District Facilities Planning Committee Reports Evaluations to School Board

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The seven members of the Kewaskum school board nodded in agreement as they listened to the Facilities Planning Committee discuss the many frustrations and roadblocks they had encountered while trying to come up with some concrete plans for the future of the school district.

"We had difficulty with the very same issues," Board President Jean Goedden told the group as they gathered in the high school library on November 4 to review the committee's findings after six months of research.

Working from a task list received from the board last April, the committee emphasized, "they were not spoon fed anything" from reams of data that included enrollment, land use, traffic flow, previous facilities studies, surveys, model assessments with the architect, bus routes, and SEWRPC reports.

"The process has been slow and time consuming," stated member Scott Waranius, "and we've gotten a far better idea of why the board could not and did not come to a consensus on a feasibility plan."

Chairperson Amy Pamperin said that the group decided they needed to reevaluate some of the information they received, and modify the original architect plans that called for doubling school sizes to accommodate a 4% growth rate. "The enrollment projections and building needs were too high, so we went back and told the architects to do it a little smaller," she pointed out. "That's why we aren't as far along as we thought we'd be at this time."

Although not always in total agreement, the committee showed strong support in general for replacing the current Kewaskum Elementary School, either on the same site or a new location, reopening Beechwood Elementary School, doing an energy audit on all district buildings and upgrading accordingly, and purchasing land.

The general plans are not fine tuned, and up to this point there is not yet broad based support for only one or two plans, but the committee has worked diligently to bring all facts to the board, both good points and bad, for each developing plan.

The answer to many questions still lies in the foundation of the district in choosing a K-4, K-5 or a K-6 grade alignment. Although the committee was originally tasked to also look into the possibility of K-8, it didn't make sense to any of the group, and the majority supported either a K-5 or K-6 alignment.

Three basic models were presented to the board for discussion that evening, the first one being a K-4 or K-5 plan that would include building a new high school with the purchase of land outside the congestion of the village, moving the current middle school to the high school (housing either 5-8, 6-8, or 6-9), and utilizing Kewaskum Middle School as the much needed grade school.

The new high school could include a state of the art auditorium or auditorium/gymnasium combination for use by the entire community.

This plan would allow for the use of all the district's buildings while at the same time minimizing the overcrowding at some district schools, namely the middle school and KES.

The administration offices could be moved to where there was extra room at either KMS or KHS, and the outlying elementary schools would be remodeled. "This is a plan that benefits every child in our district for years to come," supporter Debbie Donath told the board, adding that this plan could or could not include opening Beechwood, and would require some remodeling at both KMS and KHS to accommodate the new grade levels.

Cost estimates for the proposal ranged anywhere from 21 to 26 million, depending on the extent of remodeling of each building, and the added extras to the new high school.

Donath believed the plan would cost the district less than any of the others in the long run, and was backed by board member Tom Timblin, who thought creative financing may be the key to taxpayer's acceptance of this costly alternative.

"I like the idea of your new high school, but I can't afford it," committee member Lloyd Koch told the rest of the group.

The K-5 model presents two KES options; build a new school at the present location or on a new site. Many alternatives were still open ended in this model and ideas tossed about included demolishing the old part of KES, leaving the rest to build onto, demolishing the entire building and using the land for additional parking, reopening Beechwood and adding to Wayne, and Farmington.

Again, depending on the extent of remodeling, costs mentioned for reopening Beechwood have ranged from $200,000 (with lots of volunteer help) to $640,000 (for a K-6 level plan). Architect's drawings show the addition of a 2,000 square foot IMC and a gym/cafeteria.

At Wayne, a $600,000 remodeling project would also add an IMC and gym, and Farmington would receive the most extensive remodeling package since the largest population growth is being seen in that area. On its 20 acres, the school would potentially hold 10,840 additional square feet, a two station gym, and a cafeteria, for a cost of around $1,300,000.

The entire K-5 model runs about $13.5 million, as opposed to the K-6 proposal for $16 million. The only real difference between the two plans calls for upping the remodeling of the outlying schools and KES to accommodate an additional grade.

The Facilities Committee saw the future of Kewaskum Middle School needing to contain a two station gym ($600,000) and six additional classrooms if it was to continue being the middle school, and the high school, a "gym-atorium," capable of holding an audience of 500, at least.

Plans were still being looked at that would join the two schools with a corridor containing a new IMC, commons, gym-atorium, and locker room. The land east of the school toward the river would be filled for playground and parking use, at a cost of about $500,000.

"The problem with this plan is we're putting everything here again (in the village)," said committee member Mark Heise, echoing the

Yes Virginia... There Will Be a Christmas Parade

For awhile there, it was touch and go, but, fortunately, yes, Virginia, there will once again be a Christmas parade winding through the streets of Kewaskum. Sunday, December 7, is the day scheduled for the ever-popular man in the red suit to make his grand appearance in the Village of Kewaskum for the holiday season.

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce invites all business people, school groups, church groups and all other organizations to please join in the festivities. The more groups involved, the greater the parade will be. It's a wonderful way to kickoff the holiday season, here in Kewaskum.

The parade begins at 5 p.m. sharp with the lineup scheduled for 4 p.m. The parade will once again start at the Kewaskum firehouse, travel down Fond du Lac Avenue to the stoplights, proceed right onto Main Street, turn left on Parkview Drive and then turn left onto First Street for the last leg of the parade, ending up at the Municipal Building on First Street.

The annual tree lighting ceremony sponsored by the Aid Association for Lutherans will be held at the "getting-taller-every-year" evergreen in front of the Municipal Building. More details on the tree lighting ceremony will follow.

There will be cash prizes awarded for the top five floats. There is no specific theme to follow, so put your heads together and make this parade a great one.

If you find you absolutely can't manage to put a float together this year, a contribution toward the parade would be beneficial. Donations are used to help offset the cost of the bands, rental of character costumes and of course, the goodie bags.

If you would like to help support the parade you may fill out the coupon on Page 11 of this issue. Donations will be located adjacent to the Chamber gazebo near the firehouse. Memorial lights may also be purchased in the name of those who will not be able to share the holiday season with us this year. Proceeds from the lights are used directly to underwrite the cost of the parade.

All donations including the Memorial Lights will be published in an upcoming edition of the Kewaskum Statesman. If you prefer anonymity, please state this on the coupon.

If you would like to join in on the fun and camaraderie of the parade, simply read the guidelines below, get those holiday ideas flowing and complete the form at the bottom of this article. Please return the form by November 28.

If you have any questions feel free to call the Chamber of Commerce at 626-3336 or Shawn Roberts at 626-2383.

Thank you in advance for taking time out of your busy holiday schedule to make a Christmas memory for the Kewaskum (of all ages) of the Kewaskum area.

GET IN THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT BY GETTING YOUR GROUP OR ORGANIZATION INVOLVED AND SPREAD SOME CHRISTMAS CHEER!

GUIDELINES:

- Your float entry will be assigned a number, which will be given to you the evening of the parade. Should be placed on the right front of your entry.
- No Santas. Only one Santa allowed in the parade, and that is at the end.
- No candy or gifts to be thrown from floats. If needed they may be given out at curb side.
- Cash prizes for top five floats.
- Deadline for entries must be received by November 28, 1997.
- Contributions will be accepted for bands, rental of character costumes, and goodie bags.

KMS Student's Artwork In Nationwide Exhibit

Standing in front of some of her other artworks, Kewaskum Middle School seventh grader Alison Yahnke displays the plaque she received upon the inclusion of her self-portrait into the national, "Crayola Dream-Makers Exhibition."

A colorful, abstract self-portrait of Kewaskum Middle School seventh grader Alison Yahnke will be one of only 81 artworks displayed in the nationwide "Crayola Dream-Makers Exhibition."

Alison's work, done in "cray-pas" last spring, was one of about 1000 entries from throughout the country. The contest, sponsored but once every two years, selects artworks based on "visual appeal, originality, age appropriateness, craftsmanship, and other factors."

Alison created the piece as a classroom activity in which students drew pictures while looking in a mirror, on what happened to be "Weird Hair Day" at KMS. Her teacher, Ms. Molenda, entered it into the contest over the summer.

"It was my first try at abstract art," Alison said. "I didn't think it was something that would turn out like this."

Alison's piece is currently on exhibit in Columbia, Missouri, and will travel nearer Kewaskum in March (DeKalb, Illinois), and in April (Hudson, Wisconsin).

Alison plans on seeing the exhibition when it comes to Hudson over Spring Break. "It will be kind of cool to see what other kids have done."

Although Alison's artwork will eventually be on permanent display at the Binney and Smith (Crayola) offices, she has received an award plaque which includes a reduced version of her recognized artwork.

sentiments of others in the committee who feel the more the district builds upon the existing village sites, the more they will continue to be tied to it, and it's just too small an area to do that.

Any of the three plans proposed by the committee will solve district growth problems, and the next step will be to fine tune these plans with input from the school board members. "It would be better to decide on one plan because then we can do more to promote it to the community," Debbie Donath pointed out.

One concern for both groups was the reopening of Beechwood, with boundaries being decided according to bus routes. It was agreed the lines must remain consistent, so students would not have to keep changing schools in order to meet enrollment figures to maintain the school.

"If we please every faction, I believe that people will pay more money because everyone is getting a piece of the pie," Tom Timblin expressed, favoring

Farmington History Book Available At the Town Hall on Saturday

After a year-long project involving two committees and hundreds of volunteers and volunteer hours, travel around Wisconsin and Michigan, visits to museums, historical societies, courthouses and libraries, the culmination of our efforts to record the history of the Town of Farmington, Washington County, Wisconsin is available in a first edition book.

The book is 350 pages, soft-bound, and includes nearly 200 photographs, charts, and copies of records both personal and informative. It is our hope that information in this story transcends the intimate understanding of our community to provide factual knowledge of the times covering prehistory up to today. It is a book not just for Farmington, but for anyone to enjoy and learn.

The "coming out" party will be held on Saturday, Nov. 15, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., or until available copies are sold out. Orders will be accepted. Cost: $20.00 Questions: Call Lisa Lickel, 692-2135.

both the new high school and opening Beechwood.

Mary Andera cautioned that 70% of the voters in the district do not have children in school, and requested further cost analysis of the various models. A report from SEWRPC also indicated the general population of Kewaskum is getting older, and this, among various other factors, has to be taken into consideration.

The board, as a whole, was enthusiastic and supportive of the committee's work, with the majority interested in the plan that would give the district a new high school. Board President Jean Goeden asked the committee to take into consideration the upcoming open enrollment policy, which could affect school numbers, if only slightly.

She also requested a tour of Kewaskum Elementary School, open to the public, so the community could view the serious condition of the school, some of which is unusable because of impending danger.

This past October marked the seventh year of Kewaskum High School's German partnership program. Frau (Terry) Rosenthal heads up the activity serving as advisor.

In 1990 Kewaskum was chosen along with 40 other schools in Wisconsin to host students from a partner school in the state of Hesse, Germany.

The program involved 10 students from Kewaskum hosting 12 students from schools in Germany. This summer KHS students have the chance to visit the families in Germany.

Ten of the students were from Kathe Kollwitz-Schule (School) a school that is most like schools in America. The other two were from the Gymnasium, the top school which is designed to prepare students for college.

This year the Germans visited The Grand Avenue Mall, IMax Theater, and the Milwaukee Public Museum all in Milwaukee. They also visited the Capital in Madison. On their ride back from Madison they took a ride on the Ducks in Wisconsin Dells. On a local scale they visited the Kewaskum Police Department, Historical Society Museum and took the opportunity to sit in on classes at the high school.

Frau Rosenthal would like to thank all her past and present host families and says she's already looking for next year. She expressed her gratitude to the faculty of KHS for they have helped to add to the success of the program.

Memories

A Stroll Up Main Street

As we journey on our "Stroll Up Main Street" this week on the north side of the street, heading west, we come to what is now a parking lot for Peace United Church of Christ. However, when the Memories photos were taken fifty years ago by Tiny Terlinden, the location was a hub of activity. It was the site of Joe Eberle's Tavern and Bowling Alley. We had numerous phone calls and notes this week from many people who fondly and vividly remember this establishment. Milly Odekirk sent a photo taken on her wedding day to Joe Odekirk, July 3, 1954. The building is in the background of her wedding photo. She states, "I don't know about the next building, but then came Elmer Klug's place which was a newer place unless he was visiting the one time I was there. That other building might have been his bachelor Pad. Joe had the first one lane bowling alley in Kewaskum. He had beagle show dogs." (The Elmer Klug residence was located east of the Eberle location and was eventually purchased by the Peace Church and torn down for additional parking). Roger Reindl recalls the bowling alley and the beagles Joe Eberle was famous for statewide. Roger also mentioned Linda Casper worked at Eberles, at one time, and that the establishment was very popular with Milwaukee salesmen who made trips to Kewaskum buying/selling grain at the Malt House. During that time period, "Slippery Hank" McLaughlin was a bartender at Eberles. The locals normally requested a whiskey and a beer but these Milwaukee salesmen ordered a whiskey sour. Not knowing what this fancy "new" drink was all about, the bartender put up a shot of whiskey, an empty glass and a jug of vinegar and told the Milwaukee patrons, "There, now you can make it as sour as you want!" Roger also shared information that Joe Eberle was sometimes called "one pull Joe." His expertise at the tapper only required one pull for your serving of cold brew. And last but not least, John Kudek reminded us that Syl and Susie Serwe were the proprietors of the establishment from May of 1953 to July 1, 1959, when the building was torn down. If anyone has historic information to contribute about the upcoming businesses on the north side of Main Street, please send the information to the Kewaskum Statesman.

(Learned via phone call: The proprietor of the Shoe Store located in the building prior to Kewaskum Floral was Oscar Kaliebe.)

Readers Asked to Share Favorite Holiday Recipes

As you bring back delicious memories of Christmases past by baking tasty treats and homemade traditions for family and friends, why not share your favorite holiday recipes with other Statesman readers.

You remember, the wonderful flavors and smells of grandma's kitchen during Christmastime... chocolate, gingerbread, and cinnamon. One step into the aromatic room could help anyone forget about the stress of the hectic holiday season.

This year, the Kewaskum Statesman would like to join in the spirit of the "ultimate baking and cooking" season by asking all their readers to send in a copy of their special holiday recipe for publication in upcoming issues, including our Christmas issue being mailed to our readers December 17.

Share your family's favorite holiday foods with the community to help make the season bright and delicious! We will print your name under your (or grandma's) recipe to identify the holiday treats you make for your family.

Whether it is cookies, breads, candy, stuffing, punch, stollen or a main dish, without these treats, perhaps your Christmas just wouldn't be the same. So take a little of that precious holiday time to jot down those recipes (and if you like, the reason the recipes are so much a part of your holiday celebration). Send them to The Kewaskum Statesman Holiday Recipes, P.O. Box 98, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

You may send them as soon as you like, for as soon as we receive them and depending on the number we receive, we can begin to fill the upcoming issues with the favorite holiday recipes of your family and your neighbors that you might like to try this year.

Please include your name, address and phone number, as all recipe contributors will be entered in a special drawing for a very unique holiday prize. And... by all means, if you feel it would be absolutely necessary for the Statesman to sample any of these treats... feel free to stop in.

KHS Class Tends to Plants, Business

For about one dollar a month, teachers at Kewaskum High School and Kewaskum Middle School will never again have to worry about their classroom plants.

Thanks to CC's Rent-a-Plant, a business developed and run by Mr. Gonwa's second hour Careers class at KHS, a dollar a month (or less) will not only bring a plant into the classroom, it will ensure the plant is properly watered, pruned and kept free of insects and disease.

Teachers from KHS and KMS can come in, select a plant ($1.00/month for a large plant, .75c month for a small one), and have members of the CC's Rent-a-Plant (the Careers class students) tend to it in their classrooms on a regular basis.

The business brings not only hands-on work with plants for the Careers class students, it brings other real-world business aspects as well: bookkeeping, customer satisfaction, marketing, accounts managing, computer skills and others.

"It's good experience," said sophomore Brian Osuski.

And it's been that way for the last four years.

Current senior Craig Trzcinski is the only remaining member of the initial three that started the business in the 1994-95 school year. Craig and his partners wanted to start an enterprise that could use his carpentry skills (i.e., building a plant stand with grow lights), as well as the strengths of his partners, in accounting and farming. A plant rental for KHS classrooms seemed a perfect blend of the students' strengths.

After designing a business plan, students secured plants (many donated by Milwaukee plant rental place Rentokil), and figured out how to market and maintain their investment. They designed advertisements for each teacher's mailbox, and, with donations of discarded plastic jugs from KHS food services, have made decorative pots to house the plants.

"(The students) have constantly taken the money they've earned and put it back into the business," explained Mr. Gonwa.

Business has been booming, too. Since its start in the 1994-95 school year, CC's Rent-a-Plant has expanded to include both KHS and KMS, servicing about 45 accounts last year alone.

"(Every year) more people know about it, more people are telling others," said Craig, obviously pleased with the business's growth.

With more customers, comes more "paperwork." Right now, CC's Rent-a-Plant maintains a customer data base on the classroom computer, with methods for tracking billing and maintenance requirements.

"When the computer's down, it's kind of hard," shared junior Cory Radtke, "but even last year when we lost our billing information, we were able to keep going."

The payback for all this hard work and business organization has been practical experience (plant care as well as billing and accounts management), a good addition to a resume, and, for high school students, perhaps something even more tangible.

"Well," said Craig, "we each get $25 at the end of the year, too."

It only seems fitting, then, that those who work hard to bring some green to the classrooms, should end up with a little bit of green themselves.

KHS Musical 'Fiddler On The Roof' Plays Wonderfully

Tevey (Ryan Rammer, standing in foreground) sang about the need for and the power of "Tradition" during the Kewaskum High School production "Fiddler on the Roof," this past weekend. Tevey's daughters eventually break tradition by choosing their own husbands, unheard of in the peasant Jewish culture of 1905 Russia.

KES to Celebrate Dairy Days Nov. 18-20

Students at Kewaskum Elementary School, will be learning the importance of drinking milk and eating a balanced diet.

It's all part of the fun during Dairy Days, a three-day program offered to local elementary schools by Dairy Council of Wisconsin, November 18-20.

Promotional materials provided by Dairy Council of Wisconsin revolve around a sports theme. Schools will receive posters of Packers' star quarterback Brett Favre, sports stickers, banners, sports pennants and a Giant Milk Carton to decorate their lunchrooms. DCW also will provide classroom materials to link lunchroom and classroom activities for a total learning experience.

"Dairy Days promotes healthy eating habits and increases children's consumption of milk -- and healthier students perform better. Schools benefit by the increased participation in their lunch programs," said Joann Heppes, a registered dietitian and DCW's vice president of marketing.

Dairy Council of Wisconsin is a non-profit nutrition education and marketing association whose work in Wisconsin, northern Illinois and Northwestern Indiana is made possible through funds provided by dairy farmers.

Judy Berger is Chamber Member of the Month

Judy Berger

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

As last month's featured Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce member, Judy Berger is especially busy this time of year preparing her business, Main Street Crafts, for the upcoming holiday season.

Although she claims she is not really a joiner at heart, Judy volunteered to take charge of several responsibilities despite the fact she was a newcomer to the organization.

Since joining the Chamber in February, 1996, Judy has been serving as this year's secretary, recording all the meeting minutes and representing the Chamber as an officer on the Welcoming Committee. "I'm new at this, but I'm willing to learn and contribute," she points out.

Her main focus and commitment lies in the promotion of tourism, and in May, 1996, Judy joined the newly formed Kettle Moraine Tourism Council, working with an enthusiastic committee that designed and printed 25,000 Visitor's Guide brochures and maps that were distributed throughout the Kettle Moraine area.

With only 2,500 left, a second printing is in the works after the Tourism Council took a summer break to re-coup and free some members to work on Kewaskum's Kettle Kountry Kolors festival.

"Tourism is vital to the town and its businesses," Judy maintains. "I wanted to promote this aspect more, especially with the state forest out here. So far, the Council has done a great job with a handful of people who didn't have a clue in the beginning on how to get a job like this done."

Along the way, Judy has met new people and made a lot of new friends through her involvement in the Chamber of Commerce, the Tourism Council, and as a business owner.

Now two years old and prospering within a small town, Main Street Crafts offers a variety of unique collectibles and hand-crafted items, many of which are made by Judy and her husband, Mike, who specializes in the ever popular cedar "birdhouse" benches.

"He only makes them for Kettle Kountry Kolors each year and the supply is limited to how many he finishes during that time."

Some items are brought in on consignment, and the Bergers are always looking for new ideas to bring into the area. Ceramics, dried flower arrangements, canning jar lamps, Door County candles, Packer gifts and wildlife sweatshirts are just a few of the merchandise selections available at Main Street Crafts.

Lately, they've also branched out into antiques, with a special corner of the store featuring old glass milk bottles, a collectible that has recently been growing in popularity.

"The sweatshirts are something new, and they've gone over very well," Judy mentions. Along with Kettle Moraine State Forest sweatshirts, there are wildlife and fall and winter scenes, with the wolves being most in demand.

The Bergers moved to Kewaskum 25 years ago, Judy recalls, when the town "rolled up the streets at 5 p.m." "We've seen a lot of changes through the years, there's been so much growth, including new businesses moving into the area. It keeps getting better every year."

While Judy runs Main Street Crafts on a full-time basis, Mike is employed as an electrician. She credits her success to support from her family, which includes her children, Shari and Scott, and two grandchildren, Jesse and Amber.

non-perishable goods for our local communities.

The Food Drive is the single largest food collection program of its kind in the State of Wisconsin, and has provided over 7.9 million containers of food for families over the last 10 years! Needless to say, Scouting for Food has provided food for hundreds of thousands of families in that time and generated a real sense of community pride throughout northeastern Wisconsin.

Indeed, community pride and involvement have been key factors in this success. From the thousands of Bay-Lakes Council Scouts, scouters and parents who gather to canvas their neighborhoods, distributing the bags, to the hundreds of thousands of families from the 200 plus communities covered by the Council, who provide the food for the scouts to pick up and distribute to their local food pantries. In many cases, the food collected by the scouts is the largest source of food for these pantries in a given year. It provides thousands and thousands of families in need the ability to put food on their table and the security of knowing help is near.

The outpouring of support for the Scouting for Food drive has been absolutely tremendous, and has once again proven how giving the people and the businesses of this area are toward neighbors in need.

On behalf of the Bay-

Lakes Council, Boy Scouts of America, we say thank you! Thank you so very much for your support, generosity and community pride in helping make the 1997 Scouting for Food Good Turn the best ever!

Letter to the Editor,

Thank you for the article about skin cancer on Page 8 of the Statesman the week of October 12th. I hope your subscribers will "read and heed." I had surgery on September 23rd. I had a mole on the back of my shoulder, couldn't see it myself, so I kind of ignored it.

It was malignant melanoma. The doctor says he got all the cancer (I hope so) but I have an incision about six inches long across my upper back. If you have a mole or anything on the skin that doesn't look right, have it checked out and check the mole every two months for changes.

Thank you.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

This letter is directed to residents of the Kewaskum School District:

The Community Facility Study Committee formed by the Kewaskum School Board in May to study, update and make recommendations for our school facilities for the next 10 to 15 years, is now in its seventh month. We have gathered enormous amounts of information on school facility requirements which will be needed during this period and their costs. We will now attempt to determine what types of building would be the most efficient, practical and cost feasible for the benefit of the students of this district and their education.

The one thing that is grievously lacking during these meetings is the attendance and input of area residents. Something so important for the education of your children should create more interest, I would think. It seems that the only people attending these meetings and showing interest are a small group from the Town of Scott, whom I applaud.

Our next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m., November 19, 1997, in the library at Kewaskum High School. It will consist of narrowing the alternatives which we have, to one or two. This meeting is considered important to the residents of this area. We will also consider having an open house at the Kewaskum Elementary School in the near future for questions and answers and for observing the condition of the school first hand.

Please help us in making these important decisions by participating, as they do concern you. I especially would like to invite my immediate neighbors and residents of Boltonville and St. Michael's area.

Thank you.

Respectfully,

Lloyd A. Koch

IN MEMORY

In memory of STEVEN SEKERES, who passed away eight years ago, October 11, 1989:

We think of you in silence
And often say your name
But all that's left to answer us
Is your picture in a frame
We often look at your picture
And your smile seems to say
"Don't grieve for me, I'm only resting.
And you'll see me some day."

Miss you Steve Love,
Mom, Dad & Family

Students Celebrate Red Ribbon Week

Classroom winners in the KES Crazy Hat Day competition await the final contest results. Hats had to promote a drug-free lifestyle (for example, a hat with flowers sported the phrase, "Only blooming idiots do drugs").

Staff and students of the Kewaskum Elementary Schools wrapped up a week of fun activities and important information recently during Red Ribbon Week, reminding students of the importance of making healthy lifestyle choices.

Annette Gamache from the Washington County Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse spoke to KES students explaining the significance of Red Ribbon Week, which was designed to promote awareness of the problems caused by drug and alcohol abuse.

Students and staff participated on days specifically designated for things like wearing red clothes, clashing clothes, inside-out clothes, signing a pledge to remain drug-free, and creating crazy hats with a theme promoting positive health (this year's theme: "Drug-Free, That's Me!").

Red Ribbon Week is a national celebration designed to heighten awareness of the problems caused by drug and alcohol abuse. Wearing red ribbons, as well as participating in the week's memorable activities, helps illustrate the importance of the message of living a drug-free life.

The Just Say No Clubs of KES, WES and FES (students in grades three through five) have long been instrumental in the planning of Red Ribbon Week locally, providing ribbons for students and staff to wear, along with doing preparations for the week's activities. The week is but one of the community services the club provides over the course of the year.

Holding One's Breath

by Ami

The other day a friend, complaining about November's usual cloudy, damp weather told me that to him it was the month when one could do no more than "hold one's breath" in questionable anticipation as to what the weather will be like NEXT!

Perhaps most of us have felt that way at one time or another during this eleventh-month of each year. However, for me it has always been the month of preparation for the on-coming months of cold dormancy...getting ready for the wintry blasts...and settling into a more or less house-bound retreat time.

All of us know about storm windows; automotive readiness; furnace cleaning; and the like. Our neighboring farm folk utilize the November month for the storing of their farm machinery so that come spring all will be right there, up to once again going out on the land for sowing and reaping. And our furry and feathered friends do a good job of joining us for to them November is the month when they are assured that winter truly is on the way and they had better be prepared food-wise and otherwise.

For me, November brings to ones eyes the beauty of all of those earth tones of color...the greys, browns and tans, blacks and whites, golden and reds, russets and faded greens. And what fun it is to come upon the squirrel's caches of hickory and butternuts, and the muskrat's mounded nests! The owl's down-laden hollow tree apartment and the chipmunk's milkweed lined home in the ground.

Indeed, November gives all of us the opportunity to not only prepare for, but also to turn ourselves face to face "with that which is to be met" come those zero and below zero winter days and nights.

Opposite to the cheery tweet of the bouncy chickadee, holding ones breath does nothing more than way-lay time which might have been carefully invested preparing one to enjoy the beauty of shimmering snowladen trees and miles of sparkling snow blanketed meadows.

Always remember the faithful resurrection of spring flowers and grasses; blooming orchards; and baby ducklings faithfully following their mom and dad right into the clear, sparkling spring waters.

Village Board Meeting Minutes

Mid-Monthly Meeting
October 20, 1997
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

Trustee Robert Wagner presided. Trustee Harry Roecker and Trustee Gary Gavin asked to be excused and were absent. All other Trustees Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Robert Stoltzmann, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch, and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the October 6, 1997 meeting were approved as printed.

President Robert H. Wagner apologized for a comment made at the last meeting which was in the West Bend News. He noted his friend and wanted to place children higher on the priority list. It was further noted he talked with the parties concerned and that a basis of understanding was derived. It is hopeful the budget process can address the majority of everyone's needs.

On a motion by Trustee Warren Dums, seconded by Trustee John Kenworthy and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board suspended the rules to take up action on VII. Committee reports (G) (1) review preliminary budget information for 1998.

The Library Director Shellie Anderson and Library Board Representative John Kenworthy reviewed the budget request. It was noted the primary increase is in wages and benefits because of the Library Board requesting the Director going to a 40 hours week versus 30 hours. The budget as prepared, reflects a 6.8% increase and the Village tax levy a 2.6% increase. The request will be taken under advisement.

On a motion by Trustee Warren Dums, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and unanimously carried voice vote the Board authorized the sale of a card index file from the Library to the Campbellsport Library at a cost of $300.00.

The consensus of the Board was to prepare a letter to be sent both to our legislators and the DOT.

The Protection and Public Safety Committee, reviewed briefly the request for a stop sign to be placed at the intersection of Highland Avenue and Stark Street. It was noted the Police Department should continue to monitor the situation.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel reviewed the police departments proposed budget. It was noted the primary increase was routine personnel cost, and in the outlay account the squad car replacement, computer upgrade to CLUES and seed money towards a second MDC unit for the unmarked squad. It was also noted that a remote radio control system for the sirens is being budgeted for equaling $2,000. The budget reflects an increase of $26,066 or 7.2%.

Chairman of the Public Works Committee, Warren Dums reviewed with the Board the proposed budgets for the department accounts noting that the general categories are up by $8,331 or 2.5%. The outlay accounts are up and down from 1997. The Board will look at suggested changes at the November 3, 1997 meeting.

It was announced that a Plan Commission meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, October 28, 1997 at 7:00 p.m.

County Fair Park Livestock Fundraising Efforts 'Beefed' Up

Within days of kicking off the public campaign to raise money for the new Washington County Fair Park Livestock area, another major donor has stepped forward.

"The Fair Park project has generated so much excitement around the County, I knew once we outlined our fundraising needs people would step forward," said Sandy Lang, Washington County Fair Manager.

The official announcement will be made at a press conference scheduled for Thursday, November 13, at 1:30 p.m. at the site of the new Fair Park (please use third driveway off Highway P, for entrance). The 133 acre site is located in the Town of Polk and is bordered by Highway 45 to the west, Highway PP to the south, and Highway P to the east.

The Washington County

Agriculture and Extension Education Committee announced last week their efforts to raise $615,000 to help offset part of the cost of developing the livestock area. Nearly $200,000 has been pledged or donated to the effort to date.

Pledges and donations have already been made to help fund the Show Arena, Milking Parlor and Dairy Barn. Other buildings scheduled in the livestock area include the Beef Barn, Swine/Sheep Barn and Small Animal Barn. The public is welcome.

Student Art Award Winners

MADISON -- The Wisconsin Association of School Boards and the Wisconsin Art Education Association have named Sarah Thierman, an 11th grader at Kiel High School as the first-place winner of this year's Student Art Awards.

Sarah will receive a certificate and a $750 savings bond during the opening session of the 1998 State Education Convention in Milwaukee. The event, which will be held on January 21-23, is sponsored by the WASB, Wisconsin Association of School District Administrators and Wisconsin Association of School Business officials.

The other nine top finishers will receive certificates and savings bonds ranging from $50-$500. The prizes are made possible through funding by the Wausau Insurance Companies.

The theme for this art contest was to depict some aspect of the community in celebration of Wisconsin's sesquicentennial. The winning entries will be displayed in The Wisconsin Center, the site of the convention.

Eighty-nine entries were received from schools around the state.

KES Student Wins KEYS Bike

Kewaskum Elementary School third grader Frankie Cole poses with the bicycle he won (courtesy of West Bend's Pedal Moraine) for his participation in this year's KEYS Run/Walk. Frankie is joined by Interim Superintendent Clark Pearson, right, and KEYS fundraising coordinator/KHS teacher Gerald Gosa. All students collecting funds for the KEYS Run/Walk were eligible for the bicycle drawing. Over $15,000 was raised for KHS scholarships during this year's event.

Convicted Felons Can Not Hunt

Recently I have received several calls from individuals asking if a convicted felon can hunt in Wisconsin. The question usually begins with, "I know this guy that is a convicted felon." In Wisconsin it is unlawful for a person who has been convicted of a felony to possess a firearm of any type. This would include all firearms, including muzzle-loaders. The question that often comes up is, "can a felon purchase a deer gun license and have someone else fill the tag for him under the Group Hunting Law." The answer is "NO."

To take part in group hunting each hunter must have a deer gun license and each member of the hunting party must be in possession of a firearm. A felon not being able to possess a firearm excludes him or her from taking part in group hunting. A felon would be able to purchase a deer gun license but would not be able to shoot or tag a deer during the gun deer season.

As far as I know a pardon from the governor's office is the only way around this for a felon. In some cases a person may have a Court order prohibiting the possession of a firearm. This also would not allow them to take part in Group Hunting for deer. Felons can purchase an archery license and hunt with a bow and arrow in most cases and could fill their hunters choice permit with the bow on an antlerless deer.

More information on this topic would be available through Probation and Parole.

If you have any questions on this topic feel free to give me a call.
