hands to rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us.

He only takes the best.
Deeply missed by his wife,
Sandy, and daughter Kristin.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE MANY GOOD PEOPLE OF THIS AREA:

Last Friday evening a benefit dance was held for my husband, Willie Goeden, at the Amerahn's in Kewaskum.

Virgil and Mary Hackbarth; Bill and Clare Lehmann and family; Ken Weddig, Cindy Marquardt; Butch Winninghoff; members of the Kewaskum Sno-Chiefs and others helped to organize the dance. The weather didn't cooperate, but that didn't seem to make any difference. A huge crowd was on hand and it was a very successful event!!! Relatives and friends came from Cleveland, Ohio; Chicago, Ill.; Escanaba, Mich.; and Cable, Wis., to join in the fun. With the many family members and friends from this area, it was indeed a memorable night for our family.

There are others that helped to make the dance complete and I would like to thank them publicly.

We appreciate the efforts of the four bands that gave of their time and great music: Normie Dogs; Bill Thull Orchestra; Ralph Buchel/Joey Klass Orchestra; and Annie and the Playboys. Everyone was very pleased and impressed with the last hour of music when they had the "rally-of-the-bands."

Our thanks also goes out to Ken and Larry of K&L Hardware; Earl and Marie of Amerahns; and the families of "Hefty" and Randy Backhaus, for their help to make this event possible.

The traffic and parking problem was handled in a very courteous manner by the Washington County Sheriff's Dept. and the Kewaskum Police Dept. We extend a thank you for their cooperation.

And last but not least we send our sincere gratitude to the five car dealers in the West Bend area; Tennes Buick; Bob Fish; Schwartzburg Olds; Russ Darrow; and Royale Ford. The total of their efforts and contributions continues to show just how people join and work together when they are needed.

As most of you readers know, Willie was seriously injured in a late model racing event at the Wisconsin International Raceway at Kaukauna on May 7th. It will take time and patience as we continue with therapy at St. Elizabeth's in Appleton. The paralyzed nerve to the left eye is still a hindrance for writing, driving, and his equilibrium. Willie is taking this in stride and we see improvement in his endurance and strength. He looks great, and we think he is doing very well for the short length of time.

Willie is overwhelmed with emotion as we reminisce about the entire benefit event.

So on behalf of the Goeden Family....we can only again repeat the words that sincerely express our gratitude....Love and Thank you.

Jeanne Goeden

Social Security Checks to Be Early

Monthly Social Security checks which are normally delivered on the third of October will be delivered on October 2nd instead, according to Dave Becker, manager of the West Bend Social Security office.

"Benefit checks are mailed early when the usual delivery date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal Holiday," Becker said. "In these instances, the checks are dated and delivered on the first day before the third of the month that is not a Saturday, Sunday or Holiday."

Becker stated that this procedure helps reduce the problems that people have when they receive their checks and their banks are closed. These situations occur several times during the year, and Becker advised that SSA would provide similar information about future early check delivery dates as they occur.

Cloth dolls, Santa and Mrs. Santa, and a sleigh with a 16" reindeer and Santa, will be among the dolls to be sold by Pearl Searing of New Berlin at her booth at the Junior Women's Annual "Kettle Country Christmas" Art and Craft Fair to be held at Amerahn on Sunday, Nov. 29. One of the dolls is a four faced doll with a head that turns and sucks its own thumb.

Governor Plans To Hike to Help Ice Age Trail

Gov. Tommy G. Thompson is among the state celebrities who plan to hike October 3 in almost every region of Wisconsin on completed portions of the Ice Age National Scenic Trail. His appearance is part of plans for a volunteer hike-a-thon to raise money to complete the trail, a 1,000-mile strip of land outlining the edge of the furthest advance of the glacier in Wisconsin.

The Ice Age Park and Trail Foundation is hoping to raise $40,000 from hikers' pledges at each of 11 finished stretches of the trail.

Four hundred miles are completed on the trail, which has been in the works for 30 years. Rights to the remaining 600 miles must be acquired mainly from private landowners through the efforts and donations of volunteers and private business.

"You could walk across Wisconsin from your front door," said Trail Coordinator Gary Werner, Madison, who has said that the biggest potential loss of the historic and recreational land is in heavily developing areas such as Waukesha County. Ironically, urbanities have most to gain from being able to use the trail without going far from home.

Part of the trail was designated in 1980 as a National Scenic Trail. The National Park Service is overseeing the trail in cooperation with the state Department of Natural Resources, the Ice Age Trail Council and the Ice Age Park and Trail Foundation.

Volunteers who wish to gather pledge money and walk on the trail October 3 may contact The Ice Age Trail "Take A Walk On The Wild Side" Hike-A-Thon at 1236 N. 18th St., Sheboygan, WI 53082-0611.

Braun - Miske

The wedding ceremony uniting Debra Rose Braun of Milwaukee and Stan James Miske of West Bend, took place Friday afternoon, June 19 at the Cedar Valley chapel in Kohlsville.

Reverend Mel Lawrenz from Elmbrook Church in Waukesha officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Braun of West Bend and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Miske of Allenton.

The bride wore her mother's wedding dress. The heirloom gown made of ivory lace over satin was styled with a fitted bodice trimmed with sequins. A floral wreath of ivory silk flowers, lavender babies breath and fresh stephanotis complimented the fingertip-length veil with lace edging.

Nancy Stoffel of Kewaskum, friend of the bride, was the matron of honor and Christopher Smith of West Bend, friend of the groom, was the best man.

Sharing ushering duties were Keith Braun, brother of the bride and Steven Miske, brother of the groom.

Scripture lessons were read by Steven Miske and Paul Braun, the bride's brother. Dave Douglas, brother-in-law of the groom, sang an opening solo and later a duet with his wife, Karen Douglas.

Guests gathered for a dinner reception in the Cedar Valley House of Leaven dining room after the ceremony.

The bride graduated from Mount Mary College in Milwaukee with a BA in public relations/journalism, and is employed as an underwriter at West Bend Mutual Insurance Company.

Her husband graduated from the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee with a BBA in accounting/finance. Stan is employed as an accountant at the West Bend Company.

After a two-week honeymoon in Door County, northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, the newlyweds reside in West Bend.

WITH THE NEW WHIRLPOOL TIGHTFIST® II GAS FURNACE,

YOU GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR!

But with the new Whirlpool Tightfist® II gas furnace*, up to 96% of the energy you pay for is actually used to heat your home! Only 4% is wasted. That's real efficiency. And it can make a substantial difference in your fuel bill, too. So why pay for energy you're not getting the use of? Call today and let us help you lower your fuel bill!

Students Celebrate Constitution's 200th Birthday

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Schools throughout the district held celebrations to mark the 200th birthday of America's Constitution.

As part of the festivities, the Robert G. Romaine American Legion Post #384, presented the Kewaskum Middle School with twenty new American flags. The post provided a flag for every classroom and the gym. Legionnaire Merv Thompson, who presented the flags on behalf of the post, reminded the students during a special program that the United States Constitution is the oldest continuously used constitution in the world. It affects the way all Americans live and work every day. In his address to the school assembly Thompson asked, "When was the last time you heard, 'it's a free country, isn't it'?"

Music for the program was provided by the Kewaskum High School Band.

At the Kewaskum Elementary School, outside activities were rained out. In their place a short program with an address by principal Richard Zarling was held in the gym.

Holy Trinity Catholic School celebrated the event with a special mass and a flagraising ceremony at its new flagpole.

Kewaskum Elementary School students and teachers recited the Pledge of Allegiance during a short program marking the 200th birthday of the U.S. Constitution.

Merv Thompson of the Robert G. Romaine American Legion Post No. 384, presented 20 flags to the Kewaskum Middle School.

UWWC's Theatre on the Hill Selects 'The Glass Menagerie' for Fall Production

Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" has been selected as the fall production of the Theatre on the Hill at the University of Wisconsin Center - Washington County.

Production dates are Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays on the weekends of Oct. 30 to Nov. 1 and Nov. 6 to 8. The traditional pre-opening Dean's Night benefit performance for the theatre is set for Oct. 29.

Brad Ford, artistic director of the theatre, said he picked the play because he "wanted a show that was dramatic rather than comedic" for the fall. Williams' work, he added, "is considered an American stage classic."

This will be the first time Ford has directed a Tennessee Williams production. "I've wanted to," he said, "but I've had too many other shows on my priority list."

Ford is enjoying his initiation into Williams. "His script has very explicit directions on how to deal with the show," he said. "Even the stage directions are very beautiful."

"The characters play a lot in the shadows. The lighting is from unrealistic angles. Williams' theory is that by making the lighting as theatrical as possible, audiences will focus on the characters' inner personalities."

A bachelor is a fellow who can take a nap on the top of a bedspread.

Kewaskum Middle School students assembled for a celebration marking the 200th birthday of the Constitution. Middle School teachers Margaret Pecher and Dale Squier addressed the assembly and Merv Thompson presented the school American flags.

On Wednesday, Sept. 16, Holy Trinity School, like schools all across the nation, joined in celebrating the signing of the Constitution of the United States of America 200 years ago.

One of the highlights of this day included having students and teachers dress in red, white and blue.

An all-school mass was held. The American flag and Papal flag were carried into church as part of a special flag ceremony. The songs that were sung were especially picked to emphasize the freedoms and beauty of our country. Because of the rainy weather our new flag, which was installed on the new flagpole next to the church, was blessed directly after mass instead of outside.

For lunch all the children enjoyed a specially baked cupcake with a flag on it in keeping with a patriotic theme.

In the afternoon all the grades watched the special ceremonies on TV.

Grades 5 through 8 also had a guest speaker, Mr. Henry Renard, Family Court Commissioner, who talked to them about the Constitution and its background.

The American flag and the Papal flag were carried to the front altar in Holy Trinity Church as part of a special flag ceremony at the all school Mass on Wednesday, Sept. 16. It was part of the school's celebration of the signing of the Constitution of the United States 200 years ago.

Schools to Dismiss Early on Sept. 28

The Kewaskum schools, public and parochial, will dismiss early on September 28 for a staff work program.

The high school, middle school, Holy Trinity and St. Lucas will release between 11:00 and 11:10 with buses leaving at 11:30 so they should arrive home approximately three and a half (3½) hours early.

The Kewaskum, Wayne and Farmington Elementary schools will dismiss at 12 noon with the buses leaving at 12:30 so these students should also arrive home approximately (3½) three and a half hours early. There will not be an A.M. or P.M. kindergarten on the 28th.

This announcement is made so parents can prepare and make arrangements to have students arrive home early.

The other two days when we will have a similar schedule will be February 19 and May 2 as per the Kewaskum District calendar.

Parents spend the first 12 months teaching their baby to walk and talk. Then they spend the next 12 years teaching him to sit down and shut up.

The American flag donated by the Robert G. Romaine Post No. 384 American Legion, and the new flag pole erected last week on Holy Trinity school grounds, were blessed on Friday. A prayer was said by Father Berghammer and the Pledge of Allegiance was recited by the school children followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

How to Give Your Medicine Chest a 'Fall Cleaning'

Autumn. It's time to clean out the garage, wash the windows and do all those other things that go with "fall cleaning."

But one area is usually neglected — your medicine chest. A little attention now ensures your medicines are effective when you need them.

"You should weed out your medicines at least once a year," said Neal Breier Jr., pharmacist with Walgreens, the nationwide drugstore chain. "Any change in the appearance, odor or color of a medication might mean a chemical reaction has affected the product's safety or effectiveness."

To avoid problems and make sure your medicine is at peak effectiveness, discard drugs a year after they were first opened. Expiration dates are marked on some prescription and over-the-counter medications. Write the month and year of purchase on the ones that aren't dated. Check the medications you already have for deterioration — and if you find any problems, flush the medicine down the toilet, peel off and destroy the prescription label, then put the empty containers in the garbage.

"No one wants to throw out a substantial investment in medicine every year," Breier said. "Plan ahead — buy the smallest quantity you can of medicines you don't use often. And keep each medication tightly capped to prolong its shelf life."

Some additional tips:

- Leave medicines in their original amber containers; the color helps protect them from light. Never keep medication on a windowsill.
- Don't mix two or more different medicines in the same container.
- Store tablets and dry medications in a cool, dry place — not in a steamy bathroom. Moisture can cause a chemical breakdown of dry medicines.
- Don't save eye drops that have been prescribed for infected eyes. Bacteria can breed in a closed vial of eye drops, and you'll reinfect your eyes when you reuse the product.

Turkey Shoot Tops Last Year's Take

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

Like the Kewaskum Firemen's parade, Lions Club Bar-B-Q, and Early Farm Days, the Kiwanians were not to be spared from having this year's fundraiser rained on.

Although it was "another" wet week-end, it failed to deter the event's faithful attendants as a steady flow of participants and spectators came throughout the day to try their luck at the various activities during the club's 35th Annual Turkey Shoot.

While people had to maneuver around, over, and sometimes through, water and mud puddles, it did not stop them from succeeding in taking home enough birds and trout to make some mighty good dinners.

As in the past, people had their choice of "weapons" to claim a meal for their tables. The popular rifle line with its elusive balloons drew a steady stream of hopeful markspersons while others took on the challenge of the bow and arrow, compound bow, pistol, and trapshoot ranges. Of course we can't forget the fisherpersons (persons because some of the ladies showed their skills in bringing home the fish and fowl).

Sunday's take of 445 turkeys topped last year's count by forty birds. We felt last year had been a success giving out 405 birds, noted Kiwanian Tim Miller, but we managed to top that figure this year.

Kiwanian Wayland Tessar helped sight shots on the rifle line at the 35th Annual Kiwanis Turkey Shoot.

Cy Wietor helped a couple with their purchase at the Regal Ware truck. The cookware sale is always a big attraction at the Turkey Shoot, providing good bargains which bring customers back year after year.

A young father had his hands full at the trout pond, trying to hold on to his youngster and haul in a fish at the same time.

Photography Courses at UWWC

Over the last five years, Albert Asch has found himself facing a wide variety of people in his continuing education photography classes at the UW Center - Washington County.

They range in age, he said, from high schoolers to senior citizens who might bring "an old camera they haven't used for years." And he finds their motives range from a desire to sharpen their picture-taking skills for a trip, to acquiring expertise for their work.

Whatever their reasons, Asch said, students are self-motivated. "No one is forced to take the classes," he said. "Students are not told they need them in order to get a job.

They're there because they want to be."

That makes teaching pleasant for Asch, who works with many college classes in his role as associate professor of music at UWWC. He said, "The photography classes are absolutely the most pleasant ones I have."

This fall, Asch will teach three courses:

- INTRODUCTION TO 35 mm PHOTOGRAPHY, featuring black-and-white photography, starting Tuesday, Sept. 29, and running for four weeks from 7 to 9:30 p.m., fee $45.

- INTERMEDIATE 35mm PHOTOGRAPHY, featuring colored slides, starting Tuesday, Nov. 10, and continuing for four weeks from 7 to 9:30 p.m., fee $45.

- PHOTOGRAPHING CHRISTMAS LIGHTS, a one-night course, Monday, Nov. 23, from 7 to 9:30 p.m., fee $10.

Asch has been taking pictures seriously for six years and teaching in the UW Extension continuing education program for more than four years.

Students in the introductory class will shoot one roll of black-and-white film each week. Asch develops and evaluates each student's work. "I can generally tell what's wrong with pictures students don't like and help them correct them," he said.

All students are required to have a camera that can be operated manually. Asch acknowledges that photography is "in an era of ultimate automation where you aim and shoot." But he sees such technology a limiting. "I could have used an automatic for only about a half of the pictures I've taken," he said.

Understanding the camera and its controls is the starting point for the course. Asch tends to keep things simple. He said, "A camera is a light-tight box with a hole for a lens to let the light in. There are two ways you can regulate that - the size of the hole and how fast it opens and closes"

Along with his classes, Asch serves as photo advisor to "Ubiquitous," the UWWC student newspaper, and handles professional assignments including slide shows and brochures. This year he started his own business, AJA Photo.

"When I find something I enjoy, I do not do it halfway," he laughed.

Dedication and Open House at Plymouth's DNR Field Station

SERVES WASHINGTON COUNTY

Visitors will have a chance to view the Department of Natural Resources' nine-month-old Plymouth headquarters on Saturday, September 26.

Dedication and open house are planned at the Plymouth field station just off Highway 67 about a mile north of Plymouth.

Visitors can tour the office building and its adjoining workshop and storage facility between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. About noon the complex will be dedicated in brief talks by Gloria McCutcheon, director of the Southeast District DNR, and Leslie Neustadter, the first DNR Plymouth employee. Paul Schultz, Lake Michigan biologist and staff member at Plymouth, will be master of ceremonies.

The station opened last December at its present location after renting space for about 30 years in the basement of the Plymouth city hall. The new facility, located on about seven acres, provides 1,500 square feet of office space, 500 square feet of heated workshop and 1,800 square feet of equipment storage.

For the first time employees have individual offices instead of desks in a single large room, and they have a conference room for meetings. For the first time too, they have heated space in which to repair equipment, and on-site storage room equipment and specimens instead of rented space at a variety of locations.

The Plymouth field station serves residents of Sheboygan, Washington and Ozaukee Counties.

With easy access from Highways 67 and 23, the field station is getting greater use than ever before, staff members said. Located only a mile from the Plymouth hills, its new location continues to be convenient for city of Plymouth residents.

At the dedication, Neustadter, who retired last year, will tell how Plymouth was originally chosen as a DNR headquarters. He started there in April 1957 as game manager and served alone until 1958 when Paul Schultz came as fish manager.

Presently serving at the facility, besides Schultz, are John E. Nelson, inland lakes fish manager; Dale Katsma, wildlife manager; Larry Baer, forester; Todd Peterson, private lands wildlife manager; Ron Preder, warden; Steve Klock, wildlife technician; Jim Steinke, natural resources assistant; Cheryl Roehre and Chris Niehaus, receptionists, and Rick Knapp, fish technician.

UWWC Offering Computer Courses

One of Matt Zillig's goals in teaching his computer courses, he said, is to avoid "boring the expert or making the novice feel like a bonehead."

He achieves that goal with a hands-on approach where students are "constantly interacting with the computer." In addition, he believes in "demystifying computers" by "playing with the computer slang so students can have fun."

Zillig's success is measured in a string of successful course offerings through the continuing education programs at the UW Center-Washington County and other freshman-sophomore centers.

From Sept. 28 to Oct. 2, Zillig again will be offering five courses at the West Bend Community Library. Each of the software seminars is aimed at increasing computer skills and decreasing user nervousness, he said.

The courses range in length from one to three half-day sessions, in time from about four to 12 hours and in cost from $45 to $95.

According to Zillig there is no particular taking most of the courses. He said, "The rankest novice can take any course except Advanced Lotus."

Zillig began his work in computers while studying on a doctorate at UW Madison and became involved professionally in southeastern Wisconsin as a trainer for a major computer company. Today he spends about 80 per cent of his time teaching and the rest, consulting and programming for business and industry.

The seminars include:
--"Introduction to Microcomputers," Friday, Oct. 2, 8:30 a.m. to noon, $45. Zillig said this beginner's course "touches on commonly used computer terminology in a hands-on setting."
--"Lotus 1-2-3," starts Monday, Sept. 28 and continues Tuesday and Wednesday, 1 to 5 p.m., $95.

--"Advanced Lotus," starts Thursday, Oct. 1 and continues Friday, 1 to 5 p.m., $85.

The Lotus programs have been the number-one software sellers for years, Zillig said, accounting for 66 percent of the world market. The next-highest program has nine percent of the sales.

According to Zillig, Lotus programs can work as "number-crunchers" while handling figures, can ask "what if?" questions of records and information data and can provide graphic visual presentations.

--"dBase III," starts Tuesday, Sept. 29, and continues Wednesday, 8:30 a.m. to noon, $60. Zillig said this program can process even more information than Lotus can.

--"D.O.S." (Disk Operating System), starts Thursday, Oct. 1, continues Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to noon, $45.

Zillig said this course provides training in the household tasks of running a computer, such as preparing and copying disks. Students learn how to perform the tasks "briskly, smoothly and efficiently," he said.

To obtain more information or register for a course, contact Jack Anderson at UWWC, 338-5233.

The most common problem for computer beginners is dealing with the keyboard, Zillig said. But he believes if someone can type even three words per minute, he or she can learn to handle a computer.

Motivation for learning to operate computers is high. Zillig sees many students who are "under tremendous pressure from their employers to learn about computers or not be on their jobs anymore."

He expects such pressures to increase. "More and more job opportunities will be tied into computers," he said. "People have to confront that sooner or later. Without computer skills, they will be at a disadvantage in job opportunities and promotions."

Cedar Lake Home Campus Recognizes Medical Record Week

Governor Tommy Thompson proclaimed September 21-27 as Medical Record Week in the state of Wisconsin to recognize the medical record practitioners who are skilled in designing and managing patient information systems.

The Cedar Lake Home Campus salutes its three accredited record technicians and all medical record professionals throughout Wisconsin.

Accredited medical record professionals have a responsibility to continually be informed with the evolving medical record profession, and work closely with health care administrators, physicians, nurses, and other allied health professionals. Other areas of expertise include diagnosis related groups (DRGs), coding, data collection, quality assurance, medico-legal, risk management, financial data bases, and word processing.

As a teaching facility, the Cedar Lake Home Campus offers students the opportunity to study the medical records program in a long term care facility.

Sept. 30 Last Day To Apply for Winter Wheat Crop Insurance

September 30 is the last day to apply for crop insurance for winter wheat in Washington County, according to Jerold Van Beek, a representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Crop insurance covers unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather conditions, wildlife, earthquake or fire.

Three coverage levels (50, 65, or 75 percent) are available for insurance protection. Additionally, FCIC offers three optional price elections for valuing production lost or damaged," says Van Beek.

Actual production history (APH), is available to producers of soybeans, wheat, barley, and oats in addition to corn, grain sorghum and other crops. Producers of these crops may qualify for higher yield guarantees by proving their yield history. Rates have been developed to offer reduced premium for producers with above-average yields.

To find out how crop insurance can fit individual needs, producers should contact a local, authorized agent. To select an agent, producers may check the list of agents at their local ASCS office. September 30 is the final deadline for applications.

In memory of Laura Stange who passed away Sept. 24, 1982:

A million times we've thought of you,
And many times we've cried.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we love you still.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
The day God called you home.
Yet in our hearts you hold a place,
No one else will ever fill.

Sadly missed by mom, dad and sisters.

Get-Acquainted Evening At UWWC On Friday

Five-dollar-off certificates and a chance to take a friend to class — free — are part of the fall continuing education program at the UW Center — Washington County.

One certificate, good for any of the 44 fall courses, is available to each person attending a get-acquainted evening at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 25, in the UWWC theatre.

The evening, entitled "There's No Business like 'Know' Business," will feature a performance by Fritz Schuler of Manitowoc, one of Wisconsin's top folk music experts. A number of the fall continuing education teachers will be on hand to talk with interested persons about their courses.

A $2 fee will be charged to cover expenses.

Another program designed to introduce people to UW Extension continuing education is called: "Sign for two; bring a friend with you."

UWWC continuing education coordinator Jack Anderson explained that anyone signing up for two fall classes can bring someone along to the less-expensive class at no charge. He said the offer is contingent on maximum enrollment limits for each class.

Registrations are accepted for classes on a first-come, first-pay basis, he added.

According to Anderson, the important role that word-of-mouth plays in continuing education program development. "We hope this will encourage people to study what is available and talk to their friends about it," he said.

"Continuing education is an increasingly important way for people to increase their skills and enrich their lives."

Schuler is scheduled to repeat his highly popular courses in beginning guitar and dulcimer at UWWC this fall and introduce courses in advanced guitar and beginning banjo. The courses run Wednesdays and Thursdays, starting Oct. 7 and 8.

Each course meets for 90 minutes, once a week for eight weeks and costs $45. Students may bring their own instruments or rent one from Schuler. Early registration is encouraged to assure an ample supply of instruments.

Meeting Wednesdays are "Beginning Banjo," 7 to 8:30 p.m., and "Beginning Dulcimer," 8:30 to 10 p.m.; Thursdays, "Beginning Guitar," 7 to 8:30 p.m. and "Intermediate Guitar," 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Tom Martin-Erickson of "Simply Folk" on Wisconsin Public Radio called Schuler the state's main link to the folk music, revival adding: "His (total) contributions to folk music probably are more significant than any other single person (in Wisconsin)."

Since leaving elementary teaching in 1972 to open his Golden Ring Folklore Center in Manitowoc, Schuler estimates he has taught more than 1,500 people how to play the guitar, dulcimer and banjo.

By the end of his classes, he said, the average person "should be able to have a lot of fun with the instruments." For example on the guitar, he said, a student will be able to do some finger-picking and strumming and "have enough chords to provide a good solid accompaniment for 1,000 songs."

No advance reservations are required for "There's No Business like 'Know' Business."

To register for classes or obtain more information about the fall program and special offers, contact Anderson at UWWC, 338-5233.

Dear Betty Crocker

EDITOR'S NOTE: Betty Crocker consumer respondents answer over 300,000 questions annually. The questions have been used to develop the Dear Betty Crocker column.

No brand names. Just generic terms and commonly accepted kitchen terminology.

All questions they receive from readers will be answered through the mail. The best from across the country will be selected for the column.

Q. Is it safe to carry a sandwich made with mayonnaise in a bag lunch?

A. Actually, commercial mayonnaise itself doesn't increase risk of food poisoning. Most commercially prepared mayonnaise has lemon juice or another acid flavoring that slows bacteria growth. The salt limits bacteria growth, too.

The greater risk is food that mayonnaise is mixed with, such as ground meats, poultry, fish, or eggs. These are the foods most susceptible to bacteria growth. Sandwiches with these ingredients should be refrigerated.

Q. What can I do so my cookies don't bake together?

A. Almost all cookies spread some. Chilling dough before baking and letting the cookie sheet cool between bakings also helps.

Q. Why are muffins moister when I don't use paper baking cups?

A. Without paper baking cups, heat reflects back onto the muffin. That may cause them to brown faster and they remain moister inside. Watch bake time carefully with either variation.

Do you have a question? Write Dear Betty Crocker, Box 1113, Dept. Betty Minneapolis, MN 55440.

Goose Hunt Opens in Theresa Zone for Hunters Who Don't Receive Horicon Tag

Hunters who don't receive a Horicon or Central Zone goose tag will again have the opportunity to hunt the Theresa Zone in Dodge, Washington and Fond du Lac Counties.

This year's quota for geese will be 2,000, according to William Ishmael, Southeast District Wildlife Manager. The season opens at noon on Thursday, October 1 and will run through November 19 or when 2,000 geese have been harvested, whichever comes first. Permits will be available starting September 26; all eligible applicants will receive a permit.

"This is the fourth year of the Theresa experimental goose hunt," said Ishmael. "We expect a peak of 25,000 geese; hunters should have excellent goose hunting opportunities."

Persons planning to hunt the Theresa Zone should note the following bag limits and conditions:

- The bag limit is one goose per permittee per 5-day period. The season limit is four geese.

- The first 5-day period will begin October 1 or on the day of application is after October 1.

- Successful hunters will be issued a new tag each time a goose is registered but the tag will not be valid until the start of the following 5-day period. For example, if a hunter receives a permit on October 1 and harvests a goose on October 3, he will receive a second tag once he registers the goose. However, the second tag will not be valid until October 6.

- All tags remain valid until filled. If it takes longer than five days to shoot a goose, hunters will receive the next tag valid beginning the following day.

- Hunting hours will be from noon until 6:35 p.m. on October 1; thereafter hours will be the regular small game hours for the opening with a 1:00 p.m. closing.

Permits will be available from the Theresa Zone goose registration station, located at Highway DD and North Pole Road two miles east of Theresa. The station will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. September 26 - 30, 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. October 1, and 5:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. October 2 - November 19.

"Hunters are reminded that the use of steel shot will be required statewide for waterfowl hunting," said Ishmael.

Dairyland Seed's Persistent Alfalfa

Dairyland Seed's Magnum Plus alfalfa showed extraordinary performance in forage yield trials at Clinton, Wisconsin. When most other varieties were thinning out, Magnum Plus continued to show excellent persistence in the form of percent stand and the number of plants per square foot.

Magnum Plus beat all competitive entries and featured 85 percent stand with an average plant count of 4.6 plants per square foot. This compared to the average of ten competitive varieties that had a percent stand of 57.7 percent of 3.75 plants per square foot.

The last two winters have placed an extreme amount of stress in the alfalfa plots at the Clinton research station. Even though these plots were well fertilized, many of the alfalfa varieties that were entered in these trials have shown severe winter injury damage and winter kill.

These alfalfa plots were cut at bud stage in order to maximize the amount of quality hay that could be obtained from these stands. In addition to persistence, Magnum Plus shows a yield advantage as it yielded higher than any of the competitive varieties entered in these trials.

Among the competitive alfalfa varieties entered in these trials were: Advantage, Apollo II, Blazer, Cimarron, DK-135, Drummer, Epic, Vernal, WL-316, and Pioneer 532.

With the plant count of 4.6 per square foot, Magnum Plus had a sufficient amount of plants to warrant keeping the field in for another year. Any alfalfa which has less than 4 plants per square foot in year four should be plowed out.

Dairyland Vice-President of Research Dr. Paul Sun stated,

"It is important to note that Magnum Plus not only had a higher yield, but also had a higher yield of quality hay because it was cut at the bud stage. Hay cut at mid-bud stage produces 22 percent more milk than hay cut at first flower. Our trials prove that you can produce high quality hay and get more than three years of production from your alfalfa stands."

For more information, write Dairyland Seed Co., Inc., P.O. Box 958, West Bend, WI 53095. You can also telephone Dairyland at 414-338-0163.

Animals of Wisconsin Tour at the Lac Lawrann Conservancy

Squirrels, squirrels, squirrels! They are busy little creatures and they all look to be the same...not quite so! A closer look will tell us that some are larger than others, and one has a bushier tail than another and still others have differentiations in coloring. With a little time to sit and watch, we learn that they also seem to differ in the food they are gathering for the winter and they seek different spots in which to make their homes. In animals, like people are different, one from another. To appreciate them we must learn more about them too.

On Sunday, September 27, learn first hand about the animals that make their homes in this area, by participating in a tour sponsored by the Lac Lawrann Conservancy area. Mink, fox, racoon, deer, shrew and squirrel are only to name a few of the animal life that reside in the 100 acres of natural area located just east of West Bend in the town of Barton. Armin Schwengel of West Bend, now retired Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Manager, will be the naturalist guide for this special event. Schwengel will point out the animal life, food sources and habitats for many of these furry residents.

For those people with adventurous spirits and enthusiasm for the out-of-doors call to make a reservation for your spot on this animals of Wisconsin tour. Tour size is limited. Reservations can be made by calling the West Bend Park Department Office at 338-5080. The tour is free and children are welcome.

At Rock River League Dinner Ken Keltner Will Tell Oldtimers How He Helped End DeMaggio's Streak

Did Ken Keltner really stop Joe DiMaggio's record 56-game consecutive hitting streak in 1941?

He'll settle that fact-or-fiction before an anticipated full house of Rock River league Oldtimers at their 8th Hall of Fame Dinner on Saturday night, Oct. 10.

As guest speaker, the former Cleveland Indian will tell it like it was when he "robbed" the Yankee Clipper of a couple of hot shots at the hot corner to help halt the record string.

Keltner's feat was recalled in the media in August when the Brewers' Paul Molitor launched his 39-game attack on the record.

The Milwaukee native and resident anchors the program at Mayville's Golf club that will induct seven new members into the Rock's Hall of Fame.

Local 'Football Fundamentals' Contest for 8 to 13-Year-Olds

Kewaskum youths between the ages of 8 and 13 will punt, pass and kick to become local champs in their age groups at the Gold Bond Ice Cream/Wisconsin Jaycees "Football Fundamentals" competition Sept. 26, to be held in Kewaskum at the High School practice field.

First place winners in each age group will compete at the Regional level at Hartford on October 3, with those winners going on to the State competition in Green Bay on Oct. 17. The state championships will be held at the Green Bay Packers new indoor practice center where contestants and their families will be treated to a special demonstration clinic led by Green Bay Packer All-Stars.

Boys and girls are all to compete.

Each contestant will be allowed one try in each event.

To be enshrined are past outstanding righthand pitchers Al Buchta of Mayville and Gary Schlieve, Ashippun, and Theresa outfielder Clarence "Bud" Hembrook, infielder-pitcher Jerry Hofmaier from the Rubicon-Slinger teams and recent Hartford manager, Slinger's rugged catcher, Francis "Corky" Neu, and 8-year league commissioner (1957-64) and Oldtimer sec.-treas. (1980-87) Francis "Bud" Bellon of Horicon.

Also to be enshrined is the late "Dr. Mike" Ries, long-time player, manager and booster at Brownsville, in the league's Posthumous Hall of Fame.

Winding up the program will be a special award presented to a Rock River alumnus who is unaware of the distinguished service honor.

Fall Hawk Migration Watch Slated North Of Port Washington

Fall in Wisconsin offers more than scenic drives through multi-colored forests. If you look above the trees near the Lake Michigan shoreline or the Mississippi River, chances are you'll see hawks and other birds of prey on their fall migration.

You can join other wildlife enthusiasts and biologists from the DNR's Bureau of Endangered Resources for their annual "Hawk Watch," Saturday, Oct. 10 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at two Wisconsin locations: Eagle Valley Nature Preserve near Glen Haven in Grant County or at Harrington Beach State Park north of Port Washington on Lake Michigan.

Both the novice and experienced bird watcher will enjoy seeing a variety of species such as sharp-shinned, broad-winged, Cooper's red-tailed and immature Northern harrier hawks, kestrels, merlins, osprey, turkey vultures and even many peregrine falcons.

Later on this fall you may see golden eagles, bald and golden eagles, red-shouldered and rough-legged hawks. These are some of the species that migrate south throughout November along these same shoreline corridors.

Sponsored by the Bureau of Endangered Resources, "Hawk Watch" provides an opportunity for novice wildlife watchers to receive some expert advice on species identification and observation techniques. Participants should bring binoculars, a picnic lunch and a field guide for identification. Handouts, including peregrine falcon posters painted by well-known wildlife artist Jonathan Wilde, will be available for participants.

To reach Eagle Valley Nature Preserve from Glen Haven on the Mississippi River, drive east on Highway V about 1/2 mile to Squirrel Hollow Road, turn southeast and go 1/2 mile to Duncan Road, then turn south on Duncan to the Nature Valley sign.

Harrington Beach is located off Hwy. 43 seven miles north of Port Washington in Ozaukee County.

An entrance fee is required at both locations.

For additional information on "Hawk Watch," contact the Bureau of Endangered Resources, DNR, P.O. Box 7921, Madison, WI 53707

Indians Overwhelm Milwaukee Juneau, 37-0

By Ann-Marie Horner

The Kewaskum Indians creamed the Milwaukee Juneau Pioneers late Friday afternoon at Pulaski Field by a score of 37-0. It was the Indians' third non-conference victory against one conference defeat. The win was Kewaskum's most lopsided in years and gave reserves much playing time.

Kewaskum got strong leadership from quarterbacks Eric Pearson and Mike Heberer.

The pair completed four-of-four passes with three touchdowns. Pearson passed 23 yards to Steve Johnson for the Indians' first touchdown. Heberer threw scoring strikes of 25 and 15 yards to Johnson in the third quarter. Kewaskum coach Fran Charland said Heberer played one half at running back and gained 88 yards on 12 carries, including a 41-yard touchdown scamper in the first quarter.

"It was nice to win one like that," Charland said. "Our scouting reports said we could beat them, so we went into the game ready to play. Our execution was good."

Pioneers number 84, Morson, kicked off. Jeff Miller returned the kick for 13 yards to put it on the 33 yard line. Between Miller, Pearson, and Joel Serwe the ball moved down to the 24 yard line. Then Pearson passed to Steve Johnson for a touchdown. The Indians tried for the conversion but did not succeed, to make the score 6-0.

The Pioneers got the ball but had a very hard time moving it, so Kewaskum received the ball on the 45 yard line.

Pearson ran the ball for a gain of 5 yards and then Miller also ran the ball for a gain of 5, to make it 1st and 10. Heberer ran the ball and carried it for a 41 yard touchdown. The Indians tried for the conversion but it was again no good.

Pearson kicked off to the 35 yard line, but the Pioneers couldn't return it. The Pioneers, Garrison, ran the ball to the 49 yard line to give them a first down.

Then Pearson intercepted the ball on the 30 yard line. Ryan Degnitz carried the ball to the 14 yard line and then Heberer ran the ball to the 3. Miller then ran for a touchdown. The Indians tried once again for a conversion, but it was no good.

Pearson once again kicked off to the 16 yard line. The Pioneers couldn't get anything going and ended up punting the ball back to the Indians.

Kewaskum ended up with the ball on the 40 yard line. Heberer ran the ball for a gain of 8 and Mike Lubahn carried for a 22 yard gain. Then Heberer passed to Johnson for another touchdown. But once again they could not get the extra point.

On the return of the kickoff by Pearson, there was a fumble on the play and Marty Schulteis recovered the ball on the 40 yard line.

Degnitz carried the ball for a gain of 2 yards and Heberer carried for a 1st and 10 situation.

Then Heberer once again passed to Johnson for a 13 yard touchdown. The extra point was attempted but once again no luck.

The Pioneers received the ball on the 25 yard line. Bobby Castro intercepted the pass and gave the Indians another chance to score.

Lubahn ran the ball to the 20 yard line, but then was ejected out of the game. Pearson then pitched the ball to Miller and he ran for the touchdown. This time the Indians tried for the extra point and it was good, to make the score 37-0.

This time Robbi Hron kicked off to the 15 yard line and the Pioneers returned it.

That ended the game with a score of 37-0.

Varsity, JV Volleyball Teams Lose, Freshmen Win at Sheboygan Falls

By Debra Rimmel

The KHS varsity volleyball team put up a good fight against Sheboygan Falls, Sept. 17, but came up short.

Varsity player Debbie Felix led her team with nine points from spike kills. Tina Weddig led her team with 23 assists.

The scores of the matches were 17-15, 13-15 and 16-14.

The junior varsity team played a good game. Coach Mrs. Paul-Kenfield said, "The defensive coverage worked well!" She also stated they might have won but there were too many missed serves in the second game. Kim Gaffke played a very good third game. Lisa Harlow and Joan Petermann didn't miss any serves, along with Becky Schlosser.

The scores of the matches were 5-15, 8-15, and 17-15.

The freshman girls volleyball team raised their record to 2-1 by defeating a hustling Sheboygan Falls team. The Indians jumped out to an 8-1 lead as Marlene Wodsedalek served eight straight points.

Boys 9th of 13 In Cross Country Invite at Lomira

By Ann-Marie Horner

The Kewaskum Cross Country team participated in the Lomira Invitational at Camelot Country Club last Thursday evening and did better than they did in the Mayville Invite the week before.

The girls' team did not have enough runners to be considered a team, but individually they did a fine job. Jodi Batzler came in forty-third place with a time of 15:23, Carrie Batzler forty-ninth with a time of 16:05, and Pam Osterbrink fifty-eighth with a time of 17:24.

The Ripon team took first place for the girls, Lomira came in second, and Sheboygan Falls came in third.

Kewaskum boys' team took ninth place out of thirteenth places. Chilton and Ripon tied for first, Sheboygan Falls came in second, and St. Lawrence came in third.

The Indians' Miles Shaw took fifth place with a time of 16:51. The four people that beat him included: Greg Baneck from Ripon with a time of 16:36, Marc Jorgensen from Ripon 16:43, Joel Karl from Chilton 16:46, and Rob Schroedes from Lomira 16:51.

The cross country team is having problems with injuries and sickness.

Kewaskum's Craig Hubbell placed forty-first with a time of 18:30; Kris Follmann placed forty-second with a time of 18:32, and Dave Harju placed sixty-ninth with a time of 19:40.
