Wiseguys Opens Friday

By Laurie Ottery
Staff Writer/Photographer

Five businessmen, Squabby, Cheeser, Baggs, Soup Chicken and Powder went out one night with their better halves and had dinner. After enjoying a good meal they were left with the question many of us experience, "Where is there to go?"

They made a visit to Schmitt's Never Inn on Fond du Lac Avenue. There had been talk of it being for sale. Upon inquiry they were told that a buyer had already started the necessary paperwork to purchase it. The men said to let them know if the deal didn't go through.

It wasn't long after that the unexpected phone call came letting them know that the buyer had backed out. The men held their first committee meeting and decided to purchase the property.

"We had stopped at Schmitt's on a whim," said Baggs, better known as Dave Gruber. "We all had similar plans for the kind of place we wanted. Our dream was a spacious building that would have enough room for groups of people, all ages, to go out and have a good time."

Gruber, along with Squabby (Dave Donath), Cheeser (Jim Donath), Soup Chicken (Terry Ziegelbauer) and Powder (Brian Larsen) made all of their decisions by committee.

"With five different sets of ideas most people would think it would be difficult to agree on anything," said Gruber. "For us we were able to compliment one another and everything just fell into place."

Wiseguys will be opening on July 9 at 1273 Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum. Their slogan is "A different kind of place for all kinds of people." The owners are hoping all ages feel comfortable to come and enjoy.

"We decided to not be a sports type of bar," said Gruber. "There are other places like that. Wiseguys has a dance floor and is set up for a disc jockey and live bands. We plan on having live music twice a month in the beginning. Entertainment, including the ever popular Spid Pieper, have already been booked to perform through November."

The disc jockey booth is electronically set up so no extra equipment needs to be brought in. Three TV's are installed in the bar with one having a generous 61" screen. A VCR is ready for any groups to hold meetings that use videos. Wiseguys welcomes groups to call and set up times needed to use the facilities.

Although they don't want to be known as a sports bar Wiseguys will be sponsoring sports teams in the area. They will be serving nachos, pizzas and other snacks as well.

R&H Improvements was hired to oversee the major renovation of the building. Restoring the original look to the front of the property was one of the goals. The walls were redone, a wood laminate floor installed and all new equipment behind a large bar have been completed. The bathrooms have been renovated to meet the codes of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

"We, the owners, did much of the manual labor ourselves," said Gruber. "It not only saved money, but helped the contractors to stay on schedule. Commercial Plumbing and Kettle Moraine Electric were hired to do the main renovating to meet building codes. Everyone worked together and the contractors were very dependable."

A new door will be installed with an arched top and a large window that has the architectural look of days gone by will soon be in place. The property has a new look, but the owners wanted to preserve some of its history in the renovation.

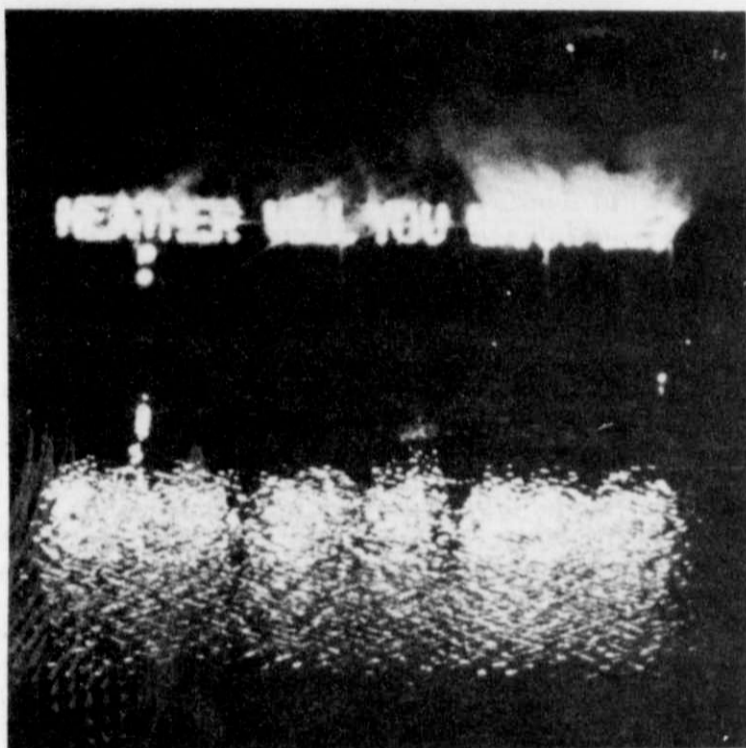

In their free time Baggs owns Gruber Tool and Die where Soup Chicken works as a programmer. Cheeser owns Donath Milk Hauling and Squabby owns LK Heating. Powder is currently a Bar Manager in Hawaii and will be returning to Kewaskum as soon as his contract has been fulfilled.

Many plans are still in the works for Wiseguys. The owners are thinking about having a non-alcohol teen night to give the young people in the area a place to go. A garage in the back is going to be torn down to make room for parking.

A 'Wall of Shame' will have pictures of Kewaskum area sports teams covering the past 30 years. The TV's will have more than just sports on. The committee is discussing having a wall designated as 'Area 51' with a collection of alien memorabilia for customers to explore.

Baggs, Squabby, Cheeser, Soup Chicken and Powder had a vision of what they wanted in Wiseguys. They dedicated hours of planning and doing the work to create a business customers will enjoy. A spacious place with something for everyone awaits you the next time you ask the question, "Where is there to go," in Kewaskum.

She Said 'Yes!'

Heather Gray received the most romantic surprise of her life during the fireworks extravaganza last Saturday, July 3, when the Kewaskum Fire Department members lit one of the large, fiery ground displays. The display, to the delight of the thousands in attendance at the fireworks, read: "Heather, Will You Marry Me?" as partially seen in the above photo. It was the first time in Kewaskum fireworks history that a marriage proposal was set off in blazing letters, and hopefully it will start a new trend! The sender of the romantic message was Heather's fiancée, Larry Seefeldt, 21, and no doubt, this will be one proposal that no one will forget in a long time. Heather, 20, is the daughter of Carol and Bruce Gray of Adell. Larry is the son of Irene and Willie Seefeldt of Kewaskum. The couple is planning an October 13, 2001 wedding. At next year's fireworks, do we all receive an invitation to the wedding? Start looking for your girls, gentlemen, there's only 51 more weeks to order your fireworks!

Awesome!

Every year it becomes increasingly more difficult to capture in words the adjectives needed to describe the fireworks, and this year is no exception. But the heading says it all... it was AWESOME! The display of aerial lights was consistent and gorgeous! The teaser at the end was spectacular... the fire department set off a few finale boxes and had us all begging for more... and more we got as the sky exploded with fire, smoke, and eye-popping lights! Many people were new to our fireworks this year. We heard comments from guests from Richfield, Milwaukee, and as far away as St. Louis, Missouri. Our visitors left Kewaskum, totally impressed with our holiday extravaganza. Their comments all said, "best fireworks I've ever seen!" We agree, and believe me, there is some pretty stiff competition, but we have risen to the occasion and continue to be the BEST! Village and area residents, along with our guests for the evening, extend our gratitude to the Village of Kewaskum and the Kewaskum Fire Department for the fantastic show that left thousands in awe of the display they had witnessed. GREAT JOB again, Kewaskum!

(Due to the abbreviated holiday week, names of the contributors to this year's fireworks will be published in next week's issue)

Evaluation Ordered for Teen Driver Who Killed Friend

By Andrew R. Kuehl
Staff Writer/Photographer

WEST BEND- Reserve Judge Harold Eberhardt ordered a psychological evaluation for the 16-year-old Kewaskum girl who is now facing a delinquency petition alleging vehicular homicide in her friend's death.

During her first appearance in Washington County Circuit Court the district attorney's office filed a petition seeking a waiver to adult court on a charge of homicide by negligent operation of a motor vehicle.

The teenage driver in the single-vehicle accident that occurred on Salisbury Road, in the town of Barton on April 19, that took the life of her friend, Julie A. Knoeck, 16, of Kewaskum.

It has been alleged that the driver lost control of her vehicle while trying to become airborne on a hill. She veered off the roadway to the left entering the east side ditch striking many small trees. After becoming airborne she hit another larger tree. At that point the vehicle's engine compartment caught fire and the fire spread throughout the vehicle.

Also a passenger in the vehicle was Heather A. Hafemann, 16, Kewaskum.

The sophomore girls were friends at Kewaskum High

If waived into adult court and convicted, the young driver would face a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

On Tuesday in Juvenile court attorney's agreed that a waiver study and the psychological exam were necessary.

The study will be conducted by the Ozaukee County Department of Social Services due to the fact a family member of the victim works for Social Services in Washington County.

The girl will appear back in Washington County Circuit Court on August 24.

Farmington Historical Society Enjoys Outing

By Lisa Lickel

Members, friends and visitors of the Farmington Historical Society enjoyed an outing in the Township on Saturday, June 12, to Fechter's Shalom Wildlife Sanctuary.

A special visit was made across Ehne Lake to the former Ehne property, now owned by Niel Dinesen, who graciously spent time preparing for us and allowed us to walk around the grounds and tour several out-buildings. About the turn of the century and through the Depression.

Art Ehne, something of a local entrepreneur and co-owner of Pelton Casteel in Milwaukee, built up a beautiful home and grounds in Farmington. Always having wanted to live on a lake, Ehne decided to build his own, which at the same time, gave many local residents work during the era of the Great Depression.

The lake is still in very good shape, stocked with fish and up to 20 feet deep toward the middle. It is filled with several springs and a controllable waterfall adds a lovely touch to the Ehne property, and served as the site of Art's daughter, Eileen's wedding.

Eileen has since moved to New Jersey, but has shared several stories with Lana and David Fechter about her former home, and was generous enough to send many photographs of the constructing of the lake and home, views of winter and summer scenes, and of the many entertainments the Ehnes were fond of holding.

The tennis courts are still in existence, complete with a dilapidated tennis racket for effect, the stone outdoor bar and outdoor barbecue are next to the former clubhouse, and Eileen's retreat, a one-bedroom log cabin with kitchen and bathroom facilities and enormous fireplace, are all still there, though somewhat neglected.

Several members recounted stories heard about the good times and the family. Mr. Dinesen shared what he knew about the people and current state of the lake. The former Ehne grounds are a tribute to the finer life experienced in Farmington during earlier times.

We then enjoyed a wildlife safari through the Fechter property, which was formerly part of the Ehne farm. David and Lana have endeavored to create an oasis of preservation of native plants, wildlife and culture of the first Americans.

Replete with turkeys, elk, bison, racoons and popularly named white tale deer, the Fechtters run a tree farm. Daily evening tours and a beautiful gift shop of early American crafts and jewelry, bird feeders and feed and artwork. They have strived to offer an educational tour of both the flora and fauna as well as Native American customs, and serve school children as well.

A few raindrops were a welcome respite in the heat for those who went along. The rest missed a great outing, and we hope to see you in August for our photo sharing time. Bring your favorite pictures to show, and hopefully hear great stories about, on the 12th to Boltonville at 7 p.m.

Escaping the Heat

Kewaskum area residents took advantage of the cool water of the pool in Kiwanis Park to escape from the heat over the long holiday weekend. The heat index, combining heat and humidity, soared to well over 100 degrees on Sunday and Monday, and water beckoned many to cool off... temporarily.

Sheboygan County Sheriff, Town of Scott Discuss Partnership Program

By Bernadette Mondloch

Sheboygan County Sheriff Loni Koenig and officer Terry Cram attended the recent Town of Scott board meeting to explain a program underway to develop a partnership with town personnel and the public to better serve all communities of Sheboygan County.

To do this, they need input from citizens of the town to find out where the trouble spots are and what can be done to assist the local constables in doing their duty. As the system works now, the County is not in a position to enforce local ordinances.

Officer Cram explained that there are times when it is more effective to have the Sheriff's Department step in to assist in the enforcement of a local ordinance than to have the constable, who may be a friend or neighbor, handle it alone. He stated, "We want to be more user friendly."

Several municipalities use the service of the Sheboygan County Sheriff's Department by means of contracting with them for a specified number of hours of patrol within the municipality. The Town of Holland is one of these municipalities, along with the Villages of Random Lake, Oostburg and Cedar Grove.

Sheriff Koenig explained the costs of contracting. The rate is made up of several figures: $19.73 per hour plus $8.04 to cover benefits cost, and $1.39 for use of the car for a total of $21.16. If the town wishes to enter into a contract, it can specify the number of hours which it would want an officer in the town.

If the constable found it necessary to call for assistance, that time would be recorded as part of the contract time. Cram explained that one advantage of contracting would be that instead of a different officer patrolling the area, an effort would be made to assign one or two officers on a regular basis who would get to know the community and become a familiar face to people of that community.

If a ticket is issued within the town, such as a violation of the state traffic code, the fine money would be given to the town, the same as would that of an ordinance violation. Cram cautioned the board that it should not look at the program as a revenue program but instead of a means to make the town a safer place to live.

Bids for summer roadwork were reviewed. Scott Construction, Lake Delton, the low bidder for the application of Chip and Seal, was awarded the contract to do Binder Road, Forest View Road, Ida Lane, Falk Road, Coon Valley Road, Leisure Lane, Camp Awana Road, Valley View Drive and East/West Tower Drive at a cost of $35,850.00.

Bids for blacktopping of Lone Pine Road came from Scott Construction for $36,736.80; Northeast Asphalt $35,945.00 and Sheboygan County Highway Department $38,525.00. Final costs of county work is always on a time and material basis, not necessarily the actual proposed price, as is the case with the other bids. The contract was awarded to Northeast As-

County Historical Society Begins Millennium Endowment Fund

Richard L. Leitheiser Chairman of the Washington County Historical Society, Millennium Endowment Fund Drive announced that the Historical Society officially started their Millennium Endowment Fund Drive on July 4th, 1999. He remarked that it was appropriate to start the drive to make the Historical Society financially secure on the nation's Independence Day.

Leitheiser said "I am extremely proud to chair this drive and to kick off on such an appropriate day. Hopefully this is the start of a drive that will make the historical society financially secure and take it into the next Millennium! The Historical Society can trace its roots back to the founders of Washington County, and occupies these marvelous reminders of the past, the Old Courthouse and Jail/Residence. We have had a lot of support from the community in restoring the Old Courthouse in past years, and now we need the help of the community to ensure that the Historical Society can continue its mission into the next century.

"The Historical Society is a very important asset to the community, and helps increase the quality of life in Washington county. We all need to help the Society reach financial security, so that it can continue it's wonderful mission of preserving the History of Washington county for future generations," Leitheiser added.

"We need to build on the past support to continue into the future, the next Millennium," said Chip Beckford, Historical Society executive Director. "Our wonderful facilities are about to go into their third century and this is a great chance to be part of that future by contributing to the Endowment Fund. The contributions people make to this fund will go on into the next century and beyond, that's a great legacy for future generations!"

For more information on contributing to the Millennium Endowment Fund, contact the Washington County Historical Society, at 414-335-4678.

McDonald's 'McGlobal Stories' Coming to Kewaskum Library

This summer McDonald's will take children to far away places through a multicultural storytelling program which is taking place at local libraries throughout southeastern Wisconsin.

"McDonald's McGlobal Stories" began on June 14 and will visit nearly 80 libraries to share the message that reading is a fun and important activity for children during the summer break. The 40-minute program features an "aviator" character telling folk stories from Mexico, Laos and Kenya in an entertaining and educational way. This year the character will incorporate music from the three countries on instruments like the qeej (AING) from Laos and reed rattlers from Kenya.

The program will be held at the Kewaskum Public Library on Friday, July 16 at 10:30 a.m.

Developed in cooperation with the Milwaukee Public Library and Sherman Elementary School (Milwaukee Public School's Multicultural School), this is the sixth year McDonald's has produced the summer reading program for libraries in southeastern Wisconsin. In addition, McDonald's provides ice cream cone coupons to each child who attends a performance and checks out a book.

"There's no question that it is important for everyone to learn about other cultures," according to Jim Patterson, president of McDonald's Restaurants of Southeastern Wisconsin. "And it's our hope that this program will encourage young readers to explore countries from around the world."

McDonald's has partnered with local companies to enhance the program for children. The White House of Music in Waukesha, donated a guitar and served as a resource for musical instrument research. Ernie von Schledorn of Menomonee Falls donated a van that the performer will use to travel from library to library -- be sure to look for it on the road this summer.

The summer reading program is part of McDonald's Restaurants of Southeastern Wisconsin's ongoing commitment to literacy. McDonald's also sponsors Books for Kids, a book drive with the Next Door Foundation. Earlier this year, the drive collected over 40,000 books for needy children in southeastern Wisconsin. McDonald's also sponsors the All American Reading Challenge, which rewards children for reading, and a reading-themed assembly performance by Ronald McDonald during the school year.

McDonald's is the largest and best-known foodservice retailer with nearly 25,000 restaurants serving over 40 million people in 115 countries. Approximately 85% of McDonald's U.S. restaurants are owned by independent franchises.

Brigham Awarded Full Professor Status at UWWC

WEST BEND - Dr. William Messner, Chancellor of the University of Wisconsin Colleges, announced recently that Thomas J. Brigham, Associate Professor of Physical Education and Athletic Director at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County, has been promoted to full professor, the university's highest academic rank.

Brigham, one of UWWC's charter faculty members, has been teaching at the West Bend college for 31 years.

After receiving his Master's Degree from UW-Madison in 68, Brigham came to UWWC, just as the college was opening its doors. A former defensive left corner for the Wisconsin Badgers football team, Brigham said that -- rather than joining a staff at a larger university -- he looked forward to building his own physical education and sports department at the new college.

"The challenge of it really appealed to me," he said, adding that the chance to teach college students was especially appealing.

"Since I was in high school, I knew I wanted to be a college instructor," he said. "It's the ideal setting -- you have students who want to be there, and the marriage of academics and athletics at that level is a positive one."

He explained that teaching and coaching student athletes for the past 31 years has kept his work fresh. "The students really make the difference," he said.

Brigham's students say he teaches far more than just academic materials and athletic skills. Brigham says that teaching often is as much about failure as it is about success.

"A lot of people are caught up in the idea that you've got to be successful right now, every time," he said. "But I try and teach them that failure is part of the whole process of success and learning."

Brigham, who has coached most of the college's sports teams, as well as taught physical education in the classroom, said he doesn't try and single out star athletes in his programs. "I simply try and set an environment where all student athletes can improve their body of knowledge and skills," he said.

Brigham has frequently been cited by UWWC graduates as a source of serious life lessons outside of the classroom. Many credit him with helping them grow up and become useful citizens. Hartford Mayor Scott Henke, one of Brigham's former players, said he learned a lot about the value of commitment and hard work in his classes.

"I could see he was doing more than just coaching our soccer team," Henke said. "I could see that he was helping all of us grow up a lot." Henke cites one incident, in which a soccer team captain was made to apologize to the entire team for missing practice.

"Coach Brigham never gave a lot of fiery speeches," Henke said. "But working with him every day, we learned a lot by watching him help people deal with their problems. He helped us make the transition from a high school mentality."

Brigham says such life lessons are all part of the decision-making process that today's adults must learn. "I simply try to stress to student athletes that success is important. But just as important, is learning how to fail and turning that into a learning experience."

Anniversary Meatballs

1½ pounds of lean ground beef
¾ cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup water
3 tablespoons minced onion
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup Heinz Chili Sauce
1 cup grape jelly

Combine first 8 ingredients. Form into 60 bite-sized meatballs using a rounded teaspoon for each. Place in shallow baking pan or jellyroll pan. Bake in 450° F oven, 15 minutes or until cooked through. Meanwhile, in small saucepan, combine Heinz Chili Sauce and grape jelly. Heat until jelly is melted. Place well-drained meatballs in serving dish. Pour chili sauce mixture over; stir gently to coat. Serve warm. Makes 60 appetizers. For zestier sauce, substitute hot jalapeno jelly for grape jelly.

Wisconsin's Rain Forest

by Ami

It takes special efforts to try to remember a spring in Wisconsin as wet as this 1999 version. However, with it one can truly admire its positive effects on sapling trees and shrubs. Over the years I have faithfully attempted to "water the young seedlings on a regular scheduled basis." But this year has put my scheduled efforts to shame for that special "soft water from the heavens" has outdid my very best of intentions.

What a joy to find those planted youngsters responding vigorously to those proverbial April, May and June showers! What has astounded me has been how almost magically the extra amount of wetness is turned into rapid growth, rich foliage and amazing heights. Indeed, I have never quite seen the likes of it!

A stroll through our hardwood forests provides us with insight into what very likely is 1999 being the year of the heaviest, richest foliage ever. Actually many of the mature trees are boasting the largest, most glorious leaf crowns ever seen in these parts. Don't miss the opportunity to view this most magnificent display. One wonders if there will be a full crown carry over into the marvelous "fall color display?"

Like positive effect has also touched the spring wild flower families. Giant Jack in the Pulpits. Glorious pink-purple wild geraniums. Tennis-sized mandrake apples. Seven foot tall angelicas! I could go on & on.

Many times Mother Nature's unusual behavior is castigated...even ridiculed. However, no matter what, that lady is always right "in there" producing for us spectacular beautiful growth results...even in severe droughts. So.o.o. keep your umbrellas handy and look for the clouds silver lining in spite of it all.

"The night shift nurses set up an area by the windows for my family and I to see the fireworks. My little boy enjoyed being able to share it with me since I couldn't be home."

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
 Michael A. Guido
 Metter, Georgia

Little Tommy came home with a bloody nose. "What happened?" asked his mother. "Jimmy hit me," he sobbed.

"Why, Jimmy?"

"Tommy made me," he answered. "He was mean to me."

We sin, and we say, somebody made me do it. But no one is forced to sin. Why do we sin? Because of our evil desires.

The Bible says, "Temptation is the pull of man's own evil thoughts and wishes. These evil thoughts lead to evil actions."

Evil desires will come to you. Think on them, and you'll tumble, for desires become deeds. But turn from them to the Lord, and you'll triumph.

It's up to you.

Beware of Y2K Scams

By Harry J. Argue
Executive Vice President/CEO
Wisconsin Bankers Association

The year 2000 is still six months away, but stories of con artists playing on the fears of people surrounding the computer-date change have started to surface around the country.

The Wisconsin Bankers Association warns the public to be wary of anyone who says they will "hold your money" during the date change or asks you to withdraw money from your bank account. Also, steer clear of investment scams that exploit year 2000. The safest place for your money is a bank, where deposits are federally insured for up to $100,000.

A Y2K scam surfaced earlier this year when an Appleton man received a call from a person who identified himself as a representative of his bank. The caller told the man the bank was having a difficult time preparing for year 2000 and to solve the problem, the bank needed to transfer customer accounts to a bond account specially designed to protect their money. The caller asked the man for personal information, his account number and verbal approval for the transfer. When the man said he had his money in several financial institutions and wondered what bank he was talking about, the caller hung up.

It is extremely unlikely that a bank employee would initiate a call and ask for account information because the bank already has this information on file. The best defense against this scam is to ask the person for their name and phone number, so that you can return their call at the bank later in the day.

In addition, be wary of people who offer to convert your money to gold, silver, small-company stocks or other assets. Also, do not give your credit card account information over the phone unless you initiate the call. Scam artists have called people to tell them their credit card must be replaced because of Y2K and then use those credit card numbers to charge away. Finally, con artists have also been known to send unsolicited e-mail messages selling investment opportunities in companies that "quickly fix" the year 2000 problem.

Remember, if it seems too good to be true, it almost certainly is.

Along with Y2K scams, the Wisconsin Bankers Association reminds consumers about the risks of being robbed if they withdraw large amounts of cash prior to the date change. Robbers will be on the lookout for customers who leave the bank with large sums of cash.

Consumers should be confident that their money is safe in the bank. Independent industry analysts such as the Gartner Group and Cap Gemini consistently rate banks "number one" in year 2000 readiness. The industry is investing more than $8 billion and hiring thousands of experts to fix and test for year 2000. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) predicts no bank or thrift will fail as a result of the year 2000 issue.

Fears that banks will run out of cash in December are also unfounded. The Federal Reserve has ordered an additional $50 billion of new currency to be put into circulation. By the end of the year, $200 billion in currency will be stored in government vaults, up from the $150 billion normally held in reserves.

The following are just a few financial tips to prepare for year 2000:

* Stay informed. Find out how your financial institution plans to deal with the year 2000.

* If you don't already, keep your bank statements, transaction records and credit card receipts for at least three months prior to and three months after January 1, 2000.

* If you bank on-line, make sure your personal computer is year 2000 compliant.

* Just prior to year-end, take out only as much cash as you would for a typical holiday weekend. Remember the safest place for your money is in the bank.

Letter to The Editor

To the Editor of the Kewaskum Statesman:

Excitement about the new Fair Grounds is growing! Much will be new, but some traditions will remain. The youth will be showing their projects in face-to-face judging. Open-class will be showing crops, foods, art, animals, woodworking, photos, etc.

Once again the 4-H Silent Auction will take place during the Washington County Fair. It will be in the big, new main exhibit building. We're asking friends of 4-H to donate items for the auction such as: antiques, plants, crafts, articles of clothing, books, certificates for services, or any item you feel will attract buyers.

The Silent Auction items will be displayed with a paper nearby where folks will keep raising bids during the five days of the fair. On late Sunday afternoon a hidden alarm clock rings, stopping all bids. The top bidders are arranged alphabetically and items are readied for "pick-up-and-pay." Hopefully most top bidders will be at the fair when we announce the pick-up time so they can take their items home, rather than phoning folks to get their items at the 4-H office, or for some deliveries needed.

All money will go to the Washington county 4-H Leaders Association to help with 4-H camperships, training sessions, trips, and scholarships.

So--we'll see you at the fair! Bid high! Bid often! Our thanks to all of you who donate items and to all who bid! If you have any questions, please call Marge at 644-6274.

Gratefully,
Marge Slaughter

Unique Physician Search Tool Part of New Web Site

Advanced Healthcare, S.C., the largest multi-specialty, physician-owned group practice in southeastern Wisconsin, has introduced a unique physician search tool on its new web site, www.ah.com. Visitors to the site can search for a physician by specialty, by geography, by gender and by name. The physician profiles, including a photo and biography, are then accessed with a simple click on the physicians' names.

In addition to the physician search tool, the site contains general health information, including article reprints on topics including diabetes, high blood pressure and ulcers, and schedules of health classes. Visitors can also pose health care questions.

Career information is also available on www.ah.com, including a list of current jobs open at the 19 Advanced Healthcare clinics, surgery centers and support offices throughout a four-county area. Job candidates are invited to submit their resumes on-line.

The new web site was developed by Mark Net World, a Milwaukee-based web site provider. Mark Net World has extensive experience in developing interactive and electronic commerce based web sites. They used this experience to assist Advanced Healthcare with the physician search tool and class registration components of the site.

Advanced Healthcare, S.C. was formed in 1998 in a merger between Falls Medical Group, Milwaukee Medical Clinic and West Bend Clinic. It is the largest physician-owned, multi-specialty group practice in Southeastern Wisconsin, with more than 230 physicians providing care at 16 locations in Washington, Ozaukee, Milwaukee and Waukesha Counties.

TORNADO FACTS

Stay abreast of the latest forecast via NOAA Weather Radio, commercial radio, TV, or cable TV. Keep a watchful eye toward the sky, and consider postponing your outdoor activities. Remember, a tornado watch means weather conditions are favorable for the development of tornadoes in and close to a tornado watch "box." A tornado warning means a tornado is highly imminent or is already on the ground.

Police Reports

Police received a complaint at Henry Timblin Trucking on June 26th for theft.

Carole Timblin, stated that money had been missing from a wallet kept in her desk drawer used for small expenses. The wallet allegedly had about $1,500 in cash in it. When she looked in the wallet only $5 was in it. The last time she checked the wallet was about two weeks ago.

The incident is under investigation pending further information.

Police responded to a call at the Kewaskum Pharmacy in the Village on June 28th for a shoplifter.

Audrey Krueger, reported that a black male and female were in her store looking at disposable cameras. She observed the male pick up two packages of Polaroid film. She had thought it was possible he may have had some candy and fireworks. When the male noticed he was being watched he and the black female ran from the store to their car which sped off on STH 45 north.

The film was valued at $18.90.

The matter is under investigation with members of the West Bend Police Department due to similar complaints taken by their department.

Police received a call from Bonnie Potter, 112 Timblin Drive who stated her son's bike had been missing.

Potter said the bike was put on their patio the night of June 26th and when they woke up the next morning the bike was gone.

The bike is described as a maroon, Dyno Comp, 20".

The matter is under investigation.

Police were dispatched to Amoco of Kewaskum on STH 45, in the Village for a hit and run accident.

James Thelen who stated he was hit by an older white Pontiac.

Thelen said the driver entered the roadway crossing the centerline hitting his vehicle. The vehicle that hit him continued northbound on STH 45.

Before a shift change the Police Department received a call from a caller residing at the Five Corner Apartments in the Village who stated that there was a female trying to get in.

Two officers responded to the apartment complex and found an intoxicated female identified as JoAnne Blum.

The vehicle was identified and she was questioned about the accident as her car matched the description of the one in the accident earlier.

Blum refused to cooperate with the officers, cursing and kicking at one of them. She was arrested for O.W.I., hit and run, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct and taken to the police department where contact was made with her daughter who refused to pick her up. Again Blum became belligerent attacking one of the officers and shouting obscenities at him.

The officers then transported her to the hospital to undergo a blood test which at first she refused, later becoming cooperative.

She was then transported to the county jail where she was booked.

Police received a report of a missing bike on June 30th from Bonnie Brockman, 480 Knights Avenue.

Brockman said the bike was noticed missing on June 28, but could have been taken the weekend of June 25th.

The bike is described as a black, Dyno Comp, 20", one speed.

The matter is under investigation.

Washington County Sheriff's Department received a cellphone call from a driver who observed a possible drunk driver.

The call was turned over to Kewaskum Police who waited for the driver at the edge of town on STH 45 near Roger & Dan's Garage.

The vehicle approached the village and was followed to the Kewaskum Mall where the driver drove into the mall parking lot, turned around and then continued back to STH 45 going northbound.

The driver was pulled over and identified as Joseph Trott who thought he was in Sussex. Several field sobriety were performed on the suspect and he failed them all. He was then arrested and taken to the hospital for a blood test to which he consented.

After the test Trott told the officer once he got out of jail he would attempt to kill himself. Upon this he was referred to the mental health ward of the hospital.

This was Trott's second offense.

Brenda Gitter, came to the police department on July 2 and stated her son's bike had been missing.

Gitter said the bike was taken from Kewaskum Middle School during summer school.

The matter is under investigation.

Beards were once placed under government control in Rumania. Whiskers could be worn only if the owner secured an official permit, and paid the appropriate fee.

LAWN & GARDEN TIPS

Keeping Grubs From Making A Meal Of Your Lawn

(NAPS)—What is America's #1 lawn insect pest?

According to many lawn care operators and landscapers, grubs are the country's most persistent and damaging lawn pest.

Grubs are the larval stage of insects that include Japanese Beetles, May-June Beetles, Oriental Beetles and Northern and Southern Masked Chafers. In many parts of the country, the adult or beetle stage of these insects can be seen flying over home lawns during June or July. The female beetle then buries herself in the soil and lays dozens of eggs. Within days, the eggs hatch and the grubs begin feeding on turf roots. Growing to a size of only one to one-and-a-half inches, grubs can quickly ruin large patches of grass. Symptoms of the damage include grass wilting under heat stress despite adequate available moisture. Evidence of damage reaches its peak from September to November.

Even before turf stress is evident, raccoons and skunks cause their own kind of damage to lawns. Looking for a tasty evening treat and led by their keen sense of smell, they poke their noses into the soil and use their claws to dig grubs out of their subterranean feeding grounds.

Until recently, most lawn-care operators and landscapers treated for grubs only after turf injury became apparent. But advanced insect control technology has helped develop new grub control products—molt accelerating compounds—that can be applied weeks before grubs begin to cause turf damage. These products accelerate insects' normal molting process and kill them early in their larval stage—the stage most injurious to turfgrass.

With one new molt accelerating compound, MACH 2™ turf insecticide, treated insects stop feeding within hours after application, avoiding further turf damage. The grub population dies within 2 to 3 weeks.

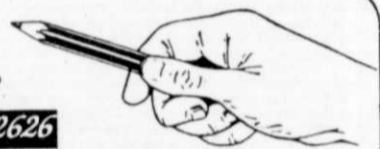

Not only do these compounds help stop turf damage before it occurs, but they also more accurately target the right pests. MACH 2, for example, controls several varieties of damaging grubs and turf-eating caterpillars. But it doesn't harm earthworms or beneficial insects such as bees.

Call your lawn-care operator or landscaper and ask them about molt accelerating compounds, the new turf technology that can virtually eliminate damage from America's #1 turf pest.

On Friday, June 18, the Indians cruised to a 57-35 victory over New London. In their second game that day they beat conference foe, New Holstein, 54-45. Their next two games came on Saturday when they defeated Howards Grove by a score of 62-52, and then came out on top by beating Reedsville, 61-51.

Archers Harvest Record Number of Deer in 1998; Outlook for '99 Hunt Above Average

MADISON -- Wisconsin deer hunters harvested a total of 407,555 white-tailed deer during the combined archery and gun hunting season in 1998.

"Archers accounted for a total harvest of 75,301 deer, up from 97's 67,115 and a new harvest record for archery deer hunters," said Brian Dhuey, principal author of the 1998 Big Game Hunting Summary published by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "Gun hunters took 332,254 deer -- the fifth highest total in the last 30 years. The total harvest was up from 1997's 359,628 but less than the all time record harvest of 467,271 in 1995."

It was also the third safest gun deer hunting season on record, with two people killed and 15 injured.

Hunting conditions during most of the nine-day gun hunt were considered good throughout the state. Most areas experienced above average temperatures with very little snow cover on opening weekend. Many hunters reported being able to stay in the woods longer than usual due to the relatively warm conditions and meat processors experienced an early rush as hunters delivered their deer as soon as possible to avoid spoilage.

The southern farmland and northern forest regions had nearly equal gun hunt harvests at 90,847 and 90,672 respectively. Marinette County gun hunters registered the highest total at 10,447 followed by Marathon County at 9,961. Marathon registered the highest bow harvest at 3,271 followed by Marinette at 3,237.

Yearling buck harvest was well above average in the northern and northwest regions which wildlife managers interpreted as indicating exceptional fawn survival during the very mild winter of 1997-98. Recording stations also reported higher than average antler development in all regions and at record levels in three of six deer management regions.

"A high number of yearlings among adult does registered and higher than predicted buck kills are strong indicators that there will be another large harvest opportunity in 1999," said Dhuey.

"The antlerless gun deer harvest exceeded antlered in three of five regions in 1998, and a high number of hunter's choice and bonus permits will be available again in 1999," said Bill Mytton, DNR big game ecologist. "We've got extremely high populations in a lot of our deer management units this year. We've set up early Zone-T hunts, which concentrate on antlerless deer, to try to get the populations back closer to prescribed population levels but we also would like to see hunters buying and using hunter's choice permits, which allow harvest of an antlerless deer with a regular gun-deer license. Applications for hunter's choice are available now and the deadline for application is July 20.

Hunters also set a new record for bear harvest in 1998 taking 3,184 black bear. This was up 46% over the 1997 harvest of 2,178. The final 1998 harvest was right on target with the calculated safe harvest goal of 3,155. Weather conditions were excellent for the season and the popularity of bear hunting continues to grow. This spring, the DNR received 50,854 applications for 6,057 available permits.

Antlerless Deer Hunting Permit Deadline July 20

MADISON -- The deadline for hunters to apply for Hunter's Choice and bonus antlerless deer permits for the 1999 deer hunting seasons is July 20.

Hunter's choice permits allow hunters to shoot either antlered or antlerless deer, and bonus permits allow hunters to shoot an additional antlerless deer; all permits must be used in the unit for which they are issued. Hunters may use the permits in the archery, gun and muzzleloader deer hunting seasons. There is a $3 application fee for a hunter's choice permit and a $12 fee for each bonus antlerless permit for residents and a $20 fee for non-residents.

Application information for hunter's choice and bonus antlerless deer permits can be found in the "1998 Wisconsin Antlerless Deer Permit Information" packet available at license outlets. It contains information about permit availability and deer management unit boundaries.

There will be a special early antlerless firearm hunt in Zone T units (51A, 62B, 63A, 65B, 66, 67B, 80A, and 80C) from October 28 through October 31. Hunters should not apply for hunters choice or bonus permits for Zone T units. Free 'special' antlerless permits will be available over the counter in mid-August.

Hunters will be issued up to three free permits for each gun-deer license and another three for each archery-deer license for a maximum of six antlerless permits. A regular gun deer license back tag can be used on a buck or antlerless deer in this unit. The Zone T hunt was created to help control crop damage caused by deer.

Bonus permits remaining after mail-in applications are processed will go on sale over the counter at select DNR service centers around September 14.

A foot race at the Indians' baseball game ensued as Kewaskum's Bruce Groholski runs between third base and homeplate with Campbellsport's Jim Ziegler (#3) and Steve Ketter in hot pursuit. The play ended with Cougar pitcher Clint Beck tagging Groholski out. The Eastern Wisconsin Conference away game ended with the Indians being defeated, 5-4.

Kewaskum pitcher Bobby Ogl concentrates on throwing them over the plate in the Indians' June 29 game against the Cougars in Campbellsport.

Safe at home... Kewaskum's Bill Cook slides safely into homeplate during the fourth inning of the conference game played in Campbellsport on June 29. Cook had hit a single and advanced through wild pitches to second and third and eventually scored at home, but the Indians still lost to the Cougars, 5-4.

Tagged out at second... the Cougar's Travis Ebert unsuccessfully tries to slide into second as Kewaskum's Eric Wenninger prepares to tag him out. The high school baseball action took place June 29 in Campbellsport.

Indians Lose to Campbellsport, 5-4

The Monday, June 28 game against Chilton at home was called after just three batters took the plate due to intermittent rain and lightning. The suspended game will be completed on Tuesday, July 13, at 5:30 p.m. in Kewaskum.

On Tuesday, the 29th, the Indians traveled to Campbellsport to face their closest rivals, the Cougars. The Indians did not come with the intensity Coach Mark Heise had hoped they would. Five errors and two base running mistakes led to their demise. "We played our worst game of the year. Fundamentally, we were as unsound as a team can be," stated the Coach.

The Cougars scored first with Mike McCallum walked to start the game for Campbellsport, crossing the plate on a base hit by Travis Ebert.

The Indians took the lead in the top of the fourth. Andy Luedtke led off with a walk; Bruce Groholski courtesy ran for him. Billy Cook drove a ball to right, advancing Groholski to third, with Cook now on second. With the infield drawn in for a play at the plate, third batter Eric Wenninger hit a ground ball to third baseman Jim Ziegler.

On the play Groholski took off for home, but got into a run down and eventually was tagged out. Cook moved to third and Wenninger to second on the play. Two wild pitches allowed Cook and Wenninger to score.

The Cougars added two in the bottom of the fourth to take the lead back at 3-2. Clint Beck singled to center to start the inning. Curt Beck followed with a single, also to center. A bunt by designated hitter Kyle Twohig was misplayed by pitcher Bob Ogi, but first baseman Billy Cook hustled after the errant throw and fired to home to nail Clint Beck who attempted to score on the play.

With one out, and runners on second and third,

Matt Compton hit a ground ball to third, but another error allowed Beck to score and Twohig to advance to third. He scored on a ground ball to second by Jim Ziegler.

The Indians put their first two runners on base in the top of the fifth when Jason Calliari reached on an error. Lead off hitter John Immel walked, but the number three, four and five positions could not produce a hit.

In the bottom of the fifth, Campbellsport added one more run on a start-up single by Jake Flood, who advanced to second on a throwing error by the Indian shortstop. He then scored from second on a wild pitch.

Trailing 4-2 going into the sixth, the Indian offense mounted a come-from-behind. Cook took a walk and Wenninger singled to left. Ogi reached on an error by the Cougar second baseman. Adam Donath got hit by a pitch, scoring Cook. Wenninger scored the next run on a ground ball out to the infield. With one out, runners on second and third and the top of the order up, things were looking good for the Indians. But it was not to be as Immel hit one back to the pitcher and Chris Canter's hot shot down the third baseline was fielded nicely and thrown to first to end the inning.

Tied at 4-4 going into the top of the sixth, the Cougars added another run to take a 5-4 lead. Twohig walked, stole second and advanced to third on the catcher's high throw to second that sailed into centerfield. Twohig scored on a Compton single to center.

The Indians put runners on first and second with one out in the seventh, but a strikeout and a base running mistake ended the game.

Bobby Ogi pitched the entire game, striking out six and walking four. He gave up five hits and five runs. Only one run was earned; two of the four walks scored. Clint Beck was the winning pitcher for the Cougars.

Billy Cook led the Indian attack going 2x3. He walked once and scored twice. He has raised his average to .333 after going 13x39 in 13 conference games. The other three Kewaskum hits came from Immel, Luedtke and Wenninger. The Indian record fell to 9-5 with their loss to Campbellsport.

Kewaskum has three remaining conference games: Thursday, July 8, at home against Campbellsport at 5:30; Friday at home against New Holstein at 5:30 and the Chilton rain-out on Tuesday, July 13th at 5:30 p.m.
