Deadline Nearing for Spring Election

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

With less than a week remaining until the filing deadline January 5th, only one person, incumbent Perry Ankerson, has taken out papers to run for a seat on the Kewaskum Board of Education.

Ankerson, one of the two board members whose terms expire next spring has not, however, returned those nomination papers. Ron Theusch, the other board member whose term is ending, has decided not to seek a second term on the board.

With only one apparent candidate so far and two posts open on the board, the district could be faced by somewhat of a dilemma. District Administrator Penny Kleinhans was asked how such a situation would be handled if it did arise. After checking with the State Elections Board, Kleinhans said she was told the procedure to follow to fill the positions would be as follows: If there are no declared candidates, two lines for write-ins must be placed on the ballot. If there is one candidate, two lines for write-ins must still be placed on the ballot to allow electors the choice of voting for the candidate and one write-in, or two write-in choices.

Kleinhans noted that district residents interested in running for the school board have until 5:00 p.m., Tuesday, January 5th, to file their papers.

The other election of local interest is for the Kewaskum Village Board. The terms of trustees Thomas McElhatton, Richard Schmidt and Howard Laubenstein are expiring.

Schmidt, who will be facing his fourth election, has already returned his papers. He is seeking his second consecutive

Outstanding Conservation Farmers Named

The Kewaskum Kiwanis have named Gilbert Meyer and Fred Wilkens as their 1987 Outstanding Conservation Farmers. This award was established 30 years ago to recognize the soil conservation efforts of farmers in the Kewaskum School District. The award is presented annually by the Kiwanians at their farm-city meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Meyer and family operate a 155 acre dairy farm in Farmington and Fredonia townships. The Meyers have been practicing soil conservation since they purchased the farm in 1959. In 1986, a system of contour strips was planned to support the conservation tillage and crop rotations already being used to reduce soil erosion. To date, 53 acres of the contour strips have been established and an additional 28 acres will be marked out next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilkens operate a 142 acre dairy farm in Farmington and Trenton townships. The farm has been in the Wilkens' family since the mid 1800's. Crop rotations and over 40 acres of contour strips, installed by Fred in 1984, are used to control soil erosion on the cropland. Non-cropland areas are managed to improve wildlife habitat and woodland productivity.

The extraordinary efforts of these family farms to control soil erosion will maintain the productivity of their land and help improve the quality of the lakes and streams of Washington County

Laubachs Purchase Nolting Building

In a recent real estate transaction, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laubach of Kewaskum purchased the Nolting Building on Main Street in Kewaskum.

The building had housed a beauty shop and dental office on the lower level and a three bedroom apartment on the upper level. Dr. Nolting had operated a dentist office for many years. Sue Laubach has operated the beauty shop for almost four years.

The Laubachs plan to expand the Beauty Salon occupying all of the first floor, while the upper three bedroom apartment will be offered as a rental unit.

Expansion of the Beauty Salon will better accommodate their many customers, and will still be operated under the name of FAMILY HAIR SALON.

MAILERS HELP FIND MISSING CHILDREN

THE MESSAGE IS BEING DELIVERED.

America's Looking For Its Missing Children

ADVO-System, Inc. is grateful to you and every Postal Service Letter Carrier for delivering the message about missing children.

AND IT'S WORKING!

BY GERRY MUELLER

ADVO-Systems Inc. of Connecticut, the largest bulk business mailer in the country, recently thanked postal service employees for their help in delivering a very important message to the public, "America is looking for its missing children."

"Without the help of the Postal Service and the strong commitment taken by letter carriers, this program wouldn't be possible," said Dennis R. Ritt, ADVO's regional director of distribution/transportation. Ritt was referring to the delivery of ADVO-System's address cards which accompany area businesses' advertising and coupon flyers. The cards display pictures and personal information of missing youngsters from throughout the United States.

"As of October 27, 1987, twenty-five of the 130 children who have been featured on the weekly mailer address cards have been found," said Ritt. He explained that his company started the missing children's awareness campaign in conjunction with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children back in May, 1985. Today ADVO mails between 44 and 51 billion pieces of mail weekly nationwide and nearly 13 million weekly in the Central Region. Kewaskum Postmaster Frank Beesten said 2,000 of the mailers are delivered weekly in the Kewaskum area.

ADVO-System Inc. received the 1987 Presidential Citation Award for Private Sector Initiatives from President Reagan in ceremonies held last July 23 in Washington, D.C.

Village of Kewaskum NEWS NOTES

SNOW AND ICE REMOVAL

The snow and ice season has arrived bringing along some problems. To alleviate the problem or to clarify a few items let us refer to the Municipal Code, Chapter 8.09, which covers "Snow and Ice Removal."

I. Sidewalks to be kept clear. The owner or occupant of any lot or parcel shall promptly each day remove all snow and ice which may have fallen or accumulated upon the sidewalk in front of each lot or parcel; provided, when ice has so formed that it cannot be removed, the owner or occupant shall keep the same sprinkled with a material which will prevent the sidewalk from being dangerous to pedestrians. If the owner or occupant fails to comply with this subsection, the Superintendent of Public Works shall cause the snow or ice to be removed or sprinkled as required in this section and the cost thereof assessed against the property as a special tax.

II. Snow not to be deposited in the streets. No person shall cause to be deposited snow from his premises or sidewalk abutting thereon onto any street in the Village without a permit from the Superintendent of Public Works who may require to be paid a fee sufficient to reimburse the Village for the cost of removal of such snow.

III. Other sidewalk hazards. This is the deposit of or washing of gravel from a private driveway onto a sidewalk. We ask that this gravel also be removed promptly. It should be noted that not only does this gravel create a hazard on the sidewalk, but when it ends up in the gutter it blocks water drainage and eventually blocks/plugs storm sewers.

As for this and all ordinances a penalty is also provided for in Chapter 25.04 of this Municipal Code.

Gerhartz Among January Exhibitors At West Bend Gallery

The new year is ushered in at the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts with an exciting three-dimensional exhibition entitled, VESSELS: FORM & FUNCTION. This invitational exhibition stretches the imagination and presents its viewers with a wide range of media: ceramics, glass, natural and synthetic fibers, metal and wood to site just a few.

Eight artists, Holly Francke Aydelotte, Char Ter Beest, Karl Borgeson, Sandra Byers, T. J. Chapman, Dennis Dahl, David Drewek and Michael Meilahn have all selected a sampling of their respective works for this show in the gallery.

Start 1988 out with a very worthwhile exhibition at the gallery.

The lower gallery this month will be graced with the works of four Wisconsin oil painters: Kenn Backhaus, Rosalie B. Beck, Allison Beckwith Cooke and Dan Gerhartz.

Dealing with both the landscape and still life, the artists reveal a concern to express the effects of light on the surface of forms.

Hartford resident, Kenn Backhaus, a graduate of the former Layton School of art, is currently employed as a designer/illustrator for the Art Factory in Elm Grove.

Rosalie B. Beck currently resides in New York and was formerly a lecturer and basic drawing instructor at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. Ms. Beck comes with a dual background in Natural Science and Fine Arts.

Allison Beckwith Cooke is presently enrolled in the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee's Master of Fine Arts program. Ms. Cooke has a Bachelor of Science degree in Art Education and has exhibited in the Milwaukee, Madison and Chicago areas.

Dan Gerhartz hails from Kewaskum, Wisconsin. Gerhartz, a graduate of Chicago's American Academy of Art, paints on a full-time basis and is currently represented by several galleries in the Southwest.

A public reception for the artists will be held on Sunday, January 10, 1988 from 1:30 - 4:00 p.m.

Michael Meilahn will be offering a slide presentation on the art and craft of the glass blowing process. This is in conjunction with the January exhibition, VESSELS: Form & Function. The slide/lecture presentation begins promptly at 1:30 on January 10th. No reservations are necessary.

The West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts is located at 300 South 6th Avenue, West Bend. Open hours are Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, 1:00 - 4:30 p.m. and Thursday 12:00 noon - 9:30 p.m. There is no admission fee.

Pair of Skis Stolen, Mailboxes Smashed

Christopher Doege 21, of Dousman, was expected to be charged Monday with the theft of a pair of skis, valued at $300, at Sunburst Ski Hill in the Town of Kewaskum. Stacy L. Schleauges, 21, Manitowoc, had her skis stolen Saturday between 7 and 8:30 p.m. from a ski rack in front of the ticket office. A friend of hers found the skis in the parking lot in a car in which Doege had apparently placed them. A Sheriff's deputy, called to the scene, arrested Doege after a brief investigation.

About a dozen people in the Town of Kewaskum had their mailboxes smashed early Thursday possibly by a vandal wielding a tire iron. Damaged were boxes at homes in the blocks of: 4700 W. Moraine Drive, 8000 Townline Road, 4200 Ridge Road, 9100 Lake Bernice Road, and 3800 and 3900 Badger Road. A stop sign at West Moraine Drive and Townline Road was also removed. There were no suspects.

Vandals Cut Down Trees

Two nine-foot, blue spruce trees at a Campbellsport residence were cut down sometime Wednesday or Thursday, according to a complaint filed with the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department by Joseph A. Gruber of 1225 Lake Road.

He said the two, 15-year-old trees were cut down near the entrance to his property. One tree was removed, he told authorities, and the other was found lying on the ground. Value of the two trees was listed at $400.

GTE Receives Rate Revision Authorization

GTE will implement a revised rate schedule for its 349,000 Wisconsin customers. This rate revision, recently authorized by the Public Service Commission (PSC) of Wisconsin, will result in about $3.3 million in increased annual revenues — averaging approximately 79c per month per customer line. The firm's allowable rate of return on equity remains at 13.25 percent.

According to State Vice President - General Manager James D. Blanchard, Sun Prairie, the increase will be reflected in monthly service rates, as well as a variety of non-recurring charges. Customers will be notified of the new rates via inserts in their monthly bills.

In its ruling, the PSC also authorized GTE to introduce metered Local Calling Service (LCS), to be implemented over the next several years.

"Local Calling Service is a metered rate concept actively sought by many customers and interest groups," said Blanchard. "GTE is pleased to now be capable of providing such service."

With LCS, customers can gain more direct control over monthly telephone bills.

The Kewaskum Child Development class held their annual Nursery School from December 8 through December 18 (excluding Tuesday, Dec. 15, because of snow day).

The Nursery School was supervised by Child Development teacher Mrs. Carol Martin and was run by the child development students Carrie Batzler, Bob Chmielewski, Lynn Dorzak, Angie Fehring, Leslie Flom, Jason Flynn, Allison Frac, Carrie Grahl, Lori Kirmse, Brenda Kirchberg, Rick Maki, Leah Maechtle, Sherry Pauers, Joan Petermann, Becky Schurrer, Sherry Seefeldt, Wendy Struebing, Chad Ader, Gary Bath, Lonnie Bath, Tim Belger, Jamie Blohm, Jay Boegel, Brenda Campbell, Kevin Flasch, Ron Leinen, Jeanine McElhatton, Connie Menger, Matt Miller, Becky Morlen, Shawn Neitzel, Angie Nowak, Shawn Oresnik, Scott Pesch, Janelle Peterson, Traci Shultz, Sonny Sison, Petra Thull, Russell Volm, and Holly Ziegelbauer.

The children that attended the Nursery School were Mark Bath, Ricky Batzler, Britney Ann Beck, Aileen Chambers, Sheila Delvaux, Jacob Ebert, Katie Fechter, Krystal Gavin, Brandon Giese, Colleen Gosa, Chad Marquardt, Heidi Menger, Ashley Petermann, Jacob Peterson, Joshua Peterson, Jenna Roecker, Jamie Schneider, and Joey Voigt.

These children were to the high school band room between 1:15 p.m. - 1:20 p.m. and would be allowed to play for five to ten minutes. Following play time, the children were able to hear two stories, do some art project, do one song, eat one snack, and participate in two circle times each day. The children really enjoyed the different activities such as painting with pudding, seeing a puppet show, finger painting, fishing, making a noodle wreath, identifying sounds, matching things, and dropping clothespins into jars.

The Nursery School was a lot of fun for everyone and the teachers really enjoyed having the kids come. They would also like to thank all the parents who took time out to bring their children to the Nursery School and to tell them how much they appreciated it.

Ayer Ensemble Performs at Kettle Moraine Correctional Institution

When the Ayer Ensemble performs, director Peter Ayer treats audiences to a mix of music and humor. During the 1987 Christmas season, Ayer found that for the first time in the ensemble's 80-plus performances, he had to check out the humor in advance.

The occasion was a Dec. 18 concert behind bars at the Kettle Moraine Correctional Institution.

Security people had no problems with the humor. Not even his traditional laugh at the expense of Charles Dickens. "We were going to do 'The Christmas Carol' tonight," he told the 150 men seated on bleachers in the gym.

Ayer paused, then added: "But we heard your recreational director was going to be here. We figured one Scrooge a night was enough."

The audience was appreciative of the program which opened with a barbershop arrangement and proceeded through things done by Manhattan Transfer and the Oak Ridge Boys with some yodeling and whistling thrown in.

The last half hour was all Christmas music. Ayer was impressed at how everyone "just sat and listened" during "Oh, Holy Night," and then, at the end, stood up to cheer and yell for an encore.

Afterwards, a security person said, "In all the time I've been here, I've never seen them sit so quiet and listen to a program."

Attendance was voluntary. Ahead of time, a guard said interest was high because Ayer, an associate professor of music at the UW Center — Washington County, will be teaching a spring music appreciation course at Kettle Moraine.

"You know," the guard said,

"some of these guys are coming to see if they want to take your course."

One man did ask about the course. "He wanted to know how many papers he'd have to write," Ayer said. "I told him just one and he thought that would be alright."

Ayer said he found it "tough getting into prison." The 10 members of the group were checked out a week in advance. "We had to list each and every piece of our equipment," he added.

The audience liked Ayer's introduction of his five men and five women. He told how he picked the ensemble members. "The girls don't have to audition," he said. "They just send in their pictures. Later I teach them how to sing. I have the guys send in tapes. It's obvious from their looks they didn't send in pictures."

A calypso number proved a big hit. Later some Hispanic men shook Ayer's hand. He said they told him "how good it was to hear something in their own language."

Ayer expects to meet some of the men from the concert again when he makes twice-a-week trips to Kettle Moraine for his class, starting in January. He'll spend three hours a week on the road commuting to and from the 90-minute, Tuesday and Thursday afternoon sessions.

Before the concert, Ayer admitted, some of his group were "a little apprehensive" about the concert. "Some of those guys up there are lifers," he said. "We had no idea what to expect."

Any uneasiness was dispelled by the reception at Kettle Moraine. "We came away feeling really good about the entire thing," Ayer said. "It was a great way to finish up the year."

Seven UWWC Students and Faculty Members Participating in London Theatre Tour

WEST BEND — Seven students and faculty members are participating in the fourth annual London Theatre Tour of the University of Wisconsin Center — Washington County.

During the Dec. 29 through Jan. 12 trip, the group will see an estimated 10 plays in London's West End theatre, including "Les Miserables," a musical based on the Victor Hugo novel; "Time," a futuristic musical; "J.J. Faar," a contemporary drama about a defrocked priest starring Albert Finney; and "Les Liaisons Dangereuses," a 17th Century French drama.

Brad Ford, assistant professor of communication and theater arts at UWWC, said the advance reservations are for the "hot ticket shows." But students will pay about $15 for tickets compared to $50 to $60 for comparable seats on Broadway.

Leading the tour with Ford is his wife, Jan, associate director of student services at UWWC. Tour members are Jeni Wulff of Adell, Colleen Borchardt of Grafton, and Karen Collins, Michele Lukovich and Mark Kohler, all of West Bend.

The UWWC group will stay in two service flats in the Bayswater area, about two blocks from Hyde Park. On their first day in London, they will have an orientation walking tour of the theatre district, Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, Big Ben, the Parliament, the Thames River and the Cabinet War Rooms where Winston Churchill planned World War II strategy.

During their stay, the UWWC visitors will have free passes to ride subways in "the tube" and on the red double-decker buses.

Brad Ford said that first-time tour members will experience many differences between the American and British theatre experiences. "The English overdress in tuxes and furs," he said, "but are tolerant of tourists in tee shirts and blue jeans."

Terminology is different, too, he said, for such things as seating areas:

— Our orchestra section is their "stalls;"

— Our mezzanine is their "dress circle;"

— Our balcony is their "upper circle."

During the British "interval" (intermission), ushers sell chocolates and ice cream in the audience. And opera glasses are located on the backs of seats where they can be rented on the honor system by depositing a coin.

Ford said he expects his group to have a busy schedule in London, attending plays each night except Sundays, when the theatres are "dark."

Schmidt Delegate to National 4-H Congress

Diane Schmidt of West Bend recently returned from National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Illinois. Diane was one of thirty-three 4-H members selected for this outstanding honor. She was representing Wisconsin and Washington County for her accomplishments in the poultry project. Diane is a 10-year 4-H member of the Kirchhain Trotters 4-H Club in Jackson. She is the daughter of Harold and Nathalie Schmidt.

Poultry has always interested Diane. She joined 4-H when she was nine; however, by age seven she was showing poultry in the open class show. From her first year in 4-H Diane said, "I tried to raise two new breeds of birds each year that I had no knowledge about. I learned about different breeds of geese, pigeons, bantams, and standards." Diane has raised many varieties from American Breeds to English Breeds, Asiatic Breeds and Mediterranean Breeds. Diane has mastered a variety of management skills over the past 10 years. Breed identification, climate control and egg production are just a few.

Diane has also been very active as a youth leader in poultry. For the past two years, Diane has taught a poultry session for over 240, 5-11 year olds at a countywide day camp. Beyond the county level, Diane has been an active member of the Wisconsin Poultry Breeders

Kewaskum Statesman,

Friday, Jan. 1, 1988, Page 8

Association.

National 4-H Congress recognizes over 1500 youth from 50 states and Puerto Rico for their excellence in 4-H work. Highlights of the week long experience include visiting the Chicago Board of Trade, attending seminars, and sharing ideas with 4-H'ers across the country. Being selected as a National 4-H Congress delegate is one of the highest recognition a 4-H youth can achieve.

Diane has also excelled in youth leadership. She has served on the Washington County Leaders Association Board of Directors, camp counselor, youth leadership camp, numerous county committees and club offices. Other projects that have been a part of her 4-H career include beef, clothing, crops, food and nutrition, houseplants, flowers, photography, gardening, forestry, child care, music, food preservation, home furnishings, and social and political science.

Diane comments, "Without 4-H, I would not have the leadership skills I have today. Four-H has made me the leader I am today, starting seven years ago, and assisting adult leaders as a youth leader."

As Diane reflects on her 10-year 4-H career, "Four-H has taught me responsibility, communication skills, teamwork, getting along with others, time management and record keeping."

Diane is presently working as a cosmetologist in Cedarburg. In several years, she plans to attend school to become an Operating Room Assistant. Diane is also a 4-H volunteer leader.

POISON ANTIDOTE

Toxicologists at the Rocky Mountain Poison Center, Denver, say 'activated charcoal' should be in the home for immediate use in a poison emergency. Charcoal quickly and safely absorbs many poisons - unlike ipecac, a dangerous substance if used for hydrocarbons, acids, lye, etc. Dr. Robert Forney, toxicologist at Indiana U. recommends Super Char as a poison antidote.

25 Years Ago

December 28, 1962

The former George Zehren farm homestead, now owned by the Donald Wendt family, about a half mile west of St. Kilian in the Town of Wayne was destroyed by fire on Christmas night. The Wendt family was not at home at the time but arrived some time later. They had been visiting relatives for Christmas. The blaze was noticed by Neal Straub of Kewaskum, a fire department member, who saw the fire from Hwy. 28, some distance from the farm home. He drove to St. Kilian and reported the blaze. From there the Kewaskum Fire Department was summoned. With no one at home at the time, the fire had a good start before it was discovered. When firemen arrived the roof and interior of the home were already in flames and the blaze was out of control. The entire residence was destroyed as the fire had gained such headway that neither the building nor any of the furnishings could be saved. Cause of the fire was not determined but it is believed to have started in the kitchen of the dwelling.

Lawrence Staehler, chief of the Boltonville fire department, recently was re-elected to his 15th term as head of the department at the annual meeting of the organization. Other officers elected are: James Felten, president; Ronald Petermann, vice-president; Donald Jones, secretary; Kenneth Zettler, treasurer; Elmer Belger and Sylvester Schladweiler, directors. Mr. and Mrs. Nick Puerling, Kewaskum, announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith, to Larry G. Danielson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Danielson, Campbellsport, on Christmas Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Fischer, West Bend, announced the betrothal of their daughter, Kay, to Bruce Forschler, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Forschler, Route 2, Grafton. The announcement was made on December 15. The Fischers are former Kewaskum residents.

Jill Ann Timmerman, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Timmerman, who reside at the Bar-N Ranch, Route 2, Campbellsport, passed away on December 27 after an extended illness.

Funeral services were held for Deborah Thompson, 11-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thompson, Kewaskum, on December 15. The child died Wednesday after a short illness.

50 Years Ago

December 31, 1937

August Krueger, 50, who resides on Highway 67, north of Kewaskum and east of Campbellsport, was painfully injured when a hayfork fell on him while he was working on his farm on December 23. The fork dropped 20 feet and pierced the flesh of Mr.

Krueger's back, tearing the muscles of the back down through the rear of the hip and coming out half way down to the knee, leaving a deep gash about a foot or more in length, which required many stitches to close. The injured was treated at a local physician's office and then allowed to return home, where he is recuperating at present.

The Kewaskum hockey team will play its opening game of the winter next Sunday afternoon against a team from Barton. The game will be played on the Milwaukee River ice here at the village park site. The local sextet, recently organized is composed of young men and boys who are good skaters, enjoy the game, and have the makings of future hockey stars. The team also has a number of promising young spares, who will be inserted into the contest frequently. The probable starting lineup for the opening puck game will be as follows: Right wing, Fred Buss, Jr.; Center, Howard Schmidt; Left wing, Permin Kohler; Right guard, Russell Heisler; Left guard, Curtis Romaine; Goalie, Fred Miller. The officials will be Lloyd Hron, Harry Koch and a member of the Barton club.

Mrs. Mildred Chase, executive secretary of the Red Cross in Fond du Lac County, announces the opening of an emergency highway first aid station, to be installed at the Narges garage at the junction of Highway 55 and County Trunk F, near Waucousta, north of Kewaskum. The Fond du Lac County Highway Department will install signs indicating the station. Equipment including first aid materials will be supplied by the Red Cross.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dorwin Perkins of this village on December 22. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arno Aupperle of the Town of Scott last week. A baby boy also arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Teschendorf of the Town of Scott last week.

Hope for a New Year

The hope for your new year can be as bright as the promises of God. The Bible offers you confidence for the future! Nothing in the coming year - rising prices, unemployment, family problems - can change this solid hope.

The prophet Jeremiah knew the secret: "Blessed (happy) is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is" (Jeremiah 17:7).

The person who has never trusted Jesus Christ may see life as hopeless. And, in the final analysis, he is right, for Ephesians 2:12 says for without Christ man has no hope and is without God in the world.

But Jesus Christ offers what you could never purchase and no one can take from you ...

... love that is not based on your feelings or merits but on the never-ending mercies of God (Romans 5:8).

... freedom to know and enjoy God because Jesus Christ has taken the punishment for your sins (I Peter 3:18).

...friendship that will never disappoint you because Jesus promised, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee" (Hebrews 13:5).

...a reason for living because following Christ gives true meaning and purpose to life (John 14:6).

...an eternal home where the killjoys of earth - selfishness, hatred, death - will all be gone (Revelation 21:4).

As you enter this new year, you can depend on yourself and wish for the best, or you can put your hope in God. Through faith in His Word you can be filled with hope that will never fail and life that will never end.

Community Church meets Sundays at 9:30 a.m. at the Silverbrook Middle School in West Bend.

New Year Resolutions

The New Year is here and so are the resolutions most of us make at the beginning of the year. If you are not very successful with resolutions read on.

A decision to the future is the definition of a resolution. The most popular New Year resolution is to lose weight, with to quit smoking close behind. One thing to keep in mind with your decision is to stick to it. If you had a bad day with the resolution do not give up; tomorrow is another day when you will do better. Start again with a new day; all is not lost and you are not a failure. Have a friend help you out in your quest. When you feel you are losing control do something to take your mind off the problem; take a walk, call a friend, get away from the desk, do something different. Another aid is to imagine yourself at the goal. If you are trying to lose weight picture yourself in that special outfit that looks great on you with the weight gone. If you smoke, imagine how great you feel when you no longer smoke. Remember you were born with the best set of lungs you will ever have and smoking is only going to harm them. You are in the drivers seat, not the food and cigarettes. The extra weight looks much better in the refrigerator or in the cupboard; not on the thighs and hips. The same holds true for the nicotine in tobacco.

Set some short and long term goals for yourself. Once the goals are reached, reward yourself. Most people will not set goals. Goal setting is a great motivator, so sit down and write out the goals and rewards. Make each goal a little more challenging and each reward a little more enjoyable.

Have a Healthy and Happy New Year.

1988 Concerto Contest for Washington County Youth Application Deadline is Jan. 25

WEST BEND — A Jan. 25 application deadline has been announced for music students hoping to enter the 1988 Concerto Contest for Washington County youth.

Auditions for the contest will be held on Feb. 6 at the University of Wisconsin Center — Washington County. The annual contest for pianists and instrumentalists is co-sponsored by the Moraine Area Private Music Teachers and the UWWC Music Department.

Winners will appear in concert on March 26 with the Moraine Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Albert J. Asch, associate professor of instrumental music at UWWC.

In addition to the performances, a $100 award will be presented to the senior division winners, grades 9 through 12, and a gift to the junior division winners, grades 6 through 8.

Anna J. Asch, head of the sponsoring teachers group, said that students need to begin work on their pieces well in advance of the audition since memorization is required.

All contestants, she said, must live in Washington County, furnish their own accompanist for the auditions and provide a copy of their music for the judge.

Applications must be received by Jan. 25 along with a $4 entry fee for the senior division and a $3 fee for the junior division. Checks should be made payable to the Moraine Area Private Music Teachers and sent to Asch at 7483 Brookhaven, West Bend 53095. Asch said that all contestants must perform a movement of a concerto or a solo with orchestral accompaniments.

Suitable piano works, she said, include any concertos by Haydn, Mozart, Bach, Kabalevsky, Kassein, Rowley or Beethoven, plus some easier concertos by Holst, Kassein, Gurlitt, Caufer, Williams, Boykin or Eckstein.

According to Asch, any concerto or solo with orchestra accompaniment is acceptable.

Time to Order Trees and Shrubs

Application forms to order trees and shrubs from state operated nurseries are now available, according to Albert Kubiske, state forest, nursery and wild river specialist in the Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Forestry.

The Forms may be obtained from DNR field stations, University of Wisconsin County Extension offices and all department foresters.

Seedlings available include a variety of both hardwood and softwood trees, and shrubs for wildlife. In addition, wildlife packets and windbreak-shelterbelt packets are available.

Over 20 million trees and shrubs were distributed in 1987 and about the same number are available for 1988. However, according to Kubiske, the demand for seedlings is expected to be high again this year. It is recommended that landowners place their orders early if they want to obtain the species they need. While the present inventory is excellent, supplies of some of the more desired species are expected to be exhausted early.

A reminder that these trees and shrubs must be purchased in volume and can be used only for conservation purposes. They cannot be used for landscaping or commercial Christmas tree production.

For more information, contact your local DNR forester. There are state foresters assigned to each county in the state.

Subscriptions to the Kewaskum Statesman due after October 1st, 1987, run $11.00 in-state, $13.00 out-of-state, $22.00 overseas.

A Senior Citizens Lament

Thought I'd let my doctor check me

'Cause I didn't feel quite right, All those aches and pains annoyed me,

And I couldn't sleep at night. He could find no real disorder, But he wouldn't let it rest.

What with Medicare and Blue Cross,

It wouldn't hurt to do some tests.

To the hospital he sent me, though I didn't feel that bad. He arranged for them to give me

Every test that could be had. I was fluoroscoped and systoscoped,

My aging frame displayed. Stripped upon an ice-cold table While my gizzards were x-rayed.

I was checked for worms and parasites

For fungus and the crud, While they pierced me with long needles

Taking samples of my blood. Doctors came to check me over, Probed and pushed and poked around,

And to make sure I was living, They wired me for sound.

They have finally concluded — (Their results have filled a page)

What I have will someday kill me,

My affliction is old age!

Calling a three-pound legal document a brief is only a little more ridiculous than calling the account of a five-hour meeting the minutes.

Voters of the Kewaskum School District:

Since I haven't heard if anyone is a candidate for the Kewaskum School Board, I thought I'd write this quick note and help you voters put this election into perspective.

We have all been very busy with the holidays and our thoughts are not on the election in April. But, the deadline to become a candidate for an office is Tuesday, Jan. 5th, 1988 at 5:00 p.m.

We, as voters may not think this election is important — but it is!

The so-called majority of the board - if you have been reading the minutes in this newspaper — has been voting against all their policies for ethics and conduct — as set-up by the Wisconsin School Boards Assn. guidelines for all board members. They have totally ignored all principles of their offices.

This so-called majority is representing - the small-interest-groups - such as the Beechwood reopening - costing us taxpayers over $100,000.00 - and now considering new tennis courts that may well cost over $50,000.00. The village has very adequate facilities - why duplicate and spend extra tax dollars?

And of course - the continuous rising costs of lawyer fees. I believe that Mrs. Trapp made a campaign speech to get a new lawyer and lower costs!!! This lawyer - Mr. Spector knows what side his bread is buttered on! — Our tax dollars are buttering his bread!

So think of it! This election is important to all of us!

The village could use a representative on that school board! Someone who could vote with the interior district in mind and yet, help the administration, in working with the village on not duplicating items — and saving our tax dollars!

Remember voters how we were - taken - in by last years' candidates as "savers" and "saviors", to redeem you from the "crookedness"!!! Yet today they continue to spend our "savings" account = fund equity.

It will be important for a candidate to stand-up and speak - out! I know there are young parents out there that want to get involved.

Here is your chance! - go to the Administration office and collect your papers. And good luck!

From Someone ready to support a person who wants to get involved—

Editor, Statesman:

Unless Village of Kewaskum residents wake up, they'll find themselves in a "taxation without representation" situation on the Kewaskum School District Board of Education.

Due to falling farmland values, Village of Kewaskum taxpayers are picking up a larger and larger share of the Kewaskum School District tax levy.

In 1984, Village of Kewaskum taxpayers picked up 20.21% of the total taxes paid to the Kewaskum School District. In 1987, this figure was 22.29% of the total, an increase of 14.08% or $91,620 in four years.

And, as farmland values continue to decline, you can be sure that Village of Kewaskum taxpayers will pick up a larger and larger share of the Kewaskum School District tax bill.

Yet, it's quite possible that come next Spring, the Village of Kewaskum will not be represented on the Kewaskum Board of Education.

Currently, Ron Theusch is the only Village of Kewaskum resident serving on the Board of Education, and he has indicated he will not be a candidate for the election next April. And, thus far, no one from the Village has filed a declaration of candidacy.

I would urge Village of Kewaskum residents to seriously consider seeking a position on the Kewaskum Board of Education. All you must do is contact the school district office (626-8427) and file a sworn "declaration of candidacy" prior to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, January 5, 1988. I'm sure the District Administrator would help in any way possible and answer any questions you might have.

If Village of Kewaskum residents don't shed their coat of apathy, they will have no one to blame when Board of Education members from outlying districts take actions which are not educationally or fiscally sound (such as the Beechwood School and sixth-grade situation), then require Village of Kewaskum residents to pick up almost a quarter of the tab.

Sincerely,

R.G. Edwards M.D.

Dear Editor,

Some special volunteers in our Kewaskum schools added spice to the holiday season celebrations:

The Pete Ayer Ensemble performed in a delightful Christmas concert for the community....and donated the profits from ticket sales to KEYS. This marks the third year that the popular vocal group has benefited Kewaskum Youth Scholarship, Inc.

Sue Kofler and Janet Martenson co-chaired the Santa Store at Kewaskum Elementary...thanks to several days of long hours on their part and their helpers, our kids shopped for their Christmas gifts and the school's PTO raised funds for projects.

A long-time volunteer with the national Art Aware program, Joan Albers, who is a picture lady at Kewaskum Elementary, coordinated a portrait painting demonstration for the entire school to observe. She invited professional artist

Dan Gerhartz, who is also a volunteer at the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts, to show first hand how the pros paint. It was a real treat to watch the portrait of Principal Richard Zarlino progress throughout the day!

Thank you all, from all of us!

Happy New Year,

To the Editor:

There is much to learn in this world. We are attending a class offered through Citizen Advocacy of Washington County and MPTC, West Bend. We are learning skills that will help us find out how to confidently live and work in our community.

The main subject we are always learning more about is our human and civil rights. We are people who happen to have a wide variety of disabilities, as well as people who are concerned about the rights that are due to us.

Our classes have covered very informative topics: employment, assertiveness in our approaches to problems, general problem-solving, banking procedures and dealing with medical issues. Many more topics will be covered before our classes end in January.

We are learning to make decisions that will help us and others in the future. We will carry our skills to the community, and share what we have learned with others. We hope to see classes like this offered for others in the future.

We want to thank the generous donors whose contributions to Citizen Advocacy made this class possible, along with Moraine Park Technical College. We also thank our teachers.

We are grateful that funding has made it possible for us to gain the most valuable gift people can get: the knowledge and skills to make our way in the world.

Winter Road Report Service Begins

Let your fingers do some walking before you do the driving during snowy weather this winter.

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation reminds motorists that the 24-hour winter road condition report is available via telephone now through mid-April, if necessary.

Madison residents can call 266-7040 to receive the road condition reports; in Milwaukee, the number to call is 342-2211. Motorists in other parts of the state and bordering states (northern Illinois, Minnesota and Iowa) can call the toll-free number: 1-800-ROAD-WIS (762-3947).

Callers will be updated on road conditions at least four times a day, more often if road conditions change.

County highway and sheriff departments and state troopers report road conditions to highway district and state patrol offices. The area reports are synthesized into one major report and sent to Madison where they are used to develop the state-wide road condition reports, explained Tony Paulson, communications director for the State Patrol.

"Knowing the conditions of the road before you start out can save your life," said James Van Sistine, administrator of the Division of State Patrol.

More than 1 million calls for the recorded road condition report were received last winter at a cost of about $100,000, said Van Sistine. When the weather is bad, the system is flooded with thousands of calls. Those who get busy signals are asked to listen to their local public radio station or official weather station for the reports.

"We hope to install replacement equipment late this winter to improve service," Van Sistine said.

Currently, there are 20 lines serving Milwaukee and seven lines for Madison. Statewide, there are five toll-free 800 lines.

Paul Norton, executive director of the Educational Communications Board, said Wisconsin Public Radio Network listeners will hear the road condition report every weekday at 6:30 a.m., 7:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and 7:29 p.m. On weekends, the report will be broadcast at 8:03 a.m., about noon, and 4:30 p.m.

The report can be heard on station Milwaukee/Delafield WHAD, 90.7 FM.

Meteorologist Elroy Jagler, who is in charge of the Wisconsin office of the National Weather Service, said that the road report is part of the continuous weather information broadcast over weather radio station KEC60 at 162.4 megahertz in the Milw. area. Special radio receivers are needed to tune in these weather broadcasts and can be purchased at most radio equipment stores.

Shorthand/Speedwriting To Be Offered at Moraine Park Technical College

Those wishing to improve and/or acquire shorthand skills for employment or personal use will have the option to choose from two types of shorthand at Moraine Park Technical College's West Bend campus next semester.

The traditional Gregg Shorthand will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:30 to 3 p.m. This three-credit course begins on Jan. 26. Emphasis will be placed on transcribing from shorthand notes, as well as punctuation, grammar and spelling.

A new course, "speedwriting I," will be offered on Monday evenings from 6:30 to 10 p.m. It also is a three-credit course, and begins Jan. 25. Instead of learning the traditional Gregg outlines, a shorthand made up of the alphabet will be learned. This is a new type of shorthand that is becoming very popular and will be offered at some area high schools next fall. Emphasis in this course will also be placed on transcription, grammar, punctuation and spelling.

Many employers still need employees who have shorthand skills and either of these types of shorthand is acceptable in most cases. The credits from either of these classes can be applied toward the shorthand requirement for the administrative assistant-secretarial program at Moraine Park.

Anyone interested in these two courses may register between Jan. 11 and 25. For more information, call 334-0909, Ext. 69.

An Insider's View Of Veterinary Medicine

[You've met Cinnamon the cat before, when the Wisconsin Veterinary Medical Association introduced him in 1986 as a spokesperson offering traveling tips for pets. For this article, Cinnamon agreed to share an inside look at a veterinary practice — a vantage point he secured on his last trip to the clinic!]

Had to pay a visit to my veterinarian last week. "Time to have those claws removed," my owner said to me. And I thought sharpening them on the back side of the couch — where no one could see me — was something I could get away with!

At any rate, as you can imagine, I wasn't very excited about this trip. Even though I love car rides and will travel anywhere with my family, this trip was one I felt I could do without.

My attitude changed a little though, once I got to the clinic. You see, for the first time, I had a chance to get to know my doctor a little better. Before this, I only stayed as long as it took to get my vaccinations and physical exam, and then I was out the door.

Not getting to know my veterinarian wasn't my doctor's fault. I just never took the time to do it before, even though he tried to take the time to get to know me. But this trip was different. I figured that as long as I was going to be confined to the place for a few days, I might as well take a look around and pay some attention to what was going on.

The first thing I did notice was my doctor's diploma hanging on his office wall. Overheard him telling my owner that he had to complete four years of college for his bachelor of science degree, and then another four years in veterinary school earning his doctorate of veterinary medicine. I hadn't realized how much education and effort he put into developing his veterinary skills!

me and my owner — I figured she'd want to see that place too, so we took her along — I also noticed quite a bit of sophisticated equipment. In addition to the surgical area, where there were the usual surgery tables, anesthesia equipment and surgical instruments, I also noticed an incubator, heart monitoring machine, x-ray equipment, pharmacy supplies, dental cleaning equipment and orthopedic supplies. Neither I nor my owner had ever realized a veterinary practice required so many different pieces of equipment and so many varied supplies.

Why he required so many different instruments became clear when he answered my owner's questions about the kinds of problems he treats. Seems as though he does a lot more than the routine, traditional things you and I are used to: vaccinations, heartworm testing, surgical neutering, and declawing. He also deals with heart disease; bone and joint disease; tooth decay; diabetes; ear infections; parasites; urinary tract infections; foreign objects in throats, ears, noses and eyes; stomach and bowel problems; cancer of all kinds; eye ulcers; and slipped discs.

Besides all of that, he also works with animals who've been injured by cars or guns or who've been hurt in other household or outdoor accidents. That means he fixes broken legs, repairs wounds and treats pets with concussions or other head injuries. It also means that he often has to do a lot of tests — blood tests, urine and stool sample tests, and x-rays — to try to figure out what the problem is. And it means that he and his assistant sometimes have to give intravenous fluids or provide other kinds of medications to an injured or sick pet in order to save the animal's life.

I noticed though, that he doesn't always have to deal with just sick or injured pets. He does do a lot of annual examinations of healthy pets — those once a year check-ups that I know I'm not too fond of. And while we were walking around, I saw a woman bring in an entire litter of new pedigreed puppies. My doctor said he was going to check them and give them a clean bill of health so that their owner could find good homes for them.

By the time the tour was over, I didn't really mind that my owner had to leave... I was ready to take a nap anyway. The kennel they put me in was clean and there was plenty of space for me to curl up and take a snooze.

Unfortunately, I knew I wasn't in there for a pleasure visit. Pretty soon the veterinarian came by to escort me to the surgery room for my declawing. Can't say I remember too much about that though — outside of some reassuring words at the beginning, the anesthesia put me into such a deep sleep that I don't recall one thing about the surgery. I just remember waking up in my kennel!

Sure my front feet were a little sore. But I guess it wasn't as bad as I expected. Besides, I found out that if you meowed just the right way, they'd give you a little extra attention. Pretty sneaky, I know, but even tough guys like me need a little extra affection every now and then.

They fed me, talked to me, petted me, kept my cage clean and checked my feet frequently to make sure everything was o.k. Not bad attention for a place away from home.

I even had a comfortable night's sleep. Sure I was lonely for my owner and my own favorite snoozing place. But all in all, I found this place pretty interesting — and busy. These people never stop working. But yet, they still found time to reassure all the overnighters.

I have to say, I was certainly glad when I got to go home the next morning, because there's nothing like your own bed to sleep in. But all things considered, I was pretty impressed with my doctor's practice. And I know one thing, I'll sure be a lot more confident about going back there the next time I'm not feeling so well!

Q. How long will shelled nuts stay fresh?

A. If you refrigerate them in an airtight container, nuts will keep for about three months. Place them in the freezer for longer storage. Unshelled nuts may be stored in a cool, dry place.

Q. I've read about the benefits of fiber. How many calories does fiber have?

A. Dietary fiber, no matter what the food source, is an indigestible carbohydrate. Though it aids in bowel function, fat and carbohydrate metabolism and prevention of diverticulosis, fiber contributes virtually no calories.

Q. Can cream pies and custard pies be frozen?

A. They can't be frozen because the fillings separate. Do store them promptly in the refrigerator.

response to the Groundwater Protection Act of 1983, Peterson said. One provision of the law required the DOT to set salt storage standards for every county — those requirements became effective in May 1986.

"The careless storage of highway salt has the potential to cause far more environmental damage than the improper spreading of salt on highways," noted Peterson.

Under the new rule, counties must store salt in a waterproof, covered holding basin to prevent salt solutions from leaking into the groundwater. The rule also set a required distance between salt storage containers and bodies of water.

This year, the DOT provided $7.4 million for the construction of county salt storage facilities to hold an additional 160,000 tons, and renovated other storage so that all salt storage facilities would meet the new standards by last Oct. 1. The counties also built new salt storage facilities, providing a state capacity total of 392,000 tons.

MONEY TALKS:

Volunteers for Farm Counseling

Money Talks for Farm Families is the name of a new, free, confidential service being offered by the U.W. Extension, Washington County Office.

And when someone talks, there also should be someone who listens.

The listeners are four volunteers from Washington County who have recently completed 36 hours of training and are ready to put their skills to work to help other farm families in the county.

The volunteers have been trained to help farm families set up spending plans, establish and negotiate debt repayment if necessary, organize financial records and examine insurance coverage. As part of the training sessions, the group has covered the help available through the Extension Office from computer programs to general information.

With increased financial pressures on farm families, there is an accompanying increase in stress, so yet another portion of the training was advice on listening for clues to the stress and means to combat it.

The volunteer counselors do not pretend to know all the answers. They each are from a farm family. They are willing to help families to work together to deal with financial concerns. Above all, confidentiality is stressed in any of their dealings with others.

No Link Seen Between Alzheimer's And Aluminum in the Foods We Eat

By Joyce Albrecht,
Extension Home Economist

When researchers found high levels of aluminum in the brains of some Alzheimer's victims, many people tossed out their aluminum cookware.

But there's no evidence that the small amount of aluminum in the foods we eat is related to Alzheimer's disease, a type of senility.

Aluminum occurs naturally in many foods. But our bodies have their own natural barriers against it. The stomach and intestines of normal people block aluminum from entering our bloodstreams. Healthy kidneys get rid of any aluminum that may be absorbed, keeping it out of the rest of our bodies.

But does cooking or storing food in aluminum affect the amount of aluminum we ingest? Insignificantly. In a 1984 study, UW Madison researchers measured the amounts of aluminum present in food after it was cooked and stored in aluminum pans, trays and foil. They found that the amount of aluminum in the foods increased only slightly and often not at all.

The researchers noted, however, that many prescription and over-the-counter drugs are a significant source of aluminum. While you can get 20-40 milligrams of aluminum in the average American diet per day, a heavy user of some types of antacids can ingest 840-5,000 milligrams of aluminum per day. A suggestion is for consumers to read labels and watch for aluminum-containing ingredients in over-the-counter drugs.

If aluminum could trigger Alzheimer's disease — and this has not been proven — most likely it entered the victims' bodies through a defect in their body's normal barriers in the stomach, kidneys or breathing passages. Recent studies also suggest that the highest levels of aluminum exposure may be from the environment, such as aluminum particles in a factory's air.

Scientists have produced aluminum build-up, but not mental degeneration, in the brains of laboratory animals by implanting aluminum salts in the noses of rabbits. Further research must be done to determine if this has any significance for Alzheimer's disease.

Patients with kidney disease who accidentally receive aluminum during dialysis may become disoriented due to having too much aluminum in their systems, a condition called aluminum toxicity. Recently, a number of investigators have shown that people with kidney disease, especially children, who receive large doses of aluminum in drugs may also develop aluminum toxicity.

The link between aluminum and Alzheimer's disease is speculative at this point. We have no solid evidence that anyone with Alzheimer's disease can blame their condition on aluminum. And even if they could, their cooking utensils would not be the source. So, the bottom line is keep your aluminum pots and pans, and if you want to be extra careful, avoid drugs that contain aluminum.

Zoo Breaks Annual Attendance Record

Although he or she probably did not know it, the 39th person to enter the Milwaukee County Zoo on November 29, 1987 broke the all-time annual attendance record of 1,654,818 visitors, established in 1986.

By 4:30 p.m. on December 3, 1987, 1,657,639 people had visited the Zoo. It is estimated that 1987 will close with an annual attendance of 1.68 million.

Zoo officials attribute the increased attendance to the opening of the Dairy Complex and to the success of several special events including Milwaukee A la Carte, where attendance reached 98,985 for four days.

For additional information, please contact the Milwaukee County Zoo, 414/771-3040.

State DOT's Highway Maintenance Program Keeps Environment Safe

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation has achieved a balance between two conflicting goals — maintaining bare and ice-free roads during winter while keeping salt levels in the waters of the state to a minimum.

"County highway crews, which are contracted by the state to maintain highways in the winter, have learned to walk the tightrope," said Harvey Peterson, DOT's regional maintenance engineer. "We are trying to apply just enough salt to reasonably de-ice the roads for proper tire traction."

Salt, sand and snow-plowing are the principal winter maintenance tools, but salt is carefully controlled because of its potential harm to the environment. For this reason, chemical spreaders are calibrated to apply the exact needed amount of salt — from 100 pounds per mile to 300 pounds per mile.

"Knowing when to apply the chemicals is very important because putting on too much too early is wasteful and applying too little too late will not be effective," Peterson said.

Because preventing ice from forming takes much less salt than melting it, about 5 to 10 times less, highway crews try to anticipate the onset of a storm.

When the air temperature is less than 10 degrees F but not less than zero, or the pavement temperature is less than 20 degrees, chemical spreaders apply a mixture of calcium chloride and sodium chloride, or salt, in carefully measured amounts. Calcium chloride boosts the melting power of plain salt. Sand is usually used when air and/or pavement temperatures are zero degrees F and lower or if there are high winds.

Salt is also controlled in District Administrator Kleinhans read a letter from Dave Bertelsen requesting the Board's permission for the swing choir to participate in a music competition and festival in Orlando, Florida. Since Mr. Bertelsen was not present, it was decided that the item would be tabled until he was available to answer the Board's questions.

Motion passed 6-0.

At 9:35 p.m. the Board reconvened to open session.

Ruth Schmitt questioned the wording of the November 9, 1987 minutes (page 2, paragraph 6). District Administrator Kleinhans reminded the Board of the upcoming forum to be held on December 7th regarding property tax relief and other legislative proposals.

Ms. Kleinhans also reminded the Board about the December 9th land transfer hearing and asked that anyone wishing to volunteer to accompany her please contact the Administrative Office.

'Farming for Profit' Series Planned at County Courthouse

Has your farm business generated a profit this past year? This question may be difficult to answer based on your record system unless you have prepared the necessary financial statements.

A "Farming For Profit" series will be held on four Wednesdays, January 20 and 27 and February 3 and 10, 1988. Programs will be held from 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. at the Washington County Courthouse in West Bend.

The Washington County Extension Office has scheduled this series of sessions to help farm families analyze their business and prepare the information needed to work with their lender.

Most farmers use cash accounting for their business. This is easier than other accounting methods and adequate for tax purposes. However, cash accounting without the needed financial adjustments may not reflect the profitability of a farm business. When updated net worth statements, income statements and cash flow budgets are prepared profitability can be measured.

This will help farm families evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of their business. With their information available management decisions can be made with greater knowledge and awareness.

Another objective of the series is to help prepare information needed to meet with your lenders. Lenders will appreciate the financial information and it will help secure the financing needed.

The sessions will also help evaluate family and business goals and help families evaluate family living expenses.

Christmas Seal Campaign Short Of County Goal

"It's never too late to give the gift of good health," said James E. Pender in announcing that the 1987 Christmas Seal Campaign of the American Lung Association of Wisconsin was 20 percent short of its $21,066 Washington county goal on Christmas Eve.

While it's not unusual to reach the campaign goal after the holidays, said Pender, executive director of the state Lung Association, some people may think it's too late to mail in their Christmas Seal contributions.

Pender said that additional generous contributions are needed to meet growing demands for Lung Association programs and services. State-wide, $163,000 in end-of-the-year contributions is needed to reach the campaign goal of $823,000.

"Increasing awareness of the health risks associated with smoking has resulted in growing demands for Lung Association services," Pender said, adding that 350,000 Americans die prematurely each year from smoking-related diseases.

"Last year Christmas Seals helped provide education programs in 71 of Wisconsin's 72 counties, reaching over 145,000 elementary and high school students with a 'don't start smoking' message."

"Education is an important area for all Wisconsin residents," Pender said. "Our programs encourage attitude change toward smoking by increasing awareness and offering alternatives to persuasive advertising and peer pressure."

Christmas Seal donations also help provide stop-smoking programs for adults, including four types of group and self-help programs, counseling for families of asthmatic children, and information and referral services for adults with emphysema, chronic bronchitis and other lung diseases.

Christmas Seal contributions may be mailed to the American Lung Association of Wisconsin at P.O. Box 500, Hudson, WI 54016.

Ripon College Redmen Explode on St. Norbert

In a game that was expected to be another typical Midwest Conference cliff-hanger, the Ripon College men's basketball team exploded from the locker room and ran away with an 88-62 win at home over St. Norbert College.

For the night, the Redmen shot 58 percent from the floor, 10 for 14 from 3-point range, and 94 percent from the free throw line, and the outcome was never in doubt. The win upped the Redmen's record to 2-1 in the conference and boosted them to 5-2 going into the semester break.

Among the stat leaders for the Redmen was Tyrone Kleinhans Kewaskum, 17 Points - 8 rebounds; Kleinhans continues to be a dominant force on the glass.

The Redmen will resume competition in Jackson, MS at Millsaps College, and in Memphis, TN at Rhodes College on January 5 and 6.

Meetings of Goose Season Changes Slated

A series of eight informational meetings to explain proposed changes in the 1988 goose season framework and seek waterfowl hunters comments have been scheduled, Steve Miller, Department of Natural Resources' wildlife bureau director said.

The first meeting will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, January 6, 1988. It will be in the Cartwright Center on the UW LaCrosse campus at 1741 State Street and continue until 9:15 p.m. The second meeting will be from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, January 7, 1988 at Madison in the MATC Truax Campus Room 206 A and B. Parking is in the student parking lot and entrance to the building is on the Wright Street entrance.

"Three hearings are scheduled following the informational meetings," Miller said. "They will be at Eau Claire, Appleton and Waukesha."

The problems that have promoted the proposed changes in the goose season framework are topped with the fact that the Wisconsin goose season is basically limited to two weekends in some areas. Goose season is closed during the major goose migrations and season lengths are unpredictable because of the need for emergency closures following attainment of harvest goals.

Some of the other problems listed include lost hunting opportunity on local giant Canada goose flocks that migrate usually after season closure and the nuisance problems caused by underharvest of local goose flocks.

"Ideally, our Wisconsin Canada goose season should run in conjunction with the duck season and last about 40 days," Miller said. "Practically it would help to have all seasons outside the Horicon Zone run 30 to 40 days, but any changes in length must provide harvest control mechanisms so that we do not exceed our assigned Fish and Wildlife Service harvest quota."

Four proposed changes have been made which include having the season framework remain the same to a zone system, permit system and harvest registration. A fifth proposal includes variations of the first four.

Other informational meetings are scheduled Monday, January 11, 1988, at Green Bay from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Brown County Library Auditorium.

Tuesday, January 12, 1988, at Spooner from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Wisconsin Agricultural Experimental Farm on Highway 70 East and at Manitowoc from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Lecture Room E 125 of the UW Center Manitowoc County at 705

Viebahn; Wednesday, January 13, 1988, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Wausau in Rooms 450-451 of North Central Technical Institute and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Fond du Lac in Rooms A 106, A 107 and A 110 in Moraine Park Technical Institute Cafeteria; and Thursday, January 14, 1988, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Waupun in the Waupun City Hall.

All the hearings will begin at 7 p.m. and will begin on Tuesday, January 19, 1988 in the North High School Auditorium at Eau Claire. On Wednesday, January 20, 1988 the hearing will be in the Branch 4 Courtroom of the Outagamie County Courthouse in Appleton and the last hearing will be Thursday, January 21, 1988 in the Waukesha Room of the Waukesha County Office Building at Waukesha.
