Kewaskum Welcomes Japanese Visitors

When I left for Japan one year ago I was excited and nervous about teaching English and living in a rural Japanese town. I imagined my life in the town of Kosa located between rice paddies and mountains, I imagined dinners of raw fish and green tea in a world where "Hello Kitty" is worshiped and sake is drunk like water. I didn't anticipate the endless parties serving raw horse meat (Kumamoto prefecture's specialty), the running races with only myself and one hundred middle school boys, and singing "You Are My Sunshine" to my co-workers. I can't even begin to describe what an incredible experience it has been.

I have been working for the Kosa school district for the past year. I taught English at Kosa junior high school, five elementary schools, and one kindergarten. Kosa is located in the middle of Kyushu Island, just south of the main island, Honshu. Kosa is in Kumamoto prefecture, which is famous for the Kumamoto castle built from 1601 - 1608, Aso Mountain, an active volcano, and, of course, raw horse meat.

The first week in August, four junior high school students, a Japanese English

Anthony Thrune, 17, Kewaskum, is alleged to be in connection with a random act of violence that took place at Kewaskum High School Monday, May 15.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel said Wednesday that his department has sent charges to the Washington County District Attorney.

The two had gained entrance into the school sometime between 9 pm

Sunday and 5:30 am Monday. The vandals allegedly gained access through a door in the field house that was left unlocked after open gym Sunday night.

Eric Anderson was the first to be charged in the vandalism and is scheduled to have a preliminary hearing today, (Thursday) at 11:30 a.m.. Anderson is being charged with two counts of felony, burglary to a building or dwelling and criminal damage to property over $1,000.

Washington County District Attorney's office said it would be 4-6 weeks before a preliminary hearing for Thrune. District Attorney Todd Martens will be handling the case.

teacher and the Vice Principal from Kosa visited Kewaskum. They spent five days in Kewaskum at four host families' homes. They visited the Kewaskum schools, village municipal building, police and fire department, Regal Ware, and the Kewaskum museum. They also hiked in the Kettle Moraine, toured local farms, canoed, rode horses, and went to the State Fair (even though it was dark).

Throughout these past five days we discovered the many similarities and differences between Kosa and Kewaskum. Although the towns are halfway across

New Police Officer to Start Here

Police Chief Richard Knoebel told the Kewaskum Village Board Monday night that they are set to hire one new officer. Knoebel did not release a name but said he would after the individual completes a physical and psychological examination.

Knoebel also said that he expects to hire another officer by December of 2000.

Fire chief Mark Groeschel told the board members that his department has sold the 1963 FWD. He stated that they will receive $3,000 for the over 30-year-old piece of equipment.

"It was a sad sight to see it go. The truck served the community well," said Groeschel.

Village Administrator Daniel Schmidt told board members that the railroad crossing signals will be removed by the end of the month. At that time they will remove the crossings from the road and replace the roadways as needed.

The board heard a request for the placement of a stop sign at the intersection of Lin De Lane and Bel Ric Drive. After discussing it, board members voted not to place the stop sign.

CTH D Work To Begin

Wisconsin Central Railroad will repair its crossing of County Trunk Highway D west of US 41 on August 15. As a result, CTH D will be closed to all traffic at the railroad crossing.

Residents living along the section of CTH D between the Dodge County Line and US 41 will still have access to their property but they will not be able to cross the railroad tracks.

Wisconsin Central crews plan to complete the project on CTH D in one day but the work is dependent on the weather.

If you have any questions about this news release please call the Washington County Highway Department at 262-335-4435 and ask for Ken Pesch or Barb Villwock or call the Wisconsin Central Railroad at 920-929-6041 and ask for Bob Lewis.

New Fane Sportsman Club Makes Donation to DARE Program

Kewaskum Students to Return To School on September 5

Because of the remodeling at Farmington and Wayne Elementary schools, a new state law pertaining to a post-September 1 school start date, and a negotiated settlement, the first day for students in the Kewaskum Public Schools will be Tuesday, September 5. Students at both Wayne and Farmington will return to beautifully remodeled buildings, and if the weather continues to cooperate, both are scheduled to be ready on the first day of classes. The opening of both gyms will be delayed but should be open in October or November in time for the winter season. Due to the construction of the new Kewaskum elementary school, students will find a smaller playground area but with the vision of a new building for next year the slight inconvenience should be worth it.

As we begin the 2000-01 school year, I wish to encourage parents and students alike to take an active interest in their school, their studies, and in the wonderful extra-curricular activities available. Our focus this school year will be on Improvement of Instruction "Doing Our Best; Building on Our Strengths." It promises to be an exciting year and the staff invites parents and students to accept and live the focus as we enter the new school term. We also have a district web page. You can access at www.ksd.k12.wi.us. Use it for information and as a tool. Eventually we would like to have e-mail access between district and community and parents.

Johnson Bus Company

will be sending out information soon on bus rules and pick up times. If you have not received by August 18, please call them at 626-4414 to complete arrangements. Families are asked to take time to review the bus riding rules and safe boarding, riding, and unloading procedures. If this is your child's first experience at riding a bus, parents may take some time to accompany their child or arrange for someone else to accompany them for their first pick-up and drop.

Crossing guards will be present on village street corners and utilize them accordingly. Parents are asked to please not send or drop their children off at school before school doors open because they would then be unsupervised. Also, while parents may be curious with the remodeling at FES and WES, they are asked to please visit and see the schools after school or during scheduled Open Houses. This should avoid confusion on the first day of classes.

Free and Reduced Hot Lunch program information will be published in the Statesman. During registration forms were available to those who were interested. This is a very important part of the school finance system. Federal and State grant programs such as Classroom Reduction Program, are based on the percentage of students in the Free and Reduced Hot Lunch program. If you think you are eligible, please request that a form be sent to you by calling the school office. If you wish to review the qualifying criteria, please call the district office at 262-626-8427 Ext. 8001.

Hot lunch prices for the 2000-01 school year are as follows: Elementary Schools $1.30 per day or $6.50 per week. Middle and High School students pay $1.55 per day or $7.75 per week. School on Tuesday, September 5 is a full day and hot lunch will be served. The calendar for the school year will be distributed, one per family, on the first day of school. Be sure to ask your son/daughter for it since it contains all known scheduled activities and events for the school year.

The school district DOES NOT carry accident insurance for students. We encourage parents/guardians to review their own insurance policies to be certain coverage is adequate, especially in the case of athletics.

We are fortunate to welcome several new teachers to the Kewaskum School District. Those hired for the new school year are: Nicole Amadon-FES 4th grade; Candi Block-FES 3rd grade; Connie Rohrer-FES 1st and 2nd grade; Lisa Drost-FES reading specialist; Kathleen Flaherty-FES reading specialist; Kathryn Draeger-KES 1st grade; Cheryl Hofschulte-elementary art; Mark Cloutier-KHS math; Jeffrey Monfort-KHS English; Sharon Fox-KHS math; Sherrie Meldahl-KHS cognitive disability; Dennis Gutbrod-KHS physical science/chemistry; Michael Schroeder-KHS biology; March Ciha-KMS 6th grade; Jeff Grotenhuis-KMS phy ed and health; Joel Hartline-KMS 8th grade.

I wish to emphasize again the new Web Site for the school district www.ksd.k12.wi.us. The world continues to emphasize technology and business and schools are no longer the same as a result. I also ask for the continued support and involvement of parents, grandparents, guardians and the community at large. It is only by working together that we can do what's best for the children in the district. Take time to read and review school handbook and rules, particularly at the high school since they have restructured and rewritten theirs. Help us by working with your children on homework and behavior situations requiring your involvement.

I close by reminding everyone that schools have changed, children have changed, and the times have changed. While curriculum is an ever-present guide in our schools, technology has altered the way teachers teach, and students learn. Take the time out learn about the changes technology offers both adult and children alike. Be interested in not only your child's schoolwork, but also how s/he learns and applies technology to that learning. With our focus on improving instruction this year, we must prepared to "Do Our Best and to Build on our Strengths," which are many.

Sincerely,

Wayne P. Graczyk

Gwen Dreher and Bob Wagner are shown above with the Gary and Michelle Nuenberg family who received the Floral, Shrubbery and Tree Arrangement Award. The Nuenbergs live at 510 Braatz Drive in Kewaskum.

Gertie and Edwin Backus won the Floral Color Selections and Lawn Ornaments Color Award. They reside at 418 Main Street in Kewaskum. Shown above are Gertie Backus, Gwen Dreher, Bob Wagner and Edwin Backus. Take a little time to drive around the village and notice all the effort residents have made to beautify their homes and the community.

The Village of Kewaskum board and members of the Kewaskum Women's Club presented the Fourth Annual Village Beautification Awards at the Village Board Meeting held Monday evening, August 7. The three categorical beautification awards with the home owner winners are as follows:
Creative Use of Landscape Materials and Plants

- Richard and Patty Zima, 1147 Edgewood Drive, Kewaskum.
Floral, Shrubbery and Tree Arrangement - Gary and Michelle Nuenberg, 510 Braatz Drive, Kewaskum.
Good Floral Color Selections and/or Lawn Ornaments - Edwin and Gertie Backus, 418 Main Street, Kewaskum.
Village President Bob Wagner and Kewaskum

Women's Club President Gwen Dreher were on hand to make the awards presentation. Each award winner will have the blue and white award sign placed in their front yard for recognition until October. The annual village beautification awards have greatly enhanced the total "look" of this community's beautification project. Since the program began in 1997, we can see a difference in the village, as more people are planting garden-type yards.

It has had a domino effect and everyone should be applauded for their work and efforts to make this project a success.

The Kewaskum Women's Club and the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce share the presentation of flowers for the 14 stone flower planter pots located throughout the village main streets, Highways 48 and 28.

A special "thanks" to community businesses and residents for water maintenance of the flower planter pots which is well appreciated during these hot summer days.

the world from each other, they both have communities where everyone knows each other and everyone opens their homes to guests. While I lived in Kosa many families treated me with incredible kindness, and without their thoughtfulness, my stay wouldn't have been nearly as enjoyable. So, when the Kosa students decided to come to Kewaskum I was very excited because I knew that the community of Kewaskum would treat them with the same kindheartedness. The Kosa and Kewaskum students hope to continue the exchange through letters and email. Kosa welcomes any Kewaskum students to their homes that wish to spend time in rural Japan.

I would like to thank the host parents: Roger and Ann Neumann, Gilbert and Doreen Kowalczyk, Jim and Sue Wessing, and Richard and Rosie Reindl. They volunteered their time and made the Japanese students feel at home. I would also like to thank Dan Schmidt, Sylvester Schmidt, Gerry Gosa, Richard Knoebel, Jeff Reigle, Wayne Graczyk, and the Kewaskum Fire Department for their tours and gifts to the Japanese students.

If you see any of the Kewaskum host students (seen in the above photo) be sure to ask them to greet you in Japanese.

Here's a glass. It's filled with water.

I hit it. What splashes out?

Water. Why? Because water is on the inside.

When you're hit by an unkind word or a cruel deed, what splashes out - anger or love?

If your heart's filled with anger, out will come anger. If it's filled with love, out will come love.

Wouldn't you rather have the love of God come out? Then you must have the God of love in your heart.

A girl was unjustly scolded, but out came love. "What's the secret?" asked a friend.

"Jesus fills my heart," she explained, "and everything comes out right."

Does Jesus fill your heart?

Enabling Garden At the Threshold

The staff and board of directors of the Threshold wish to fulfill a vision through the creation of a garden that will be fully accessible to persons, regardless of physical limitations. This will be a garden that will be on the grounds of their main facility on Rolfs Road and will enhance the existing picnic and recreation area.

This garden will be very unique in that the entire layout will be available and fully accessible to all community citizens, especially those in wheelchairs or with other physical limitations who are traditionally excluded from flower and vegetable gardens because of non-accessible pathways.

This will be an "interactive" garden, designed specifically to allow those with limited mobility the opportunity to not only view, but tend its various planting areas. Raised planters with concrete walkways will make this possible. Various areas of the garden will also be developed to promote socialization, relaxation or reflection.

It is their intention to create a working "model" that will demonstrate many practical accessibility ideas for replication by community members having disabilities.

Threshold clients will be primary caretakers, a therapeutic addition to their services that will offer many benefits. They will also rely on the services of interested volunteers to work with clients and staff in planning, planting and nurturing the garden.

The Threshold wishes to be recognized as a valued member of the community and hopes that this venture will be another avenue to bring citizens of all ability levels together sharing common interests.

Obituaries

PEARL VELMA THOMPSON

Pearl Thompson passed away peacefully in the early morning at her home in Hot Springs, Montana, on May 6, 2000.

She and her husband, Mervin, lived for many years in West Bend, Wisconsin, where Pearl taught millinery and volunteered as a Gray Lady. Some of the happiest years of their lives were spent on the farm they bought near Kewaskum in 1965 after Merv retired from construction work.

Pearl was director of the Kewaskum Senior Citizens Center while Merv stayed active in American Legion activities and was Town Chairman. She was known for her home baked bread, beautiful smile and lively personality. They were both dedicated parents and grandparents.

Pearl is survived by a sister, Marion Rask of Texas. She is further survived by her children and grandchildren.

Pearl's oldest daughter, Pat Cardarelle, resides in Denver. She has four children: Debra is the mother of four children and also resided in Denver; David has four children and resides in California; Jeff lives in Montana and has one child, and Greg lives in Denver.

Pearl's daughter, Jo Rainbolt lives in Hot Springs, Montana, and raised five children: Kori of Idaho, Tahlia of California, Kim, Kristen and Jed of Montana.

Pearl's son, Mervin, lives in California with his wife, Robin, who was loved as a daughter and was with Pearl at the time of her death.

Pearl was born June 10, 1912 in Fairmont, Minnesota. She entertained her children with stories of treks with Camp Fire Girls and riding her horse to a one-room school. She was proud that she worked her way through high school, not an easy task in those days of hard times.

She met Merv on Valentine's Day, 1935, on a blind date in Estherville, Iowa, that included Merv's father, Knute, who had already picked Pearl out for a daughter-in-law. Merv never forgot flowers and a fancy dinner on Valentine's Day.

A NOTE TO PEARL'S MANY FRIENDS From Her Daughter, Jo Rainbolt

Mom planned her own funeral and started expressing her last wishes about six months before she died. She was her usual healthy and outgoing self at that time, but she wanted everything taken care of, and one of her priorities was to let all of you know that she had passed. When mail kept arriving at her Post Office Box in Kewaskum, I finally caught on that news of her death had not arrived at the Statesman and I apologize for the long delay.

Mom was a natural letter writer. She wrote to an amazing variety of people (friends, relatives, wives of Seabees, neighbors from the 1940's and 50's while Dad was superintendent of Hutter Construction and we were on the move). Daily letters and phone calls kept her happy in her later years, but she missed Dad terribly, especially on Valentine's Day and his birthday, May 9.

Last year, on that day, we visited the green, peaceful cemetery where Dad had a military send-off three years ago. "Next year," she said, "I want to be with Dad on his birthday."

I'd forgotten this, especially since she'd assured me she was going to live through another summer in order to see her great-grandkids, but she was granted her wish, and died three days before Dad's birthday (after a week in the hospital with stomach problems) shortly before her 88th birthday.

Mom missed Wisconsin and her many friends but often expressed delight over Montana's big blue sky, herds of range cattle, mountain bluebirds and friendly people. She was a star of this small town, everyone from the mayor to the doctor loved her personality, and 50 people attended her memorial service which was a celebration.

She asked to be remembered as someone who loved hats, butterflies, music and flowers. So put on a fancy hat and plant a flower for Mom in the spring, and while you're at it, smile at a stranger.

Hers was a fully-lived life.

*I'll never live again today
Nor never yesterday,
I'll keep tomorrow sacred yet
And live today-today.*

*Yesterday was yesterday
With it's sunshine and it's rain.*

*But yesterday was yesterday
And it won't come again.*

*Tomorrow has it's doubts,
Tomorrow's full of fear,
Tomorrow has it's sadness,
Tomorrow has it's tears.*

*Today--Today is my day!
And I shall lose it never
For if I live today-today
I'll live today-forever*

Letters to the Editor

The Wisconsin Supreme Court has recently created an Appointment Selection Committee to assist it in finding dedicated people of the highest integrity and commitment to serve on the various boards and committees to which the Supreme Court makes appointments. The committee forwards names for the Court's consideration, and the Court makes appointments as vacancies arise. Appointees are given orientation materials to enable them to participate fully in committee activities.

As the committee's co-chairs, we are seeking applications from lawyers and non-lawyers who would be interested in volunteering for service on one of the following boards, commissions, and committees:

Board of Administrative Oversight - a new 12-person board composed of eight lawyers and four non-lawyers that will likely meet four to six times per year. This board will monitor the fairness, effectiveness and efficiency of the attorney regulation system, which the Supreme Court has recently restructured. Terms are three years, with a maximum of two consecutive terms allowed.

Preliminary Review Committee - a new 12-person committee made up of eight lawyers and four non-lawyers that will meet in panels of six approximately four to six times per year. This committee will review investigations and determine whether there is cause for the director of lawyer regulation to file a complaint against a lawyer. Terms are three years, with a maximum of two consecutive terms allowed.

District Investigative Committees - 16 existing committees across the state composed of lawyers and non-lawyers assist in the investigation of certain disciplinary cases against lawyers. Terms are three years, with a maximum of three consecutive terms allowed.

Board of Bar Examiners - an 11-member existing board composed of five lawyers, three judges and law school faculty, and three non-lawyers. This board meets approximately six times per year, and is responsible for administration of Wisconsin's continuing legal education requirement for lawyers, and for writing and grading the bar exam (the non-lawyer members do not take part in the exam). Terms are three years, with a maximum of two consecutive terms allowed.

State Bar Board of Governors - a 48-person existing committee, to which the Supreme Court appoints three non-lawyers. This board manages the affairs of the State Bar, the organization that provides services for lawyers licensed to practice in the state and for the public. Terms are two years, with a maximum of two consecutive terms allowed.

The Appointment Selection Committee is now in the process of reviewing resumes to send nominees for these committees to the Court. The Supreme Court has a strong commitment to identifying people of diverse backgrounds to serve. This letter is an effort to reach the greatest number of potential members, especially non-lawyer members of the public.

Consideration will be given to all who send their resume to the Appointment Selection Review Committee in care of Cornelia Clark, Clerk of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, PO Box 1688, Madison, WI 53701-1688.

If you would like further information about these committees, please contact Ms. Clark at (608) 266-1880 or visit the courts web site at www.courts.state.wi.us. Committee information is under the Supreme Court link and in the "What's New" section.

Sincerely yours,

Michelle Behnke,
Co-Chair
Mona Stelle,
Co-Chair

Appointment Committee

To the Editor:

We would like to thank those who donated to the Family Learning Vacation sponsored by the Center for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. This vacation is important to our family and families like ours who have deaf and hard of hearing children. It is a once-a-year chance for parents and kids from around Wisconsin to gather in an environment of learning and play. We have made many friends at this event, (deaf and hearing) that have been so important to use for both resource and emotional support. Again, thanks to the following businesses for their donations:

- Paul's Auction, Kewaskum
- Dennis Janz Const., Batavia
- Miller Trucking, Beechwood
- Luedtke Trees and Fencing, Beechwood

When Dogs Bite... Humane Society Offers Workshop

"I'm afraid of my dog." "I never know when my dog's going to bite." "My dog won't let anyone near her food dish while she's eating." "I can't trust the dog around my kids." In her work as an applied animal behaviorist, Claudene Mc Auliffe hears these words often. Her message is that you don't need to fear your dog, and you can learn to recognize bite/fight signals and triggers to make aggressive behaviors more predictable and therefore manageable.

On Saturday, September 30, from 2 to 5 p.m., Mc Auliffe will lead a workshop at the Washington County Humane Society to help participants learn what motivates aggression, how to recognize it, and what to do about it. After a discussion of why dogs behave aggressively, Mc Auliffe will work through several actual cases with dogs brought by participants.

If you think you have an aggressive dog and would like to have it considered for inclusion in this program, please contact Marnie Brown at the Washington County Humane Society, (262) 677-4388. A questionnaire will be sent to you to help screen your dog as a potential candidate for the workshop. Cases that are selected will meet with Mc Auliffe prior to the workshop for final screening and acceptance.

The cost of the seminar is $10. For information, call Marnie Brown at (262) 677-4388.

These series of meetings are intended to provide an opportunity for anyone who lives on a lake, river, stream, watercourse, pond, or other parties of interest to participate in this forum to review current proposals for this project. Planning and zoning topics of interest include:

- * Classification criteria
- * Inventory resource data
- * Non-conforming structures and uses
- * Filling, grading, excavating
- * Shoreline stabilization
- * Setbacks
- * Mitigation
- * Design review
- * Vegetative buffers
- * Boathouses

There will be formal presentations from several individuals associated with the project, as well as interactive exercises to gather insight and concerns from those in attendance. The Work Group has recently adopted classification criteria that is proposed to be applied to all the waterbodies within the County jurisdiction. Proposed zoning text concepts will also be presented at this forum.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Social Security Announces An Online Retirement Planner

Social Security recently unveiled a new electronic service to help Americans better prepare for their financial future - an online retirement planner. The planner will allow individuals to compute estimates of their future Social Security retirement benefits online.

Whether you're 25, 35, 45 or 55, it's never too early to plan for your future retirement. Planning for your future financial security can now be as easy as one, two, three.

The Social Security Retirement Planner provides users with three options for obtaining an estimate of their Social Security retirement benefit:

- * the Quick Planner provides a very rough estimate;
- * the Online Calculator produces a benefit estimate based on past, present and projected future information input by users; and
- * a Detailed and the most elaborate estimate that requires an individual to download and install a software program on a personal computer.

The Social Security Retirement Planner also provides links to important factors that can affect retirement benefits and walks individuals through the retirement planning and application process.

The planner can be accessed directly at www.ssa.gov/retire or by using the link www.ssa.gov provided on the Social Security Online homepage.

New Hunting Hours to Take Effect on November 18

MADISON - An important change in hunting hours will take place for all gun deer, bow deer, small game and bear hunters beginning on November 18, 2000.

Effective at 12:01 a.m. on November 18, legal hunting hours will be a uniform one-half hour before sunrise to 20 minutes after sunset. Until November 18, legal hunting hours will be as listed in the 2000 Wisconsin Hunting Regulations pamphlet.

The new hunting hours will apply to damage shooting permits and any other hunting activity that occurs throughout the year. Next year's regulation pamphlet will list hunting hours for the entire year.

The only exception to this change is waterfowl hunting. For waterfowl, hunting hours will remain one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Waterfowl hunting hours are determined by federal regulations that require hunting to end at sunset each day.

"In addition to the new legal hunting hours, actual times for sunrise and sunset have been adjusted for south to north variation," explained Gary Homouth, Department of Natural Resources conservation warden. "For years, sunrise and sunset were based in Milwaukee time. Now, two locations are used. Sheboygan is the new standard for the south and Powers, Michigan for the northern half of the state."

Actual sunrise-sunset times vary by up to 20 minutes from far eastern to far western Wisconsin and by up to six minutes from south to north.

The Department of Natural Resources has published two new hunting hours tables, one for southern Wisconsin, and one for northern Wisconsin, on its website at <http://www.dnr.state.wi.us/org/land/wildlife/hunt/>. Copies will also be available at service centers. The new hours are not published in the 2000 Wisconsin Hunting Regulations pamphlet because the Natural Resources Board had not yet authorized the new hours at the time the regulations were printed.

KHS Cross Country Starting

Cross Country practice will begin on Monday, August 14. There will be a meeting at 8 a.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Participants should have their physical cards, user fee, and athletic code turned in beforehand, and be ready to run on Monday.

Don't knock the weather - without it, how would we start conversations?

Amerahn Posts First Win in the Dome

It was another cloudy evening that looked like more rain and unfortunately the technicians had not been able to fix the errant wing nut on the Thiemerdome, so placement of the dome over the field was again, out of the question.

Nevertheless, promptly at 6:20 p.m. newly-promoted umpire Richard Thiemer called out, "Play Ball!" Traditional dome umpire Dane Dorn was not available to call the game. Rumor has it that Dane moved out of Kewaskum following a questionable call that was verbally challenged by Bill Ludwig.

According to dome owner, Richard Thiemer, the umpire is ALWAYS right. He's the boss. But now, Mr. Thiemer has taken on another title in his job description. Umpire! (Good grief, Richard! What's next? A trip to the Middle East to seek peace?) At least Richard had a little help from Gene Wolf who umpired along the bases or Richard would have had to do an awful lot of running. And from what we hear, that is not one of his many talents.

But we hear Richard has the perfect solution to any future squabbles... He has threatened the over 40 boys with, "I own this property (not to mention the ball), so what I say goes... if you don't like it, 'Hit the Road Jack!'" (You've been listening to your "60's" music again, haven't you Richard?)

My, oh my, oh my! Do I detect a little dissension at the dome? It's a good thing the season is drawing to a close. It's amazing what six months of snow and cold will do to negate any ill wind that blows during the summer months.

Anyway... play ball... it's showtime! In the first inning, Thelen's and Thiemer's didn't score. (Seems to be taking longer for the players to settle down nowadays.)

In the second, the Sipper

Snippers hit a little dribbler in front of home plate (now that's what I call getting warmed up) in the general direction of pitcher Steve Herrick. Herrick decided to let Bob Bonenfant get to first. Then Larry Martin stepped up to the plate and hit a hard shot to Scott Thelen's glove, but it was just too hot to handle and the Sipper Snippers had ducks (puh-lease... spare me any more of this duck junk...) on first and second.

John Thaxton hit a line shot down third to score "Speedy" Bonenfant, as the Sipper Snippers went out in front. The Thelen team figured the only way Bonenfant got to homeplate in the first place was because second base goes downhill. The Thelens then put a halt to the Sipper Snippers with a double play. There was no scoring in the next three innings due to both teams playing great defense. (Great defense... or lack of offense? Who said that?)

Thiemers then resumed action with a bomb from Mike Miller. Mark Strobel belted one over the Thelen's left fielder's head, way back to Lori Thiemer's garden. Now there IS a rule in the Thiemerdome playbook that states that no ball may be retrieved from Lori's garden, but Brian "Sure Foot" (not to be confused with "Big Foot") Carlson sneaked in and got the ball without even stepping on any of the tomatoes. Unfortunately, tip-toeing through the tomatoes takes valuable time and he was not able to get the throw in before

"Doodles" had himself a legal home run.

After catching his breath (and believe me, that took awhile) and refreshing himself with a well-earned Bud Light, Mark stated, "Now that was sweet!" (We're not sure if he meant the home-run or the Bud Light!)

With two outs, Bob Bonenfant lucked out with a walk and Larry Martin hit another hard shot in the gap. (Rumor has it that the Milwaukee Brewers immediately contacted Larry after the game and they are currently in contract negotiations). John Thaxton again answered with another hit down the line to score the DeeJay and bring the score in at the end of six to Thiemers 4, and Thelens 0.

Thelens had ducks (here we go again... stuff those ducks!) on several times in scoring position, but double plays from the Lehnerz brothers with a little help from Jim Flitter stopped their attack giving the Sipper Snippers a 4-0 win.

The Amerahn vs. Commercial Plumbing game called out the services of now-pro umpire Richard Thiemer to the plate with Paul Seymour umping the bases. Paul is recuperating still from a broken finger he received five weeks ago. (They say the older you are, the longer it takes to heal those rickety bones and now to cover my bases, I think Paul surely must have been healed weeks ago!)

It was a defensive game until the fourth when John Kleinke punched a ball out to center field to score first blood. But Commercial would not roll over and play dead as they slugged out hits from Roger Schneider, Kurt Schmidt, Tom Fischer and Jeff Panzer to drive in two runs and take the lead.

The jubilation was short-lived however, as Amerahn's Dennis Kleinke hit the gap in left centerfield to score two more runs and take a 3-2 lead over Commercial.

Commercial still was not ready to hand the game over to the Amerahners. They had two ducks (I give up!) on in scoring position with two outs. Now it was do or die! Steve Stern hit a high line shot off his bat but Birthday Boy Dave Schmitt made a great leap and caught the blazing ball to give Amerahn their first win of the season.

After their 3-2 victory over Commercial, Schmudly Schmitt offered everyone in attendance chicken wings and brownies and cookies in honor of his 46th birthday. Where else, but in the Thiemerdome???

Whenever you can, hang around the lucky.

Native American Mound and Effigy Sites in Fond du Lac, Dodge Counties

By Barbara Smits

"What is it that you went out to the desert to find? A reed shaken by the wind? A man luxuriously dressed? A prophet?" Though reeds are abundant in the Horicon landscape and wind is no stranger to the marsh, a prophet is closer to the answer, for Horicon has a mystical quality that cannot be explained only by the reeds or the call of the geese or the slant of the sun over the water on an October evening when the marsh experiences one last great surge of life before the winter comes.

What did we go out to find? Perhaps a link to all those who went before us. A comfort in knowing that on warm summer nights thousands of years ago, on this very spot, men looked up to the heavens to find answers to their lives and tried to reflect on the ground what they felt in their souls.

To the casual passerby, much about the rocks and mounds would go unknown and unnoticed, left to rest in obscurity. We came armed with a little knowledge and a big desire to learn about the Native American's reasons for building these mounds and their link to the heavens. Intricate purposes and plans, laid down in the placement of stones to reflect the heavens on a starry night. Not just any random night, but a specific night to make the summer and winter solstice and the rising and setting sun on the horizon. A direction for the soul to pass into the universe.

We gathered at the Horicon mound site on County Highway Z, one of many Native American sites in the Fond du Lac area that are coming under close scrutiny by regional geologist Herman Bender and his professional associates. In 1850, Increase Lapham, Wisconsin's first state geologist, mapped over 500 mounds around Horicon Marsh alone. Many of them are now gone, but to explore their reasons for being brings one back in time to the people who laid out and constructed the mounds and to the beauty of the land that they saw and experienced, live, and in Technicolor.

Many Indian trails, some worn a foot deep into the ground, met at Horicon Marsh, the Algonquin word meaning "clear, pure water," for it was the Indian's ultimate grocery store. Fish and birds abounded, as well as fruit and nut trees and wild game. Highway Z that took us to the mounds was once a trail, as were Highways 33 and 26, as well as County A to Fox Lake. We saw the trail tree markers with no crown, limbs tied and shaped to point out the four directions. Toppled by strong winds, they now lie in a ravine next to the mounds. Our close inspection proves, to us at least, that they were undeniably tied and shaped by man.

One must respect 12,000 years of history. Tread lightly on the graves of those who have gone before and learn from their lives. They had respect for this part of Wisconsin, so much so that they placed mounds and effigies throughout the area. Rocks in the shape of buffalo mark these sites and peacefully look off into the distance, watching the precise spot on the horizon where the summer and winter solstice sun rise and sets. Buffalo? In Wisconsin? Look again at the rock that you hurried past with such poor power of observation and you will see that it is undoubtedly a buffalo, with squared hindquarters, massive hump, head and beard. The Jesuit missionaries mention buffalo in Wisconsin in their Jesuit Relations sent back to France in the late 1600's.

There is a bigger picture here and the story isn't just about Horicon Marsh. It was just one site we visited in a growing number of sites in Fond du Lac and Dodge counties that show a very early Native American presence and their respect for the surrounding land as a holy place. A vision quest site high on the Niagara escarpment overlooks Horicon Marsh in the distance. A vision quest site in Wisconsin? Isn't that for the Cheyenne and Sioux?

Remember where we are. Fond du Lac lies on the shore of Lake Winnebago and Horicon Marsh is fed by the Rock River. Wisconsin is bounded by Green Bay and Lake Michigan on one side and the Mississippi River on the other. The Fox-Wisconsin waterway cuts the state in half. Explorer Jean Nicolet came to Wisconsin in 1634, and others such as Radisson and Gorsilliers and the Jesuit missionaries Allouez and Marquette and explorer Louis Jolliet followed later, using the waterways as transportation. It is reasonable to think that Native Americans traveled in the same way, only much earlier.

The area around Lake Winnebago and Horicon was indeed a holy place, a preferred place that the Native Americans could not bear to leave. The Potawatomis and Winnebagoes had settlements around Horicon. The Winnebagoes continued to return to their beloved home land long after they had been sent to reservations in Minnesota and Iowa in 1845. In 1880 the government removed them again from their campsites along the Rock River.

What drew the Winnebagoes to return may be what drew us to the mound sites. What did we expect to see? To discover? The answer is intangible. Is it a mystery how some can tread on the face of history and be aware of nothing, while others feel the "presence" all around them. The area was a "holy place" for the Native Americans. The first settlers drained the marsh and turned to muck farming, soon creating a disaster of immense proportions that even they had to see.

To smell the smoke of wood fires emanating from a bark lodge nestled in the beauty of Wisconsin's fiery autumn forest must have inspired the spirit of early man. To look up at the stars in a clear sky not dimmed by stray light must have made those early people wonder as we do what could have shaped such an astounding universe. Astronauts walk on the moon today and talk about the incredible beauty of earth as seen from the heavens. They have reversed the vision but the beauty still remains.

Perhaps beauty is a thing in itself. A gift to man that should not go unnoticed. Warm summer evenings atop a vision quest site overlooking Horicon Marsh could prompt one to contemplate greater things and find a path through life. We all need a spirit of adventure, a sense of wonder; we need to feel the power and know that we belong to something bigger than ourselves; to find our own place in the universe. There is comfort in knowing that people in all ages searched for the same answers and felt the same power.

The Fond du Lac area has something special to offer people that is just emerging and will continue to develop as new Native American sites are discovered, explored, and scientifically researched. The found sites need something more from us, however, than, scientific exploration. They need to be seen and experienced with a sense of respect and awe by modern man. We must take the time to get out of our cars and walk, look, and listen, and feel the experience and the power.

Old Northwest Frontier Tours has developed a series of participation tours that will take people to these sites and many more historic sites in Wisconsin and the old Northwest Territory.
