Kewaskum Frozen Foods Wins Champion Bacon Award at State Fair

WEST ALLIS -- Robert Beisbier of Kewaskum Frozen Foods, Kewaskum, was the recipient of the Champion Bacon Award at the Wisconsin State Fair Meat Products Show.

The product was later sold for $1,300 to Hartmann Sand and Gravel Company, Fredonia, at the Governor's Sweepstakes Meat Products Auction held August 10.

The auction featured the award-winning products -- ham, bacon, summer sausage, cured and smoked beef, and meat snack sticks -- from the Wisconsin State Fair Meat Products Show. All proceeds from the auction benefit the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation and provide support for 4-H programs across the state.

Other high selling items at the auction included:

* the Grand Champion Ham, processed by Pat's Country Market, Arcadia, and purchased by Mini Pick, Milwaukee, for $5,700

* the Grand Champion Meat Snack Sticks, processed by Karl's Country Market, Menomonee Falls, and purchased by Franz Company, Milwaukee, for $1,300.

"The Meat Products Auction is the largest fund raising event of the year for the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation, and the funds raised support a wide variety of 4-H programs," said Pat Harrington, 4-H Foundation Director. "These 4-H programs serve thousands of 4-H youth across the state, and emphasize leadership development, communication skills, citizenship, and community service."

Meat processors and purchasers from throughout the state helped to raise a total of $25,250 from winning bids at the auction. An additional contribution of $1,000 was also presented to the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation by the Wisconsin Association of Meat Processors, a co-sponsor of the event for the past seven years. Other co-sponsors include the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation, the UW-Madison Department of Animal Sciences, and the Wisconsin State Fair.

Town of Scott Decides On One Meeting Per Month

By Bernadette Mondloch

Former Town Clerk and former Town Chairman Lester Benzschawel has taken his place leading the Town of Scott into the 21st century. Appointed at the August meeting, Benzschawel presented suggestions for several changes in board procedures.

The first of these is reducing board meetings to one per month. The former chairman saw a need for holding two meetings per month in order to accomplish shorter meetings. At times, the lone meeting per month was taking as much as four hours, sometimes going as late as 11 p.m. The decision was made to hold one meeting per month on the second Monday of the month, beginning in September.

A change in bill paying procedures is also being considered. Benzschawel will meet with Clerk Laura Wagner to organize the new procedure before presenting it at the next board meeting.

Jim Sprosty, representing the Batavia Fire Department requested permission to erect a four by four foot sign dedicated to the 1908 founders of the Batavia Fire Department. The sign is planned for an area near the Hilltop and would read, "Batavia Firemen's Park."

Benzschawel questioned the wording on the sign. Sprosty said that the name had been approved many months previous, but offered to provide documentation at the next meeting before the board takes action on the sign.

Benzschawel remarked that the property is now owned by the Town of Scott and was not sure if the planned wording was appropriate.

The road committee reported that shouldering has been completed on Lone Pine Road. Chip sealing in various areas is finished and the third round of mowing will be completed.

Communication from the town's assessor indicates that the annual assessment is nearly completed and the Board of Review should be held in late September or early October.

Circulation of the town newsletter has been delayed until the Board of Review date has been established and when the budget is adjusted to provide money for printing and postage.

The lone bid of $612.32 for sale of a trailer was received from Mark Muench and was accepted.

Holy Trinity School Opens Wednesday

As in the public schools, Holy Trinity Catholic School in Kewaskum will begin the new school year on Wednesday, August 25.

The school is expecting about the same enrollment as last year, 170 students. The staff remains the same with the addition of a Spanish teacher for students in grades five through eight. Mrs. Clare Schneider will be teaching the students in this area. Previously, Spanish was taught via satellite from StarNet, Inc.

Students and parents will be welcomed back at a School Open House on Tuesday, August 24, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Two Local Pastors Feted

A very special Fellowship Luncheon honored the Rev. Frank Erdey who is celebrating, this year, his 60th anniversary as an ordained Pastor in the United Church of Christ.

A resident of the Cedar Ridge Retirement Center, West Bend, Pastor Erdey served church congregations in Waukegan, Illinois; Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Indiana, and Cincinnati, Ohio.

A native of Hungary, Pastor Erdey was ordained in East Chicago, Indiana, in 1939. He retired in 1981 and is still serving, when called, nearby churches, conducting their Sunday services.

Likewise, the Rev. Louis C. Riesch, West Bend, is celebrating his 50th anniversary as an ordained Pastor in the United Church of Christ, having served as the congregation of the First Reformed Church in Watertown, Wisconsin, and St. John's United Church of Christ in Kohlsville.

With the assistance and support of thousands of lay persons, plus excellent staff members and corporate board directors, helped establish in Washington County, the Cedar Lake Home for the Aged; Friendship House for the Alzheimer needy; the Cedar Valley and Learning Center Retreat campuses; plus the Cedar Ridge Retirement villages... and for the youth, the Oak Knoll School educational program.

Family members of the two pastors and close friends attended the luncheon which was served in the Fellowship Hall of the Futuristic People's Chapel located on County Trunk WW, in the Town of Wayne.

The south east association minister, the Rev. Thomas Bentz of Milwaukee, brought to the gathering greetings and commendations from the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ and the Conference President, the Rev. Fredrick Trost.

Ten Finalists to Be Eliminated Sunday

The pressure's on again, folks! We have reached another milestone in our "Kiss-the-Pig" contest. Ten people will be eliminated from our list of thirty at the close of business on Sunday night.

If you don't want to see your particular favorites crossed off the list you only have a few more days to stuff their "ballot bags" and campaign for their lips to touch the cool, wet snout of the piggy.

Who will the lucky 20 be? I have a pretty good idea, but every time I count the votes, I get a new surprise. Many of you candidates have some great fans who have been doing a real number on the voting. There have been numerous surprises, and hopefully, this will continue. I just love surprises! (And so does Piggy!)

Before any further ado, it seems there are many people out there that are just dying to vote, but yours truly got so wrapped up in last week's report, she forgot to mention where you can vote.

There are two main voting boards at Video Post on Main Street in Kewaskum, and the Silver Platter Restaurant on Fond du Lac Avenue. Believe me, it is strictly coincidental that the owner of Video Post and the co-owner of Silver Platter are Piggy kiss contenders.

There are also cannisters with all the candidates names on at the Kewaskum Statesman (commonly now referred to as Kiss-the-Pig Headquarters). As we eliminate candidates and the voting boards get smaller, there will be more polling places erected in the area.

Many candidates (well, one, that we know of) have their own campaign managers, who have been soliciting votes and maintaining their own ballot boxes. One of these can be found at Kewaskum Mobil, where coincidentally, candidate Jeanne Amerling, has been "the people's choice."

And then at the Thiemerdome World Seriousless last Saturday (lots more about that next week, huh, Richard?) it was asked by a popular area radio (WBWI-WBKV) personality, where all his fans could vote for him. It seems Bob Bonenfant's vast radio audience (if only they could see him pitch!) are ringing the phones off the hook at the radio station, clamoring to know how they can pour their money into his campaign. As the old Babe used to say, "It ain't over till it's over!" Looks like our buddy Bob will still be sticking in the running, if his radio listeners have anything to say about it! Keep them votes coming WBWI-WBKV fans!

Just to clarify their voting potential to sway the vote, let it be known that ANYONE can send in a dollar (or ten) to: Kiss-The-Pig Headquarters P.O. Box 98 %Kewaskum Statesman Kewaskum, WI 53040

However, I must receive those votes by Monday morning (if being sent by mail, they can be post-marked yet on Sunday). We have to keep all our rules straight, ya know! All other voting (for the lucky 20 semi-semi-finalists) will close when the businesses close on Sunday. I realize you will all be on pins and needles until the 20 semi-semi-finalists will be announced next week at this time.

Now, as for the interview I promised last week. It was our intention to do an in-depth, investigative interview with our lucky little (??) piggy, but unfortunately, he's on vacation in the Dells, so that will have to wait until school starts and he returns to his studies.

One more thing, at a meeting of the committees of Kettle Kountry Kolors, it was decided on Saturday, the lucky, winning pig-kisser will also be the winner of a brand, new $50 bill. We figure it was the least we could do before we subject the candidates to more of the above humiliation and harassment. Good luck candidates... I know I have my dollar bills ready to vote for my favorites. I think you know who you are. (Feel really bad, though, that Tim and Larry didn't make it to the finals!), but I know there are lots of other lucky finalists to spend money on!

Legion Asking Churches to Join In WWII Tribute

American Legion National Commander Butch Miller is asking churches across the country to provide the national soundtrack next month for "a minute of solemn reflection" honoring Americans who fought in World War II.

"I ask that America's churches, mosques, temples and synagogues ring their bells for a full minute, beginning at 9:04 a.m., Thursday, September 2; the moment in 1945 that representatives of the Japanese government signed the surrender treaty aboard USS Missouri," Miller said. "World War II was our century's defining moment. A pause to mark the war's ending must become our nation's moment of national reflection and thanksgiving."

"More than 16 million Americans departed their families, set aside personal ambitions and fought for freedom in World War II; these men and women represented all social and ethnic backgrounds. All of them, and particularly the more than 400,000 men and women who made the supreme sacrifice, are worthy of a minute of our time. Our houses of worship can play a major role in reminding Americans of the enormous contributions of America's greatest generation."

During the minute of reflection, Legionnaires will be in Anaheim, California, preparing for their 81st national convention, scheduled at the Anaheim Convention Center September 7-9.

Back-to-School is Not Just for Kids Anymore

By Richard W. Riley, U.S. Secretary of Education

Back-to-School time has always been exciting for children. It's a time to meet new friends, new teachers, and resume the adventure of learning.

But back-to-school time is not just for kids anymore.

If our schools are going to do the job we expect them to do, everyone must pitch in and help. That includes parents and everyone in the community.

The fact is, schools today can't do the job alone. There are more children in our schools this fall than ever before -- more, even, than at the height of the baby boom! There is more diversity -- in some schools, students come from dozens of nations. We are living in the Information Age, a time when our nation's economy and security depend more on the quality of education than at any other time in our history. That's why more and more states and communities are requiring students and teachers to reach for high standards of learning, and why the public is demanding real results for its tax dollars.

So I encourage every parent, family and citizen to use this back-to-school season to make a personal commitment to supporting better education in their community. When children are surrounded by adults and communities that value education, they get the message that their education is important. And they're more likely to buckle down and do their best. When children see that adults and communities don't care about education, they get the opposite message. And we all lose.

To spread the message about the importance of family and community involvement in education, the U.S. Department of Education conducts a national initiative each year called "America Goes Back to School." We hold events all around the nation to stir excitement for the new school season. This year, I'm personally taking a five-state bus tour to spread the message. I'll be traveling through Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. If you pass me on the highway, be sure to wave. I'll also be visiting communities in the East, West and Midwest.

We've also prepared a colorful, fact-filled "America Goes Back to School" kit which provides plenty of good ideas for getting involved in your schools and staying involved all year long. It's called, "Challenge Our Students and They Will Soar," and you can get a free kit by simply calling the U.S. Department of Education at 1-800-USA-LEARN, or by visiting our web site at www.ed.gov/Family/agbts.

Here are a few ideas that can get you started:

-- Employers: Be "family-friendly." Give your employees the time to meet with teachers or volunteer for school activities. It's good for education, and good for your bottom line. Giving parents flexible work schedules helps you keep your top-notch workers. Also encourage your employees to be mentors and tutors to young people. Offer students internships and work-study experiences. And invite teachers into your workplace to show them the skills that today's workers must have. This will help teachers to make sure students take the courses they'll need to gain those skills.

-- Parents: Try to slow down your lives and help your children grow. Spend at least 30 minutes a day supervising your children's education. Start early, and read to your youngest children. Share books with your older children. Keep in touch with teachers. Make sure your children are doing their homework. Keep TV watching to a minimum. And talk with your children frankly about drugs and violence and the values you want them to have.

Educators, community leaders and law enforce- ment officials: Many communities are holding town meetings with mental health professionals to talk about troubled youth and school violence. Think about holding one in your community. Talk about ways to help troubled youth and find ways to connect each young person to at least one caring adult. Every child should feel that he or she is the most important person in an adult's life.

Creating connections and a caring environment in the home, at school, and in the community is an important part of preventing violence. And work with others in your community to develop quality after-school and summer programs. Isn't it better to have children in school where they can continue learning, rather than being at home alone, or going to the mall to play violent video games?

-- Teachers and school officials: Make your school parent-friendly. Reach out to families and remove the obstacles that sometimes make them reluctant to get involved in school activities.

-- Students: Challenge yourselves! Take the tough courses in middle and high school that will put you on the road to college and careers. Take algebra in eighth grade, geometry in ninth grade and physics, chemistry and trigonometry in high school. Take four years of a foreign language, and an Advanced Placement art, music, English, or history course. Explore technical and other career courses. Studies show that students who take academically challenging high school courses are more likely to attend and complete college and earn more in the work world, regardless of their family's financial status, race or gender.

Elementary school students should focus on reading, reading and reading -- and math, too. Develop those basic skills. And no child should be promoted to a grade they're not ready for. Let's get rid of social promotion. If some children aren't making the grade, give them the extra help they need, either after school or over the weekends and summers.

At the national level, we're working hard to provide communities like yours with more of the resources you'll need to accomplish these goals. If Congress agrees, we will expand after-school programs, help reduce class size by hiring 100,000 well-prepared teachers, fund safe and drug-free schools programs, provide mentors for middle school students and put them on the road to college, and build or modernize schools to alleviate overcrowding and put computers in every classroom. Technology is critically important if we're going to prepare our children for success in the 21st century.

If you want to get involved, you don't have to go it alone. Building partnerships is the key. Join with others in your community to determine your school's needs and then ask teachers and principals how you can support their efforts.

No one stands taller than when they stoop down to help a child. Get involved with your community's young people, and you will stand taller -- and feel taller -- than you ever have. Back-to-school time is the perfect time to start.

1999 Citizenship Washington Focus

By Becky Lawton and Stefanie Westerman

Another set of doors opened up for five Washington County 4-H youth as we traveled to Washington D.C. this summer for the annual Citizenship Washington County Focus (CWF) trips.

Brooke Zanow, Ann Marie Schowalter, Becky Lawton, Stefanie Westerman and Krista Hinckley traveled to D.C. We drove to Chevy Chase, Maryland, to the National 4-H Center, where we met youth from all over the country.

At the Center everyone was placed in workshop groups where we participated in different activities to learn more about our government and its operations. Three of the workshops we attended were: The Party Game, in which we learned what each political party represented and which party we belonged to according to our beliefs; Mock Legislation, where we promoted and petitioned for pending legislation and learned how bills became law; and Defending Others' Rights, in which we were taught the role the Bill of Rights has in the courts.

Aside from our workshop groups, we were also separated into various committees. Many of the committees planned activities that we would participate in throughout the week. For instance, we planned a slide show, a talent show, a CWF derby and various ceremonies. Other committees learned about careers, journalism and technology.

Now we don't want you to think that we attended meetings the entire week. During our numerous visits from the 4-H Center in Maryland to D.C., we did a lot of sightseeing. One night we had a night view of D.C., where we saw the U.S. Capitol and the Washington Monument. We also visited the Jefferson, Korean, FDR and Lincoln Memorials that night.

We spent a day on Capitol Hill where we had tours of the Capitol and got to meet Wisconsin Representatives. On that day we had our pictures taken in front of the Capitol with our state delegations. Our groups went to Arlington National Cemetery, Iwo Jima, Mount Vernon, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, some of the Smithsonian, Washington National Cathedral, the Newseum and the Holocaust Memorial Museum.

We also had a chance to stop in Gettysburg for a tour and went to a dinner theater to watch, "The State Fair."

Overall, the Citizenship Washington Focus trip was a great experience. We learned about our government and what it takes to be a good leader.

In closing, we would like to thank the Washington County Farm Bureau, the Washington County 4-H Leaders Association, Stan and Barb Shaw, and Jim and Carol Oelhafen for sponsoring the CWF delegations. They allowed us to take an unforgettable trip on which we met friends many of us will never forget.

UWWC Grad Takes Lab Skills To Burmese Refugee Camp

WEST BEND -- UWWC graduate Kristina Kastner, 34, was always a non-traditional student.

Coming to college later in life than many, she said that she found her strength as a student at the University of Wisconsin-Washington County. And, rather than take a safe, local student internship to further her studies, she now is preparing to take those strengths into a war-torn jungle on the Thailand-Burma border.

Kastner and other area students -- members of the Milwaukee-based Burma Relief Coalition -- now are preparing to head for the Mae Sot clinic, located near a host of refugee camps. Once there, the students will spend a few weeks diagnosing and treating refugees and other victims of the vicious civil war being waged within the borders of Burma, which now calls itself Myanmar.

Kastner, a clinical laboratory science student, says the practical experience she hopes to gain there will more than make up for the projected $1,000 each student must raise to pay for air fare and food. She explained that American medical students rarely get a chance to see and treat exotic tropical diseases, such as malaria and blood-borne diseases and parasites.

"In school, we see some tropical diseases organisms on already-prepared slides," she said. "But the chance to actually see some of these organisms in the field is the chance of a lifetime."

Kastner said that she was inspired by other students who previously have made the trip, and returned to UWM -- where she is completing her studies -- telling of the needs of the refugees there. "When I heard those stories, I wanted to do something tangible to help them," she said.

Kastner and the other students will each bring a crate of medical supplies to the refugee camps, set up along the troubled border area, and will work in the Mae Sot medical lab. While there, she will help to diagnose the various illnesses and diseases afflicting the camp inhabitants.

She is due to depart August 20, to join a larger group of UWM students already working in the border area. She plans to return home in time to begin classes in the fall.

Kastner, of West Bend, who now is completing her studies at UWM, said she never could have considered such a trip before coming to UWWC.

"After high school, I got married and started a family," she said. "I didn't know if I could do college, successfully."

Kastner said her husband, Joel, encouraged her to follow her dreams to Burma and Thailand. "I said, 'I couldn't do that,' but he said, 'Well, why couldn't you?'" she said.

Kastner also praises UWWC faculty members for giving her both the skills and confidence to compete at a large university, and to strike out for parts unknown. "When I look at the things the professors taught me -- 'Attend every lecture,' 'Study a little bit at a time'... I realize I never could have made it if I started at a large school."

For more information on Kastner or the Burma Refugee Relief Coalition trip, please call William Breyfogle, UWWC Director of University Relations, at (414) 335-5233.

Tot Time Preschool Registration

Grothman Elated: Woman's Right to Know Act Declared Constitutional

MADISON -- State Representative Glenn Grothman, (R-West Bend), author of the Women's Right to Know Act is thrilled to announce that the Seventh Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals declared his legislation constitutional.

The Woman's Right to Know Act forces abortion clinics to hand out state prepared materials describing a child's physical development before birth and requires at least a 24 hour waiting period prior to consenting to an abortion.

"This is a great victory!" exclaimed Grothman. "This shows once again that the pro-abortion line stating this was unconstitutional was just a desperate obfuscation in an attempt to keep rushing women through these clinics without the basic decency."

Coincidentally, on the same day that the Right to Know Act was upheld in appellate court, the state of Wisconsin announced a dramatic drop in the number of abortions in 1998 compared to years past. The total number of abortions fell to 11,681 and the percent of abortions to live births fell to 18. Both the lowest since 1974. The percentage drop between 1997 and 1998 was just under 12%.

"There is no question that the decline in abortions is due to many factors including the tremendous work of state pro-life organizations, abstinence education, those who do sidewalk counseling, and the wonderful efforts of many local and church pro-life groups," Grothman continued. "However, the largest drop ever in abortions occurred in 1998 -- the same year the Woman's Right to Know law was enacted."

The Woman's Right to Know Act, Grothman's 1995 Assembly Bill 441, was signed into law on April 30, 1996 and became effective May 31, 1998.

Lighten Your Style

Sneak Fitness And Nutrition Into Your Routine

(NAPS)—Lighten up! That's good advice for not only defeating stress, but also for developing a workout regimen that's easy to do and easy to stick with.

There are hundreds of ways to work healthy habits, such as exercise, nutrition and relaxation, into your day, including:

- Get a pet. Studies show owning pets reduces stress. It's the special bond formed between pets and people that makes you happier. Plus, a dog holding her leash at the front door is a pretty good incentive for taking a walk or jog.

- Park far, walk fast. Take advantage of a full parking lot. Instead of wasting time looking for close spots, park in the first one available (the farther away, the better) and start hoofing it.

- Drink up. You need a minimum of 64 ounces—that's eight cups—of hydrating beverages like water, fruit juice and milk each day. For every cup of coffee, caffeinated soda or alcohol you drink, you need another eight ounces of water, juice or milk just to break even.

- Tone in traffic. Tighten your stomach or gluteus muscles during red lights or while stuck in traffic. These isotonic exercises will not only help you tighten and tone trouble spots, but help utilize idle time.

- Get your vitamins. Grab fruits and vegetables as Skipping along as you walk the dog provides many benefits for both of you.

a snack instead of heading for the vending machine. Also add important nutrients to your day by switching that afternoon soda with juices or juice drinks. Ocean Spray® Lightstyle® low-calorie juice drinks made with Splenda® Brand Sweetener have 100 percent of the daily recommended value of vitamin C (and just 40 calories) in each eight-ounce serving.

- Split restaurant meals. Or at least box half to take home. Restaurant meals are increasingly "super sized," leaving you stuffed and guilty with the distress of overeating. Splitting meals with a friend or saving half for later will leave you happy and satisfied.

BadgerCare Health Insurance Could Be On Many Back-to-School Lists

Notebooks? Check. Pens and pencils? Check. Free or low-cost health insurance for your school kids-- and the whole family? You'd better double-check that one.

In Washington County school districts, about 8.7 percent of public school students live in households whose income indicates they might qualify for BadgerCare, the comprehensive new statewide program for uninsured families.

According to State Department of Public Instruction data, 27 percent of all public school children -- and 33 percent of elementary students -- live in households within 185 percent of federal poverty levels. That's the initial income ceiling for BadgerCare. For example, a family of four earning less than $30,895 a year could be eligible.

"Health insurance can give students the healthy start they need to begin the school year right," Karen Bougneit, Director of Washington County Department of Social Services, said. An estimated 624 people are expected to be eligible for BadgerCare in Washington County. "BadgerCare should be on the back-to-school list for every family needing health insurance."

Statewide, about 67,000 uninsured persons are expected to sign up for the program. BadgerCare extends health coverage to low-and middle-income persons through a federal-state partnership to enroll whole families with children. The state estimates that more than 100,000 Wisconsin children lack health insurance.

In Washington County, persons should contact Washington County Client Registration at (414) 335-4677 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Voice-mail is available and calls will be returned promptly. Agencies and individuals who are interested in the outreach efforts should contact Brenda Hicks-Sorensen at (414) 334-0886.

The coverage could cost nothing -out-of-pocket for families with annual incomes below 150 percent of poverty guidelines (about $20,820 a year for a family of three, or $25,050 for four persons). DPI data states that at least 169,000 children live in families with incomes that could qualify for premium-free Badger Care.

Above the premium-free income levels, families will be expected to pay three percent of family income. Premium examples include: $30 per month for a three-person family making more than $16,590 a year and $60 per month for a five-person family making up to

However, public health advocates believe such premiums are a good value, because of BadgerCare's comprehensive coverage. The plan includes hospital and doctor bills, dental work, drug prescriptions, eyeglasses and many other needs -- all at no added cost to the consumer. Educators know that something as simple as getting new eyeglasses can help a troubled student begin to succeed in school.

And once enrolled, families can stay on BadgerCare until their income exceeds 200 percent of federal poverty levels. That's about $33,400 for a family of four.

Know When to Rebalance Your Portfolio

By Paul C. Becht
Financial Advisor
Prudential Securities, Inc.

Good drivers bring their cars in for periodic tune-ups. Good parents take their children to the doctor for regular check-ups. And what do good investors do? They review their asset allocations and rebalance their portfolios when necessary.

An asset allocation is the division of your portfolio among broad investment classes of financial assets. The most basic asset allocation plan divides your assets among stocks, bonds and cash.

How much weight each category carries depends on your targeted rate of return and the level of risk you are willing to take. Investors in their twenties who have a long time horizon and steady income might assume the higher volatility of stocks in exchange for potential growth.

A person nearing retirement might be looking for 'safer' investments that provide income. Therefore, someone starting out in the work force might consider an asset allocation of 80/20 stocks/bonds, whereas a person who is retiring might want a 30/70 stocks-to-bonds ration in order to gain additional income from fixed-income investments. Of course, individual asset allocations will vary for each investor.

But a sound, long-term investment strategy does not imply a passive "invest-and-forget" approach. Once your asset allocation is set, you need to check on your Bernard of Fond du Lac; other relatives and friends.

Preceding him in death were his wife on February 5, 1994; a sister, Sally Backhaus, and five brothers, Louis, Elwyn, Elmer, Harold and David.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, August 18, at 2 p.m. at Trinity Ev. Lutheran Church, Dundee. Rev. Richard Schlieve officiated and entombment followed at Ledgeview Memorial Park, Fond du Lac.

Visitation at the Twohig Funeral Home, Campbellsport, was held Tuesday, from 4 to 9 p.m., and on Wednesday from noon until the time of services at the church.

Memorials are appreciated to Trinity Ev. Lutheran Church.

performance at least once a year and decide if you need to make any changes to your allocation.

It's also wise to consider rebalancing your portfolio after different events that affect your financial planning objectives or your asset allocations. These include:

- * Household income change - Receiving a raise or a bonus may lead to an adjustment in the amount of money you earmark for investing. You may want to invest surplus cash in an aggressive vehicle, such as stocks. Certainly, if you lose your job or retire, your current asset allocation will no longer fit your current situation. In this case, you may want to increase the percentage of your portfolio that you hold in bonds for additional income.

- * Children - The birth of a child will probably make you want to start thinking about a long-term education savings plan, something that might not be in your current asset allocation. It also may change your tax status and reduce the need for tax-advantaged investments.

- * Child's Graduation - When children, especially your youngest child, graduate from college, the elimination of tuition bills might let you add more to your investment program and to focus on retirement goals.

- * Investment Growth - As the economy moves through its cycle, some investments will perform better than others. For example, an overall increase in stock prices would increase the value of the stocks in your portfolio. If this should happen, changing your stock/bond mix to 70/30 might be a consideration.

Knowing when to rebalance is half the battle; knowing how to rebalance is the other. One way is to increase your investment in asset categories that have fallen below your original allocation percentages. Another is to sell assets in one category and use that money to increase your investment in categories that have become underweighted. Before you decide which will be the best method for you to rebalance your assets, there are several steps you should take:

- * Review your most recent account statements. (Be sure to include tax-deferred investments, such as 401(k) and individual retirement accounts).

- * Determine the total dollar value of each investment by category and then calculate what percentage of the total is invested in each category.

- * Compare these figures to your original asset allocation, to see if your portfolio has changed.

- * Review your current financial goals, risk tolerance and liquidity needs.

At this time, you should be ready to decide if and how you want to rebalance your portfolio. But before making any changes to your portfolio, speak with a qualified financial advisor about your decision. Some financial advisors now have asset allocation software that can efficiently illustrate how your current portfolio is divided and suggest strategies that may be better suited to your individual needs.

The Flower Harvest

by Ami

Do not try to tell me that the fall season spawns the delight of a wild flower harvest...even greater than the spring beauties, the hepatica, violet, and lovely white trillium! Indeed, I have had many a friend actually display "shock" when I would extol my feelings regarding "the FALL FLOWER HARVEST."

In no way or manner would I negate the glory of our Wisconsin spring wild flower abundance. However, there is something special about Mother Nature's colorful floral fall display...like giving us a last burst of creative beauty before Jack Frost touches the earth with his deadly icing. Consider the paint brush like color contrasts: The rich royal purple of the wild asters as well as their delicate pink, sky blue & white blossoms; the many shades of gold of the many species of Goldenrod; the deep blues of the Blue Lobelia and the Blue Bottle Gentian; and what about the bright red or scarlet fruit of the Jack in the Pulpit? I would be remiss if I did not mention the unique Doll's Eye plants and the golden-yellow fruit of the Bitter Sweet. And what about the glorious hardwood forests with their colorful leaf changes including the last to turn color, the tamarack or larch with its very special bronze coating?

Perhaps this helps you to understand my deep respect each year FOR THE FALL FLOWER HARVEST. I love the spring renewal of life; however, I also adore that last thrust of colorful beauty announcing the coming of those wintry dormant months. Somehow, their rather fragile but color-filled blossoms, leaves and fruits help me to realize the Lord's expression of having faith in His promise that the winter will pass and there will be another lovely spring.

Apricot Oatmeal Squares Earn An A+

(NAPS)—An easy-to-make, nutritious snack may get an A+ this school year from kids and busy parents.

Packed with apricots and oats, Apricot Oatmeal Squares make the grade by meeting moms' requirements for a nutritious snack. Chocolate chips help make the squares a treat kids crave.

An ideal take-along treat for kids' lunches, the squares are also terrific as after-school or sporting event snacks or as quick pick-me-ups tucked away in a parent's briefcase. Plus, apricots—whether canned, frozen or fresh—are a high source of vitamin A, beta carotene, calcium and iron. By using canned apricots, Apricot Oatmeal Squares are easy to make all year.

Although teaching children the importance of eating nutritious snacks can be a tough assignment, these chewy and delicious treats can help make the lesson more appealing.

Apricot Oatmeal Squares make "hitting the books" more fun.

1 bag semi-sweet chocolate chips
Preheat oven to 375°
Bake 20-25 minutes

Grease a 13"x9" pan and set aside. Melt butter, add sugars and blend well. Add eggs and vanilla and blend. In a separate bowl, combine flour, salt, baking soda and mix together. Add mixture to the butter and blend until combined. Add apricot halves and chocolate chips. Spoon mixture evenly into pan and bake 20-25 minutes until toothpick pulls out clean; do not overbake.

Variations: Omit chocolate chips; add 2 teaspoons of cinnamon and an additional can of apricot halves (drained and diced). Other possibilities include adding 1/2 cup of walnuts, almonds or coconut.

For more information, recipes, and serving suggestions using apricots, visit the Apricot Producers of California's website at www.apricotproducers.com.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

A man had fallen, and the preacher asked, "Sam, why didn't you say, 'Get behind me, Satan!'" "I did," he replied, "but Satan said to me, 'O.K., Sam. Since we're both going in the same direction, it makes no difference who leads.'"

There are only two ways. Our Lord said, "Heaven can be entered only through the narrow gate. The highway to hell is broad, and its gate is wide enough for all the multitudes who choose its easy way. But the Gateway to Life is small, and the road is narrow, and only a few ever find it."

You have a choice. Our Lord said, "I have set before you the way of life and the way of death." It's your move.

Hot Tips For A Lawn That Survives The Heat

(NAPS)—Beat the heat. Hot, dry weather can seriously damage your lawn if you aren't careful.

One of the biggest problems in summer is cutting the grass too low. Grasses have an ideal cutting height, though it isn't the same for all grasses. Tall fescue, for example, should be cut at three to four inches. Bermudagrass can be cut to a height of one to two inches.

But no matter what kind of grass you have, never cut off more than a third of the blades at one mowing, otherwise you'll shock the grass. Grass that is cut at the right height will have deeper roots than a lawn that is mowed too close. Grass with deeper roots is more resistant to drought. It will also grow vigorously, to better compete with weeds.

You can do your part to help the environment when you mow. Mulching or grasscycling—that is, leaving small grass clippings on your lawn—saves time and landfill space, and actually nurtures the soil.

"Grass clippings are 85 percent water and return 20 percent of their nitrogen to the soil to feed the lawn," said Pursell Industries Horticulturist Lois Chaplin. "They decompose rapidly and return nutrients to the soil with no thatch buildup."

Of course, a high-quality fertilizer can keep your lawn green and healthy and help it to compete against weeds. "I'd advise using fertilizers that contain Polyon," said Chaplin. "Polyon is time-released. If you have weeds, you can use a combination weed and feed product with Polyon."

Watering your lawn is also very important. It should be done around dawn so the grass dries early. So remember, cut your grass a small amount at a time, mulch it, fertilize it, and water it around dawn.

For more information about Pursell lawn fertilizer products or Polyon, contact Pursell Industries at 1-800-874-8892 or on the net at www.fertilizer.com.

Championship Round of Mobil, Coca Cola Triple Crown Classic Race Sunday at Slinger

See twice the late model feature racing action, at no increase in the regular admission price, this Sunday night, August 22, at the Slinger Super Speedway.

Mobil presents the final round of the Coca Cola Triple Crown Classic this week to determine the overall series winner and the $2,000 payoff that will go with it at the track's year end awards banquet.

The night will be highlighted by two 50 lap late model features, along with a full night of support division racing in the Midwest Modified, Slinger Stinger Street Stock, Figure Eight, and Team Cruiser Divisions. The Speedway Guest Cars and Spectator Elimination Races will round out the competition on the World's Fastest 1/4 Mile Oval for the evening.

One lucky fan at the track for the Mobil/Coca Cola Triple Crown Classic will take home a FREE 25" Sony color television, compliments of Mobil, and also will have the opportunity to sign up for a chance to drive a speedway guest car on August 22 between 4:45 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. compliments of Mobil and Coca-Cola.

In addition, fans can stop in at any of the participating Mobil Stations to earn a FREE ticket to the event, while supplies last. Adults can gain one FREE ticket when they purchase a case of any Coca Cola product from one of the over 60 area Mobil Stations.

It will be a busy night for the kids, as the first 300 kids, ages 11 and under, will receive a FREE track T-Shirt. In addition, all kids ticket stubs will be entered into a drawing for a FREE bike to be given away at intermission, compliments of Mobil, Coca Cola and Slinger Speedway.

Representatives from Coca Cola will also sign up 12 lucky kids to take part in the Kids Coca Cola 500, also at intermission.

Ticket prices are only $10 for adults, students are $7, kids are $2 and children five and under are free.

The evening will get underway with spectator gates and ticket windows opening at 4:45 p.m. with time trials starting at 5:15 p.m. and racing kicks off at 7 p.m.

For more information on any upcoming Slinger Speedway event, call the track office at 414-644-5921 or visit us on the web at www.slingerspeedway.com.

Lady Indians Open Golf Season

The Kewaskum Indians Girls Golf Team began their 1999 season finishing strong in two tough invitationals.

On Friday, the girls played Brown Deer, the site of the Greater Milwaukee Open, in a meet hosted by Nicolet. The team from the combined Sheboygan schools finished first with a 404, followed by Kewaskum with a 428, Hartford with 446 and Nicolet at 637. The rough hasn't been trimmed much since the GMO, so the girls learned early how to play a wedge out of long grass.

Medalist of the meet was Andrea Miller from Sheboygan (daughter of the teaching pro from Town and Country) with a 43-39/82.

Kewaskum wrapped up the second place individual from sophomore Niki Dreher 49-51/100, third place from sophomore Courtney Timblin 54-50/104 and tied for fourth place from senior Amy Piwoni 53-52/105.

Rounding out the counting scores was junior Stephanie Brettingen with a 60-59/119. Returning senior Amber King shot a 61-62/123 for a good round on the tough course but her score didn't count.

On Monday, the girls traveled to the Mukwonago Invitational at Rainbow Springs. The invite included 33 varsity squads, featuring many of the strongest golf programs in the southern part of Wisconsin.

The team from Hartland Arrowhead won the meet with a 351 and also had the meet medalist for the second year in a row from Emily Hendricks, who shot a 77.

Kewaskum did themselves proud, shooting a 415, which was good enough to place them tied for ninth as a team, a pretty decent showing that counted them in with the likes of Homestead, Madison Edgewood, Mukwonago and Brookfield Central.

Tied for honors for Kewaskum was the sophomore pair of Niki Dreher and Courtney Timblin, both with 98's. Seniors Amy Piwoni and Amber King shot a 107 and 112 respectively.

The JV squad also saw their first action at Rainbow Springs on Monday, golfing on "Little Mo." The girls placed seventh out of 25 schools, shooting a 422. Junior Jody Wichtoski was low for the Lady Indians with a 97, followed by Shelly Landgraf with 100, Stephanie Brettingen with 102, and Jenni Susen with 123. Winning the JV portion of the invitational was the squad from Brookfield Central with a 389.

Members of this year's girls golf team include seniors Amber King and Amy Piwoni, juniors Stefanie Brettingen, Beth Degner, Shelly Landgraf, Kristin Schiller, and Jody Wichtoski, sophomores Audrey Dickmann, Niki Dreher, Candi Heberer, Maggie Herriges and Kristin Schiller and freshman Sarah Geidel.

The JV squad hosts Sheboygan on Wednesday and will travel to Homestead on Thursday. The varsity Indians start their Little Ten season at Watertown on Monday.
