Becky Heisdorf, a junior at Kewaskum High School, is the first student in the school district to participate in the Youth Apprenticeship Program, working at Bank One as part of the finance program.

According to Dale Schatz, the high school advisor and coordinator for this program, "Becky is working out very well and meeting all the performance requirements established by the bank."

This apprenticeship opportunity is part of the School To Work initiative that is a cooperative county wide program. Becky attends a finance class at West Bend High Schools on Mondays and Wednesdays afternoons and works at Bank One on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

The apprenticeship program involves a commitment by parents, teachers, administrators and students. Becky and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heisdorf, along with high school principal Charles Heidner, and teacher/advisor Dale Schatz, signed a two year agreement that commits Becky to this program through her graduation in 1997.

Christmas Parade Dec. 3

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Recent snow flurries remind us that Kewaskum's Christmas Parade is just a short three weeks away, and whether you've been naughty or nice will be overlooked by Santa's elves and the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, as they prepare to present their annual holiday gift to the village -- a spectacular procession of holiday tradition cherished by the child in all of us.

The Christmas Parade is scheduled this year for Sunday, December 3, at 5 p.m., and the Chamber of Commerce has been busy bustling about, raising funds, and taking care of all the arrangements to set up this annual event.

If you haven't made any plans yet, now is the time to get your group or organization ready to participate. Your creative imaginations have, in past years, made Kewaskum's parade a holiday favorite, so sign up your team of enthusiastic performers now. The following contact persons are eager to provide information or add to the

School Board Approves Sending Provisional License Request to DPI

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

At a special session this past Friday evening, members of the Kewaskum School Board voted to approve sending a request to the Department of Public Instruction to grant a provisional license to Charles Johnson, which would allow him to act as superintendent of the district for a one year period.

The sudden meeting was called after board president Neal Weare received a fax Friday afternoon from State Superintendent of Schools, John Benson, which stated that the district's request for a waiver for Mr. Johnson was being held pending the board's request for it's withdrawal. Weare read the letter to the board and a crowd of about 30 residents in the administrative office, quoting Benson's words. "We believe the following alternative satisfies your needs. The original application for a license for Dr. Johnson was denied, since his preparation and experience did not meet the minimum qualifications established by the state. A school district does have the option, however, to request that a one year license be granted to an individual who does not meet the minimum requirements."

The letter went on to explain that the DPI has affirmed that Dr. Johnson has not completed the approved program for administrator licensing at Northwestern University, and he must complete the courses necessary to receive their endorsement within two years. If the school board requests the one year superintendent license for Dr. Johnson, Benson wrote that it would be approved.

The discussion following the motion to request the one year license was once again strained, with strong opinions regarding Dr. Johnson's qualifications and experience dividing the board. "He has not completed the administrative licensing," board member Karen Sparks emphasized. "That was a misrepresentation to this board. I just want to make that statement."

Board member Ruth Schmitt agreed, adding, "I feel very uneasy about this because I believe there's some serious questions about Dr. Johnson's qualifications. Nevertheless, I'm certain this board will approve it."

According to Schmitt, she had checked with Northwestern University regarding Johnson's dual doctorate in Education Administration and Policy Making, as listed on his resume. Northwestern told her that his doctorate was in Education Administration, but he only took a course in policy making. She also checked with the high school in Minnesota Johnson had listed as teaching and had chemistry at, and they related to Schmitt that his records indicate he taught math and phy. ed.

Fund Set Up for Accident Victim

Kelly Will Be Eight On Sunday

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

A special fund has been set up at West Bend Savings Bank in Kewaskum to take donations for the family of a little girl who was severely injured in a recent automobile accident.

Kelly Wagner, daughter of Wayne and Darlene Wagner of Farmington, was hit by a car on October 26th, in front of her home on Highway M. The accident occurred between 3:30 and 4 p.m., when the eight-year-old attempted to cross the street to play with some friends. According to a spokesperson for the family, a neighbor saw Kelly approach the street, and told her to stop and wait for oncoming traffic.

Vehicles were traveling in both the northbound and southbound lanes, and Kelly waited as the northbound car went by, but failed to see the approaching vehicle from the south, and proceeded to cross the street. She was struck in the head by the car's side mirror, suffering severe injuries to her face and head.

The Fillmore First Department's First Responders were the first to arrive on the scene, followed by the Newburg Fire Department, who transported Kelly to West Bend Hospital. From there she was transferred to Children's Hospital in Milwaukee by Flight for Life.

Kelly remains at Children's Hospital in a coma, due to the swelling and bruising on both sides of her brain. Re-constructive surgery has already been performed to set broken bones in her face, and to allow necessary medical intervention.

Kelly will be eight years old on Sunday, November 12, and is in the second grade at Farmington Elementary School. She is an active participant in Brownies and gymnastics, and has a nine year old brother, Mike, who also attends Farmington School.

The bank account has been set up in Kelly's name, and donations will be accepted at both the West Bend and Kewaskum branches of West Bend Savings Bank. All funds will be used to help defray the burden of medical costs that continually mount for the Wagner family.

The community's generous show of support would be appreciated during this very difficult time.

IT'S HARD KEWASKUM.....

To ask every week for the generosity in your heart to reach your wallet, and I promise, this is the last time I'll do it during this United Way campaign.

But the fact remains that we are $5,100 short of our goal. To date, 76 businesses have NOT answered the call for donating or allowing their employees to donate to this most worthwhile cause.

United Way agencies serve nearly 23,000 Washington County residents each year. People just like you and me, whose situation has changed. People don't stand on the Kewaskum street corners to beg for food, because the Full Shelf Food Pantry is there to help them. Red Cross helps with emergency shelter and support because of your gifts to the United Way.

Please don't let another week go by without donating to this cause. All gifts are appreciated, no matter what size!

Thanks are in order to the following businesses and individuals who DID donate this week: Regal Ware, Quad Tool corporate and employees, Sunburst Ski Area, Eccentrics by Kimetha, Amerahn, John Engelhardt and Sons, Carolyn Butz, Charles Dewane and James Piwowarczyk.

Included in this week's Kewaskum Statesman is a donor form for your convenience on page 2. Simply fill out the form and mail to the address given. I hope my last letter to the editor next week will list the names of businesses and individuals whose generosity let us meet our goal of $35,500.

Dear Kewaskum School District Residents,

On a recent local radio show, the morning show host made reference to the hiring process for our interim district administrator as being "secretive." This reference concerns me a great deal because I feel I am an honest and open person and, when asked, have never hidden how I felt on an issue. I ran for the school board using my conscience as my platform, laying it all out there

GUEST EDITORIAL...

IT'S TIME TO MOVE FORWARD

By Tom Timblin

Now that the smoke has cleared and the chips have fallen where they may with the District Administrator, it's time to move on. I am not prone to write commentary letters, but like most people, I think there are a few things that need to be said.

This is not an instance where one side is all right and the other is all wrong. Both sides need to sit down like the elected officials they are and the role model educators they are and find a middle ground. I do not believe the venomous onslaught of Letters to the Editor will yield any fruit. This is counter-productive and just drives the wedge in further. Secret meetings and phone calls and one Board Member suing another... it's all gotten out of hand!

It has become a personal, political power struggle on both sides. Why are you branded either a liberal or a conservative? Both sides have some good ideas and some foolish ideas. The whole process was designed with checks and balances to take the best ideas from both sides and make it work. It's not perfect, but it's the best we have.

The bottom line... maybe everyone involved on both sides need the old fashioned proverbial trip to the woodshed to make their focus a wee bit more clear, if you catch my drift. I am looking forward to a healthy dose of wisdom and common sense from both sides in the future... don't disappoint us. Let's put politics and personalities aside and get back to the business at hand... OUR KIDS!

for all the world to see which was very uncomfortable, but very necessary in my view.

I believe what needs to be cleared up here is the difference between being secretive and keeping things said in closed session meetings confidential. As many of you may know (particularly those who attended the October 9th board meeting), the concept of a closed session meeting has been a very difficult one for me. In my

Students Fight the System On Hooded Sweatshirt Issue

By Jaime Schmitt

During the past week and a half there has been a controversy going on at the Kewaskum High School.

Changes might be made to the dress code, specifying what types of clothing would be inappropriate. Neal Weare, president of the school board, states, "The Kewaskum School District has not had any problems, but other school districts have problems with cigarettes and potential abuse." He added, "The Board of Education reflects what the community wants."

If the dress code specifically states no hooded sweatshirts, many students would not wear the hooded sweatshirts. Hooded sweatshirts have been thought of as potentially dangerous, because cigarettes, drugs, and concealed weapons could be contained within the sweatshirt.

"The district's responsibility is to watch and ensure the safety of students and all district employees including residents," explained Weare. "The administrators will be watching for items that are illegal or against other board policies. The chance of students perhaps carrying something maybe is greater at the high school than perhaps elsewhere in the district," stated Weare.

The dress code now doesn't specify not being able to wear hooded sweatshirts. If the dress code changes the types of clothing thought to be inappropriate will be specifically stated. "I support the administration in their decision in what they did. I feel it was appropriate. I also feel that they have the best interests of the students, faculty and community," he added. "I feel it is better to be proactive than reactive, meaning to take precautions ahead of time."

The students at the High School have their own opinions. When asked about what he thinks, a freshman, Bob Lemay said, "I don't really like it. I think kids should be able to wear what they want. What you wear doesn't affect how you learn."

Some people feel that illegal substances will be brought in whether the students are wearing a hooded sweatshirt or not. So far the Kewaskum High School has not had any major problems with illegal substances or items that are illegal. "School is for learning, not to make a fashion statement," said Weare.

Some students feel that a change in the dress code would be good because it would be a way of ensuring the safety. When some of the students were asked to remove their hooded sweatshirts, they refused. Some students received suspensions and others were charged with disorderly conduct.

There are three kinds of people: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, and those that wonder what happened.

The school district of Kewaskum has announced that three positions on the Kewaskum School Board will be up for re-election. These positions are three year terms, which are now being served by board members Karen Sparks, Ruth Schmitt, and Ron Beimbom.

As of November 8, no papers announcing candidacy have been filed, although board members Ruth Schmitt and Karen Sparks have indicated they will seek re-election. Ron Beimbom has not yet announced his decision.

Three village trustees are also up for re-election of their two year terms, which expire April of 1996. They are William Kulas, John Borland and Robert Stoltzmann. Kulas and Borland have stated that they will not seek another term, and Stoltzmann announced he plans to run for a second term.

Nomination papers for village trustee must be filed at the office of the Village Clerk in the Municipal Building by December 5th.

St. Lucas Welcomes Newest Teacher

Mrs. Elizabeth Marquardt

The newest addition to the teaching staff at St. Lucas Lutheran Elementary School is Mrs. Elizabeth Marquardt. She has accepted the call to teach kindergarten and preschool along with duties as junior choir director and part-time organist.

Mrs. Marquardt, nee Graham, is a native of Saginaw, Michigan where she was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The youngest of three daughters of Harold and Lois Graham she is a graduate of St. Paul's Elementary School. After her high school graduation from Michigan Lutheran Seminary, she enrolled at Dr. Martin Luther College in New Ulm, Minnesota and graduated in 1980 with a Bachelor's of Science Degree in Education. That summer she married fellow DMLC graduate, Dale Marquardt, and they moved to Billings, Montana, where he was assigned to teach in the elementary school of Apostle's Lutheran Church. During their stay in Billings she taught kindergarten for two years, also at Apostle Lutheran Church.

When they moved to Wisconsin she taught grades 5 and 6 here at St. Lucas, so her return to the full time position this school term means she has returned to familiar surroundings and co-workers. Her next teaching duties involved preschool at St. Paul's Lutheran Elementary School in Slinger in years from 1990 to 1993 and 3rd grade at Peace Christian Day School in Hartford in 1994. When an emergency situation arose at St. Lucas during the 1st school year, Beth was again called on to teach our fourth graders.

Beth's marriage to Dale Marquardt has been blessed with four children - Anne age 12, Andrew 10, Philip 9, and Emily 7. They are currently students at Peace Lutheran Elementary School in Hartford. Dale is a representative for AAL Insurance Company in that area and the family will shortly be making their home in West Bend. Hobbies with her family include camping and when time permits she enjoys sewing and crafts.

Students, parents, faculty and members of St. Lucas have been very happy to welcome her return to our parish!

NEW AIDE ON ST. LUCAS STAFF

The beginning of the 95-96 school term added Mrs. Gerda Dickman as a teacher's aide to our staff. Gerda is assisting Mrs. Erika Moldenhauer in the 1st and 2nd grade classroom.

Mrs. Dickman was born in Germany and her family moved to the United States when she was 12 years old. She completed elementary school and high school and enrolled at St. John's College in Winfield, Kansas. She majored in education and taught school for nine years in Iowa, Brookfield and Fond du Lac varying her teaching experience from kindergarten through second grade. Gerda has continued her education especially in the area of dyslexic children. She does tutoring and has attended numerous workshops to further her education in this area.

Gerda and her husband, Harold, are members of St. Lucas, and are the parents of seven children, now all young adults with the youngest, Paul, living at home.

We all welcome Mrs. Dickman as a most important part of our faculty!!

'Masters and Marms'

In keeping with Kewaskum's Centennial and the Kewaskum Elementary School's year-long theme, the school held a non-traditional Halloween celebration last week. Pictured above are some of the

with this information. "I called Northwestern yesterday," Andera told everyone, "and the woman said I'm reading it right here. It's one degree in Education Administration and Policy Studies." Both Andera and Schmitt held their ground on the information they had received, but President Weare said that Mr. Benson told him in a telephone conversation that they were not questioning Johnson's teaching experience, and only felt that there was some course work he needed to complete.

In speaking further with Mr. Benson, Weare was not told whether Johnson lacked one credit or three, but Mr. Benson had said he felt that Johnson could complete the necessary requirements in less than two years, and he would then be certifiable for a five year permanent license.

The board did approve the request, with Weare, Schulte, Goeden and Andera voting yes, and Beimborn, Schmitt and Sparks abstaining.

The next item to tackle was approving the withdrawal of the waiver request to the DPI, originally approved at a public hearing to allow the district to hire an uncertified superintendent. Board member Goeden wavered with her decision, although she seconded the motion for discussion. She questioned why the waiver had to be withdrawn, and if it was, and then the provisional license was turned down, would they have to go through the entire process again?

President Weare assured the board that Mr. Benson had indicated in the letter that the one year license would be approved. "If I can't believe in what Mr. Benson has written and signed his name to, then I don't know," Weare stated, "but I feel very confident that that's exactly what he's telling us, and he'll abide by that."

Board member John Schulte said he would rather wait and receive confirmation on the provisional license, before he let the waiver go. "You just never know how things might change," he added. President Weare said that he thought the two requests could not be submitted at once, but Schulte indicated he didn't buy that, and felt it could be done.

Weare went on to explain that Dr. Johnson could reapply for a second year license, to complete the necessary course work, and then he would be eligible to apply for certification for a five year license. Since he will officially be serving as an interim, the job is still scheduled to be posted sometime in January or February of next year.

Audience members were on hand to once again voice their displeasure at the board's decision not to post the interim position, but Weare indicated that this meeting was called only to vote on the two requests to the DPI. Forced into discussion, the term "past practice" was named as the reason the job was not posted. Board member Mary Andera explained what she had recently learned about this label. "Past practice is a term I never heard of until I got on this board," she related, "and when I sat in on negotiations and teachers' contracts, just about everything is based on past practice. Someone says past practice, and the whole room is quiet, then OK, it goes because it's past practice. That's how it's done in public education."

A parent and teacher answered Andera. "It certainly doesn't fit in with the term 'being progressive', does it? In the classroom, if I say I'm going to do this and teach this way because of past practice, how far would I get?"

The group in attendance pleaded with the board to tell them what it is that makes this candidate (Dr. Johnson) so special, hoping that it would clear up the dark cloud that had formed between the board and some members of the community. "Please tell us, what do you know that we don't, that a man who's never been in a K-12 public school can do for us?", Mrs. Charland asked the board. "All we're doing is asking. Maybe this would've all been put to rest if we would've had some answers. We know that we're probably going to have egg on our face, that's been told to us, but tell us why we're going to be sorry, we're asking you!"

President Weare again indicated that this information could not at this time be released, and he would not discuss Mr. Johnson's qualifications. "That's all we're going to discuss tonight, what's on this agenda. That may upset some people, but that's the way the meeting is going to go."

The board approved withdrawing the waiver 3-1-3 with Weare, Andera and Goeden voting yes, Schulte voting no, and Sparks, Schmitt and Beimborn abstaining.

More dissension erupted over approval of consultant fees for Dr. Johnson during the time he worked in the month of October. President Weare asked the individual board members what their understanding was of the Oct. 9th meeting when Dr. Johnson's contract was voted on, and if, at that time, they understood that Johnson's consultant fees for October would be included in the contract.

Beimborn, Schmitt and Sparks clearly believed that no monies were to be paid to Mr. Johnson until he received approval from the DPI, and Sparks related that this conversation is on tape. "I'm going to make the assumption, that of course, no money was paid to Mr. Johnson, to this date. I may be wrong about that," Sparks related.

The other board members, Schulte, Goeden and Andera, had understood the contract to mean that Mr. Johnson would be paid for every day he worked. Mrs. Goeden said that she didn't think anyone they would've hired would have come down for an entire month without reimbursement, so she figured that the $300 per day would have included his time training with Dr. Heather.

Sparks, as treasurer, stated she has not signed the contract, and no one to this date has signed the contract between the school district and Mr. Johnson, and no funds should have been issued until the contract is signed. When she asked if compensation had already been paid to Mr. Johnson, President Weare indicated it had, and Sparks then asked him, "under whose authority?" Weare said that in essence, Dr. Heather had authorized payment, although it wasn't as a payroll. Ruth Schmitt said she asked Dr. Heather "point blank" if he had authorized this, and he had told her no.

According to the board president, the payment was issued under the conditions of the contract, and that it did not matter if the contract was signed or not. "It was my understanding the gentleman would not be coming here for nothing," Weare told them, and that all benefits would not begin until November 8th. Sparks agreed, but said the payment must be retroactive when the contract was signed.

Weare said what he was asked to do this evening was find out what the intent of the board was in regard to this, and felt it was reaffirmed that the board knew Dr. Johnson would be paid for his time with the district so far.

"I demand a vote," Ruth Schmitt responded. "You don't get by with a consensus for $1,800. We have some big problems here." President Weare responded by stating it was approved according to a 4-2-1 vote taken October 9th, but agreed to take it up at a later date. The meeting was then adjourned, with some members of the board abstaining from adjournment.

growing list of participants: John Meisser 626-4529, Shawn Roberts (My Little Friends Day Care) 626-4155, Lana Kuehl (Kewaskum Statesman) 626-2626 or Gwen Edwards 626-2666.

Prizes for entries in this year's parade are well worth the effort, so get started on those floats, and your visions of sugarplums could earn you a first place prize of $150. Additional prizes of $100, $75, $50 and $25 will also be awarded.

All participants are asked to be at the Kewaskum Fire Station prior to 4 p.m., to avoid congestion and get ready to line-up for the big event.

The Chamber is adding something new this year to the festivities by decorating Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue with live Christmas trees to celebrate this occasion. Children from Kewaskum Elementary School, Kewaskum Middle School, Holy Trinity School, St. Lucas School, Wayne and Farmington Elementary Schools, My Little Friends Day Care, as well as scout troops will be making ornaments for the trees.

A special decorating day will take place Friday, December 1, at 1 p.m. and Bank Wisconsin has graciously donated their basement so the children can come down and warm up afterwards and enjoy some refreshments. Individuals and businesses who wish to donate to this project, can contact Jane Korth at 626-4172 or Linda Thorn (Toning Shoppe) at 626-4936.

The Chamber is also asking area business owners to lend their cheer to the Christmas theme by decorating the outside of their businesses with green rope garland and red bows. This uniform theme will be carried throughout the village, and chamber members will also be trimming the bridge and the tourist information booth near the fire station, using these festive decorations.

The true meaning of Christmas is never forgotten in Kewaskum, and in past years the Chamber has collaborated with Kewaskum High School in holding a food drive in conjunction with their Christmas parade. If your family enjoys the lights, music and costumed characters, along with those bags of goodies from Santa's elves, remember those whose holidays may not be as bright and beautiful as ours, by responding with a donation of food.

Santa's elves will be collecting these donations from all the youngsters and grownups along the parade route. Just watch for the gaily decorated trailer marked "Chamber Food Drive Donations," and pass your items along to the elves. Children will be rewarded with the traditional treat bag.

Making a special appearance in the parade this year is Washington County's own Fairest of the Fair, Stephanie Hefter of Hartford, and yes, Santa Claus has once again juggled his busy schedule around to fly down and attend his favorite parade.

The Christmas Parade is funded annually, solely through the generous donations of our area businesses and by the sale of the seasonal tree lights and memorial star lights. Both the tree and the star will again be located in front of Bank Wisconsin.

The coupon for purchasing the lights appears on page three of this issue. The cost for red lights is $25, and green or memorial white lights are $10 each.

A list of contributors will be recorded and displayed on a storybook board displayed adjacent to the tree and memorial star. The star is erected in memory of those we love who can only be with us in spirit this holiday season. Their name, and the names of all contributors will appear on the star storyboard. All names will also be published in a future edition of the Kewaskum Statesman.

The coupons can be filled out and dropped off at The Kewaskum Statesman, or mailed to The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 300, Kewaskum, Wisconsin 53040.

The tree and star will be lit for the first time the evening of the parade, and their size will match the generous hearts of the community. With everyone's help, we can make a great, shining light that will brighten the entire community throughout the holiday season.

Proceeds from the sale of these lights will go directly towards underwriting the cost of the Christmas Parade, and fill bags of goodies Santa's elves will be handing out to children along the parade route.

The Chamber of Commerce will not be contacting anyone this year for donations, but have decided to leave it up to the individuals of this community to help lighten the load. They do, however, urge all businesses, community organizations, church groups and families to involve themselves in the parade. With support from the entire community, the parade can continue to be an inspiration for all participants, as well as spectators.

Whatever way you choose to involve yourself in this year's parade, remember that it is your support that lights up the faces of children, it is your support that turns the town into a scene from Dickens for one night, it is your support that helps someone hungry sleep in comfort, and it is your support that fills the village with spirit and good will for the evening, and hopefully throughout the season. Become a part of what has now become a tradition... join us for Kewaskum's inspiring Christmas parade.

first few months on the board I saw no reason for any closed session meetings except in dealing with minors. I felt that the taxpayers (owners) of the district should be able to attend any of our district meetings. It took some convincing, but I eventually came to see why some meetings needed to be closed. Interviewing candidates for a job falls into this category. It was put to me like this, "Mary, would you like the public to be in on a job interview that you were on? What if you didn't want a current employer to know you were looking to move on?" It was then that I understood the reasoning behind some closed session meetings. (However, I am still not so sure about having a closed session for other matters.)

What has been difficult for me is the idea of keeping closed session dialog confidential. When a person asks me why I like the selected candidate, it becomes very tempting to state not only what I liked about the candidate I chose but also what I didn't like about the other candidates -- a violation of the closed session rules as I understand them. To support just how difficult a thing this is to do, let me share this. At a board meeting this year, the closed session confidence was broken by a long-standing member of our staff who also served on one of the interviewing committees for a certain position. In an effort to support why this person didn't select additional candidates for the board to interview, the staff member proceeded to state a list of personality "negatives" about the non-selected candidates. Ooops.

I am certain that this violation of the closed session rules was unintentional, but it just goes to show how difficult it can be to try to make a point without being able to back it up by using the facts known only to the people involved in the closed session. One winds up having to say things like, "Well, I can't tell you that," or "I'm sorry, but I'm not at liberty to say anything," or other similar cryptic responses. Yes, I agree, it does sound very secretive -- as though some information is purposely being "hidden." Unfortunately, this is the way it has to be -- by law -- and as many of you witnessed, it has been a very frustrating statute for me to follow.

Anyway, I apologize for the appearance of being "secretive" but I have only been trying to abide by the law. I have always tried to answer questions honestly and openly. I have nothing to hide and I stand behind every vote I have made -- even the ones where I went down 6-1! (You win some, you lose some). Keep in touch.

Sincerely,
Mary P. Andera
Kewaskum
School Board

Looking thru some articles I have read I would like to share the following:

1) Kewaskum School District was recognized as Best of Class, by achieving high student performance at a moderate cost. Per student costs were lower than state average, yet their composite scores on state tests, which were given to third, eighth and tenth graders, were higher than state average.

2) The 1995 Wisconsin third grade reading test results; 98.1 percent of the students, in Kewaskum School District, scored above the performance standard, by getting 29 to 40 questions correct in reading comprehension.

3) In 1995, Wisconsin public school students, scored No. 1 in the nation on ACT test scores and well above average on SAT test scores.

How were we able to achieve this?

By hiring qualified and certified personnel in administration and in the classroom. People who are educated in knowing the needs of the students.

I would hate to think, by hiring someone who is unqualified, and uncertified, could be jeopardizing the quality of education in our district.

After all, these students are our future

Lu Ann Potter

To the Editor:

As president of the Kewaskum Education Association I am compelled to make some observations in regard to the recent controversy over the hiring of an interim superintendent for our district. First, on behalf of the association, I welcome Mr. Johnson to the district. The teachers in this district will work as hard with him as our superintendent to give our students the best possible education as they would with any person in that position.

It is regrettable that this issue has caused so much bitterness within this community. Some people have stated that "teachers" and the union are responsible for blowing all of this out of proportion. I vehemently disagree with those people. A letter was printed that simply stated some concerns. Otherwise at no time did the union undertake any organized efforts to oppose this hiring. Some teachers did speak up at some meetings. For the most part they were district residents, parents and taxpayers. The majority of people speaking out were not teachers and that has been accurately reported. It was further stated by some that the union has some special interests at stake. Yes, that is true! Our special interests are the children we strive to educate.

I do want to go on record as saying that this union will oppose any improprieties or illegal activities undertaken by officials elected to represent this district. Being an appropriate role model and good example of proper citizenship begins at the top.

Sincerely,
John Breese
President,
Kewaskum
Education Association

To the community of the Kewaskum School District:

As the "historian" of the Kewaskum School District (having served on the board for 16 years), I believe I've been through many changes. A few years ago I was one of several board members who, in good faith, tried to give the teachers assistance in getting substantial raises in their salaries and benefits -- an action that angered the public and cost me dearly in some friendships. Nevertheless, I felt I was doing the right thing for our educators. After giving them a hand in good faith, they then seemed to want an arm -- then a leg and now it appears they want my soul!

In the past 8-10 years I've seen a deterioration of not only the educational standards in our schools but also a decline in the teaching standards of SOME of the teachers. I may not have a degree or certification, but I do have experience, common sense and dedication to our school district and students and I believe with all my heart, that Mr. Charles Johnson is the right person for our interim district administrator position.

Mr. Johnson is a soft-spoken man with an integrity and humility that has been desperately needed in this district to help rebuild the trust between district residents, businesses and school personnel that has been damaged over the years. He has the strength and courage to undertake the enormous responsibility that has been laid at his feet -- recently enhanced by this fine "welcome" he has received from some in this community. When I asked Mr. Johnson if he was ready for the challenge, he said, "It's one thing to be selected-- it's another to be effective." Exactly! It is clear that he is very aware of the difficult healing process that awaits him but I believe he has the fortitude and class to accomplish this task with our support and cooperation. He is a decorated American hero and our students would be wise to emulate his strengths.

I believe, as Mr. Johnson has stated, that Kewaskum can set the standard in public education in Wisconsin. He stated that he would like our students, "to become good family members, good citizens and good Americans."

This is the greatest country in the world and I will fight to keep our students first, just as I fought for the Pledge of Allegiance to be said daily in our schools and for our holiday programs to remain our Christmas programs. I would not do anything to hinder the public education system that will graduate my grandchildren. I will not give them my soul!

Jeanne Goeden

Dear Editor,

The "Centennial" Halloween Celebration at Kewaskum Elementary on Tuesday, October 31st, was outstanding!

The students and teachers did an exceptional job of dressing as the people of 100 years ago.

Many "costumes" were made especially for this Halloween celebration, and the excitement generated throughout the building will long be remembered.

Thank you! to the teachers who organized "A Historical Halloween."

Connie Schulist

P.S. It was a disappointment, that no majority board member could join us in the celebration.

Dear Editor,

Last weeks letter from Ron Kujawa, a school board member from Cudahy, commended our district for its bold, innovative approach in our selection of a district administrator. In addition to Mr. Kujawa's letter, was an article in the Journal-Sentinel on Wed. Nov. 1st section 1, addressing that same letter. I read with great interest, the fact that members of the School Board in Cudahy would be willing to consider an unqualified candidate. The article also went on to say that the Cudahy School Board members would involve parents, teachers and administrators in the selection of prospective candidates. A procedure which our School Board majority bypassed.

This whole political debate is focused around a rumor that it is the teachers union, again, wanting to buck the school board out of a fear that the teachers union will lose control of the district. If this is true, then I must question the School Board meeting (and this is just one example) on Friday, November 3rd.

Present at the meeting were 41 people. 6 or 15% were non-voters (4 children, 1 reporter, 1 secretary), 14 or 34% were parents, 8 or 20% were district teachers (6 of which have children in the district), 2 or 5% were non-district teachers (all with children in the district), 7 or 17% were board members (5 with children or grandchildren in the district), 3 or 7% were district employees (all with children in the district), and 1 or 2% news reporter.

The percentage of the 35 voting attendees in agreement with the board majority's recent procedure, at most was 9 or 27%. That leaves 26 or 73% in attendance, disagreeing with the procedure of board majority. Out of that 26 or 73% in disagreement, 10 or 37% of the 73% were teachers. Overall, less than 1/3 or 33% of voting attendees were teachers.

Is this just another union/board debate over an uncertified District Administrator? NO! It's a debate over, following policy, proper procedure, and listening to the voting public who are not in agreement. Whether or not that public representation are teachers could be an issue, if it were the truth. But there are just as many non-teachers (and more) calling "fool" on board majority. Is our board representative of the majority speaking out in disapproval? NO!

PRAYER OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(Never known to fail).
Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven. Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my Mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary, I place this prayer for your hands (three times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you.

B.K.

SORRY ABOUT THAT!

In last week's issue in the caption beneath the Halloween photo at Buffy's, we incorrectly identified Mary Ann Loos as Mary Ann Herriges. Our apologies to Mary Ann and Dickie Poo (??). Just adds credence to our theory that anything handled after our Monday noon deadline ALWAYS manages to find a mistake.

In Loving Memory of Marcella Sabish, died June 19, 1995 and Alois Sabish, died October 18, 1995

To my Great Grandpa and Grandma
Who we will miss and always love and remember forever
We always liked to visit
To eat grandma's homemade cookies and pies that nobody could make better than grandma
To walk in the house and smell grandpa smoking his pipe
"How's the little man and lady today?", he would say
To sit there and listen to his stories, even if we heard them more than once already
To swing with them on the swing outside when "Susie the duck" would be under grandpa's feet
To go and look for deer with grandpa on one of his drives
For him to show me his fishing lures and guns
And to take me fishing when he could
To be so lucky to have a grandpa to build us our very own playhouse
Grandma taught me how to play a tune on the piano they have
We never got to finish it, but what I know I'll never forget
There was always Hershey's chocolate candy bars for us in the "Fridgeaire," as grandma called it
"Can we have one?", we would have to ask
"Sure you can!", they would say and broke us one in half
We never could do anything wrong
Grandma would always say, "They were fine, the best that they could be," even if we weren't
She never missed a birthday, to call on the phone and sing "Happy Birthday to you"
We never left without a good-bye kiss and hug
"Muscoot," grandpa would say
"Muscoot to you grandpa and grandma"
We will always love you and miss you!

Where the loveliness never

She lives in the land of glory,

Gone from us who loved her,

Her life is a beautiful mem-

Her absence a silent grief,
She sleeps in God's beautiful

In the sunset of perfect peace.

In loving memory of MARTHA SCHILTZ, who passed away two years ago,
Nov. 12, 1993:

We watched through all your suffering
And often had to cry
For we knew that very soon
We'd have to say good-bye
When days are sad and lonely
And everything goes wrong
We seem to hear you whisper
Cheer up and carry on.
Everytime we see your pic-

You seem to smile and say Don't cry. I'm in God's keep-

We'll all meet again some day.

Losing Prime Farmland

(NAPS)—Prime farmland is rural land that has the best combination of physical and chemical characteristics for producing food, feed, forage, fiber and oilseed crops, and is available for these uses.

In 1992, the 334 million acres of prime farmland was down some six million acres from the 1982 total—including four million prime farmland acres converted to rural and urban development.

That loss is roughly equivalent to the area of the state of Vermont. Note to Editors: The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service is providing graphic highlights and explanations of the most extensive inventory of natural resources ever conducted on the nation's nonfederal land—some 75 percent of the United States.

These graphics are part of a series which provides a "snapshot" of resource conditions in the United States.

For more information, please call your state office of the Natural Resources Conservation Service (formerly the Soil Conservation Service).

Local Fair Association Attends Fall Meeting

The Wisconsin Association of Fairs recently held District meetings around the state. These meetings are to evaluate the 1995 fair season and to continue preparing for the 1996 fair season.

Topics on the agenda were the upcoming 73rd annual convention to be held in Milwaukee on January 8-10 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel and the upcoming Zone meeting March 27-29 at the Midway Motor Lodge in Eau Claire where Wisconsin will be host to fairs from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, as well as the Canadian provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The afternoon workshop dealt with "Livestock Issues for 1996 and Beyond." Here UW Madison Livestock Specialist Tim Erickson talked about codes of ethics for exhibitors in and out of the show ring as well as how fairs can increase the educational and agricultural impacts of these projects for youth at their fairs. Premiered at this meeting was the new livestock project literature.

Attending from the Washington County Junior Fair were: John Kohl, Dan Stoffel, Mary Krumbiegel, Sandy Lang, Dave Radermacher and Jim Esselmann.

The 1996 fair dates for the Washington County Fair are July 24-28 at the fairgrounds in Slinger.

There is nothing so consoling as to find that one's neighbor's troubles are at least as great as one's own.

Visually Impaired Support Group to Meet November 15

The next Visually Impaired Support Group meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 15. "What is a CBRF?" will be presented by Amy Bauer, Nurse Manager of Cedar Bay.

The group will meet at 1:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at the Cedar Ridge Retirement Campus, 113 Cedar Ridge Drive, West Bend. The visually impaired and interested people in the community are welcome to attend.

The support group usually meets the fourth Wednesday of each month at the Cedar Ridge Retirement Campus. The meeting is a week earlier this month due to the Thanksgiving Holiday. Cedar Ridge is located at 113 Cedar Ridge Drive in the city of West Bend. Turn south off Highway 33, west onto Scenic Drive at Royal Ford. For more information, call Jean Meyer at the Cedar Haven Rehabilitation Agency, 334-1486.

Hospital Auxiliary Receives Award

St. Joseph's Community Hospital Auxiliary was recognized for its outstanding service when the auxiliary received an Honor Point Award at the Wisconsin Hospital Association Auxiliaries Annual Meeting and Convention in October in Stevens Point.

Marie Pitz, president of St. Joseph's Community Hospital Auxiliary, accepted the award for the auxiliary. Other auxiliaries who attended were Virginia O'Meara, Mary Renzaglia and Sharon Ziegler. Ziegler also chairs the Southeast District of the state association.

A total of 242 persons from 67 auxiliaries attended the event Oct. 10-12. The theme for the convention was "Leading Through Education in Times of Change."

Keynote speaker Dan Dieterich, a writing consultant from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, spoke on the elements of effective communication. The weekend included other speakers and break-out sessions on topics such as membership recruitment, the auxiliary mission and integrated healthcare.

Diabetes Can Lead to Other Complications

(NAPS)—Many Americans know that having diabetes increases their risk of heart disease, but few know that diabetes can lead to other complications as well. For example, the American Diabetes Association says that eight percent of diabetics have peripheral arterial disease, commonly known as PAD, with 45 percent developing PAD within 20 years. Simply put, peripheral arterial disease is a condition in which patients experience a disruption in blood supply to their extremities, most often their legs and feet. This disruption can cause pain, discomfort, and damage, depending on the duration and degree of blood flow impairment.

In most patients with diabetes, PAD becomes quite serious. Diabetes, for example, can have many effects on blood cells and blood vessels. In diabetics, hemoglobin in red blood cells tends to become "sugar coated" due to high levels of glucose in the blood. This impairs its oxygen-carrying potential. Thus, the blood does not deliver as much oxygen to body tissues.

According to the American Diabetes Association, these factors cause PAD to be more wide-spread in diabetics. In nondiabetics, PAD often affects only one segment of a major artery. Thus, nondiabetic patients may experience cramping in only one leg, a condition known as intermittent claudication. However, in diabetics, PAD narrows and occludes, or blocks, a number of sites along the artery and generally occurs in more than one artery. Thus, diabetics often experience cramping in both legs, a condition called bilateral PAD.

If you experience any of these symptoms, it's important that you see your doctor. Remember, if PAD is left untreated, it can progress to very serious stages. Patients are also encouraged to follow prescribed treatments not only for PAD but also any coexisting diseases such as hypertension and diabetes.

Some people are so fond of ill luck that they run half-way to meet it.

Medicare Cuts Could Mean Millions Lose Vital Medical Rehab Services

(NAPS)—About four million people, many of them senior citizens, receive some type of medical rehabilitation service each year. Managed care plans (HMOs)—which some legislators suggest for seniors as a substitute for Medicare—are required to cover all current Medicare benefits. However, when the need for medical rehabilitation services arises, some may find their managed care policies fall short. Why? Because a primary care provider may say such services are not "medically necessary." Many may drastically limit or restrict access to services.

The problem—managed care plans do not always fully explain the scope and duration of covered medical rehabilitation services.

Current law does not require that they explicitly state the content of coverage, disclose incentives for or against use of various services, or provide means for resolution of disputes with enrollees. Worse, future laws may force seniors into managed care plans that may not provide access to medical rehabilitation at all.

Medical rehabilitation can mean the difference between dependence and a full, active life for thousands of seniors. With medical rehabilitation, seniors relearn to walk and talk after strokes, maneuver in wheelchairs or use walkers and canes, tackle speech problems that result from debilitating illnesses like Parkinson's disease, and discover ways to manage the pain of arthritis. Medicare beneficiaries, if offered placement in a managed care network, must be sure to ask for and confirm coverage for these important rehab services.

Seniors should ask for managed care services that:

- provide written descriptions of medical rehab benefits, including a full explanation of limitations on your coverage by scope, duration and site;
- encourage rehabilitation evaluations by a specialist in physical medicine at the onset of an illness or immediately after an injury;
- allow beneficiaries to choose a specialist as the "primary" physician, if ongoing specialized health services are required;
- provide a good "mix" of qualified health professionals to allow seniors a choice in the health care that they receive;
- allow seniors who require specialized health care to obtain it from providers other than those in the HMO "network," assuming they opt to pay the extra premium or copayments as necessary; and
- encourage long-term planning or "life plans" be developed for those individuals with chronic or catastrophic conditions.

Emotional Injuries In Youth Sports

Are youth sports a reflection of society? Can your child suffer emotional harm at the hands of an over-ambitious adult coach, or you?

Sports injuries can be emotional as well as physical, according to Joe Hahn, YMCA program director, who will present a program at St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend on Monday, November 13, on "Avoiding Emotional Injuries in Youth Sports."

The program will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. in the hospital's fourth floor east conference room.

The program is geared towards parents of younger children who are starting out in sports and who want to make sports involvement a positive, rewarding experience for their children.

Hahn will address appropriate ages at which children should begin certain sports, social guidelines for youth athletics and attitudes about winning. Parents are invited to learn how to avoid taking the fun out of children's play, and avoid emotional injuries that could have long-term consequences.

Registration for the free program may be made by calling St. Joseph's Health Promotion Services Department at 334-8268.

Are Teens Ready To Get Involved

By Dr. Timothy J. Dyer, Executive Director, National Association of Secondary School Principals

(NAPS)—Some people—especially parents—think teenagers are only interested in music, clothes, parties, friends and food. But a new study by the Wirthlin Group shows that an overwhelming majority of teenagers today believe it is important to get involved in their communities.

Whether it's being the umpire at a local baseball game, raking leaves at a park or helping to feed the homeless, the study found that teenagers are eager to pitch in and help.

The nationwide study was sponsored by The Prudential Insurance Company.

Results indicate that more than half the teenagers surveyed believe their communities are good places to live. About 95 percent believe it's important for adults and teens to get involved in local civic, charitable, cultural, environmental and political activities.

That's a far cry from the listless, uninvolved 20-something Generation Xers depicted in the news and entertainment media. Survey results show that teens are concerned about their communities.

If this doesn't sound like most teenagers you know, the problem may be that they don't know how to get involved. Six in 10 teens surveyed say their schools do little or nothing to emphasize community involvement. Seven in 10 say their parents don't encourage involvement either.

The survey lays the groundwork for "The Prudential Spirit of Community Initiative." The program works to build interest in volunteerism and community service among young people ages 11-18 and features a youth awards program managed by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Through NASSP involvement, the national awards program will identify students in each middle and high school who have made exemplary, self-initiated contributions to their communities. The two most impressive nominees in each state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico will receive $1,000, a silver medallion and a trip to Washington, D.C., next May. At a national event, 10 teens from that group will be recognized as national recipients of The Prudential Spirit of Community award, and will receive gold medallions, $5,000 and a trophy for their schools.

Want to get your teen and school involved in the program or nominate a youth you feel is deserving of recognition? Contact the principal of your local middle-school or high school.
