New Levy Rate Up Ten Cents Over Last Year Budget Trimming Cuts Levy Increase

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

As directed by the Kewaskum Village Board at its last meeting, Village Administrator Dan Schmidt took the knife to the proposed 1992 budget, managing to carve enough away to satisfy even Trustee Gary Gavin.

The bottom line is now a proposed 1992 budget of $1,381,638, (up $70,173 over 1991) which will carry a tax levy of $443,133, as adjusted for the TIF district.

What all those imposing figures mean to village taxpayers is that the 1991 levy rate has been reduced to $7.09 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, a ten cent or 1.48 percent increase over 1990, when the rate was $6.99.

The original proposal had carried a levy rate of $7.22, which represented a 3.36 percent increase over last year's levy rate.

On a $70,000 home, the new rate means an increase of only $7.00, instead of $16.35 as originally proposed.

Schmidt told the board he was able to trim expenditures by $3,500, that dropped the rate increase from 3.3 percent down to 2.5 percent, into the guideline range set by the board.

Another $4,000 was removed from the village budget under the recycling center category. Schmidt advised the board those budget dollars were taken out because of recent budget action taken by Washington County. He told the trustees that in the county's 1992 budget, approved Nov. 7th, some dollars were included for the proposed countywide "Clean Sweep," program. "What this meant is the village could reduce the recycling center miscellaneous expense category by $4,000, providing us with the final figures before you."

The end result was that

Schmidt was able to trim an additional $7,500 over and above the previous cuts and reduce this year's rate increase to the 1.48 percent figure.

Schmidt told the board that 42 budget line items had come under the axe and that the average cut was about $100. While no "one specific area" was trimmed excessively, no department escaped budget reductions.

After hearing Schmidt's report Gavin asked him, "are there any bones left after this (the latest round of cuts)?" "The rib cage," replied Schmidt.

In reviewing the Wastewater Pollution Control Department's budget, Pete Albers commented on several capital improvement and repair items. One item was the rebuilding of the treatment plant's settling ponds. Albers told the board the ponds were built in the early 70's and put in the

KEYS, Inc. to Award $20,500 in Scholarships

The Board of Directors of Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc. has announced that eight scholarships totalling $20,500 will be awarded to this year's graduating Kewaskum High School seniors. The following is a listing of the size and number of each kind of scholarship.

Two four-year scholarships each worth a total of $7,000 ($1,750 a year for four years) are being offered. One of the $7,000 scholarships is provided by the KEYS scholarship fund, and the other $7,000 scholarship is provided by the Oscar C. and Augusta Schlegel Foundation. Two $1,500 KEYS scholarships will also be awarded. These two scholarships may be used for college or vocational school. This year two memorial scholarships will be awarded. The Ann-Marie Horner Memorial Scholarship will be presented for the third time, and for the first time the Kilian A. Honeck Memorial Scholarship will be presented. Each memorial scholarship is for $1,000. The James & Sarah Andre Scholarship worth $1,000 will be awarded to a student going into nursing. A $500 technical school scholarship will be awarded for the first time this year.

The first scholarships of KEYS, Inc. were for $500 and were awarded in the spring of 1986 and 1987. In 1988, $1500 in scholarships were awarded, followed by $3,000 in scholarships in 1990. In 1990 the dollar amount jumped to $12,000 and then climbed to $16,000 last year. The $20,500 in scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1992 brings the total to $54,000 in scholarships since 1986. Past donations have made these scholarships possible. The KEYS organization thanks the alumni, businesses, organizations, and community members for their donations that make these scholarships possible.

KEYS officials hope all people feel pride in what has been accomplished. Even with this kind of success, KEYS realizes that more funds must be raised to provide the interest for even more scholarship help. Thus if KEYS is to continue to grow, donations are needed from the whole community. Past contributors plus new contributors are asked to please contribute to KEYS. If you would like to contribute to KEYS, please make out a check payable to KEYS, Inc. and send your donation to KEYS, Inc., P.O. Box 124 Kewaskum, WI 53040. Remember that KEYS is the community's scholarship organization. Help take ownership and feel pride in the KEYS scholarship organization by making a donation!

KHS Shop Class Receives Car Through Efforts of Neuville Chevrolet-GEO

The Kewaskum High School Shop Class has received a 1991 GEO Prizm for use in their classroom work through the efforts of Neuville Chevrolet-GEO in Kewaskum. The car, which was originally ordered by Neuville, was damaged this past Spring during a storm. The car was being stored at the Janesville Auto Transport, awaiting delivery to Neuville Chevrolet when it was "totalled" during a tornado. Chevrolet-GEO agreed to donate the car to the high school shop class. Joe Neuville and Steve Cundy coordinated the efforts to get the car here and have minor repair work done. Thanks to Mike Korneli of Kewaskum for the use of the trailer used to transport the vehicle from Janesville, and to Windshield Doctor of West Bend, for donating the glass for the side door windows broken in the storm. The back glass is still out, but Windshield Doctor has agreed to install the back glass as part of a classroom demonstration at Kewaskum High School. The car can never be titled or driven on the road, however it may be used for hands-on teaching of the Shop Class. Shown in the above photo with the vehicle are Steve Cundy, left, and Joe Neuville, right, turning over the keys to Howard Zemlicka, center, KHS Shop Class teacher.

Benefit Fund Set Up for Youth Injured In Farm Accident

Last week it was our sad task to report that Chad Keller, 12, son of Harlu and Karen Keller of rural Campbellsport, was severely injured in a farm accident. Chad's right arm was severed above the elbow when it became entangled in a power take-off shaft.

Chad was rushed to Froedtert Memorial Hospital in Milwaukee for the Flight for Life helicopter, but attempts to re-attach his arm were unsuccessful.

At this point, Chad's road to recovery is extremely slow, difficult and painful. Besides the injury to the right arm, Chad also suffered a broken left arm, a broken leg and a multitude of lacerations.

Many of our readers expressed deep concern and their desire to "do something" for Chad and his family to help them through this very difficult time in their lives.

This week we are pleased to report there has been a benefit fund set up in Chad's name at Valley Bank in Kewaskum. The benefit fund is designed to help ease the family through the tremendous financial burden that an injury of this magnitude involves.

At this time, the family needs to concentrate on "the mending of Chad." It is hoped the extra anxiety about daily hospital bills mounting can somehow be erased from their minds, knowing there are people here that care and want to help.

If you would like to help please make your contribution to the Chad Keller Benefit Fund. It can be sent to Valley Bank, P.O. Box 68, Kewaskum, Wisconsin 53040, or dropped off at the Video Post, 355 Main St., Kewaskum or the Kewaskum Statesman, 250 Main St., Kewaskum.

With the holidays approaching, it is a perfect time to get into the true spirit of giving... let us show how much Kewaskum cares.

Assistant HS Principal to Remain Interim Position

By GERRY MUELLER
Statesman Staff Writer

After a lengthy special meeting Thursday evening, the Kewaskum Board of Education has decided to leave the position of assistant high school principal as 'status quo,' according to board president Neal Weare.

"We interviewed some candidates including Ms. Susan Ihler who is presently filling the position on an interim basis," said Weare, "and the general consensus of the board was not to make any change at this time."

Weare stated that Ihler has indicated she is willing to remain in that position until the end of the school year.

Weare said the district most likely, will begin looking for a permanent replacement next spring. Ihler was hired to temporarily fill the post when it was vacated by James Connell who resigned last summer to accept the position of high school principal with another school district.

Kewaskum School District Policy For Emergency School Closings

District Administrator Dr. David Heather has released for publication the current policy to be utilized when school is to be called off.

As in past years, radio stations WBKV (West Bend), KFIZ (Fond du Lac), WHBL (Sheboygan), and WTMJ (Milwaukee) will be used to announce school closings because of bad weather or other emergency situations.

When school is being called off in the morning, the announcement will be on the air as early as possible. When school has begun but weather is bad, or turns bad, it is advised that parents, guardians and other responsible parties listen to one of the radio stations during the day for possible school closing announcements. The district is very hesitant about closing school during the day because we are concerned that parents or others may not be home when children arrive. Sometimes, however, this becomes necessary to avoid excessive problems with getting

Breakfast With Santa

Outfit Armchair Quarterback With Nutritious Snacks

Armchair quarterbacks can eat healthy even if the game goes into overtime, according to nutritionists at the Dairy Council of Wisconsin.

The Dairy Council recommends viewers touch down on low fat snacks while watching local teams trounce the opposition and leave the chips and sweets on the bench.

For a winning game plan, call on raw vegetables or chunks of fresh fruit with a yogurt dip for a first down, or consider teaming up a piece of low fat cheese with a whole grain cracker.

To make an extra point, the Dairy Council suggests sports enthusiasts tune into snacks from the food groups of milk, meat, fruits, vegetables and grains to ensure a championship season for years to come.

Dairy Council of Wisconsin is a non-profit nutrition marketing and communication association funded by the dairy industry. DCW serves Wisconsin, northern Illinois and northwest Indiana.

students home on busses at a later time of the day. Every effort will be made to announce school closings during the day - at least an hour before we dismiss the students.

It is important to remember that if school has been cancelled it means that all activities for that day will be cancelled and rescheduled as necessary.

★ WINTER PARKING ★

The Winter Parking Restrictions and Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions go into effect on December 1, 1991.

Municipal Code Section 7.04(3) Night Parking Restrictions, reads as follows: Signs have been erected at or reasonably near the corporate limits as provided in Section 349.13, Wisconsin Statutes, no person excepting physicians or licensed emergency vehicles on emergency calls, shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2:00 A.M. and 6:00 A.M. from December 1, to April 1, of each year; provided that, notwithstanding such restrictions vehicles may be parked a period of time not longer than 3 minutes for actually loading or unloading of passengers, and provided further that no other regulation restricting parking as to place, time, or manner violated thereby.

The fine for violating the ordinance is:

$5.00 if paid within three (3) days of the issuance of the parking citation.

$10.00 if paid after ten (10) days but before 28 days.

After 28 days, the amount is $20.00 and a notice will be sent to the Motor Vehicle Department to suspend your vehicle registrations and refuse renewals until the citation is satisfied.

An important fact is the owner of the vehicle is responsible for the payment of the citation whether or not he was the operator.

Municipal Code Section 7.04 (4) Removal of Illegally Parked Vehicles. This section covers the issuance of citations to and possible removal of such vehicles in violation of this ordinance. In addition to other penalties provided by Section 7.04(6) of this code, the owner or operator of a vehicle so removed shall pay the cost of the towing and storage.

cheapest that could be bought. Low bid isn't always best bid, he noted, and now we're seeing problems such as cracks, etc. Albers told the board some repairs will have to be made if the ponds are to last until the system is expanded.

Albers also discussed several major equipment replacement needs. We tried to be conservative, he noted, much of this equipment was purchased up to twenty years ago but now it has to be replaced.

Albers again brought up the subject of construction of a sludge storage facility. "The time frame is still undetermined, we're going to have to do something within the next two years," he said.

A public hearing on the 1992 general and departmental budgets is set for December 2.

In other business board president Mary Krueger opened bids for the purchase of a new 1992 replacement squad for the Police Department. Ewald Chevrolet of Oconomowoc bid $15,159, and Schwartzburg Chevrolet of West Bend bid $15,205.

After hearing the prices, Police Chief Richard Knoebel asked that action on the bids be tabled. He advised the board that he had just been made aware that there was a chance that the village could purchase a vehicle through a group working out of Milwaukee. "This agency buys cars in quantity for Milwaukee," said Knoebel, "and they have just been told they will be allowed to purchase an additional 48 cars." Knoebel said if the village could get in on the purchase, it was possible it could save an additional $1,000. The board agreed with Knoebel's request and tabled action on the squad purchase.

Dan Schmidt also advised the board that Star Cablevision is in the process of selling out half of its franchise. In the near future the village will have to pass some resolutions regarding that sale, he noted.

In his report to the board, Public Works Director Jerry Gilles told the board Monday night, that after a few months on the job he was now able to answer its questions as to how things were going. "I'm pleased on how things are going, we have a good crew, they are working hard and contributing."

Gilles did express his concern about the village's maintenance program. "I think we're playing catchup, I would like to be doing things on scheduled maintenance. I would like to keep our maintenance programs up. We're still responding to demands that this has to be done today. We're still working on that type of schedule but gradually I think we're going to get caught up and do a little bit better job on maintenance items."

Theusch - Krug

Music was provided by Coralee Kolbow and the Bollinger Family.

Mark Thorkelson of Fond du Lac, friend of the groom, served as best man.

Ushering duties were shared by Rich Fahney, the bride's brother-in-law, and the groom's friend, Henry Wagner.

A reception followed at the Amerahn Hall, Kewaskum.

The bride is a graduate of Campbellsport High School and is employed as a computer operator at B.C. Ziegler.

The Words Out About Greene's Hideaway

By S. Callaway Roznik
Statesman Staff Writer

To area food connoisseurs, the name John Greene evokes memories of delicious cuisine amidst elegant dining in places like the Old Fort Silver in Silver Creek and the Washington House in West Bend.

Restaurateur Greene's latest endeavor is the new Greene's Hideaway, located on N1481 Hwy. 57, between Adell and Random Lake. Returning to the area after a six year leave, John and his wife Sandy have been welcomed home by a clientele of old friends and familiar faces that say "we missed you and we're glad you're back."

The history of John's involvement with restaurants began at the age of 22 when he purchased the Old Fort Silver in Silver Creek, gradually converting the old bar and dance hall into a supper club and rental hall. Old Fort Silver flourished and its reputation drew people from Milwaukee, Sheboygan, West Bend and Plymouth, and boasted a menu that pleased both Milwaukee Journal and Sentinel restaurant critics.

But the thriving business ended abruptly when a tragic fire destroyed the historic building on June 1, 1984.

High costs of rebuilding forced Greene to seek a new location, preferably with an historical background.

The Washington House in West Bend fit the picture, and he leased the supper club part of the old 1852 building. This was the beginning of Greene's Fort Silver Inn, which he owned and operated for six years, until the downtown parking situation became an obstacle to his customers. They made the decision to move to another location, but Greene took with him the memory of the highlight of his career - hosting former President Reagan and 174 of his guests during a campaign luncheon in 1987. (Reagan was repeating the steps of JFK, who also dined at the historic Washington House during his campaign tour.)

Sandy and John Greene opened the doors of Greene's Hideaway almost one year ago - in the former Candlelight Restaurant. Sandy's decorating adds charm and old world elegance and clientele are surrounded by antiques, old family photos, even the plate and silverware the President used is on display.

The Greene's full menu includes sandwiches, and complete dinners such as steaks, chops, seafood and a Saturday night prime rib special. They also feature a children's menu and a senior membership.

"We try to cater to all groups, young or old, our regulars and travelers from the highway," says Greene.

Sunday is family day at Greene's Hideaway and features a brunch from 10:30 to 2 p.m., and a Sunday evening family style chicken dinner complete with all the trimmings.

The restaurant was named after its rural setting, and the owners have found out through its success that people like to take a drive, and come from all the surrounding communities to enjoy

Members of the Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club would like to thank everyone who attended our ninth annual art/craft fair, A Kettle Country Christmas, on Saturday.

A special thanks to the Kewaskum High School staff for the good food and pleasant atmosphere.

Greene employs 22 employees - many of whom he's worked with previously in West Bend.

"If people give us a week's notice, we can put something on the menu for a special occasion," he says. "We're going to get into a little more carryout food and possibly carryout pizzas. We may begin a family style meal during the week at an economical price."

"And we're going to try a little live music - once a month or every six weeks depending on how the people like it."

Greene's Hideaway near Random Lake is open Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursdays, 4 - 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday, 4:30 to 10 p.m., and Sunday 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., and dinner 4 to 9 p.m.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

all their assistance and area businesses for their support. The community's continued loyal support of our events is very much appreciated. We look forward to hosting our tenth art/craft fair on November 21, 1992.

Dundee Mill Park Hosts Christmas Party; Seek Donations for 'Love Lights'

The Dundee Mill Park Committee is having a party for the community to show its appreciation for all the generous support and help it has received.

The old fashioned family get together starts at 1 p.m. till? at the Dundee Mill on December 1. Santa has been invited to come, so bring the kids with their wish lists. Someone will even take a picture of the children with the famous guest from the North. All you big children are invited, too. There will be hot cocoa and cookies for all. An old fashioned sing-along to Christmas carols will start the season right.

The highlight of the day will come at 4 p.m. when we will light the Love Light Tree. Help is needed from the community to brighten up the tree.

Love Light cards are being made available at local businesses and taverns. A donation of $3.00 or more in your name, or in memory or honor of someone else, will light one bulb.

The donations are going towards the purchase of a generator and other related mill expenses, one step closer to generating electricity at the mill.

More information about the cards can be had by calling Monica Lavey 533-4750 or Diane Kleinke 533-4099.

There will be a short welcome and thank you by the chairman, LaVerne Immel, plus a few words from the village Mayor Donny Bohlman.

What a lovely sight it will be showing what a community can do by pulling together. The Committee will be there to welcome you all.

St. Lucas Kindergarten Counts Their Blessings!

Jim Satorius

Hartford Hospital is one of the few Wisconsin centers that has facilities for permanent live-in patients. Two of these men are quadriplegics: Jim Satorius, age 42, and Ed Miller, age 31. Both men are learning the art of mouth stick painting. Jim is showing the St. Lucas kindergarten class how to paint a tree, while Ed is demonstrating his creativity by brushing a ceramic Christmas bear. The children tried the technique when we arrive back in school. We can truly be thankful for our healthy bodies! God's blessings to both Ed and Jim at this special time of year when all of us have so much for which to be thankful!

Property Tax Relief Through Lottery Credit

A completely new form of property tax relief will be available to most Washington County homeowners on this year's property tax bills, Fredric A. Seefeldt, County Treasurer, said today.

The new "lottery credit," financed by proceeds from the state lottery, will provide an average benefit of between $125 and $150. It is based on the first $8,200 of a qualifying home's value, times the school tax rate. The credit is only available for owner-occupied homes.

"Because this credit is new and the claim procedure is different than earlier property tax relief programs, homeowners will have to pay close attention to this year's property tax bills to claim the benefit," Seefeldt said.

"Most 1991 property tax bills sent to homeowners will show the potential lottery credit. But the fact that a credit is shown on a bill does not necessarily mean the property qualifies for the benefit. Each homeowner has the responsibility to determine if his or her property qualifies for the benefit.

Homeowners who qualify must claim the credit by signing the tax bill and returning it with the tax payment," Seefeldt stressed.

Local treasurers cannot allow the credit unless the tax payment is accompanied by a signed property tax bill. Taxpayers who attempt to claim the credit without signing the tax bill could face tax delinquencies and other complications. "I strongly urge homeowners to read the tax bill instructions with extra care this year," Seefeldt cautioned.

To qualify, the taxpayers must own the home described on the tax bill and use it as his or her primary residence. For example, taxpayers should not claim the credit if the bill is for a vacation home. Claims will be audited by the Department of Revenue.

KHS Peer Listeners Sponsor "Betrayal of Trust"

A $500 grant has been awarded to the Kewaskum High School Listeners to be used in some way to present an anti-drug and anti-alcohol message to students. It is being given by Washington County's Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Council and is one of five awarded to county Peer Listening groups.

KHS Listeners will sponsor a group from the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay on Monday, November 25, in Rose Hall. Their presentation is entitled "Betrayal of Trust," and it involves the highly sensitive and relevant topic of date rape. Ronda Brault and Keith Ksobiech portray a typical couple on a date in a scenario. Ellen Mommaerts then acts as the moderator in a discussion that follows, with Ronda and Keith still in their acting roles as they respond to questions and comments. The program was developed by the three as part of their work for the peer ministry team at the university's Ecumenical Center. The presentation was awarded the Program of the Year for the 1990-91 academic year from the Office of Residence Life at UW-Green Bay.

In October the KHS Peer Listeners hosted the county meeting for all Peer Listeners. "Betrayal of Trust" was presented there and received rave reviews. Some comments after were "It's the best county meeting ever!" What an important topic!" "It certainly made me realize all the implications connected with date rape!" "The group from Green Bay handled this sensitive topic with such maturity and professionalism!"

The Peer Listeners are very pleased to now have the opportunity to sponsor "Betrayal of Trust" for a larger group of students. Seniors will view the performance from 9:23 to 10:57 a.m. on November 25, and the juniors performance will be from 1:11 to 2:45 p.m. If any juniors or seniors choose not to attend, they may remain in class or study hall. Steve Seitz, local police officer and liason person for school and police department, will be in attendance to answer any questions regarding the aspects of law.

The Peer Listeners invite any community members also. The program educates regarding facts and myths about date rape, plus show how to prevent it. Barbara York is the Peer Listening advisor, and questions may be directed to her through the high school office.

Letter to the Editor

To all area residents of Washington and Ozaukee Counties, Cub and Boy Scouts of Glacier Edge District 11, Bay-Lakes Council of the Boy Scouts of America, have just completed their very successful "Scouting For Food Good Turn" project. On November 16, over 3,000 boys and adult volunteers from this area collected food to stock area food pantries.

It was very heart warming for me to see, for the 5th year in a row, the enthusiasm that takes place when this amount of boys and adults combine efforts to help the hungry families of our communities.

I can only say, "Thank You," to all who were involved. You can pat yourself on the back for your part in this very worthwhile project, and know by your efforts, someone in our area is not going to go hungry this evening. On behalf of all the Scouts, I want to say, "Thank You," to each and every person who contributed food. As we now enter into the season of Thanksgiving, and as I visit some of the pantries and see the recipients pick up the allotted food baskets, I truly see the meaning of the words Thanks For Giving.

Thank You,

Carefully Consider Reduced Herbicide Rates

Agriculture by Jack Trzebiatowski

There is increased interest by producers to reduce the rates of herbicides used for crop production. This may be a workable practice for some producers, but it should receive careful consideration before being implemented.

The fall and winter season are good times to plan pest management programs for the upcoming growing season. Growers should evaluate the weed pressure in their fields in fall before tillage is complete. Areas with particular problems should be noted, and plans developed to address the areas next year. During the winter months growers can consult with their suppliers and others to plan their program for next year.

If growers are considering reduced rates it is important to remember that this is somewhat a new area and to proceed with caution. There has been limited research using reduced rates at this time. The research does seem to indicate that reduced rates may be effective under some conditions.

Weed pressure must be average or low. Producers must expect to use mechanical control practices to supplement reduced rates. Rotary hoes and cultivators can assist the herbicides in providing control. Growers may need to be prepared to use a rescue treatment if control is unsatisfactory. Hard to control weed species and problem weeds may not be controlled by lower rates and mechanical control.

Lower rates may provide adequate control in years when conditions are favorable. Control is not likely to last as long into the season with reduced rates. This may require cultivation to complete the process.

Reduced rates can be interpreted differently. To some it may mean using the lower end of the application recommendations for a product on the intended soil type. For some people it may mean applying the product in a band, rather than broadcast. For others it imply using less than the labeled rates. Growers need to understand that the company and the applicator will not likely stand behind the performance of a product if applied below label rates.

Reduced rates may be an alternative for some producers. However care must be taken when making such a management decision. Growers that feel they can live with many of the above concerns may wish to try using reduced rates on a small part of their crop acreage. Choose fields that have been well managed and pose lower risk. Also be prepared with a backup plan if needed.

Tough Times for Dairy Farmers Mean Tough Legislation is Necessary

When dairy prices are low... as they are now, Wisconsin's dairy farmers hold their breath. A drop of just a few cents in the dairy price can turn a profitable farm into a failed, foreclosed disaster.

In the last year, Wisconsin's struggling dairy farm families have experienced a drop in income of more than 10 percent. At the same time, feed costs have risen, and so have energy costs.

Farmers know that price stability is the key to healthy agricultural economy. Without price stability, farmers go bankrupt. The economic hardship spreads from the farmers themselves to the banks who lend them money and the agribusiness dealers who supply them with feed and farm implements.

Our rural communities can't survive this kind of economic chain reaction. A situation in which farmers live on food stamps doesn't help anyone. (According to a recent study by the U.S. General Accounting Office, while farmers were receiving 25 percent less for their milk, consumers paid only 5 percent less for milk products. Clearly, consumers as well as farmers are being victimized by the current situation.)

That is why, all year, I have been fighting to make price stability and fairness a reality for Wisconsin's farmers.

This month, we will see a very important battle on the Senate floor that could spell the difference between success and failure for many dairy farmers. The Senate is about to consider a major new agriculture bill -- the Dairy and Disaster Assistance Act of 1991.

This bill has already had to travel a long and difficult road. Earlier this year, I worked on an emergency dairy relief bill which was adopted by the Senate. Regrettably, the bill was struck down by the House negotiators in a House-Senate conference.

I met with White House Chief of Staff John Sununu, U.S. Agriculture Secretary Ed Madigan, Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Director Richard Darman and two members of the Senate Agriculture Committee to work out a new bill.

The current dairy price support level of $10.10 is simply not acceptable to me or to Wisconsin farmers. The bill agreed to in the Agriculture Committee increases the price support from $10.10 to $11.10. That's an important first step toward serious relief for Wisconsin farmers. As a result of my discussions with Administration officials, I think we are much closer to enacting this kind of legislation.

The Administration is looking favorably on a diversion program to help dairy farmers. The voluntary dairy surplus reduction program I support would limit the Commodity Credit Corporation's (CCC) net removals of dairy products to no more than 4.5 billion pounds. If the dairy surplus exceeds 4.5 billion pounds, the Secretary of Agriculture will be directed to reduce the CCC marketings. And producers will be paid for reducing the amount of milk they market under the surplus reduction contracts.

These dairy rescue provisions are all a part of the Dairy and Disaster Assistance Act. If this bill is enacted, Wisconsin milk producers stand to gain $983 million over the next four years. I am optimistic that we can get this bill passed in Senate... And I'll do all I can to get it accepted.

Jeanine Steier gave a detailed financial report on how our booth did at Kettle Kountry Kolors.

New officers reported on their officer training sessions they attended on October 22.

Marie Ritger handled the club enrollments, and also distributed all project materials.

Four members will be attending Cultural Arts Camp Dec. 6-8 at Upham Woods.

Teen Survival Camp was discussed and interested members are urged to attend. Focuses at camp will include: Relationships, Teen Depression, Parents and Decision Making. It will be held Feb. 8 & 9 at Camp Wonderland in Kenosha County.

Members who attained honor roll in their perspective classes, received a Dairy Queen coupon for their accomplishments.

We will be conducting a contest at the December 10 meeting for the most original, durable and neatest container to collect pennies in. All members are encouraged to participate and each family's participation is necessary. Prizes will be awarded to the best container in each age category. The Cloverbuds welcomed two new members, Tricia Brath and Ashley Kiel. The evening was spent constructing pinecone turkeys and playing games. Many Cloverbuds and first year members are attending Explore Some More, Saturday, Nov. 16.

The club Christmas Party will be held December 8 at Salem Church Parish Hall, Wayne, beginning at noon with a pot luck lunch. Members are asked to invite their parents and grandparents to this annual event. Residents of the Senior Home in Allenton will also be our guest.

Walter Schmidt, who is employed at the Kewaskum Frozen Foods plant, suffered painful burns about his face and hands Wednesday afternoon when a gas stove exploded while he was at work at the plant. Schmidt lit the stove and while it was left unattended, the flame went out. During this time the gas kept feeding into the burner and when Schmidt struck a match to re-light the stove it exploded. The burns were enough to keep Schmidt from work the remainder of this week but he expects to return to work on Monday.

VENISON: A Versatile, Tasty Meat

by Jim Bishop, Public Information Officer
Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, Spooner District Office

SPOONER, WI... Venison. It can be pan fried, stir fried, steamed, baked, grilled, roasted, jerked, stewed and burgered. The meat from Wisconsin's favorite game animal, the whitetailed deer, is as versatile to cook as any meat in the marketplace.

Once the animal is home, you should make a plan for its consumption. Local butcher shops will cut and package the meat according to your culinary wishes. If you do your butchering at home, ways to skin, cut and cook venison can be found in most wild game cookbooks.

The older the deer, the tougher and drier the meat will be. Cooking at low to moderate temperatures will help tenderize the meat and keep it juicy.

Another way to tenderize the meat is to baste it with an acid such as orange juice. Along with giving the meat a delicate flavor, the juice helps break down tissue and makes the meat more tender. Other acids you can use include tomato juice, lemon juice, diluted vinegar, grapefruit juice, sour cream or pickle juice.

Many deer generally have a good fat supply to see them through the lean times of Wisconsin's cold and snowy winters. Venison fat tends to have a wild taste; if you don't desire this flavor, you should trim away all the excess fat. Other fat sources such as margarine, butter, bacon or flavored cooking oils can be used to keep the meat from sticking to the pan. This extra fat will also aid in maintaining moisture.

Seasonings can also be added. Some of the more common flavorings used include: thyme, curry powder, garlic, nutmeg, ground ginger, whole cloves, oregano, salt and pepper. It's up to the cook to decide what to use!

When you're cooking tender cuts such as the loin, round and shoulder, use dry heat methods. These include roasting, broiling, pan broiling and frying. For tougher cuts use the moist heat methods of braising, stewing or pressure cooking.

Jerky is a favorite among many outdoors people who go afield. It can be made simply at home by cutting meat into six-inch strips about 1/2 inch wide and 1/4 inch thick and marinating the strips overnight. Any combination of marinades can be used. The most common is soy or worcestershire sauce with seasonings added.

The strips can then be hung by toothpicks on racks in an oven set at 120 degrees or the lowest possible temperature setting. Keep the oven door slightly open to allow moisture to escape. After six to eight hours the meat will be a hard brown or black color, and should be dry enough to bend without breaking.

Thin-cut slices of venison can also be used in stroganoff recipes and stir fry dishes.

Tougher venison cuts can be taken to the local supermarket or butcher shop and ground into burger. This is relatively cheap, usually costing about $2-$4 to ground 10 pounds of meat. The burger can be pan fried, grilled or made into sausage.

While many commercial sausage makers are available, sausage too can be easily made at home. Try this tasty recipe:

In a large bowl thoroughly mix four pounds of venison (maximum fat content about 25 percent), 1 1/2 teaspoons of garlic powder, 1/4 cup curing salt, 2 tablespoons of liquid smoke, and 1 1/2 teaspoons of ground pepper. Cover and chill for 24 hours.

Once this is done, divide the mixture into fourths. Shape each round into a compact eight-inch log. Place the logs on a broiler pan with a rack and bake at 225 degrees in an oven for four hours. Let cool, eat and enjoy!

1991 Deer Hunting Forecast: Lots of Deer and a Boost to Local Economies

by Harry Libby, Wildlife Management Analyst, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources

MADISON... Each year about the time frost finds the pumpkin and leaves turn to gold, interest in the deer season builds to a peak. Two questions frequently asked are, "What does the DNR anticipate the harvest will be?" and "What does this event mean to local economies?"

Assuming favorable weather conditions, Wisconsin deer hunters can expect the upcoming season to be better than last year. That's keeping pretty good company, since last year was the best season on record!

The total number of deer taken during the gun season could be in the neighborhood of 380,000. About 140,000 will likely be bucks, with the remainder being antlerless deer. Wildlife managers recommend harvest levels to achieve a balance among the interest of deer hunters, the agricultural community and the number of deer that can be supported by the habitat in any given area.

Other factors also play an important role in Wisconsin's annual deer hunt. Not the least of these is the participation of the hunters themselves. The DNR expects more than 690,000 deer hunters to take to the field this fall, and with favorable weather the total number of days spent in the field by all deer hunts will approach six million.

For many hunters, the fall gun season is one of the largest social events of the year, and they often plan their vacations around the deer hunting season. Some schools close their doors, some northern industries shut down, and businesses downstate adjust work schedules to reduce absenteeism during the gun deer season.

When asked in a survey to indicate how much they would miss deer hunting, more than 60 percent of Wisconsin's deer hunters reported they would miss deer hunting more than most of all other activities.

This type of dedication and interest gets the attention of local merchants such as motel owners, restaurant operators and sporting goods dealers. All hope to gather a few "bucks" of their own before the hunting clothes are once again packed away. While the deer are polishing their antlers and the hunters their guns, many local businesses are dusting off their "Hunters Welcome" signs.

What's the outlook for these "green" bucks this fall? Information on Wisconsin deer hunting expenditures from a national survey of fishing, hunting, and wildlife-associated recreation estimates that hunters spend on average about $350 in Wisconsin (including costs for food and lodging, transportation, hunting equipment, licenses, special equipment, and lands leased or owned for deer hunting). Using this estimate, this fall's group of 690,000 deer hunters will come home collectively some $241.5 million lighter in the wallet!

In terms of total sales, that compares with Wisconsin companies such as UW Provision Co. of Middleton, American TV and Appliance of Madison, and Sargento Incorporated of Plymouth. In fact, if all the state's deer hunters spent their money in one place, that business would rank among Wisconsin's top 35 most profitable companies!

Recent work done by the Wisconsin hospitality, recreation and tourism industry has resulted in a method to determine the number of jobs created or supported by recreational activities. Using the figure of $241.5 million for deer hunting expenditures (adjusted for the expansion effect, whereby each dollar spent may be worth $2.20 as it circulates and provides jobs for related businesses in local economies), this calculation shows the money expended by Wisconsin deer hunters during the season is enough to support more than 13,900 jobs in the state.

To put this into perspective, that would be enough to provide a job for every man, woman, and child in Buffalo, Burnett, Marquette, or Washburn counties, or every one in cities like Brown Deer (no pun intended), Chippewa Falls, Kaukauna, Marinette, Menomonie, Monroe, Oconomowoc, Onalaska, Two Rivers, Watertown or Whitewater.

If all these jobs "supported" by deer hunting were in one company, how would this company rank with other Wisconsin firms based on the number of people employed? Data from the Wisconsin Department of Development indicate this "company" would be bigger than Wisconsin employers like A.O. Smith, Briggs & Stratton, General Electric, J.C. Penney, Kimberly-Clark, Kohler Co., Shopko or Wisconsin Bell.

What's the size and value of the resource base that provides these economic returns? Biologists tell us the deer herd this fall will exceed 1.3 million animals (not every one views high deer numbers as an asset... deer damage in Wisconsin totals about $37 million dollars per year and Wisconsin DNR spent about $1.6 million in deer damage, abatement and compensation last year).

Getting at dollars takes a little figuring. Assuming 50 pounds of food per deer at $2 per pound, a Wisconsin harvest of 380,000 deer equals $38 million in venison steaks and brats.

Adding this food value to the $241.5 million of recreational expenditures, the estimate of the annual value of the deer hunt is at least $279 million.

Those aren't small bucks... and neither are a lot of those wary brown ones that will manage to outsmart many deer hunters this fall. It's a cycle that keeps interest high, deer hunting discussions flowing, and local economies green.

[A resident deer license is $18; nonresident deer licenses are $120 each. Hunters had to return their Hunter's Choice applications by Sept. 20 to be eligible to receive a permit to harvest an antlerless deer. A new $3 application fee had to accompany the application and paid for printing, postage, and computer costs associated with permit processing and the development of a continuous preference system. In addition, hunters in some deer management units were able to receive up to two bonus antlerless deer permits. These bonus permits cost $12 each and the money collected supplements the wildlife damage program to provide damage abatement and crop damage payments to eligible landowners.]

Reminders for Deer Season

The 1991 Wisconsin Deer Season begins this Saturday, November 23rd at 6:27 a.m. in the Campbellsport Area. I realize there is plenty to remember just getting clothing and hunting supplies together, but here are a few other things not to forget.

By this time everyone is well aware that a hunters choice permit does not include the stick-on decals as in previous years. The hunters choice permit is now only a postcard sized piece of paper, but it MUST be carried while hunting and when registering a hunters choice antlerless deer. Duplicate hunters choice permits are available at DNR Stations for a cost of $2.75. In this area they are available at the Mauthe Lake Ranger Station on weekdays and at the Ice Age Center on weekends.

It is also unlawful to possess any firearm on the Friday immediately before the gun deer season opens, unless the firearm is unloaded and enclosed within a carrying case. Exceptions to this is shooting at established target ranges, waterfowl (goose) hunting during the open season, and hunting on licensed game farms and shooting preserves is permitted.

Finally, remember to make it a safe hunt, treat every gun as if it were loaded, always point your gun in a safe direction, and be certain of your target and beyond.

It should be one of the best, if not the best season ever. GOOD LUCK.
