Hwy. 45 Project Hot Topic at VB Meeting

By Lana Harbeck Kuehl

The Kewaskum Village Board found themselves mired deeper in figures as budget work took priority at their November 3rd meeting.

However, other items were also addressed. Under unfinished business, Village Administrator Daniel Schmidt informed the board the plan for the Park and Ride lot on the corner of Highways 45 and 28 has "pretty much been finalized" and agreed to by the state.

Schmidt stated the lot is "basically 23 stalls with two handicapped stalls," and he added, hopefully, in January or February the item would be placed on the agenda, "to authorize this to go out for bids on the project. We want to bid it early next year."

Under new business, Schmidt shared the bad news with the board regarding the condition of the Municipal Building furnace. Schmidt said, "We don't have this budgeted, but we do have money in the Municipal Building restricted fund to cover this. Our furnace over the past several years, we've had problems. We've spent over $3,000 just keeping them up

School Board Meetings Back to Mondays

The Kewaskum School board regular monthly meetings have been changed back to their original time schedule, held the second Monday of every month.

The decision to change the dates was necessary due to several scheduling conflicts, as well as allowing for publication deadlines in the district's official newspaper, the Kewaskum Statesman.

Upcoming meetings are currently scheduled as follows: Monday, Nov. 24th - Special Board Meeting - 6 p.m. KHS Commons and the FTBG Committee - 6:30 p.m. District Office; Monday, Dec. 8th - Regular Board Meeting at 6 p.m. KHS Commons, and Monday, Jan. 12th - Regular Board Meeting at 6 p.m. KHS Commons.

The meeting time will remain at 6 p.m. until further notice.

EARLIER DEADLINE

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday next week, we will be printing and mailing our newspaper, one day earlier, on Tuesday, so our area subscribers (and their holiday guests) can read the paper before the holiday.

The deadline for the upcoming week for advertising and news, therefore, will be Friday, November 21 at noon. If you can bring in your ad or news earlier, that's even better. Thank you for your cooperation.

Board Looks at First Reading of School Open Enrollment Policy

By Sharon Callaway Roznik

The Kewaskum school district's policy committee brought their newly formed Public School Open Enrollment Policy before the board this month for first reading approval.

According to interim principal Clark Pearson, the board is required by state law to adopt a full and part-time open enrollment policy by December, with parents submitting applications for acceptance into non-resident school districts between February 2-20, 1998.

"This policy came on us extremely fast," policy chairperson Jon Downs told the rest of the board, due to the late adoption of the state budget. The first attempt at creating the policy may be more specific than necessary, Pearson pointed out, and changes will be made before approving a final draft.

The policy states the Kewaskum school district will accept two students at each grade level, sixth through eighth, and three students at each grade level ninth through twelfth, to be reviewed on an annual basis.

For the upcoming year, the district will not accept any preschool through fifth grade students because student numbers already enrolled have reached maximum capacity. Restrictions also include expelled students, those with disciplinary action pending, or if they impose a financial burden on the district, although that has not yet been clearly defined.

EEN (Exceptional Educational Needs) students will only be accepted if there is space available within Kewaskum's program.

The new proposal also allows non-resident high school students to enroll in specific courses taught at KHS (and vice versa) if those classes are not already full. This program would be limited to two classes per student.

In the case of more applications than the district has space available, a lottery will determine acceptance.

In turn, district students may apply for full time enrollment in another public school district, limited to 3% of the Kewaskum student population, and only allowing an additional 1% per year for the following seven years.

Board member John Schulte brought up the issue of transportation, and whether the district would transport non-resident students who lived near our boundaries. "It's something we may want to consider," he stated, adding that the board had not yet received a consensus from other area districts as to how they would address the issue.

Pearson related that he had met with the Eastern Wisconsin Conference School Superintendents, and in general they agreed to recommend "no transportation" in the open enrollment program, to their school boards.

"I like the idea we aren't going to be so specific on some things, because I think it's going to be a learning process," Downs remarked. "We may have some things placed in there we find out after a year, might not work, and we might have to make a change." He encouraged board members to study it and offer suggestions for the policy's development.

Students participating in the open enrollment program would be eligible to join in any school district athletic activity, without waiting one year, which had been the previous understanding of the law. Pearson assured the board the WIAA will be setting down a set of rules concerning this policy, but they will allow first year participation for full time students.

The state and the DPI issued school boards a list of dates concerning the open enrollment plan, and Pearson confirmed that districts will not be given much time to prepare for the incoming students from other areas.

"They (parents) do not have to give us a final and running. They have failed on us again."

Schmidt added there was no heat in the building the morning of the meeting and the existing furnace was installed in 1984-85. He secured bids for a new furnace system from four contractors. Discussion was held on the process of replacing the furnace, the longevity of the unit, and maintenance costs.

The board voted unanimously to replace the furnace system at a cost of $12,000 from the J.F. Ahren Company.

General discussion was held in reference to the Highway 45 project which has once again been postponed, this time until the Club members will host a bake sale offering a variety of homemade baked goods and candy. A delicious luncheon featuring hot ham sandwiches, hot dogs, cream of potato and cheese broccoli soups, assorted desserts and refreshments will be served in the concession area by members of the Kewaskum High School Booster Club.

The raffle drawing for the dahlia flower design quilt will be held during the show.

Proceeds from the event help to fund educational scholarships, library donations, conservation projects, leadership programs, art contests for middle school art students and other community service projects.

President Wagner asked Dan Schmidt if this wasn't the third time this particular highway project was postponed. Schmidt stated he believed this was the fifth time, adding, "The fourth for sure, possibly the fifth time it's been postponed."

Trustee Gary Gavin asked, "Why are they making this such a low priority item on their list?"

Schmidt answered, "They don't have the money. It's not that big of a project, it's only three miles."

Police Chief Richard Knoebel added, "I think it's the fact there's not alot of accidents on there. It's a bad situation, but I think that's one of the things that affects it. People aren't screaming enough. There isn't enough general complaining about it."

Trustee Andy Pesch asked, "Is that four lanes going to stop up on H? I thought at one point they were talking about going to the firehouse?"

Schmidt told the board, "What the Department of Transportation asked is that the four lanes would come up to the stop and go lights on Main Street. The Village went back and requested that we keep the parking lanes from the firehouse down and we paid extra, (something like $120,000) because of those parking lanes. But at any point in time, because it is U.S. Highway right of way they could come in and say, 'it is four lanes' and we would just be out our parking."

Schmidt added, "When we had the meetings, the public did not like it. That's why the board opts to go that route and pay that extra money. Going south, it's proposed to be five lanes wide from H to the village limits, at least, and then four lanes down to Weaslers."

Schmidt further explained, "It's basically three miles of road, when I say five lanes, it would be like south Main Street in West Bend where you have the center turn lane."

Letters were drafted by the Administrator to be sent to the "powers that be" urging the Highway 45 project be looked at sooner than 2003.

Trustee Gavin asked,

"Why do you have to wait until someone gets killed in order to do it?"

Schmidt explained, "If you approve the signing of this letter, I've already talked to Betty Pearson from the West Bend Chamber of Commerce. They came to us and asked for our support when West Bend was asking for assistance on 45, and I'll go down and talk to them and try and get them to also talk to the legislators."

Schmidt also added, "I did set up a meeting with the DOT and there have been some adjustments because of the state budget regarding transportation. It was told that it may be possible to get it moved up a year or so, depending on how the funds are."

A motion was then made and unanimously approved to send a letter to the DOT. It was also noted a copy of the letter would be sent to area legislators.

answer until June 5th, of the pupil's intent to attend school in the district," he stated.

Resident school districts will be able to limit the number of students leaving the district, until it reaches 10% in the year 2005-06, after which there is no limit. Also, beginning next school year, if a family moves out of a school district, their children may finish the year at the school they were attending.

Martin Excels Academically

Lucas Martin

High school junior Lucas Martin, son of Larry and Louise Ann Martin of Holy Trinity Parish in Kewaskum, was among the 20 students whose academic achievements in the first quarter of the school year earned a place on the Dean's List.

A student must attain a grade point average of at least 3.50 in order to be included on the list. Lucas attended Holy Trinity School prior to enrolling at Saint Lawrence three years ago.

Saint Lawrence Seminary has a rigorous academic program, and gaining a place on the Dean's List is a significant accomplishment. "I am always pleased when a student takes full advantage of the opportunities for academic achievement offered in our curriculum," said Capuchin Father

Campion Baer, the Academic Dean of the school. "Finding his name on the Dean's List tells a student that he has been quite successful in utilizing the facilities and opportunities of the school."

Lucas's performance is what his parents anticipated when they encouraged him to attend Saint Lawrence. "The academic courses at Saint Lawrence are challenging," his mother said.

"Saint Lawrence is preparing Lucas well for life beyond high school and for contributions he may make to society and the Christian community in his adult life."

Information about the school's program can be obtained by writing to Saint Lawrence Seminary, 301 Church Street, Mt. Calvary, WI 53057, by calling (920) 753-3911 during business hours, or by visiting the web site at <http://www.st-lawrence.edu>.

A Stroll Up Main Street

This week's "Stroll Up Main Street" on the north side of the street, heading west, we finally come to what is "familiar turf." (One out of 30 or so isn't too bad). Shown above is The Kewaskum Statesman which was moved to its present location at 250 Main Street in 1935 from the old Schneider building (since torn down) at the intersection of Main Street and

Fond du Lac Avenue. The building prior to Statesman ownership was owned by Gust Konitz who operated a shoe store on the premises. A bakery shop was in the building for a short period of time following the death of Mr. Konitz. The photo below shows a view of the building after it was remodeled gaining a new facelift around 1960 and it still looks basically the same today. The Kewaskum Statesman was founded by Charles E. Krahn on October 5, 1895 in a small wooden building formerly located on the west side of the Nic. Marx building. In November, 1897 it was moved to a larger building next to Lay Lumber Company, where it remained until it was moved to the Schneider building sometime prior to 1912. George Schmidt purchased a one-half interest in the paper in April of 1909 and became the sole owner in September, 1910. By 1917 Donald Harbeck and Art Schaefer owned the paper. Art Schaefer died on January 9, 1932 and in May of 1933 Donald Harbeck became the sole owner. Upon Mr. Harbeck's death in 1954, Donald's son William and his wife, Marcella, took over the business. When William became ill in 1988, the third generation of the Harbeck family, William's daughter, Lana, and her husband, Dennis, purchased ownership of the business. Marcie still helps out a few hours every week and generally runs circles around all involved in the publication of the weekly newspaper. The fourth generation of the Harbeck family, Dennis and Lana's son, Andrew, (along with occasional help from the Kuehl's other two sons, Dustin and Ross) is also involved in the weekly publication, along with staff members. Four generations... quite a long line of history in the community. If anyone has historic information to contribute about the upcoming businesses on the north side of Main Street, please send the information to the Kewaskum Statesman. (Learned via phone call: Augie Koch called to notify us that the Elmer Klug residence mentioned in last week's column was not sold, but donated to the Peace Church.

Wisconsin Gas Applies to the Public Service Commission to Supply Natural Gas to Wayne Township

Wisconsin Gas, a WICOR company, recently applied to the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSCW) to supply natural gas to Wayne Township. Approval is expected by Spring, 1998.

Wisconsin Gas representatives will begin visiting homes and businesses on Monday, Nov. 17, to take applications for new customers. Piping installation is planned for early Summer, 1998. If Wisconsin Gas is not given approval by the PSCW, all service applications and commitments would be voided.

Expansion plans have been met with enthusiasm by home and business owners at recent Wayne Township Board and Planning Commission meetings.

Pipe Line Construction

According to Wisconsin Gas plans, natural gas will be piped from the St. Anthony area north on County Highway W to County Highway D, west on County Highway D to State Highway 41 and the Walters Building Company. Pipeline will run east on County Highway D to Kohlsville, continuing east to the Cedar Valley Center. In Kohlsville, pipeline will be extended north on County Highway W to Hillcrest Lane, and south on County Highway WW approximately one-half mile.

Gas Service Benefits

Wisconsin Gas offers assistance to Wayne Township

home and business owners who are interested in natural gas service:

1. There is no charge to connect pipeline to any residence if it is not more than 60 feet from the property line. There is no charge to connect pipeline to any business if it is not more than 120 feet from the property line. If it is more than 60 ft. or 120 ft., respectively, there is a $3.00 per foot charge beyond the free footage.

2. ProServ Plus, the service division of Wisconsin Gas, can offer a competitive price to convert LP appliances to natural gas. Also available is installation of interior piping for LP or oil customers converting to natural gas.

3. Wisconsin Gas, in conjunction with Fannie Mae, the Federal National Mortgage Association, can provide low-interest financing for new gas recipients interested in making their homes more energy efficient. There are no fees, no points, no down payments and the loans are unsecured.

4. Any landscaping temporarily affected by gas installation will be professionally restored. This may include grading, placing top soil, and seeding.

Natural gas is more energy-efficient than other fuels and, as Wayne Township residents may soon discover, natural gas simply saves more money.

Residents and business owners wanting more information can call 1-800-315-3505.

Wisconsin Gas, a subsidiary of WICOR is the largest natural gas distributor in the state, serving more than 513,000 customers in over 500 communities.

Campus Notes

Twenty-five scholarships have been awarded by the UW-Fond du Lac foundation for this school year as announced by campus dean Judy Goldsmith.

"We are pleased to see the community support for a scholarship program that supports so many deserving students," said Goldsmith.

The average scholarship grant averaged $500, and the total awarded to students was $12,100.

"We want to thank all the individuals and companies who contributed to last year's foundation drive. Those who contribute recognize the direct benefit received by the community when education is supported."

The following local UW-Fond du Lac students received scholarships for the 1997-98 school year:

November Kiwanis Students Named

Jody Schmidt

Kewaskum High School seniors Jody Schmidt and David Gerhartz have been named November's "Kiwanis Students of the Month."

Jody has been active during her years at KHS. In addition to cheerleading and German Club (four years each), Jody is a two year member of both FFA and the National Honor Society. She's been in Math Club for three years, currently serving as secretary. Last spring, Jody traveled to Florida with the Swing Choir, and this fall she attended the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri.

Jody's also active out of school, especially working with horses.

At home, Jody looks after Belgian draft horses. At her grandfather's business, Schmidt Acres, Jody stops in to help out and, in season, even takes the horses out to give hayrides and sleigh rides. Additionally, as a result of raising such horses, Jody's family (and horses) participate in Milwaukee's Circus Parade each summer.

Jody also shows draft horses -- black percherons -- in competition for Country Heir Farms. She's won several statewide competitions, and she's competed in the national show in Indianapolis, and, in 1995, the world show in Kansas City, Missouri.

Two years ago, she traveled a bit past Kansas City. Jody was selected, with about 30 other Wisconsin cheerleaders, to visit the Down Under Bowl, helping to bring American football to New Zealand and Australia. On the trip, she took in Hawaii as well.

In addition to showing horses, and working at her grandfather's business, Jody works weekends at the Bar-N-Annex, near Mauthe Lake. She's also in the Ag-seminar through KHS, in which she works daily at the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic.

Her love of animals should bode well for her future plans. Jody will attend UW-River Falls to major in animal science/pre-vet.

David Gerhartz is fresh from a stint as a Russian soldier in the KHS musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," just one of the activities he's participated in while at KHS.

David has been a member of National Honor Society for two years, including serving this year as treasurer. He has also been a member of both Honors Choir and Swing Choir for four years. Last spring, David traveled to Florida with the Swing Choir, and this past summer, he participated as one of the representatives at Badger Boys State ("I got to meet a lot of people, and learn a little bit about how our government works").

Athletics have also played a part in David's time at KHS. As a guard, David played basketball for four years, and he has also golfed every year for KHS.

Some of David's other interests include his involvement with Catholic Youth Ministries, and spending time in the outdoors, whether hiking, hunting or whatever. His favorite class is physics, while, although tough, "you learn a lot."

Next fall, David plans on attending UW-Madison to pursue studies in biology.

P.O.P.S. Student of the Month

Rebecca Repovsch, daughter of Mary and Dan Reider of Kewaskum, and Pat Repovsch of Allenton, has been selected as the P.O.P.S. Student of the month of October. As one of the nominating teachers stated, "Becky goes out of her way to be helpful. She, along with other members of the musical tech crew, has devoted countless numbers of hours working for the production. She is a very positive and helpful example to others at KHS.

POPS, the Power of Positive Students, is an international program that was started at KHS six years ago by the Student Council and has seen continued growth through the staff and students at KHS.

A Kettle Country Christmas

Jerry and Chris Goeke of Hartland have their bears all dressed up with somewhere to go this weekend where they will be featured at the Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club's Annual "A Kettle Country Christmas." The fine art and craft show will be held on Saturday, November 22, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Kewaskum High School Field House and will feature many unique, skilled artists and craftspersons from across central and southeastern Wisconsin. In addition to the exhibits, the Juniors will offer homemade baked goods, candy and a quilt raffle. A luncheon featuring hot ham sandwiches, hot dogs, cream of potato and cheese broccoli soups, assorted desserts and refreshments will be served in the concession area by members of the Kewaskum High School Booster Club. Girls Saturday is not the day to stay home and wait for the hunters to return to the nest. Get out and do a little "hunting" of your own! Betcha your hunting will be more fun... and probably less expensive! Christmas shopping... holiday decorating... or just plain browsing and/or nibbling... you can do it all at the Junior Women's Club Kettle Country Christmas Saturday!

Richfield Fair Nov. 29, 30

The 39th Annual Richfield Fair will be held at the Kettle Moraine Bowl in Slinger on Saturday and Sunday, November 29 and 30, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Partial proceeds will be donated to the Washington County Friends for Abused Families.

Visitors to the fair this year will see a wide variety of quality handmade arts and crafts including stitchery, Christmas ornaments, rugs, ceramics, woodworking, live and dried wreaths, quilts, Christmas decorations, wheat weaving, toys, and many gift items.

In addition, there will be a nice selection of baked goods, candies and other goodies. The craftspeople will be wearing their traditional apparel of old-time clothing.

Adults will be able to register for free door prizes, which will be drawn every half hour.

The Kettle Moraine Bowl is located at the corner of State Highways 60 and 175, just off Highway 41.

Admission and parking are free.

Readers Asked to Share Favorite Holiday Recipes

As you bring back delicious memories of Christmases past by baking tasty treats and homemade traditions for family and friends, why not share your favorite holiday recipes with other Statesman readers.

You remember, the wonderful flavors and smells of grandma's kitchen during Christmastime... chocolate, gingerbread, and cinnamon. One step into the aromatic room could help anyone forget about the stress of the hectic holiday season.

This year, the Kewaskum Statesman would like to join in the spirit of the "ultimate baking and cooking" season by asking all their readers to send in a copy of their special holiday recipe for publication in upcoming issues, including our Christmas issue being mailed to our readers December 17.

Share your family's favorite holiday foods with the community to help make the season bright and delicious! We will print your name under your (or grandma's) recipe to identify the holiday treats you make for your family.

Whether it is cookies, breads, candy, stuffing, punch, stollen or a main dish, without these treats, perhaps your Christmas just wouldn't be the same. So take a little of that precious holiday time to jot down those recipes (and if you like, the reason the recipes are so much a part of your holiday celebration). Send them to The Kewaskum Statesman Holiday Recipes, P.O. Box 98, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

You may send them as soon as you like, for as soon as we receive them and depending on the number we receive, we can begin to fill the upcoming issues with the favorite holiday recipes of your family and your neighbors that you might like to try this year.

Please include your name, address and phone number, as all recipe contributors will be entered in a special drawing for a very unique holiday prize. And... by all means, if you feel it would be absolutely necessary for the Statesman to sample any of these treats... feel free to stop in.

Letter to the Editor:

It is now common knowledge that Acting Superintendent, Mr. Pearson, is doing a very commendable job, is well liked and well qualified for this position and lives in our school district. I now feel it's time to give us, the tax payer, a break from another search committee whose record is less than satisfactory.

The acting superintendent, Mr. Pearson has been doing a commendable job, Teachers seem to be happy, the school is running well and the village is comfortable with someone who is knowledgeable and more than qualified. Mr. Pearson would be willing to accept this position for the next several years and help get the school district running in a steady course.

Many people in the village seem to feel the same way. Let's not look for someone to fill this position when we already have someone who is very qualified in the district. The district is working. Let's not try to fix something that is already working.

Sincerely,
Elmer and Betty Hallen

WINTER PARKING

The Winter Parking Restrictions and Snow Emergency Parking Restrictions go into effect at mid-night (12:00 a.m.) on December 1, 1997.

Municipal Code Section 7.04(3) Night Parking Restrictions, reads as follows: Signs have been erected at or reasonably near the corporate limits as provided in Section 349.13, Wisconsin Statutes, no person excepting physicians or licensed emergency vehicles on emergency calls, shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2:00 A.M. and 6:00 A.M. from December 1, to April 1, of each year; provided that, notwithstanding such restrictions vehicles may be parked a period of not longer than 3 minutes for actually loading or unloading of passengers, and provided further that no other regulation restricting parking as to place, time, or manner violated thereby.

The fine for violating the ordinance is:

$5.00 if paid within three (3) days of the issuance of the parking citation.

$10.00 if paid after ten (10) days but before 28 days.

After 28 days, the amount is $25.00 and a notice will be sent to the Motor Vehicle Department to suspend your vehicle's registrations and refuse renewals until the citation is satisfied.

An important fact is the owner of the vehicle is not responsible for the payment of the citation whether or not he or she was the operator.

Municipal Code Section 7.04 (4) Removal of Illegally Parked Vehicles. This section covers the issuance of citations to and possible removal of such vehicles in violation of this ordinance. In addition to other penalties provided by Section 7.04(6) of this code, the owner or operator of a vehicle so removed shall pay the cost of the towing and storage.

Letter to the Editor:

To the Statesman:

The SHARE Food Program will celebrate its eighth anniversary in the Random Lake area in November.

In that period of time, we have had many young people work on our delivery days as volunteers. Some of the Random Lake teachers have been encouraging their students to do some type of volunteer work for their community. The feeling is that giving of your time to help others when you're young can result in a life time of volunteerism.

This past Saturday was a very special day at Share. Shortly after 7 a.m., 12 young people from Immanuel Lutheran Church in the Town of Scott, and St. Stephen's in Batavia arrived with their counselors to help. They unloaded the truck, set up tables, and unpacked food to prepare for the many people who would be arriving to pick up their orders.

This order alone would have been very impressive, but in addition to that they were able to pay for 25 units of food and numerous special bake packs for families in need.

They raised the $500 for the cost of the food through a program that matches volunteer hours for funds provided by Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 2557.

A week ago a group of these students were driven to the Share distribution site in Milwaukee, where they helped bag potatoes as part of their fundraising project. Another group delivered food to shut-ins in the Random Lake area.

When they were through with their work they helped take down and stack the tables, as well as tidy up the room. As they left for home many of them said they would like to come back and help us again. Our regular staff of volunteers at Share want to thank these young people and their parent counselors for doing such a terrific job.

The student volunteers were Julie Harter, Tiffany Beaudry, Zack Wilson, Luke Wilson, Randy Ramel, Jenny Harter, Josh Mueller, Joe Ramel, Travis Siebenaler, Adam Birch, Joe Gerlach and Frank Arbuckle. The parent counselors were Gina Wilson, Joan Harter, Christine Birch and Marilyn Siebenaler.

Hunters Need to Be Sure Of Target Before Shooting

MADISON -- An increase in hunting accidents so far this year is prompting hunter safety educators to remind hunters that they need to be certain of their targets before shooting.

Through November 11, 26 hunting accidents had been reported in Wisconsin for 1997, according to Tim Lawhern, administrator of the Department of Natural Resources' hunter education program.

In 1996, the safest year on record, Wisconsin recorded 38 hunting accidents, including two fatalities during all hunting seasons. For the last decade, about half of all hunting accidents have occurred in the nine-day gun deer season.

The death recently in the Medford area of a 27-year-old man in a bow hunting accident brought the number of fatal accidents thus far to two. The Medford man was fatally wounded by an arrow shot by a twelve-year-old in the same hunting party who mistakenly thought the victim was a deer. The accident occurred at 5 p.m., just before the close of hunting hours there.

"This latest tragedy, and the increased number of hunting accidents during turkey hunting season this year, point directly to the need for hunters to be certain of their target and what's beyond it," Lawhern said. "Hunters are failing to identify their targets. It's not enough to think you know what you're shooting at. You must know with certainty what you're shooting at."

The other two "rules" of firearm safety are to treat every firearm as if it was loaded, and to always point the muzzle in a safe direction. So far this year, juveniles have been the shooters in four of the 26 hunting accidents; the average age of people causing hunting accidents is 43.

"If a young shooter is involved, it's usually inexperience that causes the accident," Lawhern said. "Even though anybody who was born after January 1, 1973, is required to take hunter education, passing that course is only a good first step to becoming a safe hunter. Parents or adults still have the responsibility to nurture this student's progress as a hunter."

Lawhern noted that hunters who are 12 and 13 years old must be accompanied by an adult who remains within sight and voice contact of them at all times. The law is intended to allow the adult to closely monitor the youngster and to intervene quickly, if necessary, before something goes wrong.

Older people who cause hunting accidents usually do so because they are careless, Lawhern said. "People become complacent about safety and start forgetting what they're supposed to be doing or try to cut corners. That's when accidents start to happen."

By far, most Wisconsin hunters have safe seasons -- in fact, the state has one of the best safety records among hunters. Last year, for instance, Wisconsin reported four accidents for every 100,000 hunters, compared to a national accident rate of seven.

School Has Busy Student Council

The first quarter of school is now past and the student council has been hard at work.

The week before school started, the student council held a breakfast for the teachers. The council also held a lunch for the faculty on Monday, October 6, when the students, grades six through 12, had off school.

On the first day of school, the student council handed out Tootsie Pops at each door for all the students. There were also ice cream sandwiches handed out during lunch for all of the students. All the new faculty received plants courtesy of student council.

A student council DJ dance and pizza party was held after a Friday night football game, giving the students a fun and safe activity to do at night. The student council also provided a multi-media light show and pep assembly the afternoon before the Homecoming football game.

In addition to the large events, there are also many routine activities for the students. Once a month a birthday cake is served to all the students with birthdays in that month.

Every Friday there is a non-birthday lottery drawing in which a name is drawn from a container, and if your birthday is drawn you receive candy and other small prizes. Also, each week the teachers nominate Students of the Week. The winner receives small prizes such as candy.

Quarterly Assembly at KES

Principal Kriewaldt addresses students during the recent assembly.

Students at Kewaskum Elementary School attended an assembly recently to update and discuss rules and issues in the school.

Principal Kriewaldt discussed proper attention at assemblies, school pride, taking care of the school, and proper use of playground equipment. He also discussed that toys were inappropriate during class time, and may be taken away following a warning from the teacher.

Another issue discussed was arriving and leaving school properly. He reminded students that when arriving early in the morning, they need to go to the playground, which is supervised.

Mr. Kriewaldt also discussed dressing properly for the weather: boots for leaving the blacktop once snow comes, snow pants for students in grades one and two, and, of course, appropriate coats, hats, and mittens or gloves. Mr. Kriewaldt suggested that students can even store extra clothes in a backpack to wear following especially messy playground days.

Such schoolwide assemblies are planned to help remind students of school rules on a quarterly basis.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK A Time to Celebrate the Good News About Public Education

By Terry Craney, Wisconsin Education Association Council President

Each fall, communities across America set aside a week to spotlight the importance of education. During American Education Week 1997 -- November 16-22 -- there is much to celebrate. More American children are receiving a better and more extensive education than ever before.

In 1921, when the American Legion and the National Education Association created this annual observance, schooling for most youngsters ended after the eighth grade. Less than half the U.S. population finished high school, and a college degree was rare for both men and women.

Today, nearly 52 million students are enrolled in classes from kindergarten through grade 12. Close to 90% finish high school. And almost a quarter of high school graduates go on to complete four or more years of college. Never before have so many Americans received such a high level of education.

In Wisconsin, the results are even better. Wisconsin students scored first in the nation on the ACT this year. Wisconsin has ranked first or tied for first on the ACT every year for 12 years.

More than 90% of our children and young adults are educated in America's public schools, where they get a good head start preparing themselves for the unique challenges of the 21st century.

Despite sensationalist headlines and doomsday reports from some politicians, America's public schools are still close to the American public's heart. According to the latest Phi Delta Kappa/Gallup Poll, most Americans believe their local schools are doing a good job of preparing children for jobs of the future.

The people who are doing this "good job" are America's public school employees -- the men and women who have dedicated their lives to helping children learn. They are the first grade teachers who painstakingly help each six-year-old write his or her name for the very first time, the math teachers who stay after school to help students master a tricky set of algebraic equations, the history and science teachers who assign innovative research projects to capture students' imaginations.

And they are also the unsung heroes of America's public schools; the cafeteria workers who provide nourishing meals to children, the bus drivers who transport students safely to and from school each day, the teachers' aides who work closely with teachers and students to make sure every child masters the basics. November 19, the Wednesday of American Education Week was set aside to honor all school support personnel.

It is these everyday heroes who are the inspiration behind this year's American Education Week theme -- Teaching Children to Think and Dream. Without such dedicated women and men in today's classrooms, our children would have neither skills nor hope for tomorrow.

For instance, in a Jackson, Mississippi middle school, musicians are teaching the blues to a sixth grade algebra class. Learning the application of fractions and ratios to measure musical tempos has helped students to improve their math scores.

An empty room in a Summerville, South Carolina elementary school has been transformed into an "awesome" science lab filled with hands-on experiments for youngsters in kindergarten to third grade. The children learn by asking questions -- and then work to find the answers.

In Milwaukee, a collaboration between teachers, parents, students and the community has restructured South Division High School. Student performance has increased, and the community is now an active participant in the school and its activities.

Citizens are encouraged to take a look for themselves. American Education Week is an ideal time for citizens to visit their local schools and watch today's teachers in action. It is an ideal time for business people to show support for their schools by volunteering -- or donating goods and services. It is an ideal time to remind parents that their involvement can make the difference between a child's success and failure in the classroom.

And, with American Education Week being the week before Thanksgiving, it is also the ideal time to say "thanks" to teachers and the other school employees who have made a difference in our schools, our lives, and the lives of our children.

Hunters Urged to Exercise Common Sense During Physical Exertion

MADISON -- Hunters who have been sedentary for most of the year or have heart disease risk factors should take it easy when they hunt and get help hauling their deer back to their vehicle, state health and hunting education officials caution.

"Every year, people die in Wisconsin after suffering heart attacks brought on by the sudden excitement and the exertion involved in hunting," said Tim Lawhern, Department of Natural Resources hunter education administrator. "Hunters need to hunt within their capabilities, which might mean hunting at a slower pace than the rest of the group and asking for help if they're successful in shooting a deer."

The state doesn't track the numbers of people who suffer heart attacks while hunting because people are not required to report the attacks, as they must do with hunting incidents involving firearms. But scientific studies are beginning to show that "buck fever" does exist and can trigger changes in deer hunters' heart rates and rhythms that can raise the risk of heart attacks for some hunters.

A 1996 study showed that just sighting a deer can cause hunters' heart rates to nearly double. Researchers at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, Michigan, gave portable heart monitors to 25 men to wear while hunting deer. Seventeen of the men, whose average age was 55, had been previously diagnosed with coronary artery disease.

Shooting a deer sent the men's heart rates up well past the maximum rate, which is calculated by subtracting a person's age from 220. The American Heart Association (AHA) recommends a target zone for exercising that puts the heart within 50 to 75 percent of its maximum rate, or 80 to 120 beats per minute for a healthy 60-year-old and 95 to 143 for a healthy 30-year-old.

Study participants who shot and hit a deer saw their heart rates soar as high as 118% of their maximum rate; and dragging a dead deer back to the road sent some hunters' heart rate up to 116% of the desirable maximum and kept it at that level for an extended period.

University of Wisconsin professor Thomas Heberlein and graduate student Richard Stedman found similar physiological reactions in their 1993 study of 10 men equipped with heart monitors while hunting in Wisconsin for deer, waterfowl and upland birds.

Deer hunting produced the biggest jump in heart rates -- from 78 beats a minute with no deer in sight to 100 beats when the hunter sighted a deer to 128 beats a minute upon shooting the deer. Waterfowl hunting produced the next highest jump in rates, followed by upland bird hunting.

"These study results suggest that hunters who have been sedentary for most of the year or have heart disease risk factors should be cautious and not overdo it," said Dr. Henry Anderson, Chief Medical Officer for the State Division of Public Health. Risk factors include high cholesterol, high blood pressure, a history of smoking, obesity and coronary heart disease.

"It's like what happens when some people go out to shovel snow in the winter and suffer a heart attack. They're out in the cold weather, they're dressed in warm clothes, and they're making sudden strenuous demands on their body that can strain their heart."

People who plan to hunt should walk or participate in some other aerobic activity to raise their fitness level before hunting, and should consider hunting from a tree stand instead of a drive, Anderson said. In addition, people should also carry their heart medication with them, hunt with a partner, and not attempt to drag a deer by themselves.

Anderson, Lawhern and the AHA recommend that hunters follow these other steps to keep their heart healthy during the hunt:

- * Check with your doctor if you have high blood pressure, high cholesterol or other risk factors such as smoking.

- * Don't smoke or drink the day before hunting and don't eat a heavy meal just before hunting.

- * Remember to tell someone where you are going and when you expect to be back.

- * Dress in layers so that you can remove clothing when you start to warm up.

- * Take along water so you don't become dehydrated.

- * Take things at a comfortable pace -- rest for a spell if you feel the slightest bit tired.

- * Get help to drag a deer out of the field to your vehicle.

- * Stop what you're doing and get medical help if you experience any of the warning signs of a heart attack -- pressure in the chest, pain spreading to the shoulders, neck or arms; chest discomfort with lightheadedness, fainting, sweating or nausea, or shortness of breath.

Gun Deer Season Opens Saturday

MADISON -- The gun deer season opens Saturday, November 22 and ends Sunday, November 30, with each day's legal hunting half hour beginning one-half hour before sunrise and closing at sunset. Deer must be registered no later than December 1 at 5 p.m.

Hunters are reminded of the closure of coyote hunting north of Highway 29 during the gun deer season, and of the blaze-orange clothing requirements for deer and upland game hunters during the gun deer season.

Passing on tradition and putting food on your family's table are important aspects of the deer hunt, but hunters can also provide food for charitable uses by donating venison. Hunters who would like to donate venison should contact Sportsmen Against Hunger (414) 421-7890 or Sharing the Harvest (608) 578-4483.

Many DNR offices across the state will operate on extended hours during opening weekend November 22-23. Some will also maintain extended hours on the second weekend of the season November 29-30. Hours vary, so call ahead.

There are many hazards hunters need to be alert for to have a safe hunting season. One that may be new to some is the increasing number of new homes being built in formerly empty areas. Being aware of what's beyond your target will help prevent needless tragedy or close calls. Also, game violations can be reported, confidentially and toll free, by calling 1-800-TIP-WDNR (1-800-847-9367).

DEER HUNTING FORECASTS BY BIOTIC REGION

There should be plenty of deer statewide with most regions at or above population management goals. Deer managers from across the state give the following forecast:

SOUTHERN FARM- LAND:

Despite record, or near record harvests in 1996, many southern farmland management units still hold populations well above management goals. Seventeen of the 29 farmland management units are 20% or more above their management goals. Many of these units are located in the southwest portions of the region. Most crops, especially acorns, are abundant this year and deer will likely be found in the scattered woodlots and forests of the region. The corn harvest should nearly be completed by the opening of the firearm season, further concentrating deer in wooded and wetland areas. Hunting and wetland in the Southern Farmland is high and the majority of lands are privately owned so demand for hunting access is also high. Hunters are reminded to ask permission before entering private lands to hunt. In addition, there are several thousand acres of lands open to public hunting in the Southern Farmland and maps of these areas are available at your local DNR offices.

NORTHERN FORE- EST:

Back-to-back severe winters the last two seasons have reduced herd numbers and lowered reproduction. From the high herd levels of the early 1990s we can see this as a return to normal. Most of the northern forest units are near or somewhat above goal. Those units in the snow belt are on the low side of goals. Because of the loss of fawns and lowered reproduction, this is an older herd than it has been. We expect the buck harvest to be down again this year, perhaps as much as 30%. The yearling and the two-year-old classes are small due to the winters and the antlerless permits are lower as well. This will be another late opener, good for possibilities of tracking snow, but unlikely to catch any effective part of the rut.

EASTERN FARM- LAND:

All deer management units are at or above overwinter population goals, and this, combined with normal spring reproduction, should provide good hunting. Many of the units in the Eastern Farmland have bonus antlerless permits remaining, and hunters are encouraged to purchase and use them. If crop harvest proceeds at a normal rate and the weather cooperates, hunters should have great hunting in the Eastern Farmland.

WESTERN FARM- LAND:

Hunting prospects look very good again this year. Deer populations are at or above established population goals in all deer management units. With average fall weather, nearly all agricultural crops should be harvested before the November gun deer season. Acorn crops are good to very good in most areas. Deer management units 22A and 23 are likely to offer the best hunting opportunities. Public land is usually hunted very heavily in these units. Be sure to check local firearm discharge ordinances, particularly if you are going to be hunting near one of the two metro zones 59M or 60M.

CENTRAL FOREST:

The Central Forest Region is the smallest of the five biotic regions in Wisconsin. Deer populations in this region are close to goals. The gun harvest is expected to be less than last year's harvest of 27,000-plus animals. Hunters should see a fair number of deer throughout the region. Success will depend upon weather conditions at the time of the hunt. Bear are becoming more numerous in this part of the state and encounters are becoming more likely and frequent during the gun deer season. If you find a den, please leave the animal alone; don't disturb it, and report it to the closest DNR office.
