Centennial Celebration to Feature Fun for Young and Old

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The village is stirring with anticipation as the day everyone's been waiting for draws near. It's the biggest birthday bash ever seen in the history of Kewaskum - the arrival of its one hundred year anniversary, and the Centennial Committee promises a celebration to remember on Saturday, June 10th.

Riverhill Park is the setting for "Centennial in the Kettle - A Heritage Experience," and the park will be transformed back in time to 1895, in recognition of Kewaskum's first official board meeting, which was held June 10th, 1895. Its date of incorporation is listed as May 7th, 1895.

An action packed day is planned from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., starting with a historic wagon train journey and ending with the most spectacular fireworks display in the history of the village.

Bud Schmidt, Dan Nauman, and Matthew Harvey have organized the wagon train, slated to leave West Bend Elevator at 10 a.m., and travel the six miles to River Hill Park, arriving around noon. Comprised of horse drawn vehicles, buggies, carriages, and wooden wheel wagons, the riders will delight spectators with their turn of the century costumes as they retrace the steps our ancestors took a century ago, when they arrived in this region to start new lives.

Village officials are scheduled to make presentations at 10 a.m., including Village President Robert Wagner, along with other government dignitaries. The Chamber of Commerce will be making a presentation to the village, and area businesses and organizations will be recognized for their service and contribution to the community.

Special Centennial events have been arranged throughout the day, with the Kewaskum Historical Society Log Cabin Museum open for viewing from 1 to 4. Area Girl Scouts and Brownies have put together an Old Time Fashion Show, modeling period clothing from 3:30 to 4 at the band stand. Check out their craft booth, fishing pond, and photo booth.

Kewaskum is lucky enough to have a renowned blacksmith in their midst, and Dan Nauman of Big Horn Forge will be at the centennial Celebration, demonstrating his smithing techniques from 1 to 5, along with silhouette cutting artistry. His work is sought after by galleries and museums, as well as private individuals.

Members of the Potawatomi tribe from Forest County are joining the village in honor of its namesake, the legendary Chief Kewaskum, who lived in this area, along with other Potawatomi Indians long before the white men settled here. They will be sharing a variety of traditional dances and costumes, enriching us with their culture and native history. Performances are scheduled for 2, 3, and 4 p.m.

The Kewaskum Jaycees have been busy organizing a time capsule, to be buried in the park and opened in the year 2045. The 3,000 pound cement vault was donated by Larry and Louise Martin of Miller's Funerai Home, and will be on display the day of the event. Miller Monument of Jackson is donating a marker, and the burial will take place sometime after the celebration. There isn't much time left, so those members of the community that wish

Native Americans to Take Part In Centennial Celebration

Potawatomi Tribal Council Member Billie Daniels

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The Potawatomi Tribal Council from Forest County has agreed to take part in the celebration of Kewaskum's Centennial to be held June 10th in River Hill Park.

The Native American Tribe visited the area recently, to tour the Robert Krug farm and view the site of an ancient civilization Krug has uncovered over the years, containing stone circles and petroglyphs. The significance of this discovery lies close to the hearts of the Potawatomi people, as they were the first inhabitants of lands that include the village of Kewaskum.

The first known people to have lived within the village was a tribe called the Hopewells, or Mound Builders, and it is reported that their mounds were located on the picnic grounds in Kewaskum, sometime after the turn of the century. To this day, questions remain surrounding the disappearance of these Indian mounds from their original location.

The Potawatomi tribe originated from Algonkian stock that settled in regions east of Lake Huron. By 1821 they were scattered throughout Wisconsin, having been driven out of their original homelands by the French, with Kewaskum falling into the northern sector of their territory. Their numbers had dwindled to about 2,000 by this time, and some of the tribe claimed land to the south and west of the Milwaukee River.

According to tribal history, the Potawatomi are considered to be a Woodland Indian, once allied with the Ojibwa and Ottawa Tribes. This confederation was known as the Council of the Three Fires.

In Wisconsin, their lands extended from the border of Illinois to Green Bay, and as a reminder of their existence along the shores of Lake Michigan, many cities still bear the names of what were once Potawatomi villages, such as Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Waukesha and Kenosha.

The survival of these people depended on hunting, fishing, gardening and the gathering of berries and other edible plants, along with the production of maple sugar. After the arrival of the white men, they also took up trapping.

The tribe was first allied with the French, then sided with the British, and became very active in the fur trade that was booming in the area. They fought alongside the British in many major battles during the revolution and War of 1812.

With the invasion of white settlers into the midwest region, the eventual relinquishment of their land came through several treaties signed with the United States. The treaty of September 17, 1833, was signed in Chicago and called for the removal of the Potawatomi from the region, and by 1888, the majority of the tribe was taken west of the Mississippi, to live on a reservation in central Oklahoma. The U.S. Government signed multiple treaties with many individuals of several bands of each tribe -- most did not represent the desires of the native people.

A few families fled northward, made up of many small bands that broke off the main tribe during this period, and refused to move to the reservations. They were given shelter by the Menomonee and other Wisconsin Indian

Sixth in a Series of Centennial Recollections Marvin Martins Share Village Memories

Marvin and Minerva Martin

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Marvin Martin is perhaps the only resident that has lived all of his 88 years in this village. He was born at 501 Main Street, to John Henry and Lizzie (Klumb) Martin.

Before her marriage, Lizzie taught school at the old Stoffel School, located out on Highway 28. The year was 1894, and she received $28 for a four month term. John Henry worked for the railroad, and later became one of Kewaskum's rural mail carriers. Marvin's grandfather, Andrew Martin, installed the first telephone line from Wayne to Dr. Hausman's office in the village.

"There were only a couple hundred people living in the town when I was growing up," Marvin recalls. "I was the only boy on the east side of the river for a long time." In fact, much of the village was located across the east banks until the railroad moved in and the town built up around it. Farmers used to drive their wagons through the river to shrink or tighten up their wooden wheels.

Farmers kept open accounts at the stores, to be paid up once a year, often bartering for goods they needed. "I can still see store owner Oscar Koerble candling the eggs," Marvin's wife, Minerva, remembers. Candling is a method they used to see if the eggs were clear inside and unfertilized, using a metal container with a hole in it and a candle inside.

In fall, loads of potatoes would be hauled into town to be graded and shipped off by train. It was a familiar sight to see men standing around a fire on the platform, eating baked potatoes drenched in butter.

The first street lights were Arc lamps, with carbon filaments, and the children would pick them off the ground after they were too short to burn, and use them as chalk.

Martin's boyhood solitude was short lived, and he became "spoiled rotten" in his own words, because all the ladies of the neighborhood took turns inviting him in for cookies and cakes. "I visited a lady I called Mrs. Loudabach. She lived upstairs from the store (it was the first store located where the pump house now stands in River Hill Park). She'd wave a rag from the window asking if the boy could come up, and then she'd put me on her knee, sing German songs, and feed me maple sugar candy. My downfall was wherever I went they'd feed me and I'd always go home sick."

The Opera House was always the most popular place in Kewaskum for shows, plays and Sunday night silent movies. It was considered to have one of the best basketball halls in existence at that time. Twice in summer, people of the community would get together and put on their own plays, including, "Tom Thumb's Wedding," and "Evangline."

Also during the summer, the Woman's Club would perform musicals called Chotaukwa, and prizes were given away for a quarter. The Martin's daughter still has a carnival glassware set Minerva won at a Chotaukwa in Juneau. Once a year, a Sheboygan Horse and Pony show called "Sels Floto" performed acrobatic tricks in a vacant lot in town.

It wasn't uncommon to see hobos hop off the train and travel door to door begging for food. They always seemed to know the places where soft-hearted people lived. Gypsies traveled through town in a horse and wagon. "They used to carve beautiful designs into old wooden cigar boxes and sell them to make money," Marvin mentions. "Val Dreher lived across the street from us, and I'd spend hours watching him make cigars."

People spent a great deal of time visiting in those days, and that often meant staying for supper. Summer cooking was usually done in the summer kitchen so as not to heat up the house. The little kitchens were located in a shack in the back yard. Almost everyone had a chicken coop, or other farm animals right in the middle of town.

Residents of the village could work off their road tax with a shovel and a rake, filling up the many potholes that formed each year. The roads consisted of gravel or dirt at that time, and during the hot summer months, a water truck was used to sprinkle down the dust. Oil was also applied for the same purpose. "We'd walk barefoot on the road and always had a layer of either dirt or oil between our toes," Marvin declares.

"Our milk wasn't delivered -- I'd walk over to the Bilgo Farm every day and Augie's grandmother would fill the pail. When they quit, I went to the Art Stark farm, which was located where Hon-E-Kor now has their business. I had to walk through the woods, and in the winter months it was scary for a boy in the darkness."

The children had great fun during those winters, using their imagination to create make shift sled and skis, fashioned out of barrel staves. Ski poles were formed from abandoned broomsticks. "We had fun with all these things until the Flexible Flyer came out." His assigned duties included splitting wood, keeping the wood box full, as well as refilling the water pail.

Basketball and baseball were popular games in Kewaskum during the 1920's. It cost fifty cents to watch the games at the Opera House. They'd keep the coal stove going in the middle of the floor until the start of the game, and then it was moved outside. The basketball team equaled the ranks of the pros, with the likes of Spatz Miller, who also played for New London (many players worked for more than one team then). When he came back to Kewaskum he recruited a lot of great players, who received five to ten dollars per game.

In high school, students paid for their uniforms and chipped in to purchase the basketball. Referees were local people who often received a box of candy for an entire year's worth of work.

During the Depression, Marvin organized a girls' basketball team, which is how he met Minerva. She played for the team, who called themselves the Blue Ramblers. "We had to wear boys' uniforms at first," she points out. The girls would play the boys, traveling all around the area. "Those were the good old days... really fun times," she remarks.

The years during the Depression were difficult for many people in the days before Welfare assistance. If families couldn't make it they went to live at the poor farm, which was located in a building on the grounds of the Samaritan Home. "If young people today had to live through now what we did then, I think they would look at things differently," Minerva maintains.

Mrs. Martin moved here from Juneau 60 years ago, and taught at the Gage Country School on Highway G for 13 years, and later taught sixth grade in the village for another eight years.

The couple suffered a tragedy on June 7, 1948, (Marvin's birthday) when their 2 1/2 year old boy, Craig, pleaded to go over to his Grandma's house, accompanied by one of his little friends. The Martins thought some nieces and nephews would be watching them, but the boys wandered down to the river and little Craig drowned. Marvin had helped organize and run the first rescue crew in the village, and his own son's drowning turned out to be their first assignment.

Marvin was employed at Gehls, Amity and the Kewaskum Aluminum Company, remaining there for 30 years as a Tool and Die Maker. He was employed with the company when it changed hands and became Regal Ware. He also operated an insurance business on the side.

A very active member of the community, he served on the village board during the building of the second village hall, and was also a school board member. Marvin was active in AAL, and taught first aid for 37 years as the Civil Defense Director. He was a member of the Kewaskum Fire Department for 40 years, and a charter member of the Kewaskum Kiwanis, acting as Lieutenant Governor of District S-7. He had a perfect attendance record with the Kiwanis for 47 years.

The couple were both active in the Red Cross, Wisconsin Campers, and the Historical Society. They also belong to three Senior Centers. Marvin and Minerva have three children. Dawn lives in West Allis, has a nurses degree, and is employed as the Executive Secretary for Milwaukee County's Democratic Party; Dean works for LW Meyer Company of Milwaukee and resides in Brookfield; and George teaches Progressive Management for the CIA in Williamsburg, Virginia. They enjoy a total of seven grandchildren.

Now residing at Mapedale Manor in Kewaskum, their fond memories of growing up when the village was young is something they hope others will enjoy listening to, as Kewaskum prepares for its upcoming Centennial Celebration on June 10th, now just ten days away.

to include something for future generations should contact Kathy Broecker. Space is available on a first-come, first served basis.

Be sure to stop by the U.S. Postmaster Bonnie Eldredge and her team of volunteers, and pick up a pictorial cancellation, depicting a profile of Chief Kewaskum and the date and place of this historic event. Remember, it won't be available at the post office, and is only obtainable for 30 days after June 10th, by special order only. After that it will be destroyed, so don't miss out on this one time, valuable souvenir, that can be treasured for years to come.

Area homemakers groups will be raffling off a beautiful, handmade quilt designed in an Amish diamond pattern, and donated by Toni Farrell, along with an overnight stay for two at the Country Ridge Inn Bed and Breakfast. The drawing will take place at 6 p.m., donated by Karen and Ronald Ellefson.

Other activities at Centennial in the Kettle include games sponsored by local 4-H groups, horse drawn wagon rides, compliments of Schmidt Acres, and miniature golf.

A celebration in Kewaskum isn't complete without a generous supply of great food. Visitors can enjoy hamburgers, brats, hot dogs, chicken fillets, steak sandwiches, pizza, fries, nachos, hot pretzels, popcorn, along with an assortment of homemade desserts, cream puffs, cakes, tortes, chocolate eclairs, ice cream, and a variety of beverages. The food is being brought to you by the Kewaskum Kiwanis, Lions, and Women's clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, the Kewaskum Homemakers, Sno Chiefs, the American Legion and the VFW, so be sure to bring along a hearty appetite.

A generous musical lineup will entertain throughout the day. Starting things off in the Beer Garden is the famous Alte Kameraden Band from Freistadt, bringing with them their traditional German music, much loved throughout the world. Their appearance is scheduled from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Always popular is the big band sound of Howard Schneider, who has recently taken over as leader of the famous Jan Garber Orchestra. "Swinging" with sweet sounds from the big band era, from 3 to 6 p.m. In the evening, Lonesome Highway will bring people to their feet with Country Western tunes, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Continuous music will also be performed at the band stand, starting at 10:30 a.m. with the well known talents of the KHS Jazz Band, followed by the KHS swing choir until 12:30. Other entertainment includes the Twin Hill String Band from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., and the popular polka melodies of the Good Time Dutchmen from 4 to 8 p.m. There's something for everyone's musical tastes at Centennial in the Kettle.

On the west side of the hill, the 84th Division Band will lead us into the grand finale of the evening, the Fireworks Extravaganza, set off by members of the Kewaskum Fire Dept. The band will entertain from 6 to 9, with fireworks scheduled for 9:30. School groups, various organizations, individual families, area businesses, and the Chamber of Commerce have donated funds to purchase special effects displays, guaranteeing to light up the park like never before.

Memories are in the making on June 10th, as we gather to commemorate an event that has touched all our lives, and will for years to come. Join Kewaskum in celebrating it's first hundred years as an official village, as it's heritage has been, and will always be, the people that make it such a great place to live.

KMS Students Participate in 'Living History' of Civil War

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Students from Kewaskum Middle School have a better understanding of the Civil War, thanks in part to the 33rd Wisconsin Volunteers, a "Living History" Reenactment group that travels across the state, educating people through active participation.

Last Friday, the entire eighth grade class began their day with drill training sessions at 8 a.m., and students learned marching techniques as well as the manual of arms, practicing until they got it right. By 9:30 a.m. they were ready to march from the school to Kiwanis Park, as teachers, parents and members of the community watched the procession.

The new "soldiers" were then divided into groups to attend seminar sessions, on topics such as uniforms, weaponry, surgeons, women in war, and the philosophy of war. The groups were led by members of the reenactment team, which included Peter Shrike, Dave Zajicek, John Atkinson, Bob Pagel, Bob Braun and Paula Kozlik. These history buffs specialize in the Civil War, specifically the later wars of 1864 and 1865 in the Western Theater.

"I have to commend the students on their manners, and how quickly they learned to march and the manual of arms," Peter Shrike commented the afternoon of the event. "It really is a credit to the school, how well they did in such a short time, and behaving the entire day."

The eighth graders got a taste of what was involved in training to be a soldier in the Civil War, and methods of warfare at that time. Fighting was done in lines and rows, and survival seemed to be a toss of the coin, or whoever shot first.

After a lunch in the Park, spectators witnessed a battle between members of the 56th Infantry of the Confederacy (dressed in white), and Union soldiers of the 72nd Pennsylvania division (dressed in black), reenacted by the KMS students, coached along by their leaders from the 33rd Wisconsin Volunteers. The confrontation represented the third days action at the Battle of Gettysburg.

The original battle was fought July 1 to 3, 1863, and was considered the turning point of the Civil War. The Union numbered about 82,000, led by General George Gordon Meade, while the Confederate ranks, led by General Robert E. Lee, boasted only 75,000 soldiers. During the three days of battle, the federal army lost 3,070 killed, 14,497 wounded and 5,434 captured or missing. The confederates lost 2,592 killed, 12,706 wounded, and 5,150 captured or missing. The battle ended with Lee and his troops retreating to Virginia.

As the students viewed their dead upon the battlefield, the impact of war hit home, and the fear, pain and lack of glory was apparent, especially in the Civil War, where brother fought against brother in a five year war that divided the nation, and took 620,000 American lives.

After the reenactment, the students listened to a commemorative presentation in honor of the upcoming Memorial Day, reminding the students of what veterans have done for us and their country. Guests included Reenactor Bob Braun, who recited a poem written by a Civil War veteran, Village Administrator Dan Schmidt, Village President Robert Wagner, school superintendent Dr. Heather, Dale Squier, who acted as the announcer, student Beth Herriges, who read the Gettysburg Address, with closing statements read by KMS principal Katherine Crowley. Music was provided by KMS band members, led by Eric Christie.

Dan Schmidt related to the students his personal experiences, as a veteran of the Vietnam War, and pointed out that the objective of the Civil War had been to maintain the Union and address civil rights. One-hundred-four men from Kewaskum went to serve the Union. Sixteen of them died, eight from disease, seven from injury, and one by murder.

Principal Crowley pointed out that putting together this reenactment had been a year long endeavor, integrating the curriculum by pulling together all the different subjects. "We've been exploring this concept all year," she pointed out, "and this was the end result of the project." Instrumental in making it possible were Mr. Brenner, Mr. Heckel, Mrs. Lider, Mrs. Reilly-Kliss, Mr. Squier, Mrs. Tallman, Mrs. Hetzel and Mr. Drexler.

As 33rd Wisconsin Volunteer Peter Shrike pointed

tribes. By the early 1900's many Potawatomi had relocated in Forest County, and today they own nearly 12,000 acres of land, paid for with money promised to them through treaties. These reservation lands are located near Crandon and Wabeno, with some in Marinette County.

There are between seven and eight hundred enrolled members of the Potawatomi tribe at the present time, half of them living on or near these lands. Other bands are located in Michigan, Oklahoma, Kansas, Indiana, and Canada. Many of them serve or have served in the United States military.

It is well known that Kewaskum was named for Chief Metowan of the Potawatomi, whose name means, "turning on the tracks," referring to the sharp bend the Milwaukee River takes at this point. He was a respected member of the Bear Clan, and recounts of his life were told by white men living in the area. A letter dated 1824, and written by a fur trader, mentions the Chief's village, "Kaskawone," which was located at Pike Lake at that time.

Chief Kewaskum, as they called him, seemed to have moved his campsite around the area to avoid the terms of the treaties, for he and his band refused to give in to the government's requests. He was known to dwell near Holy Hill, Cedar Creek, Pike Lake and Kewaskum.

It was recorded that the Indian lived on an extremely high hill in the vicinity of the present village of Kewaskum, which was known as "Indian Hill," and had a roomy depression at the top, which sheltered its inhabitants from strong winds. Jesse Myers named the town after this popular figure in 1849.

Chief "Ke-Wah-Goossh-Kum," as others called him, was known as a great hunter, his tribe's Medicine Man, and he was equally respected by his people and the settlers he came in contact with. It is said he made life long friends of many white men, kept his promises, and even invited a party of white settlers to hunt with him, according to Unionus, a Swedish man who lived on the banks of Pike Lake in 1844.

Some of his lifelong friends included Densmore W. Maxon who operated a sawmill on the banks of Cedar Creek, and Fred Hacker, would sit with him for hours in the evening near his camp at Pike Lake.

From these various sources, it seems that Chief Kewaskum and his band wandered throughout the area, moving from time to time, perhaps to follow game or search for lands less depleted.

Controversy over the Chief's death has led to several different speculations. An 1857 news report states that an Indian named Kuoskum was killed by a train and his remains were returned to his parents, but it would seem unlikely that the old Chief's parents would still be living. Others state it could have been his son, Keshena, or another relative. Different sources insist he died in 1847 or 1849, but reports claim he was still living in the Holy Hill area in 1854. A third theory indicates he died in 1857, at his cabin on Mud Lake in Dodge County, and was buried on an Island on the Rock River, four miles north of Hustisford.

Rev. Phillip Vogt, former pastor of Holy Trinity Church claims that in 1905, two men who were working to build the new church at the time, received a telegram claiming that Chief Kewaskum had died on the Keshena Indian Reservation near Shawano. Again, if he was described as old in 1844, could he have lived for 61 years after that?

Whatever happened to the man of legend remains a mystery, but his name is preserved by the Village of Kewaskum, the only town in all of Washington County named for an Indian Chief.

In honor of the Potawatomi Indians who were the original caretakers of this land the community rests upon, members of the Forest County tribe will be performing three ceremonies on June 10th at River Hill Park, scheduled for Sunday at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. According to tribal leader Billy Daniels, the group will demonstrate a variety of traditional dances and costumes, introducing the community to their culture and rich native history.

Join them as they bring the past alive with visions of life in an age when Kewaskum was a part of the vast Wisconsin wilderness Native Americans called home.

Indians Advance In Tourney Action

By Tom Menger

The Kewaskum Varsity baseball team entered the Germantown baseball tournament a little nervous and very determined this year.

After advancing to the championship game last year, the Indians were thumped by host Germantown, and had to go home with a second place. The Warhawks and the Indians were slated to tangle again this year, only this time it was in the first round of the tourney.

This time it was Kewaskum jumping ahead early scoring three times in the second inning behind a pair of walks and singles by Kevin Klahn and Tim Strigenz.

The Indians tallied three more runs in the third when Tim Gundrum, Cory Rammer and Dan Survis each scored.

Kewaskum surrendered only one run to Germantown and got the 6-1 win to advance to the next round of the tournament.

Dane Dorn went the distance on the mound for Kewaskum, striking out six and walking only one batter.

"That was a huge win for us," Kewaskum Coach Mark Heise said of the victory, "especially after last year's loss."

Things didn't look to get any easier for Kewaskum, when they found out they had to face tough conference foe Sheboygan Falls in the second round.

A Kewaskum error let a run score as Sheboygan Falls took a 1-0 lead over the Indians and pitcher Kevin Klahn.

The Indians quickly erased the Falcons lead in the second inning, when Dan Survis singled and Cory Rammer followed with a two run shot over the left center-field fence. Kewaskum added another run in the third and two more in the fourth inning to go ahead, 5-1.

The Indians bats erupted in the fifth inning when after a single by Rammer, Andy Rix reached on an error and Dane Dorn singled, scoring Rammer. Tom Menger then hit a three run homer to push the Indian lead to 9-1.

With rain starting to push in and the threat of a rainout increasing, Tim Strigenz hit a double and Tim Gundrum followed up with a two run smash over the left field fence, giving Kewaskum an 11-1 victory via the ten-run mercy rule.

This sent Kewaskum to the championship game again this time against Franklin. The game never got underway however, as rain forced the game to be cancelled. A makeup date has not yet been set.

On Thursday, April 6th, twenty-four Kewaskum High School students, along with three chaperones, left from Chicago for Mexico City. The next nine days were spent sight seeing, shopping, tasting new foods, lying on the beach and traveling by plane, by bus, by boat, by taxi, and by golf cart.

While in Mexico City the group toured the world renowned Museum of Anthropology, along with many historical sights. They climbed the Pyramids of the Sun and the Moon. Probably their favorite activity was haggling for a better price at the markets.

After two days in Mexico City they flew to the colonial city of Merida on the Yucatan Peninsula. Here they took a carriage tour of part of the city, shopped some more, attended Palm Sunday services and strolled through the park along with the natives.

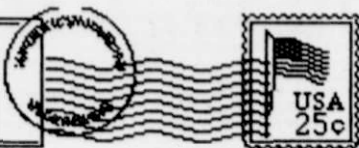

They took a bus then, to the jungles of Chichen Itza where Mayan ruins have recently been unearthed. This unique setting allowed them to enjoy tropical sounds and weather as well as investigate the centuries old ruins.

The final bus trip took them to Cancun, where they immediately got on a ferry boat to Isla de Meyeres. This city is a one mile by four mile island with Caribbean beaches. Here they spent much of the day in the sun just strolling, shopping, snorkeling or lying on the beach.

After nine days of adventures, of getting acculturated, and falling in love with the sunshine and sights, twenty-four students and three chaperones returned tanner, more fluent in Spanish and more appreciative of what home has to offer.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I must say I couldn't let Roger Schmitt's Letter to the Editor in the May 18th Kewaskum Statesman go unanswered.

The first part of his letter has some merit to it, but Roger forgot to list businesses that are in town today. I won't run through his list item by item, because there is probably many personal and individual reasons why some of these businesses closed their doors.

But let's talk about the tavern business. Roger mentioned that in the 70's there were eight taverns in the village. Well, as we all know, drinking nationwide is on a decline; it's losing its popularity; it isn't as fashionable, and people are more health conscious (no different than smoking).

Plus there is a big push by law enforcement to crack down on drinking and driving. I would think this has some bearing on things. I think if anyone would talk to a bank about financing a tavern, the bank would consider it a high risk. This problem is not unique to Kewaskum, but all over.

Now, let's talk about gas stations. Roger says we had eight in the 70's. That number sounds a bit high for any village our size to support. It sounds like the market was saturated and that may have had some role to play in their failure. Today we are having trouble supporting the four stations we have here now.

Another big reason is all the regulations being placed on them by the EPA (again, nationwide) would naturally put the weaker stations out of business. I would like to share a conversation I had with Raynor Herriges about two months ago. He was very concerned and upset about the loss of business from all the people now buying their gas in Fond du Lac County. He feels abandoned; this kind of patronage won't help any in keeping Raynor in business. I could go on and on, but I don't want to make this into a lesson in economics and business.

I believe a major factor in the exodus of business in town, is, as I have said in the past, that the residents of Kewaskum need to do a better job supporting our business. It's sometimes too easy to drive to Milwaukee, Fond du Lac or West Bend to shop.

All of us should stand in front of the mirror tonight and ask ourselves, "What can I do to help MY village?" As President Kennedy said years ago, "Ask not what the village can do for me, but what can I do for my village."

I must say, I have a bit more positive outlook towards the future of Kewaskum. As the old saying goes, "is the glass half empty or is it half full?"

Roger is somewhat right in thinking that the business cross section is different now than it was in the 70's and it was probably much different in the 70's than it was in the 30's, but is that necessarily bad?

No! I see the village changing, if we like it or not; it has to, to keep alive and keep up with all the changes going on around us and in society. I don't see this as our death... but as our opportunity! If we develop a defeatist attitude, we will be failures; and I won't let that happen.

I see Kewaskum going through a metamorphosis -- a rebirth; we are in our renaissance. We need to start looking for our positives and to start exploiting them.

One thing I can think of is our heritage and the history of our village. We need to give all this traffic coming through town, a reason to stop and spend money; the traffic will be there anyway... why not get them to spend money?

We could start by giving our downtown a face lift; give it back some of its old time charm. Other towns are doing it -- and it works! I'm encouraged by what I see already starting in town; the remodeling of the old house Tom did over near the Kewaskum Mall; what Gary has done with the old Gambles store building on Main Street; and the new office building erected by Henry Timblin Trucking. It's a start... and I hope it's contagious... just like a smile is.

The village board has in the past tried to get some kind of downtown revitalization started, but had mixed results. I met with the Chamber of Commerce in the past. They were very receptive and some of them even attended a state-sponsored workshop on the topic.

The thing that depresses me is that only a small handful of Kewaskum businesses are taking an active interest in this idea. Last year, the village board set up a special meeting with the downtown businesses to discuss parking, what to do with the old West Bend Savings Bank and the future of the northeast corner block of Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue. Guess what... only one business person showed up!

There appears to be much criticism out there, but not too many of the critics are willing to help to make it better. Sometimes I feel like I'm beating my head against the wall and it doesn't feel good; but I have not given up.

Recently, I have been talking to other board members about setting up a committee to look into the downtown area again. Roger... I would hope that you would want to be a part of it; your input is important.

I could go on about this topic, as I have many times in the past. I could easily write another five pages, however, I would like to hit on one more item that I also talked about in depth in the past. That is Highway 45 and parking. We are NOT going to have a four lane super highway going through Kewaskum. They are only making road surface and street improvements and that's it!

There would have been more loss of parking at the intersection of Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue over time. This is one of the ways to deal with the traffic congestion problem at the intersection. We had some loss of parking about a year ago; things are only going to get worse as the years go by, and it has nothing to do with the Highway 45 project.

When the decision was made about 20 years ago not to push the DOT about putting a bypass around Kewaskum, we at that time, set our destiny for this day. But let's not dwell on the past because hindsight is 20/20. I do feel sorry because your business is in a very vulnerable location at the intersection, in terms of parking, traffic flow and safety; but there will always be a problem there.

You know better than me, because you see it every day being a crossing guard there. You should be commended for your work on making it safer for our children. I would like to encourage you to come and talk to the board about your concerns regarding parking, because I don't want to see your business go the way of the others in the past.

Now that it is the eve of our Centennial, we should be counting our blessings and taking some time to reflect on how nice we really have it here; pluses far outweigh the negatives, and with the right frame of mind, we can improve on what we already have.

I would like to wish everyone a very happy Centennial. Please pray for good weather.

Village President,
Bob Wagner

Dear Editor,

Thanks Roger (Butch) for a reminder of how things used to be. I know there will be smiles when I mention one former business- Steve and Mary's- a favorite spot in the 60's and 70's.

Now the questions. What happened to these businesses? Is it possible that due to too much government regulation, high taxes, out of sight insurance costs, foreign competition, etc., that it no longer made sense to stay in business?

Is it because of government agencies such as the D.N.R., the D.O.T. the I.R.S., the E.P.A., the F.D.A., N.A.F.T.A., and G.A.T.T. that towns like Kewaskum or others in the Midwest are having a hard time making ends meet while our national debt will be going over five trillion?

And now the final question - if the Indians had to put up with all this B.S., and we gave it back to them - would they even want it?

Letter to the Editor:
Reference, the MEMORIAL DAY PARADE....

I have been a citizen of the Village of Kewaskum for the past 20 years, and have attended the Memorial Day Parade since then. I lost an uncle, Ray Buddenhagen, in WW II, while he was on the Coast Guard Cutter Escanaba... his remains were never recovered... I believe this parade honors those that have fallen and those that have survived the evils of confrontations... However, this year I was somewhat upset with what I thought was complete DISRESPECT for those that have fought for our freedom... I failed to see what the significance was of the ATV's and the go-cart at the end of the parade. The only thing I can think of is that they thought that it was the firemen's parade. This parade has no place for COMMERCIALISM... This parade has always been a somber event, and should stay that way... Save the noise and the antics for another parade, LEAVE THIS PARADE FOR ITS SOMBER PURPOSE... THE FREEDOM OF AMERICA.

Let's Stop ILHR 83

By Glenn Grothman
State Representative

The effects of another well-meaning but ill-conceived law have owners of Wisconsin septic systems up in arms. The proposed new ILHR 83 will require nitrates from water out of new septic systems to be less than 10 parts per million by the year 2006. Currently, this is the federal standard for drinking water.

The underlying problem is that the Clean Water Act of 1984 passed by the State Legislature and signed by Governor Tony Earl required emissions for a septic system to have nitrogen measurements equal to federal drinking water standards.

Obviously, the 1984 law went too far. No other state in the country requires water from a septic system to be as clean as drinking water. The reason the federal drinking standard does not have to be met until 2006 is that we do not even have this technology yet. Tony Earl and the State Legislature passed a law in 1984 requiring septic systems we still cannot build 11 years later!

The Department of Industry, Labor, and Human Relations (DILHR) has tried to resist enforcing this law, but was sued twice by environmental groups and lost in court. Indeed, once a lawsuit was filed by the Public Intervenor -- a government lawyer whose job it is to sue the government. (The Governor tried to get rid of the Public Intervenor in his 1995-97 budget proposal.) Finally, DILHR had to act and drafted the proposed Rule 83.

Immediately after the new rule could go into effect, the standards would be 60 parts per million; stricter than the current code which is based more on soils and type of system rather than purity of water coming out. Old systems would be grandfathered in so they could not be condemned, but as a practical matter, I believe that if you sell your home after the new law goes into effect, you may be required to build a new septic system anyway.

I will work in the legislature to prevent this new rule from become law. Both the Natural Resources Committee and the Administrative Rules Committee, of which I am co-chair, will surely reject this new regulation.

It is also time to introduce legislation removing septic systems from the 1984 Clean Water Act.

Just like what happened with the Federal Clean Air Act, cowardly legislators voted for a complicated bill because the environmentalists told them to, only to find the Act went completely overboard and could cost the average citizen large sums of money unnecessarily.

When originally proposed, the 1984 Clean Water Act passed the Assembly 91-6 and the Senate 29-2. We must all remember that environmentalists sometimes go too far. Let's all keep the pressure on the Legislature and the bureaucrats -- ILHR 83 has to go.

I welcome your comments on this or other issues. You may reach my by phone at my Capitol office at (608) 264-8486 or at home at (414) 338-8061 or by writing me at P.O. Box 8952, Madison, WI 53708.

KHS Girls Show Regional Muscle

By Melissa Rohrer

The girls track team once again showed their strength by winning the Regional track meet held at Sheboygan Falls last Monday, May 22. The girls easily defeated second place Grafton by a score of 146 to 101.

In the process of winning the team title the Indians qualified for Sectionals in eleven events (three relays and ten individuals). Leading the way were the relays, where all the relays entered qualified.

The talented quartet of Greta Kuphal, Jenny Strobel, Erin Stockhausen, and Jenny Jagielski qualified in both the 400m and the 800m relays. They won both events with times of 52.5 (400m) and 1:51.83 (800m) which were a little slower than usual.

Coach Perry Koth was not at all unhappy with the times of any of his runners though because of the weather conditions. "There was a very strong wind off the lake, blowing right down the track for the last 100 meters," said Koth, "and it was very cold, so our times are not going to be very impressive."

He also added that because of the conditions, his runners would probably not be seeded very well at the Sectional meet to be held on Thursday at Ripon. In both races, Conference rival Sheboygan Falls finished second to the Indians. It was particularly close in the 400m relay where only 3/100ths of a second separated the two.

In both races, Jenny Jagielski's strong anchor leg was a key to their first place finish. The other relay to qualify (third - 4:26/1) was the 1600m relay consisting of Missy Rohrer, Mary Yahr, Julie Froemming and Greta Kupahl. The all Senior team ran their best time of the year according to Koth.

Kewaskum also swept the hurdle races with first place wins in the 100m highs (17.0) by Mary Yahr and in the 300m lows (50.9) by Carrie Wiesner. The win in the 100's was not much of a surprise with veteran hurdler Mary Yahr leading the pack. Yahr is trying to return to La Crosse after qualifying for last year's meet.

"Mary seems to be able to turn it on at the end of the year when it counts," said Koth about his four year hurdler. In the 300's, freshman Carrie Wiesner easily won the event passing Saint Francis's Cruz over the second last hurdle. Koth felt that Wiesner was still learning the race and had unlimited potential in the event.

The shot put and discus are usually fairly predictable, but not on this evening. Senior Becky Yogerst who as the teams' most consistent discus thrower failed to qualify in her specialty, but instead won the shot put which she had only competed in a couple of times this year.

Yogerst had her best throw of her career (36'8") to win the event while Rachel Nysse also qualified (third) with a throw of 34'7". Coach Koth was a little surprised by the turn of events, saying, "I expected Becky to advance in the discus, but for her to win the shot put came from out of nowhere. I always try to give the Seniors as many chances as possible to advance in the State tournament, so I had Becky in as the third shot putter."

The Indians were not shut out in the discus though, as sister, Katie (Yogerst) placed third (107'10") and also advanced to Sectionals.

Marni Lynn continued to roll along qualifying in two events by winning the 800m run (2:26.1) and placing second in the 1600m run (5:34.3). Lynn was coming off some minor injuries and was probably not at 100% when she ran but was certainly good enough on this night. "I expect Marni will be at her best for Thursdays meet after the rest we gave her last week. I think she needed a little recovery time and now she should peak at just the right time," stated Koth.

Kewaskum's other first place came from sophomore speedster Jenny Jagielski in the 200m dash (28.54) who has made a reputation for herself by finishing strong down the last 100 meters of her event.

Junior Jenny Strobel who has really run well this season, also qualified in the 100m dash with her best time of the year (12.9). The final qualifier for Kewaskum was sophomore Jamie Gaffke who ran her personal best (65.4) in the 400m dash, good for second place and a trip to Sectionals.

"It was another great team effort tonight, and I am happy for all the kids who made it to Sectionals," said Koth. "They all work hard for me and they deserve this opportunity."

Other athletes who placed but did not qualify for Sectionals were: Kelly Schreffler, fourth in the high jump (4'11"), Rachel Nysse, fourth in the discus (104'5"), Joanne Thull, fifth in the 100m hurdles (18.13), Missy Rohrer, sixth in the 400m dash (68.84), Julie Froem-ming, fifth in the 300m hurdles (45.84), Katie Yogerst, fourth in the shot put (33'5"), and Laura Weiss, eighth in the 400m dash (70.2).

Indians Lose BB Opener, Beat WB East

By Tom Menger

The Kewaskum varsity baseball season started off on a down note last week, as the team dropped a 4-6 decision to Cedar Grove, but bounced right back, beating West Bend East 7-5.

Errors and mental mistakes hampered the Indians against Cedar Grove, and Kewaskum soon found themselves down 6-0. With two out in the sixth inning, Dan Survis and Kevin Martin each stroked a single, and after a pair of walks, and a balk called on the Cedar Grove pitcher, Erik Kopecky hit an RBI single to bring Kewaskum within two runs at 6-4.

The Indians had one more chance in the bottom of the seventh inning when Tim Strigenz walked and Cory Rammer reached on an error, but the team could not muster another hit and had to settle for the loss.

Kewaskum then played a makeup game versus West Bend East, after their first try was rained out.

After giving up two runs to East in the top of the first inning, Kewaskum scored two of their own on a series of walks and wild pitches. Each team picked up another run in the fourth, making the score 3-3. East then chipped in two runs in the top of the fifth inning and had a 5-3 lead until Joe Rettler smashed a long home run with Tim Strigenz on base.

The next batter, Tim Gundrum, spanked another long ball, but the lack of an outfield fence caused the hit to be ruled a triple. The decision did not affect the Indians, however, because Dan Survis singled to right center to bring Gundrum home and give Kewaskum a 6-5 lead.

Back to back doubles by Kevin Martin and Strigenz gave the Indians another run and a 7-5 victory.

Kewaskum's Centennial 1995

I've been asked to write some lines.

About our little town.
Nestled by a river
That winds it's way down.

Now its been told that Chief Kewaskum
Made his dwelling here;
Where he would trap, hunt,
fish, and sometimes shoot
a deer.

Remnants of their presence
Still are often found.
As farmers in the area;
Each spring till the ground.

We're in the heart of the Kettle Moraine,
Where hunting and fishing abound
Skiing and hiking and horse
backriding,
Also can be found.

Joe Eberle had his beagles,
Joe Meyer fixed our shoes,
Wittman had a barber shop,
The Statesman gives us
news.

We had our stores by Marx,
Koch and Rosenheimer,
too
Furniture and photos by

Just to name a few.

Rommel's had a factory Making every type of machine,
In fact our first fire engine,
At the museum can be seen.

McLaughlin and Yoost were butchers,
Endlich had a jewelry store
Otto Graf was the druggist,
Schultz's hotel was next door.
Garages by Honeck and

Schaeffer,
Made a thriving community
Joined by Schaub and

Where late models you could see.

Hausmann, Driessel and

Were ministers of our health Brauchle and Nolting were dentists,
Providing more than wealth.

Mail was delivered by

too,
The postal man was Heppel,
All clientele they knew.

There's Lucas, Peace and Trinity
Which keep our morals high,
Promoting a tranquility,
As the year go by.

It was in 1945
That Regal came to town,
A blessing for Kewaskum,
It brought us world renown.

Many more contributors,
Impossible to name,
Have made us what we are today,
We're grateful just the same.

Come join the celebration
Of our first hundred years,
A panorama of living,
With laughter, joy and tears.

So let's all boost Kewaskum,
Though not my place of birth,
I've learned to know and love
it,
The nicest place on earth!

'Sportacular Summer' at The Kewaskum Library

The Kewaskum Public Library will again sponsor its annual Summer Library Program. This year's theme is "Sportacular Summer." It will be a celebration of sports of all kinds, and the library will offer a variety of special activities.

Summer library programs help children keep up their reading skills and stimulate their interest in the excellent books and other materials at the public library. Research carried out by the U.S. Department of Education shows that the more reading students do outside of school, the higher their reading achievement levels are. Support at home for reading also has a very positive impact on their achievement.

The Summer Library Program is sponsored each year by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction, Division for Library Services.

Registration for "Sportacular Summer" will begin on Monday, June 5, and continue through Friday, June 16, for children, ages two and older. Children three and older should have a valid library card, and any fines should be cleared BEFORE registering.

Children will receive a reading folder in which they will keep track of the time they spend reading. Younger children can keep track of the time someone reads to them. Children may begin keeping track of their reading as soon as they register and receive a folder.

Small prizes will be awarded after reading specified lengths of time, and prizes may be collected throughout the summer, beginning June 19. Parents will need to sign the folder before presenting it at the library for prizes.

Children are encouraged to read as much as they want, and receive as many prizes as they wish to earn. Books read should be from the Kewaskum Public Library, and should reflect the child's individual reading level.

Since the library will measure time spent reading, the number of books read does not matter. You don't even have to keep track of titles and authors! All reading folders must be presented no later than July 28 in order to receive prizes.

There will be stories about sports of many kinds among the tales told at weekly "team meetings" (story-times) on Friday mornings from 10 to 10:45. All ages are welcome to attend. There will be stories, songs, treats, and special activities. ALL children who attend should be able to handle sitting still and quiet during the stories. Kids ages three and under should be accompanied by an adult or older sibling.

Special activities for school-age kids (NO preschoolers) will take place on Wednesday afternoons June 21 and 28 and July 12 and 26 from 1 to 1:45 for registered "team members." There will be a variety of crafts, contests, games and other activities. The activities will be announced during sign-up.

Three special entertainment programs will be held (for all ages). On June 12, there will be a "kick-off" program at 1 p.m. in the Community Room. "Inspector Ha Ha's Whodunit Show" is a mystery-themed storytelling performance sponsored by Laughlin/Constable and McDonalds, and will last approximately 35 minutes.

Plan to also attend a special performance by "Mama Baer" on June 26 at 4 p.m. in the Community Room, sponsored by the Mid-Wisconsin Federated Library System. Mama Baer brings stories to life with action and character voices. The program is for all ages and will last approximately 45 minutes.

Enjoy music, song and humor with plenty of audience participation on July 19 at 1 p.m. in the Community Room with "David Dall and Friends." Dall and his friends Mr. Guitar, Ms. Strings and Baby Guitar perform a variety of humorous and audience participation songs for all ages. A great time is planned for everyone!

A calendar of all activities will be available at the circulation desk beginning Monday, June 5. Enjoy the Kewaskum Public Library this summer!

Summer hours are: Monday and Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Please remember, we are closed on Saturdays during the summer. Summer hours are in effect from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

"Celebrity Reading Day" was held on Wednesday, April 26, at Kewaskum Elementary School. Community members from the area visited the various classrooms to explain their professions and tell how reading helps them in their chosen career. The goal is to show children that reading is a life-long skill and that we all need to strive to be proficient readers. Each Celebrity Reader read a story to the class in which they were a guest.

The volunteer readers included: Marlene Erickson (retired Kewaskum teacher), Betty Bettin (former English teacher), Marilyn Terlinden (PTO president), Jerry Gillies (Public Works Director), Cheryl Taylor (Guidance counselor), Dan Schmidt (Village Administrator), Jim Hodges (WBKV Radio Manager), Joy Brees (Youth & Family Project, Coordinator - Parents Anonymous & Rainbow programs), Charleen Barutha (manager - West Bend Savings Bank, Kewaskum Branch), Dr. Butler (Chiropractor), Ruth Schmitt (school board member), Jorgen Hansen (architect), Ken Erickson (retired Kewaskum teacher), Paul Pakorski (police officer), Bonnie Eldridge (Kewaskum Post Master), Bob Bonenfant (WBKV radio announcer), Kathy Courtney (Middle School teacher-in-charge), Dr. Olsen (pediatrician), Keven Steinhilber (elementary principal), and Cindy Pesko (Kewaskum Dairy Queen manager).

Thanks to each and every participant for helping to mold the reading habits of these young people!

Trees Planted for Arbor Day

To celebrate Arbor Day, three maple trees were planted by Mrs. Domasky's fourth grade class at Farmington Elementary School. Mr. and Mrs. Domasky provided the trees, while Scott Reif, assisted Mrs. Domasky and the class in planting them. Students worked hard to dig holes for the trees on one day. On another day, when they were planted, Scott explained the parts of the tree, as well as how best to plant the maples. Mrs. Domasky's students hope these new trees will provide greatly needed shade for the library and kindergarten rooms for many years to come.

On April 28, the fourth grade class of Holy Trinity School planted a pine tree in observance of Arbor Day. The first, second and third graders also came to watch. After the ceremony, each of the fourth graders received a pine tree of their own to plant at home. Pictured above, left to right, are Josh Timblin, Bobby Teofilo, Mrs. Heimark and Becky Kober. Seven Headed for State Track Meet

By Melissa Rohrer

Six girls in four events, including two relays, qualified for the State Track Meet on June 2nd and 3rd at UW LaCrosse.

Sophomore Marni Lynn not only qualified for the State Meet in the 1600m run, but she broke the school record by over five seconds with a time of 5:15.3, breaking the old mark of 5:21.0 set by Sandy Klein. Lynn will be making her second appearance at the State Meet, where she placed last year in the 800m run.

About his distance ace, Coach Perry Koth said, "She works hard, has a great attitude, and is very competitive. I'm not worried about Marni, she will make good things happen for herself next weekend. As dedicated as she has been the last two years, she really deserves to be where she is now."

The other individual to advance was Senior Becky Yogerst who will be making her first appearance at the State Meet. Yogerst duplicated her Regional throw of 36'8" which was good enough for second place and a trip to the big show.

"Becky has worked very hard the last four years and really deserves to be there. I am always happiest for a Senior who can make the big step into the elite group of athletes who participate in the State Meet," said Koth about his veteran thrower.

Both the 400m relay and the 800m relay advanced with the same four girls: Greta Kuphal, Jenny Strobel, Erin Stockhausen, and Jenny Jagielski running both events. The 800m relay, which finished second to East Troy, knocked two seconds off their best time of theyear by running a 1:48.1 (6/10th of a second off the school record held by Kuphal, Stockhausen, Jagielski and Ginger Wiesner).

Senior Greta Kuphal, Sophomore Jenny Jagielski and Junior Erin Stockhausen ran in the relay last year at State, while Junior Jenny Strobel was an alternate on the team. For Kuphal, it will mark the third year she has qualified for the State Meet.

During her Freshman year, she ran at State in the 800m relay, missed the entire season with an injury her Sophomore year, and ran in the 200m dash and the 800m relay her Junior year. There is a strong tradition behind the 800m relay in the girls program. The relay has gone to State every year since Coach Perry Koth has run the program, including a state championship team in 1990.

"The girls are very aware of the teams that have come before them. They work very hard to keep that tradition going," said Koth about his talented group of runners.

In the other relay, the girls may be trying to start their own tradition. Not only are they the first 400m relay team under Coach Koth to qualify for the State Meet, but they also broke the school record in the process, by knocking 5/10ths of a second off the old record held by Melissa Braun, Kelly Korth, Tina Schwartz and Rachael Gosa (52.0).

While not everyone who participated will advance to the State Meet, the rest of the team left a very clear message to the other participating teams, that the Kewaskum girls have a very good team. Their 56 points was second only to East Troy's 64 points, in a meet that featured 31 teams.

Jenny Jagielski placed third, just missing advancing by one place, in the 200m dash. The race was so close that her time (26.8) was the same as the second place qualifier from Whitewater.

Rachel Nysse placed fourth in the shot put with a throw of 35'9". While Marni Lynn placed fifth in the 800m run with a time of 2:24.0. "Marni gave it her all in the 1600m run and was a little tired yet," said Koth about his distance star, "but it was still her second best time of the year in the event so you know she gave it her best shot."

Mary Yahr finished fifth in the 100m hurdles with a time of 17.2, but had run a 16.9 in the prelims. "Mary had a little trouble on one of the hurdles early in the race, and at this level that all it takes to eliminate you," said Koth. "But Mary has already proven herself to be one of the best hurdlers in the State, so I think she handled not making it pretty well."

In the 300m hurdles, Carrie Wiesner finished fifth with a personal best time of 49.9, but caught a spike on the track after going over the last hurdle and stumbled. Although she didn't fall, it slowed her down enough to keep her from possibly qualifying for the State Meet.

"Carrie was in second place going over the third last hurdle," said Koth, adding, "She usually has such a strong finish that I really think she would have kept that position, but she is only a Freshman and she has a good future ahead of her."

The other place came from Jamie Gaffke, who placed eighth with a personal best time of 65.5 in the 400m dash. "Jamie has looked much stronger as a runner this year than last," Koth said of his sophomore runner.

Other participants who did not place were: Jenny Strobel in the 100m dash (13.2), Missy Rohrer, Mary Yahr, Julie Froemming, and Greta Kuphal in the 1600m relay (4:24), and Katie Yogerst in the discus (101'5").

"All the girls will perform well at the State Meet, they always do," said Koth. "We had a great year by everyone and now several of our athletes will be representing the team at the State Meet. I am very proud of everyone of my athletes for all the work and effort they put into the program, they are just super people."

TRAVIS JACAK ALSO GOING TO STATE

While the girls were breezing through field at Ripon, the KHS boys track team was having it's share of difficulties. Only one boy was able to advance, that being Travis Jacak in the high jump.

Travis' leap of 6'3" originally placed him fourth, just missing qualification, but a scoring error was discovered, and when things were corrected Travis had moved up into second place, and earned a trip to the State Meet.

JAKES Fishing Day Saturday

All children, age 17 and under, accompanied by mom or dad, are invited to the fourth annual JAKES Fishing Day which will be held this Saturday, June 3 in River Hill Park from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The annual event, sponsored by the Gateway Gobblers, Kewaskum Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation, is held in conjunction with the statewide "Free Fishing Day." This means you do not have to purchase a license to fish on Saturday. All you need to bring along is your own fishing pole, and bait. Trophies and prizes will be awarded. Shown above is one of last year's "Fishing Day" participants, proudly displaying his catch of the day. It is planned to make Fishing Day an annual event. For more information call Jim Schaub at 626-8227 or Ralph Miller at 533-4988. Plan on spending some quality time with your youngster, showing him/her the joy of catching that first big fish.
