Flight for Life Summoned To Highway 41 Rollover

A one car motor vehicle accident occurred Friday, August 22, around 6:31 p.m. on northbound US Highway 41, south of STH 28, in the Town of Wayne.

The Washington County Sheriff's Department, along with the Kohlsville First Responders, Kohlsville Fire Department, Kewaskum Rescue Squad and Jaws of Life and Flight for Life were dispatched to the scene of the accident where three young people were injured.

Scott C. Storma, of West

Allis, driving a 1996 Toyota Camry, was traveling northbound, behind his parent's vehicle, headed for a campground. According to the Sheriff's Department, Storma lost control of the vehicle, and entered the gravel shoulder on the east side of the roadway on the passenger side. The vehicle spun clockwise, left the east roadway, traveled down a 15 foot embankment and overturned, coming to rest on its roof.

One passenger, Mark Storma, was removed directly from the scene of the accident by the Flight for Life helicopter to Children's Hospital in Milwaukee. The driver of the vehicle and another passenger, Christine Pulaski, also of West Allis, were taken to St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend by the Kewaskum Rescue Squad. The driver was later transported to Milwaukee by Flight for Life.

No one was ejected from the vehicle and the passengers and driver were all said to have been wearing their seat belts. The driver was not cited.

Stone Forest Antiques Opening Here Friday

Antique lovers will enjoy browsing through five rooms filled with furniture and country collectibles.

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

Stone Forest Antiques will be opening its door for business this Friday, in one of Kewaskum's historic buildings located on the corner of Parkview and Main Street.

Owners Faith and Richard Mauk have been busy preparing for the grand opening by restoring the 1875 brick structure to its original form, when it functioned in the community as a thriving corner barber-shop, run by long time resident Al Wietor. It had since then been remodeled into a private home with an upstairs apartment.

"The building is in really good shape," Faith points out. "The people that previously lived here respected the character of the building." The Mauks have past experience restoring old buildings, purchased in disrepair and needing a great deal of work. "This one was different," she states.

The couple had been searching for just the right location, preferably something with historic value and ample room to display their growing collection of antiques, including large furniture pieces and hand-crafted cupboards, designed

What's New in Kewaskum Schools?

The 28 computers in the new Kewaskum High School computer lab allow a multitude of students the opportunity to learn at the same time.

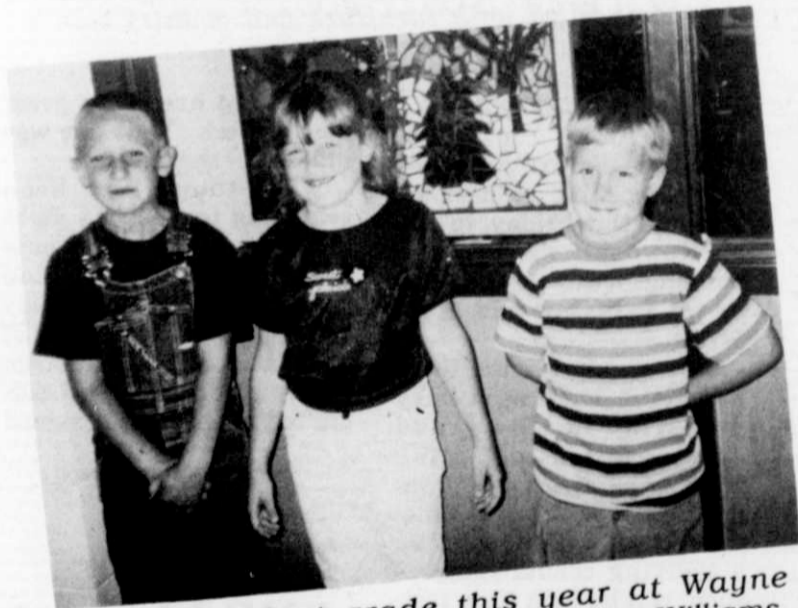

Kewaskum Middle School has a new principal this year, Ken Soerens. Prior to this fall, Mr. Soerens had taught history at KHS.

Mrs. Marschner's new third grade class poses outside the new entrance at Farmington Elementary. The glass doors and sidewalk improvements are designed to increase safety, heating efficiency, and even how the school's entry looks.

Jim Botting takes over the newly-created principal/fourth grade teaching position at Farmington Elementary. Mr. Botting joins the District after teaching in Milwaukee.

School psychologist Mr. Wellskopf hangs his new office nameplate, reflecting the Kewaskum Elementary School theme for the year: "MOOOving Forward."

and built by Richard. "We were very happy to have found a place in Kewaskum," Faith expressed.

Known for their hospitality, the Mauks are also owners of the Mielke-Mauk House Bed and Breakfast, located on Kettle Moraine Lake, and past owners of the Timberlake Inn Bed and Breakfast and Country Store in downtown Cascade. "It got to be too much to have both places," she said, which led them to sell the Cascade business and concentrate on a new endeavor, an antique shop, where they could continue to pursue their love for collecting things from the past.

Remodeling of their new location has included removing the false ceiling in the area that served as a barber shop to reveal the original wainscoting, and exposing hardwood floors throughout the building. The storefront has been restored back to the way it once was with a front entrance and two large picture windows.

"It's been fun setting up the inside to look like a home, with different arrangements in each of the five rooms," said Faith. "My husband says I like to play house, and I think it shows."

An eclectic array of country style antiques are cozied into rooms leading from one to another, inviting you to look around the corner. Hunting and fishing collectibles, dishes, books, pictures, and a wide variety of furniture, are just a few of the old fashioned items available at Stone Forest Antiques.

Richard's hand-crafted cupboards are fashioned from refinished antique wood, and can be custom ordered to the specific size of a TV and VCR. "Most people buy them to use as entertainment centers," Faith points out, noting they fit well with any decor.

The Mauks are excited to be a part of the community, and consider the location an asset to their business. "We really like the idea of being in Kewaskum because of the General Store Antique Mall. Main Street Crafts is located across the street, and I think it's important to keep the downtown area alive with business, especially on this end of the village," Faith relates, adding the neighbors have been very welcoming, and people who have lived in the building over the years have stopped in to share its history with the new owners.

The grand opening of Stone Forest Antiques will take place this weekend, beginning Friday, August 29, at 10 a.m. A firm schedule of hours are still being worked out, and the Mauks encourage people to call ahead to make sure they are there. Their phone number is 626-2165.

"We plan to be open Thursday through Monday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., but I'm sure we'll be here almost every day for the time being," Faith says, and encourages everyone to feel welcome enough to just stop in and browse or say hello.

Memories

A Stroll Down Main Street...

Kewaskum Loses Dedicated Educator

By Andrew R. Kuehl

A wise man once said, "only the good die young," and that theory proved true this past weekend, as Tim Leader, fifth grade Farmington Elementary school teacher passed away on Friday, August 22.

In a letter to employees of the Kewaskum School District Elementary School Principal Kieth Kriewaldt stated Mr. Leader's family had informed the district that he had suffered a heart attack some time ago which went unnoticed. The family believes Leader suffered another heart attack on August 16, which again went unnoticed. Leader returned to work for three days, but was checked into the hospital on August 21. It was at that time the doctors identified the problem. According to Mr. Leader's daughter, "Tim was called to heaven at 7:15 p.m."

According to District Administrator Clark Pearson, Leader had served the district since September 1, 1965. He also taught at Kewaskum Middle School and was principal at Wayne Elementary School for 13 years prior to taking his position at Farmington.

"I have had the opportunity to know and work with Tim Leader for the past 25 years. Tim was an excellent teacher, he enjoyed working with kids and always had their best interests at heart. This is a definitely a huge loss to our school district. Mr. Leader will sorely be missed but always remembered as a dedicated educator," stated Pearson.

A crisis action team is now in place for students of Mr. Leader. Kieth Kriewaldt, Jim Botting and guidance counselor Jodi Mundlinger will be available to talk to current and past students. The staff will also be available at Kewaskum Middle School.

If parents notice any unusual stress in their children because of the untimely death, they should contact their local school counselor.

Until a replacement is found, a substitute will take over Leader's class.

Leader was recognized in 1990 and 1994 in Who's Who Among America's Teachers for instructors who made a difference in their student's lives.

One student, Keith Novotny, remembers, "Mr. Leader was one of my best teachers. I loved his stories he would tell in class."

One thing is for sure, we have lost a very dedicated man. Mr. Leader, though, will always be remembered, especially for the differences he made in the lives of his students.

A complete obituary can be found on page 12.

A patient who suffered from bursitis was told by his doctor to apply heat for relief.

"But, doctor," objected the patient, "my wife says it's better to use cold packs."

Replied the doctor, "Well, you tell your wife that my wife thinks heat is better."

Seefeldt Reunion Held Here

Descendants of Christian Friedrich Seefeld (1788-1863) and Anna Sophia Kobs (1792-1837) gathered July 27, 1997, at River Hill Park in Kewaskum for the 58th Annual Seefeldt Family Reunion.

"Bring in the Clowns," was the theme of the gathering attended by 118 family members. The share-a-dish picnic dinner was topped off with a cake decorated in a circus theme.

President Phil Majerus conducted the business meeting. Phil was re-elected president, with Michael Crass of Cedarburg as vice president, Patricia Hintz of Campbellsport as secretary/treasurer, Carole Keller of Kewaskum as assistant secretary/treasurer, Mary Jane Johnson of Destin, Florida as historian/newletter editor, and Fred Seefeldt of West Bend as genealogist.

Special recognition was awarded to 96-year-old Alma Seefeldt Klug of West Bend who has attended every reunion. Mrs. Klug's son, Harold, of Aurora, Oregon traveled the farthest to attend the reunion. Milton Seefeldt, 88, of Oshkosh was the oldest gentleman in attendance and Benjamin Landvatter, four-week-old son of Neil and Debra Landvatter of Ixonia, was the youngest baby. The newest member of the 90 Club is the Rev. Maurice Jones of Baraboo.

Afternoon activities included games, viewing family history scrapbooks, and a silent auction. The reunion is held annually on the last Sunday of July.

Approximately 15,000

high school faculty members, youth groups, and education organizations nominate students for this honor.

Dairyland Seed Research Team Releases Twelve New Soybeans

WEST BEND -- The Dairyland research team was proud to announce the introduction of 12 new DSR soybeans for the 1998 season. These new soybeans run a broad range of maturities and provide genetic diversity to the Dairyland lineup. Beyond diversity, they bring added performance, stability, yield capacity and, in some cases, herbicide tolerance to Dairyland customers. These 12 new products range from Group 0 through Group IV.

Dairyland's soybean breeding research team is headed by Dr. Paul Sun and includes Hunt Wiley, Bill Campbell, Gene Moore, Bob Campbell, Lorilea Reible and Ron Secrist. The research team introduced its new soybeans during its National Sales Meeting this past summer. The following provides information on these new DSR soybeans.

DSR-065: This Group 0 soybean matures a couple days later than DSR-068 and five days earlier than DSR-133. Entered in 1996 state trials as DST-0805, it took seventh with 65bu/a. in the South Dakota University trial at Frankfort. It is showing a 1.9 bushel per acre yield advantage over DSR-068. It features strong yields, very good iron chlorosis tolerance and the Rpslc gene for phytophthora root rot resistance. It is outyielding Dawson and Pioneer variety 9061 by over three bushels/acre.

DSR-158: This Group I soybean topped a number of their strip trials this past year when entered as DST-1220. In addition to high yield, DSR-158 features resistance to brown stem rot and has good tolerance to white mold. In research trials, it is showing a 2.7 bushel/acre yield advantage over Pioneer variety 9171. It also shows a 1.4 bushel/acre yield advantage over Northrup King S16-60.

DSR-180/STS: This late Group I STS herbicide tolerant soybean variety replaces DSR-190/STS due to its exceptional yields. It is showing a 1.2 bushel yield advantage over Asgrow A1900 and a three bushel yield advantage over Northrup King S19-90 in trials where STS herbicides were not being used. If Reliance or Synchrony herbicide were to have been used in these trials, it is anticipated that the yield advantage would be even greater. DSR-180/STS features very good emergence and excellent standability. There will be limited availability for 1998.

DSR-182/RR: DSR-182/RR is one of the earliest Roundup Ready soybean products in the industry. Dairyland has taken great precautions to be sure that the Roundup Ready products they introduce will have competitive performance. They believe this Group I+ soybean provides just that. A medium plant type, DSR-182/RR features very good emergence and excellent standability. It also features very good iron chlorosis tolerance. DSR-182/RR will have limited availability in 1998.

DSR-215/RR: This early Group II matures three days earlier than DSR-220/STS and three days later than Northrup King S19-90. It is showing a slight yield advantage over S19-90 in Dairyland research trials. Although three days earlier than Pioneer variety 9273, its yields are comparable. DSR-215/RR features excellent standability, moderate resistance to brown stem rot, good phytophthora tolerance and very good iron chlorosis tolerance.

DSR-241/RR: This mid Group II matures one day later than Pioneer variety 9231 and is outyielding it in research trials. A medium plant type, DSR-241/RR features very good standability and very good tolerance to phytophthora root rot. Availability will be limited for 1998.

DSR-271/RR: One of the most exciting Roundup resistant soybeans, DSR-271/RR is the same maturity as Pioneer variety 9273, but is outyielding it by nearly two bushels in research trials. It is also the same maturity as DeKalb CX250b and also shows a two bushel yield advantage. In addition to excellent yields, this Group II+ soybean features very good iron chlorosis tolerance and phytophthora root rot tolerance. In addition to very good standability, DSR-271/RR also features moderate resistance to brown stem rot.

DSR-293/RR: This late Group II matures about three days later than DSR-271/RR. It features very high yields with excellent standability and is moderately resistant to brown stem rot. In three years of research trials, it is two days later than Pioneer variety 9273 and shows a 1-1/2 bushel yield advantage. It also shows nearly a two bushel yield advantage over Pioneer variety 9304, maturing at the same time. This medium plant type has excellent yield potential.

DSR-351/RR: DSR-351/RR carries the Roundup Ready® gene and matures one day earlier than A3304 and has a two bu/a. yield advantage in research trials. One day earlier than DSR-317, it features moderate resistance to brown stem rot, good standability, and very good iron chlorosis resistance.

DSR-371/RR: DSR-371/RR matures one day later than DSR-317 and one day earlier than DSR-370/STS. This Group III+ soybean is showing moderate resistance to both race three and race four of soybean cyst nematode. DSR-371/RR features very good standability. In three years of research trials, it matures the same as Pioneer variety 9392, has comparable yields, features moderate cyst resistance and Roundup resistance!

DSR-417/RR: A Group IV-soybean, DSR-417/RR is related to DSR-317 and carries the Roundup resistant trait. It matures four days later than DSR-317 and is showing a 1.3 bushel per acre yield advantage. It is three days earlier than Asgrow A4138 with comparable yields. It has a large plant type -- similar in stature to DSR-317. A very fine product that should be excellent on those type forest soils.

DSR-418: This early Group IV features very high yield potential. Although similar in stature to DSR-317, it is four to five days later with a 4-1/2 bushel yield advantage. It is one day later and four bushels better than both CX411 and A3935. It also shows a four bushel advantage over P9392 while being three days later. Good standability and great eye appeal compliment its yield.

Founded in 1907, Dairyland Seed Company, Inc. is the only family-owned seed company that conducts proprietary plant breeding programs in hybrid corn, soybeans and alfalfa. In addition to the West Bend, Wisconsin headquarters and its Mt. Hope, Wisconsin seed corn conditioning facility, there are breeding and nursery facilities in Gibson City, Illinois; West Lafayette, Indiana; Clinton, Wisconsin; Ames, Iowa; Sloughhouse, California, as well as winter sites in the southern United States, Hawaii, Mexico and South America.

Letter to The Editor

DEAR AM 1470-WBKV/
92.5 WBWI LISTENERS:

As I prepare to begin a new career path with the Fond du Lac City Police Department, I would like to thank the listeners of AM 1470-WBKV and 92.5-WBWI Radio. During my, almost seven, years at the radio station as News Director, I have met many people, made many new friends and have new family members. Because of those friends, and now family members too, since my marriage, I am sure I will stay in touch with the area.

West Bend will always have a special place in my heart. After all, it was my first home away from my hometown and family and it was the place I met my husband. West Bend and all of Washington County is a beautiful place to live and there are many good people here.

I will miss my interactions with the listeners during the WBKV morning show and the antics with them and with Bob, that made the early mornings go by quickly, and made it easy to keep going... once I woke up. The compliments and constructive criticisms over the years have been appreciated and helped keep me on my toes.

Thank you, for all your support then and now.

Sincerely,

Bernadette Prescott

First Annual Kewaskum Beautification Awards Presented

The presentation of the First Annual Kewaskum Beautification Awards topped the August 18th meeting of the Kewaskum Village Board.

The community beautification awards are a joint collaboration of the Kewaskum Woman's Club and the Village.

Board President Robert Wagner introduced Woman's Club President Gwen Dreher, stating the "Woman's Club was pretty enthusiastic about it and did a real good job. They had some good ideas and helped mold this. It started as a little brainstorm of mine, but I think the Woman's Club took the spirit of it and ran with it."

Gwen added the Woman's Club was approached by President Wagner with the idea the awards would be presented every year. Members of the Woman's Club toured the community and came up with the three categories.

The first award, "Creative Use of Landscape Materials" was presented to Mark and Pat Mueller, who reside at 460 Braatz Drive.

The second beautification award was won by Tom and Kathy Gurecki of 1121 Edgewood Road, for "Floral, Shrubbery and Tree Arrangement."

Marge and Al Zehren, who reside at 1021 Milan Drive, won the third award, "Good Selection of Colors and Lawn Ornaments."

Village Administrator Dan Schmidt added, "As a point of information, we are working on a traveling plaque that could be placed in front of your house outside and then moved next year to the new recipients."

President Wagner concluded the presentation of the awards, commenting, "I would again like to thank the Woman's Club for the hard work they did. I think this is a real plus to the community. It's nice to see people take pride and care and who enjoy working on their yards, because I know how much work it can be. Hopefully, it will spread through the community. We have a lot of nice houses and good healthy competition is always nice too, as the word spreads. You (winners) can be very proud of your properties."

Hospital Therapists Certified In Acute Illness Massage

Certified massage therapists with St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend have received additional certification to perform and teach massage for people living with cancer and life-threatening illness.

Pamela Schall, Karen Hammen and Jamilee Schick earned certification in Bodywork for Life-Threatening Illness, Cancer and HIV/AIDS after completing a course of study taught by Cheryl Chapman, RN, NCTMB, an oncology nurse massage specialist who is a nationally certified massage therapist and educator.

Schall said the certification was important to the therapists because they work for a hospital and because many massage clients with chronic illness look to massage for relief.

"The number one benefit of massage for a person with an acute illness is pain relief and relaxation. It can be effective in reducing nausea for cancer patients who are in chemotherapy, and can speed the healing and recovery process for women who have had a mastectomy," she said. "Overall, it can enhance a person's quality of life."

The therapists are certified not only to work on people with acute illness but also to instruct health care providers, such as a family member or nurse, in massage techniques to lower pain and stress. The therapists are also available to speak to community groups about the benefits of this type of massage.

More information can be obtained by calling the massage therapy department at St. Joseph's Community Hospital at 334-8585.

Included with the new crafters will be Ardis Steep of West Bend who will be featuring the handmade Santas shown above, along with snowmen, beautiful jean jackets, handmade baskets and wreaths. Reserve October 11 and 12 to attend the huge craft fair being held in conjunction with the annual Kettle Kountry festival in River Hill Park. ## Annual Early Farm Days Set for Sept. 7

As the years race by, sometimes we yearn for the "good old days" when life was simpler, or so it seemed, and members of the Kewaskum Historical Society invite you to reminisce along with them at their 23rd Annual Early Farm Days on Sunday, September 7.

The Society's 1847 award winning museum and reconstructed log cabin will play host to a variety of old time displays, set up along the banks of the Milwaukee River at River Hill Park.

Gas, steam, and miniature engines, antiques, farm equipment, old time craft demonstrations, and tours of the museum are just some of the old fashioned highlights that can be enjoyed throughout the day.

The Kettle Moraine Squares will be demonstrating their fancy footwork, and free horse drawn wagon rides will be available throughout the day...just the thing for a leisurely Sunday tour through the park.

Members of the Historical Society will be serving their famous harvest stew, cooked outdoors in a big, black caldron, roast beef sandwiches, hot dogs, a variety of mouth watering homemade desserts and refreshments will also be available, as well as carryouts and fresh baked whole pies.

Commemorative collector buttons will be on sale for a $1 donation, and the money will be used to support the operation and maintenance of the museum and log cabin.

Admission is free for all! The event will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at River Hill Park. Exhibitors are always welcome, and anyone interested in participating can contact Jake Schmidt at 338-1568 or Syl Schmidt at 626-2653.

WB Historical Society Postpones Opening of Final Exhibit

The Washington County Historical Society announced recently that it has postponed the second opening for the new exhibit Agriculture, Business & Industry until Sunday, September 14, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The opening, originally scheduled for Saturday, August 30, was rescheduled when members expressed concern about attendance over Labor Day weekend. In addition, the delay will give the installation team more time to complete areas that are still lacking artifacts and information. Volunteers interested in assisting with the project should call Dan Smith at 335-4678.

New elements of the exhibit include completed text and labels, reproductions from the Society's historical photo collection and additional artifact displays for local businesses and industries from the turn of the century to the present. Specifically, new artifact additions include: a unique cord-wood saw manufactured circa 1915 by Gehl Brothers in West Bend, a corn husker produced by Rimmel Brothers of Kewaskum, a 1912 gasoline engine assembled by the Standard Machinery Company located in Schleisingerville, and a barber chair used at the Knippel Barber Shop, West Bend.

By Sunday, September 14, an accompanying catalog of essays and photos may also be available for purchase. A limited number of the catalogs will be printed, but advance orders can be reserved on Sunday.

The exhibit itself is free and the public is invited to attend. The Society's annual Ice Cream Social will also be held in conjunction with the opening. Baked goodies, ice cream, coffee and other refreshments will be offered for a nominal fee. Volunteers will be on hand to pass out information about other upcoming events, membership or volunteering, to give guided tours of the building and other exhibits like Heroes Remembered, to provide research assistance in their research center, and to help visitors select a perfect gift or keepsake from the Treasurer's Vault Gift Shop.

Sturgeon Management Plan Being Developed Statewide

OSHKOSH -- A comprehensive management plan for the sturgeon resources of Wisconsin aimed at ensuring the state remains one of the world's leaders in management of these prehistoric fish is currently under development by a group of more than 30 sturgeon experts and public sturgeon enthusiasts.

The group has been working since last January and is scheduled to finish its work by December, according to Karl Scheidegger of the DNR Bureau of Fisheries and Habitat Protection.

"Wisconsin is home to some of the best natural sturgeon populations in the world," Scheidegger said. "This is a result of decades of stringent regulations on harvest and ban on commercialization of the species."

Because sturgeon are a long lived, late maturing fish, their population can be easily hurt by overharvest, habitat loss and commercialization, he said. Most other states and countries around the world have seen their sturgeon stocks decline or go extinct over the last 50 to 100 years.

"We are very proud of our sturgeon populations and management program here in Wisconsin," Scheidegger said, "but we have worked hard for decades to protect this fragile fish and retain the fisheries that we have."

The new Sturgeon Management Plan calls for careful monitoring of current sturgeon population and fisheries in Wisconsin, preservation and enhancement of critical habitat, continuation of the ban on commercialization of sturgeon, restoration of remnant populations, and continued public involvement. The plan also calls for continuation of the state's recreational fisheries, such as winter spearing on Lake Winnebago and the fall hook-and-line season on other inland waters, but that monitoring of these fisheries be increased to ensure that overharvest does not occur of this unique resource.

"Delegates from 20 countries in Europe, Asia and North America at a recent International Symposium on Sturgeon held in Italy in July found that the Wisconsin sturgeon populations are the best remaining naturally reproduced populations in the world," said Ron Bruch, DNR Lake Winnebago fisheries manager who represented the state at the conference. "Wisconsin's sturgeon management program has become the worldwide model for management of this group of fishes."

Anglers Asked to Donate Organs of Fish Caught Sturgeon Season Opens Sept. 6

POYNETTE -- The 1997 statewide hook and line sturgeon season will open on Saturday, September 6, and run through October 15.

There is a 50-inch minimum length limit and season bag limit of one fish. Anglers are also required to pick up a free registration tag prior to the season and register any fish they catch by the next day. Hook-and-line fishing for sturgeon is prohibited on certain rivers and lakes in order to protect the species. Anglers should check the 1997-98 Guide to Wisconsin Hook-and-Line Fishing Regulations for a list of closed waters.

Department of Natural Resources fisheries managers are instituting a new program this year to help gain information on the sex ratio of fish caught and identify the species' feeding habits.

"We're asking anglers to allow registration stations to take the entrails of harvested fish," explains Tim Larson, DNR fisheries biologist at Poynette. "The entrails allow us to positively identify if the sturgeon is a male or female and they also provide us with additional information on what the fish was eating. This information will help us better manage sturgeon in the future."

The angler catch rate on sturgeon in Lake Wisconsin world, remained low during the 1996 season, Larson said.

"This has been the case throughout the 1990s. Our population of younger fish, which contribute the most to the catch, remains low," Larson said. "Although we are seeing an increasing percentage of fish under 30 inches in the catch, which is encouraging."

Larson said the population of larger fish remains good, due to excellent reproduction during the early 1980s. Harvest, especially below the Prairie du Sac dam, has increased the last few years, accounting for 41 of the 60 fish harvested in 1996. The exceptional harvest there is due to the high amount of fishing pressure, whereas it has dropped threefold on the lake.

Anglers interested in hook-and-line fishing for sturgeon must first obtain a free angler tag from DNR service centers and other license outlets near waters that are open to hook-and-line sturgeon fishing. Even anglers who are not required to possess a license must have a sturgeon tag. Duplicate tags may only be obtained at a DNR office.

A legal sturgeon selected for harvest is required to be registered at one of the identified registration stations by 6 p.m. the day after it is caught. Conservation warden Steve Schlingen of Poynette, cautions that possession of an illegal or untagged sturgeon is a crime and may result in a fine of $3,000, a mandatory three year revocation of all DNR licenses and possibly up to 90 days in jail.

It is also illegal to catch a sturgeon for someone else to tag or possess the tag of another person. Anyone who knows of illegal or untagged sturgeon being taken may call the DNR poaching tip hotline at 1-800-TIP-WDNR (1-800-847-9367) or contact a local conservation warden or sheriff's department. All information will be kept confidential.

Lake sturgeon can live for 50 or more years. In 1953, an 81-year-old sturgeon was caught in Lake Winnebago. The state record, taken in 1979 from Yellow Lake in Burnett County, weighed in at 170 pounds, 10 ounces.

First Time Hunters Safety Course Grads May Shoot Either Sex Deer

Good news for Hunters Safety Course graduates. On August 21, 1997, the Governor signed Bill AB 79.

This bill allows for the harvest of a deer of either sex by first time Hunters Safety Course graduates. Students who took the course in 1997 will be allowed to use their Hunters Safety Certificate as their Hunters Choice for the 1997 deer gun season.

The following conditions must also be met. First, the date of issuance of the Safety Certificate must be in the calendar year 1997. Second, there must be Hunters Choice Permits issued for the deer management unit the hunter is hunting in.

Some of the units in northern Wisconsin have no permits available. And, finally, it is for first time Hunter Safety Course grads only. In other words, a parent who may have taken the course for a second time with his or her child is not eligible.

When registering the deer a safety course grad need only show his or her Hunters Safety Certificate at the registration station and the deer will be registered.

One important point is that this deer can not be harvested under the Group Bagging Law. The Safety Course graduate has to be the hunter that shoots the deer.

This rule change will be an incentive for older hunters to take the Hunters Safety Course along with a good opportunity for younger hunters to harvest their first deer.

KHS Girls' JV Tennis Team Aims for Promising Season

By Scarlett M. Spagna

The Kewaskum High School JV girls' tennis team has been aiming towards a promising season while focusing their energies and handling the pressures of the court.

Coach Clare Wiedner expressed her expectations of the team this year. She hopes that as junior varsity players, her team will, "prepare themselves for varsity by working on strokes and improving on their strokes."

She has observed that her team has greatly advanced in skill since their first practice. "Their groundstrokes are getting better but there is still a lot of work that they need to do. They started a week ago and they have come a long way since then. Many have never played tennis before. They have gone from how to hit a ball to performing consistent groundstrokes."

The majority of the team consists of freshmen and sophomores. Although they may not have much previous experience, they have quickly developed a competitive spirit that carries on from the practices to the games.

Coach Wiedner stated that, "Tennis is an individual sport but they try that much harder because they're part of a team."

However, not every school in the conference has a JV team. If the competing team has 10 to 14 players, then Kewaskum will play. If not, then they hold practice.

This year's JV players include Michelle Broughton, Beth Herriges, Kristen Kurth, Jenny Wolf, Christa Melzark, Becky Gundrum, Bridget Beck, Kim Erdmann, Stephanie Schultz, Tina Lindgren, Michelle Sager, Cheryl Sager, Ann Bausch, Joyce Wagner, Tammy Gundrum, and Vania Simitchieva.

On Tuesday, August 19, Kewaskum played doubles at home against Sheboygan Falls. The Indians were victorious by a score of 6-2.

"The newcomers on the team did a good job in their match against Sheboygan Falls, considering we only had two practices due to the rain," explained team member Kristen Kurth.

"We still need to work on serving, but we're still a very good team," added Michelle Broughton.

The JV team is much smaller than last year, having only 16 players, but that hasn't been a disadvantage for them at all. "The less people we have the better we are," expressed Jenny Wolf.

She continued, saying, "Even though we didn't have many practices, the newcomers of the team look really good and the people that were on it last year have improved greatly."

The Indians are having no trouble crossing over the boundaries of their expectations. "You think about doing well and no matter what, you at least try your hardest. You lose once or twice or win once or twice but it's the practice that helps. The players don't think they're better than anyone else on the team. They help each other out during practice and they work hard," Jenny Wolf concluded.

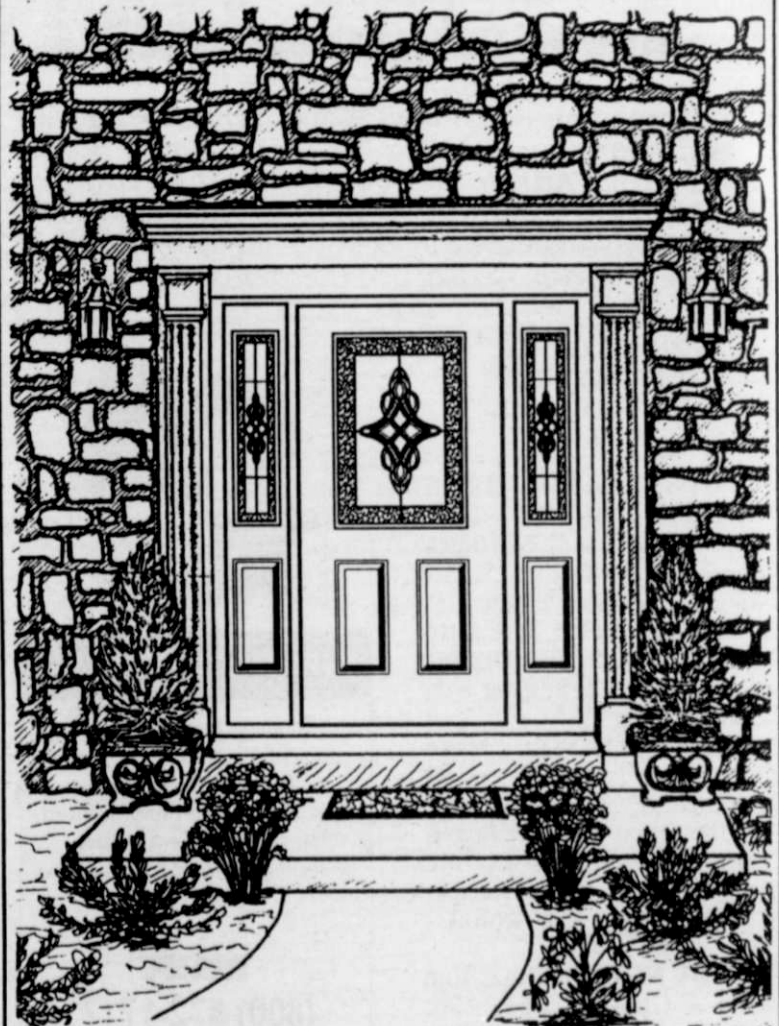

Newcomers are very dedicated to contributing considerable time and effort to the sport. As commented by Michelle Sager, "Even though I'm a senior and I just joined for the first year, I'm having a really great time. I wish I would have joined sooner."

Tina Lindgren added, "I met some nice people and I'm learning a lot."

The JV girls tennis team plans to take their confidence and enthusiasm to every game this season.
