158 Runners in Kettle 20; Over 800 Served at Lions BBQ

They're off!

A total of 158 runners competed in the Lion's Club Kettle 20 held Sunday, August 21, along with the 15th annual chicken bar-b-que in River Hill Park.

The course for the 3.5, 5, and 12.4 mile events led competitors through the rough and hilly terrain of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, but beautiful weather and a well organized race made the day a success for participants as well as spectators.

Each race was divided into several different age groups; from 15 years old to 60 and over and drew three runners from as far away as Huron, South Dakota; Michael, Eric, and Andre Held.

Wanda Williams, a nursing student at UW-Oshkosh, took the women's title with a time of 1:29:15, and Andy Jones, Appleton, a member of the 1987 Canadian running team lead the men with a 1:06:24 victory. Williams had run the race before but this was Jones first time at the Kettle 20.

After working up hearty appetites, runners joined the smell of grilling food and the crowd, already enjoying the delicious chicken dinners cooked by the Lion's members. Over 800 dinners were sold. Refreshments were abundant and heads were nodding to the music of Eddy Schneider.

The audience listened attentively as enthusiastic auctioneers took bids on a wide array of items displayed at the White Elephant Auction held in the afternoon. Every donation was greatly appreciated, and the auction was well received.

A Sincere THANK YOU

*There's an open gate at the end of the road
Through which each must go alone,
And there in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims His own,
Beyond the gate, our loved one
Finds happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.*

We wish to express our sincere, heartfelt thanks to all our relatives, neighbors and friends, who helped in any way during the extended illness, lengthy hospitalizations and recent death of my husband, and our father, father-in-law, grandfather and brother, WILLIAM J. HARBECK.

Many thanks to all those who expressed their sympathy with the many cards of condolence, flowers, favors, food, memorials, spiritual offerings and heartwarming phone calls and visits.

Thanks to the Kewaskum Rescue Squad, police officer, pallbearers, the Holy Trinity adult choir and organist for their beautiful music, and the traffic officer.

Thanks to Larry Martin of Miller's Funeral Home. His compassion and intuitiveness for knowing our needs before we did made our time of sorrow a little easier to bear.

Thanks to Father Robert Berghammer for his prayers, his help and his beautifully moving eulogy.

Special thanks to the staff of the Kewaskum Statesman, Cheryl Kuehl, Gerry Mueller and Sharon Callaway Roznik. Their dedication and diligent hard work enabled us to get our paper out on time, which is exactly the way Bill would have wanted it.

Everyone's sympathy, thoughtfulness and consideration touched us deeply and will always be remembered.

Jim Schaeffer Named Hyatt's Chef of the Year at Conference

Had it not been for the fact that he was needed in the kitchen 15 years ago, Voorhees, New Jersey, resident James Schaeffer, executive chef at the Cherry Hill Hyatt, might not be where he is today.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schaeffer, Kewaskum. As a teenager growing up in Kewaskum, Wis., Schaeffer, 30, decided that one way to earn pocket money was to find work as a busboy. After applying for a job at a restaurant in his home town, the management put him in the kitchen instead of cleaning tables.

Last month, Schaeffer, who has directed food preparations at the Hyatt in Cherry Hill for the last two years, was named Hyatt's Chef of the Year. More than 90 chefs competed for the honor during a Hyatt food and beverage conference in Monterey, Calif.

"As delighted as I am with the honor," Schaeffer said after a three-hour lunch stint in the Hyatt kitchen, "I must admit that my staff had a lot to do with it."

As executive chef, Schaeffer supervises a staff of 40 at the Cherry Hill Hyatt.

After high school, Schaeffer became a chef at the Chicago Hilton while holding down another job, that of sous chef at Motorola Corp's headquarters in Schaumburg, Ill.

By working two jobs, Schaeffer earned enough money to enroll at the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y. After graduation in 1981, he worked as a sous chef at the Playboy Hotel and Casino in Atlantic City before going to the Hyatt in 1986.

Being honored hasn't changed his outlook, which he summarizes thus: Work hard and stay hungry.

"I have to remember where I came from," Schaeffer said. "At the same time it's my responsibility to educate younger chefs...I have to mold young people just the way I was educated."

Campus Notes

Katchever Featured At Illinois Doll Show

Joanne Katchever, a paper doll artist from Kewaskum, was featured in the Doll and Teddy Bear Show held this past Sunday at the Kane County Fairgrounds in St. Charles, Ill., 35 miles west of Chicago.

Katchever creates portrait paper dolls of children and teenagers using rear models. Her "My Own Doll" studio is in her home at 3810 Ridge Road in Kewaskum.

Katchever, who does mail order and commission work, has

Cholesterol Testing At Kennelly Pharmacy Saturday

The national anti-cholesterol campaign is coming to Kewaskum; it's the kind of heartbreak — a break for the heart — everyone can use a little more.

Kennelly Pharmacy will host a cholesterol testing Saturday, August 27, from 9-4, for a minimal charge of $6.

Dr. William Castelli, medical director for a national study investigating heart disease factors, found only 16 percent of most Americans know their cholesterol levels. He estimates the need to know is as important as knowing their social security number and blood pressure.

For the three out of 10 Americans who don't see their doctor every year, Castelli says the community cholesterol checks are the only solution.

The test will be simpler, less costly and results will be known faster for this cholesterol test than for others in the area.

"Less than 1 cc. of blood will be drawn," said Tom Kennelly.

"And results will be known in three minutes. Some places, you have to wait up to three days to get the results and the testing is done in a hospital lab which is obviously more costly."

The Boehringer Mannheim Corporation will administer the tests. The result will be incorporated in data studies and patients judged to be at risk for heart disease will be referred to their own physicians for further work, if that is warranted.

Paul Bachorik, Ph.D., associated with Lipid Research Clinics nationwide, compared the Reflotron system developed by Boehringer Mannheim with traditional, hospital lab, methods and found the comparison favorable.

"The accuracy is like 99 percent," said Kennelly.

Bachorik's conclusion, after evaluating tests done by both methods on a controlled group of high school students tested over 20 days: "We conclude the whole blood cholesterol results using the Reflotron system offers simplicity of operation and immediacy of results."

The Reflotron utilizes a glass fiber paper which separates the blood and then runs it through a photometer which assigns a blood cholesterol value.

The results are then compared to national treatment guidelines developed in 1985 by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

"We say it's (the test) coming to your town," says Dr. Castelli. "Someone in your town cares enough to think of you."

Most heart specialists agree that screening all children would not be cost-effective because associated heart disease problems are much less common in the first two decades of life. Cholesterol is a major health risk in adults.

Recently, the sudden deaths of Chicago Mayor Harold Washington, basketball superstar Pete Maravich have once again focused the attention on evaluating heart problems before they became severe.

"We want to offer this to help the community," said Kennelly.

KEEP AWAY

"Bill got his nose broken in three places."

"Well, if he takes my advice he'll keep out of those places in the future."

Kocher Receives Dental Award

Dental Assisting Board announces Sherry A. Kocher, 355 North Ave., Kewaskum, can now add the professional designation, CDPMA, after her name. The letters denote her new status as a Certified Dental Practice Management Assistant, which was awarded to her on Aug. 1, 1988, after she passed a rigorous examination.

Since the CDA program was established in 1948 some 100,000 dental assistants have been certified. The Dental Assisting National Board designs and administers the test which gauges the working knowledge of the candidate.

In addition to passing the test, consisting of some 300 questions, a candidate must meet certain eligibility requirements of education and experience, dependent on which certification he or she desires. The board offers certification not only for general chairside competence, but also for mastery management skills and in the techniques of orthodontic and surgical assisting.

As a certified dental practice manager, she has demonstrated command of a number of subjects such as appointment, record and inventory control, as well as insurance, financial and legal aspects of dentistry and radiation health and safety. A variety of techniques to assist the dentist in providing patient care has also been mastered by Ms. Kocher.

Schools Welcome Students Back

(Incorrect information was inadvertently given to the Statesman and published last week regarding the opening of school. The article below reflects correct information.)

Thursday, August 25th is the first day of school for returning and new students of the Kewaskum School District.

Parents and guardians should by this time have received information on bus rules and pick-up times. If you have not, please call the Johnson Bus Company at 626-4414 to complete arrangements.

We are asking that families take time to review the bus rider rules and safe boarding, riding, and unloading procedures. If this is your youngster's first experience at riding the "big bus" why not take some time, or arrange for someone to accompany him or her at that first pick-up and drop-off.

Also, be aware of the times crossing guards are present on village street corners and utilize them accordingly. And, finally, don't send your children to school before the school doors open as they will be unsupervised.

Information for those interested and eligible for the free and reduced hot lunch program is published in the Statesman today. Middle School and High School students also received copies of registration. Forms will again be given to elementary students (one per family) during the first week of school. If you don't receive one, or wish to review the criteria, please call the Business Office at 626-8427.

Hot lunch prices for this year will remain the same as for the past several years. That will be $1.10 daily and $4.75/$5.00 weekly. School on Thursday is a full day and lunch will be served.

The calendar for the school year is published in today's Statesman.

Please be aware of the fact that the School District does not carry insurance for students. We therefore urge parents/guardians to review their own policies to be certain coverage is adequate. Particularly in the case of athletics this is a necessity. WIAA insurance is no longer available for parents to purchase.

District Support staff have worked hard this summer cleaning and making the buildings "spic and span" for the fall opening. Different teachers have continued curriculum development and advanced training. Administrative staff have worked to hire new staff and arrange schedules. All is in readiness and all are anxious to greet children and begin anew.

Most important for us will be the continued support and involvement of parents, grandparents, guardians and community members at large.

Please take the time to review handbooks with your students, go over homework with them, call their teachers or principals, visit your schools, volunteer any time you might have and get involved with parent groups or committees! We need and want your assistance.

Other hints for a successful start to the 1988-89 school year include the following: Be positive about the teacher(s) your child has and the programs available; be interested in what is happening on a daily basis, encourage participation in extra-curricular activities; set goals that are high enough yet realistic and set aside some time on a regular basis for reading (or reading to your child) or homework.

WELCOME BACK!

'Labor of Love:' Peace Church Crew Travels to Buffalo, New York for Work on Habitats for Humanity

Two homes in Buffalo, New York, were the renovation projects for the 22 Peace UCC Church volunteers from Kewaskum, who spent the week of July 9 to 16 in that city. Housed in the youth fellowship area of historic Westminster Presbyterian Church in downtown Buffalo, the group did electrical, plumbing, dry-wall, and demolition work at sites on Kinsley and Harmonia Streets. These are mixed racial neighborhoods of older homes. The work was a part of Habitat for Humanity, an ecumenical Christian organization founded by Millard Fuller to eliminate sub-standard housing world-wide.

A newspaper from 1889 was discovered by the Kewaskum crew as walls were torn out of the Harmonia Street structure. Most recently, this small home had contained rental apartments for two families, with plans on the part of the landlord to add a third apartment, until he decided to donate the building to Habitat of Buffalo for renovation. When completed, the home will now be owned by a single family unit qualified by the Buffalo Habitat selection committee for a 20 year, no-interest mortgage. This will cost them less than the rent paid by one of the former apartment families in a safer, more comfortable structure!

Neighborhood adults and children joined the Kewaskum workers in the projects. The qualifying family must contribute 500 "sweat hours" to their new home, but many go far beyond that required labor. A Puerto Rican woman, the owner of the first Buffalo Habitat house together with her husband and three children, has now worked hundreds of hours on each of the other five houses voluntarily. The Kewaskum crew worked on houses five and six. An entire block of new houses are planned for fall of 1988 on land given to Habitat by the city of Buffalo. Westminster Church, host to Kewaskum's crew, plans to finance one home itself.

Labor of Love

Buffalo construction work in July were Chris Charland, Marlene Domasky, Willard Gruhle, Jennifer Kissinger, Jo Ann and Becky Manthei, Pat, Sr., Shannon and Pat, Jr., McFadden, Shirley and Mitchell Ogi, Bret Rauch, Joel Serwe, Mary Lou, Rod and Jennifer Stelter, Bob Schreffler, Richard Zaring, and Pastor James Bettin. Marian Erdman, Betty Bettin, and Ruth Gruhle were cooks for the group.

Each day breakfasts and dinners were prepared at the church, in addition to lunches and gallons of cold drinks packed for the construction sites. There was no drinking water at the sites. The Buffalo Habitat Staff (all projects of Habitat are locally directed) had supervisors, workers, and supplies at the sites each day and also hosted a gala picnic at a Niagara River Park for the Kewaskum crew the final evening. Two Buffalo lawyers on the staff donated their services to complete all mortgage and legal work for the homes built or renovated.

"If you folks from Kewaskum could package all your enthusiasm and energy, we could market it for even more home-building here in Buffalo," said Darwin Schmitt of the Buffalo Staff. The crew was invited back next summer; the same invitation had been issued from the Nashville, Tennessee Habitat staff to the 15 Peace Church volunteers who worked there on a new Habitat home in the summer of 1987. Peace Church also donated $500.00 to the Buffalo project for building supplies. The congregation of Peace Church paid for the entire trip and gift from special Lenten offerings and individual sponsorships. Pastor Bettin has planned and organized both the 1987 and 1988 trips. Most of the volunteers have gone both times, and several are already signed up for a 1989 work project for a destination unknown as yet.

A Sunday sightseeing at Niagara Falls plus evening recreation in the Buffalo area kept the work-weary crew ever active. The 700 mile trip was made in one day each way in three vans and a truck, the latter laden with cots, bedrolls, clothing, and food supplies. Patrick McFadden, Sr., recorded the trip and project work on slides, which will be shown to church members and friends in Fellowship Hall following the 9:30 a.m. service at Peace Church on September 18. Community friends interested in learning of this trip are invited to contact Pastor Bettin at Church (626-4011) or at the parsonage (626-2911) after Labor Day.

Contributions made to the Habitat Countertop Banks at local business places are not used to fund Peace Church trips, but are sent directly to Americus, Georgia, the International Headquarters for Habitat for Humanity to be used for national and international shelter needs. Betty Bettin is the Kewaskum countertop bank coordinator.

DRY MOUTH

While aging is perhaps the commonest cause of mouth dryness, several drugs, including anti-histamines, diuretics, blood pressure medication and mood elevators can produce dry mouth as a side effect. Regardless of cause, it should be treated promptly because oral dryness can cause sudden and dramatic dental decay. Even with temporary dryness, keep the mouth continuously moist and sips of water or an artificial saliva product.

Shop for Quality Home Health Care Provider

Home is where the heart is. At least that is what national consumer surveys are telling us, including one recently conducted by Louis Harris and Forecasting International. The Harris survey showed that consumers prefer to receive health care at home by nine to one margin over institutional care. Driving this trend are comfort, desire for independence and the significantly reduced cost of home care, according to the survey.

As consumers use of home health care increases, they are asking how can they be sure that the provider they select adheres to high quality care standards?

The State of Wisconsin helps by surveying home health agencies and by granting licenses only to reputable organizations. For the most part, this long-standing system has worked. Consumers should, however, be aware of a loophole in this system. A license is not required if a home health care provider offers only one of the five basic home health services (nursing, home health aide, or speech, physical or occupational therapy). Consumers should know the state does not survey these unlicensed organizations.

Without state surveys, there is no monitoring of the quality of care or administrative practices of these agencies. Moreover, those receiving care from these unlicensed providers have no other recourse than the courts if a quality of care issue should arise.

The state requires that licensed home health agencies have a complaint procedure which includes the state. This grievance procedure helps consumers deal with quality of care issues and helps to ensure the protection and safety of patients.

To protect the growing number of infants, children, disabled and elderly who receive care in their homes, Wisconsin licensing laws should apply equally to all organizations that provide home health care services. With solid consumer input and support, the necessary changes can be made.

In the meantime, consumers should know that not everyone who offers home health care services is licensed. When arranging for home care services, consumers should know that dealing with a licensed agency means that: its Professional Advisory Committee includes physicians and nurses; each patient works with a doctor and nurses to develop an individual care plan; the agency staff has the proper credentials and insurance; and the agency staff will monitor and supervise the delivery of all home health services.

Nearly all state-licensed home health care agencies are members of the Wisconsin Homecare Organization, a professional group working to promote high quality, cost effective home health services throughout Wisconsin. The group's "Consumer's Guide to Home Health Care" provides valuable information on how to select and evaluate home health care providers and is available free by contacting VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION, 307 Lincoln, Sheboygan, WI, or Wisconsin Homecare Organization, P.O. Box 752, Madison, WI 53701-0752).

Thank you to everyone who came to visit, sent cards, flowers, food, etc. and to all who helped with the children and work while I was in the hospital and recuperating at home. It was greatly appreciated.

Office Machine Repair Program Still Has Openings for Fall

Walk into even the most technologically advanced office and scattered among the computers you will see a typewriter here and there, a calculator and a copy machine. The computer may be the one drawing all of the attention, but these other machines still perform functions critical to the office.

When these machines break down, someone has to come and fix them - someone who is detail-oriented with mechanical ability, someone who has the patience to work with intricate mechanisms.

Providing people to fill this position is the goal of the office machine repair program at Moraine Park Technical College in Fond du Lac. This one-year diploma program instructs students in electromechanical skills, electronics and basic mechanisms while providing hands-on experience in repairing a variety of office machines.

By working on IBM typewriters, electronic word processors and copy machines, students learn how to clean, adjust, lubricate, troubleshoot, replace parts and rebuild the machines.

"The office machine repair program is a good training ground for the basic mechanical skills, says Glenn Demoske, instructional manager for the trade and technical division. "Businesses will hire our graduates and then send them to a specialized school in their own product area."

"Companies are looking for that basic training because the theory is the same behind different machines," says Ray Gorden, instructor for the program. "New employees will usually start in the shop and then move on to become field representatives."

From the position of field representative, a graduate can move into a sales and service management position or work as a manufacturer's representative. Salaries for graduates start in the $7 per hour range.

Both Demoske and Gorden admit that relocation is a factor in this field. "Some of our graduates are employed locally but not in the numbers that we are producing," says Demoske. "The larger companies located in Milwaukee and Madison employ more field representatives that travel to the smaller towns."

Moraine Park's program is the only one of its kind in the state. "We are the only place where someone can come to learn how to repair a mechanical typewriter," says Demoske.

For more information on this program call Dick McCourt at the Fond du Lac campus at 922-8611.

School Enrollments To Remain Steady

MADISON — About 772,000 Wisconsin public school students will return to the classroom when the 1988-89 school year begins this fall, State Superintendent Herbert J. Grover reports.

This year's estimated enrollment is essentially the same as 1987-88, which had an official count of 772,363. No significant changes are expected in K-12 enrollments until 1991, Grover said. Although K-8 enrollments are increasing each year, the number of ninth- through twelfth-graders is expected to decrease until 1991.

These Wisconsin trends are consistent with nationwide projections from the U.S. Department of Education (ED), Grover added. Nationwide, the ED predicted public school enrollments would reach a low in the mid-1980s. ED predictions said that starting in 1985, enrollments would gradually increase in the elementary grades but would decrease in the high school grades until 1991.

But loving memories never die.
A silent thought a secret tear
Keep's your memory ever dear.

Sadly missed by her husband, children and grandchildren.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Avila C. Kreif, who passed away one year ago, Aug. 26, 1987:

This month comes to us with deep regret.
It brings the day we will never forget.

Her memory still is very dear.
So many times she seems so near.

No longer here our lives to share,
But in our hearts she is always there.

We miss her more each year
Some day we'll meet where there are no tears.

Sadly missed by husband and family.

UWWC Music Professor Peter Ayer Completes 17 Week Music Class for KM Correctional Institute Inmates

WEST BEND — Peter Ayer recently learned the literal meaning of working with "a captive audience." The result, he said, was "the most exciting teaching I've done in the last 10 years."

Ayer has been teaching for 35 years, the last 20 here at the University of Wisconsin — Washington County Center, where he is a professor of vocal music. Last spring, he traveled twice-a-week to the Kettle Moraine Correctional Institution to teach a two-hour music class to inmates.

The medium security prison is located 30 miles north of UWWC.

Twenty-seven students started the class. At the end, 17 weeks later, there were 23. Ayer said. "Nobody dropped the class, but four transferred out of Kettle Moraine."

Participants in the class earned 3 UW credits for successfully completing Music 173, the same music appreciation course taken by students at UWWC and other campuses. At Kettle Moraine, the course was part of the ongoing PREP program — an acronym for Post-Secondary Re-entry Education Program.

Ayer said, "The whole point of PREP is to make the time of incarceration a constructive one. So when men do re-enter the normal stream of society, they are better prepared to cope with life than when they went into prison."

"It's been proven that education does work. The recidivism rate (percentage of prisoners returning to prison) is much lower for those who have participated in the PREP program."

Ayer's students met for two 50-minute back-to-back sessions, with a five-minute break in between. "We covered music from the Gothic monophonic period of the Eighth Century up to contemporary music," he said. "We dealt primarily with what is considered art music — music meant to be listened to but with a certain amount of intent and understanding and analysis."

"This was not background music to wash the car by or do dishes by."

Ayer pulled no punches with his group. He said, "I didn't change my teaching methods at all."

Along with listening, each class member learned to read music by watching his own complete score of the music. For Mozart's "Twenty-Fourth Symphony," which Ayer called the class's "most demanding" piece of music, the score ran to 16 pages and the listening time to 12 minutes.

Learning to read music was the most important thing for the students, Ayer said. "They found out that they could understand something that before was an entire mystery to them."

Ayer found that his students were as interested in talking about the music as listening to it. He said, "They always wanted to know what made certain kinds of music sound like certain kinds of music..."

"It was so easy to get a discussion going. They almost always had an opinion."

At the end of the course, one man said that he had always known that music affected him emotionally and physically, but he didn't know why. The class provided an answer. He told Ayer what it was: "The Greek doctrine of ethos at work."

Some found simpler answers in the course, Ayer said. "One man said he had always liked the theme song to the Sergeant Preston of the Mounted Police show. But after the class, he now knows that the music is the overture from the Donna Diana Opera by Reznacek."

One of Ayer's biggest challenges, he said, was his realization that some students were there "not because they were terribly interested in learning about this type of music but because being in class was better than being somewhere else."

For many, he feels, the music spoke to them and convinced them that "this was something worth listening to."

At the end of the class, each student had to write a paper — on anything they wanted to, as long as it was related to music. One student, a banjo player, wrote a 10-page paper which Ayer called "the most complete description of playing a banjo that I've ever read."

But he never had a chance to hear the man play his banjo. Inmates were not allowed to bring instruments to class.

Last month, Ayer saw his class members again when he returned for a recognition program at Kettle Moraine for participants in the PREP program. "I got a good handshake from everyone and met some of their wives," he said.

The man who learned about why music moved him told Ayer he wants to take a singing course this fall. Many men wanted to know if Ayer was coming back to teach again.

He isn't, at least not for a while. An extra four hours of driving each week is tough to squeeze into a full-time teaching load at UWWC.

The excitement of the prison teaching lingers, Ayer said. The experience has helped crystalize some of his attitudes about the prison system.

"I guess I'm convinced that we have to have a place for people who can't handle society in a way that's not harmful to other people," he said. "But I know they can change, and if we're going to help them, we have to do something for them while they're there."

Ayer realizes that many are critical of educational programs for prisoners. He said, "Some say, 'Why treat them so well? They've got it better than people on the outside.'"

He disagrees. Things like the PREP program, he said, are "an absolutely vital part of our penal system." He added, "If we don't do more of this and do it better, things are going to get worse."

"Punishment doesn't produce anything but resentment and bitterness. That doesn't work."

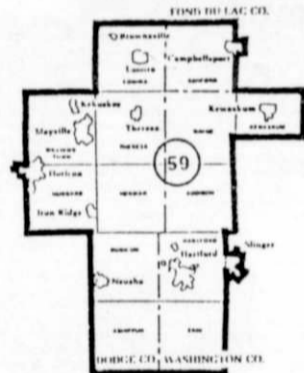

Ayer was moved by the PREP ceremonies. One of his former students delivered a speech in which he reminded other inmates they should blame no one except themselves for being in prison. And he praised PREP for "giving us a chance to do something that makes us feel successful."

From his own experience in the prison classroom, Ayer understands the significance of those words. He said, "We can talk about prison in terms of dollars and cents. But that seems like such a self-serving thing. What's important is to rehabilitate these people so that they can be people again."

"When they went in there, they were just a number. Because of education, some are going out with something they didn't have when they came in."

An Open Letter to Residents of the 59th Assembly District

During the past weeks I assume you have read and heard that Bill Klinker is in the race for the 59th District Assembly seat. However, you may not at this point, know who Bill Klinker is and why he is running.

That is why I would like to take this opportunity to tell you why I am seeking this office.

During my business career and in my personal life I have always been involved in serving people. I have been successful and enjoyed my work both in corporate management and in running my own business, Culligan of Hartford. My son now operates our service business, but I would also prefer to continue to serve people.

I have been active in the local Lions Club as its president and also served on the Board of the Hartford Community Hospital.

I have decided that the place for me to put my experience to the best use for my friends and neighbors is in the Assembly.

This area has always enjoyed good common-sense representation and I would appreciate the opportunity to continue that tradition.

I look forward to working with farmers, the business community, local governments and every resident of the District.

I look forward to working with Gov. Thompson, State Sen. Stitt and the entire Wis. State Government while serving the 59th District.

Let's maintain our reputation of being a good place to live, work, and do business.

Sincerely,

Bill Klinker

DRUG ENFORCEMENT

FACTS

The Washington County Sheriff's Department has been involved in drug investigations since 1973, with emphasis toward the conviction of drug pushers and dealers.

The Drug Unit was expanded in 1988 with the aid of a federal grant. Through these efforts, drugs worth hundreds of thousands of dollars are "off the street" in Washington County.

Youth education is a large part of our drug awareness programs. Presentations are available to all schools in the County.

According to Sheboygan County Sheriff John Webb, "Sheriff Schwartz was instrumental in developing a system which is used by many S.E. and N.E. counties in utilizing covert drug investigations, and the successful exchange of officers under mutual aid."

Richfield Town Supervisor Bill Neureuther said, "The Washington County Sheriff's Department provides an incredible amount of information to the public. Drug Awareness and crime prevention programs, 'Stranger Danger' programs in schools, and their famous 'Send Help' signs for motorists are just a few examples. This demonstrates the department's commitment to being part of the community."

Book Takes Mystery Out of Small Home Repairs

In case you haven't noticed, the day of the handyman is over.

You are a rare homeowner if you can find someone to come in and fix a sticky door, a leaky faucet, a worn screen door or the dozens of other little annoyances constantly cropping up.

More likely, the door continues to be pounded open, the dripping faucet stains the sink yellow and drives to distraction anyone within hearing distance, and household occupants learn to live with and love the myriad of diminutive visitors who meander in through the hole in the screen door.

Anyone who has ever needed a small household repair, which surely includes everyone, has experienced the frustration of trying to find a professional to do a small job and the rage of having to pay traveling costs and service charges in addition to labor and parts.

Then there is the indignity of spending time on the phone trying to track down and beg a repair person to deign to acknowledge the small problem, because most home improvement professionals are not interested in small jobs. The cost, coupled with the agony of waiting for the return call and the time off from work waiting for the service person to show up, often late or not at all, make a minor home repair a major headache.

Robert Berko may have the answer for you. Berko is the editor of SMALL HOME REPAIRS MADE EASY, a manual that lists step-to-step directions on how to do around-the-house repairs. According to Berko, such mysteries as unstopping the toilet, fixing the door bell and repairing the garage door are within the capability of even the most unskilled and unschooled among us.

The paperback manual starts your education even before you attack the problem with an illustrated rundown of common tools you will need and how to handle them. For example, the novice will appreciate the illustrations of five different types of hammers, such basic revelations as how to start a nail and how to avoid hammer marks on wood.

But lest the more experience among you scoff at a book that devotes a page to hanging a picture, shelves and other things on a wall, rest assured that the manual gets into the more exotic home repair tasks such as eliminating holes in masonry, plumbing problems, repairing or replacing cracked or warped outside siding and shingles, and repairing flashing and caulking roof joints.

Berko tells us that most home repairs are simple and can be mastered with no previous experience with tools or home repair. The manual provides easy-to-follow instructions, indicating the proper tools and materials to have on hand at the outset, making a visit to the hardware store in the middle of a project unnecessary.

This 80-large-page book, SMALL HOME REPAIRS MADE EASY, is available for $5 (plus $1.50 p&h) from Consumer Education Research Center (CERC), PO Box 336, South Orange, N.J. 07079, or 800-USA-0121 with credit card.

An added benefit to doing the job yourself is that you will probably do a better job than a workman who is trying to do the job in the least possible time, said Berko. "It's good for people to do their own repairs," he said. "It saves money and it's a source of satisfaction."

This book has just been updated to include new products and tools and even now includes simple instructions on installing your own telephone and extensions.

Berko is executive director of Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer organization founded in 1969 and devoted to educating consumers. CERC gets all proceeds from the sale of this book.

As a director of the New Jersey Home Improvement Contractors Association and former head on one of New Jersey's largest home improvement contracting companies, Berko has had many years experience in the home improvement field.

He found that many times homeowners, intimidated by their mistaken impression of the difficulty of a project, would hire contractors and still be unhappy by the quality of the repairs.

Even if a homeowner does not choose to do the home repair himself, this book will demystify the process, giving him the knowledge of what needs to be done, how complicated it is and what it should cost, said Berko.

Doug La Follette, U.S. Senate Candidate, to Visit Kewaskum

Kewaskum... "The citizens of Kewaskum are as important as those in Milwaukee and Madison. So why aren't my opponents visiting you here, as I've been doing for nearly 20 years," said Secretary of State Doug La Follette, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Bill Proxmire.

La Follette released a list of nearly 200 communities he has visited in the last four months that included Kewaskum. La Follette said he hoped to visit the area again before the September 13th primary election.

"I'm campaigning town to town, handshake to handshake, meeting the people of Wisconsin and listening to their concerns. Like Bill Proxmire, I'm campaigning in the Wisconsin tradition and I think the voters respect that," said La Follette who is called "Wisconsin's Independent Grass Roots Candidate."

La Follette said he's been helping working men and women, small business people, and family farmers all across Wisconsin for nearly 20 years. He's also fought against powerful special interest groups and defended the rights of the people of Wisconsin.

"I'm the only candidate in this race who's chosen not to spend big money because I don't feel that's the right way to elect our public officials. We're not sending a fund-raiser or a TV image to Washington, we're electing a U.S. Senator," La Follette said.

La Follette said big money is bad for the political process because it makes public officials indebted to special interests and drives truth out of the election process. He was critical of Senators who spend most of their time raising money instead of seeing that the people's business gets done.

"Whether money comes from special interest groups or out of your own pockets big money candidates tend to hide behind their TV ads and the people don't get to see who they really are. Only the Wisconsin voters will decide if public relations is more important than public service," La Follette said.

La Follette continued: "So when you see a flood of TV ads in the next few weeks, think of where the money is coming from, and think of Doug La Follette, the only Senate candidate visiting your community, not spending big money, and not spending millions on TV hype. I'm asking the people of Wisconsin to send a message to Washington by electing me, the last of the great little spenders, and declaring 'No more politics as usual!'" La Follette concluded.

Ruth to Speak at Candidate Forum

Richard Ruth, a Republican candidate in the 59th State Assembly district, today announced that he will participate in a candidate forum on August 30th.

"This is an excellent opportunity to meet the candidates and hear them express their views before the September 13th primary," Ruth said.

The event will be held at the Amerahn located just north of Kewaskum on Highway 45 and will begin at 7:30 p.m. The forum will include the Republican candidates for this position and the public is encouraged to attend.

Starting a Fitness Class

By Jacquie Wiedmeyer
Fitness Firm Instructor

Before you know it summer will be over, school will start up again and the fall schedule will be back. For many people September means getting back to a fitness class. Others will be joining a fitness class for the first time.

Here are a few pointers in finding a fitness class for you. There are many types of fitness classes to choose from; the range is from land aerobics to stretch'n tone or water aerobics. If you are interested in starting a program pick a class you think you will enjoy.

If you like dancing, aerobics could be the answer to a fun exercise class.

If dancing or aerobics is not your style try a stretch'n tone class where floorwork is the major part of a class. A stretch'n tone class is not aerobic but it will strengthen and tone the muscles.

The first two choices did not sound exciting to you, wait there is more. Catch the "new wave" in fitness. Water aerobics may be the answer to a fit body for you. Aquafit or water aerobics is for the swimmer and non-swimmer alike. Aerobics in the water is done in chest deep water. Aquafit is very beneficial for people with joint problems. The buoyancy of the water takes away about 90% of a persons body weight. The stress on the body when landing in water is significantly less than on land aerobics.

Now that you have decided on the type of class you would enjoy call the instructor. Talk to the instructor and ask her questions about her class. Who puts the routines together? Is it a certified instructor? Is the instructor herself certified? What organization is the certification from? IDEA and AFAA are the nationally recognized organizations. Through this little conversation you should get an idea of the quality of instruction in the class.

If you feel unsure of the class a free trial class should be offered before money is paid. Your decision is made so enjoy yourself and witness the benefits of physical fitness. Remember physical fitness is physical, mental and emotional.

NEWS EXTRA...

Keep Bird Feeders Clean

Bird feeders are a major source for the transmission of Salmonellosis among wild birds in Wisconsin, according to Dr. Terry Amundson, DNR wildlife disease specialist.

Salmonellosis is an intestinal disease caused by Salmonella bacteria. Birdfeeders facilitate the spread of the disease due to the large concentrations of birds at feeders. The bacteria is shed through fecal droppings which mix with the bird feed. The disease is then spread to other birds through the contaminated feed. "Birds carry the disease from feeder to feeder," says Amundson. He notes that this is less of a problem in the wild where birds forage here and there and do not return to a common site to feed. According to Amundson the symptoms of salmonellosis are often confusing. "Salmonella induces a general weakening which leads to sudden death of the bird. Birds which die of salmonella may appear completely healthy and have a full crop of food." Amundson says that finch family members, such as sparrows, finches, grosbeaks and cardinals, are especially vulnerable to the disease. "Their tendency to flock up in the winter increases the chance for disease spread. Also, they are unusually tolerant of human activity and are common feeder birds." While finch family birds are most vulnerable to salmonellosis, all birds are at risk, Amundson says.

Noting the tremendous popularity of feeding birds, Amundson says, "People should make it part of the responsibility of bird feeding to take precautions against salmonellosis." He suggests filling feeders often with small amounts of feed rather than pouring in a lot of feed to last a long time. "This will help ensure fresh, uncontaminated feed and prevent wasted feed." Amundson recommends cleaning bird feeders at least once a week. "Remove all uneaten seed, and scrape off or wipe away an fecal droppings," he says. "Also, shovel up and dispose of bird feed which spills on the ground, and shovel fresh snow around and below the feeder." He adds, "Painted or varnished birdfeeders discourage bacterial growth in porous wood surfaces."

Amundson warns that salmonella can infect people with a flu-like sickness so care should be taken to wash thoroughly before and after handling bird feeders.

According to Amundson salmonellosis is a perennial problem in the state. While cold weather stresses birds and makes them more susceptible to illness, warm weather promotes survival of the Salmonella bacteria. "This is why," says Amundson, "Bird feeding during warm weather seasons - spring, summer and fall - is considered a bad idea."

IS IT TIME TO CHOP DROUGHT-STRESSED CORN?

We have been telling farmers for the past month or more not to chop drought-stressed corn for silage until:

1. You are sure (a) pollination/fertilization of kernels will not or did not occur and (b) whole-plant moisture is down to 55-70% so that the fermentation process can occur without seepage or spoilage losses.

2. If pollination/fertilization of kernels did occur, do not chop until a) you are sure that there is not further potential to increase grain dry matter and b) whole plant moisture is in the 55-70% range.

We were fortunate to receive enough cool weather and rainfall during tassel/silking stages such that kernels on ears of most corn plants were fertilized, resulting in the potential of some grain yield, which puts most of us in category #2 (see above). Unfortunately, the hot dry weather during early grain-fill has limited the sugars available for kernel growth and development. Kernels on plants in worst fields are beginning to dent prematurely during "normal" late blister to milk stages. Lower leaves on these plants are "fired" up to or past the ear leaf and if the hot, dry weather continues, black layer will form, resulting in premature maturity, and indication that kernel weight will not increase, even if stress conditions are alleviated.

There are badly stressed corn fields throughout the county, which are at or very close to an earlier-than-normal corn silage harvest stage:

—leaves are brown over halfway up the plant, past the ear leaf.

—kernels are beginning to dent prematurely, and black layer has or will soon form.

Silage harvest should begin in corn fields meeting the above criteria. A few cautions and suggestions are in order:

(a) Be sure to test whole-plant moisture of chopped corn to assure yourself that acceptable fermentation will occur. Use a microwave (consult UWEX publication A3261, "Measuring Moisture in Forages Using a Microwave Oven), an electronic forage-moisture tester.

(b) Drought stressed corn has the potential for high levels of nitrate. Producers should have silage tested for nitrate levels. Samples can be brought to the UW-Extension office for sending it to the lab to be tested. Feeds high in nitrates need to be fed in limited amounts.

(c) Silo gas is more of a concern when drought stressed corn is harvested. Be sure to take precautions when working around or entering a silo.

Harvesting drought stressed corn as silage, may be the best alternative to get the maximum feed per acre.

25 Years Ago

August 23, 1963

Arthur Janz, who for the past four years operated the Janz TV-Radio Sales & Service at West Bend, has leased the Donald Mlodzik building on the Kewaskum hill at the intersection of Hwys. 45 and H, just south of the village, where he will be open for business on Tuesday, Sept. 3, the day after Labor Day.

An outdoor soft drink vending machine at Honeck Chevrolet, Inc. and three vending machines containing soft drinks, candy and cigarettes at the Our's Coin Laundry were looted by thieves sometime early last Saturday morning. The thieves apparently forced open the coin boxes on the machines or removed them completely to take the money and then replaced them so that the thefts would not be noticed immediately.

On August 25 the Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's Club members will release the pheasants that were raised in their brooder house and pens this summer. Approximately 1,300 birds or more will be distributed to individual members in equal numbers to be released at a spot of their choice.

Gerald Stoffel of Route 2, Kewaskum, was honored at the Wisconsin State Fair as an outstanding farmer. The program took place at the Youth Building on Aug. 17. The outstanding farmers were selected by their local FFA chapter. Stoffel received the Honorary Chapter Farmer degree from the Kewaskum chapter in 1962. His name was then submitted for the Outstanding Farmer in 1963.

The Kewaskum Elementary School for all grades, kindergarten through eight, will open on September 3 at 9 a.m. Incoming freshmen and transfer students will report to the high school on September 3 at 9 a.m. All other high school students will report for their first time on September 4, at the usual time of 8:15 a.m.

Clifford H. Guntly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Guntly, Route 2, Kewaskum, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the army after completing six weeks of training under the Reserve Officer Training Corps program in ceremonies at Fort Riley, Kansas late in July.

Miss Mary Weier, Route 2, Kewaskum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Charles Weier, became the bride of Robert Wenzlaff, son of Mrs. Loretta Wenzlaff, Route 3, West Bend, and the late Werner Wenzlaff, on August 17, at St. Bridget's Church in the Town of Wayne.

Robert Bartelt, Sr., 88, retired farmer of Route 2, Kewaskum, passed away August 17, at the home of his son, Robert Bartelt, Jr., north of the village, following an illness of five days.

Debra Strohmeyer, 10-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strohmeyer, Route 2, Kewaskum, passed away at St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, on August 22.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Kreif, Kewaskum, on August 14.

50 Years Ago

August 26, 1938

William H. Guell, 58, well known Fond du Lac County farmer, residing in the town of Forest died August 22, of a heart attack while he was swimming in Long Lake, north of here. Capt. W.L. Zubrod of the Fond du Lac department used an inhalator for three-quarters of an hour trying to revive Guell, but to no avail. Guell was swimming near the Schuh Resort about 9:30 p.m. when he disappeared beneath the water suddenly. According to other swimmers at the lake he made no outcry and it was upon this reason the coroner made his decision that was from a heart attack rather than drowning.

The Kewaskum Public Schools will open on September 6 at 9:00 a.m. Two new teachers have been hired and the high school will be offering thirty courses including chemistry.

Our Lady of Angels Church, Armstrong, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Irene Margaret Twohig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Twohig of Armstrong, and Nicholas P. Abler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Abler of Campbellsport on Saturday.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Boegel of Wayne. The infant's name is to be Joan Marie. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Al Flasch of St. Kilian last Tuesday.

75 Years Ago

August 23, 1913

Considerable excitement prevailed on Tuesday morning, when an auto driven by Dr. N. Edw. Hausmann and a rig belonging to the firm of L. Rosenheimer, general merchants, driven by Walter Schneider, an employee, collided on the crossing at the intersection of Fond du Lac Ave. and Main St. The doctor with his car was going northward around the corner, while Mr. Schneider was going southward. As there were wagons on both sides of the road, the passage was very narrow, and also hid the sight of each other approaching. When the doctor noticed the danger he set his brakes and wanted to reverse his engine, but by so doing he choked the same. Schneider, seeing the danger, turned his horse to one side, but it became unmanageable and jumped into the front part of the auto, forcing her head through the windshield, completely destroying same. Other damages done to the machine were broken lamps and bent fenders. No one was injured. According to reports and witnesses it is hard to place any blame.

Threshing has begun in the Wayne vicinity.

A bright baby girl came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sauter of Boltonville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fellenz of Boltonville are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy.

Help Make the Transition Easier As Your Child Begins School

By Mary Reese
Summer Home Economist
UW-Extension
Washington County

The first few months of school can be difficult for many children. Parents can make that transition easier. Think of yourself as supporting and helping your children's development — but not as "protecting" them from a world about which they must learn.

What is important for the child's emotional health is that having faced and mastered a new challenge — with support from others — the youngster has helped to build his or her own feelings of self-confidence and security.

The August theme of Wisconsin's Year of the School and Family is "Ready, Set, Learn: Family Preparation for School." Here are some tips for making the transition to school:

-Give your child free playtime at home. Now that your child spends more time in a structured school environment, you should allow more free time at home for play.

-Get to know your child's teacher. Get involved with the parent-teacher organization, volunteer your services in school, or check out ways you can help improve school conditions if you are unhappy with them.

-Praise your child for the good things he or she has done. Remember there is more to be gained from accenting the positive. A pat on the back for the right answers can go a long way. Too often we tend to focus on poor performance and behavior.

-Treat going to school as part of the normal course of events, something that is expected of your child and accepted by you. If your child appears nervous about going to school, discuss his or her concerns. Show understanding and offer encouragement. A calm, matter-of-fact, positive attitude is your goal.

-Plan your day so that you can spend time with your child. Be available when your child needs you. Be sure there is time to talk about school and happenings of the day.

-Let your child settle the quarrels or difficulties that may arise with school friends. Usually, unless children are harming each other physically, it is wise not to rush to the rescue. Try to let them work out their own differences.

-Help your child cope with occasional frustrations and disappointments at school. Learning to cope with all kinds of experiences is important to development and helps prepare him/her for the stresses of life.

-Avoid comparing this child's school experiences with how brothers and sisters or neighbors did when they began school. Such comparisons can be harmful to a child's self-image. Each of us is different.

In rare instances when a child does not accept school after several days, or when fearfulness and feelings of distress appear and persist, the child may have a problem. At this point, you should seek advice from the school guidance counselor, the teacher, the family physician, the school psychologist or other professionals who may be able to help.

With firm, patient, reassuring handling of the child by parents and teachers, usually the child soon will feel comfortable away from home and will make new friends and enjoy learning.

School Lunch Policy

The School District of Kewaskum today announced its policy for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Program. Each school office and the central office has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

The following household size and income criteria will be used for determining eligibility. Children from families whose annual income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals.

Household Size	FAMILY INCOME SCALE For Determining Eligibility for Free or Reduced Price Meals
	Annual Income Level (must be at or below)	Monthly Income Level (Must be at or below)
1	10,675	890
2	14,301	1,192
3	17,927	1,494
4	21,553	1,797
5	25,179	2,099
6	28,805	2,401
7	32,431	2,703
8	36,057	3,005
For each additional family member, add	+3,626	+303

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a notice to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households must fill out the application and return it to the school. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and may be verified at any time during the school year by school or other program officials. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

To obtain free or reduced price meals for children for whom households receive Food Stamps or Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), an adult member needs only to list the names of the school children, give Food Stamp or AFDC case number, print and sign his/her name and return the application to the school office. Households must inform the school authorities when they no longer receive Food Stamps or AFDC.

For the school officials to determine eligibility for free or reduced price meals of other households not receiving Food Stamps or AFDC, the household must provide the following information requested on the application: Names of all household members; social security numbers of all adult household members or a notation that the household member does not possess one; total household income must be listed and the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income it is (such as wages, child support, etc.) and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct. Households are required to report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced price meal policy the Business Manager will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent or guardian is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he/she may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If the parent wishes to make a formal appeal, he/she may make a request either orally or in writing to: David Heather, District Administrator, 1450 School Street, Kewaskum, WI 53040, 626-8427. If a hearing is needed to appeal the decision, the policy contains an outline of the Hearing Procedure.

If a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size changes, the family should contact the school. Such changes may make the household eligible for reduced price meals, or for additional benefits such as free meals if the household income falls at or below the levels shown above and they may apply at the time.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a household has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, the household should complete an application for a family of one or contact the school for more information.

The information provided by the household on the application is confidential and will be used only for purposes of determining eligibility and verifying data.

In the operation of the child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, national origin, age, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington D.C. 20250.

Any questions regarding the application should be directed to the determining official.

Plymouth Wins to Curzon, Veldmann; Hed Disqualified

by Dick Jepsen

The long trip from Bailey's Harbor paid off Saturday night for Gregg Curzon as he was a double winner at the Sheboygan County Fairgrounds in Plymouth taking a heat race and later returning to notch the 30 lap modified feature. Tim Veldmann of Plymouth added win four to his hobby stock feature tally while controversy clouded the sportsman feature as winner Richard Hed of Plymouth was disqualified after his win giving him a last place finish. The win was given to runner-up John Born of Howards Grove.

Born, starting on the pole in his Trade Winds Pizza Firebird, held off Mike Harvey and Henry Dickmann the first seven laps of the sportsman feature before the first red came out on lap eight when Al Goetsch and Frank Geiger spun in turn two. Dave Haag moved into second on the restart, but after another restart on the following lap for a spin by Keith Borth, dropped to third behind Harvey.

Born enjoyed his three length lead until the fourth restart when Steve Hoffmann spun in turn two, which saw Richard Hed move into the runner-up spot. Back under green Born and Hed were joined by fast qualifier Gary Laack on lap twenty and one lap later they had a foursome, as point leader Jim Pitzen of Plymouth joined the fracas. The top four traded paint the final laps of the event with Hed diving under Born in turn three coming down for the white flag.

Hed in the Dirkse Oil Monte Carlo kept the lead to the checkers beating out Born, Laack, Pitzen and Mike Akright. After the race however, Hed was disqualified and the win was given to John Born who led all but the last lap of the event. Hed was given credit for a last place finish.

The modified feature got off to a bad start as Budweiser Point leader Bill Kojis got tangled up in traffic at the start of the 30 lap event and suffered severe front end damage in the Outhouse Engineering modified. Randy Sippel in the Jeff Fritz machine paced the field on the restart before being overhauled by Gregg Curzon in the backstretch on lap three.

Gregg Otte joined Sippel on lap five for the runner-up spot as the three leaders moved away from the field. The runner-up duo closed in on the leader on lap twelve, but the motor expired in the Sippel mount in the front stretch on lap fifteen bringing out the final red. Curzon retained his lead on the restart ahead of Otte and Chuck Tuschl. The rear end went out in Otte's mount on lap eighteen giving the second spot to Tuschl.

As the final laps unfurled Curzon kept a comfortable lead while Dick Berth challenged Tuschl for second and Randy Tracy put the heat on Brian Gilles for fourth. However positions remained the same in the final circuits as Curzon took the victory followed by Tuschl, Berth, Gilles and Tracy.

Bob Otte led the first four laps of the hobby stock feature before being black - flagged giving the lead to Tim Veldmann. Veldmann enjoyed a comfortable lead until the last two circuits when he was joined by Jim Kroening and Rick Hed. As the leaders were coming for the checkered they tangled in turn four. Veldmann was able to hold the lead but Kroening running second spun into the infield giving second to Hed. Kroening was credited with a tenth place finish which dropped him out of the point lead.

Dave Deicher, Wally Becker and Chuck Amweg won semi-feature events. Trophies and prizes for the evening were given by Jim Geisha and Dan Dever of WHBL, sponsors of the evenings events. The ten lap media race was won by Keary Kautzer of Star Cablevision, second went to Tom Hagel of the Sounder while third went to Debbie Clemens of the Sheboygan County Fair Association. Next Saturday night will be the rain delayed Old Timers race.

reason leaves change color is quite simple. Chlorophylls give leaves their green color. They use the sun's energy to produce simple sugars - nutrients - from water and carbon dioxide in a process called photosynthesis. Photosynthesis continues throughout the growing season.

Other pigments called carotenoids, which yield the yellows, browns, oranges and other hues in between, are present in the leaf. But because the chlorophylls are predominant, they aren't seen.

When fall approaches and light, moisture and temperature change, the chlorophylls are used up more quickly and not replaced. The carotenoids begin to show through the diminishing green.

The reds and purples of maples and white ash are produced by another pigment (anthocyanins) that develops in late summer in the sap of leaf cells. The brighter the sunlight in late summer and fall, the more brilliant the red and purple colors will be.

Some tree species' leaves have more carotenoids than anthocyanins and will therefore be more yellow. With more anthocyanins, the leaves will be more red. Some leaves have combinations of both pigments. These leaves will be the deep orange, fiery red and bronze colors more typical of hardwood tree species.

"What this means for fall colors, is that if the tendency toward drought continues, we'll have drier, brighter fall days and potentially brighter colors than in recent years," Marty continued.

Moisture is important to the formation of the green leaf itself in early spring. Reduced moisture leads to producing less food for the leaf, and less growth and development for the tree, but it doesn't have as great an impact on fall color as some might believe, the forest geneticist said.

"In fact, if we don't have fall rains that pelt the leaves and knock them off, the color may even stay around a little longer. But this early in the game, it's difficult to predict what's going to happen in four to six weeks," he said.

At the same time, Marty said recent rains could mean a "normal color season" in some of the north central and northeast counties, where some of the best color viewing exists.

WISCONSIN OUTDOORS AND CONSERVATION NEWS

Drought May Bring Fall Colors Earlier

MADISON, WI - The brilliant golden yellows, rich reds and deep purples of fall colors that draw thousands of visitors to Wisconsin annually should be as colorful as ever, and possibly even more so, a Department of Natural Resources forest geneticist says.

However, due to the drought, Trent Marty of the DNR's Bureau of Forestry says colors throughout most of Wisconsin may appear about a week earlier than normal. Generally, color peaks begin in northern Wisconsin in September and work their way south during October.

"The cones of a variety of pine are ripening about a week ahead of schedule," Marty said. "This is a pretty good indication of where we are in the process."

There has been some speculation on the effect the drought will have on fall colors in Wisconsin, but DNR foresters are convinced it will have had little overall impact.

"If the leaves are green now, they have the nutrients and pigments to create color in the fall," Marty said.

According to Marty, the

Doherty Bests Averill In Hron Cup Competition

Joe Doherty, a West Bend attorney, took top honors in the Hon-E-Kor Country Club's annual Hron Cup competition beating Ken "Buck" Averill of Kewaskum in the finals 3-1.

The eighteen-hole handicapped final match took place Saturday morning. Doherty took a one-up lead midway through the match after shooting a three over par 38.

A birdie on #10 put Doherty two ahead, but Averill managed to come back winning #11 with a par.

Averill and Doherty traded wins on the next two holes, however, Doherty was able to pick up a par on the 120-yard 14th hole.

Both players bogeyed the 15th hole and parred on #16. Doherty's par on sixteen was the death blow to Averill's hope of winning the match. He posted an eight over par 78 to take the win.

Hon-E-Kor members are reminded the sign-up deadline for the club championship is Monday, August 29. The 54-hole medal play events will take place on Labor Day weekend.

West Bend Resident Prepares for 150-Mile Bike Trek Sept. 15-18

With a little help from his friends, relatives and co-workers, Marvin Butler of West Bend will be among 200 bicyclists riding in the American Lung Association's 150-mile Door County Bike Trek Sept. 15-18, 1988.

Besides needing a well-tuned bike and strong leg muscles, Butler, 28, an engineer at Gehl, is trying to raise a minimum of $300 in pledges to help fight lung diseases such as emphysema, lung cancer, chronic bronchitis and asthma.

Butler's September adventure will begin in Sturgeon Bay on the west side of the peninsula. The route then heads toward Sister Bay and follows the Green Bay shoreline through Peninsula State Park to the Wagon Trail Resort on Rowley's Bay. A Washington Island bike tour or a day of relaxation by the pool, is also an option for the bikers.

The Lung Association and trek contributors provide meals, lodging, a round-trip ferry ride to Washington Island, gear transportation, bike mechanics, medical support, a trek t-shirt, and assistance with pledge raising and collections.

"I am really looking forward to the challenge of the trek, as this is the first attempt for me. I hope to raise at least $500 for the Lung Association in pursuit of my goal," said Butler.

Contributors to the Door County Bike Trek are: Adventures Unlimited outdoor equipment store, Travel Dynamics and Wheel &

Sprocket bicycle shops, all in the Milwaukee area; Wisconsin Silent Sports magazine and NEWTAP (New Glarus Tourism Advertising Program).

The trek is open to riders 14 years or older who are in good physical condition and have a bike in safe operating condition. Minors must be accompanied by a designated adult guardian.

The Door County trek is one of several outdoor adventures sponsored annually by the state Lung Association to promote physical fitness and raise funds to prevent and control lung disease. Over $170,000 was raised on treks in 1987.

In 1989, the Lung Association will sponsor the 47-day Trans-America Bicycle Trek from Seattle, Wash. to Atlantic City, NJ, June-July, 1989; and the Pacific Coast Bicycle Trek, Fall, 1989.

Space is still available on the Door County Bike Trek. For more information or to sponsor Marvin Butler, call 258-9100 in Milwaukee or toll-free at 1 (800) 242-5160.

HIGH-SPEED SWIMMER
You might guess the fastest fish in the water is the shark...but you would be all wet. According to Ranger Rick magazine, researchers believe the sailfish is the fastest fish in the water. The sailfish can swim up to 68 miles per hour. That's about as fast as a cheetah can run, and the cheetah is the fastest runner on earth.
