Combined Services Held for Bus Accident Victims

by Sharon Callaway Roznik

Combined funeral services took place in West Bend on Wednesday, January 13, for the five family members, with Kewaskum area ties, who perished in the highly publicized tour bus accident, 25 miles west of Mexico on January 3.

Relatives agreed that services should be held together for twin sisters, Joan Junk of Eau Claire and Jean Holz of West Bend, both 36, Joan's husband, James Junk, 35, their daughter, Stephanie, 11, and Jean's daughter, Tiffany, also 11.

Ten-year-old Trisha Holz, Jean's other daughter, survived the crash, and is now home after being treated for injuries at the American Hospital in Cancun. Trisha is living with her father, Daryl Holz and her great-grandparents, Marvin and Nora Doehring of West Bend. "She's doing really good," said her uncle, Dennis Junk of Kewaskum, brother of victim James Junk. "She's quite the little girl."

Two trust funds have been established for the Holz family, the first by Barton Elementary School PTA, where the Holz girl attended school. Donations can be sent to West Bend Savings Bank, P.O. Box 437, West Bend, WI 53095.

The Trust for Trisha has been established by her grandmother, Eleanor Holmes, at Glacier Hills Credit Union, 18 E. Washington St., West Bend, WI 53095.

Twins, Joan and Jean (Holmes) and James Junk were 1975 graduates of Kewaskum High School, as was Jean's former husband, Daryl Holz.

Complete obituaries for the accident victims appear on page 10.

With Our Sympathy

With our deepest,
heartfelt sympathy to the Junk, Holz and Holmes families...

WE HAVE LOST THREE OF OUR BRIGHTEST STARS...

There's an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone...

And there in a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims his own.

Beyond the gate, our classmates
Find happiness and rest,

And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.

Village Board Denies Re-Zoning Request

By Noel Stollenwerk

The Village Board, acting on the request of several Bel Ric Drive residents, last Monday night voted against a request by Norman Heberer for rezoning of a land parcel in the neighborhood.

In a public hearing held before the regular Board meeting, several residents of the neighborhood spoke against the proposed rezoning and eventual construction of two eight-unit multi-family buildings on the land.

Heberer appeared before the Board and explained his plans for the lot, which is at the southwest corner of Bel Ric Drive. In addition to the two apartment buildings, plans also called for the accompanying 16 garages.

The land, owned by Gary Smith, currently consists of three lots, and is zoned for a total of four duplexes. Four owners of the properties surrounding the land voiced their concerns at the proposed development.

The Board was also informed of an added wrinkle in the proposed development, when they were told that a stretch of road leading to the lot had never been dedicated for street purposes.

With that obstacle in addition to the opposition from the adjoining landowners, the Board had little choice but to deny Heberer's request. It is not certain at this point, what, if any, action Heberer will choose regarding the land.

In another related matter, the Board approved a request by Gary Gavin and Greg Krueger to rezone a piece of land located at 240 Main Street. The pair are proposing the installation of two apartments in the downstairs portion of the building, and a three-bedroom apartment upstairs.

Trustee David Goeden spoke against the request, noting that he is reluctant to allow the building of the housing on property that has been used over the years for retail businesses.

After it had been assured that ample parking space would be provided for the building, the Board approved the rezoning by a 4-1 vote.

In other matters, the Board made a proclamation to honor the GFWC Kewaskum Woman's Club on their 80th anniversary.

In a related matter, it was learned last week that Trustee Robert Wagner has filed nomination papers and will challenge Village President Mary Krueger in this spring's election.

Wagner's was one of three Trustee spots that were up for re-election, and his challenge for the Board Presidency will not allow him to return as a trustee.

Trustees Robert Beisbier and David Goeden both filed papers for their re-election, while Charles Waala also filed for a village trustee spot. Wagner and Krueger were the lone nominees for the Village President position.

In the race for the three spots open on the Kewaskum School Board, incumbents Ruth Schmitt, Janet Wolfenber and Ron Beim-born all filed their papers for re-election. No other nomination papers were received.

KHS Freshmen Parents Night

Kewaskum High School will hold its annual Freshman Parents Night on Monday, Jan. 18 at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria.

All parents and incoming freshmen are invited to attend this informational meeting. Orientation to the high school scheduling procedure will be discussed by the high school counselors. Mr. Heidner, high school principal and Dr. Ruhm, assistant principal will be discussing expectations, goals and much more.

Refreshments will be provided.

Bartelt Resigns Head Baseball Post

By Noel Stollenwerk

KEWASKUM — Anyone associated with the baseball program at Kewaskum High School over the past decade can appreciate what Tom Bartelt has sacrificed for the team.

But it was those same sacrifices that prompted Bartelt to step down as the Indians' varsity baseball coach after eight years.

"When you have trouble staying awake when you're driving to and from work, you know it's time," Bartelt said in an interview this week. "It just took up too much time. Two-to-three hours a sleep a night just wasn't enough."

Bartelt, who works third shift at the Kohler Company, has been getting by on just a couple of hours of sleep during the summer. Having to leave for work at three in the morning, and then going to games or practice after work has taken its toll.

"It something I really didn't want to do," he says of resigning. While officially he came to his decision just before Christmas, the process actually started this past summer. "As the year wore on...I knew."

Bartelt leaves behind a successful tenure, in which he produced a 112-107 overall record, including an 81-63 mark in the tough Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Throwing out the 1987 (6-19) and 1989 (7-22) seasons, Bartelt's mark is even more impressive, as he would have recorded a .600 winning percentage overall (99-66).

"Every coach thinks that they should have done better, or could have done better," Bartelt said.

Bartelt coached the Indians to the EW championship last season with a 15-3 mark, and also won a share of the EW title in 1990. The Indians also finished in second place three times during Bartelt's reign.

As for his most vivid memories, "Going to state twice," he said, noting that his team accomplished that in both the 1986 and 1989 seasons. Both times, the Indians won their opening game in the state tournament - in 1986 the Indians beat Franklin 9-5, while in 1989 the Indians beat Arcadia 3-1.

The 1989 trip to Stevens Point may have been Bartelt's greatest achievement, as that squad struggled through the regular season with a 3-21 record. But wins over Slinger (6-2) Random Lake (4-0) and West Bend East (6-2) produced the second, and final trip to the state tourney.

What will he miss most about the job? "Working with the kids...definitely," he said, noting that right now he doesn't have any regrets about resigning. "But I guess I'll find that out for sure when summer comes."

Bartelt has plenty to keep him busy in the meantime. "I've got a lot of work to do around the house," he says. "The place looks the same as it did ten years ago (when he started coaching)."

The search for a new coach has already started, as KHS Athletic Director Dave Rizzardi said that faculty members have until this Friday to apply for the post. If no faculty members are interested, the search will then go to the community.

If anyone is interested in the position, Rizzardi says that they can call him at the high school with any questions.

Farm Computer Expo to Be Held at Amerahn January 18

Farm families are invited to attend a Farm Computer Expo scheduled for Monday, January 18. The program will be held at the Amerahn located just north of Kewaskum on Highway 45. The session will start at 10 a.m.

Computers are becoming more common pieces of equipment on farms. The development of new software and the reduction in the prices of computer systems have made them a valuable tool for many uses on farms. Computers are being used for keeping the farm financial accounts, dairy management, crop management, making financial projections, spreadsheets, market news, word processing and many other uses.

A computer is a useful piece of equipment when it is properly equipped to perform the needed tasks. This means adequate hardware and the right software. A computer is like a tractor. It alone is of little value without proper and useful implements. A computer is of little value without adequate and useful software. It is difficult to find out about the types and sources of agricultural software that are available.

Farm families and others are often asking about types of software that are available for their use. The main objective of the Farm Computer Expo is to help people become aware of the types and sources of farm related software.

The morning program topic will be "Evaluating, Selecting and Purchasing Computer Hardware and Software." It will include information on understanding the types of computer systems, selecting hardware to meet your needs, new technology such as windows applications CD ROM and other innovations.

The afternoon will feature a show and tell session from vendors of agricultural software followed by a panel of farm families using computers on their farms.

A number of software vendors will be present and participants will have time to visit with the vendors and become aware of the types of software available.

Individuals interested in more information or to register for the program should contact the Washington County U.W. Extension Office at 335-4477, 342-2929 or 644-5204. The registration cost is $5.00 per person, which includes noon lunch.

Kewaskum FFA Attends National Convention

The Kewaskum F.F.A. sent four delegates to the National F.F.A. Convention on November 11th to the 15th of this past year. The delegates were Michael Marx Vice President, Scott Enright Secretary, Derek Follman Sentinel, and Mike Ksioszk Treasurer.

On the way down we all stopped at the Ertl Toy Company in Iowa. The entire group of 40 F.F.A. students from around the area toured the company. We also all toured the toy museum.

While down in Kansas City, at the Convention Center we all had the opportunity of touring a career show. This involved Colleges from around the country that had a lot of information about their schools. The show also featured the biggest supporters of the F.F.A. like Chevy dealers, Ford dealers, and many other Ag related companies.

Also at the Convention Center we all went to the convention sessions that were held in the main auditorium. This is where we heard all of the great speakers talk about positive thinking and leadership. We also listened to the National F.F.A. band and chorus. In the Convention Center there was a record breaking number of F.F.A. students and teachers reaching around 29,000 people in attendance throughout the week.

When we were in Kansas City the whole group went to the National American Royal Rodeo and the Harry S. Truman Library. The library featured many historical artifacts about Truman and the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Also, the cars they used during that era were on display. The rodeo featured all aspects of wild west rodeo, as well as some top name Country Western entertainment.

The Youth and Family Project Sponsoring 'Rainbows' Program

Beginning the week of February 1, The Youth and Family Project of West Bend will be offering a new program called Rainbows for all Children. This program is a 14 week support group for children (pre-school - eighth grade) who are living in a single parent family, step-family or families going through painful transitions.

"Rainbows" which has seen great results in other areas of the state, is geared towards helping children work through grief issues that often accompany losing a parent. "Rainbow Kids" will assist the children in expressing and understanding their feelings, it will begin to help them feel acceptance for what has happened in their family and to feel a greater sense of belonging.

Program Coordinator Joy Breese states that "just by bringing the children together, the program can begin to work. You've taken away their feelings of isolation. The children will have a secure way to share themselves and their story." The program uses workbooks, storybooks, games and works with small groups of children in similar age categories. Various themes that are discussed in relation to the changes in their family are self, trust, anger, and family. The Rainbows Program is facilitated by adults who are specifically trained to work with the children on these issues.

Breese also points out that even though divorce may seem to be an adult issue, that it also has a profound effect on children. Children need to be able to resolve the grief issues that accompany losing a parent; unresolved grief often becomes buried within the child and can cause serious emotional difficulties later on in their lives.

For more information on "Rainbow Kids", or to register your children, please contact "The Youth and Family Project" at 338-1661.

Centennial Anniversary Events Scheduled at West Bend Gallery

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the Columbian Exposition, also known as the White City, held in Chicago in 1893. The interesting events listed below will highlight the relationship of that exposition, the art work of Carl von Marr and the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts today. You are cordially invited to attend all of these events.

January 24, 2:00 p.m.

Father Michael W. Maher of Marquette University presents a lecture and discussion on the 13th century zealots known as the Flagellants. The Carl von Marr painting of the same subject drew a great deal of attention at the Columbian Exposition of 1893 and is the starting point of the talk. Father Maher will discuss the effect the movement had on church and society and the historical facts and reasoning that surrounded the penitential movement. The talk will also delve into similar behavioral practices of today's penitential groups.

February 7, 2:00 p.m.

Dr. Frank Cassell, Dean of the Albert A. Robin Campus/Roosevelt University, Chicago, presents a lecture reviewing the colossal and magnificent 1893 Chicago Columbian Exposition which later inspired the creators of Walt Disney World. The slide lecture will feature many of the Exposition buildings and artifacts that exist today on the centennial of the exposition also known as the White City. The review will include two Carl von Marr paintings in the gallery's collection. One of these will be exhibited this spring at Revisiting the White City: American Art at the World's Columbian Exposition held at the National Museum of American Art, Washington, D.C.

April 14-18

A Washington D.C. tour open to the public will include the opening of Revisiting the White City: American Art at the World's Columbian Exposition held at the National Museum of American Art. The exhibition will include the Carl von Marr painting, SUMMER AFTERNOON, which is normally exhibited at the West Bend Gallery of Fine Arts. The tour will also include other Smithsonian museums and historic sites. Call (414) 334-9638 for details.

'Managing' Workshop For Small Business

A new workshop in "Managing" has been developed for owner/managers of small businesses by UW-Extension of Washington and Ozaukee Counties. It will be held at the University Center Campus in West Bend from 7 to 9:30 p.m. evenings, beginning January 27. This workshop is one of the Management Enrichment Programs sponsored by UW-Extension.

The five session workshop will be held on Wednesday evening of each week. "Managing: A Key Role" has been designed for businesses with less than 25 employees and created to strengthen management skills of the entrepreneur. The root cause of business difficulty lies in the skills and techniques of managing... skills that can be learned.

The workshop will look at all of the management functions as well as provide an opportunity for each person present to take a self-assessment test in analyzing his/her personal effectiveness in management.

Leading the workshop will be Geoffrey Hermsen, management consultant, specializing in assistance to retail and wholesale operations. He has over thirty years of operation management experience for such firms as Brills, Zahns and Sure-Strike, holding positions ranging from controller to vice-president of operations. Hermsen has been involved in every aspect of administration and management of small business and appreciates fully the opportunities and challenges that lay in good management techniques. His experience includes credit and collection, accounting and finance, personnel, risk management, strategic planning, budgeting, organization, system design, security and EDP.

Hermsen received his B.A. Degree in Economics from the University of Wisconsin and his M.B.A. from Marquette University. He is a past President of the Wisconsin Retail Financial Executives Association.

For more information on registration, call Chuck Wise, Area Recreation/Small Business Agent for UW-Extension at 414/335-5204. The $75 fee covers instruction, special materials and the personal assessment program. There is a limited enrollment, so register today by calling 414/227-3200. (Mastercard and Visa accepted.)

Hazlewood to Appear in College Production of 'The Angels of Warsaw'

MINNEAPOLIS... John Hazlewood of Kewaskum will portray the character of Grzegorz in the Augsburg College Theatre Department's production of "The Angels of Warsaw," opening on January 21.

John, the son of John and Carol Hazlewood, is a sophomore at Augsburg majoring in Theatre, whose theatrical credits at Augsburg also include roles in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "A Streetcar Named Desire," and "Blood Wedding." "The Angels of Warsaw" imaginatively explores the life and work of Father Jerzy Popieluszko, the Polish activist priest who was a major figure in the Solidarity movement before being brutally murdered in 1984 by the Polish secret police. "Angels" is not a documentary based on Father Popieluszko, but rather a work of fiction about a train trip that never took place, but could have... fellow passengers he probably never met, but might have.

Written by Marisha Chamberlain, "The Angels of Warsaw" will be directed by Martha Johnson, an instructor at Augsburg College, and will open on January 21, at 7 p.m. The play's run will also include performances on January 22, 23 and 24, and February 4, 5 and 6 at 7 p.m. Performances are at the Tjornhom-Nelson Theatre, Foss Center, at the corner of Riverside Avenue and 22nd Avenue S. in Minneapolis. Tickets are $5 and may be ordered by calling (612) 330-1257.

The theatre arts major at Augsburg builds on the foundation of the liberal arts, integrating literature, music, art, dance, history, philosophy and religion. In addition to a schedule of fall and spring plays, the department offers an experimental production during January Interim. Students are encouraged to participate in all aspects of theatre art production. Internships at Twin Cities theatres prepare students for professional work, graduate school, educational theatre and many other fields.

Protecting Your Child's Skin During the Winter

By Lisa Brunette, UW-Madison Center for Health Sciences

The forecasters have spoken: Wisconsinites are in for an unusually cold, harsh winter that could be rough on everything from your heating bill to your car battery.

Imagine what it can do to a child's tender skin.

"Children's skin is amazingly resilient," notes Dr. Gary Williams, a pediatrician at UW Children's Hospital in Madison. "But, just as with adults, the combination of cold air outside and dry heat inside helps produce irritated, dry skin that can be a real annoyance in winter."

Normally, the natural oils in the skin help seal in water that keeps skin supple. Therefore, anything that causes moisture to evaporate from the skin, like harsh wind or excessive heat, will contribute to dryness. In addition, excessive washing can aggravate the problem by removing the skin's natural oils. In some cases, dry air can even lead to nosebleeds when the nasal passages dry out.

But it's not just exposure to the air that can wreak havoc with skin during the winter. Some youngsters and adults, for example, are sensitive to certain fabrics. Wool, a great insulator against winter chill, can produce chronic skin irritation. For those allergic to animal dander, spending more time indoors around family pets can aggravate allergic reactions.

Fortunately, protecting a child's skin is relatively simple.

Dressing properly for frigid weather is the first step. When indoors, to prevent excessive sweating and water loss from the skin, try to keep the room temperature as cool as your family finds comfortable. Williams says humidifiers can help, but they need not use hot water, which may burn a child if the unit is tipped over. Cool water moisturizes just as well.

Children who resist frequent bathing may actually be doing their skin a favor. Williams notes that many people mistakenly believe that more washing will help dry skin when just the opposite is true.

The type of soap used can make a difference, too. One widely used scientific test measures the degree of irritation produced by particular cleansers. The test has found that in general, highly alkaline soaps or those with many perfumes or dyes should be avoided to prevent skin problems.

If dry skin has already developed, UW clinical pharmacists say "superfatted" soaps might help. These soaps are formulated with moisturizers that actually deposit some oil on the skin. Oatmeal baths for younger children can also help reduce skin irritation. Pharmacists can help consumers choose soaps and liquid cleansers that are less likely to irritate the skin.

Whatever the cleansing agent, children should apply a moisturizer immediately after washing to seal in moisture... and, in general, "the greasier the better," says Williams. Lanolin, found in many lotions, is obtained from sheep's wool and is therefore an allergen for many people, so it's best to start with a small bottle of a product you're trying for the first time.

Finally, if these conservative measures don't seem to be working, it's time to consult a physician. Chronically dry skin may be a sign of eczema, contact dermatitis, psoriasis or even a thyroid disorder. An accompanying rash is a good sign that the problem needs further attention.

"Skin constantly changes through one's lifetime," says Williams. "But with proper care, you can help it look and feel its best at any stage of life."

Epitaph to My Cat

by Isabelle Muckerheide

Sounds silly, doesn't it, but several days before Christmas, a cat who adopted me was killed. She wasn't really mine, but belonged across the road.

Every day she visited me, being careful to cross the road, so I'm thinking she might have been shot.

She was a beautiful Siamese with white feet and blue eyes.

Regardless of the time I would get home at night, she would come to greet me.

In the morning when I opened the door, she was waiting for a handout. I didn't mind that she had scratched all the putty off of my storm door. I would buy cat food for her when there weren't enough table scraps.

In the summer, she would follow me to the garden while I planted and pulled weeds. Several times I stepped on her tail when she got under my feet. She would catch gophers, and bring them for me to see.

When I drove in, and opened the car door, she would jump in and lick my hand, as if to say she was glad to see me.

A dog may be man's best friend, but a kitty can be pretty special, too.

SUPER SAVER ON MON. & TUES. EVENINGS

25 Years Ago

JANUARY 12, 1968

A power failure Tuesday afternoon interrupted service in a widespread area when a 138,000 volt transmission line originating at Saukville and servicing this area failed. The trouble on the line was not immediately determined but an alternate line was later "cut in" to supply power until the difficulty could be reached. Affected by the interruption in power were customers in West Bend, Slinger, Hartford, Campbellsport, Lomira, Kewaskum and as far away as Watertown.

The regular monthly meeting of the Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's Association of Kewaskum was held January 9 at the American Legion Clubhouse. The main business of the meeting was the election of officers. New officers elected are: President George Hanrahan; Vice-President Maurie Struebing; Secretary Steve Liegl; Treasurer Bob Struebing; Directors Walter Schmidt, Ray Klein and Harold Westerman.

On Christmas Day Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bruessel, Route 2, Kewaskum, announced the engagement of their daughter, Joyce, to Mark Kral, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kral of Kewaskum.

The Kewaskum Indians probably wish the Christmas vacation would have lasted a week longer. Returning to action after the holidays, they had a busy week and a disastrous one, playing three games and losing all of them by decisive scores. Opening with a non-conference game against Lomira, third place team in the Tri-County League with a 4-2 record, here last Wednesday, the Indians took it on the chin, 70-57. Kewaskum hit only 17 of 57, but connected on 23 of 38 from the foul line, which kept them in the game. Perry Koth and Jim Schuster shared scoring honors for the Indians with 15 points apiece. Getting back to Scenic Moraine play here Friday, the Indians lost to a strong Slinger five, 78-61. Marv Tanck kept the Indians from falling out of sight in the game with 18 points. Teammate Schuster lent a helping hand with 12 points and Perry Koth managed the same number. Playing at Campbellsport Tuesday night the Indians really hit the skids when they were walloped by the last place Bells, who hadn't won a conference game all season, 63-47. Schuster's 15 points paced the losers.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Volm, Jr., Route 2, Kewaskum, on January 10. A daughter, Anne Elizabeth, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Richard Ryman of Albert Lea, Minnesota, on December 27. Mrs. Ryman is the former Carol Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of Kewaskum. A daughter was also born to Mr. and Mrs. John Kleinke, Route 2, Campbellsport, on December 22.

Thirty-four of 50 men listed by the Washington County Selective Service board for possible induction into military service and one volunteer from Kewaskum were accepted at the army induction center following medical examination in Milwaukee on Tuesday. The men accepted will report for active service at the army reception center at Fort Sheridan, Illinois on January 19. Five of the inductees accepted are from Kewaskum. 75 Years Ago

The wealth of Washington County has increased over two million dollars during the past year, according to the statistical report on the assessments for 1917, submitted to the County Board. The total true value of all real and personal property combined is $44,594,521, an increase in exact figures of $2,146,488 over the true valuation given in the 1916 report. Of this increase, $1,113,683 is due to the increase value of the real estate, the farms and city and village lots. The total value of all real estate in the county now is $36,628,807, and that of real and personal property combined is $44,594,521. The value of the latter is $7,965,714. The automobiles in the county during the past year increased by 720, making the number at the time of the assessors' rounds 2,073. The aggregate value of those machines of "high and low degree" is placed at $784,175, and their average value at $378.28. Among the towns, the town of Germantown is predominant in the number of autos, 168, having been counted, while the town of Kewaskum has the least number, 46. The City of Hartford is set down with 304 autos, and the City of West Bend with 205. The percentage of people owning autos seems to be about equal in both cities, while formerly it was decidedly in favor of West Bend. One out of every fifteen inhabitants is the owner of an auto. But the Hartforders seem to sport higher priced machines, for the tables give them an average value of $371.62, while that of West Bend machines is given with only $307.87. Of course Hartford patronizes its home industry and the price of the Kissel Kars did not yet come down to that of the "Tin Lizzies."

The blizzard which prevailed over the country last Sunday and Monday was one of the worst in the history of the state. Trains were abandoned, rural mail delivery was impossible and traffic of all kinds was obstructed by the huge snow drifts that were formed during the 24 hour gale. The storm began during Saturday night and was at its worst during Sunday afternoon when the wind blew at a rate of from forty to sixty miles an hour, which continued until Monday forenoon, when the wind abated and the general public began to shovel itself out from the drifts that surrounded the homes.

An eight pound baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Schaub of Kewaskum last Thursday morning.

Data Shows Farmers Should Use Caution Harvesting, Managing, Feeding Moldy Corn

With new data from November showing low levels of fungal toxins in unharvested corn, pressure is on Wisconsin farmers to harvest remaining corn promptly before the problem gets worse.

During the cool, wet autumn, molds became established in standing corn across the state, according to University of Wisconsin-Madison researchers. These molds produce toxins at cold temperatures. The toxins can cut milk production in dairy cows, cause swine to refuse feed, reduce reproductive efficiency and cause other harm to animals.

The researchers warn that the decay process is only in its early stages. The molds will continue to grow during the winter, producing even higher concentrations of toxins later this winter and next spring.

"If farmers leave this corn in the field or store it as ear corn in cribs, it will very likely decay further and toxin levels will rise," says Eugene Smalley, a plant pathologist who has studied the fungi for decades. "The problem in ear corn is going to get worse if farmers do nothing."

The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection will take over 100 samples of newly harvested corn and test it to assure that there is no significant risk to food producing animals. In February, a milk-sampling program will assess the mold toxin risk in this product.

College of Agricultural and Life Sciences researchers and Extension specialists are urging farmers to manage their corn with great care.

Farmers need to make decisions about the remaining corn crop quickly, says Terry Howard, an Extension dairy specialist and UW-Madison professor. "There are few black and white solutions for dealing with molds, the toxins they produce and the preservation of very wet corn, but we can suggest some general guidelines that farmers can follow."

Almost 40 percent of the Wisconsin corn crop is still in the field. Farmers will want to stay away from fields or parts of fields where the corn is still very wet or where it is too moldy. Howard suggests that growers take a little time before they harvest a field and look at the corn. Since the mold spreads from the cob out to the kernels, break ears in half to check for mold, he says. Avoid harvesting areas where the cobs have deteriorated.

Many farmers have reported white, pinkish molds on wet corn this past fall. Black and gray molds also are being seen near the base of corn kernels. Farmers should be suspicious of any of these types of molds.

Corn with a moisture content above 40 percent is probably best left unharvested, since its livestock feed value is extremely questionable. "Chop it back on the field or whatever. Just don't use it," Howard says.

Howard recommends that growers harvest remaining fields as shelled corn rather than ear corn, since eliminating the cob may reduce mold and toxin contamination by as much as 50 percent, they say.

Storage does not necessarily stop toxin development. Corn stored on the cob represents a particular threat, since the cob is wetter than the kernels. Drying and ensiling the crop are the best ways to slow or stop toxin formation.

Drying corn to less than 15 percent moisture prior to storage is one way of inhibiting mold growth. Using propionic acid at a rate of 12 to 15 pounds per ton may also be beneficial in protecting the wet corn, according to Howard.

Farmers could also process it by fermentation into silage or high-moisture shelled corn. Ten to 15 pounds of propionic acid per ton should be applied to high-moisture grain in silos to ensure good preservation. Ensiling high-moisture corn when temperatures are well below freezing may produce ensiled material that does not ferment, Howard says. When the weather warms in the spring, it may mold very quickly. Applying propionic acid at ensiling should protect the corn from further mold and toxin development.

Corn that has been infected by molds or damaged during harvest before it is dried and stored is especially susceptible to spoilage during storage. Therefore, the usual methods of managing grain in storage may not work this year, according to UW-Madison extension agricultural engineer Brian Holmes.

Holmes suggests that it may be useful to freeze grain with the aeration system this year to inhibit mold development. Check your grain weekly to detect any grain going out of condition. Cool hot spots with aeration, he says. If that doesn't work, Holmes says you may need to move the grain to disperse hot spots. For more information about managing grain in storage, ask your County Extension agent for a copy of the "Grain Drying, Handling and Storage Handbook," MWPS-13.

Howard and CALS poultry specialist Mark Cook urge livestock producers who are buying corn for feed to purchase corn with the highest test weight, dry it as rapidly as possible... dry to 13 or 14 percent if possible, and be sure to aerate it properly this winter.

"Be especially wary of corn out of cribs," Cook says. "Reject any mold-damaged corn. Don't feed cob or corn screenings." Corn screenings may contain much higher levels of toxins than undamaged corn.

It is critical to monitor animals closely and watch for a drop in production or feed refusal. Producers may want to test corn samples periodically for toxins. Several commercial laboratories offer this service.

County UW-Extension agents have been briefed on the problem and are equipped to help farmers avoid livestock problems. For recommendations on ensiling corn at varying moisture levels, contact your local Extension agent.

Volunteer Sites Accepting Appointments to Help Nonfilers Get a Fresh Start on Taxes

Taxpayers throughout Wisconsin are starting work on their 1992 tax forms. But thousands of Wisconsin taxpayers haven't filed their returns for other years yet... and they're the target of the new IRS nonfiler program. Since unveiling the program on October 1, the IRS has received hundreds of phone calls and visits from nonfilers throughout the state.

The IRS would like to remind other nonfilers that volunteer sites are available in Milwaukee and Madison to help them get those old returns filed and get a fresh start on their taxes.

The community sites were opened in early October to assist taxpayers who want help but who may feel more comfortable in a nongovernment setting. The Milwaukee volunteer site is located at the UW-Extension Building at 929 N. Sixth Street. The other site is at the Madison Public Library in downtown Madison. Both sites are open the first Wednesday of each month by appointment only. To schedule an appointment, call (414) 297-3302 or 1-800-829-1040.

In addition to the volunteer sites, IRS offices are equipped and staffed... and personnel are trained, to assist nonfilers in filing returns from past years and getting the fresh start they want. Says John T. Ader, Director of the IRS in Wisconsin: "Taxpayers coming into IRS offices will be given 'one-stop' service. This means we will help prepare their returns and make payment arrangements, if necessary. We may also consider offers-in-compromise."

Taxpayer Service personnel will have prior year forms available at all IRS offices. Taxpayers who want more information on the nonfiler program can visit any IRS office or call 1-800-829-1040.

According to Ader, "Many of the nonfilers are people who are self-employed. They deal in cash and had little or no taxes withheld. Often, they didn't file because of circumstances beyond their control... personal hardships such as severe illness, death of a spouse, or extreme financial problems. Once they didn't file, those people found it harder to file the next time because they were afraid of what would happen if they got caught. Now, a year or more later, they would like to get a fresh start but are afraid to return to the system."

Ader adds that about 30 revenue agents and tax auditors are working full-time to track down Wisconsin's nonfilers. And he adds this warning: "If we reach you before you come to us, the penalties you'll face will be much tougher. File for yourself... or we'll file for you."

DNR Outdoor Report

(As of January 9th & 10th)

Winter recreational activities are in full swing in Wisconsin, with the best conditions for ice fishing, snowmobiling and cross-country skiing found in the north. Fishing success is good on some lakes, spotty on others. Snowmobilers are reminded that there's a 10-mile-an-hour speed limit within 100 feet of any person or shanty on the ice.

Fishing for walleyes and panfish is fair to good on most lakes in Douglas and Bayfield counties. Brown trout and splake are being taken on the north side of Chequamegon Bay. Early this week, ice conditions were poor north of Houghton Point. In Iron County, most lakes are now safely covered with 12 to 15 inches of ice, but slush was forming on top as of the last snowfall.

Good flag action for northerns has been reported on Lost and Pickerel Lakes in Vilas County. Caution is advised, because good amounts of slush have formed on lakes in that area, too. Stay away from channels and thoroughfares. The ice in the Wisconsin Rapids area is extremely dangerous.

Ice conditions have improved greatly in Florence County. Walleyes are being taken at several locations, but many have been below the 15-inch minimum size. Several northerns in the 28- to 30-inch range have been caught in the Brule backwaters. In Oconto County, ice conditions on the bay are limiting anglers to near-shore areas, primarily for northern pike fishing. A 21-pound, 43-inch northern was caught recently.

Walleyes, northerns and panfish are biting on Lake Puckaway and Big Green Lake. Beaver Dam and Fox Lakes in Dodge County have been providing steady panfish action. Perch are biting well in Madison's Lake Mendota off Governor Nelson State Park and Governor's Island. Recent rains and warm weather weakened the ice on the Madison Lakes. Fishing action has picked up on Lake Koshkonong, with good catches of walleye reported.

Much of the ice on the Milwaukee River has broken up; slush and ice flows remain a problem. Oak Creek has had high flow and poor water clarity. Flows on the Pigeon River are good but slightly turbid. Racine County's Root River remains high and very turbid; steelhead are still in the river in good numbers. Water levels on the Pike River have increased; anglers are getting a few steelhead.

Snowmobile trails in northern Douglas County are in good to excellent condition, fair in the southern half. Trails in the Woodruff area have adequate snow and are being groomed regularly. Cross-country trails are also in good shape. In the La Crosse and Eau Claire areas, snowmobiling has been poor due to a lack of snow. Most trails aren't open yet. The Hoffman Hills and Red Cedar cross-country trails are tracked and in good condition.

Most Florence County trails are groomed and in good condition; cross-country trails are icy, with recent snow improving conditions. Marinette County trails are crusty, but are being groomed and used.

Defense the Key To Indian Success

By Noel Stollenwerk

KEWASKUM — Albeit still early in the season, through the Christmas break the Kewaskum boys and girls basketball teams have put themselves among the leading contenders in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference standings.

And the one common denominator of the two teams may be the key to the success. That common thread is a tough defense.

Through the holiday break, both the Indians boys and girls hoopsters led the EW in team defense. The KHS boys lead the EW in points allowed per game (41.7), opponents field goal percentage (34.1 percent) and opponent's three-point percentage (18.2 percent). The Lady Indians lead the league in the same categories with marks of 29.7 percent points allowed, 24.2 percent from the field, and 21.4 percent from three-point land.

Strangely enough, that poor shooting by foes has even extended to the free throw line in the case of the Indian boys. Opponents are shooting a paltry 45 percent from the line against the Indians, and are also fouling Indian players at an alarming rate. Indian opponents average 23 fouls per game, five more than the next closest team.

And while the Indians have not converted the resulting free throws very effectively (58.2 percent), they are remarkably still third in the EW in free throw percentage. Only Chilton (62.9 percent) and Kiel (61.5 percent) shoot better at the line.

The Lady Indians, after struggling from the field terribly the past couple of years, were the best shooting team in the EW through the break. Kewaskum hit on 38.9 percent of their field goal attempts, a smidge better than Chilton.

Several players rank among the individual leaders in the conference. For the boys, Adam Laatsch and Travis Jacak were 1-2 in the EW rebounding race with 33 and 31, respectively.

Laatsch, meanwhile, was fifth in the EW in scoring with his 13.3 average. Keith Herman (12.3) and Jim Marx (11.3) were also among the top ten scorers in the league, while Tony Knoeck was third in steals with 10.

Laatsch was second in the league with his 78 percent mark at the free throw line, while Herman was second in field goal percentage (57 percent).

For the Lady Indians, Robyn Winninghoff was fifth with her 14.0 scoring average, and was third in field goal percentage (46.5 percent), and fourth in total rebounds (27). Right behind Winninghoff in the rebound race was teammate Missy Radtke, who had 25.

Minutes of Village Board Meeting

Regular Meeting
January 4, 1993
8:00 P.M.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Mary Krueger presided. All Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee Robert Beisbier and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the December 14, 1992 meeting were approved as printed.

The public hearing was held on the request of Norman Heberer for the rezoning of the parcel of property located on the NW side of the proposed Bel Ric Drive, known by tax key no. (s) V4-0191-010-012, 013 & 0191-012 from R-3 Two Family Residence District, to R-4 Multi-Family Residence District. The matter was recommended and sent to the Board for public hearing by the Plan Commission. President Mary Krueger asked Administrator Daniel Schmidt to explain a new development regarding the request. It has been learned that the westerly 138 plus feet of Bel Ric Drive has never been dedicated for street purposes. The Board was informed that they had four alternatives regarding the issue.

Mr. Norman Heberer reviewed with the Board and those in attendance what his plans were regarding the development. Two, eight unit multi-family buildings and sixteen garages are proposed. Mr. Fred Gildersleeve spoke to the Board regarding the street dedication and them not wanting to give up any land and not being in favor of such a large development across the street from them. Mr. Dale Hass, Mrs. Dean Calliari, and Mr. David Hare all spoke against the proposed development. Several other area residents were present, but did not speak. On a motion by Trustee Thomas McElhatton, seconded by Trustee David Goeden and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 7 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 0 "Absent."

The public hearing was held on the request of Gary Gavin and Greg Krueger for the rezoning of the parcel of property located at 240 Main Street, V4-0358 from B-3 Central Community Retail and Service District, to R-4 Multi-Family Residence District. It was noted that it was proposed to install two apartments downstairs and to have one three bedroom apartment upstairs. Mr. David Backhaus noted his concerns regarding the back lot on First Street. It was noted that any garages had to be related to the apartments and that adequate parking had to be provided; two parking stalls for each apartment. Mr. Gavin and Mr. Krueger indicated that would be provided. Mrs. Connie Zemlicka, representing the United Church of Christ, was also concerned about the parking issue. Mrs. Mary Budenhagen informed the Board that she felt whatever happened to the property by Mr. Gavin would be an improvement and had no objections. Trustee David Goeden indicated he was opposed to giving up all small retail store fronts for apartments and would promote retaining them. On a motion by Trustee Robert Wagner, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 6 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 0 "Absent," 1 "Abstention."

On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee David Goeden and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board moved to suspend the rules to take action on IX. New Business items A, B, & C, all pertaining to the items heard at public hearing.

On a motion by Trustee Robert Wagner, seconded by Trustee David Goeden and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board denied the request for rezoning submitted by Mr. Norman Heberer as heard at public hearing. It was noted the matter of the street should be addressed and alternatives brought back to the Plan Commission. (No action was required on the certified survey map due to Board action).

Action was taken on Ordinance No. 92-11 amending the zoning on the parcel located at 240 Main Street (V4-0358) as heard at public hearing and hereto attached:

The Board welcomed the new Fire Chief Mark Groeschel.

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles informed the Board that a break in the street light cable on Fond du Lac Avenue did occur, but had been fixed.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt gave the Board a brief update regarding the tax collection process indicating that collections were down by about 1 percent as of the end of 1992.

The Board was informed the Village will be receiving a recycling grant for curb side collection. The amount of the grant will be $17,027.00 or $973.00 less than anticipated. Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed a variety of correspondence with the Board.

On a motion by Trustee Robert Beisbier, seconded by Trustee Robert Wagner and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board approved the payment of bills as recommended by the Administrative Committee. The total of all claims as recommended are as follows:

General	$120,149.14
Sewer	28,005.87
Water	2,906.18
Payroll	23,591.80
TOTAL	$174,652.99

P/R	Ch	#3977	-	#4029
A/P	Ch	#5651	-	#5720

Board Representative for the Library Board, Trustee Robert Wagner informed the Board that the Library would be conducting a book sale on Monday January 25, 1993. It was also noted that the circulation for 1992 was up by 154 or .5 percent from 1991. (30,863 from 30,709).

Discussion was held regarding the sale of the 1971 aerial bucket truck. A bid was received for the truck with a post mark prior to the bid opening date and one that the Director of public works recommends for approval. On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee Thomas McElhatton and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the sale of the aerial truck to Beaver Wrecking, Beaver Dam, WI at a cost of $660.00.

Action was taken on a Proclamation to the GFWC Kewaskum Women's Club in honor of their 80th Anniversary as attached hereto:

A brief discussion was held regarding the proposed Fond du Lac Avenue resurfacing work. It was noted the State DOT is anxious for the Village Board to give them some direction regarding the project. On a motion by Trustee Gary Gavin, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board directed the Administrator to schedule a Board sponsored public hearing to discuss the Fond du Lac Avenue project. The engineer and DOT should be asked to attend.

On a motion by Trustee Thomas McElhatton, seconded by Trustee Robert Wagner and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board to adjourn to closed session under Chapter 19.85(1)(c) of the statutes to consider employment compensation and performance of public employees over which the governmental body has jurisdiction and Chapter 19.85(1)(e) of the statutes to deliberate and negotiate the disposition of public lands. Roll call vote was 7 "Aye," 0 "Nay," 0 "Absent."

Dziedzic, Kurtz Win Individual Titles

Indian Wrestlers Third in Tough Fondy Tournament

In the wrestleback, Chad Muckerheide, Kewaskum, keeps in control of the match and decisions Doug Seidl of Hamilton-Sussex, 13-4. Chad went on to take third in the tournament.

FOND DU LAC — Considering the tough competition and the fact that his team brought home a pair of champions and another two runner-ups, Kewaskum wrestling coach John Nell was extremely pleased.

"We were just three points out of second," Nell said of the Indians; third place finish at the Fond du Lac Invitational held here, last Saturday. Kewaskum finished with 128 points, behind only the host Cardinals (204) and Marshfield (131). "We had four wrestlers in the finals, and another four in the consolation finals."

"It went real well...the kids again did a nice job," Nell said, noting that a pair of his grapplers, 125-pounder Mark Dziedzic and 152-pounder Josh Kurtz, brought home individual title again. The pair also won championships in the Oshkosh Lourdes Invitational.

"They both really didn't have any problems," Nell went on to say, adding that Dziedzic received an additional trophy for the combined fastest pins. The junior ran his record to a fine 14-1 with three pins in a combined 5:36.

He's just doing a super job right now," the KHS coach said of Dziedzic. "Both he and Josh handled their kids pretty easily."

That was saying a lot, considering that host Fond du Lac has one of the top programs in the state, while both Marshfield and Sussex Hamilton, who finished fourth, also have respected programs.

Dziedzic opened with a pin against West Bend West's Nick Gagliano (3:27), and then came back with a quick fall over Fondy's Peterson (1:05).

In the finals, Dziedzic was pitted against Lee of Seymour, and again it was Dziedzic in a quick fall (1:04) to take the title.

Kurtz was on his way to winning the fastest pins trophy, as he rolled over West's Chad Albrecht (1:35) and Marshfield's Multerer (:53) in the opening rounds.

But Kurtz had a bit tougher time in the finals, drawing Fondy's Kovacs, who came into the match with just one loss this season. Kurtz was relentless, though, scoring six takedowns during the course of the match, easily coming away a winner, 14-6.

The Indians had another two wrestlers in the finals, and one very nearly came away a winner. At 189 pounds, Todd muckerheide drew a bye and then a pin en route to the finals, where he met Seymour's Kunschke.

Kunschke jumped out to a 4-0 lead after one period, and led 6-2 heading into the third. But Muckerheide rallied in the final period, scoring six nearfall points in taking a 12-9 lead.

But late in the match, Muckerheide lost his balance, according to Nell, and was reversed by Kunschke, who scored the pinfall with just one second remaining.

"That was a tough one...a real heartbreaker," Nell said of the loss. "He was down most of the match and then at the end, he just got off balance. But Todd had a real good tournament."

Rich Farchione, at 145 pounds, had a good tournament as well. Farchione also drew a bye and then got a pin to reach the finals, where he drew Fondy's Kloke, who finished fourth in the state last year.

Farchione held tough, but battled from behind most of the match, eventually losing to Kloke by a 13-6 count.

"He wrestled very respectable against him," Nell said, commending the sophomore Farchione, who is 9-5 on the year.

Kewaskum had three more wrestlers win third place honors, while another, Mark Morell, took fourth. Taking third were Jake Gundrum at 112 pounds, Brad Jackson at 140, and Chad Muckerheide at 160.

"Jackson did a real nice job," the coach said, noting also that Gundrum came back and beat the same kid that he had lost to in the opening round to take third. "That was kind of nice."

"I was real happy with the performances," Nell said, adding "that's a real tough tournament. The kids are working real hard, and coming along well."

The team has a tough week ahead, though, Nell pointed out. After a non-conference match with Oakfield on Tuesday, the Indians host Kiel on Friday night, and then travel to Waupun on Saturday for another rugged tournament.

In that tourney, the Indians will go up against the likes of Lancaster, and their fine wrestler, 152-pounder Ben Baker. Nell is looking forward to Baker and Kurtz hooking up. "Their real close (in ability)."

But first is Friday's dual meet against the Raiders. "We've never beaten Kiel before...ever," Nell said. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Wisdom is knowing when you can't be wise.

Indian Grapplers Roll Over Huskies

By Noel Stollenwerk

NEW HOLSTEIN — It was back to the mat for the Kewaskum wrestling team here, last Friday night, in their first meet since the holiday break.

But as it turned out, it was New Holstein whose backs were on the mat most of the time, as the Indians rolled up six pins en route to an easy 47-23 win over the Huskies.

"We did real well," Indian boss John Nell said of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference matchup, which ended in grand style for the Indians.

With a big lead heading into the final two matches, Nell scrapped an emergency plan which would have put his regular 189-pounder, Todd Muckerheide, at the heavyweight position for a match with New Holstein's Randy Lefebvre.

Instead, Muckerheide stayed at 189, where he received a forfeit win, and Nell allowed freshman Tim Gundrum to go against Lefebvre, who outweighed Gundrum by almost 50 pounds.

"I was going to move Todd up (to heavyweight)," Nell said,

"but it got to the point where I didn't have to worry about it (getting the team victory)."

Gundrum took full advantage of the opportunity, jumping out to a 4-0 lead in the first period, and then capping the Indians victory off by putting Lefebvre's shoulders to the mat just before the end of the period.

"He was real aggressive out there," Nell said of the freshman. "That was real nice for him. It really got everybody going. Timmy wrestled real smart."

Gundrum's pin was the icing on the cake for the Indians, who also got pins from Jake Thull at 119 pounds (3:15) Mark Dziedzic at 125 (2:27), Rich Farchione at 145 (2:15), Josh Kurtz at 152 (4:35), and Mark Morell at 171 (1:34).

"Thull had a big pin," Nell said of the soph, also adding that junior Chad Muckerheide posted a big 15-0 shutout at 160 pounds. "We really took it to 'em at the upper weights," Nell said, noting that his team won the final six matches.

Lady Indians Sloppy, But Still Win

By Noel Stollenwerk

KEWASKUM — It was anything but pretty, yet when you have struggled like the Kewaskum girls basketball team has over the recent years, any kind of win will do.

"Last year we were on the opposite end of these," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said of his team's 34-32 win over Sheboygan Falls here, last Thursday night. "I'm starting to get a better appreciation for these kind of games."

This one featured poor shooting from both squads, as well as numerous missed opportunities at the line of Kewaskum. Still, the Indians were able to hold off the Falcons and post their third Eastern Wisconsin Conference win of the season against just one loss.

"We didn't play that well in the first half," Eichstedt said, noting that the two teams were deadlocked 16-all at the half. "I knew that if we started converting, we'd be in position to take control of the game."

The Indians did just that in the third quarter, as they pulled out to a 28-22 lead. "We didn't do much after that, though."

In the fourth, Falls began fouling and putting the Indians at the line. The Indians struggled, though, allowing the Falcons to crawl back into it.

Falls drew to within 32-29 late, but Kewaskum's Missy Radtke, who struggled the entire game, bailed the Indians out with two free throws to ice the win. The free throws proved vital, as Falls sank a three-pointer at the buzzer to pull to within two.

"We really didn't take advantage of opportunities," Eichstedt said, noting his team was just four-of-11 at the line. "They started to foul us, and that allowed them to get back into the game. We kept missing front ends of one-and-one's."

Robyn Winninghoff almost single-handedly kept the Indians in front, as she led all scorers with 16 points. Winninghoff did an excellent job on the boards as well, grabbing 14 rebounds, nine of which were on the offensive end.

"She obviously bailed us out,"

Eichstedt said of the 6-3 senior. "She really did a nice job doing the hard work inside. She was real steady throughout."

Eichstedt also hailed the play of junior Christa Fleischman, who finished with four points and four rebounds. "She did a good job filling in."

"We just didn't seem to be focused for this one," the KHS boss added. "We weren't as sharp as we were in the Holiday Tournament. We have to play much better than this the rest of the way."

"We're still in good position (in the EW)," he went on to say. The Indians have an important week ahead of them, as they are at Plymouth on Tuesday, and then have a second-place showdown at Two Rivers on Friday.

"It'll be a war," Eichstedt said of the game with the Purple Raiders, who also have just one conference loss. "That'll be a big one."

Cougars Wear Down Indians

By Noel Stollenwerk

CAMPBELLSPORT — In the last five years or so, the rivalry between the Kewaskum and Campbellsport boys basketball teams has been pretty one-sided. Here, last Tuesday night, the song remained the same.

Going against one of the better Division two teams in the state, the Indians were no match for Campbellsport, whose defense took its toll as the game wore on, as the Cougars won 54-35.

"They wore us down," Indian coach Jim Westphal said bluntly. "They played very good defense, and come crunchtime, we just didn't produce."

Westphal was referring to the fourth quarter, when the Cougars' tough defense limited the Indians to just one field goal. Kewaskum was one-for-16 from the field in the quarter, with Campbellsport's intense pressure getting most of the credit.

The result was a 13-4 edge in the period for the hosts, thus blowing open what was a relatively close contest. In fact, the Indians did hold a brief lead in the opening quarter.

After falling behind 8-2, Kewaskum took advantage of some poor shooting by the Cougars to roll off nine straight points to take a 11-8 lead.

But behind Aaron Walsh's four points, Campbellsport quickly regained the lead, and led 16-11 after one quarter.

After falling behind 8-2, Kewaskum took advantage of some poor shooting by the Cougars to roll off nine straight points to take an 11-8 lead.

But behind Aaron Walsh's four points, Campbellsport quickly regained the lead, and led 16-11 after one quarter.

The Cougars slowly but methodically wore down the Indian offense in the second stanza, at one point not even allowing the Indians to get a shot away. Still, the Indians were able to remain within reach, trailing just 28-19 at the half.

Campbellsport pulled away in the second half, though, as the Buslaff twins, Aaron and Jason made sure the Indians wouldn't threaten again. Aaron finished with a game-high 21 points, while Jason added 10 to pace the winners.

Jim Marx had another fine game for the Indians, finishing with 15 points, while Keith Herman hit for double figures with 11 points. "Jim had a pretty good game again," Westphal said.

"We played tough for about the first quarter and a half," Westphal said of the effort. "It was tough though, playing from behind...especially against a good team like that."

"They play very sound basketball," the KHS coach said of the Cougars, who improved to 7-1 on the year. "That's why they've been winning."

The Indians dropped to 3-4 on the year.

KEWASKUM (11-8-12-4) — Marx 15, Herman 11, Jacak 2, Zautner 2, Laatsch 5, Free Throws - 6 of 11, Fouls - 14.

CAMPBELLSPORT (16-12-13-13) — K. King 3, A. Buslaff 21, J. Buslaff 10, Meyer 1, Jaeger 6, Walsh 6, Rettler 1, Garvey 6, Free Throws - 10 of 17, Fouls - 13.

KHS Boys Lose First in EW

By Noel Stollenwerk

SHEBOYGAN FALLS — Going into the game undefeated in Eastern Wisconsin Conference action, Kewaskum basketball coach Jim Westphal anticipated his team would be up for its game with Sheboygan Falls here, last Friday night.

"I expected much better...we played poorly," Westphal said disgustedly regarding his team's 68-52 loss to the Falcons. "We just never got in sync."

That was the case for the Indians in the first half, when the game was all but decided. After holding a brief lead in the opening quarter, the Indians fell behind 15-10, and unfortunately, that was as close as they would come the rest of the night.

Falls jumped ahead 19-10 at the start of the second stanza, but the Indians looked as if they would make a game of it, crawling to within 21-16 at one point.

"We weren't up to the challenge though," Westphal said, noting that his team got beat badly on the boards, with Falls collecting 11 offensive rebounds in the first half alone.

Many of those resulted in second-chance baskets, as the Falcons rolled to a 37-21 halftime lead.

"They came out and were very aggressive," Westphal said of the Falcons. "They got several shots at the basket, while we would only get one."

The Indians had opportunities to get back into the game in the second half, though.

"We outplayed them in the third quarter...had a chance to come back," Westphal said, only to have his squad miss seven of its 14 free throw tries in the period. "We could have made a game out of it (if the FT's would have dropped)."

But they didn't drop, and the Indians couldn't put much of a dent in the deficit. For the game, KHS hit on 20 of their 32 charity tosses. "We didn't shoot much better from the field," Westphal pointed out, noting that his team connected on just 22 percent (16-73) of its shots. "It just wasn't a very well-played game on our part."

Jim Marx led the Indians with 14 points, while Keith Herman and Travis Jacak each chipped in with 10. Matt Wieseckel led Falls with 16 points, including 10 in the Falcons' big second quarter surge.

"They just out hustled us," Westphal went on to say. "They were ready to play, and we were not. It was just very disappointing."

The loss dropped the Indians to 3-1 in the EW, and left them alone in second place. The Indians dropped to 3-5 overall. The Indians will host Plymouth on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:00 p.m. "I don't think we've ever played a game on Saturday afternoon," Westphal said, adding that the schedule quirk was caused by the fact that the school has final exams this week. "I'm not really sure how it's going to affect us."

After hosting Plymouth Saturday, the Indians will host Two Rivers in a key game next Tuesday. The Purple Raiders are currently undefeated and atop the EW standings.

KEWASKUM (10-11-12-19) — Jacak 10, Marx 14, Laatsch 4, Ankerson 2, Knoeck 2, Zautner 3, Kurth 2, Herman 10, Wichtowski 5, Free Throws - 20 of 32, Fouls - 22.

Gymnasts 11th At WB Invite

By Noel Stollenwerk

WEST BEND — It was a case of just not having the horses to compete with the likes of Manitowoc and Watertown. That was the story for the Kewaskum gymnastics squad, which placed 11th in the West Bend Invitational here, Saturday.

"I think they did real well, all things considered," Indian coach Irene Heather said of Kewaskum's performance in the meet, which was won by Watertown with 124.75 points. The Indians finished with 86.25 points, ahead of only West Allis' 75.35 total.

Carrie Strigenz once again paced the Indian gymnasts, finishing 18th in the all-around competition with an average of 5.72. Strigenz, a freshman, was 29th in the floor exercise (7.05) 40th on the beam (5.45), 47th on the bars (3.75) and 37th in vaulting.

Junior Vicki McElhatton also performed well, taking 20th in the all-around with a 5.71. McElhatton took 30th in the vaulting (6.8), 35th on the bars (5.05), 46th on the beam (5.15) and 49th in the floor exercise (5.8). "That was her first time on the beam," Heather said, noting "She did well."

"It was tough, because the other schools were mainly Division I schools," Heather said, although she noted that her team did their best.

The Indian gymnasts return to competition Monday at Markesan.
