Krell to Study Abroad

Krell, an International Business major, will study in Salzburg, Austria, through The American Institute of Foreign Study (AIFS). St. Norbert College students have the opportunity to study abroad in Australia, Austria, Egypt, England, France, Germany, Hungary, Israel, Italy, Ireland, Japan, Mexico, Norway, the Philippines, South America, Spain and Wales.

The Austrian city of Salzburg, with its high Baroque palaces surrounded by mountains and glacial lakes, is one of the most beautiful and elegant cities in Europe. The University was founded in 1622. Students studying abroad may take classes in German or English at one of Central Europe's top universities.

"Study abroad is a personally transforming experience that creates a global perspective and helps develop self-confidence and understanding in students. They learn to appreciate and live with cultural differences," said Rosemary Sands, director of Undergraduate International Education and Study Abroad at St. Norbert College.

KEWASKUM -- The Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum and the family of L.N. "Pete" Peterson announced this week the creation of the L.N. "Pete" Peterson Scholarship, which will be awarded annually in honor of the late co-founder of Regal Ware and charter president of the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum.

The scholarship will include a $1,000 per year gift for two years to be awarded to a Kewaskum High School graduating senior who plans to attend the University of Wisconsin-Washington County.

The endowment fund is being financed by a donation from the Pete Peterson estate and the Kiwanis' Annual Pete Peterson Golf Outing. Private contributions also are welcomed and may be sent to: Pete Peterson Scholarship Fund, % Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum, P.O. Box 154, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

A five-member committee will award one scholarship annually. Candidates will be judged on the basis of their cumulative grade-point average, three letters of reference and a demonstrated commitment to Kewaskum through voluntary community service. The committee will also consider whether the student held a job.

"They should be able to balance the demands of the work ethic along with those of family, school, church and community," said Jim Reuther, Kiwanis spokesperson.

Reuther added that the Peterson Scholarship was established to encourage young people to emulate the admired leader of Regal Ware, who died in July of last year.

"Pete Peterson was a man who came from very modest beginnings to become one of the key community leaders of Washington County," Reuther said. "He not only met the demands of business and family, but he always made time for helping others."

Pat Peterson, wife of L.N., said she believes her husband would approve of the scholarship. "Pete always stressed the importance of giving back to the community," she said. "He was a big supporter of young people and their pursuit of education. Pete would be happy about the way this money is being used."

County Employers Nominated As Wisconsin Manufacturer of Year

MADISON -- Five Washington County employers have been nominated for the 1998 Wisconsin Manufacturer of the Year Award.

PSI/Preferred Systems Inc., Signicast Corporation and Broan Manufacturing Co., Inc., all of Hartford; Herriges Machining, Kewaskum; and Serigraph Inc., West Bend, were among 55 nominations submitted for the 11th annual competition, which is co-sponsored by Virchow Krause and Company, LLP, a regional accounting and consulting firm, and Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce, the state's largest business association.

Winners will be announced at a black-tie awards banquet on February 25, 1999, at The Pfister Hotel in Milwaukee. Governor Tommy Thompson has been invited to speak at the awards program.

"Wisconsin manufacturers continue to accept the challenge of competing in a global marketplace," said Norbert "Jim" Johnson, managing partner of Virchow Krause and Company. "As a result, these employers are recognized as world leaders in many industries, and their success stories provide the backdrop for this awards program."

Nominated companies are evaluated for profitable growth, commitment to employees, community partnerships, effective research and development, training and retraining initiatives, export activity and dedication to quality.

"This program helps illuminate the brightest stars on the landscape of our state's manufacturing sector," said James S. Haney, WMC president.

An independent panel of judges, with representatives from business, government and the media, selects the 1998 Manufacturer of the Year Award winners.

Hollywood Dog Training Secrets

(NAPS)—Pet owners who think that dog training is difficult may be barking up the wrong tree. According to Hollywood animal trainer, Joel Silverman, who recently trained the dogs featured in the 10-10-345 Lucky Dog Phone Company commercials, the techniques used to train dogs for television and motion pictures are the same simple techniques that an owner can use at home.

Here are some of the techniques that Silverman uses:

- Be positive. If you project that your dog won't learn, he probably won't.
- Be consistent. If you're teaching a dog to "sit," always do it the same way.
- Be patient. Your dog may not learn a command in one session.
- Simplify. Break down complicated commands into small steps.
- Conduct short sessions. Have two to four sessions a day for two to five minutes. Never train for more than ten minutes at a time.
- Finish with fun. End every training session with playtime, using a ball or favorite toy.

According to Silverman, just because your dog has grown into old habits doesn't mean that he can't be changed or modified. It's a matter of tailoring the training method to fit the animal.

When training, begin by giving your dog a treat for doing something right, immediately followed by a pat or hug. Gradually reduce the food as the reward.

What characteristics do Hollywood trainers look for when selecting dogs to work in film and television? Qualities include personality, a unique look, an outgoing attitude and friendliness.

Silverman adds that it can take three to eight months in a training facility to prepare a dog for a movie role.

For more information on Hollywood dog training tips, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to 10-10-345 Lucky Dog, 245 Eighth Avenue, Suite 236, New York, NY 10011, or visit the website at www.luckydog.com.

Need to Contact Your Legislator?

MADISON - The "1999 Wisconsin Legislative and Congressional Directory" is now available. It lists all members of the state legislature, who were sworn in January 4, plus other state elected officials and Wisconsin's congressional delegation.

The eight-page guide contains individual maps of the state's 33 senate districts and their underlying assembly districts, and gives the Madison address, home address and party affiliation of each legislator.

The Directory is published by the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance (WTA) to encourage citizen participation in government.

The WTA, a nonpartisan, government-research and citizen-education organization, noted that the publication also provides detail to aid citizens whose municipalities lie in more than one congressional or assembly district. In addition, mailing addresses are provided for Wisconsin's congressional delegation and for state constitutional officers.

To obtain a copy, send $1.25 to the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance, 335 West Wilson Street, Madison, WI 53703-3694. Substantial discounts are available for bulk purchases. Purchasers of 100 or more copies can also arrange to have their Directories imprinted.

The Dow Goes to the Dogs

by Paul C. Becht, Financial Advisor
Prudential Securities Incorporated

Every year investors spend countless hours trying to figure out ways to outsmart the stock market, and the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) in particular.

But in their zeal, investors may be overlooking one nearly effortless strategy that has outperformed the Dow in fifteen of the last twenty years. This strategy goes by many names including the Top Ten Strategy, Dow Dividend Strategy, Hi-10, Dow 10, and Select 10, and is also known as investing in the Dogs of the Dow.

Specifically, the "Dogs" strategy buys an equal amount of the ten stocks with the highest dividend yields among the 30 that make up the DJIA. The yield is the annual dividend rate divided by the stock price. When a stock has a high dividend yield, chances are the ratio rose as the stock price declined or underperformed its peers. A declining stock price indicates the company is out of favor with investors.

The next step is to hold these ten high dividend yielding stocks (the Dogs) for one year. After that year, an individual adjusts the portfolio by selling those Dogs no longer ranked among the ten highest yielding stocks, and by buying those stocks that now qualify as Dogs. Generally, only one or two stocks will need to be traded to accommodate any changes that occurred in the past year.

When followed carefully, the Dogs have proven to be powerful racers, but too much trading or efforts at market timing may make greyhound performance limp. Over the twenty-year period ending December 29, 1995, the Dogs provided an average annual total return of 17.9% versus 14.0% for the DJIA. The best return achieved measured 55.7% in 1975.

Some investors may feel uncomfortable investing the amount of capital needed to meet the minimum purchases of each of these blue chip stocks. That concern should not discourage them from participating in this successful strategy.

Many brokerage firms offer investors the opportunity to purchase shares of a Top Ten or Low Five unit trust, for as little as $1,000. The minimum investment for IRAs, Keogh plans and other tax-deferred retirement plans is just $250.

Before selecting an investment strategy such as the "Dogs of the Dow," investors should talk to their financial advisors about the best option for their portfolio.

Lecture at UWWC Wisconsin Was Vital Hub In Civil War Underground Railroad

WEST BEND -- Wisconsin today acts as a vital transportation nexus for airlines, rail lines, shipping lines, and highway networks.

But author and lecturer Julia Pferdehirt says the state played an equally important role during the Civil War in a different sort of transportation network: the Underground Railroad, which smuggled escaped slaves north to Canada.

Pferdehirt, whose recently published history, "Freedom Train North" details the role Wisconsin abolitionists played in the Underground Railroad, will lecture on the topic at 7:30 p.m. February 4, in Room 259 at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Pferdehirt said she stumbled onto Wisconsin stories of heroism, after reading of the "Righteous Gentiles," World War II-era Christians who risked all to hide Jews and smuggle them out of Nazi Germany. "I began wondering what would prompt somebody to risk everything for total strangers," Pferdehirt said.

She says she soon discovered that, during the Civil War, many Wisconsin citizens were willing to risk all to help escaped slaves on their journey north. For example, she cited the story of escaped Missouri slave Joshua Glover, who lived in Racine until he was discovered, kidnapped and jailed in Milwaukee by authorities

Pferdehirt said more than 1,000 local abolitionists rallied to free Glover, broke into the jail, and spirited him away in a wagon before turning to delay the pursuing police. "Back in those days, 1,000 people was a lot," Pferdehirt said.

Then, there was the example of Milwaukee steamship owner Gillman Appleby, whose ship "Sultana" was praised by abolitionists for smuggling slaves to Canada. One runaway slave in particular, J.D. Green, was being forcibly returned to his owners in Kentucky, when Appleby approached him aboard the ship and asked, "Can you swim?"

Green could, and would, swim, despite the icy November temperatures of the air and water. Appleby slowed the ship's paddlewheel to a stop, and Green opened the cabin window and jumped into the icy waters of Lake Erie. When the slaveowners spotted Green struggling through the waters, they demanded that Appleby stop the ship, but he ignored the demands and the Sultana continued placidly on its original course.

Pferdehirt says the stories of Appleby and the Milwaukee abolitionists who rescued Glover are indicative of the depth of support for the Wisconsin Underground Railroad. "There were a number of heroes like Gillman Appleby in Wisconsin's history," Pferdehirt said.

For more information on Pferdehirt's free lecture at UWWC, please contact William Breyfogle, director of University Relations at 414-335-5233.

Special CPR Training Event

In conjunction with National Heart Month, a special CPR training class for a large group will be held Saturday, February 20 at two locations, St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend, and the Chandelier Ballroom in Hartford.

The training will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. or from 10 a.m. to noon. The cost is $5.

CPR is used to help victims of sudden death, which can be caused by heart attack, choking, drowning, suffocation, electrocution or smoke inhalation.

The American Heart Association (AHA) HeartSaver CPR course will be taught by AHA-trained instructors and will teach the nonmedical person how to use rescue breathing and chest compressions to keep the victim alive until emergency personnel arrive. The course includes small-group instruction with hands-on practice on a CPR mannequin and training in the Heimlich anti-choking maneuver. Information on the warning signs for heart attack and stroke will also be provided. Participants will learn HeartSaver AHA recognition. Refreshments will be provided.

The event is being co-sponsored by St. Joseph's Community Hospital, the American Heart Association, United Way and Aurora HealthCare.

Advance registration is required by February 15 by calling St. Joseph's Class Connection Line at (414) 306-7888 or Aurora at 1-888-841-8454.

The prompt use of CPR is credited with saving thousands of lives a year, according to the AHA. The average person who performs CPR is likely to do so at home, where 70 to 80 percent of respiratory and cardiac arrests occur.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Keep Things Rolling Smoothly

(NAPS)—There are few things more irritating around the home than items with wheels that squeak or screech. Fortunately, simple lubrication of practically anything with wheels often solves such problems instantly.

For example, riding an exercise bike or stairstepper can be tedious if the equipment makes annoying sounds. However, a drop of a lubricant such as 3-IN-ONE® OIL can quickly stop the noise.

Parents will be happy when a drop of oil quiets the loud toy that isn't supposed to make noise. It is also effective on squeaky baby swings. A simple chore like laundry may also be inconvenienced by a rolling laundry basket that can be heard all the way from apartment to laundry room. Again, simple lubrication usually solves the problem.

While furniture with wheels is supposed to be easy to move, it may become difficult if the wheels haven't been lubricated since the last move. Sliding door tracks may also need lubrication, however, an application of 3-IN-ONE on needed areas will help get rid of disturbing sounds, make things work properly and prevent future maintenance problems.

Maintenance tips for wheel items include:

- First clean out any built-up dirt/grime with a cleaner such as WD-40 or 409.
- Wipe down wheel with a rag or cloth (do not use paper towels because they will rip and add to the problem), use a Q-tip for smaller wheels.
- Use a drip lubricant like 3-IN-ONE to oil the wheels for smooth movement.

Most household items with wheels will function smoothly with proper cleaning, lubrication and maintenance.

Two UWWC Educators Awarded Prestigious Grant

WEST BEND -- Two teachers at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County have been recognized for excellence in teaching by the University of Wisconsin Colleges system. Both UWWC Athletics Director Thomas Brigham and Spanish Language lecturer Mary Pable recently were awarded prestigious Arthur Kaplan Fellowships.

Pable remarked that few Americans feel compelled to learn a second language, unlike their counterparts in other countries who frequently must study several languages. "In Europe, if you drive 300 miles, you're in another country with an entirely different language," Pable said.

But Pable said the day was fast approaching when even monoglot Americans would need to study another language, especially Spanish. "The world definitely is shrinking," she said, noting that a full 10% of the U.S. population now is Spanish-speaking.

Pable said she used modern media to teach her students foreign language skills: everything from music to Spanish language talk shows on television. "Some of those shows are just like Jerry Springer, only in Spanish," Pable said. "It definitely gets their attention."

Pable, who has been teaching Spanish language classes at UWWC since 1996, said she regarded the award as "...further encouragement for Wisconsin students to study a foreign language."

According to Athletics Director Brigham, teaching often is as much about failure as it is about success.

"A lot of people are caught up in the idea that you've got to be successful right now, every time," he said. "But I try and teach them that failure is part of the whole process of success."

Brigham, who has coached most of the college's sports teams, as well as taught physical education in the classroom, said he doesn't try and single out star athletes in his programs. "I simply try and set an environment where all student athletes can improve their skills," he said.

Brigham has frequently been cited by UWWC graduates as a source of serious life lessons outside of the classroom. Many credit him with helping them grow up and become useful citizens.

Brigham says such life lessons are all part of the decision-making process that today's adults must learn. "I simply try to stress to student athletes that success is important. But just as important, is learning how to fail and turning that into a learning experience."

Excellent 1998 Results for West Bend Savings Bank

Richard A. Larson, Chairman and Raymond F. Lipman, President/CEO of West Bend Savings Bank announced at the bank's Annual Meeting held January 20, 1999, that the bank posted excellent financial results for the 1998 calendar year.

At year end, the West Bend based financial institution had assets of $216,363,996 which represents in one year a 15% increase. Deposit growth had a 16.4% increase for the year, well above industry averages as the bank closed the year with $192,456,221 in deposits.

According to Lipman, "The highlight of our year was our record mortgage lending volume." West Bend Savings Bank has long been considered the top residential home loan lender in Washington County, and in 1998 established a new bank record with over $89,000,000 in closed volume. Lipman went on to add, "We attribute a large part of our success to the fact that we are a locally based financial institution where customer service decisions are made at the local level by our bank officers." Larson commented, "While other banks cut staff and services to boost profits, West Bend Savings Bank has been busy adding new branch offices and staff contributing to the growth of the bank. He pointed out that the bank added two new offices in 1998 and is scheduled to open its 11th branch office this spring in Beaver Dam.

A recent survey conducted by Creative Marketing Unlimited, a marketing organization from the University of Wisconsin - Whitewater, reported that West Bend Savings Bank was the marketshare leader in the eyes of Washington County consumers. The survey showed that 22.3% of countywide residents declared West Bend Savings Bank to be their "primary bank" of choice.

West Bend Savings Bank is a state chartered mutual savings bank with ten offices and ownership interest in local companies representing: insurance, investments, mortgage and real estate brokerage service, real estate appraisals and home building.

Wisconsin Dental Association Targets Impact of Frequent Soda Consumption on Children's Teeth

It comes in different flavors, colors and container sizes. For children, it is a tasty and easily accessible beverage. In fact, more and more schools have soda machines available to thirsty students. In light of this, the Wisconsin Dental Association (WDA) encourages parents to discuss with their children the fact that excessive soda consumption can lead to very serious tooth decay.

"Traditionally, candy and other sweet foods have shouldered much of the blame for cavities and decay," said Kathleen Roth, DDS, president of the WDA. "However, soda consumption among families has substantially increased throughout the years, and it has become a poor substitute for water and milk in many households."

According to Roth, human teeth were not made to withstand that type of daily exposure to soda. Plaque or bacteria that have established an active colony in the patient's mouth convert the sugar in the beverages to acid. This acid is responsible for breaking down tooth enamel and causing cavities.

While sweet and sticky foods can do their share of damage, it is the quantity and frequency of soda consumption that is the root of the problem. According to a recent issue of Healthline magazine, three-fourths of all teenage boys consume almost three 12-ounce cans of soda per day, while two-thirds of all teenage girls consume two 12-ounce cans of soda per day.

Alarming, one 12-ounce can of regular soda contains approximately 40 grams of sugar or the equivalent of 10 teaspoons. Drinking sodas at that rate and constantly bathing teeth in the sugary liquid can cause very rapid deterioration of tooth structure in a very short amount of time.

"Personally, I have seen hundreds of kids, between the ages of six and ten, with previously very healthy mouths come into my office for a check-up, and it looks like a bomb went off," said Milwaukee dentist, Dr. Michael Donohoo. "The common denominator in most of those cases was a dramatic increase in soda drinking."

Donohoo said the upper teeth are usually the most affected by soda consumption with most of the decay forming between teeth where it's hard to brush, but liquid has easy access. He recommends drinking soda out of a straw to cut down on the exposure of soda to teeth.

Both Roth and Donohoo point out that the effect of soda on teeth is not nearly as dramatic if teeth are kept clean and well maintained. Brushing and flossing coupled with regular six-month checkups, are critical in preventing a build-up of plaque and bacteria that use tasty treats, such as soda, as a means to go to work on tooth enamel.

"It's really the combination of bacteria and plaque caused by poor oral hygiene and soda consumption that's the problem," said Roth. "We encourage parents to talk to their children about the effects of soda, and the long-term consequences it can have on their mouths. It can go a long way to keeping their children's mouths cavity-free."

Roth recommends parents try to set a good example for children by cutting down their soda intake as well and keeping access to soda at a minimum. Also, keep alternatives to soda such as water or milk available for thirsty youngsters.

Technology For Small Business HELPFUL HINTS FROM EXPERTS

Do You Have A Year 2000 Plan In Place?

(NAPS)—With the millennium getting closer every day, many small business owners already have evaluated the Year 2000 readiness of their business computer systems. Once you have determined which systems will be affected by the Year 2000 challenge, what's next?

Developing a detailed project plan and appointing a project manager to fix or replace the computer systems that need attention will put your company on the right track. You may also need to seek outside help from an industry consultant or your software supplier to get started. Since time is short, experts advise fixing your most important, "mission critical," computer systems and applications first.

The involvement and commitment of the business owner or top management can be a critical success factor. Without this senior-level commitment, the pressing issues of the moment may take priority and Year 2000 work will not get done. Progress must be monitored continuously because issues will arise and their speedy resolution can make the difference between success and failure. Careful records should be kept—they may be required if your business needs to demonstrate the steps it took to address the Year 2000 issue. Plan for adequate time to test the solutions you implement, and like any project, be prepared for the unexpected.

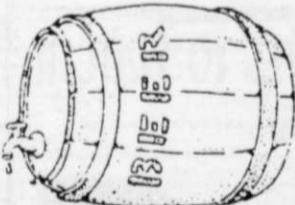

Not only does your company need to implement a Year 2000 plan, but you must verify that other organizations within your supply chain, including your key customers and other trading partners, are doing the same. Consider collaborating and sharing information to minimize possible disruption to your relationships and help maintain your own business continuity.

Treat the Year 2000 project like any other business issue by assessing, prioritizing, planning, budgeting, allocating responsibilities, and reviewing progress. What makes this project unique, however, is the immovable deadline. Businesses cannot ignore the Year 2000 issue; it won't disappear. However, there is still time for many companies to implement a plan of action. Numerous organizations, such as the Small Business Administration and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, are working with technology companies like IBM to provide information that will help companies get ready for Year 2000.

To receive a "Choosing a Year 2000 Strategy" pamphlet by fax from IBM, dial 1-800-426-4329, select option #2 and enter document #9639. The pamphlet will be available by fax until March 31, 1999. Additional Year 2000 information relevant to small and medium business is available at www.ibm.com/businesscenter/year2000.

Financial Department Issues Y2K Credit Card Scam Warning

MADISON -- Telephone scam artists are using concerns over the Year 2000 Y2K to get consumers to give out credit card information warns the Wisconsin Department of Financial Institutions (DFI). The Department reminds consumers to not fall for this or any other scam designed to get personal financial information over the phone.

"A number of Milwaukee area consumers have reported that a caller offered to send a replacement for the magnetic strip on the back of the consumer's credit card to protect them from the 'Y2K bug,'" said Wisconsin Consumer Act Director, Paul Egide. "This is just one of the more creative ways scam artists prey on the concerns of consumers. The message changes depending on what the hot topic happens to be. But the result is always the same."

The scam was first reported to DFI by WISN-Channel 12 News in Milwaukee. The Department urges consumers to NEVER give out a credit card number, bank account information, or other personally identifying information to unsolicited callers.

Consumers can contact:

Wisconsin Consumer Act Section, Department of Financial Institutions, P.O. Box 8041, Madison, WI 53708-8041. Phone numbers 1-800-452-3328 (toll-free in Wisconsin), (608) 264-7969 (Madison area), or (608) 264-7968 (fax), or www.wdfi.org

To report a suspicious telemarketing transaction contact: National Fraud Information Center, A Project of National Consumers League, P.O. Box 65868, Washington, D.C. 20035. Or call (800) 876-7060 (toll-free nationwide) or (202) 835-0778 (TDD) or www.fraud.org

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS TIPS TO AVOID TELEMARKETING FRAUD

#1. Never give out any part of your credit card or checking/savings account numbers to telemarketers no matter what they promise or tell you. If they called you, there is no way of telling who they really are. If you are interested in what they are offering, ask them to send written materials to you.

#2. You should never have to pay any amount to "win a prize" or receive a "free gift."

#3. Carefully review your credit card billing statement as soon as you receive it. If you detect a questionable charge follow the billing rights instructions on the back of your billing statement. Credit card companies are not required to investigate a dispute if you notify them more than 60 days after the charge first appeared on your statement.

#4. Reconcile your checking account monthly and immediately notify your financial institution of any unauthorized withdrawals or "debits" from your account.

#5. Beware of companies that promise to get you a loan or credit card if you pay an up-front fee. Many of these companies are scams.

#6. Contact consumer protection offices to check on whether they have received complaints on a company that you may want to do business with.

#7. Beware of companies that promise to "repair your credit" if you pay an up-front fee. Many of these companies are scams. Credit bureaus will correct inaccurate information for free. You cannot have accurate information removed from your credit report by paying someone a fee.

#8. If it sounds too good to be true, IT IS!!

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Another Chance to Sign Up for Medicare

If you are eligible for Medicare's medical insurance (Part B) but haven't signed up, you can do so now during the annual "general enrollment period" for Medicare from January 1 until March 31.

Beneficiaries who decided not to sign up for Medicare's medical insurance when they first became eligible or those who had the medical insurance at one time, but dropped it, can take advantage of enrolling during this three-month period.

Medicare's medical insurance helps pay for doctors' visits, outpatient hospital treatment and other medical services and supplies not covered by Medicare's hospital insurance (Part A).

The cost of the medical insurance premium is $45.50 a month in 1999. However, beneficiaries who sign up now instead of when they were originally eligible will have an additional 10% added to their premium for each full 12-month period they could have been, but were not, enrolled. If you sign up at anytime from January 1, 1999 to March 31, 1999, your coverage will begin July 1, 1999.

However, you may be able to delay enrollment in Medicare's medical insurance without paying a premium penalty or waiting for a general enrollment period if you or your spouse are still working. You can enroll in medical insurance during an eight-month special enrollment period if you have group health plan coverage from your current employment at the time you first became eligible for Medicare. This special enrollment period begins with the month employment ends or the month your group health plan coverage ends, whichever comes first.

If you are interested in enrolling in Medicare's medical insurance or would like more information, you can call, write or visit your Social Security office, or call Social Security's national toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213.

Letter to The Editor

To the Editor:

Last week it was reported that a record-sized piece of the English shoreline was lost as a portion of coastline cliffs collapsed into the sea. That is a fact. What's interesting is the various spins on the fact reported in the media.

Deutsche Welle, a German broadcasting company, attributed the collapse to considerable rainfall over an extended period of time, followed by a freeze. A logical explanation.

American news service reports on the event cited scientists attributing the loss to global warming, with no mention of the weather preceding the collapse.

Global warming (aka 'the greenhouse effect') has been a catch phrase thrown around for quite a few years by the scientific and political communities. This theory is not new, but the extreme push for the public to buy into it has just begun. You can find a parallel in the teaching of evolution as fact. If you preach it for enough years to all those impressionable minds in the schools, when they grow up into adulthood, they believe it hook, line and sinker. Never mind that these theories-taught-as-fact have more holes than Swiss cheese.

There is no data to support the theory of global warming within statistical variation limitations on an overall worldwide basis. There has been no increase of temperature over an extended (as in hundreds of years) period of time. There

HAVE been dramatic fluctuations that spanned years as a result of volcanic eruptions which spewed great volumes of sun-blocking ash into the upper air currents; or periodic upwellings of deep sea currents prompting the El Nino/La Nina weather patterns we're familiar with; or profound changes in weather patterns as a result of increased sunspot activity cycles; etc.

Remember the old song by The Byrds, "Turn, Turn, Turn"? Well, they 'borrowed' the lyrics from the book of Ecclesiastes in the Old Testament of the Bible. Truth transcends time. "To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under heaven..." (Eccl.3:1 NKJV). Wise old King Solomon wrote those words nearly a millenium before Christ. He also wrote, "That which has been is what will be, that which is done is what will be done, and there is nothing new under the sun." (Eccl.1:9 NKJV).

Sometimes those who are really wise aren't connected with any news organization, or institution of higher learning, or highly-paid think tank sequestered behind brick or mortar. Sometimes those who have tended the land and battled the elements for many years have significantly more insight into reality. The reality is that only God is in control and only He knows what will come to pass. As much as men think they're in the driver's seat, we're really only along for the ride. The destination and route are totally in the hands of God. We can choose to either enjoy the ride or wear ourselves out trying to change the Unchangeable.

Three In A Row for JV Girls

The Kewaskum JV girls basketball team started their winning streak by beating Plymouth on January 12. They won their next two games against Sheboygan Falls, and non-conference opponent Random Lake to continue their streak to three games.

Kewaskum took control in the first quarter against Sheboygan Falls on Friday, January 15. Kewaskum's defensive play held Sheboygan Falls to five points. The Indians scored 12 points against the Falcons in the first quarter.

The Falcons 11 points scored in the second quarter was not enough to keep up with the Indians who led 21-16. Sheboygan Falls outscored Kewaskum in the third quarter, narrowing the game to only three points, 26-23. Kewaskum's free throw shooting in the fourth quarter boosted them ahead to win, 38-27. They were 8 for 12 at the free throw line.

High scorer for Kewaskum was Molly Strobel with 11 points, Emily Rinzel followed with nine points. Kewaskum towered over Sheboygan Falls on rebounds. Emmy Foerster led Kewaskum with nine rebounds. Molly Strobel and Lynn Wiesner each had eight rebounds. Wiesner had four steals and three assists. Bridget Polzean blocked three shots.

Sheboygan Fall's Servant led her team with 14 points, including two three-pointers.

On Tuesday, January 19, Kewaskum played a strong game to defeat Random Lake, 38-26. Again Kewaskum's defensive efforts controlled the game. Kewaskum held Random Lake to only two points in the first quarter and four points in the second quarter.

Kewaskum took advantage of the opportunity, and outscored Random Lake in both quarters in the first half. Kewaskum finished the first half leading, 21-6. Random Lake made a comeback in the second half by outscoring Kewaskum in both quarters. However, it was not enough to change the outcome of the game.

Kewaskum had a good team effort put forth on scoring. Ten of the 13 players on the team scored. Rebounds and steals were also spread out among the team. Coach Dan Ross commented, "I am very happy about the team effort put forth by the players."

Random Lake's high scorer was Holly Eischer with 12 points.

Lynn Breaks 3,000 M Record at Carroll College

Marni Lynn, former Kewaskum High School cross country and track standout, broke the Carroll College indoor 3,000m run record on Saturday, January 23, at her first indoor meet of the season at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

Lynn finished second in the event with a school record time of 10:33.75. The winning time was 10:28 for a runner from UW-White-water.

"I didn't plan on breaking any records. I just wanted to be able to walk after the race," commented Lynn on the phone after the race. "The coaches were really excited," reported Lynn, now a sophomore at Carroll College.

Lynn, who was slowed at the end of the cross country season due to injury and fatigue, seems more than ready to return to her old form after this confidence booster. Good luck to Marni on the rest of her track season.

Lady Indians Split in Two Battles

In their previous two contests, the Kewaskum Lady Indians beat Random Lake, 47-33, and then lost to Kiel, 34-25. In the first of the two, the Indians were plagued with turnovers, while in their loss, the number of TO's were few, and they outplayed Kiel in every aspect of the game.

The Random Lake Rams came for a little visit in Kewaskum on January 19.

Frosh Boys Fall To Falcons, 57-37

On Tuesday, January 19, the Kewaskum boys freshman basketball team traveled to Sheboygan Falls. It was a hard fought battle but the team lost by a score of 57-37. Once again the squad faced a much taller team.

They played fairly even in the first quarter with the score being 12-9, and the half ending at 26-19. The start of the third quarter looked very promising in that the boys tied the game at 26 all.

Unfortunately Falls inside game could not be stopped, and the third quarter ended at 43-31. The young Indians tried to play catch-up in the fourth quarter and had to foul to stop the clock. The Falcons did not miss many free throws and the final score was 57-37.

Leading the way for the Indians was Josh Repovsch with 17 points, including one three-pointer. He also led in the rebounding category with five. Luke Kehres was next with eight points. Bryan Kraft had seven and also added three steals. Nick Thorn had three points and Brian Cotter chipped in with two.

The Indians played on Tuesday, January 26, at Kiel in a game that was postponed because of weather from Friday, January 22. They are on the road again on Thursday, January 28, at Chilton.

The end of the first quarter saw the Indians beating them, 17-8. The second quarter was a bit more even, with Kewaskum outscoring Random, 9-8. This period wasn't very pretty for the Indians, since they had 17 turnovers. Every time they got a steal, it was as if they just handed the ball back to the Rams. They were also pressed, and seemed a bit panicky about it. But, in any case, they went into the locker room with a 26-16 lead. At this point in the game, point guard Jenny Kraft already had 11 points.

In the third quarter, shooting guard Laura Schwinn picked up right where Kraft left off, scoring 11 points in that period alone. Sarah Williams had four steals in the same amount of time. The Indians went into the final eight minutes with a 39-27 lead. They were somewhat slow offensively, with Kewaskum only scoring eight to Random Lake's six. The result was a win for K-town.

L. Schwinn and Kraft led Kewaskum with 13 points apiece. S. Schwinn chipped in with nine for the Indians. Schwinn also had 12 rebounds. Amy Piwoni had four assists for Kewaskum. Williams ended up with five steals. Sarah Fahney led Random Lake with 13 points.

A few days later, the girls traveled to Kiel for a rematch of the previous, 57-47 win they had gotten at home. Kewaskum turned out their best defense of the season to date in the matchup. Unfortunately, defense wasn't enough to get past the Raiders. The ladies usually score around 50 or so, points a game, which is obviously much more than the 25 they scored at Kiel.

If there is such a thing as a positive loss, however, this was it. Kewaskum only had 17 turnovers, 11 steals, and they outrebounded Kiel, 34-26.

The first quarter is the one that killed the girls the most, scoring only two points. They went into the locker room at the half only trailing by five. Kewaskum held Kiel to two points in the third quarter, and it was all tied up, 19-19, going into the final stanza. Kiel got the upper hand there, and walked away with a win.

S. Schwinn and Jenny Kraft led Kewaskum in scoring with five points each. Schwinn also had 12 rebounds, and Kraft added four steals and three assists. L. Schwinn, Heather Rieder, and S. Schwinn each had two steals. Sarah Voland had nine points for Kiel.

Kewaskum's next game is January 29 vs. Chilton. It's at home, and it will be Parents' Night. The freshmen and JV will start at 6 p.m. with the Varsity to follow.

Indians Win at Sheboygan Falls

The Kewaskum boys varsity basketball team finally chalked up a "W" last Tuesday night against Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe, Sheboygan Falls.

"It's good to see the kids smiling again. We've been playing well lately, you can see our confidence coming back," Coach Tom Timblin reported.

After a tough one point loss a few days earlier, the coaching staff challenged its seniors to execute defensively and cut down on the mental errors.

Kevin Miller, a 6'1" sophomore, was elevated to the varsity for the remainder of the season to replace Aaron Seiser, who is out indefinitely with a severely sprained ankle.

The Indians had some early trouble with the Falcon's 2-2-1 full court press that they employed the entire game. After some adjustments, Kewaskum was able to consistently break the press and get some good looks at the basket.

John Warnecke, scoring 12 points, and his teammates, Kevin Miller who netted his first two varsity baskets and Shaun Timblin with four points, helped knot the score at halftime at 22-22.

The third quarter saw Chris Koth scorch the nets for four three-pointers.

Todd Wright also chipped in with two baskets as the Indians took a six point lead into the final stanza.

Koth wasn't through yet, making two more long range bombs in the fourth quarter. Warnecke helped seal the victory with late free throws, as he connected on 8-10.

The final buzzer saw the Indians hold on for a convincing 58-47 road victory. Warnecke pumped in 22 points with eight rebounds, Koth tallied 19 with three steals and Timblin added six points and 12 rebounds.

"It was a real team victory. Everyone on the roster contributed including Josh Gaffke, Billy Cook and Andy Christophersen," Coach Timblin explained. "Our defensive rotations were sharp tonight. John was solid again, Chris was six for six from long range in the second half and Shaun worked real hard on the boards."

The Indians travel to Chilton on Friday night.
